kh-soonga	v. [cf. Sw. sogea SSED 434] (songeele) approach, come close, go away from Basi/ oyo mwiimbili/ hasoongi/ ka apo. ‘So that young man does not come close to that place.’ Bateera/ isongeele. ‘The boat approached.’ Bateera/ isongele khariibuye. ‘The boat came near him.’ Chimsonga muza mp^huundra. ‘He approached the donkey-seller.’ Eelo/ mwenopo sultaani/ chimsoonga/ kumpa salaamu. ‘When the gazelle saw the king, he approached him and greeted him.’ khsonga ba’iidi ‘to go far away’ khsonga khariibu ‘to come near’ Ma’askari was sultaani/ wawaye mwanaamke/ mukhtaa wo/ wamweno Hasani/ jisaa ye/ nakuharbisho/ na waweno ma’askari wa aduwi/ jisaa wo/ wanaakufa/ wachisimika khalbi/ naawo/ wachaanza/ khsongaa mbele/ kuwachimbiza ma’askariwe aduwi. ‘When the soldiers of the sultan, the girl’s father, saw how Hasani was fighting, and saw how the soldiers of the enemy were dying, their resolve grew and they began to move forwards to shaze the soldiers of the enemy [i.e. the neighboring sultan].’ Msoonge! ‘Go closer to him!’ Mwaana/ chiwasoonga/ kuwa’uza khabari. ‘The child approached them to ask them the news.’ Mwaana/ msongele Nuuru. ‘The child approached Nuuru.’ Mwaana/ songele khariibuye. ‘The child came near to him.’ Naank^ho/ chimwaambila/ sinoongé/ lawa ka muyi uyu. ‘Again he said to him: don’t come near to me, get out of this town.’ Nchiza/ kundreetela/ muna yiinu/ ni/ hanpowi teena/ zombo zaa kuja/ na sinsongeeni. ‘If you (pl.) do not bring to me your younger brother, you will not be given any more foodstuffs and do not come near to me!’ Simba/ msongele mwaana. ‘The lion neared the child.’ (This construction is appropriate for a human/animate subject, but if the subject is inanimate, one would prefer to say: Mpiira/ usongele ka mwaana. ‘The ball came near to the child.’ Or: Mpiira/ usongele kharibu ya mwaana. ‘The ball came near the child.’ Or: Mpiira/ usongele kharibuye. ‘The ball came near him.’ On the other hand, one could say Mpiira/ woloshele mwaana. ‘The ball went towards the child.’ Sisoongé/ kharibu ya nuumbaya! ‘Don’t come near my house!’ Sisongeeni. ‘You (pl.) do not come near!’ Soonga. ‘Approach!’ (Cf. Songaani. ‘You (pl.) approach!’) songeelopó ‘when he went nearer’ Waant^hu/ wont^he/ wanasoonge/ khariibuya. ‘May all the people come near me.’ rel. kh-soongana v. rec. come closer to one another Mi/ naayé/ hachisoongani. ‘Me and him, we do not go close to one another (i.e. there is no relationship between us).’ kh-soongeka v. p/s. Hola uyu/ hasoongeki. ‘This animal cannot be approached.’ Mulo uyu/ hasoongeki. ‘This fire cannot be approached.’ kh-songekela v. p/s. appl. Chiti/ chimsongekelēle/ cholokooni. ‘The chair was able to be brought (after some effort) closer to the window for him (usually implying that he was the one making the effort).’

Chiti ichi/ chimsongekeleele. ‘This chair was able to be moved for/on him.’

kh-soongela v. appl. (songeleele)

Msoongele/ nakalaant^he. ‘Come closer (to make room) so that he may sit down.’

kh-songelana v. appl. rec. (songeleene) move closer to one another for (e.g. group of people moving closer together to make room for new arrivals) kh-soongesha v. caus. (songesheeze) physically move s.t. closer or further away; cause to move

Ali/ msongesheze mwaana/ ka Suufi. ‘Ali caused the child to move closer to Suufi (either he physically brought the child nearer or he persuaded the child to move nearer).’

Ali/ songesheze chibaṭeera/ bontaani. ‘Ali moved the boat closer to the bridge.’

Ali/ songesheze chibaṭeera/ kharibu ya mwaana. ‘Ali brought the boat near to the child.’

Hasani/ songeshezee chiti/ ka tartaibu. ‘Hasani moved the chair slowly.’

Huseeni/ msongeshezee muke/ ka tartaibu. ‘Gently/slowly, Huseeni caused the woman to move.’ But also may mean: ‘Huseeni caused the woman to move slowly.’ (Notice the ambiguity that exists when there is a causee: the manner adverb may express the means of causation or it may refer to the causee’s action. No such ambiguity exists in the immediately preceding sentence, where the verb does not take a causee argument but rather an inanimate direct object chiti.)

Mubiidi/ songeshezee chiti/ cholokooni. ‘Mubiidi brought the chair to the window.’

Nt^ho/ soongeshá. ‘Move it more!’ (Note that pre-verbal nt^ho is focused and thus causes pseudo-relativization in this example.)

Nt^ho/ songesha meeza. ‘Move the table more!’ Or: Nt^ho/ soongeshá/ meeza. ‘Move the table more!’

Songesha meeza/ nt^ho. ‘Move the table much closer!’ Or: Soongesha/ meeza/ nt^ho. ‘Move the table much closer!’ (The adverbial intensifier nt^ho cannot phrase with a noun: Songesha mezaa nt^ho. But the following sentence is good: Songeshaa nt^ho/ meeza. ‘Bring it much closer, the table.’)

kh-songeshan(y)a v. caus. rec. bring one another closer kh-soongesheka v. caus. p/s.

Chiti ichi/ hachisongesheki/ cholokooni. ‘This chair cannot be brought to the window.’

Chiti ichi/ husongesheka. ‘This chair is able to be moved.’

kh-songeshekela v. caus. p/s. appl.

Chiti/ chimsongeshekeleele. ‘The chair was able to be brought closer to him (by someone else) or for him (due to his own efforts).’

kh-songesheleza v. caus. appl. (songesheleeze)

Nsongesheleza chibaṭeera. ‘Push the boat towards me!’

Nuuru/ msongesheleze Suufi/ mwaana. ‘Nuuru caused Suufi’s child to move closer.’

kh-songeshelezanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Nuuru/ na Suufi/ wasongeshelezenye waana. ‘Nuuru and Suufi caused each other’s children to move closer.’

chi-soongo (zi-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. kisongo "act (mode, means, &.) of twisting, esp. an instrument for twisting, tourniquet, &." SSED 435] hangman’s noose khshika chisoongo ‘to hold by the neck’

Mshishile mwaana/ chisoongo. ‘He put his hands around the child’s neck.’

khtila chisoongo ‘to hang s.o., put a noose around the neck’

Mtile mwaana/ chisoongo. ‘He put a rope around the child’s neck.’

- songolo n. 9/10 [Sw. songoro "queen fish" M&N] sp. fish, greenish, can be large, like a catfish; tastes like marlin, but fattier Waanth^u/ Miini/ nsi/ zaa wo/ hupeendó/ nt^ho/ ni nguulu/ joodari/ na songoló.
 'People in Brava, the fish that they like a lot are kingfish, tuna, and singolo.'
- sonkaali n. [said to be from Tunni dialect of Somali] reason, justification; [pron. sonk^haali] Khasareeté/ chimaliza/ nakunfaanyá/ mi/ sonkaali. 'You had a (financial) loss, then you blame me (for this) without a justifiable reason.'
mowti huya ka ghafuula / sho sababu na sonk^haali [st.] 'death comes suddenly, without any reason whatsoever' Muunth^u/ chimeraa zita/ hufanya sonk^haali. 'When one wants to fight, one looks for a rationale (false reason).'
Muunth^u/ chisula khfanya chiint^hu/ haatowi/ sonk^haali. 'If someone wants to do something, he won't lack the motive or reason to do it.' (A proverb.)
Omari/ haatowi/ sonk^haali. 'Omari does not lack justifications for what he does.'
Omari/ sonk^haalize/ niingi. 'Omari always has a lot of justifications for what he does.'
- m-soonyo (mi-) n. 3/4 [Sw. mson(y)o SSED 436] hissing sound, with ingoing airstream -- a sign of disapproval, esp. of the behavior of children kubiga msoonyo 'to make a hissing sound of disapproval' Waawe/ chibiga msoonyo/ iwa kuwa chiint^hu/ mweepe/ changamiile. 'When my father makes msoonyo, know that something has gone wrong.'
- l-sooso n. [etymology known] front part of the head, just above the forehead; partition of the hair; part of the scalp seen where hair is parted iwa lsoosoni na harri ni zaaydi [st.] '(on the day of judgement) the sun on the head and the heat is great' lsooso lpaandre 'hair parted on the side of the head'
- sooti n. 9/10 [Sw. sauti SSED 412; Ar. šaut W 529] sound, voice; variant forms: sowti, sauti
Hasani/ chisimama/ chidhuukhisha/ sooti/ iyo/ inamvīlaa ye. 'Hasani stopped and listened carefully, that voice was calling him.'
Humkina/ si/ khtambula sootiye/ kamaa ye/ chichijiba. 'It is possible that we will recognize his voice if he answers us.'
Huseeni/ ka khkoða niingi/ sooti/ imbeele. [H!H!H!H] 'Huseen lost his voice from speaking too much [lit. Huseeni from speaking too much voice was lost to him].'
 Or: Huseeni/ sooti/ imbele ka khkoða niingi. [H!H!H] (When declination is just a matter of, say, 10 hz, there is no difficulty in distinguishing between it and downstep. When downstep is a matter of 40 hz or more, there is again no difficulty in recognizing it as opposed to declination. But at times the issue can be muddled. In our transcriptions we have made use of the following observation: In a sequence of two downsteps, the first downstep is more substantial than the second. It is this observation that leads us to represent the second example above as [H!H!H]. In this example it is clear that the most radical pitch lowering is on niingi and not on sooti. We thus conclude that sooti is only declinated, not downstepped. In the first example, we regard the pattern as [H!H!H!H] since the first step down is greater (c. 40 hz) than the second step down (c. 30 hz), etc.)
kalamuze siwo za sowti na harfu [st.] 'his [i.e. God's] words are not made of sounds and letters' Mi/ nch^hikhutaambula/ ka sootiyo/ nt^hakulawa ndilaani. 'If I recognize you from your voice, I will come outside.'
Muunth^u / oyo/ chirasha sowti/ haṭá/ chiya kharibu ya ijuuniya/ iyo. 'That man followed the voice [that he heard] until he came near that sack.'
Mukhtaa ye/ ineenzeló/ mudda/ wa sa'a naane/ jis'iyó/ na komeloo dali/ kotté/ maduuri/ kasize sooti. 'When he had travelled for a period of about eight hours and reached a place which was all bush, he heard a voice.'
Pete sooti/ (ya) aghlabiya. 'He got the 'voice' (i.e. votes) of the majority.'

	Shkasa soot̪i/ yaa muke/ mzeele. ‘He heard the voice of an old woman.’ sow̪t̪i ya ngoma nk^hulu shar’a hiiza [st.] ‘the loud sound of a drum, regulations do not allow’
soṭomariina	n. submarine Mwiini/ ziwena soṭomariina/ zinakhpito tawalá. ‘In Brava submarines were seen passing in the sea.’
kh-soota	v. pound to get the husks off sandra has not heard this word
Sovyeet̪i	n. Soviet Union
soyo	[cl.1] demon. [pron. soyó] Basi/ soyó/ burishiiza/ uko/ uko/ jis’iyo. ‘So, there he was, banished; he stayed and stayed that way.’ Ngoombe/ soyó. ‘There’s the cow (close to you).’
soyo	there [cl.3] is; [pron. soyó] Mkate/ soyó. ‘There’s the cake (close to you).’
soyo	[cl.14] demon. [pron. soyó] Soyó. ‘There it is near you.’ Soyó/ ukí. ‘There’s the honey.’
i-sparamuuto	n. [Som. sparamuto, Ital. spremuta ‘squeezed fruit juice’] grapefruit juice drink, squeezed grapefruit juice with sugar added over ice; variant: sparamuuto Haliima/ nakumira ndriimu/ maayi/ fashuuq!/ nakhfanya sparamuuto. ‘Haliima is squeezing out the (lit.) water of the citrus fruit, fashuuq! she is making grapefruit juice.’ Omari/ kilaa fijiri/ huna maayi/ ya isparamuuto (or: pompeelo). ‘Omari each morning drinks grapefruit juice drink.’ Waant^hu/ wa Miini/ hupeenda/ kuna maayi/ ya isparamuuto (or pompeelo). ‘The people of Brava like to drink isparamuuto.’
spartiwo	n. [Ital. sportivo] sports field Mwiini/ nthaku/ spartiwo. ‘There is no sports field in Brava (where we can play football etc.).’
Spartiwooni	n. (Ital. campo sportivo "sport field" plus Chimwiini locative enclitic =ni) n unbuilt area bordering Biruuni that was used as a soccer field Makhabriini/ ka Shekh Mahmuudi/ ni kharibu ya Spartiwooni. ‘Shek Mahmuudi’s graveyard is near the sports stadium.’ Mpiira/ huwezowa Spartiwooni. ‘(Foot) ball is played at the stadium.’ Nakendra Spartiwooni/ kulangala mpiira. ‘I am going to the stadium to watch (foot)ball.’
spitaale	n. hospital; variant of hospiṭaale Haliima/ kasulaa kufá/ sula mpeleka/ mi/ ye/ spitaalé? ‘If I had wanted Haliima to die, would I have taken her to the hospital?’ (The second clause of this example is a yes-no question, which explains the shift of accent on the out-of-focus spitaale.) Marka/ yiko spitaale/ nk^hulu. ‘In Merca there is a large hospital.’ Muunt^hu/ oo mwaanawe/ hakhaadiri/ nampelekaa ye/ spitaleeni. The man whose daughter is sick is taking her to the hospital.’ nguwo za spitaale ‘hospital gown’ Spitaleeni/ ha’ibigoowi/ chibuumbu. ‘Around the hospital horns are not sounded.’ Spitale ya Miini/ yiko Albaamba. ‘Barawa’s hospital is located in the Albaamba section of Barawa.’

spitoore	n. inspector Leelo/ spitoore/ steeshini/ wabigilile ma'askari/ khuṭba. 'Today the inspector at the station made a speech to the soldiers.'
spoorti	n. sport(s) Ka waant^hu/ wiingi/ spoorti/ ni muhimu. 'For many people, sports are important.' Omari/ waanawe/ hupeenda/ nguwo za spoorti. 'Omari's children like athletic clothing.' Zilaatu/ za spoorti/ ka barafu/ haziinfi. 'Sports shoes are not useful for snow.'
mu-sriifu (wa-)	adj. 1/2 (cf. israafu) [Ar. musrif "wasteful, prodigal, extravagant" W 408] spendthrift, s.o. who squanders money Mojiitu/ hawapeendi/ want^hu musriifu. 'God does not like people who spend wastefully.' munt^hu musriifu 'a spendthrift' (cf. want^hu wasriifu 'spendthrifts')
kh-sta'ajaba	v. Na kila yaa we/ takuwonó/ sista'ajabé. 'And anything that you will see, don't be amazed.'
mu-sta'amari	n. [Ar. musta'mara "colony" W 644] colony, that which has been colonized rel. mu-sta'amari (wa-) n. 1/2 colonizer, colonialist, tyrant
mu-sta'amila (wa-)	n. one who uses something
mu-sta'arabu (wa-)	adj.[cf. Ar. 'araba "to Arabize" W 601] sophisticated, civilized (Morph: Observe that this adjective is variable when modifying a noun referring to human beings, but is invariant in other cases.) munt^hu musta'arabu 'civilized person' (cf. want^hu wasta'arabu 'civilized people') nt^hi musta'arabu 'civilized country'
staahili (wa-)	adj. [cf. kistahila 'to merit, deserve'] [Sw. stahili SSED 437; Ar.] deserving, worthy We/ ni munt^hu mzimá/ nt^huná/ akhili/ nt^huná/ adabu/ we/ hukhaadiri/ khfikira/ we/ huwoni/ we/ hukasi/ chambiloowa/ we/ stahiliyo/ ni khindoowa/ tu. 'You are an old man, you do not have intelligence, you do not have good manners, you are not able to think [properly], you do not see, you do not hear, he was told, what you deserve is just to be slaughtered.' rel. (w)u-staahilo n. worth
stantiivo	n. [Ital. distintivo] badge Alí/ veete/ stantiivo/ ya hisbu/ ya SYL. 'Ali wore the badge of the SYL party.' Skuwaadra/ ya studentí/ ishiinzile/ mpiira/ wapela stantiivo/ ya alamu/ ya Somaaliya. 'The team of students won the game and were given a badge of the flag of Somalia.'
mu-staqiri (wa-)	adj. 1/2 [Ar. mustaqirr W 753] stable (of human beings)
mu-stareehe	adj. [Sw. adj. -starehefu , n. mustarehe SSED 394; Ar. istirāḥa "rest, recreation" W 366] comfortable (of human beings) mustareeche 'singular or plural human in comfort' (cf. wastareeche 'plural humans in comfort')

- Wakalent^he mustareeche. ‘They are sitting comfortably.’
- st^heha n. [Sw. staha SSED 436; Persian.] respect; variant form: ist^heha
Alí/ nt^haná/ st^heha/ haṭá/ na wazele/ huwarudilaa l^himi. ‘Ali does not have respect, he even talks back to elders.’
Muunt^hu/ laazimu/ kuwanayoo st^heha/ na wakuluwe. ‘A person must have respect for his elders.’ (The lengthening observed before st^heha indicates that the s behaves as part of the onset of the first syllable of st^heha and not as a coda to the preceding vowel. If it were a coda to the preceding syllable, a lengthened vowel would not occur.)
Nt^haná/ (i)st^heha/ na muunt^hu. ‘He has no respect for anyone.’
- st^heeshini n. [Eng. station] police station Muskiti wa Fakhtaani/ wiko kharibu ya st^heeshini. ‘Fakhtaani mosque is near the police station.’
st^heshiniini ‘in, at, to the police station’ Mwiizi/ peleshela st^heshiniini. ‘The thief was taken to the police station.’
- st^hiira n. [Ital. ferro da stiro] iron Wako waant^hu/ nguwo zaawo/ schifuloowa/ sharti/ kubiga st^hiira/ na wako wamooyi/ huvaala/ bilaa st^hiira. ‘There are people who when they wash clothes must iron them, and there are some who dress without ironing.’
- st^hiiraasha n. [Ital. straccio "rag, duster"; cf. Som. istaraasho in Italian-Somali Dictionary 658] any piece of (old) cloth that can be put to a variety of uses (cleaning, wiping spilled water, etc.)
Haliima/ hamkasi/ maamaye/ kooḍi/ humfanya kana st^hiiraasha. ‘Haliima does not listen to her mom’s words, she treats her like a cleaning cloth (like trash).’
Sheekhi/ hadiile/ mgahawaani/ ka Shariifu/ haṭá/ st^hiiraasha/ yakhpangulizowa mkono/ nt^haku. ‘Sheekhi said at the restaurant of Sharif there is not even a cleaning cloth to clean hands.’
- st^hudenti n. student; pl: mast^hudenti
Mast^hudenti/ leelo/ walazile muḍaahara/ wanakhsuḷa skoolā/ ramaḍaani/ khfungoowa. ‘Students today demonstrated, they want school to be closed during Ramadhan.’
Mwaka yaana/ nt^haaśa/ chaliko st^hudenti. ‘Last year we were still students.’
Mwaana/ studenti/ husaydoowa. ‘A student must be (lit. is) helped.’
- st^huudiyo n. [Eng. studio] studio
Hasani/ nayo mahala/ st^huudiyo/ nk^hulu/ hubarsha waant^hu/ kompiyuṭar. ‘Hasani has a big studio, he teaches people (to use the) computer.’
Isa/ chinakuliindrā/ sa’a/ ya st^huudiyo yiitu/ kubiga sa’aa nt^hatu/ za masku. ‘Now/ we are waiting for the clock of our studio to strike nine (lit. three) at night.’
- st^huwaana n. [Ar. ustuwāna W 26] column, post
Jasi/ bilaa st^huwaana/ huburbuka. ‘A roof without posts falls down.’
Muskiti/ ka wiingi/ huwanayo st^huwaana/ ziingi/ ka sababu/ jasi/ nii nk^hulu/ kureebela. ‘Mosques usually have many posts because the roof is big to hold it.’
- chi-su (zi-) n. 7/8 [Sw. kisu SSED 207] knife
Abdi/ chisuche ‘Abdi’s knife’
Chisu ichi/ nch^ha Abdi. ‘This knife belongs to Abdi.’

Chisu ichi/ ni shkali. [H!H] ‘This knife is sharp.’
Chisu ichi/ ni shkalii nt^ho. [H!H] ‘This knife is very sharp.’
chisuucha ‘my knife’
Ichi/ ndichó/ chisu chaa mi/ nuuziló. ‘This is the knife that I bought.’
Izi/ ndizó/ zisu zaa mi/ nuuziló. ‘These are the knives that I bought.’
Mp^hetee chisú/ chaa muké. ‘I found the knife of the woman.’ Or: Mp^hetee muké/ chisuuché. ‘[Lit.] I found the woman her knife.’ (In both of the constructions illustrated, chisu is the primary object of the verb. Thus one cannot agree with muke: Nimpetee muké/ chisuuché.) Muke/ t̄inzilee nama/ kaa chisu. ‘The woman cut the meat with a knife.’
nama ya mwaana/ t̄indil̄ila kaa chisú ‘[lit.] the meat that the child was cut for meat with a knife’ (Observe that the verb here is a benefactive applied and when an instrument occurs overtly in the verb phrase, it must be marked with the preposition ka. It is ungrammatical to say: nama ya mwaana/ t̄indil̄ilaa chisú ‘the meat that the child was cut for with a knife’. However, if chisu is the head of the relative clause, there is no occurrence of ka in the relative clause: chisu cha mwaana/ t̄indil̄ilaa namá ‘the knife that the child was cut for meat.’) Nii chisu/ cha mwanaamke/ t̄indil̄iloo namá. ‘It is a knife that the girl used to cut meat.’
Nii chisu/ t̄indil̄ila mwaaná/ namá. ‘[Lit.] what a knife the child was cut for meat with!’ (Observe that the subject of the relative verb has been postposed after the verb and forms a phonological phrase with it.)
Ni kaa chisu/ ye/ mt̄indil̄ile mwaaná/ namá. ‘It is with a knife that he cut for the child meat.’
Shtaala/ chisu chaa ye/ wanaachó. ‘He took the knife that he had.’
Omari/ uzilee zisu/ zont^he. ‘Omari bought all the knives.’ Or: Omari/ uzile/ zisu/ zont^he. (The former example permits the yes-no question: Omari/ uzilee zisu/ zont^hé?, where the quantifier, being out of focus, undergoes accent shift to the final syllable.)
Uzilee chisu/ khfungul̄ila sanduukhu. ‘He bought a knife to open the box with.’ (The instrument cannot control an OM on the infinitive verb: Uzilee chisu/ ki-sh-fungul̄ila sanduukhu. ‘He bought a knife to use to open the box.’ The logical object also does not govern an OM: Uzilee chisu/ ki’ifungul̄ila (sanduukhu). ‘He bought a knife to use to open it (the box).’)
Zisu izi/ ni skali. [H!H] ‘These knives are sharp.’
Zisu izi/ ni skalii nt^ho. [H!H] ‘These knives are very sharp.’
Zisu izi/ siwo/ skali. [HH!H] ‘These knives are not sharp.’
Zisu izi/ siwo/ skalii nt^ho. [HH!H] ‘These knives are not very sharp.’
rel.
chi-ji-su (zi-ji-su) n. 7/8 dim.
i-ji-su (mi-ji-su) n. 5/4 aug.
l-ji-su (mi-ji-su) n. 11/4 aug.

kh-su’aalata

v. [Som. su ʔaal "to ask" DSI 561; cf. Ar. su ʔal "question" W 391; cf. Sw. saili SSED 407] ask, question Nuuhu/ chihada/ moojá/ mbelela raaði/ su’aali/ iyi/ yaa mi/ khusu’aleetó/ indreteleeló/ ni ujahli. ‘Noah said: my God, forgive me this question which I asked of you, it is my ignorance which brought it to me.’
Sisu’aaleté. ‘Don’t ask!’
Wo/ kuḷa/ mara/ humsu’alaata/ ka khisa ni/ khaajá/ we/ khfunga ruuhuyo/ mikono/ na miilú. ‘Every time they ask him: why, my (maternal) uncle, do you tie yourself up, arms and legs?’
Ye/ namsu’alata oyo mwanaamke/ namsu’aalató. ‘He was asking that girl, that’s what he was doing.’
rel.
kh-su’alata v. appl.

su’aali (ma-)

n. 9/10 [Sw. swali SSED 407; Ar. su ʔal "question" W 391] question; variant: so’aali

Ba'aḍi ya su'aali/ nt^haziná/ majiibu. 'Some questions do not have answers.' (A proverbial saying.)

Hamadi/ tu/ jibilo su'aali. 'Only Hamadi answered questions.'

Isa/ kila/ muḅji/ huyo kummera kumlóolá/ hambiloowa/ natomole/ su'aali. 'Now every male who comes seeking to marry (her) is told to come up with a question (to pose to her).'

Kilaa so'aali/ ha'iwanaayo/ jawaabu. 'Every question does not have answer.' (A proverbial saying.)

Laakini/ su'aali/ iyo/ ichinshiindra/ we/ takundroola. 'But if this question stumps [lit. defeats] me, you will marry me.'

Mi/ siná/ yakhiini/ kana Hasani/ uzize su'aali. 'I am unsure if Hasani asked any questions.'

mukhta su'aali/ ziwelo niingi... 'when the questions become many'

Muunt^hu/ chiwa'uza waant^hu/ masu'aali/ huṭama'a/ khpata majiibu/ ka kaawo. 'If a person asks people questions, he wants to get answers from them.'

Mwanaamke/ wa sulṭaani/ chimjiiba/ chimwaambila/ mi/ ni ṭayaari/ kuloḷowa naawe/ laakini/ mp^ha/ su'aali. 'The daughter of the sultan answered him, saying, I am ready to be married by you, but [you must] pose a question for me.'

na keesho aakhera ziko su'aali [st.] 'and tomorrow (on) the day of judgement there will be questions'

Nimjibijile mwaaná/ su'aaliyé. 'I answered the student's question for him.'

Nimjibile mwaaná/ su'aaliyé. 'I answered the student's question.'

Nt^hukunjiiba/ su'aaliya. 'You have not answered my question.'

Omari/ nt^hakujiba/ su'aali. [HH!!H] 'Omari did not answer the question.'

Omari/ su'aali/ nt^hakujiba. [HH!!H] 'Omari the question did not answer.'

Su'aali/ iyo/ mwanaamke/ wa sulṭaani/ chiza khaadira/ kujiba/ teena/ munt^hu oyo/ ndiyé/ takuwo muḅjiwé. 'That question, if the daughter of the sultan is not able to answer it, then it is that man who will become her husband.'

Su'aali/ niingi/ zuziizá/ laakini/ Hamadi/ jibile mooyi/ tu. 'Many questions were asked, but Hamadi answered just one.' (Note that the final accent on the verb indicates the presence of pre-verbal focus.)

We/ nayo matezó/ nt^hukunjiiba/ su'aaliya. 'You are joking, you have not answered my question.'

Ye/ yaliko laazimu/ kulindra niingi/ khpata jawabu ya su'aaliye. 'He had to wait for a long time to get an answer to his question.'

suu'i

n. [Ar. sū W 437] evil, bad behavior, inequity ni sunna muunt^hu khtawaḍa ka sababu/ ya kibri iyo ni suu'i siwo adabu [st.] 'it is recommended to perform the ritual ablution for pride is an offence, not proper conduct'

subaahiya

n. 9/10 [cf. Sw. subahiya "outside covering of a bier, used in the better class of funerals" SSED 437; but this meaning does not correspond to the Chimwiini usage and the Ar. source given in SSED is very doubtful] a length of striped cloth, usually silk, used especially during wedding ceremony to wrap the bride-to-be; a kind of heavier cloth that is locally weaved in Brava subahiya iyi 'this cloth' (cf. subahiya izi 'these cloths')

rel.

chi-subaahiya (zi-) n. 7/8 dim. (disparaging use)

Chisubahiya gani/ icho. 'What kind of a chisubahiya is that (suggesting that it is not a good piece of cloth)?'

subhaanallah

an Arabic expression meaning 'glory to Allah', used in a variety of situations (The "ll" in subhaanallah is pronounced [l'] in Arabic and Chimiini speakers maintain this pronunciation.)

Hamadi/ subhaanallah/ jawaabu/ haakasi. 'Hamadi subhaanaallah he does not listen to anything.'

- subira n. patience, endurance, acceptance of things without complaints
- kh-subuṭa v. [Sw. thubutu SSED 465; Ar. ṭabata "resist, defy" W 101] (subuṭile) dare (Phon. Ordinarily a stem-final ṭ mutates to s in forming the perfect stem. The present verb is an exception.)
Hasubuṭi/ khkooḍa/ amó/ kuza jawaabú. 'He does not dare to speak or to ask anything.' (Phon. In this example, we see that amó can trigger final accent on the following infinitive phrase even though amó is in a separate phonological phrase; cf. the conjunction na, which triggers final accent but is in the same phrase with the target of that final accent.)
Na madakhtari waseló/ nt^haku/ mo/ nakhsubuṭó/ keendra/ kuhada nakhsuḷa kumfanyilizaa dawá/ mwanamke wa suṭaani. 'And the doctors that remained, not one dared to go saying he wants to administer medicine to the daughter of the sultan.'
why no final accent on keendra?
- rel. nom.
m-subuṭa (wa-) n. 1/2 one who dares
- Sudaani n. Sudan
- sudusi [Sw. sudusu SSED 438; Ar. suds or sudus W 403] a sixth
- suufi adj. invar. [cf. Sw. sufi "(1) a hermit, dervish; (2) saint, holy person" SSED 438; Ar.] easygoing, affable, nice, lovable, pious, someone who is a little stupid or careless askari suufi 'nice policeman/ policemen' chijana chisuufi 'dim. nice child' (cf. zijana zisuufi 'dim. nice children') ijana isuufi 'aug. nice child' (cf. mijana misuufi 'aug. nice children') ma'askari masuufi 'nice policemen' munt^hu suufi 'nice person' (cf. want^hu suufi 'nice people') shahabu suufi 'a nice youth' (cf. mashahabu masuufi 'nice youths') suufi NOTE: never heard with meaning given in CLE, which is not supported by either Swahili or Arabic. Will check
- rel.
u-suufi n. 14 the state of being nice, affable, lovable
- suufi n. [Sw. sufu SSED 438; Ar. ṣūf W 531] wool koti ya suufi 'a woolen coat'
- sufuri n. [Sw. sifuri; Ar. ṣifr W 518] zero, nothing, nought Ingile khfanya biyaashara/ ba'adi ya haba mo/ lazile sufuri. 'He went into business, after awhile he came out (of this endeavor) with nothing.'
- sufuriya (Ø, ma-) n. 9/10,6 [Sw. sufuria SSED 438; Ar. ṣufr W 517] a metal pan, pot for cooking Fijiri/ chiwona/ waant^hu/ wa'ile na masufuriya/ na mitelé/ mbuzi/ maftaa sehemu/ na naazí. 'In the morning she saw that people had come with pots and big quantities of ground corn, goats, ghee, and coconuts.'
Nelele maṭaaza/ sufuriya. 'He drank porridge with a pot.'
Sufuriya/ ipikililaa nama. 'The pan was used to cook meat.'
Sufuriya iyi/ ileteleḷa shfiniko. 'This pan was brought a lid for it.'
Sufuriya/ spikililaa nama. 'The pans were used to cook meat.'
- suugo n.
suugo/ ya paasta 'pasta tomato sauce'

- kh-suuhata* v. [Som. suux "to faint" DSI 565] faint, lose consciousness
We/ suuhata/ we/ fa/ ba/ chimaliza/ mi/ takhtala miskhi/ takhupaka/ we/ ondroka.
 'You fall down [acting like] you are dead and then I will take some musk and will rub it on you and [then] you get up.'
- suhuuba* n. (another plural of saahibu) companions si scholoka beeti sho suhuuba [st.] 'when we go to the house (Ar. beit = numba) where there are no companions (i.e. the grave)'
- suhuuri* n. the meal consumed early in the morning by Muslims before fasting during Ramadhan Ali/ kilaa ramaḏaani/ hudhafaṛaṭa/ halaali/ mpaka suhuuri. 'Ali, every (night of) Ramadhan stays awake all night, he does not sleep until (the time of) suhuuri.' Zamaani/ Miini/ Abu Dheera/ chondrola waant^hu/ ka shuukulu/ kuja suhuuri. 'During olden times in Miini, Abu Dheera was waking people up at daybreak to eat the last meal before fasting begins.'
- sujaada* n. prayer mat
Omari/ uzile sujaada/ khsalija/ numbaani/ sala. 'Omari bought a praying mat to pray his prayers with at home.'
Sujaada/ ka wiingi/ huwanayo piicha/ ya muskiti/ hulekezowa khibla.
 'A prayer mat usually has a picture of a mosque and is placed in the direction of the ka'aba.'
- sujuuda* n. [Ar. sujūd W 397] the act of bowing and touching the forehead to the ground in prayer du'a y-a sujúuda 'the prayer said while prostrating', which must be recited in Arabic: subhaana rabbi al a'ala wa bihamdih 'Glory be to my Lord, the Most High' mweepuke muunt^hu sho keendra sujuuda/ khiyaama takhfanyoowa kana mp^huundra [st.] 'avoid the man who does not pray by putting his forehead to the floor, in the life hereafter he will be considered (lit. made) a donkey'
- kh-sujuda* v. [Sw. sujudu SSED 438; Ar. sajada, sujūd W 397] (sujudiile) pray touching the ground with the head Nakhtiya nuumbá/ khsujudá/ naamí/ nimo katiiké/ inasujude/ ni nimo katiiké/ tu. 'I am afraid that the house will prostrate itself while I am inside it; let it prostrate itself while only you (pl.) are inside it.'
nt^haku mahala yaa ye sho khsujuda [st.] 'in every place he prostrated himself (lit. there was no place that he did not prostrate himself)'
 rel.
kh-sujudila v. appl. (sujudiliile)
Wote/ wamwenopo Yuusufú/ wachimsujudila/ Yuusufu. 'All of them, when they saw Yuusufu, they prostrated (themselves) to Yuusufu.'
Ye/ weene/ kuwa noota/ ikum na mooyi/ na mwezi wa iwá/ na mwezi wa weelú/ zinamsujudilaa ye. 'He saw that eleven stars and the sun and the moon were prostrating to him.'
- kh-sujudisha* v. caus. (sujudishiize)
- kh-suuka* v. [Sw. suka SSED 438] plait Chimalizaa kuja/ hukalaanth^ha/ husuka msala/ na choofata/ hulaala.
 'After eating, she sits and plaits a mat, and when she gets tired, she sleeps.'
Chinenzaa kaaziye/ ya khsuuka. 'She continued with her work of plaiting.'
khsuka mashuungi 'to braid, plait the hair' khsuka milala 'to plait milala'

Sisukeení. ‘You (pl.) don’t plait!’

Sku mooyi/ mwanaamke/ naayé/ kaleent^hó/ nthi/ nakhsuko msalá/ chimpotelela/ chinoka/ iluke. ‘One day while the girl was sitting on the floor plaiting a mat, a small snake fell on her.’

rel.

kh-sukaasuka v. freq.

kh-suukika v. p/s.

kh-suukila v. appl. (sukiliile)

kh-suukisha v. caus. (sukishiize)

rel. nom.

m-suuka (wa-) n. ½ on e who plaits

m-suuko n. 3 act of plaiting

u-suuko n. 14

suukari

n. 9 [Sw. sukari SSED 439; Ar. sukkar W 417] sugar

ladda/ kamba (or kana)/ suukari ‘sweet as sugar’

Nnakula suukari/ dukaaní. ‘I am buying sugar at the shop.’

pika ka suukari nama ya wakhlaali [st.] ‘cook with sugar the meat for the religious celebration of circumcision’

Sabri/ huzala suukari. ‘Patience produces sugar.’ (A proverb.)

Suukari/ itozeja. ‘Sugar is hard or impossible to find.’

Suukari/ itubeeme. ‘Sugar is abundant.’

sukari iyi ‘this sugar’

sukari ya gooro ‘brown sugar; a hard, brown sugar eaten as a kind of candy by children’ sukari yaa mawe ‘sugar cube(s), rock sugar’

Waana/ wankhsonda sukari yaa mawe. ‘The children are sucking on rock sugar.’

Suukari/ yingile nt^huungu. ‘Ants got into the sugar.’

sukraani

adj. drunk

Wambenopo kuwaa mi/ mbele sukraani/ wafunzile chilango cha ipakacha/ wanthukiile. ‘When they saw that I was drunk, they tied the door of the basket and carried me (away).’

sukuma

n. barracuda (note: a barracuda may also be called milomo miwili ‘[lit.] two lips’)

kh-sukurika

v. [Ar. sakira, sukr W 417] (sukurishile) get drunk, intoxicated

Munt^hu sukurishiló/ tulushile. ‘The man who got drunk fell down.’

Mwanaamke/ chimraasha/ hattá/ chiliini/ chimaliza/ mwenopo uyú/ kuwa sukurishilé/ chimuza/ bwaana/ tafaðali/ neeleza/ majibu/ ya su’ aaliyo. ‘The girl followed him until his bed, when she saw that this one was intoxicated, she asked him: Mister, please explain to me your question.’

Ye/ chija/ takhsukurika/ hatakiwa/ yaa ye/ takuhadó. ‘If he eats [the food that has been tampered with] he will become intoxicated, he will not know what he is saying.’

rel.

kh-sukurisha v. caus. (sukurishiize) make drunk; spoil

Fikiriini/ shtaambula/ kuwa mwanaamke/ mtijilee dawa/ ya khsukurisha/ chakujaani/ jisaa ye/ khpata kumtomoza/ kooði/ kiiwa/ majibu/ ya su’ aaliye. ‘Fikiriini understood that the girl had put medicine to make him intoxicated in the food in order to solicit from him words to learn the answer to his question.’

Khamri/ insukurishiize. ‘The liquor made me drunk.’

kh-sukurishiliza v. caus. appl.

Sinsukurishilizé/ mwaana. ‘Don’t spoil (on me my) child!’

sukuuti

n. [cf. Sw. where a verb sukutu SSED 439 is cited, but we have not yet encountered a verbal form in Chimwiini; Ar. sukūt W 417] silence mbwaaliko naami sukuuti [song] ‘and I too was silent’ suḷa invariable auxiliary verb

Kawa ile ka himá/ suḷa kuwa mweene. ‘If he had come quickly, he would have seen him.’ Or: Suḷa kuwa mweene/ kawa ile ka himá. ‘He would have seen him if he had come quickly.’
Nk^hawa nile ka himá/ suḷa kuwa nimweené. ‘If I had come quickly, I would have seen him. Or: Suḷa kuwa nimweené/ nk^hawa nile ka himá. ‘I would have seen him if I had come quickly.’
Nk^haya ka himá/ suḷa mwona. ‘If I come quickly, I would see him.’ Or: Suḷa mwona/ nk^haya kahimá. ‘I would see him if I come quickly.’
Ye/ suḷa khfaðilaa si/ keendra. ‘He would prefer for us to leave.’

kh-suḷa v. [etymology unknown] (suḷiile) want, need Ali/ chisuḷa Muusa/ khpikiḷowa chaakuja/ na Iisa. ‘Ali wanted Muusa to be cooked food for by Iisa.’ (In this sentence, Ali wants Iisa to cook food for Muusa.)
Ali/ msuḷiile Muusa/ khpikiḷoowa. ‘Ali wanted Muusa to be cooked for.’
Ali/ msuḷiile Muusa/ kumpikila chaakuja. ‘Ali wanted Muusa to cook food for him.’
Ali/ suḷiile kumpikila Muusa. ‘Ali wanted to cook for Muusa.’
Ali/ suḷiile mazu/ yanajoowa. ‘Ali wanted that the bananas be eaten.’
Ali/ suḷiile Muusa/ khpikiḷoowa. ‘Ali wanted Muusa to be cooked for.’
Ali/ suḷiile Muusa/ nampikile mwaana/ chaakuja. ‘Ali wanted that Muusa cook food for the child.’
Chisuḷa kuwa taajiri/ kaza lkaandra. ‘If you want to be rich, tighten your belt.’ (A proverb.)
Hamadi/ nakhsuḷa naani/ kooloka. ‘Hamadi wants who to go?’ Or: Naani/ Hamadi/ nakhsuḷo kooloká. ‘Who wants Hamadi to go?’ But also: ‘Hamadi wants who to go?’
Isa/ leelo/ masku/ yiiko/ nikaaha/ Safiya/ nakuloḷoowa/ na muḷi/ wa waawaye/ namsuḷiiló. ‘Now today at night there is an engagement, Safiya is being married by a man whom her father wants for her.’
khsuḷa kamba ruuhu ‘to want (desire) s.t. like life (soul) -- i.e. to desire something very passionately’ Kilaa muunt^hu/ husuḷa yaa ye/ nt^hanaayó. ‘Everyone wants what he cannot have.’ (A proverbial saying.)
Laakini/ mwaana/ iize/ kumlola mwanamke wa waawaye/ suḷiiló. ‘But the boy refused to marry the girl that his father wanted (him to marry).’
Mi/ humsuḷa/ Fardoosa/ laakini/ simpeendi. ‘I want Fardoosa, but I do not love her.’
Mi/ nakhsuḷa Fardoosá/ khsoomá/ khaṭi iyi/ tu. [HHH!!HH] ‘I want Fardoosa to read only this letter.’
Mi/ nakhsuḷa Fardoosá/ khsoma khaṭi iyi/ tu. ‘I want Fardoosa to read only this letter.’
Mi/ ñnakhsuḷa kendra harusini. ‘I want to go to the wedding.’
Mi/ ñnakhsuḷaa we/ kuya apá/ kahimá. ‘I want you to come here early.’
Muunt^hu/ chisuḷa khfanya chiint^hu/ hufaanya/ jisa suura/ ambó/ huḷaṭa. ‘When one wants to do something, one does it well or leaves it.’ (A proverb.)
Muusa/ suḷiile mwaana/ napikiḷowa chaakuja. ‘Muusa wanted that the child be cooked for food (by someone else).’
Mwaanawe/ ni chihaba/ husuḷa muunt^hu/ kumlangala. ‘His child is small and she needs someone to look after her.’
Nakhsuḷa kuwa’uḷiḷa waaná/ zibuukú. ‘I want to buy for the children books.’ Or: Nakhsuḷa zibuukú/ kuwa’uḷiḷa waaná. ‘I want books to buy for the children.’ There are as always many variations. Here are some: ‘Zibuuku/ nakhsuḷó/ kuwa’uḷiḷa waana. ‘It’s books that I want to buy for the children.’ Or: Waana/ zibuuku/ kuwa’uḷiḷa/ nakhsuḷó. ‘Children, books, to buy for them, I want.’ Or: Nakhsuḷá/ zibuuku/ kuwa’uḷiḷa/ waana. ‘I want books to buy for them the children.’ Or: Nakhsuulá/ zibuuku/ waana/ kuwa’ulila. ‘I want books, children, to buy for them. Or: Kuwa’ulila waana/ zibuuku/ nakhsuuló. ‘To buy for the children books, I want.’ Or: Kuwa’ulila zibuuku/ nakhsuuló/ waana. ‘To buy books for them I want the children.’ Or: Zibuuku/ nakhsula wa’ulila waaná. ‘Books, I want to buy for the children.’ Or: Kuwa’ulila waana/ zibuuku/ nakhsuuló. ‘To buy for the children books I want.’ In this last example, the pseudo-relative nature of the main verb indicates that there is focus in the preposed infinitival complement, but it is not apparent to us whether there is a specific element within the preposed infinitive that is focus or whether it is the clause itself. It was perhaps significant that no downstep was observed between the first phrase and the second phrase of this sentence, although of course the main verb was clearly downstepped.)

Nakhsulaa mi/ khshindra matezo. ‘He wants me to win the game.’

Nakhsulaa we/ kuya apa. ‘I want you to come here.’ (In the speech of GM, the first person singular subject prefix is ordinarily null in front of the present tense morpheme na. In MI’s speech, one finds n-na-.)

Nakhsuulani. ‘What do you want?’

Nakizisuulá/ zibuuku/ kuwa’ulila waana. ‘I want them the books to buy for the children.’ (Note the possibility that the main verb bears an object marker controlled by the secondary object of the infinitive complement. Other variants showing this same possibility: Zibuuku/ nakizisuulá/ kuwa’ulila waana. Or: Nakizisuulá/ izi zibuuku/ kuwa’ulila waana Or: Izi zibuuku/ nakizisuulá/ kuwa’ulila waana.)

Nakuwasula waaná/ kuwa’ulila zibuukú. ‘I want the children to buy for them books.’ (Note the possibility of the main verb having an object marker controlled by the primary object of the infinitive complement. Another variant with this OM: Nakuwasulila kuwa’ulila waaná/ zibuukú. Also: Zibuuku/ nakuwasula kuwa’ulila waaná.)

Namsula mwenye nyunyi izi. ‘I want the owner of these birds.’

Naani/ nakhsulo Hamadi/ keendrá. ‘Who wants Hamadi to go?’ Or: Naani/ nakhsuuló/ Hamadi/ keendrá.

Naani/ nakhsulo Hamadi/ khpakiza gaari. ‘Who wants Hamadi to load the truck?’ Or: Naani/ nakhsuuló/ Hamadi/ khpakiza gaari.

Naani/ nakhsulo Hamadi/ khpakiza gaari/ majiwé. ‘Who wants Hamadi to load the truck with stones?’ Or: Naani/ nakhsulo Hamadi/ khpakiza majiwé/ gaari.

Naani/ nakhsulo keendrá. ‘Who wants to go?’ Or: Naani/ nakhsuuló/ keendra.

Nnakhsula keendrá. ‘I want to go.’ (In GM’s speech, the first person singular SM is ordinary null in front of the TAM marker na. In MI’s speech, the prefix in question is more consistently maintained, although we did sometimes note its absence. Our transcription varies between the full and the reduced form, and we have made no attempt to be consistent. The accent pattern clearly differentiates the first person form of the na tense from the [cl.1] form.)

Nnakhsula kichijá. ‘I want to eat it.’

Nnakhsulaa kujá. ‘I want to eat.’

Nnakhsula kujaa namá. ‘I want to eat meat.’

Nnakhsula kula mo/ najee namá. ‘I want that each one eat meat.’

Nnakhsula (ku)mbigá. ‘I want to hit him.’

Nnakhsula kuwa’ulila waaná/ zibuukú. ‘I want to buy books for the children.’ (There is no internal focus in this sentence, hence the final accent triggered by the main verb extends to the final word in both of the phonological phrases that make up the Verb Phrase in this sentence. Fronting zibuuku does not necessarily involve any sort of focus on it, as can be seen from the example Nnakhsula zibuukú/ kuwa’ulila waaná. In this version, the final accent again extends both to zibuuku and to waana.)

Nnakhsula mwaaná/ khpita imtihaani. ‘I want the child to pass the examination.’

Nnakhsuulá/ mi/ khshindra matezo. ‘I want for me to win the game.’ (The presence of focus on the main verb guarantees that the final accent associated with this verb does not extend past the verb. Note that it is unacceptable for the pronoun co-referential with the subject to be phrased with the verb: Nnakhsuulaa mi/ khshindra matezo. ‘I want for me to win the game.’)

Nnakhsula Muusá/ khshindra matezó. ‘I want Muusa to win the game.’ (It is also possible to put focus on Muusa: Nnakhsula ‘Muusá/ khshindra matezo. Or with verb focus: Nnakhsuulá/ Muusa/ khshindra matezo. There may also be focus on the complement verb: Nnakhsuulá/ Muusa/ khshindra/ matezo.

Nnakhsuulá/ Muusa/ ye/ khshindra matezo. ‘I want Muusa, he, to win the game.’ (In this example, focus is on the main verb, and as a consequence the final accent triggered by this verb cannot extend beyond the verb itself. Note the presence of a pronominal element which is co-referential with Muusa. The pronoun may also precede Muusa, but in that case we observed it being phrased with the main verb: Nnakhsuulaa ye/ Muusa/ khshindra matezo.)

Nnakhsuulaa ye/ najee namá. ‘I want that he eat meat.’

Nnakhsuulaa ye/ sijee namá. ‘I want that he not eat meat.’

Nnamsula Muusá/ ye/ khshindra matezó. ‘I want Muusa to win the game.’ (In this example, the subject of the complement clause has been “raised” to be the object of the main verb and thus to govern the OM on that verb.)

Nuuru/ sulile kula gaari. ‘Nuuru wanted to buy a car.’

Nuuru/ sulile kumpikila Ra’iisi/ nama. ‘Nuuru wanted to cook meat for Ra’iisi.’

Osmaani/ nakhsula kendra kuwiinda/ nakhsuuló. ‘Osmaani wants to go hunting, that’s what he wants.’

Osmaani/ sulile keendra. ‘Osmaani wanted to go.’

Siimba/ nakhsuulaa we/ kuwa mukeewe. ‘Lion wants you to be his wife.’

Sisuleeni. ‘You (pl.) don’t want!’

Sulile chaakuja. ‘He wanted food.’

Sulile kuuya. ‘He wanted to come.’ (Cf. Nt^haxsuula/ kuuya. ‘He did not want to come.’)

Tuuma/ sulile kandikaa khati. ‘Tuuma wanted to write a letter.’

We/ nakhsuulani. ‘What do you want?’

Ye/ nakhsuula/ kumjaariba. ‘He wants to test him.’

rel.

kh-suulana v. rec.

Hakhaadiri/ khiilila/ apa/ ka sababu waawaye/ peete/ khabari/ ka kuwaa we/ na Safiyá/ nnakhsuulaná. ‘She is not able to come to you here because her father got news that you and Safiya want [to marry] each other.’ (Phon. Observe that the conjunction we/ na Safiyá triggers a second person plural subject form with final accent: nnakhsuulaná.)

kh-suulika v. ps/. (-sulishile)

husuuliko ‘that which is desired’ kh-suulila v. appl. (suliliile) want for kh-suliloowa v. appl. pass.

Ra’iisi/ sulila khpikilowaa nama. ‘[Lit.] Ra’iisi was wanted to be cooked meat for.’ (Syn: In this example, both the main verb and the complement verb have been passivized, with the beneficiary NP in the lower clause being promoted to subject of the main verb. There is an impersonal passive available as well: Isulila khpikilowa

Ra’iisi/ nama. [Lit.] There was wanted Ra’iisi to be for.’ Note that in this impersonal passive, again both verbs cooked meat are in a passive form. Presumably Ra’iisi, even though post-verbal, was promoted to be the subject of the lower passive verb.)

kh-suulisha v. caus. (sulishiize)

Sisulisheeni. ‘You (pl.) don’t make want!’

kh-suloowa v. pass. (sulila) be wanted

Chaakuja/ shchisulowa khpikilowa Muusa. ‘Food ought to be cooked for Muusa; food is wanted to be cooked for Muusa by someone.’

Chaakuja/ chisulila khpikilowa mwaana/ na Muusa. ‘Food was wanted to be cooked for the child by Muusa.’

Chaakuja/ chisuḷila na Muusa/ napikilowa mwaana. ‘The food was wanted by Muusa that the child be cooked it.’

Chaakuja/ chisuḷila napikilowa mwaana/ na Muusa. ‘Food was wanted that the child be cooked it by Muusa.’ Cf. Chaakuja/ chisuḷila wanapikilowa waana/ na Muusa. ‘Food was wanted that the children be cooked it by Muusa.’ (Note that the passive subject in the lower clause must be the beneficiary. It is not possible to say: Chaakuja/ chisuḷila chinapikilowa mwaana/ na Muusa. ‘Food was wanted that it be cooked for the child by Muusa.’ Note also that the beneficiary appears in post-verbal position in the complement. MI rejected sentences with the beneficiary preceding the complement verb: Chaakuja/ chisuḷila mwaana/ napikilowa. Or with a plural beneficiary: Chaakuja/ chisuḷila waana/ wanapikilowa.)

Chaakuja/ isulila napikilowa mwaana/ na Muusa. ‘Food, there was wanting that the child be cooked it by Muusa.’ (This impersonal passive does not specify who wanted the food to be cooked for the child by Muusa. Note that the subject of the subjunctive clause must be the beneficiary, it cannot be the food: Chaakuja/ isulila chinapikilowa mwaana/ na Muusa.)

Gaari/ isulila kuḷoowa. ‘A car was wanted to be bought.’

Haysuḷoowi/ we/ kumlipa ziwovu. ‘It ought not be that you repay him with evil.’

Ichisuḷowa khpikilowa Muusa/ chaakuja. ‘It is wanted for Muusa to be cooked food for (i.e. someone wanted to cook food for Muusa or someone ought to cook food for Muusa).’ Or: Chaakuja/ ichisuḷowa khpikilowa Muusa. ‘Food, it was wanted for it to be cooked for Muusa.’

Husuḷowa muunt^hu/ kuwanayo qalbi. ‘A man ought to have courage.’

Kamaa ye/ chindrata/ iyo/ ndiyó/ inakhsuḷoowa. ‘If he lets me go, this it is that is desired.’

kumkorsha za mwanaamke/ husuḷowa kiiwá ‘to teach her what a young lady is required to know’ review final accent which i did not originally write in CLE

Mazu/ yasulila kujoowa/ mwaana. ‘Bananas were wanted to be eaten by the child (i.e. the child wanted to eat the bananas).’ Cf. Mazu/ yasulila yanajowa na mwaana. ‘Bananas were wanted (by someone) to be eaten by the child.’

Muunt^hu/ nakhsuḷoowá/ ni uyu. or Munt^hu nakhsuḷoowá/ ni uyu. ‘The person who is wanted is this one.’

Muusa/ chisuḷowa khpikilowa chaakuja/ na Hamadi. ‘Muusa was wanted to be cooked food for by Hamadi (i.e. Hamadi wanted to cook food for Muusa).’

Muusa/ chisuḷowa na Ali/ khpikilowa chaakuja. ‘Muusa is wanted by Ali to be cooked food for.’ check whether another na-Np phrase is possible here

Muusa/ ichisuḷowa khpikilowa chaakuja. ‘Muusa was wanted to be cooked food for.’ (This is an impersonal passive, thus one cannot specify a certain individual as the one doing the wanting: Muusa/ ichisuḷowa khpikilowa chaakuja/ na Hamadi. ‘Muusa was wanted to be cooked food for by Hamadi.’)

Muusa/ sulila khpikilowa na Ali. ‘Muusa was wanted to be cooked for by Ali.’ Cf. Muusa/ sulila na Ali/ khpikilowa. ‘Muusa was wanted by Ali to be cooked for.’ review whether there is a meaning difference here, with the former indicating that Ali is to do the cooking and the latter ambiguous

Muusa/ sulila kumpikila Hamadi/ chaakuja/ na Ali. ‘Muusa was wanted to cook food for Hamadi by Ali.’ (In this sentence, Ali wanted Muusa to cook food for Hamadi.)

Mwaana/ sulila na Muusa/ napikilowa chaakuja. ‘The child was wanted by Muusa that he be cooked for food.’ (In this sentence, the child is both the subject of the higher verb and of the subjunctive verb in the complement. Muusa is the one who wants the child to be cooked for, but then sentence does not specify who is to do the cooking.)

Mwaana/ sulila khpikilowa chaakuja/ na Muusa. ‘The child was wanted to be cooked food for by Muusa.’ (In a sentence such as this, with an infinitive in the complement clause, Muusa is both the one doing the wanting and the one doing the cooking.)

Mwaana/ sulila napikilowa chaakuja/ na Muusa. ‘The child was wanted that he be cooked food for by Muusa.’ Need to review whether muusa did the wanting

Mwaana/ isulila napikilowa chaakuja/ na Muusa. ‘The child, there was wanting that he be cooked for food by Muusa.’ (This is an impersonal passive, where Muusa is wanted to do the cooking for the child, but without any specification as who wanted this.)

Naasi/ chiko hayyi/ husuloowa/ chiza ku'ajiza kuwakuza/ na

kuwasharifa awó/ wafilo ka khisaa si/ na khisa nt^hi yiitú. 'And we who are alive must not fail to honor and respect those who died because of us and for our country.' should there be a final accent on na kuwasharifa awo

We/ isuloowa/ kulila ruuhuyo/ chaakuja/ chisuura/ kumbanishiliza ruuhuyo. 'You ought to have bought for yourself good food to restore your health with.'

Zawaadi/ isulila napowa mwaana/ na Muusa. 'Gifts, there was wanting that the child be given by Muusa.'

kh-suula

v. used as an auxiliary verb

Khalamu/ isulile kunbaha. 'I was about to lose the pen [lit. the pen wanted to be lost to me].'

Peesa/ zisulile kunbaha. 'I was about to lose the money [lit. the money wanted to be lost to me].'

We/ kheeri/ nakhsula kuja ka hima. 'It is best for you to eat early, quickly.'

rel.

kh-suulika v. p/s. (-sulishile)

kh-suulila v. appl. (-suliliile)

kh-suloowa v. pass. used as an auxiliary verb

Pesa izi/ schisulowa kulilowa gaari. 'This money was earmarked for a car to be bought (with it).'

Pesa izi/ schisulowa kuwa zulila gaari. 'This money was to have been used such] that cars be bought (with it).'

Pesa izi/ schisulowa kuwakilowa. 'This money was earmarked for building a house (with it).'

Mayaank^huku/ yachisulowa khpikowa Muusa. 'Eggs were supposed to be cooked by Muusa.'

Mayaank^huku/ yachisulowa kuwa yapishila. 'Eggs were supposed [lit. that they] be cooked.'

shouldn't take (it).'

We/ nt^haykhsuloowa/ khtaala. 'It was not wished that you take (it); i.e. you shouldn't buy (it).'

We/ nt^haykhsuloowa/ kuula. 'It was not wished that you buy (it); i.e. you

Zakuja izi/ schisulowa kuwa pikilila Hamadi/ shpiindri. 'These foods were supposed to have been cooked for Hamadi at noon (and now it is after noon).'

rel. nom.

m-suula (wa-) n. 1/2 one who wants

suulbisi

n.

qabila suulbisi 'to add something extra to s.t. purchased'

Shekhamanaana/ dukaye/ waant^hu/ qabilowa suulbisi. 'In Shekhamanaana's shop people are given extra (when they purchase s.t).'

sulhu

n. [Sw. suluhu "n. (1) peace, agreement to leave off a quarrel, or to come to terms without quarreling, an armistice; (2) a draw in a game of football, etc." SSED 440; Ar. sulh W 522] peace, reconciliation variant form: sulhi [cf. Sw. verb suluhu or suluhi SSED 440] khfanya sulhu 'to reconcile'

Sulhu/ hayiyi/ ila ka nt^ha ya lpaanga. 'Peace does not come except at the point of a sword.' (A proverb.)

sulhi ndiyo ihtiraamu [song] 'reconciliation is respect' sultaani (ma-)

n. [Sw. sultani SSED 440; Ar. sultān W 422] sultan, king variant form: surtāani

Apo/ zamaani/ waliko sulṭaani/ na mwaanawé. ‘Once upon a time there was a sultan and his son.’

Basi/ chendra ka sulṭaani/ cheendró. ‘So he went to the sultan, that’s what he did.’

Basi/ oyo mwiimbili/ wa masulṭaani/ nakuyaawaṭa. ‘Then the son [lit. young men] of the king [lit. kings] was surprised.’

Eelo/ chiineendra/ haṭá/ numbaani/ ka sulṭaani. ‘The gazelle walked to the house of the sultan.’

Iize/ keendra/ ka sulṭaani/ numbaani/ kuja nguwoze. ‘He [the rat] refused to go to the sultan’s house to eat his clothes.’

Khisa ya Hasiibu/ na sulṭani waa noká. ‘The story of Hasiibu and the king of snakes.’

Laakini/ mwanaamke/ wa sulṭaani/ apo/ jahaziini/ chimwambila Huseeni... ‘But the daughter of the sultan there in the ship told Huseeni...’

Mshinzilopo aduwi/ ye/ suḷa khaadira/ khfanya ruuhuye/ sulṭaani/ wa muyi uyu/ laakini/ nt^hakuda’a usulṭaani/ walá/ nt^hakhtaala/ haṭá/ musmaari/ mooyi/ kuwa mbwaaké. ‘When he defeated the enemy, he could have made himself sultan of this town, but he did not claim the sultanship, nor did he take even one nail to be his.’

Mweenza/ siimba/ ni sulṭaani/ na masulṭaani/ hukoda jis’iyo. ‘My friend, Lion is a king and kings speak that way.’

Nini/ sulṭaani/ khufanyiizeni. ‘Why? What has the sultan done to you?’

Siwo/ mbovu/ sulṭaaniwá. ‘That’s not bad, my sultan.’

Sulṭani uyu/ sulḷe mloza mwaanawe/ muke. ‘This sultan wanted to marry his son to a woman.’

Surtāani/ yaa ye/ nakhsuuló/ hufaanya. ‘A king does what he wants.’ (A proverb.)

Uyu/ mulku wa masulṭaani. ‘This is property that is fit for sultans.’

rel.

chi-sulṭaani adv. in the manner of a king

Mkulu siimba/ mi/ khupatilile chaakujá/ cha chisulṭaani. ‘Master Lion, I will bring for you food fit for a king.’

mwendo wa chisulṭaani ‘walking in the manner of a king’ nguwo niingi/ za chisulṭaani ‘many clothes fit for a king’

Sulṭaani/ wakorsheze waanawe/ chisulṭaani. ‘The king raised his children in a royal manner.’

u-sulṭaani n. 14 kingdom

Chandikaa mi/ chittiche/ cha usulṭaani. ‘He put me on his throne (lit. his chair of sultanship).’

Khadimu sulṭaani/ chimfungulila moojé/ jisaa ye/ welo sulṭaani/ chimaliza/ chimwaambila/ ya kuwaa ye/ nakishkiza ruuhuye/ na namṭawalisha/ usulṭaani. ‘The sultan’s servant told his master how he had become a sultan, then he told him that he was resigning (dethroning himself) and crowning him with the sultanship.’

Mi/ mp^hindri yaa mi/ nch^hifa/ usulṭaani/ naṭawalishowa mwaana/ uyu. ‘At the time when I die, as for the kingship, this boy should be installed as king.’

Sulṭaani/ usulṭaaniwe/ chimp^haa mi/ chimp^hó. ‘The sultan gave his kingdom to me, that’s what he did.’

suḷu

n. [cf. Sw. sulika "to feel dizzy" SSED 440] dizziness, giddiness, loss of sense of balance khfanyaa suḷu ‘to be dizzy’ khshikaa suḷu ‘to be dizzy’ khshikowaa suḷu ‘to feel fizzy (lit. to be held by dizziness)’

Omari/ shishilaa suḷu. ‘Omari was dizzy or giddy.’

kh-suluha

v. [Sw. suluhu SSED 440; Ar. ṣalaḥa, ṣulūḥ W 521] (suluhile) be good, right,

- proper (of human beings) Mwaana/ suluhiile. ‘The child grew up to be good.’
 rel.
kh-suluhika v. [=simple verb in usage] (suluhishile) be well-behaved, well-mannered, act correctly Mwaana/ suluhishile. ‘The child grew up to be good.’
kh-suluhila v. appl. (suluhiliile) Mwaana/ nsuluhiliile. ‘The child grew up for me to be morally upright.’
kh-suluhisha v. caus. make right, good, straight; reconcile people Mwajiitu/ msuluhishiize. ‘God made him morally upright.’
kh-suluhishiliza v. caus. appl.
Haadi/ msuhulishilize Baana/ mwaana. ‘Haadi caused Baana’s child to grow up to be good.’
kh-suluhishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
Haadi/ na Baana/ wasuluhishilizenye waana. ‘Haadi and Baana caused one another’s children to grow up to be good, upright.’
- m-suluhifu* (wa-) adj. [Sw. suluhifu SSED 440; Ar. ṣulḥ "peace, conciliation" W 522] correct, well-mannered, well-behaved
- suluuki* n. [Ar. sulūk W 424] behavior
- kh-suluza* v. cause to be thin
Ito/ ya maadamu/ kana ha'ikhubli/ khsuluza. ‘The eye of a human being (i.e. the evil eye) if it does not kill you, (still) it wears you down (makes you thin, weak, suffer).’
Omari/ maraḍi/ yanamsuluza. ‘Omari, the disease is making him weak.’
 rel.
kh-suluzika v. become thin, weak
Omari/ sku mbili izi/ nakhsuluzika/ tu/ hachiisi/ yaa ye/ naayó. ‘Omari, these past two days he has just gotten weaker, I do not know what he has (i.e. what is causing this).’
- kh-suluzika* v. [no etymological source found] ask for s.t. earnestly, anxiously desire s.t.; ask about or after someone (especially when not seen for some time); [pron. khsuluzika or khsuuzika] naa mi husuuzika khuwona ka suura [song] ‘and I anxiously desire to see you in niceness’ Yaayó/ nakhsuuzika. ‘Your aunt is asking about you (i.e. what happened to you? why have you not visited her?).’
- kh-suumbuka* v. [Sw. sumbuka SSED 440] be annoyed, worried; grow weary; waste one’s efforts chiiza husuumbuka qalbiya hundura [song] ‘otherwise if not I grow weary and my heart hurts (lit. pricks) me’ khsumbuka buure ‘to waste one’s efforts’
 rel.
kh-sumbukila v. app.
Mwaana/ nsumbukiliile/ karka safari. ‘My child suffered a great deal on the trip.’ (Syn. Observe how the applied stem is used here to express a possessive relationship between the reference of the object prefix, here the first person, and the subject of the sentence, here mwaana.)
kh-sumbuliila v. tr. appl. (sumbuliile) kh-sumbuḷoowa v. tr. pass. (sumbiila) kh-suumbula v. tr. (sumbiile) annoy, worry, trouble s.o.
Muḷiwe/ shpeenda/ khkalaant^ha/ kuja/ kistereha/ pashpo/ khsumbula ruuhuye. ‘Her husband used to like sitting, eating, enjoying [life], without troubling himself.’
Sultaani/ kasizopo za mzeelé/ hadiiló/ shtomola amri/ ye/ khfungoowa/ ka sababu/ ye/ shakabile waant^hu/ na sumbile waant^hu/ buure. ‘When the sultan heard what the old man said, he ordered that he be imprisoned because he falsely accused people and annoyed people without reason.’
kh-sumbulana v. tr. rec. annoy one another kh-sumbulika v. tr. p/s.

Hasumbuliki. ‘He cannot be annoyed.’

kh-sumbuliza v. caus. appl.

kh-sumbulizanya v. caus. rec. appl.

kh-suumbuza v. caus.

kh-sumbuzanya v. caus. rec.

kh-sumbuzika v. caus. p/s.

rel. nom.

ma-suumbuko n. 6

ma-suumbulo n. 6

sumu

n. [Sw. sumu SSED 442; Ar. samm W 427] poison

Hasani fiile ka sumu/ mpeelo mukeewe daalimu [st.] ‘Hasani was killed by poison/ given to him by his wife, the deceiver’ khpaasumu ‘to give poison’

Nuuru/ mubelele Haaji/ kaa sumu. ‘Nuuru killed Haaji with poison.’

Sumu/ imubelele Haaji. ‘Poison killed Haaji.’

sumu yaa mp^hana ‘rat poison’

Sumu yaa noka/ kana ya waawayo. ‘The poison of a snake is like waawayo.’

Teena/ we/ takhaadira/ khtaambula/ sumu/ jisaa yo/ khatari. ‘So you can understand just how dangerous the venom is.’

kh-suundula

v. [etymology unknown] (perfect form is not known since this verb is usually used in the negative) gratify, satisfy

Nt^haku/ chint^hu humsuunduló/ oyo. ‘There is nothing that satisfies that one.’

one.’

Ratali yaa nama/ haymsuunduli Baana. ‘A pound of meat does not satisfy Baana.’

sungura

n. [Sw. sungura SSED 441] swah. hare, rabbit (Lex. The common word in Chimiini for this animal is bakayle, borrowed from Somali. The Arabic word arnabu is also sometimes used. The Swahili word sungura is found in stories that MI translated from Swahili.)

Sku mooyi/ fijiri/ na mapeema/ sungura/ mooyi/ karkaa ye/nadaxodaaxó/ m(w)ene mphuundra/ mkulu/ maluungo/yanam(w)ala/ ka matuuri/ na unené. ‘One day early in the morning a rabbit, while he was grazing, saw the large donkey, his body shining from fatness and fatness.’

Sungura/ sh^htomola salaamu. ‘The rabbit issued greetings.’

sunna

n. better to follow a particular religious practice; a practice sanctioned by tradition;

the sayings and doings of the Prophet, later established as legally binding precedents a^hdaana na iqaama sunna akmali [st.] ‘the call to prayer and the announcement that it is time to pray are preferred but non-obligatory acts’

kh-sunula

v. [etymology unknown] (suniile) (Morph. The apparent reversive suffix -ul- and meaning of this verb suggests the existence of khsuna, with the opposite meaning, but no such verb has been observed.)

khsunula chibolo ‘to turn back the foreskin, uncovering the glans of the penis’ khsunula miino ‘to show the teeth (i.e. to smile) in gratification’

rel.

kh-sunulila v. appl. (sunuliile)

kh-sunulisha v. caus.

suuqu

n. [Sw. soko SSED 434; Ar. sūq W 443] market; [pron. suuqu or suukhu]

Chilawa/ choloka sukhuuni/ kula mp^huundra. ‘He left and went to the market to buy donkeys.’

Enzele sukhuuni/ uzile/ nt^holoko/ ye/ nakiineendró/ nakiineendró/nakiineendró/ komele mahala/ mo/ yikoo muti/ yikó. ‘He went to the market and bought the beans, he; walking and walking and walking, he reached a place where there was a tree, there was.’

Juha/ oloshela sukhuuni/ kula mp^huundra. ‘Juha went to the market to buy a donkey.’

Karka Suuqu/ Musharaki/ mkulu wa Suuqu/ Musharaki/ k^hutubiile. ‘At the Common Market, the head of the Common Market gave a speech.’

Maama/ choloka sukhuuni/ chulaa mbuzi. ‘(His) mother went to the market and bought a goat.’

m^wana oloshelo sukhuuni ‘the child who went to the market’

m^wana tezezo sukhuuni ‘the child who played in the market’

Nnakendra sukhuuni/ kulaa mazú. ‘I went to the market to buy bananas.’

(This sentence could be used to answer the question : What did you go to the market to buy?)

Nnakendra ^fsukhuuni/ kuula/ mazu. ‘I went to the market to buy bananas.’

(This sentence answers the question: Where did you go to buy bananas?)

Niwawene waant^hú/ wiingi/ sukhuuni. ‘I saw (or found) many people at the market.’

Noloshelé/ sukhuuni. ‘I did go to the market.’

Noloshela sukhuuni/ pamo na Nuuru. ‘I went to the market with Saliimu.’

N^t^hezeze na Saalimú/ sukhuuni. ‘I played with Saalimu in the market.’

(It is possible for focus to be placed on Saliimu, in which case the final accent does not project to the locative: N^t^hezeze na ^fSaalimú/ sukhuuni. If the locative is moved to post-verbal position, then it is being focused and the final accent does not go past it: N^t^hezeze ^fsukhuuni/ na Saalimu. This pattern, however, does not hold for the final accent triggered by a relative verb. Regardless of the word order, the final accent goes to the end of the relative clause:

m^wana tezezo na Saalimú/ sukhuuni and also m^wana tezezo sukhuuni/ na Saalimú ‘the child who played with Saalimu in the market’.)

Nuuru/ na Jaamá/ wa’oloshela sukhuuni. ‘Nuuru and Jaama went to the market.’ Cf. Mi/ na Nuurú/ choloshela sukhuuni. ‘Me and Nuuru went to the market.’ (In the first example, two [cl.1] conjoined subjects require the [cl.2] subject marker wa on the verb. In the second example, a first person singular noun and a conjoined [cl.1] noun require the subject marker chi, first person plural, on the verb.)

Nuuru/ oloshela sukhuuni/ pamo na Saalimu. ‘Nuuru went to the market together with Saalimu.’

Sukhuuni/ baaba/ chimpataa muke/ khiriḷo khkala na m^waanawé. ‘At the market father found a woman who agreed to stay with his child.’

Sukhuuni/ chimwona mp^huundra/ msuura/ chimuula. ‘At the market he saw a nice donkey and bought it.’

Sukhuuni/ nakendra kulaaní. ‘To the market you are going to buy what?’ (A possible answer to this question: Sukhuuni/ nnakendra kulaa mazú. ‘To the market I am going to buy bananas.’)

Wawashile suukhu/ kati ya muuyi. ‘They built a market in the middle of town.’

suura

n. [Sw. sura SSED 441] a chapter of the Quran

Alí/ kilaa fijiri/ husoma khur’aani/ suraa mbili. ‘Every morning Ali reads two chapters of the Quran.’

khkoma suura ‘to complete a chapter of the Quran’

Hasani/ m^waanawe/ komele sura ya yaasini/ chiwooni. ‘Hasani’s child completed the suura of Yaasin at religion school.’

Mwaana/ shkoma suura/ hufaanya/ zaakuja/ huleeta/ chiwooni/ khpowa weenziwe. ‘When a child completes a chapter of the Quran, he prepares food and brings it to school to be given to his classmates.’

mwisho wa suura ‘at the end of the section, chapter’ Suura/ ndre/ kabisá/ karka khur’aani/ ni suura/ alábákhara. ‘The longest chapter in the Quran is the alábákhara chapter.’

-suura

adj. [Sw. sura “form, appearance, look, expression, face exterior, likeness, general view, prospect” SSED 441; Ar. sūra W 441] beautiful, pretty, good; n. beauty, appearance

Alí/ suuraye/ (ni) kendra numbaani. ‘It is good for Ali to go home.’

chakuja chisuura ‘good food’

Chibuuku/ cha Maryamu/ mp^heeló/ ni chisuura. ‘The book which Maryamu gave me is nice.’

Chimpa mwaanawe/ chakuja chisuura/ na mwana wa mubájiwé/ chimpa makooko. ‘She gave her child good food and she gave her husband’s child the crust of the rice.’

Chineema/ chiwaaliko/ chisuura/ nt^ho. ‘The movie was very good.’

Hamadi/ ni mwaana/ naáiifa/ msuura/ na adibú. ‘Hamadi is a boy clean, handsome, and well-mannered.’ (Phon. Observe that na triggers final accent when it conjoins adjectives.)

Hutaambula/ mbovu/ na suurá. ‘I understand evil and good.’

ina isuura ‘a good name’

Inawe suura/ amó/ mbovu/ nuumbayo/ ni nuumbayo/ ya mwinginewo/ siwo/ yaako. ‘Whether it is good or bad, your house is your house, that of another is not yours.’ (A proverb.)

jisa suura ‘in a beautiful manner, but also a sort of intensifier’

Ijiwe/ impete jisa suura. ‘The stone struck him [lit. got him] really hard.’

kazi suura ‘good work’

Maama/ chihada/ siwo/ mbovu/ Jeelaani/ ni muunt^hu/ msuura. ‘Mother said: It is not bad. Jeelaani is a nice man.’

mama msuura ‘a good mother’

Maryamu/ oyo/ wa Abú/ mpelo chibuukú/ ni msuura. ‘Maryamu, to who(m) Abu gave the book, is nice.’

Mayank^huku aya/ (ni) masuura. ‘These eggs are nice.’

Mayank^huku aya/ (ni) masuraa nt^ho. ‘These eggs are very nice.’

Maayi/ siwo/ masuura/ kunoowa. ‘The water is not safe to drink.’

Mi/ kapata pesa níngi/ sulá kula faátuura/ suura. ‘If I had gotten a lot of money, I would have bought a nice car.’ (The prosody of faátuura/ suura is interesting; the nominal is apparently focused, as indicated by its failure to undergo downstepping, and the adjective suura is roughly at the same pitch level.)

msuura ‘good one, nice one, pretty one’ (This is the usual way of addressing a child when one does not know his/her name. Also used jokingly to address grown-up, in this case when you know them very well. Note: children ran many errands and were routinely sent to neighbouring households to fetch and carry things. When they entered a house (doors were usually left open), they would not speak first, but waited to be spoken to.)

Haye/ msuura/ nakhsuuláni. ‘Yes, pretty one, what do you want?’

Muunt^hu/ mwaape/ kana Omari/ ni suura/ kuwanayo kana mweenza. ‘Someone like Omari is useful (lit. good) to have as a friend.’

Mwanaamke/ ni msuura/ ka suura/ laakini/ nt^haná/ amali. ‘The girl is beautiful, physically, but she has no manners.’

Mwenye/ waliko ni mubjaana/ someeló/ na wanayo mahala suura/ ka sarkaali. ‘Mwenye was a young man who had studied and had a good position with the government.’

Nasiibuya/ iwaliko suura/ mi/ nshiinzilé. ‘My luck was good, I won.’

- Nazo suura/ za waawaye (or: maamaye). ‘[Lit.] he/she has the beauty (pl.) of his/her father or mother -- i.e., (s)he resembles her/his father or mother in her/his handsome looks.’ Note: this expression can also be used to make comparison with other relatives (e.g. grandfather, elder brother, etc.).
- Nii mule/ msuura. ‘He is tall and handsome.’ Or: Nii mule/ na ni msuura. (Although na triggers final accent in a structure of conjoined nouns, it does not in the case here of conjoined copular expressions, not even when the ni is omitted: Nii mule/ na msuurá.)
- Ni suura/ ye/ kooloka. ‘It is good for him to go.’ (One does not use the subjunctive in this context: Ni suura/ ye/ na’oloke.) Similarly: Itakuwa suura/ ye/ kooloka. ‘It will be better for him to go.’ (Not with the subjunctive: Itakuwa suura/ ye/ na’oloke.) Also in the negative: Siwo/ suura/ ye/ kooloka. ‘It is not good for him to go.’ (Not: Siwo suura/ ye/ na’oloke.)
- Nuzile faṭura (y)a mana (w)a Omari/ mpʰiyá. ‘I bought Omari’s son’s new car.’ Cf. Uzile faṭurs (y)a mana (w)a Omari/ mpʰiya. ‘He bought Omari’s son’s new car.’
- Nuzile nuumbá/ mpʰiyá/ ^fsuura. ‘I bought a beautiful new house.’ (The pitch on suura was raised in this example sentence, indicating focus. This focus seems to prevent the extension of the final accent triggered by the verb onto the focused adjective. It is not the case that final accent never projects onto a focused element, so the appropriate generalization needs to be discovered. The simple yes-no question version of this sentence involves no accent shift.)
- Nuzile nuumbá/ ^fsuura/ mpʰiya. ‘I bought a beautiful new house.’ (Again, the pitch on suura is raised in this example, indicating some sort of focus, and the final accent from the verb cannot project onto suura. Naturally, this accent cannot project beyond suura onto the adjective. There is some reason to question whether it is really true focus on the adjective in this example, since the simple yes-no question version of the sentence does not undergo any accent shift. If mpʰiya were out of focus, it should exhibit final accent in the simple yes-no question. It is possible, of course, that our consultant gave a yes-no question based on a sentence lacking focus on suura, either mistakenly or because one does not ask questions that reflect this focus.)
- Nuzile nuumbá/ ^fsuurá/ mpʰiyá. ‘I bought a beautiful new house.’ Or: Nuzile nuumbá/ ^fsuurá/ mpʰiya. (The first example suggests that suura is not truly focused, even though it is in fact raised in pitch, since the final accent from the verb extends past it onto the adjective. Suura does, however, exhibit focus-like behavior in the alternative sentence, where the adjective is outside the scope of the final accent. It is not clear what the difference is between these sentences and the preceding example where the final accent does not penetrate suura.)
- Nuzile numba ya Omari/ mpʰiyá/ suurá. ‘I bought Omari’s beautiful new house.’ Or: Nuzile numba ya Omari/ suurá/ mpʰiyá.
- Omari/ uzile numbaa mpʰiya/ suura. ‘Omari bought a beautiful new house.’ Or: Omari/ uzile numba/ mpʰiya/ suura. Or: Omari/ uzile nuumba/ suura/ mpʰiya. ‘Omari bought a beautiful new house.’ (Our yes-no question data pertains only to the last two examples, but in neither of these is there evidence of accent-shift in the simple yes-no question.)
- Shkalaant^ha/ kuja zakujaaze/ zisurazisuura. ‘He sat down to eat his good food.’
...suraaze ni zaaydi [st.] ‘...his beauty is greater’
- Uzile faṭura (y)a Omari/ mʰwaanawe/ mpʰiya. ‘He bought Omari’s son’s new car.’
- Wake wasuura/ nt^hawakuuya. ‘Beautiful women did not come.’ Cf. Wake/ wasuura/ nt^hawakuuya. ‘The women, beautiful, did not come.’
- Waant^hu/ wako apá/ (ni) wasuura. ‘The people who are here are nice.’
- Waant^hu/ wako apá/ (ni) wasuraa nt^ho. ‘The people who are here are very nice.’
- Wasuura/ mashungi yaawo/ maḷaasi/ lamna mooyi/ welpe/ sura zaawo/ mooyi. ‘(They, the two girls were) beautiful, their hair smooth, (they were) of one kind, white, their appearance was the same (lit. one).’
- Ye/ chambiloowa/ kuwa sultaani/ uyu/ nayo mwanaamke/ msuura/ nt^ho. ‘He was told that the sultan has a very beautiful daughter.’

Ye/ chimpataa nyunyi/ mooyi/ msuura/ nt^ho. ‘He found a bird, a very beautiful one.’

rel.

suura well

↑Suura/ mi/ stahaaji/ kingila karka jawabu/ izo/ zont^he/ mara ya piili.
‘Well, I needn’t go into all that again.’

u-suura n. beauty, goodness

Maluungoye/ yawaaliko/ layini/ na chiwala/ ka usuura. ‘Her body was soft and was shining with beauty.’

Usura waa muke/ ni usura wa tabi’a/ siwo/ usura wa uso. ‘The beauty of a woman is beauty of character, it is not facial beauty.’ (A proverb.)

usura wa khalbi ‘spiritually beautiful (lit. beautiful of heart)’ usura wa uso ‘physically beautiful (lit. beautiful of face)’ want^hu/ wenyee nguvu/ ma’arifa/ na usuurá ‘people having power, knowledge, and goodness’

-surasuura adj.

numba surasuura/ keendra ‘nine beautiful houses’ (cf. numba suura/ mooyi ‘one beautiful house’)

suriya (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. suria SSED 441; Ar. surrīya W 405] concubine, mistress

...kuwa mubliwe/ mtete suriya ‘that her husband had taken a concubine’

rel.

chi-suriya (zi-) n. 7/8 dim.

i-suriya (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.

surtaani

n. [cf. sultaani] sultan

Siimba/ ni surtaani/ wa maduuri. ‘The lion is the king of the jungle.’

Wo/ wanakulindra kumwona surtaani. ‘They are waiting to see the king.’

rel.

u-surtaani n. 14 kingdom, empire

We/ laazimu/ khfahama/ kuwaa ye/ nakhsula khfanya usurtaani/ wa nafsiye. ‘You have to understand that he wants to create an empire for himself.’

kh-surufa

v. [Ar. ṣarafa W 512] (surufiile) spend money, change money; give one’s daughter in marriage

Baaba/ msurufiile mwanaamkewe. ‘Father gave the hand of his daughter in marriage.’

Baaba/ waliko maskiini/ na pesa zaa ye/ teto ka mubjana oyó/ mlowelo Safiyá/ baaba/ pesa izo/ surufiile/ khfanyiza haruusi/ uzile zoombo/ za haruusi/ na nt^hayimsaalila chiint^hu. ‘Father was poor, and the money that he took from that young man who married Safiya, father spent this money making the marriage; he bought things for the marriage and no money remained for him.’

Chimweleza haaliye/ yotte/ na jisaa ye/ surufilo maaliyé. ‘He explained to her his state, all, and how he had lost his wealth.’

Maali/ yasurufiilá/ ilu yaa waké/ siwo/ huruudó. ‘Money which has been spent on women does not come back’

Nsurufiilé/ peesa. ‘I spent the money.’ Or: Peesa/ mi/ nsurufiile. ‘Money I spent.’

Ye/ ingiile/ khtelesa maali/ na khsurufá/ ilu ya want^hu/ wawovu/ waa ye/ wafanyizo weenzawé. ‘He began to squander money and to spend it on bad people whom he had made his friends.’

rel.

kh-sufurisha v. cause to spend money

kh-surufuowa v. pass. (surufiila)

Ali/ surufiile/ ifungu iyi/ ilu ya zaakuja/ naa nguwó/ na maali/ yasurufiilá/ ilu yaa kujá/ naa nguwó siwo/ maali/ huruudó. ‘Ali spent this portion [of the wealth he squandered] on food and clothes, and money that has been spent on food and clothes is not money that comes back.'

Karka jama'a ya want^hu wa Mwiini/ pesa za mwiimbili/ humlazimo kḥtomolá/ ni peesa/ nch^haache/ na husufurowa ka kuḷiḷowa maharuusi/ zili/ magodoro/ miṭaawo/ na ma'una ya nuumbá. 'In the community of the people of Brava, the money that the boy [groom] must pay is little money, and it is used to buy for the newlyweds beds, mattresses, pillows, and household utensils.'

Manaamke/ surufiila. 'The girl was "exchanged", i.e. was promised in marriage to s.o.'

ma-suruufu n. 6 [Ar. maṣrūf "expenditures" W 513] family maintenance; [pron. masuruufu or more commonly masruufu] suruuru n. [Ar. surūr W 405] joy, happiness; variant form: suruuri ya Rasuul Allāhi [...] mpa iziwa ya suruuri na salaama [st.] 'O Prophet of God, give me the milk of happiness and safety' surwaani n. 9/10 [Sw. suruali SSED 441; Ar. sirwāl W 408; cf. also Som. surwaal DSI 563] trousers, pants Hamadi/ havaali/ surwaani/ huvala ma'wizi/ tu. 'Hamadi does not wear pants, he only wears ma'wizi.'

Maskiini/ chivala surwaani. 'The poor man put on trousers.'
Mi/ nakhtaraja surwaaniyá/ khfanyoowá. 'I need my trousers mended.'
Muusa/ nakhtahaja surwaaniye/ khfanyoowa. 'Muusa needs his trousers mended.'
Sinakuvala shaati/ walá/ surwaani. 'I am not wearing a shirt nor trousers.'
surwani chigobe 'short pants' Miini/ wana zihaba/ ka wiingi/ wachivala surwani zigobe/ sababu/ ni rakhiisi/ kolko surwanii ndre. 'In Miini little children wore short pants because they are cheaper than long pants.'
surwani iyi 'this pair of pants'; sarwani izi 'these pairs of pants' Surwani izi/ nza naani. 'Whose pants are these?'
surwanii ndre 'long pants'
Surwaani/ za jiinsi/ ni nuumu/ hazimali/ ka hima. 'Jeans trousers are strong, they do not wear out (lit. finish) quickly.'
Wazuungu/ hupeenda kuvala surwani zigobe/ laakini/ ka diini/ ya islaamu/ siwo/ suura/ ni haraamu. 'Non-believers like to wear shorts, but in the religion of Muslims it is not good, it is forbidden.'

Surya n. Syria
Ye/ takuzuura/ Misra/ Surya/ Isra'iili/ na mamḷaka ya Sa'uudí. 'He will visit Egypt, Syria, Israel, and the kingdom of Saudi Arabia.'

kh-suusata v. [Som. suusuc DSI 565] (i-suseete) become sour (of milk)
rel.
kh-suusisha v. caus. (susishiize)

i-suusu adj. [Som. suusuc DSI 565] the third stage of the development of camel's milk, when it is almost at the point of coagulation (from fresh to sour: ishu, imanya, isuusu, isiita) iziwa isuusu 'camel's milk at the stage before going sour' kh-susumuka v. [cf. Sw. tetemeka SSED 464] (susumushile) shake, tremble; shudder (e.g. from revulsion); wake up (from sleep, but more common in figurative sense of waking up to s.t.) Chisusumuka. 'He woke up.'

chisusumuka na kana ishṭaghayara/ khsala bila mtimiino we tahaḍara [st.] 'when you wake up, if your mouth feels unclean, you should beware of praying without (first) brushing your teeth'

	Maluungo/ yamsusumushile Nureeni. ‘Nureeni shuddered – [lit.] body shuddered to Nureeni (similar to English “for one’s hair to stand on end”).’
	Mukhtaa wo/ wasusumushiló/ watosheze kuwaa wo/ waleele/ skumó/ mbili. ‘When they woke up, they thought that they had slept one or two (nights).’
	Sheekhi/ susumushile. ‘Sheekhi woke up.’
	rel.
	kh-susumusha v. caus. (susumushiize)
	Suufi/ msusumushize mwaana. ‘Suufi woke the child up.’ (Syn. The periphrastic version: Suufi/ mtile mwaana/ khsusumuka.)
	kh-susumushana v. caus. rec. (-susumusheene)
	kh-susumushika v. caus. p/s.
	kh-susumushiliza v. caus. appl. (-susumushiliize)
	Suufi/ msusumushilize Jeeli/ mwaana. ‘Suufi woke up Jeeli’s child.’ (The periphrastic version: Suufi/ mtijile Jeeli/ mwaana/ khsusumuka.)
	kh-susumushilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. (-susumushilizeenye) Suufi/ na Jeeli/ wasusumushilizenye waana. ‘Suufi and Jeeli woke up one another’s children. (The periphrastic version: Suufi/ na Jeeli/ watijilene waana/ khsusumuka.) (It is apparently possible to omit the noun identifying who was woken up: Suufi/ na Jeeli/ wasusumushilizeenye. ‘Suufi and Jeeli woke (people) up for one another.’)
	rel. nom.
	m-susumusha (wa-) n. 1/2
sute	all of us
suuti	n. 9/10 [Eng. Suit] suit of clothes suti iyi ‘this suit’; suti izi ‘these suits’
	rel.
	ma-suuti n. 6 a large quantity of suits
	Mzimawe/ masuuti. ‘He is all dressed up (lit. his all is suits), said of someone who doesn’t ordinarily dress up, but now is wearing his best clothes.’
chi-suuto (zi-)	n. 7/8 [cf. kisutu “a kind of kanga (cloth)... used very much for weddings, also a screen partition in a native house to hide the bed” SSED 208] a gift, usu. of gold (e.e. necklace, bracelet) given to one’s wife on the first night of marriage
m-suwaahili (wa-)	n. 1/2 [Sw. mswahili SSED 306; Ar. sāḥilī , pl. sawāḥila W 400] a Swahili person
	rel.
	chi-suwaahili n. 7 [Sw. kiswahili] the Kiswahili language
	Si/ chisomele chisuwaahili/ skoḷaani. ‘We learned Swahili at school.’
	Chisuwaahili/ ni lugha hukoḍowa karka nt^hi ya Keenyá/ Ugaandá/ Tanzaniyá. ‘Kiswahili is a language spoken in the country of Kenya, Uganda, Tanzania.’ review accent, this from written source
m-suwaani (mi-)	n. 3/4 [cf. Sw. msuani “a shroud or grave-cloth used for burying a woman” SSED 304] a special headscarf of printed silk, imported from India, that only married women are allowed to wear kumwandikaa muke/ msuwaani ‘[lit.] to place a msuwaani on a woman’s head, i.e. to be the first husband of a girl; since only married women are allowed to wear this headscarf, to put it on marks the change from girlhood to married status’ Ni Nuuru/ mwandishilo Haliimá/ msuwaani. ‘It is Nuru who was Halima’s first husband.’
Suweesi	n. Suez Qanali ya Suweesi ‘Suez Canal’ suwo	[cl.3] there it is; [pron. suwó]
suwu	[cl.3] here it is; [pron. suwú]

suwuje	[cl.3] there it is; [pron. suujé]
suye	[cl.1] there he is; [pron. suyé]
suyu	this is the one [cl.1] [pron. suyú] Ngoombe/ suyú. ‘Here’s the cow.’ Omari/ suyú. ‘Here is Omari.’ Or: Suyú/ Omari. Suyú/ myaaná/ waa mi/ khupelo balani/ khuleetelá. ‘Here is the servant whom I promised to bring to you.’ Suyú/ mbuzi mzeelé/ suyú/ mbuzi mwaaná. ‘Here is the older goat, here is the younger goat.’ Suyú/ mwaaná. ‘Here’s the child.’ Suyú/ sultaani/ chisułowá. ‘This is the sultan who is wanted (i.e. this is the kind of sultan who we desire).’
suyu	here it [cl.3] is; [pron suyú] Mkate/ suyú. ‘Here’s the cake.’
suyu	this is the one [cl.14] [pron. suyú] suyú/ ukí ‘here’s the honey’
suyuje	there it [cl.1] is; [pron. suyujé] variant form: sujé Ngoombe/ suyujé (or: sujé). ‘There’s the cow (far from us).’ Suyujé/ mwaaná. ‘There’s the child (far from us).’
suyuje	there it [cl.3] is; [pron. suyujé] Mkate/ suyujé. ‘There’s the cake (far from us).’
suyuje	this is the one [cl.14] away from us; [pron. suyujé] suyujé/ ukí ‘there’s the honey over there’
-ta-	future tense [Sw. -ta- A 36] Mwaana/ chimwaambila/ mukhtaaw/ takhsuuló. ‘The boy told him: whenever you [will] want.’ Nt^hakhupa rukhsa. ‘I will give you permission.’ Sakuwakoo ngoma. ‘There will be drumming tomorrow.’ Yaa we/ nakhsuuló/ shatakupa. ‘Whatever you want, we will give you.’
chi-ta (zi-)	n. 7/8 [Sw. kichwa SSED 188] head; head, chief, president etc. (In Mohammad Imam’s speech, the stem-initial consonant varies between a single and a geminated consonant. We did not notice gemination in the speech of Gelani Mohamed, but do not have any further information on the matter.) Afiya/ ni taaji/ ilu ya zita za wenye afiya/ nt^haku/ na’iwó/ shokuwa wenye maradi. ‘Health is a crown on the heads of the healthy; there is no one who knows this except the sick.’ Bishile chitaacha. ‘He hit my head.’ Or: Mbishilee chita. ‘He hit me on the head.’ chita chaa mp^hana ‘the head of a rat – i.e. a small head’ Hamadi/ chitaache/ kana chaa mp^hana. ‘Hamadi has a head like that of a rat – i.e. a small head.’ chita chaa nsi ‘fish-head’ chita chuumu ‘[lit.] hard head -- said of a stubborn person, who cannot be easily convinced to change his mind’ Nuuru/ ni chita chuumu/ hakasi/ jawaabu. ‘Nuuru is stubborn and does not heed any advice.’ chita/ nt^hiini/ miilu/ ilu ‘[lit.] head down feet up, i.e. upside down, in a mess (said of things, not people)’

Chingila nuumbaye/ takuwona yikoo chiṭa/ nt^hiini/ miilu/ ilu. ‘If you enter his house you will see it is in a mess.’

Kooḍize/ nize khtaambulá/ leselee chiṭa/ nt^hiini/ miilu/ ilu. ‘I could not understand what he said, his reasoning/speech was confused (lit. he brought them head down feet up) chiṭa shkulu ‘[lit.] big head -- similar in usage to chiṭa chuumu above chiṭa ‘per person’

ṠChiṭa/ wamt^hiinziló/ nyunyi. ‘The bird’s head they cut off.’ Or: Ni chiṭa/ wamt^hiinziló/ nyunyi. ‘It is the head of the bird that they cut off.’

Chiṭaache/ kana chaa mp^hana. ‘His head is like that of a rat (i.e. small).’

Chiṭaache/ nch^haakó/ na kuḷa chiint^hu/ nch^haaká/ shokuwa mukeewa/ na waanawá. ‘My head is yours and everything that I have, except my wife and my children.’

chiṭaani ‘on, around the head’

Chiza kuleeta/ we/ takht^hindowaa chiṭa. ‘If you do not bring it, you will be beheaded.’

Hamadi/ koḍele naa chiṭa? [HH] ‘Did Hamadi speak to the president (lit. the head)?’

khkandraa chitta ‘to massage the head’ khpandra chiṭaani ‘lit. to climb on the head -- to take advantage of someone’; also:

khpandrowa chiṭaani (passive), khpandriki chiṭaani (passive-stative)
Nuuru/ ni mwenye shṭana/ na ghaḍabú/ hapaandriki/ chiṭaani/ paapo/ hufanyaa zita. ‘Nuuru is a man of anger, he cannot be climbed on the head, he fights immediately.’

Omari/ hupeenda/ khpandra waant^hu/ chiṭaani/ huṭosha ruuhuye/ ni akhili niingi. ‘Omari likes to disrespect people (lit. climb on people’s heads), he thinks he is the very intelligent one.’

Waant^hu/wazima/ hawapandroowi/ chiṭaani/ hiht^harimoowa. ‘Elders are not (lit.) to be climbed on their head (=disrespected etc.), they are to be respected.’

kumbadila muunt^hu/ chiṭaache ‘to change someone’s mind’

Ali/ mkali/ hubadila waant^hu/ chiṭa. ‘Ali is very good at changing people’s minds.’

kumbigaa chitta ‘to hit him on the head’ kumeraa chiṭa ‘to be spinning (of head, chiṭa is subject)

Chiṭa/ chinakunmeera. ‘My head is spinning -- i.e. I am confused, amazed.’

Chiṭaacha/ chinmereele. ‘[Lit.] my head was spinning -- i.e. I was amazed, confused.’

Chiṭa/ shṭakhumeera. ‘Your head will be spinning -- i.e. you will be amazed.’

kumolaa chitta ‘to shave the head’ kumvundaa chiṭa ‘[lit. to break the head] -- i.e. to disgrace, dishonor, disrespect someone’

Omari/ nvunzilee mi/ chiṭaacha. ‘Omari disgraced me.’

Omari/ nayo awoodi/ nawa’iwa/ zita/ wont^he/ hapelekeki/ shari’aani/ haṭá/ shpelekoowa/ hashindroowi. ‘Omari has power, he knows all the bosses, even if he is taken to court, he cannot be defeated.’ (Observe that here zita ‘heads’ refers to ‘bosses, heads of human enterprises’ and thus governs [cl.2] ‘human’ agreement in the form of the wa object marker on the preceding verb and the initial w agreement on the quantifier -ont^he ‘all’.)

Shṭinzile tikiti/ chiṭa/ shiliingi/ miya. ‘We bought (lit. cut) tickets at one hundred shillings per person.’

Shtaambula/ mi/ chiṭaacha/ halaaliyo/ na chiza khtaambula/ chiṭaacho/ ni halaaliya. ‘If you solve (this riddle), my head is lawfully yours, and if you do not solve it, your head is lawfully mine.’

Ye/ waliko peela/ kaazi/ haali/ chiṭa/ umriwe/ nt^hakumso’ aalaṭá. ‘He was hired (lit. given job), although the boss never interviewed him.’

rel.

chi-ta (zi-ta) n. 7/8 head; [pron. chítá in the singular and zítá in the plural] (Phon. This form is not the diminutive form of ‘head’, but the accentual pattern is reminiscent of a form like, say, chigé, the diminutive of nge. On the other hand, the retention of the vowel in the prefix contrasts with the formative shke in wanaashke ‘girls’, cf. chike ‘feminine’ and muke ‘woman’.)

Habibi Chítá ‘Habiibi Head, the name of a well-known shopkeeper who sold beverages’ chi-ji-ta (zi-ji-) n. 7/8 dim.

i-ji-ta (mi-ji-) n. 5/4 aug. a big head

n-ta

n. 9/10 [Sw. ncha SSED 331] end, point; [pron. nt^ha]

Nt^ha yaa chisu/ imdurile mwaana. ‘The point of the knife pierced the child.’ Or: Chisu/ nt^haaye/ imdurile mwaana. [Lit.] The knife,

its point pierced the child.’ Or: Nt^hayee chisu/ imdurile mwaana.

[Lit.] Its point the knife pierced the child.’ (Syn: It should be noted that in the alternative Chisu/ nt^haaye/ imdurile mwaana., the noun chisu and the possessed noun nt^haaye are in separate phonological phrases, but nevertheless they apparently constitute a syntactic unit. This is reflected by the fact that they remain adjacent in the word order. If there is separation, as in Chisu/ imdurile mwaana/ nt^haaye., the sentence-final nt^haaye is like an afterthought. As such, its position in the sentence is final. It would be ungrammatical, for instance, to put it post-verbal: Chisu/

imdurile nt^haaye/ mwaana.)

nt^ha ya lkaambala ‘the end of a rope’

Sulhu/ hayiyi/ ila/ ka nt^ha ya lpaanga. ‘Peace does not come except at the point of a sword.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

chi-n-ta (zi-n-) n. dim. [pron. chint^há, zint^há] khinda chint^há ‘to cut a point’

i-n-ta (mi-n-) n. 5/4 aug. [pron. int^há (sg.) and mint^há (pl.)] sh-ta (s-) n. dim. (Phon. Although the high vowel of a prefix does not ordinarily delete in the environment before a CV root, deletion does occur in the case of the diminutive prefix chi.)

khinda sh^ha ‘to cut a point’ taa’a

n. [Sw. taa SSED 466; Ar. tā’ū “obedience, compliance, submissiveness” W 573] obedience, loyalty du’a ndrasile numbaani/ ka waana waamo ta’aani [st.] ‘I left (my) blessing at home, to children who are obedient’ khtila ta’aani ‘to subdue’ kuja haraamu taa’a haytasawari [st.] ‘to eat unlawful things [means that] obedience [to the tenets of Islam] is not possible’ kuwaamo ta’aani ‘to be submissive, obedient’

Janna/ hingilowa ka taa’a/ ya mojiitu. ‘Paradise is entered with obedience to God.’

Janna/ hupatowa ka taa’a/ ya mojiitu. ‘Paradise is found with obedience to God.’

ta’abaani

n. loc. in exhaustion

Nakhsoola/ nakhsoola/ hattá/ nakuwa ta’abaani. ‘She pounds and pounds (the maize) until she becomes exhausted.’

Wako ta’abaani. ‘They are all in bad shape, exhausted.’

kh-ta'abaṭa

v. [Som. tacab "to earn s.t. by one's own work" DSI 570] (ta'abeete) earn, make money

Huṭa'abaṭo zeemá/ humwínfa yeeye. 'The one who works hard so that he accumulates good deeds gets his benefits/rewards.' (A proverb.)

Nṭ^ha'abeṭe maali. 'I have earned wealth (with difficulty).'

Nṭ^hasaa we/ kistereha/ ta'abaṭa. 'Before you rest/relax/enjoy, earn/work!

Sharti/ kuwa nakiineendra/ kuwa nakhta'abaṭa. '(In order to get what one wants) it is a must that one moves (lit. walks) and works for it (not sitting waiting for it to come to you).'

Takumera maali/ bilaa ya khta'abaṭa? 'Will you look for wealth without working for it?' (A saying.)

rel.

kh-ta'abaṭisha v. caus.

kh-ta'abaṭishana v. caus. rec.

kh-ta'abaṭishiliza v. caus. appl.

kh-ta'abaṭishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

kh-ta'abaṭoowa v. pass.

Maali/ huṭa'abaṭoowa. 'Wealth is worked for.' (A proverb.)

kh-ta'abika

v. [Sw. taabika SSED 443; Ar. ta'iba W 94] be in a difficulty, encounter physical difficulties, get tired as a consequence of physical difficulties

Nṭ^ha'abishilé. 'I encountered physical difficulties.'

Suufi/ ta'abishile safariini. 'Suufi encountered physical difficulties on his trip.'

We/ chishindroowa/ takhpelekoowa/ khfanya kazi ya miyuundra/ ukuje/ we/ takhta'abikaa nt^ho/ kheeri/ reeptama. 'If you are defeated, you will be sent to work on the farms, there you will be in great distress, it is better for you to stop yourself (from playing cards with this girl).'

rel.

kh-ta'abisha v. caus. [Sw. taabisha SSED 443] put s.o. in physical difficulties; tire s.o. out (by giving him physically taxing things to do)

Baana/ mṭa'abishize mwaana. 'Baana tired the child out (with the jobs he gave him to do).'

Nṭ^ha'abishizee nt^ho. 'He caused me to get tired (by giving me a lot to do), etc.'

kh-ta'abishiliza v. caus. appl.

kh-ta'abishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Baana/ na Omari/ waṭa'abishilizenye waana. 'Baana and Omari tired each other's children out (by giving them a lot to do).'

ta'abu

n. 9 [Sw. taabu SSED 443; Ar. ta'ab W 94] difficulty, hardship

Ba'ada ya ta'abu/ chimshishile eelo/ chimṭiinzilé. 'After difficulty, we caught the gazelle and slaughtered it.'

Hattá/ sku mooyi/ nt^hawakuwona/ dhibu/ walá/ ta'abú. 'Not even once did they meet difficulty or hardship.'

Husuḷo raahá/ laazima/ kuwona ta'abu. 'He who wants rest must see difficulties first.' (A proverb.)

Impete ta'abu/ safariini. 'He was faced with difficulty on his trip.'

Kuja/ ni raaha/ kulima/ ni ta'abu. 'To eat is enjoyable, to farm is hard.' (A proverb.)

Ndilaani/ ta'abu/ kani/ we nayo khusuumá. 'Outside it is difficult, why do you have enmity (towards me)?'

Nuuru/ ta'abuye/ niingi. 'Nuuru has many problems (lit. Nuuru, his problems are many).'

Wene ta'abu/ karka safari. 'He had a difficult trip (lit. he saw difficulty in trip).'

kh-ta'aḍimisha

v. respect, bestow honor on

- ta'adiimu n. 9 [Sw. taadhima SSED 3; Ar. ta'ẓīm "glorification, exaltation" W 624] respect variant form: ta'adima verify pronunciation yezeeze waant^hu qalbiini ka heshma na ta'adima [song] 'he filled people's hearts with respect and exaltation'
- ta'adi n. [Sw. tadi SSED 443] provocation Iyi/ ni ta'adi. 'This is a provocation.'
khfanya ta'adi 'to violate a law or custom, aggravate' Steendrozo/ ni ta'adi. 'Your actions are a provocation.'
- kh-ta'adisha someone v. [Sw. taadi, tadi SSED 443; Ar.] violate a law or custom; aggravate or wrong
Ma'askari/ wachilawa/ keendra/ kummeera/ mgeeni/ oyo/ mta'adishizo sultaani. 'The soldiers left and went to search for that stranger who had wronged the sultan.'
Nambilaani mi/ nt^ha'adishiizeni. 'Tell me what wrong I have done.'
Waana/ hawasuloowi/ khta'adisha wazeele. 'Children should not aggravate parents.'
- kh-ta'ajaba v. [Sw. (s)taajabu SSED 6; Ar. verb 'ajiba, 'ajab "be astonished" and noun ta'ujjub "astonishment" W 591] (ta'ajabiile) marvel at, be astounded, be surprised variant form: -sta'ajaba Eelo/ sh^hta'ajaba ka kuwona muuyi/ karka hali iyi. 'The gazelle was surprised to see the town in this condition.'
Kuwa Hamadi/ pisile imtihaani/ ta'ajibiile. 'I was surprised that Hamadi passed the examination.' (The first person singular subject prefix is generally deleted in the future tense in GM's pronunciation. MI would retain the nasal and aspirate the following voiceless dental stop.) Laakini/ Abdalla/ mukhta^ha ye/ kasizo koo^odi/ za mukeewe/ qalbiye/imbishilee nt^ho/ na ista'ajabiile. 'But when Abdalla heard the words of his wife, his heart beat very much and he was amazed.'
Mabawaabu/ washta'ajaba/ kichiwona/ chizeele/ ndraani/ ya ikholi/naach^o/ chinamsulo kumwona sultaani. 'The door-keepers were amazed to see the old woman inside a mat-bag who wants to see the sultan.'
Waant^hu/ wawenopo markabu ya d^hahabu/ washta'ajaba/ nt^ho. 'When the people saw the ship made of gold, they marvelled very much.'
Wasimeeme/ wanakhta'ajaba eelo/ kinendra muyiini. 'They stood there, amazed to see a gazelle walking in town.'
Wotte/ washta'ajaba. 'All were amazed.'
- rel.
kh-ta'ajabisha v. (ta'ajabishiize) surprise s.o.
variant form: -sta'ajabisha
Jaama/ kizake kendra madrasaani/ imta'ajabishize Nuuru. 'Jaama's not going to school surprised Nuuru.'
Khabari/ zimta'ajabishize Nuuru. 'The news surprised Nuuru.'
Mambo aya/ yawasta'ajabishiize/ nt^ho/ wana awo/ laakini/nt^hawakhaadira/ khtemuka/ kila mooyi/ rebele kaake/khalbiini/ tu. 'These matters amazed them very much, but they could not utter a word, everyone just kept [his thoughts] in his heart.'
- kh-ta'akhara v. [Ar. akara W 8 and ta'akkur W 9] (ta'akhariile) delay (intr.)
Bila/ khta'akhara/ Hamiisi/ tete chibuuku/ anzize khsooma. 'Without delay, Hamiisi took a book and began reading.'
Hamadi/ mwambile Omari/ nakhuloomb^a/ sta'akharé/ karka shiri yiitu.
'Hamadi said to Omari: I beg you, don't be late to our meeting.'
Omari/ ta'akhariile/ karkaa shiri. 'Omari arrived late to the meeting.'

- Ta'akhariilé/ jawaabu/ maape/ ikhurebeele. 'You got delayed, something stopped you (from doing what you intended).'
- rel.
- kh-ta'akharika* v. (ta'akharishile) be delayed
- Ta'akharishilé. 'You got delayed.'
- kh-ta'akharisha* v. delay
- Muunt^{bu}/ chisuḷo khfanya chiint^{bu}/ siwo/ suura/ khta'akharisha. 'A person who wants to do something, it is not good to delay.'
- ta'khiiri
- n. a delay
- Kuḷa/ ta'khiiri/ ni kheeri. 'Every delay is blessed.' (A proverb that suggests that a delay may be ordained by God and something good will result from it.)
- Shiri/ yiineenzele/ ta'khiiri/ haṭá/ masku. 'The meeting continued late into the night.'
- ta'kiidi
- n. 9 [Ar. ta kīd "assurance, confirmation" W 21] affirmation, assurance
- khfanya ta'kiidi 'to assure, make sure, certain
- Muunt^{bu}/ chint^{bu} cha muhimu/ kana balani ya dakhṭari/ laazimu/ khfanya ta'kiidi/ taariikhiye. 'For an important thing like a doctor's appointment, one must make sure of its date.'
- Omari/ aakhili/ kiḷaa jawaabu/ shartḡi hufanya ta'kiidi. 'Omari is intelligent, everything he must make certain/ confirm.'
- khpa ta'kiidi 'to give assurance'
- khpatata ta'kiidi 'to get confirmation'; also: khpatowa ta'kiidi (passive)
- Ali/ pete ta'kiidi/ mahkamaani/ kuwa ramaḍaani/ ni keesho/ jima piḷi. 'Ali got confirmation from the court that Ramadhan is tomorrow Sunday.'
- Kiḷaa chiint^{bu}/ suura/ khpatowa ta'kiidiye. 'It is good for everything to be confirmed.'
- Walakata/ huhada/ shaka may kiroon, yakhiin/ ta'kiidi/ ni suura/ kolko/ shaka. 'Bush people say: "doubt, what is better than it, is to make sure", [in Chimiini:] confirmation is better than doubt.' (The Maymaay proverb cited here was well known in Brava and used when speaking Chimiini.)
- ta'liimu
- n. [Ar. ta ḡim W 636] education
- Nt^{anaayo}/ ta'liimu. 'He does not have an education.'
- ta'liiqi
- n. [Ar. ta ḡiq W 634] comment, commentary
- khfanya ta'liikhi 'to comment'
- khṭomola ta'liikhi 'to make a comment'
- Omari/ khuṭba/ ya rasdentḡe/ fanyiiḷó/ shiriini/ tomele ta'aliikhi/ hadiile/ kuwa khuṭba iyo/ ni suura/ laazimu/ kumanfa'aṭiḷoowa. 'Omari, the speech that the district commissioner made at the meeting, he made a comment; he said that the speech was good and benefit must be taken from it.'
- Siná/ ta'liikhi/ ilu ya koodize. 'I have no comment on his talk.'
- kh-ta'aluqana na*
- v. [Ar. 'aliqa "to be attached, connected, related" W 634] (-ta'alukheene) concern, deal with, have a relationship with
- Hashṭa'alukhani/ teena. 'We do not deal with each other any more.'
- Koḍi iyi/ ita'alukhene na Omari. 'This talking concerns Omari.'
- Kooḍi/ izi/ zinakhkoḍoowá/ sṭa'alukhene na mteendre. 'These things that have been talked about concern the date tree.'
- Mushkila/ ita'alukhene na mteendre. 'The problem is related to the date tree.'
- Mwaana/ shkalaant^{ba}/ chimaliza chihada/ khabarii mbovu/ sṭa'alukheene/ na mteendre. 'The child sat down and then reported the bad news concerning the date tree.’ (This example is from a MI narrative. When re-elicited, GM gave: Chihada/ khabarii mbovu/ s̄ta’alukheenó/ na mteendré. This instantiation of the sentence utilized the pseudo-relativization triggered by pre-verbal focus that is common in GM’s speech, but was observed in MI’s speech only in connected with pre-verbal question words. In addition, GM preferred -ta’alukhana to -ta’aa’alukhana.)

Omari/ ni mwovu/ hāta’alukhani/ na waant^hu. ‘Omari is bad, he does not deal with/ interact with people.’

rel.

kh-ta’aluqanoowa v. pass.

It̄a’alukhena na mteendre. ‘There was concern about the date tree.’ (This impersonal passive sentence is well-formed. However, unlike a number of other cases, the object of the preposition cannot be preposed to the beginning of the sentence, with a resumptive pronoun left behind: Mteendre/ it̄a’alukhena naayo. ‘The date tree, there was concern about it.’ The unacceptability of this sentence can be attributed to the inanimate nature of the object of the preposition. Compare the parallel sentence below where the object of the preposition is human.)

Omari/ it̄a’alukhena naaye/ jisa suura. ‘Omari has been dealt with in a very good way.’

Want^hu awa/ wāta’alukhena naawo. ‘These people were dealt with.’ (When the object of the preposition na in their construction -ta’alukhana na is human, then the object may be promoted to be the subject of the passive verb as long as a resumptive pronoun remains behind. An inanimate object, on the other hand, cannot be promoted to subject position: Mteendre/ ut̄a’alukheena naayo. ‘The date tree was concerned about it.’)

- kh-ta’amula* v. [Ar. amala and ta’ammul W 28] (ta’amuliile) ponder T̄a’amula koōize. ‘Ponder his words.’
- ta’amuli* n. 9 [Sw. taamuli SSED 443] the act of pondering
- ta’anisi* n. 9 [Sw. taanasa SSED 14; Ar. anisa “to be companionable” W 30] entertainment
- kh-ta’arāõila* v. [Sw. taaradhia SSED 443; Ar. aruḍa W 603] interfere, meddle
- ta’(a)riifu* n. [Sw. taarifu “a report, either written or spoken” SSED 18; Ar. ta’rif “notification, specification” W 606] informing, report; list of prices with the price for each item
- kh-ta’arzukha* v. [Ar. razaqa W 336] (ta’arzukiile) uncommon go looking for one’s daily bread
Fijiri/ lazilopo k̄ta’arzukha kama aad̄a... ‘In the morning when he went to go looking for his daily bread as usual...’
T̄eena/ ichiwa kulla muunt̄hi/ hendra k̄ta’arzukha pamo na eeloye. ‘Since then it became that each day he would go out looking for his daily sustenance with his gazelle.’
- ta’(a)siisi* n. 9 [Ar. ta’sīs W 15] foundation
- ta’asuwa* n. [from Ar. tis’a “nine” W 94] the ninth day of the Islamic month of Muharram (the fourth month of the Bravanese calendar) takhfuunga ta’asuwa shkoma makaani [st.] ‘I will fast ta’asuwa if I reach next year’ ta’asuwa khfuunga pamo na ashuura [st.] ‘fast the ninth day and Ashuura both together’
- kh-ta’(a)tharika* v. [Ar. atara “to affect” W 3] (ta’(a)tharishile) be affected T̄a’tharishilee n̄tho/ ka kufa waawaye. ‘He was very much affected by his father’s death.’
- ta’(a)wiili* n. [Ar. ta’wīl W 35] interpretation
- kh-ta’(a)ziya* v. (ta’aziyiile) give condolences ta'(a)ziya	n. [Ar. ta'ziya W 612, from verb 'azā W 611] condolence, sympathy khkalantha ta'aziya 'to stay home for a specific period of time after the death of a relative so that people can come and give their condolences' khkalanthowa ta'aziya (passive form of above) Numbaani/ maha^{la} ifiilá/ itakhka^{lan}thowa ta'aziya/ skuu nt^hatu. 'At the house where (lit.) there is being died on, (lit.) there is sat ta'aziya for three days.' kingila ta'aziya 'for mourning etc. to occur' Haliima/ haruusiye/ irudishilee numa/ ka sababu/ kaawo/ yingile ta'aziya. 'Haliima's wedding has been delayed because at their house someone has died and people are coming to express condolences etc.' kuwanayo ta'aziya 'to be in the state of receiving condolences'' kuweka ta'aziya (also: khfanya ta'aziya) 'to stay home for a specific period of time after the death of a relative so that people can come and give their condolences'

taa'ifa	n. 9/10,6 [Sw. taifa SSED 445; Ar. ṭā'ifa "band, group, people" W 574] nation, group of people
ta'khiiri	n. delay Kila/ ta'khiiri/ ni kheeri. 'Each delay in a blessing.' (A proverb.)
taa'uuni	n. [Ar. ṭā'ūn W 560] epidemic, plague marāḍi ya taa'uuni 'an epidemic disease' Omari/ wene waant^hu/ wiingi/ wafiiló/ ka taa'uuni/ shishi^{la} khoofu. 'Omari saw many people died of cholera, it made him fearful.'
ta'ziiri	n. (cf. ku-'azira) [Ar. ta'zīr "censure, chastisement" W610] punishment etc. (as described in detail under the entry for the verb ku-'azira) kandikowa ta'ziiri 'to be punished, humiliated, etc. (in the sense described)'
tab'i	n. in the expression: kubiga tab'i 'to print (a book)' Ye/ bishilee chuwo/ tab'i. 'He printed a book.' mu-tabahiri	adj. [Ar. mutabaḥḥir W 43] very learned, having vast knowledge; tabahiri or wa-tabahiri (pl.) Ni muṭabāhiri/ ka nahwi. 'He is well-versed in grammar.'
kh-tabaru'a	v. [Ar. tabarru "donation, contribution" W 53] (tabaru'iile) make a contribution Ali/ tabaru'ile ka dolarii miya. 'Ali made a contribution of a hundred dollars.' Mi/ nt^habaru'iilé/ kaalmeya/ karka kuwaka nuumba/ mp^hiya. 'I offered my help in building a new house.' rel. kh-tabaru'ila v. appl. (tabaru'iliile) contribute to Ali/ tabaru'iliile madrasa/ dolarii miya. 'Ali contributed a hundred dollars to the school.'
tabaru'i	n. 9/10 contribution
kh-tabasama	v. [Sw. tabasamu SSED 443; Ar. basama W 59] smile
tabasamu	n. 9 smiling
tabaashiri	n. 9/10 [Ar. ṭabāshīr W 551] chalk

- kh-tabawula* v. [Sw. tabawali "urinate" SSED 444; Ar. baul "urine" and bāla, baul "urinate" W 83] (tabawuliile) clean oneself after urinating
- tabi'a* n. 9/10 [Sw. tabia SSED 444; Ar. ṭabī'a W 552] nature, character, temperament, manner, habit, custom, behavior lada ya tabi'ayo [song] 'the sweetness of your nature'
Mi/ nkhashifilee ye/ kuwa tabi'aye/ ni kana ya mweenza. 'I discovered her to be friendly.'
Muunt^hu/ ṭabi'aye/ ha'ibadiliki. 'A person, his character does not change.' (A proverbial saying.)
Omari/ wanayoo ndila/ chiza khsawaraṭila/ ṭabi'a/ ya Abú. 'Omari was right in refusing to tolerate Abu's behavior.'
Ori/ kuwiika/ ni ṭabi'a yaawo/ walá/ wo/ hawawiiki/ kumfanyiliza muunt^hu/ ihsaani. 'For cocks to crow is their nature, neither do they not crow in order to do a man a favor.'
ṭabi'a mbovu n^huwanaayo kumbe na waant^hu barshūza [song] 'bad behavior you did not have, rather you were taught this by people' (The form n^huwanaayo is a shortening from n^hukuwanaayo.)
Usura waa muke/ ni usura wa ṭabi'a/ siwo/ usura wa uso. 'The beauty of a woman is beauty of character, it is not facial beauty.' (A proverb.)
Ye/ laazimu/ khfikiriḷa kubadila ṭabi'a iyo. 'You should consider changing your behavior.'
- kh-ṭabi'a* v. [Ar. ṭaba'a W 551] (ṭabi'iile) print something Ye/ ṭabi'ilee chuwo. 'He printed a book.'
- ṭabi'iina* n. the successors of the Companions (in Islam, those who met the Companions of the Prophet and spent time in their company and followed in their path) na wenye kuraasha kheeri ya yaqīna/ wenye ulongofu na ṭabi'iina [st.] 'and those who follow what is the good, who are morally upright and the successors of the Companions'
- kh-ṭabiiba* v. [Sw. tabibia SSED 444; Ar. ṭabba, ṭibb W 550] (ṭabibiile) cure, heal, treat (as a patient); solve a problem
Niya njeema/ huṭabiiba/ niyaa mbovu/ hukhariba. 'A good intention cures, a bad intention spoils.' (A proverb.)
- ṭabiibu* n. [Sw. tabibu SSED 444; Ar. ṭabīb W 550] doctor; adj. someone who can solve, handle people's problems effectively Tozelee dawa/ na ṭabiibú. 'He did not find treatment and healer (someone who could cure him).'
rel.
u-ṭabiibu n. 14 [Sw. utabibu SSED 444] the profession of being a doctor; the act of treating a patient'
- kh-ṭabīqa* v. (ṭabikhiile) apply s.t. to s.t.; [pron. khṭabīqa or khṭabikha]
- ṭabuuti* n. 9/10 [Ar. tābūt W 88] structure in stone or wood, usually covered with cloth, situated over the grave of a saint or religious teacher (Arabic words with successive long vowels retain this sequence in their Chimwiini incarnations, despite the fact that this runs contrary to Chimwiini prosody. Of course, this retention of length only occurs when the word is phrase-final.)
- kh-tadakhula* v. [Ar. tadākul "interference"] (tadakhuliile) interfere
- tadakhuli* n. 9 interference khfanya ṭadakhuli 'to interfere' kh-tadaruka v. [?cf. Sw. tadaraki or tadariki SSED 70; Ar. daraka "to supplement or supply that which is missing", "to set right, put in order", "to face, meet (a need)" W 279] (tadarukiile) take care of someone (e.g. guest in one's happy) variant form: khtadaraka

tadbiiri n. [Ar. tadbīr "planning, economization" W 270] the act of going out and obtaining what is needed, esp. if this means going outside the usual channels khfanya tadbiiri 'to go out and get what one needs' mwenye tadbiiri 'one who knows how to get around an obstacle and get what he needs' tadriibu n. 9 [Ar. tadrīb W 276] training

Ma'askari/ hupowa tadriibu/ niingi/ kuḷaṭila bundukhu. 'Soldiers are given a lot of training to shoot rifles.'

Waana/ wanakhpowa tadriibu ya chi'askari. 'The children are given military training.'

tafaḍali invar. [Sw. tafadhali SSED 89; Ar. fadʿl "grace, favour, benefit" W 718] please Ali/ tafaḍali/ naambila/ nini/ ma'anaye. 'Ali, please, tell me what is its meaning?'

Chimwambila mgarwa/ tafaḍali/ nnakhsuulá/ khutuma/ mweenza/ endrá/ tawala/ ya wanyaasa/ nnakhkasa ya kuwa tawalá/ ije/ zimoo nsi/ niingi. 'He said to the fisherman: please, I want to dispatch you, friend; go to the sea of the Wanyaasa; I hear that there are many fish in that sea.'

Maame/ tafaḍali/ nonyeza mahala/ wako mayahuudi. 'Mother, please show me a place where there are Jews.'

Mi/ nakihtaja peesa/ tafaḍali/ ula/ chulungu cha kaandra/ nuumba/ nzimaye/ inawe yaako. 'I need money; please buy the first storey of the whole house so that it may be yours.'

Oloka/ mpelekela/ na tafaḍali/ ndretela majiibu/ na mapeema. 'Go and take [them] to him and please bring me the answer quickly.'

Tafaḍali/ Ali/ nfunguḷila mlaango/ amó/ we/ lawa/ ndilaani/ nikhaambile/ yaa mi/ niḷiḷó. 'Please, Ali, open the door for me, or you come outside so that I tell you what I have come for.'

Tafaḍali/ bwana sultaani/ mp^hokela feḍa izi/ ni zawaadi/ mi/khuletelelee we. 'Please, Mr. Sultan, accept these coins, they are a gift, I have given them to you.'

Tafaḍali/ mp^ha. 'Please, give it to me!'

Tafaḍali/ mwaanawá/ naambila/ yaa we/ nakhsuuló. 'Please, my son, tell me what you want.'

Tafaḍali/ stoshé/ kuwaa si/ chinakhuchiimbilá. 'Please do not think that we are running away from you.'

kh-tafakara v. [Ar. fakara W 724] think about something with hesitation hokomuye kana chiza khtaghayara/ hada tahaara we bila khtafakara [st.]

'the rule is that, if it has not been polluted, (then you can) say it is clean without any hesitation' tafaraarukhi n. separation, splitting apart

Pamooyi/ nii nguvu/ tafaraarukhi/ ni uḍa'iifu. 'Unity is strength, power; separation, splitting apart is weakness.' (A proverb.)

kh-tafaruja v. [Sw. tafaraji, tafaruji SSED 444; Ar. faraja "take pleasure, relax" W 702] (tafarujiile) take a stroll for pleasure in the evening

Skú mooyi/ mi/ nḷazile/ khtafaruja/ ka mii/ peeke. 'One day I went out for a stroll alone.'

Skú yingine/ masku/ Abunawaasi/ uje waliko waziri chihabba/ wa Harun Rashiidi/ wakhti oyo/ oloshela/ khtafaruja/ ndilaani/ ye/ naaye/ nakinendro'ineendro/ ndilaani/ wene nuumba/ yiyo/ iyo/ naa ṭala/ iwaliko ichaaka. 'On another day at night, Abunawaasi, who was a sub-minister of Harun Rashiidi at that time, went to take a stroll outside and while he was strolling outside, he saw that very same house and the light was on.'

Ye/ chishkila/ ka jahaziini/ chendra muyiini/ khtafaruja. ‘He disembarked from the dhow and went to the town to relax/ seek comfort.’

rel.

kh-tafarujatafaruja v. freq.

Haṭá/ sku mooyi/ karkaa si/ chi-na-kh-tafarujatafarujó/ chi-wene numba yaa mawe/ nk^hulu/ nt^ho. ‘Until one day while we were taking a stroll we saw a very large house of stone.’

Mi/ nnakhsula khsaafirá/ khtafarujatafaruja/ kulangala duniya/ jisa ikeeló. ‘I want to travel, to go around seeking pleasure, to see the way the world looks.’

kh-tafarujika v. p/s.

kh-tafarujisha v. caus.

kh-tafarujishana v. caus. rec.

kh-tafarujishiliza v. caus. appl.

Ji/ mṭafarujishilize baaba/ mwaana. ‘Ji took father’s child for a stroll.’

kh-tafarujishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Ji/ na Alí/ waṭafarujishilizenye waana. ‘Ji and Ali took one another’s children for a stroll.’

tafaruji

n. 9 [Sw. tafrija SSED 444] stroll

tafaawuti

n. 9 [Sw. tafauti SSED 471; Ar. tafawut "difference, contrast" W 731] difference; adj. different

Ma’ana ya haruusi/ karka nt^hi ya Mbalazi/ si tafaawuti/ na ma’anaye/ hada/ karka nt^hi ya wa’ameerika. ‘The significance of marriage in the land of Brava is not different from its significance, say, in the land of the Americans.’

Tafaawuti/ yimo karka namna/ jisa uma mbaḷmbali/ hufanyo haruusi. ‘The difference is in the way how different nations conduct a marriage.’

tafkiiri

n. 9 [Sw. tafakiri SSED 96; Ar. tafkīr W 724] thought, thinking, faculty or power of thinking

Nt^haná/ tafkiiri. ‘He has no ability to think.’

tafraani (Ø, ma-)

adj. [Som. dafraan, variant of dafshaan DSI 125] destitute (of people)

tafsiili

ka tafsili ‘in detail’

Diini/ somelopo lwarakha/ pete ra’ayi/ ye/ fikirile kaandika/ ka tafsili/ ije wapeetó/ yotte. ‘When Diini read that piece of paper, he had a thought and he decided to write in detail all that had befallen them.’

kh-tafsiira

v. [Sw. tafsiri SSED 93; Ar. fasira W 713] (tafsiriile) translate, explain, interpret variant form: khfasira (see above)

khtafsira darsi ‘to explain a lesson’

Nt^haku/ karka waant^hu/ awo/ khadiriiló/ khtafsiirá/ ndroto izó. ‘There was no one among those people who was able to interpret those dreams.’ (Phon. What we called in the introduction ‘The Accentual Law of Focus’ does not apply to the relative clause construction. Specifically, in this example, the relative verb is phrasally separated from its following complement, indicating that there is focus on this verb, but nevertheless the final accent triggered by the relative verb extends all the way to the end of the relative clause.)

Wachihada/ khtafsira ndrooto/ si/ siwo/ china’iwó. ‘They said: to interpret dreams, we are not the ones who know how.’

rel.

kh-tafsiirila v. appl. [Sw. tafsiria SSED 93] (tafsiriile)

Isa/ nt^hafsiirila/ Ali/ penzeleezeni/ kuhada/ kuwaa ye/ ifungu imooyi/ ilatile bahariini. ‘Now explain to me what Ali intended by saying that he threw the first portion into the sea.’

kumtafsirila darsi ‘to explain a lesson to someone’

Nimtafsiriile mwaaná/ darsi. ‘I explained the lesson to the child.’

(Syn. While in this sentence only mwaana could be the subject of the corresponding passive sentence, either mwaana or darsi can be the head of a relative version of this sentence: darsi yaa mi/ nimtafsiriilo mwaaná ‘the lesson that I explained to the child’ or mwana waa mi/ nimtafsiriilo darsi ‘the child to whom I explained the lesson’.)

Maliizopó/ Ali/ shkalant^{ha}/ kumtafsirila/ waziiri/ yaa ye/ mwambilo

sultaani/ na ya sultaani/ mwaambiló. ‘When he finished [praying], Ali sat down and explained to the minister what he had said to the sultan and what the sultan had said to him.’

Shtuluba/ ka Yuusufu/ kumtafsiirila/ ndrootoze. ‘He asked Yuusufu to explain to him his dreams.’

kh-tafsiiriloowa v. appl. pass.

Mwaana/ tafsiirila darsi/ naami. ‘The child had the lesson explained to him by me.’

Shtafsiiriilá/ maneeno/ yote. [H'H'H] ‘[Lit.] We were explained all the words -- i.e. all the words were explained to us.’ (Emphasis on the verb requires that the final accent triggered by the verb be limited to the verb and not include the complements to the verb.)

kh-tafsiroowa v. pass.

Darsi/ itafsiirila naami. ‘The lesson was explained by me.’

tafsiiri

n. 9 [Sw. tafsiri SSED 93; Ar. tafsīr W 713]] translating, translation, explanation

Basi/ mubli/ fijiri/ chilawa/ kendra kumera tafsiiri/ ya lughzi/ ilo. ‘So, the husband in the morning left and went to look for an explanation of that riddle.’

Iyi/ ndiyó/ tafsiiri/ ya ndrootoza. ‘This it is, the explanation of my dreams.’

kh-taaga

v. [etymology unknown] (taazile, tagiile) (i) open something wide, stretch something taut; (ii) insist that someone do something

(i) khtagaa kana or khtaga ikana ‘to open the mouth wide’

Tazilee kana. ‘He opened his mouth wide.’

khtagaa luzi ‘to stretch a string taut’ khtaga maato ‘to open the eyes wide’ khtaga mikono ‘to give up, surrender (lit. to widen the hands)’ khtaga mlaango ‘to open a door wide’

Mwaana/ oyo/ shtaga ikanaye/ hamamaziki. ‘That child, when he opens his mouth wide (crying), he cannot be silenced.’

Naani/ tazilo igozi iyí. ‘Who stretched this skin (e.g. I am asking because it is not fully taut)?’

Skutaaga/ Ikaambala. ‘I did not stretch the rope taut.’

(ii) Ali/ nt^haazile. ‘Ali insisted that I do it.’

Stageeni. ‘You (pl.) don’t insist!’

rel.

kh-tagamana v. (tagameene) be stretched taut

Igozi/ iktagameene. ‘The skin is stretched taut (e.g. after having been in the sun, pegged down for some time).’

kh-tagamanika v. p/s.

Igozi/ itagamanishile. ‘The skin has become stretched taut (as a direct consequence of human action).’

kh-tagamanikila v. p/s. appl.

Igozi/ int^hagamanikiliile. ‘The skin became taut for me (e.g. I was trying to - get it to be taut and I succeeded).’

- kh-tagamanisha* v. caus. stretch something taut Naani/ tagamanishiizó. ‘Who stretched it (e.g. he did a good job, it is fully taut).’
- Tagamanishize igozi. ‘He stretched the hide taut.’
- kh-tagamela* v. (tagameele) be extended Miimbaya/ itagameele/ kanaa ngoma. ‘My stomach is extended like a drum.’
- kh-taagana* v. rec. open one another’s mouth; insist that one another do something kh-taagika v. p/s.
Luzi la chuma ili/ haltaagiki. ‘This wire cannot be stretched taut.’
- kh-tagikila* v. p/s. appl.
Lint^h agikiliile. ‘It was able to be made taut for me (the first impression that one gets from this sentence is that I was trying to make something taut and I succeeded).’
- kh-taagila* v. appl. stretch for, with khtagila mikono ‘to surrender, give up on’
Omari/ hadiile/ mi/ Ali/ ka kooweḷa/ nimtagiḷile mikonó/ haykhadiroowi/ khshindramanowa naaye/ mkali/ kooweḷa/ kabisá/ kana/ nsi. ‘Omari said: me, Ali in swimming, I surrender to him, I am not able to compete with him, he is an expert at swimming completely, he is like a fish.’
- Omari/ hadiile/ mwaanawa/ Hasani/ nimtagiḷile mikono/ haakasi/ jawaabu/ kiḷa muunṭhi/ rabsha. ‘Omari said: I am fed up with my son Hasani, he does not listen to what is said, every day is trouble.’
- Oyo/ mi/ nimtagiḷile mikonó. ‘That one, I have surrendered to him.’
- Siná/ nguvu za tagila luzi ili. ‘I have no strength with which to stretch this string tight.’
- kh-tagilika* v. appl. p/s.
Baana/ hatagiliki/ luzi ili. ‘One cannot stretch this string for Baana’
- kh-taagisha* v. caus.
Mtagishize mwaanana/ kana. ‘He made the child open his mouth (but he did not actually open the child’s mouth directly).’
- rel. nom.
m-taago n. 3
ma-taago n. 6
u-taago n. 14
- kh-taageera* v. [Som.] help; [pron. kh-taageera], with the “Somali g”, i.e. the fricative version of ordinary g which occurs only in loanwords from Somali; in Somali, the fricative is an allophone of g that occurs between vowels; [tagereete]
Haliima/ mtagerete Faatima/ khtila maandra. ‘Haliima helped Faatima to bake bread.’
- Ali/ tozele khtaageera/ khshiindra/ mpiira. ‘Ali did not get help to win the match.’
- rel.
kh-tageroowa v. pass. be helped; [pron. kh-tageroowa]
Ali/ nakhsuḷa khtageratoowa/ kuwaka nuumba. ‘Ali wants to be helped to build a house.’
- kh-taghayara* v. [Sw. taghayari M&N 2277-2278, where examples are cited for this verb being used in the sense ‘be changed’ and equated with Sw. badilika; Ar. ḡara, ḡaira W 690] (taghayariile) turn, change (e.g. milk becoming sour)
maayi yashtaghayara mahala nijisi/ chisuuḷa khtumila shari’a nafasi [st.]
‘when water changes [in intrinsic quality] in a place where there is something impure and you want to use it, the Shari’ah gives you some freedom’

- rel.
kh-tāghayarika v. p/s.
Hawapeendi/ ba/ ziint^hu/ kubadilika/ walá/ ziint^hu/ khṭāghayariká.
 ‘They do not want things to change nor to alter.’ review phrasing, esp ziinthu after wala
- accent and
kh-tāgharisha v. caus.
Kanaa ni/ nnakhaadiró/ khṭāgharisha ziint^hú... ‘If you (pl.) are to change things...’
- taghayuri
 n. 9 a change in a situation or state of affairs
- kh-tahaðara
 v. [Sw. tahadhari SSED 122; Ar. ḥadira W 163; see also tahḍir "warning" W 164] (tahaðariile) be careful, pay attention, be aware, stay off/away from, watch out chisusumuka na kana ishtāghayara/ khsala bila mtimiino we tahaðara [st.]
 ‘when you wake up, if your mouth feels unclean, you should beware of praying without (first) brushing your teeth’
Nṭahaðariile/ kumpa Hamadi/ peesa. ‘I took care about giving Hamadi money.’ (Cf. Peesa/ nistahaðariile/ kumpa Hamadi. ‘Money, I took care about it to give it to Hamadi.’ Cf. Hamadi/ nimtahaðariile/ kumpa peesa. ‘Hamadi, I was careful about him to give him money.’)
Osmaani/ tahaðara/ meza iyo. ‘Osmaani, watch out for/take care of that table.’
- rel.
kh-tahaðarisha v. caus. warn, make alert kh-tahaðarishiliza v. caus. appl. warn for kh-tahaðarishoowa v. caus. pass. be warned Ye/ haṭahaðarishoowi. ‘He won't be warned.’
kh-tahaðaroowa v. pass.
Kṭahaðaroowa/ ni suura. ‘To be careful is good.’
- tahaðari
 n. attention, carefulness; interj. beware, take care Abú/ nayoo dhibu/ khpa tahaðari/ waant^hu. . ‘Abu has difficulty paying attention to people.’
ka tahaðari ‘with caution, cautiously, carefully’ Haliima/ mpikishize muné/ chaakuja/ ka tahaðari. ‘Haliima cautiously got her younger sister to cook the food.’ (Observe that in this causative verb construction, the adverbial ka tahaðari is most naturally understood to be modifying the the act of causation rather than the act of cooking. To convey the idea that the cooking was done carefully, one uses the periphrastic causative, illustrated immediately below.)
Haliima/ mtile muné/ khpika chaakuja/ ka tahaðari. ‘Haliima had her younger sister cook the food carefully.’
khfanya tahaðari ‘to be careful’
Muunt^hu/ laazimu/ kuwa tahaðari/ mukṭaa ye/ nakinenzo gaari. ‘One must be careful when he is driving a car.’
Muunt^hu/ mahaḷa/ yikoo zitá/ laazimu/ khfanya tahaðari. ‘In a place where there is fighting, one must be careful.’
na nṭ^hiini ya muti na nṭ^huundru khatari/ majini hukalo ndrúwa tahaðari [st.]
 ‘and under a tree or in a hole in the ground it is dangerous [to take care of bodily functions in these places], majini dwell there, O my brother, take care!’
soomu za sunna kiwisha tahaðari [st.] ‘beware of making [your] non-obligatory fasting known [this may just become bragging]’ Tahaðari/ chiint^hu/ huletoo dhibú. ‘Beware of a thing that can cause a problem.’ (A proverb.)
Tahaðari/ khabla al athari. ‘Be careful before the damage comes (lit. before the effect).’ (A proverb.)

m-tahaḍari (wa-)	adj. someone careful
kh-tahaaja	v. (variant of -ihtahaaja) need Mi/ nakhtahaja kaalmejó. ‘I need your help.’ Mi/ nakhtahaja mo/ maapé/ kunsaaýdá. ‘I need someone to help me.’ Mi/ nakhutahajaa we. ‘I need you.’ Mi/ stahaaji/ khfikirilaa yo. ‘I don’t need to think about it.’ Mi/ takuuya/ keesho/ maadamu/ kana Nuuru/ chintahaaja. ‘I will come tomorrow in case Nuuru needs me.’ Numba/ inakhtahaja kubigowa ranji. ‘The house needs to be painted.’ Numba/ inakhtahaja ranji. ‘The house needs paint.’ Omari/ bishile lkele/ kuwaa ye/ tahajilee chisu. ‘Omari shouted that he needed a knife.’ We/ hutahaaja/ pesa niingi/ kula baaskiili. ‘You don’t need a lot of money to buy a bicycle.’ Ye/ haḥahaaji/ khfikiriḷa peesa. ‘He does not need to worry about money.’ rel. kh-tahajoowa v. pass. Hamadi/ nakhtahajowa kuwaka numba. ‘Hamadi is needed to help build the house.’
m-tahaaji	n. 3 need Kiḷaa mooyi/ nayo mṭahaaji/ ya khpendoowa. ‘Everyone has a need to be loved.’ Mi/ siná/ mṭahaaji/ ya kuruda Mwiini. ‘I have no need to return to Brava.’ Ye/ nthaná/ mṭahaaji/ ya kuwelwela/ tarafu ya peesa. ‘He does not need to worry about money.’
tahajudi	n. a strongly recommended, but optional, prayer performed around midnight or very early in the morning Tahajudi/ husaloowa/ maskuu kati/ ni sunna/ mu’akadi. ‘Tahajudi is prayed around midnight, it is a strongly recommended sunna ’
tahaliili	n. [cf. Som. tahliil “blessing of water, performed by reading chapters of the Koran. This water is afterwards drunk or spread on body in order to acquire blessings and health” DSI 573; cf. Ar. hall “solution of problem, dissolution, liberation” W 199] (i) the meaning of the Somali source word is maintained in Chimiini, where the custom of using blessed water remains very much alive, particularly to help sick people; (ii) ceremony that marks the anniversary of someone’s death; variant form: tahliili Moomini/ nakhfaanya/ tahliili/ ya waawaye. ‘Moomini is performing the tahliili of his father (i.e. a ceremony on the anniversary of his father’s death).’
tahaluka	n. [Ar. tahluka “ruin, perilous situation” W 1031] disaster, great danger that causes masheekhi ni tahaluka / hudaraawo hutuluka / hughiiba ruuhu na maali [st.] ‘holy men are very dangerous, those who despise them fall, their souls and their wealth perish’
kh-tahamaka notice	v. [Sw. tahamaki SSED 445; Ar. hamaka “to be engrossed, dedicated” W 1034] take
tahaara	n. [Sw. tohara SSED 445; Ar. tahāra W 570] (ritual) cleanliness (of body, clothes) Ghasli/ ma’anaye/ ni muunṭu/ shfanya ijtimaa’i/ naa muke/ na maniyi/ yachimlawá/ laazimu/ koowa/ mzimawe/ kuwa tahaara. ‘ Ghasli means that when one engages in sexual activity and ejaculates, he must take full bath/shower to be clean/pure.’ hada tahaara we bila khtafakara [st.] ‘[then you can] say it is clean without hesitation’

- Mi/ nayo tahaará. ‘I am ritually clean (lit. have ritual cleanliness).’
Muunt^{bu}/ chisoma khur’aani/ ambó/ chisalá/ laazimu/ kuwanayo tahaara.
‘When one reads the Quran or performing prayer, one must be ritually clean (lit. have ritual cleanliness)’ ni mwaana tahaara mubliwe Ali [st.] ‘a virtuous girl whose husband was Ali’ tahaara na nijisi we shila shaka/ khtahida waajibu naanko kktaharaka [st.] ‘when you are not sure of something being pure or impure, you must make your best efforts to remove it quickly’
Tahaara/ ya jima/ nda arkhamiisi. ‘The ritual cleanliness for Friday (prayer) is from Thursday.’ (A proverb which counsels preparing oneself in advance.)
- kh-taharaka v. [Sw. taharaki SSED 128; Ar. ḥaraka "to move, to excite" W 170] move, be in a hurry, be eager, be worried Dughaaghi/ nt^hakudakhaakha/ walá/ nt^hakhtaharaka. ‘The beast did not move [his whole body] nor did he move [part of his body].’
ndiyo nk^hulu bila shaka/ suura qalbi khtaharaka [st.] ‘this is the gravest without a doubt and it better move your heart’
rel.
ku-taharakaṭaharaka v. freq.
Mwanaamke/ nelopo dawa iyó/ chanza khtaharakaṭaharaka. ‘When the girl drank that medicine, she began to move a little.’
kh-taharakisha v. caus. move s.t.; urge Lpepo/ la kuusi/ Ivyumiile/ Itaharakishiize/ nt^haanzi/ na iwuyú/ impotelele mwaalimu/ imubleele. ‘The wind from the south blow and shook the branches and the baobab fell down on the teacher and killed him.’
Taha/ mtaharakishize mwaana. ‘Taha moved (or urged) the child.’
kh-taharakishana v. caus. rec.
kh-taharakishika v. caus. p/s.
kh-taharakishiliza v. caus. appl.
Taha/ mtaharakishilize Omari/ mwaana. ‘Taha moved (or urged) Omari’s child.’
kh-taharakishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
Taha/ na Omari/ wataharakishilizenye waana. ‘Taha and Omari moved (or urged) one another’s children.’
- kh-tahaarika v. [Sw. tahirika SSED 445; Ar. tahara W 570] (taharishile) be ritually clean variant form: khtahirika
rel.
kh-tahaarisha v. caus. clean variant form: khtahirisha
Tahirishize nguwoze. ‘He cleaned his clothes (for prayer).’
- taharuki n. 9/10 [Sw. taharuki SSED 128; Ar. taharruk W 171] restlessness, unrest, continuous movement bilá/ taharuki ‘firm and stable’ nujumu unzile bilá taharuki [st.] ‘He (God) created the stars firm and stable’ (This translates a line from the Quran.)
- kh-tahayara v. [Sw. tahayari “become ashamed, be abashed, be shy, be humiliated” SSED 131; Ar. tahayyar "confusion, perplexity" W 222] be perplexed
- tahdiidi n. 9/10 [Ar. tahdīd "threat" W 1021] threat khfanya tahdiidi ‘to threaten’ khfanya tahdidi ya wakhti ‘to fix the time’ (cf. kuhadida wakhti ‘to fix the time for’) tahdidi ya wakhti ‘the fixing of a time’ (Etym. The Arabic source for tahdiidi does not seem to have a connection to this expression, thus the history of tahdidi ya wakhti is unclear.)

kh-tahida

v. [Ar. hadā "to incite, stimulate" W 163] (tahidiile) make an effort, do one's best Sultani ḍaalimu/ tahidiile/ kumbola mwanaamke/ wa sultaani/ laakini/ tozele/ hila zaa ye/ kumboolela. 'The unjust sultan did his best to steal the daughter of the [other] sultan, but he failed to find a strategem with which to steal her.'
tahaara na nijisi we shila shaka/ khtahida waajibu naanko kktaharaka [st.] 'when you are not sure of something being pure or impure, you must make your best efforts to remove it quickly'

kh-tahira

v. [Sw. tahiri SSED 445; Ar. tahara W 570] (tahiriile) clean maayi yashatahira mahala nijisi [st.] 'when water has cleaned an unclean place'
rel.
kh-tahirisha v. caus. (tahirishiize) wash Haliima/ nakuwatahirisha waanawe. 'Haliima is washing her children.'
kh-tahirishoowa v. caus. pass. (tahirishiiza) be washed Nguwo izi/ stahirishiiza. 'These clothes have been cleaned.'

taahiri

adj. [cf. Sw. verb tahiri SSED 445; Ar. tāhir "clean, pure" W 571] clean; n.
cleanliness
Mi/ ni taahiri. 'I am ritually clean.'
Muunt^hu/ chisoma khur'aani/ ambó/ chisala/ laazimu/ kuwa taahiri. 'When one reads the Quran or performing prayer, one must be ritually clean.'
Ni muunt^hu/ taahiri/ ka ndraani/ na ḍaahiri. 'He is a clean person, bothinside and out.'

tahqiiri

n. 9 (cf. ku-haqira) [Ar. tahqīr W 194] humiliation

kh-taaja

v. [Sw. taja SSED 445] (tajiile) uncommon mention Staajé/ ebu za waant^hu. 'Don't mention people's vices!'

taaji

n. 9/10 [Sw. taji SSED 446; Ar. tāj W 99] crown Daḍaaliyo/ taajiye/ ni najaahi/ na liwaaní. 'Your effort, its crown is success and success.'
Zubeedi anzize khfanya taaji. 'Zubeedi began to make a crown.'

taajiri (ma-)

adj., n. [Sw tajiri SSED 446; Ar. tājir W 91] rich, rich man Apo/ zamaani/ waaliko/ taajiri/ mooyi/ mkulu/ mwenye maali/ na makhaamú. 'Once upon a time, there was a rich man, important and having money and high position.'
Chisula kuwa taajiri/ kaza lkaandra. 'If you want to be rich, tighten your belt.' (A proverb.)
ka muunt^hu taajiri uḍhiya khatari/ khpoowa nama mbiti iyo tahaḍari [st.] 'for a rich man uḍhiya is dangerous, be careful/ pay attention that he should not be given uncooked meat (i.e. the rich man should not be given uncooked meat from the slaughtered animal as uḍhiya, uncooked meat should only be given to the poor)' Ka nasiibuye/ kuwa suura/ mpete taajiri/ mooyi/ khiriiló/ kiyuula/ nuumba. 'His luck being good, he found a rich man who agreed to buy the house.'
mataajiri walazile maskiini naayo Mojiitu [nt.] 'the rich ones have left, the poor man has [only] God'
Mubjaana/ ni maskiini/ nt^hana maali/ na apó/ karka wakhti oyo/ nt^haykuwaaliko/ sahali/ munt^hu maskiini/ kumlola munt^hu taajiri. 'The young man was poor, he did not have money, and there at that time it was not easy for a poor person to marry a rich person.'
Namwiwa munt^hu taajiri. 'I know the rich man.'

- Namwiwa muunt^hú/ taajiri. ‘I know a rich man.’ (There is some parallelism between the use of phrasing to make a definite/indefinite distinction and focus, as manifested in the Accentual Law of Focus. Specifically, in the present example, where a noun is separated phrasally from its modifier to convey an indefinite interpretation, the final accent triggered by the verb is manifested on the noun and not on the modifier. This is just what we see in the Accentual Law of Focus, where final accent does not cross a focused element.)
- taajiri/ na maali ‘a rich man and wealth’; ma^htaajiri/ na maali ‘rich men and wealth’
- taajiri/ na maaliyé ‘a rich man and his wealth’; ma^htaajiri/ na mali yaawó ‘rich men and their wealth’
- Taajiri/ na maaliyé/ maskiini/ na mwaanawé. ‘A rich man and his money, a poor man and his son.’ (A proverb.)
- Taajiri/ nayo maaliye/ maskiini/ nayo mwaanawe. ‘A rich man has his money, a poor man has his son.’ (A proverb.)
- Tuuma/ waawaye/ ni taajirii. ‘Tuuma’s father is rich.’
- want^hu wa muuyi/ ma^htaajiri/ na maskiini ‘people of the town, rich and poor’
- Uje taajiri/ chiiza. ‘That business man refused.’
- Uyu/ ni taajiri/ takuula. ‘He is rich, he will buy something.’
- Ziwovu nza maskiini/ huwonekanó/ za taajiri/ haziwonekani. ‘It is the poor man’s wrongs that are seen, those of a rich man are not seen.’ (A proverb.)
- rel.
- u-taajiri n. [Sw. utajiri SSED 446] wealth; the state of being rich, well-to-do
- Hutomoló/ ni khalbi/ siwo/ utaajiri. ‘That which gives is the heart, not wealth.’ (A proverb.)
- kh-tajirika v. [Sw. tajirika SSED 446] (tarijishile) become or be rich
- rel.
- kh-tajirisha v. caus. [Sw. tajirisha SSED 446] make rich
- tajwiidi n. [Sw. tajuwidi M&N 2285; Ar. tajwid W146] the phonology of the Quran, the art of reciting the Quran, each word and sentence according to the phonological principles
- hifódi/ na tajwiidi ‘the memorization and accurate recitation of the Quran’
- Khur’aani/ soma ka tajwiidi. ‘If you recite the Quran, recite it correctly.’
- tak tak
- kubigaa sa’a/ tak tak ‘to tick (of a clock)’
- taaka n. 9/10 [Ital. tacco "heel of shoe"] heel of a shoe; s.t. that is put under s.t. to keep it from moving, e.g. a block of wood or a stone put under the wheel of a car to keep it from rolling
- khтила taaka ‘to trip’
- Omari/ mtile Ali/ taaka/ mtulushiize. ‘Omari tripped Ali and made him fall down.’
- taaka n. the distance from the tip of the middle finger across the extended hand to the tip of the thumb; this unit of measure was used esp. by women in connection with the sizes of makoofiya (skullcaps); a unit of measurement -- one foot, a pace, a step
- na wakhti uchiya sina hata taaka/ huwaako hukuulo ruuhu malaayka [st.] ‘but when this time comes, there is not space (left): the ones who are there and who take away the soul are the angels’
- Ni taaka/ yaa ndila/ ya saha. ‘It is a step in the right direction.’
- takabaana n. [Ital. attaccapanni] hanger
- Hamadi/ tundrishile shaatiye/ takabanaani. ‘Hamadi hung his shirt on a hanger.’
- Omari/ magarabuye/ yasimeeme/ kana/ takabaana. ‘Omari, his shoulders are standing like a hanger (straight and long).’

mu-takabiri	adj. arrogant Safiya/ haba mooyi/ ni mutakabiri. 'Safiya is a little arrogant.'
kh-takabura	v. [Sw. takabari SSED 187; Ar. takabbur "pride, arrogance" W 810] (takaburiile) be arrogant, give oneself airs; be corrupt rel. kh-takaburila v. appl. Takaburiile peesa. 'He became arrogant because of money.' kh-takaburisha v. caus. Mtakaburishiize/ nt^ho/ mwanaamke. 'She made her daughter very arrogant.' Peesa/ zimtakaburishiize. 'Money made him arrogant.' Simtakaburishé/ mwaana. 'Don't cause the child to react violently.'
takaburi	n. [Sw. SSED cites only kiburi as a nominal form, but M&N cite takaburi on page 2288] arrogant takaburi/ zaaydi 'too arrogant' Hamadi/ (ni) takaburi/ zaaydi. 'Hamadi is too arrogant.' Ye/ teete/ amali ya maamaye/ takaburi/ na kooneshá/ na fakharí. 'She took the manners of her mother -- arrogance, being a show off, a braggart.'
u-takaburi	n. 14 arrogance Muunt^hu/ siwo/ suura/ kondrola ruuhuye/ ilu ya waant^hu/ ni alaama/ ya utakaburi. 'A person should not raise himself up (preen, puff himself up, etc.), it is a sign of arrogance.'
m-takaburi (wa-)	n. 1/2 one who is arrogant and gives himself airs
kh-takalama	v. [Sw. takalamu M&N 2289; Ar. tiqlām "eloquent, good talker" W 838] (takalamiile) talk well Ye/ hutakalama. 'He has a way with words.'
kh-takata	v. [cf. Sw. chakacha "rustle, as of grass when one goes through a forest" SSED 47; cf. Som. tag , past tagay, tagtay "to go" DSI 572] (takeete) squeak
ma-takato	n. 6 sound of steps (heard, without seeing the person who is walking or running)
takaazi	n. [Sw. chakaazi "a succulent tree with small yellow flowers, used medicinally" SSED 47] A large nut with a hard shell. Bravanese do not know from which plant it comes because it is found on the beach, especially during the Southern Monsoon (summer months). As a remedy against fever, it is mixed with boiling water and fumes inhaled, or alternatively burnt in cheetezo and fumes inhaled. (The dental ɟ in Chimiini corresponds to Standard Swahili ch .)
takbiiri	n. 9 [cf. Sw. verb takbira SSED 447; Ar. takbīr W 819] a formula said in praise of God by Muslims (aLLaahu akbar 'God is great') kubiga takbiiri 'to say the takbiiri ' Waant^hu/ karka muskitiini/ wanakulombaa du'a/ wanakubiga takbiiri. 'People in the mosque are praying, they are saying the takbiiri .'
taakha	n. 9/10 [Ar. tauq W 574] ability, material possibility konyeza taakha 'to show s.o. one's ability – a kind of verbal threat (as in the English expression: "I'll show him")' Mwambiile/ sulṭaani/ mi/ nii muké/ tu/ siná/ taakhaye/ mp^ha peesa/ nt^humikile. 'She told the sultan: I am just a woman, I do not have the ability [to get a job], give me money for me to use.' Nṭ^hasa muunt^hu/ khfanya chiint^hu/ husuḷowa kiwa taakhaye/ mbele husuḷowa kiiwa. 'Before a person does a thing, he should know (the limits of) his ability.' (A proverbial saying.)

- taakha indrebeele mi nimo daḍaali [song] ‘I am doing all that I can, it is a matter of possibility that stopped me’
- kh-takhalusa v. [cf. Ar. takalluṣ "liberation, release" W 255, from verb kalaṣa "be or become free" W 254] (takhalusiile) get rid of s.t., s.o.
Omari/ mwambile Ali/ mṭakhaluse/ Nuuru/ kaako/ kaziini/ ntʰaná/ faayda/ hafaanyi/ kaazi/ jisa suura. ‘Omari told Ali: get rid of Nuuru from your workplace, he has no advantage (for you), he does not work well.’
- takhriiban adv. [Ar. taqrīban W 755] approximately, almost, nearly; [pron: takhriiban] (Observe that the accent in this word falls, in the default case, on the penult vowel, which is ī given the absence of the usual final vowel that is added in Chimiiini to borrowed words ending in a consonant.)
Haliima/ na Omari/ ntʰangú/ walozeenyó/ takhriiban/ ni miyaaka/ ishiriini. ‘Since Haliima and Omari married is almost twenty years.’
- takhriibu adv. approximately, almost, nearly Chinakubiga iteké/ chinakeendrá/ ziyaraani/ ka Shekh Makhtuubu/ ni kilomeetiri/ ntʰaano/ takhriibu. ‘We are going on foot to the religious ceremony for Shekh Makhtuubu, it is (held) about five kilometers (from Miini).’
Haliima/ safariye/ itukiile/ takhriibu/ muuntʰi/ mzima. [HHHH!H!H] ‘Haliima’s trip took almost an entire day.’
- taaki n. heel of a shoe Haliima/ vete zilaatu/ za taaki/ zimfanyizee mule/ habamooyi/ ‘Haliima wore high-heel shoes, they made her a little taller.’
taki ya chilaatu ‘heel of a shoe’; taki za zilaatu ‘heels of shoes’ Umi/ ha’isi kinendrela zilaatu/ za taaki/ zimtulushiize. ‘Umi does not know how to wear high-heeled shoes, they make her fall.’
- l-taki (n-) n. 11/10 [cf. Ar. tauq, pl. atwāq "necklace" W 574] necklace (generic term); [pron. ntʰaki ‘necklaces’] kama ltaki/ lbeele ‘if the necklace is lost’ kamaa ntʰaki/ zibeele ‘if the necklaces are lost’
Kula mwaana/ ka ltakile. ‘Each child has his own necklace.’ (A proverb.)
Ltaki ilo/ nlaake. ‘That necklace is hers.’ (Cf. Ntʰaki izo/ nzaake. ‘Those necklaces are hers.’) ltaki lembaamba ‘a thin necklace’; ntʰaki nempaamba ‘thin necklaces’ ltakila ‘my necklace’; ntʰakiza ‘my necklaces’
Mbene ltaki/ ndilaani/ laakini/ skukhaadira/ killokota. ‘I saw a necklace outside, but I could not pick it up.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is siyaafu ‘safari ants’.)
Nimwekelele mwaanawá/ kaayi/ ltaki. ‘I have put away safely a bracelet for my child.’ accent?
rel.
i-taki (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.
sh-taki (s-) n. 7/8 dim.
Haliima/ pasize peesa/ dukaani/ ka Nuuru/ weshele rahani/ shtakiche/ cha ḍahabu. ‘Haliima borrowed money from Nuuru’s shop, she put her gold necklace as bond.’ (This example does not appear to be using shtaki as a diminutive, i.e. specifically indicating the smallness of the necklace.)
- l-takiya (n-) n. [Sw. takia (ma-) SSED 447; the Arabic source cited in SSED for this item was not found in Wehr’s dictionary, but perhaps it is a dialectal form] a kind of large pillow used to recline on; [pron. nt^hakiya (pl.)] pillows; variant form: itakiya (ma-)

- takliifu n. 9 [Ar. taklif "burdening, charging, trouble, expenditure" W 837] s.t. beyond one's ability, means, power; a burden or task or duty imposed on one Iyi/ ni takliifu/ iluya. 'This is beyond my ability, more than I can do.'
lata takliifu kugharima maali [st.] 'don't spend beyond your means, squandering money' Ni takliifu/ iluka. 'It is too much for me.'
- takrimu n. [Ar. takrīm "honoring" W 822] hospitality
Ye/ weele/ mapsuuti/ kabisá/ ka takrimu/ yaa ye/ weenó/ ka kaakó. 'He was very pleased by the hospitality that he saw from you.'
- taksi n. 9/10 [Eng. taxi] taxi cab
Nakhsuḷa taksi. 'I want a taxi.'
Nakhtaraja taksi. 'I need a taxi.'
- kh-tala v. [cf. Sw. chagua SSED 47] (taliile) choose Maskiini/ haatali. 'A poor man does not choose.' (A proverb.)
Mwenyee ndala/ haatali. 'A hungry man does not choose.' (A proverb.)
rel.
kh-taliḷa v. appl.
chizaliḷoowa mwaana ismu mtaliḷe [st.] 'when you have a child born to you, choose a name for him' kh-taliḷoowa v. appl. pass. be chosen for wake wa hur al- 'aini/ Sheekhi takhtaliḷoowa [st.] 'wives who are celestial virgins, chosen especially for the Sheikh' mooja nawaape wo riḍwaana/ hutaliḷoowa wake na wabjaana [st.] 'may God grant His approval to them [all], girls and boys' kh-taloowa v. pass.
hutaḷoowa teena baaqi ya waana/ wanaawake ni wanne china Maana [st.] 'now we have to speak of the remaining children: there were four daughters, born of Lady [Khadija]'
rel. nom.
m-tala (wa-) n. one who chooses
m-tale (wa-) adj. (of human beings) chosen nahrīsi nda mojiitu na amaani/ ilu ya mtume mtale wa rahmaani [st.] 'may God's mercy and peace be upon the Prophet, the one chosen by the Compassionate' ma-talo n. 6 choice
Maṭaloye/ yatulushile ilu ya Nuuru. '[Lit.] His choice fell on Nuuru -- i.e. he chose Nuuru.'
Nuuru/ hadiile/ mi/ simuulizi/ Hasani/ zoomboza/ maṭaloye/ miingi/ haamali/ khtala. 'Nuuru said: I do not sell my things to Nuuru, his selecting is too much, he never finishes selecting.'
u-talo n. 14 choice
Uṭalo/ wa Haliima/ huṭalo ziint^hú/ mukhtaye/ nakuuló/ ni zaaydi/ haṭá/ muunt^hu/ humkiriha. 'Haliima's choosing thing when she buys is too extreme, even one gets annoyed at her.'
- kh-talama v. [Som. tallan, past tallamay "to be hesitant, perplexed" DSI 575] hesitate, fear chiza khtalama kumera yaa ye/ takihṭajó 'not to hesitate to look for whatever he needed'
Haaji/ mwana mkulu/ wanazo ba'aḍi zaa sifa/ za waawaye/ laakini/ ye/ liini/ shṭalamo kumkirihiha maamayé/ ka khisa/ ye/ shṭosha ya kuwa maama/ chimpēndaa muné/ nt^ho/ kolkoo ye. 'Haaji, the oldest child, had some of the traits of his father, but he never hesitated to displease his mother since he thought that his mother loved his younger brother more than him.'

- Hufafisho ebuzó/ muunt^hi/ haṭalami/ khutilaa muḷo/ masku. ‘The one who reveals your defects in the daytime does not hesitate to burn you at night.’ (A proverb.)
- Mṭinda hoola/ haṭalami/ khpasula. ‘The one who slaughters an animal does not hesitate to skin [him].’ (A proverb.)
- Munt^hu nayo uuḍú/ haṭalami/ khsala. ‘The person who has ritual cleanliness does not fear prayer.’ (A proverb that says that if you are well-prepared, do not fear the challenges, tribulations that await you.)
- talaawu n. step Ni talaawu/ yaa ndila/ ya saha. ‘It is a step in the right direction.’
- i-taale (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. tale SSED 447 and kitale SSED 208] nut of the coconut at the stage where it is still watery, but the meat is forming (GM did not know this word.)
rel.
sh-taale (s-) n. 7/8 dim.
- n-tale n. 9/10 [cf. Sw. mshale SSED 301] arrow; [pron. nṭ^hale] Chiint^hu/ siwo/ chaakó/ naa nṭ^halé/ khufakaṭa. ‘Something not yours and an arrow runs from you.’ (A proverb.)
Markabu za sultaani/ Simsini/ zote/ schondroloowa/ kumrasha mwaana/ laakini/ markabu ya mwaana/ hufakaṭa/ kamaa nṭ^hale. ‘All the ships of the sultan, Simsini, were put in motion chasing the boy, but the boy’s ship ran fast like an arrow.’
Nṭ^hale/ ichikhiingila/ ha’ikhulawi. ‘An arrow, when it enters you, it does not come out.’ (A saying.)
Nṭ^hale/ ichilawa/ ha’iruudi. ‘An arrow that has gone does not return.’ (A proverb.)
Nṭ^hale/ ilaṭila ilú/ humsiba kilaa muunt^hu. ‘An arrow that has been shot up in the air can hit anyone.’ (A saying.)
Nṭ^hale/ ilaziló/ hayruudi/ chinume. ‘An arrow that has left does not come back.’ (A proverb.) (Observe that in this example the head of the relative clause is also the indefinite subject of the relative verb and is phonologically separated from that verb.)
nṭ^hale iyi ‘this arrow’; nṭ^hale izi ‘these arrows’ Nṭ^haleya/ nch^hi’ilaṭila masku/ hayooloki/ kule/ laakini/ nch^hi’ilaṭila muunt^hi/ hendra mwendo wa mwaaka. ‘My arrow, if I shoot it during the night, it does not go far, but if I shoot it during the daytime, it goes on a walk of a year.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is ito ‘the eye’.)
- kh-taali’a v. [Sw. talii "inquire into, look into, examine" SSED 447; Ar. tala’u W 564] study
rel.
kh-tali’oowa v. pass.
huhuzuniko ni darsi/ fadhi ishtali’oowa [st.] ‘as will his daily circle of students/ and the lessons he used to teach’
- talqiini n. 9 [Sw. talakim SSED 447; Ar. talqin "instruction, direction" W??] (in reference to a funeral) the last instructions given to the dead person on how to answer the angels’ questions in the grave
Ba’ada ya mayṭi/ kuzikoowa/ sheekhi/ humsomela mayṭi/ talkhiini. ‘After the dead person is buried, a sheekhi reads the talkhiini to the dead person.’
Ba’adi/ ya mayṭi/ khsomelowa talkhiini/ waant^hu/ wafakuruuda. ‘After the dead person has been read for talkhiini, people go back [leave the cemetery and return to the home of the dead person].’
- kh-taltala v. [Sw. taataa SSED 443] (talteele) writhe, toss around in pain, crawling about Chilawa/ muke/ nakhtaltala ka kuuluye. ‘Soon the woman came out, jumping about

- in pain from her leg (that had been cut off).’
Mwana wa Omari/ tuushile/ vundishile mkono/ nakhtaltala ka ulaazo. ‘Omari’s child fell and broke his hand, he is writhing with pain.’
Zinalktaltala. ‘They are crawling around.’
rel.
m-taltalo n. 3
Nuuru/ masku/ mazima/ chiṭa shchimlaazó/ zaaydi/ talteele/ mṭaltalo/ umriwe/ haliwali. ‘Omari, the whole night his head was aching him too much, he shook in pain such that he will never forget.’
- sh-taltala* (s-) n. 7/8 [etymology unknown, unless it is related to the preceding verb] bat (mammal) Numba iyo/ yimo staltala. ‘That house has bats [in it].’
Staltala/ huluka masku. ‘Bats fly at night.’
Staltala/ masku/ huwona. ‘Bats see at night.’
- (m-)talyaani* (Ø, ma-) n. an Italian matalyani wa Mwiini ‘Italians of Brava’ ([cl.2] agreement); less common is matalyani ya Mwiini ‘Italians of Brava’ ([cl.6] agreement) Matalyaani/ wa’ile. ‘The Italians came.’ ([cl.2] agreement) matalyani watatu ‘three Italians’ ([cl.2] agreement); less common is: matalyani matatu ‘three Italians’ ([cl. 6] agreement) mṭalyani wiitu ‘our Italian person’ ([cl.1] agreement) talyaaniwa ‘my Italian person’ ([cl.1] agreement, which seems to be the only form used)
rel.
i-taliyaani n. Italians review for vowel between l and y in the other forms Maṭezó/ ya mpiira/ wa kuulu/ huhadoowa/ asliye/ asisiiló/ ni italiyaani. ‘The game of soccer (lit. ball of leg), it is said that the ones who originally founded it were the Italians.’
sh-talyaani n. 7 the Italian language
- tala n. 9/10 [Sw. taa SSED 442] lamp, light fixture kashaa tala ‘to turn on a light, light a lamp’ Muuyi/ mzimawe/ washizaa tala. [H’H!H] ‘The town, its entirety, was lit up.’
kashowaa tala ‘lamps to be lit’
Tala/ zashiiza. [H’H] ‘Lamps were lit.’
Zashiizá/ nii tala. [H’H] ‘What was lit were lamps.’
kuzimizaa tala ‘to turn off a light’
Mafta/ yalazilo ka namaani/ chashilizaa tala. ‘The oil that came from the meat, she used it to light a lamp.’ (Note that when the head of the relative clause is also the subject of the relative clause, as is the case in mafta/ yalazilo ka namaani, then there is no -a link between the head and the relative verb. In the present example, the head is phrased separately from the relative verb, but this is not an obligatory aspect of phrasing.) (The main verb in the present example is an instrumental applied verb, where the instrument mafta/ yalazilo ka namaani has been preposed to initial position. It is usual in the instrumental applied for the instrument to be preposed.)
Muunt^hu/ tala/ hashaa kaake. One lights a lamp in his home.’ (A proverb.)
Nuumbaya/ nk^hulu/ nt^haynaa tala. ‘My house is large, it has no light.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is qabri ‘a grave’.)
Tala haakó/ masku mazimá/ bila maftá/ na ltaambi. ‘A lamp which burns all night without paraffin and a wick.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is mwezi wa weelu ‘the moon’.) review phrasing, accent tala/ na ltaambi ‘lamp and wick’, tala/ na nt^haambi ‘lamps and wicks’ tala/ na ltaambilé ‘lamp and its wick’, tala/ na nt^haambize ‘lamps and their wicks’
rel.
i-tala (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.
Masku ya iidi/ miṭala/ hashoowa/ kiḷaa mahala/ huwa weelu/ kana muunthi. ‘On the night of Idi lights are lit every where, it gets clear/light like daytime.’

ma-tala n. (exaggerated number of) lamps

Nt^hi/ nzimaye/ matala. ‘The world, its whole, is lamps (said when there are lamps lit everywhere in an area).’

sh-tala (z-) n. 7/8 dim. lamp

Sh^htala icho/ ni chihuundru. ‘That (dim.) lamp is red.’

Stala izo/ ni zihuundru. ‘Those (dim.) lamps are red.’

Tala ya Manaweera

n. The name of a square-based light-house built by the Italians on Chiḷaani, a little island offshore, facing the Mp^haayi quarter of Brava. Manaweera is probably a Chimiini rendering of Emanuele, from Vittorio Emanuele III, King of Italy. The Chimiini name therefore means “Emanuele’s light/lamp”. The Italians, prior to the First World War, had planned the construction of port facilities in Brava and one of the projects was a 900 meters long causeway-bridge connecting Mp^haayi and Chiḷaani island. However, the bridge was broken at several points by the British during the Second World War, and the lighthouse has not been in use for many decades.

(I)tala ya Manaweera/ chaashó/ ni Sharif Siimba. ‘Tala ya Manaweera, the one who lit is is Sharif Siimba.’

(I)tala ya Manaweera/ hupa markabu/ zinakhpita tawala/ seenyo. ‘Tala ya Manaweera gives signals to ships which are passing in the sea.’

kh-talagalata

v.

kh-talaalata

v. [Som. tallaal "to vaccinate; to graft or transplant" DSI 575] (talaleete) vaccinate; cultivate (esp. by replanting, removing crowded plants to be replanted elsewhere)

Omari/ nakhtalalata mishaka. [H!H] ‘Omari is planting trees.’

rel.

kh-talalatoowa v. pass.

Waana/ wanakhtalalatoowa shuruwa. [H!H] ‘Children are being vaccinated for measles.’

talaali

n. 9 [Som. tallaal DSI 574] vaccination; small branch or offshoot of plant (to be used for grafting or replanting), seed root check the two l consonants

Nuuru/ kaake/ numbaani/ imorooni/ tile talaali/ ya ndriimu. ‘Nuuru, in the backyard of his house, put the root of a lime tree.’

Sukhuuni/ zinakuzowa talaali/ zaa miti/ za embe/ naa mazú. ‘At the market seed roots of mango and banana are being sold.’

talaqa

repudiation

n. 10? [Sw. talaka SSED 447; Ar. talāq W 567] divorce (by husband only), Want^hu awa/ hawafurahili/ talaqa/ ila ichiwa iweele/ waajibu/ ka sababu mweepe. ‘These people do not like a divorce unless it becomes obligatory for some reason.’

we/ ni muunt^hu/ suura/ mukhlisi/ munt^hu islaamu/ munt^hu hupendo zeemá/ mpe/ talaqaze. ‘If you are a good, sincere man, a Muslim man, a man who loves goodness, give her a divorce.’

accent?

talaasimu (Ø, ma-) n. 9/10,6 [Sw. talasimu (ma-) SSED 447; Ar. talāsim, plural of tilasm W 564] a charm kubiga talaasimu ‘to prophesy (using cards, etc.)’

talaashaara

n., adj. thirteen

kh-taalaza v. [cf. Sw. tandaza SS 450, used esp. for spreading grains, and tangaza "make known (news), publish abroad" SSED 452] (taleeze) spread something (news, seed)

Haliima/ taleeze gele/ iwaani/ kuuma/ chimaliza/ khsoola/ khfanya maandra. 'Haliima spread the maize in the sun to dry and then to pound and make bread.'

Nt^hi/ nzimaye/ sh^halazaa zitta/ za ma'aduwi. 'The whole of the ground he scattered it with the heads of the enemy.'

Stalazeeni. 'You (pl.) don't spread it!'

Taleze khabari. 'Spread the news!'

taalibu n. seeker of knowledge

Waana/ wa ziwooni/ ni ma^htaalibu/ humera ilmu/ kilaa mahala/ na kilaa wakhtⁱ. 'Scholars are knowledge-seekers from any place and any time.'

taalibu^l ilmi n. seekers of knowledge

Taalibu^l ilmi/ ni af^hali/ ka mojiitu/ kolko jaahili. 'Seekers of knowledge are more preferable to God than the ignorant.'

tama'a

n. 9/10 [Sw. tama SSED 448; Ar. tama ' W 569] hope, longing, craving, ambition khtila tama'a 'to instill hope'

Nt^hile tama'a. 'He caused me to live with hope.'

kh^htinda tama'a 'to give up hope, lose hope, despair'

Sku mooyi/ naayé/ tinzilo tama'a/ walá/ nt^hanakhfilat^hililá... 'One day when he had given up hope and was not expecting anyone to come...'

Ye/ sh^htinda tama'a/ chiruda mundraani. 'He gave up and returned to the garden.'

kudara tama'a 'to experience longing, craving for s.t.'

Uje mu^hjaana/ tama'a/ ichimdaara. '[Lit.] craving touched the young man -- i.e. he experienced a craving for s.t.'

Lata/ tama'a/ izo/ tumila/ akhili za mwajiitu/ khupeeló. 'Leave (i.e. forget about) those ambitions (in the context of the story: to win money by gambling) and make use of the wits that God gave to you.'

mshika tama'a an ambitious person' mwenye tama'a 'a person having ambition'

ndiwe nt^hiilo tama'aani naambilo tuuza kha^hbiyo [song] 'it is you who instilled hope in me, who told me: make quiet your heart'

Tama'aye/ iwalikoo nk^hulu/ na imaan^hiyé/ ka mwajiitú/ iwaliko thaabitⁱ. 'His hope was great and his faith in God was firm.'

Tama'aze/ niingi. 'His ambitions are many.'

kh-tama'a strong desire for

v. [Sw. uses a verbal form tumai SSED 448; Ar. tami 'a, tama ' W569] hope; have a

Ye/ tama'iile/ kh^hpata tafsiiri/ ya koo^hdi/ za Ali/ karkaa ziwo/ laakini/ nt^hakhaadira/ kh^hpata majiibu. 'He hoped to get the significance of the words of Ali from the books but he was not able to get an answer.'

rel.

kh-tama'isha v. caus. (but the preferred method for expressing causation is the periphrastic construction, khtila tama'a)

tamaamu

adj. [Sw. timaamu SSED 467; Ar. tamām W 97] complete, perfect; variant form: timaamu

Kulaa muunt^hu/ islaamu/ baalighi/ na aqilizé/ ni tamaamu/ humwajiba ziint^hu/ staano. 'Every Muslim, having reached puberty with perfect faculties, is obliged (to do) five things.'

kh-tamana

v. [Sw. tamani SSED 448] (tamaniile) long for, crave, wish for strongly (though not necessarily with the expectation of getting)

Ali/ tamanilee kufa. 'Ali wanted to die.'

Ali/ tamanile kuwa nt'akuuya. 'Ali wished that he had not gone.' review meaning

Ali/ tamanilee mazu. 'Ali wished for a banana.'

Chimlindra Safiya/ sababu/ ye/ tamaniile/ na suljile/ nt'o/ Safiya/ kuwa mukeewe. 'He waited for Safiya because he longed and wished very much for Safiya to be his wife.'

Huseeni/ hadiile/ mi/ nakhtamaná/ khpata numba suura/ nk'bulu/ kana/ ya Ali. 'Huseeni said: I wish I could get a good and big house like Ali.'

Mi/ nnakhtamana kuja nt'eendré/ walá/ sinakhpata. 'I want to eat dates, but I cannot get any.'

Muke/ wa mmamulaṭaa nt'hi/ ba'ada/ ya Yuusufi/ khkula/ kuwa muḥjaana/ chimtamana. 'The wife of the caretaker of the land, after Joseph grew up to become a young man, desired him (sexually).'

Muunt'hu/ chiint'hu/ chaa ye/ hakhadiri kuulá/ haṭamani. 'A person, something that he cannot buy, he does not (i.e. should not) desire.'

Nt'akuja yaa mi/ nt'akhsuuló/ na nt'akhtamanó. 'I will eat whatever I want and wish for.'

Nuuru/ mtamanile Haliima. 'Nuuru longed for Haliima.'

Nuuru/ tamanile kula gaari. 'Nuuru longed to buy a car.' (This example illustrates that the verb tamana permits an infinitival complement. The infinitive may, of course, agree with a definite object: Nuuru/ tamanile kiyula gari iyi. 'Nuuru longed to buy this car.' It would apparently be possible for the main verb to bear the object marker as well: Nuuru/ itamanile kiyula gari iyi. was accepted by MI. However, this is possible only in the absence of a subject of the infinitive verb: Nuuru/ tamanile Muusa/ kiyula gari iyi. 'Nuuru longed for Muusa to buy this car.' and not *Nuuru/ itamanile Muusa/ kiyula gari iyi.)

Nuuru/ tamanile kula gaari/ haṭá/ fiile. 'Nuuru longed to buy a car until he died.'

Nuuru/ tamanile mwaanawe/ khpita imṭihaani. 'Nuuru desired for his son to pass the examination.' Or, with a subjunctive complement: Nuuru/ tamanile mwaanawe/ napite imṭihaani. Or, with overt complementizer: Nuuru/ tamanile kuwa mwaanawe/ pishile imṭihaani. 'Nuuru hoped that his son passed the examination.'

Nuuru/ tamanilee nama. 'Nuuru craved meat.' (This example illustrates that the verb may take a simple NP as complement.)

Omari/ tamanile mwaanawe/ khpita imṭihaani. 'Omari wished for his son to pass the examination.' (As shown by this example, the verb tamana takes a (NP+)infinitive complement. It does not however permit a subjunctive in place of the infinitive: *Nuuru/ tamanile mwaanawe/ napite imṭihaani. This verb does not, however, permit the subject of the infinitive to be "raised" into object position, thereby triggering object agreement on the verb: *Nuuru/ mtamanile mwaanawe/ khpita imṭihaani.)

Wana wa waant'hu/ wafanyiliza wazele waawo/ yaa wo/ wanakhtamanó. 'The children of other people do for their parents that which they want done.'

yaa ye takihtaajó/ na takhtamanó 'whatever he will need and long for'

Zileseḷa zaakuja/ za maato/ hupeendó/ na khalbí/ huṭamanó. 'They were brought foods that the eyes enjoy and that the heart craves for.'

rel.

kh-tamanika v. p/s.

Ali/ zombo/ ziko kaaké/ dukaani/ siwo/ zisuura/ haṭtamaniki/ ba. 'The things at Ali's shop are not good, they can never be wished for.'

Omari/ mwanaashkewe/ Faatima/ ni inene/ haṭtamaniki/ kuloloowa. 'Omari's daughter Faatima is fat, she cannot be wished for to marry.'

kh-tamaniloowa v. appl. pass.

Mwaana/ tamanijila khpita imṭihaani. 'The child was wished for to pass the examination.'

kh-tamanila v. appl.

Khuṭamanijile chakuja ichi. 'He wished for the food for you -- i.e. he wished that you might have the food; for example, you were not there at the party to have any of the food.'

Nuuru/ m̄tamanilile Muusa/ gari iyi. 'Nuuru wanted this car for Muusa.'

Nuuru/ m̄tamanilile mwaanawe/ khpita im̄tihaani. 'Nuuru wished passing the examination for his son.' (Syn: The applied verb means "wish s.t. for someone" and not "wish someone to do s.t.", thus one cannot say *Nuuru/ m̄tamanilile Muusa/ kula gaari. 'Nuuru wished for Muusa to buy a car.') kh-tamanisha v. caus.

Ali/ m̄tamanishize mwaana/ mazu. 'Ali made the child wish for bananas.'

Omari/ jisaa ye/ hufakharó/ ziint^hú/ hatá/ takhu^htamanisha. 'The way that Omari praises things makes you fall in love with them.'

kh-tamanishana v. caus. rec.

kh-tamanishika v. caus. p/s.

kh-tamanishiliza v. caus. appl.

Ali/ m̄tamanishilize Iisa/ mwaana/ mazu. 'Ali made Iisa's child wish for bananas.'

kh-tamanishiliza(y)a v. caus. appl. rec.

Wa^htamanishilizenye waana/ ziloozi. 'They made one another's children long for candies.'

kh-tamanoowa v. pass.

Gari iyi/ itamanila ku^hloowa. 'This car was desired to be bought.'

Gari iyi/ itamanila ku^hlowa na Nuuru. 'This car was desired to be bought by Nuuru.' (This sentence would be interpreted to mean that Nuuru desired to buy the car. In the sentence Gari iyi/ itamanila na Nuuru/ ku^hloowa. 'This car is desired by Nuuru to be bought.', it is ambiguous as to whether Nuuru is himself buying the car.)

Gari iyi/ itamanila na Nuuru/ ku^hloowa/ hatá/ file. 'This car was longed to be bought by Nuuru until he died.'

rel. nom.

m-tamana (wa-) n. 1/2 one who wants, longs for kh-tamasha

v. take a stroll

Sku mooyi/ sul^htaani/ chiwa'ambila waanawe/ kuwaa ye/ nakhsu^hu^hla/ keendra/ maduriini/ kh^htamasha. 'One day the sultan told his sons that he wanted to go into the bush to take a stroll.'

l-taambi (n-)

n. 11/10 [Sw. utambi "wick" SSED 508] wick; [pron. nt^haambi 'wicks'] ltambi laa tala 'wick of a lamp' ltambi la thawaafa 'wick of a lantern' ltambii lile 'a long wick'; nt^hambii ndre 'long wicks' ltaambila 'my wick'; nt^haambiza 'my wicks'

l-taambi (n-)

n. 11/10 edge, tip; [pron. nt^haambi]

Ltambi ilo/ nlaake. 'That edge is its.' (Cf. Nt^hambi izo/ nzaake. 'Those edges are its.') nt^hambi za maboori 'strips of a special kind of pumpkin cooked with oil and sugar' nt^hambi za pataata 'strips of sweet potato cooked with oil and sugar'

Shfungula ltaambi/ laa nguwo. 'He opened (out) the edge of the cloth.'

sh-taambi (s-)

n. tassel (of a cap, curtains, etc.)

sh^htambi cha haanzu 'tassel of haanzu' sh^htambi cha ikoofiya 'tassel of a hat'

sh^htambi chaa nguwo 'tassel of cloth' sh^htambi cha teendra 'tassel of a curtain'

tambu

n. 9/10 [Sw. tambuu SSED 449; Hind. & Pers.] leaf of the betel plant; a mixture for chewing made from this leaf plus katu and maghaadi; [pron. tambú]

Washtafuna tambú. ‘They were chewing tambú.’

- kh-taambula v. [Sw. chapua SSED 5] (tambiile) beat, hit with s.t. (esp. a stick) (This item was provided by MI, but we did not record an example sentence. GM was unfamiliar with the word.)
rel.
kh-taambuza v. caus.
- kh-taamila v. [no etymological source found] (tamiliile) lean on, rest on Mpe mtaawo/ nataamile. ‘Give him a pillow so that he may rest.’
Tamiliile mtaawo. ‘He rested on a pillow.’
Tamiliile mlaango. ‘He leaned against the door.’
rel.
kh-tamilila v. appl.
Mpe mtaawo/ natamilile. ‘Give him a pillow so that he may rest on it.’
- tamkiini n. [Ar. tamkīn “consolidation, deepening, establishment” W 918] tranquility ka tamkiini ‘peacefully, with no worries’ Lala ka tamkiini/ mwana oyo/ siwo/ hondrosho ka usinziziini.
‘Sleep peacefully, this child is not one who wakes (people) up from sleep (with crying, etc.).’
- tammaa’i adj. cf. tama’a [Ar. tammā “avid, covetous, grasping” W 569] ambitious (but with negative connotations)
- tamriini n. 9/10 [Ar. tamrīn W 905] exercise, homework, assignment
Leelo/ waana/ skolaani/ wapela tamriini/ khfanya numbaani. ‘Today children at school are given exercises to work at home.’
Ma’askari/ wa’oloshale maduriini/ kfanya tamriini/ ya kuwiinda. ‘Soldiers went upcountry to train to learn to shoot.’
Mi/ hupenda tamriini/ iyi. ‘I like this exercise.’
Tamrini ziingine/ nii dhibu. ‘The other exercises are difficult.’
- taamu adj. [Sw. -tamu SSED 450] tasty (used with reference to salty or spicy, not sweet) Haliima/ mkali/ khpikaa kuja/ kujaye/ taamu. ‘Haliima is good at cooking food, her food is delicious.’
kuja taamu ‘tasty food’
Kuja ya Haliima/ hupikó/ ni taamu. ‘The food that Haliima cooks is tasty.’
- kh-tana v. [Sw. chana SSED 49] (taniile) comb
Baana/ nakhtana mashuungi. ‘Baana is combing (his) hair.’
Nimtanile Haliimá/ mwanaamkewá/ mashuungi. ‘I combed Haliima my daughter’s hair.’ Or: Nimtanile mwanaamkewá/ Haliimá/ mashuungi. ‘I combed my daughter Haliima’s hair.’
Tuuma/ mtanile Haliima/ mashuungi. ‘Tuuma combed Haliima’s hair.’ Or:
Tuuma/ mtanile mashuungi/ Haliima.
Tuuma/ mtanile mwanaashkewe/ Haliima/ mashuungi. ‘Tuuma combed her daughter Haliima’s hair.’
Tuuma/ na(ku)mtana mwaana/ mashuungi. ‘Tuuma is combing the child’s hair.’ (The simple yes-no question version of this sentence involves Q-raising but no accent shift. The exclamatory yes-no question shifts the accent in the VP:
Tuuma/ namtana mwaaná/ mashuungi!?)
Tuuma/ namtana mashuungi/ mwaana. ‘Tuuma is combing the child’s hair.’
Tuuma/ tanile mashuungi/ ya mwaana. ‘Tuuma combed the hair of the child.’ (While this is an acceptable sentence, it is more preferred to say: Tuuma/ mtanile mwaana/ mashuungi.)

rel.

kh-tanila v. appl. comb for, with sh̄tana cha khtanila ‘a comb for combing with’

Tuuma/ m̄tanilile Haliima/ m̄waana/ mashuungi. ‘Tuuma combed for Haliima the child’s hair.’ (Word order is quite variable in this sentence. Maana may precede Haliima without altering the fact that the natural interpretation would be that Haliima is the beneficiary. It is also possible for mashuungi to be post-verbal: Tuuma/ m̄tanilile mashuungi/ m̄waana/ Haliima. This latter word order was volunteered by GM first, before he observed that the more normal word order would be for the beneficiary to follow the verb immediately.)

Tuuma/ m̄tanilile Haliima/ m̄waana/ mashuungi/ ka sh̄tana. ‘Tuuma combed the child’s hair for Haliima with a comb.’ (Syn. In this example, the applied verb allows the benefactive NP to appear in an unmarked form, but the instrument sh̄tana is marked by the preposition ka. However, it is possible for the applied verb to allow both the beneficiary and the instrument to appear in an unmarked form: Tuuma/ m̄tanilile Haliima/ m̄waana/ mashuungi/ sh̄tana. It should be noted that m̄waana may precede Haliima in the word order without altering the meaning. The pragmatic unlikelihood that m̄waana would be the beneficiary rather than Haliima is perhaps the reason for the flexibility in word order here, despite the fact that Haliima and m̄waana govern the same agreement and thus the object prefix, which is controlled by the beneficiary, does not unambiguously identify Haliima as the beneficiary.)

Tuuma/ sh̄tana/ m̄tanililo Haliimá/ m̄waaná/ mashuungi. ‘Tuuma, a comb, combed the child’s hair for Haliima.’ Or: Tuuma/ sh̄tana/ m̄tanililo m̄waaná/ Haliimá/ mashuungi. Or: Sh̄tana/ Tuuma/ m̄tanililo m̄waaná/ Haliimá/ mashuungi.

kh-tanoowa v. pass.

Waana/ wanakhtanowa mashuungi. ‘The children are having their hair combed.’

m-taana (mi-)

n. 3/4 [cf. Ki-Amu msana] room

Baaba/ lazilopo ka m̄tanaani... ‘When father came from the room...’

Chimwonya m̄taana/ na zombo za zivalimo m̄tanaani. ‘She showed him the rooms and the things that were in the rooms.’

Chita/ weshele felii nshepe/ m̄tanaani. ‘The chief put old files in the room.’

Chingila ndraani/ kaake/ m̄tanaani. ‘He entered his room.’

Jaama/ ingile m̄tanaani. ‘Jaama entered the room.’ (Cf. the case where there is a final accent trigger: Ningile m̄tanaani. ‘I entered the room.’)

M̄taana/ uyele waant^hu. [H!H] ‘The room was filled with people.’

m̄tana waa kuja ‘dining room’

M̄tanaani/ wamo waana. ‘There are some children in the room.’ Cf. Waana/ wako m̄tanaani. ‘The children are in the room.’

m̄taanawa ‘my room’, m̄taanawe ‘his room’; m̄tana waawo ‘their room’; cf. m̄taanaye ‘his rooms’; m̄tana yaawo ‘their rooms’

M̄waana/ chingila m̄tanaani/ kaake/ shfuunga/ mlaangowe. ‘The boy entered his room and shut the door.’

Mwanaamke/ chimera rukhsa/ kingila kaake/ m̄tanaani. ‘The girl asked permission to enter her bedroom.’

Nambiile/ khfuungula/ m̄taana/ yote/ shokuwa m̄tana mooyi. ‘He told me to unlock all the rooms except one room.’

Ningile m̄tanaani/ ka waawayé. ‘I entered the room of his father.’

Waant^hu/ wayeele/ m̄tanaani. [H!H] ‘People filled the room.’ Or: M̄tanaani/ wayele waant^hu. [H!H] Or: Wayelo m̄tanaani/ ni waant^hu. [H!H] ‘The ones who filled the room are the people.’

sh-tana (s-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. kitana (vi-) SSED 49] comb; variant form: tana hata mashuungi ya tana ni khatari [st.] ‘even the hair that remains behind in the comb is dangerous [i.e. not permitted]’ shana cha aaga ‘a plastic or rubber comb’ shana cha chuuma ‘a steel comb’ shana chaa muti ‘a wooden comb’

sh-tana

n. [unknown etymology] anger Chinayo shana. ‘We are angry.’
ka shana ‘angrily’
Ka shana/ koðeeló/ Omari. ‘Angrily spoke Omari.’
Ka shana/ Omari/ koðeeló. ‘Angrily Omari spoke.’ (In the simple yes-no question, Omari may undergo accent shift: Ka shana/ Omari/ koðeeló? In the exclamatory question, even the initial adverb may undergo accent shift: Ka shaná/ Omari/ koðeeló!?)
Omari/ koðele ka shana. ‘Omari spoke angrily.’ Or: Omari/ koðeele/ ka shana. ‘Omari spoke angrily.’ (The simple yes-no question version of the first sentence has no accent shift, whereas in the second sentence the adverbial phrase shows accent shift: Omari/ koðeele/ ka shaná? Only the first sentence permits an exclamatory question (in GM’s speech): Omari/ koðele ka shaná!?) khfanya shana ‘to make angry’ Jawaabuze/ zinfanyize shana. ‘His words etc. made me angry.’
khshikilowa shana ‘to be gotten angry at’
Omari/ mambile Hamadi/ jawaabu/ iyo/ siwo/ ya khshikilowa shana. ‘Omari told Hamadi that that thing is not something to be gotten angry at (i.e. it is a small matter).’
khshikila shana ‘to be angry at’ khshikilana shana ‘to be angry at one another’ Nuuru/ na Hamadi/ washikileene. ‘Nuuru and Hamadi were angry at each other.’
Nuuru/ shikilene shana/ na Hamadi. ‘Nuuru was angry at each other with Hamadi.’
khshikowa shana ‘to be taken, held by anger -- i.e. to become angry’ Apo/ teena/ ijini/ chshikowa shanaa nt^ho. ‘There then the djinn became very angry.’
Baba/ chshikowa shana. ‘Father became angry.’
Muke/ chshikowa shana/ nt^ho. ‘The woman became very angry.’
Mi/ nshshila shaná/ we/ shshila shaná/ shatakhatanaayi. ‘I am angry, you are angry, how can we negotiate, come to an agreement?’ (A saying.)
Omari/ hushikowa kahima. ‘Omari gets angry quickly.’
Omari/ hushikowa ka sahali. ‘Omari gets angry easily.’
Omari/ shshila shana. ‘Omari got angry.’
Shshila shana naami. ‘He was angry at me.’
Sultaani/ mwenopo mgarwá/ shshila/ nt^ho/ laakini/ nt^hakonyesha/ shanache. ‘When the sultan saw the fisherman, he became very angry, but he did not show his anger.’
Want^hu wiingine/ washshila shana. ‘The other people got angry.’
khtila shana ‘to make angry, irritate’ Faanya/ ihsaani/ sintilé/ shana. ‘Do a favor, don’t make me angry.’
Hamadi/ hupeenda/ tile waant^hu/ shana. ‘Hamadi likes to make people angry.’
Hamadi/ namtila Omari/ shana. ‘Hamadi is making Omari angry.’
Nuuru/ mwambile Hamadi/ sintilé/ shana. ‘Nuuru told Hamadi: do not make me angry!’
kuwanacho shana ‘to be mad, angry’
Nacho shana/ naami. ‘He is angry at me.’
Siná/ shana/ naawe. ‘I am not angry at you.’
mwana waa ye/ nacho shana naa ye ‘the child who he is angry at’

kuwanayo shtana ‘to be angry’ kuwona shtana ‘to experience, feel anger’
Shtana/ chaa mi/ shishila sku iyó/ umriwa/ skuwona/ shtana/ kana icho.
 ‘The anger that grabbed me that day, I had never in my life seen anger like that.’
mwenye shtana ‘hot-tempered (lit. possessor of anger), short-tempered’ Baaba/ waliko ni muunt^hu/ mwenye shtana. ‘Father was a short-tempered man.’
Nayo shtana. ‘He is angry.’
Omari/ wanayo shtana. ‘Omari was angry.’
Shtana/ huleta khasaara. ‘Anger brings a loss.’ (A proverb.) Or: Shtana niingi/ huleta khasaara. ‘Too much anger brings a loss.’ Or: Shtana niingi/ ni khasaara. ‘Too much anger is a loss.’ Or: Shtana niingi/ huletaa dhibu. ‘Too much anger brings trouble, harm.’

x-tanabaha v. [Sw. tanabahi SSED 328; Ar. nabaha W 940] (tanabahiile) be attentive; realize, reawaken to something (This, and many other examples, illustrated that whereas borrowed Arabic verbs end in a variety of vowels in Swahili, in Chimiini they are regularly realized with the final vowel a.)

Hamadi/ tanabahile kuwa ziwovu/ haziduumi. ‘Hamadi reawakened to the fact that evil never lasts.’

tanafusi n. 9 [cf. Sw. verb form tanafusi SSED 328; Ar. tanaffus "respiration" W 986] breathing

Ali/ ha'ikhadiroowi/ warshadaani/ kaake/ khfanyowa kaazi/ tanafusi/ hupati. ‘Ali at his workshop cannot work, he is unable to breathe.’

kh-tanazula v. [Ar. verb nazala W 956 and noun tanāzul "renunciation" W 958] (tanazuliile) renounce, forsake, give up, not continue, leave it

Waan^hu/ wachilaana/ ka chiint^hu/ mwaape/ laazimu/ mooyi/ kh^htanazula. ‘If people have a dispute over something, it is a must that one of them give up.’

rel.

kh-tanazulila v. appl.

Baaba/ chimtanazulila/ usultaani. ‘Father abdicated the sultanship to him.’

Baaba/ hattá/ khiriile/ kumtanazulila/ usultaani. ‘Father even agreed to resign his sultanship for him.’

Khut^hanazuliile/ kula yaa ye/ peetó/ ka nguvuzé/ na aqilizé. ‘He gave up to you everything that he got from his power and his wits.’

Mi/ nt^hakhupa yaa mi/ humilkó/ na nt^hakhut^hanazulila/ usultaani. ‘I will give you all my possessions and I will install you in my sultanship.’

kh-tanazuloowa v. pass.

Omari/ hakhiiri/ ba/ kh^htanazula/ ka sahali. ‘Omari never accepts to give up easily.’

rel. nom.

u-tanazuli n. 14

Maha^hla/ ichiza kuwako utanazuli/ ha'ipatanoowi. ‘If there is no compromise there is no reconciliation.’

kh-taanda v. [etymological source unknown] (taanzile) insult someone

Ali/ sh^hanzile wote/ wiitu. ‘Ali insulted all of us.’

kum^htaanda ‘to insult someone’

kish^htaanda ‘to insult us’

Mi/ waliko nt^hachiwa/ kuwa nim^hanzile Abú. ‘I was not aware that I had offended Abu.’

Muke mwenye miimba/ ham^htaandi/ mweka uzeele. ‘A pregnant woman does not insult the one who attends her (i.e. the midwife).’ (A proverb.)

Omari/ m^hanzile muke wa Hamadi. ‘Omari insulted Hamadi’s wife.’ Or: Omari/ m^hanzile Hamadi/ mukeewe.

Skhut^htaanda. ‘I did not insult you.’

Wa'izo kumraashó/ wa'anziize/ kumteleza/ na mahālaa ye/ shpitó/ waant^hu wachibigaa nk^hele/ wachimtaanda. 'The ones who refused to follow him, they began to laugh at him, and wherever he passed, people shouted and insulted him.'

Wachaanza/ kumtaanda/ wachimwaambila/ waant^hu/ wacheendra/ zitaani/ we/ husalaa numa/ huzimilaa zita. 'They began to insult him, telling him: people go to the war, [but] you remain behind, hiding from the war.'

Want^haanzile/ bilaa sababu. 'They insulted me without a reason.' Or: Want^haanzile/ pashpo sababu. 'Ibid.'

rel.

kh-taandana v. rec. insult one another

Omari/ na Suufi/ wanakhtaandana. 'Omari and Suufi are insulting one another.' Or: Omari/ nakhtandanana na Suufi. 'Omari is insulting reciprocally with Suufi.'

kh-tandanoowa v. rec. pass.

Siwo/ suura/ khtandanoowa. 'It is not good to insult one another.'

kh-tandila v. appl. (m-tandiliile)

Omari/ mtandiliile Hamadi/ muke. 'Omari insulted Hamadi's wife.' (Usage: The applied verb in this case is principally indicating the relationship between the insulted person and Hamadi. It is not ordinarily being used to imply that the insulting was for the benefit of Omari.)

kh-tandoowa v. pass.

takhtandoowa. 'I you hit someone, if you insult someone, you will be hit as well, you will be insulted as well.' (A proverb.)

Qaliifa/ nakhtandoowa. 'Qaliifa is being insulted.'

rel. nom.

i-taando (ma-)

n. 5/6 insult

Wanch^himbiize/ ka mataando. 'They sent me away/ with insults.'

m-taandanu

adj. [cf. Sw. kimanjano "yellow", not found in SSED but found in the English-Swahili version, p. 633] yellow (Morph: This item displays an unusual behavior. When modifying a [cl. 3/4] noun, it behaves as though it is a variable adjective -- i.e. it shows straightforward agreement with the noun: e.g. muti mtaandanu 'yellow tree' but miti mitaandanu 'yellow trees'. When modifying nouns from other classes (setting aside diminutives and augmentatives), it has an invariable m- prefix: numba mtaandanu 'yellow house/s', chibuku mtaandanu 'yellow book', zibuku mtaandanu 'yellow books'. When modifying a diminutive or augmentative noun, it retains its m- prefix but also agrees with the noun by having an agreement prefix in front of the -m-: chihanzu chimtaandanu 'a little yellow haanzu.)

zilatu staandanu 'yellow shoes'

m-taandanu

n. (cf. mtaandanu above) turmeric, used in cooking as a component of hawaaji -- a yellow powder that is an astringent and is applied to skin on swellings, boils and lumps, as well as for cosmetic purposes

kh-taanga

v. [Sw. changa SSED 49] (tangiile) collect things for a common use (esp. money) contribute to something (Phon. Commonly a verb stem ending in ng would mutate to nz in front of the perfect extension, but this verb preserves ng and simply adds the iil extension. In this case, the long vowel in the stem must shorten.)

rel.

kh-taangana v. rec.

Waana/ wanakhtangana peesa/ zaawo/ kula mpiira. 'Children are saving their money to buy a ball.'

m-taanga (mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mchanga SSED 271] sand

Chimzumbiza mitaanga. 'He covered him with sand.'

Inenzele jaziira/ nzimaye/ na nt^hakuwona/ sho kuwa majiwe/ namtaangá. 'He walked around the whole isand and he did not see anything except stones and sand.’

ka m̄taanga usho maayi ndruuza laazimu/ takiizo diini yitu daalimu [st.] ‘if you do not have water, then with dust, my friends; whoever rejects the teachings of our faith is a wrongdoer’ kugursha m̄taanga niya leete awali [st.] ‘(before) taking the sand (from its place to use it to clean) state the intention first’

(-ingi) kana m̄taanga ‘as many as sand (meaning: extremely numerous)’ (Note that it is possible to omit -iingi from the expression.)

Mazu/ yayelee/ sukhuuni/ kana m̄taanga. ‘Bananas were abundant at the market.’

Nuuru/ nayo peesa/ kana m̄taanga. ‘Nuuru has a lot of money.’

Sukhuuni/ wako waant^hu/ kana m̄taanga. ‘In the market there are lots of people.’

m̄tanga mkavu ‘dry earth, sand’

Mwaana/ waliko shpandraa muti/ mukhta ya ye/ mweno mwenewé/ ulushile/ potelee nt^hi/ m̄tangaani/ pash! ‘The child who was climbing a tree, when he saw the owner, he jumped and fell down into the sand pash!’

Ngamiila/ schiwa spakiila/ / mizigo/ saant^hi/ hingila m̄tangaani. ‘When a camel is carrying a load, (their) footprints are deep in the sand.’

rahiisi/ kolko m̄tanga ya tawala ‘cheaper than sea sand’

Saant^hize/ nt^haskiingila/ m̄tangaani. ‘His feet did not go deep into the sand.’

Tanganyika

n. Tanzania

tangawizi

n. 9 [Sw. tangawizi SSED 452] ginger (Medicinal use: Dry powdered ginger is mixed with boiling water and sugar and drunk as tea: it is a remedy against colds, cough, bronchitis, stomach-ache, indigestion. The dry powder is also applied to infants’ heads when they are teething.)

Tangawizi iyi/ itele nasha. ‘This ginger has been ground very fine.’

kh-taangaza

v. [Sw. tangaza SSED 452] Swahilism (tangeeze) spread news, information

n-taangazo

n. Swahilism announcement; [pron. nt^haangazo]

kh-taangila

v. [perhaps connected in origin to Sw. tangaa ‘to be spread, to become generally known’ SSED 452 and tangaza SSED 452] (tangiliile) recite (a poem), esp. of women at a wedding or festival, praising or insulting someone

Aasha/ m̄tangiliile mwaana. ‘Aasha recited a poem about the child.’

Aasha/ tangiliile. ‘Aasha recited the poem.’

Taangila. ‘Recite!’ Cf. Tangilaani. ‘(Pl.) recite!’

Tangilani nt^haangilo. ‘(Pl.) recite a poem!’

Staangilé. ‘Don’t recite!’ Cf. Stangileení. ‘(Pl.) don’t recite!’

Stangileení/ nt^haangilo. ‘(Pl.) don’t recite the poem!’

rel.

kh-tangilila v. appl. (tangiliile) recite for Aasha/ m̄tangiliile Haliima/ mwaanawe. ‘Aasha recited for Haliima a praise poem about her son.’

kh-tangiloowa v. pass. (tangiliila)

Mwaana/ tangiliila na Aasha. ‘The child had a poem about him recited by Aasha.’

l-taangilo (n-)

n. 11/10 a poem praising or insulting someone, e.g. at a wedding, a poem in praise of the bride or bridegroom; an oral recitation (usu. by women) of poems composed spontaneously; [pron. nt^haangilo (pl.)]

ni suna khfarama kureeba nt^haangilo [st.] ‘it is preferred to suggest to stop loud singing’

sh-taango (s-)

n. 7/8 a collection; a co-operative effort in raising funds

kh-taangula	v. tr. [Sw. tangua SSED 452] (tangiile) nullify, revoke (This word not used by GM.) kh̄tangula (w)uūdu ‘to nullify one’s ablutions’ rel. kh-taanguka v. intr. kh̄kuunt^h ana na muke soomu hūtaanguka [st.] ‘to lie with a woman [renders] fasting invalid’ kh-tangulisha v. tr. caus. Biint^h o/ m̄tangulishize Sarmadi/ ruuhuye/ uūdu. ‘Biinto caused Sarmadi to lose his ritual purity.’ kh-taanguza v. tr. caus. (tangiize) Luulu/ nt^h angize uūdu. ‘Luulu made me lose uūdu (by touching my uncovered skin with her bare hands).’
sh-taangulo	n. 7 nullification, revocation
-taano	adj. [Sw. tano SSED 453] five ikumi na nt^haano ‘fifteen’ khfanya wātaano/ ðidi ya mooyi ‘to masturbate [lit. to make five (fingers) against one (penis)]’ Muundrawa/ unayo miti mītaano/ tu. ‘My farm has only five trees.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is mkono/ ma zaala ‘a hand/ and fingers’.) ni nt^haano/ nguzo ziitu/ za is̄laamu [st.] ‘they are five, our pillars of Islam’ Numbaani/ mdirshile waawaye/ bariziile/ na waanawe/ wa taano. ‘In the house he found his father sitting with his five children.’ Qur’aani/ mara/ huhada watatu/ mara/ huhada wātaano/ mara/ huhadaa saba/ na mba waawó. ‘The Quran says at times three, says at times five, and at times says seven, and their dog.’ skapu staano ‘five baskets’ Sku nt^haano/ spisile jis’iyo. ‘Five days passed that way.’ sku ya taano ‘the fifth day’ Vaala/ shpete ichi/ muda wa sku nt^haano. ‘Wear this ring for a period of five days.’ wanafunzi wātaano ‘five students’
taano	n. food given to poor people on the fifth day after someone has died
l-taanta (n-)	n. 11/10 [no etymological source known] edge; [pron. l̄taant^ha ‘edge’ and nt^haant^ha ‘edges’] defintiion to be checked l̄tant^ha laa chili ‘the edge of the bed’
n-tanu	n. 9/10 [cf. Sw. verb chana "to slit" and kichane "a small splinter" SSED 49] splinter; [pron. nt^hanu] rel. i-tanu (mi-) n. 5/4 aug. sh-tanu (s-) n. 7/8 dim.
kh-tanula	v. [cf. the Sw. verb chanua "(1) tease, comb out; (2) put out leaves (of plants generally)" SSED 49, which is perhaps a cognate] (taniile) review the gloss of this item rel. kh-tanulat̄anula v. freq. kh̄tanulat̄anula kooði ‘to squeeze words and then deduce different senses’
kh-taanyika	v. [variant form of -tawanyika] kh̄tanyika maazi ‘to bleed’ kumtanyika maatozi/ kamaa nvula ‘for tears to pour from him like rain’ Zinamtanyika huuri/ kana muunt^hu/ naakufó. ‘He is sweating like someone dying.’

Tanzaanya

n. Tanzania

Ra’iisi/ wa Tanzaanya/ mwaalimu/ Nyereere/ wa’ambiile/ wanaa nt^hi/ wa Tanzaanya/ ya kuwa...taqaddumu/ yaa nt^hi/ na mawakoyé/ ni amri/ mbili/ hulazimo wanaa nt^hi/ wote. ‘The president of Tanzania, Mwaalimu Nyerere, told the people of Tanzania that the progress of the country and its development are two matters that all the people are obligated (to undertake).’

l-taanzi (n-)

n. 11/10 [Sw. utanzu SSED 509] branch; [pl. pron. nt^haanzi]

Khariibu/ ya tawala/ uwaliko muti/ mooyi/ nt^haanzize/ schilelo ilu ya maayi.

‘Near the sea there was a tree whose branches hung over the water.’
(Ordinarily, the final vowel of a word like uwaliko would be lengthened in front of a phrase-final word with two short syllables like muti. But in this example no such lengthening occurs. The absence of lengthening is due to the fact that emphasis has been put on muti. The emphasis on muti can be inferred from the fact that it is separated phrasally from the following modifier mooyi, but in actual speech it is clearly shown by the raised pitch on muti. In this book it is not our practice to show the relative pitch levels of the accented words.)

Ltanzi ilije/ nii lile. ‘That branch is long.’ (Cf. Nt^hanzi izije/nii ndre.

‘Those branches are long.’)

Ltanzi ilije/ nlaake. ‘That branch is its.’ (Cf. Nt^hanzi izije/ nzaake. ‘Those branches are its.’) ltanzi lmooyi ‘one branch’

nt^hanzi mbili ‘two branches’

rel.

i-taanzi (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.

sh-taanzi (s-) n. 7/8 dim.

kh-tapa

v. [cf. Sw. tapa "(1) shiver, tremble, shudder, jump about convulsively, because of cold, fear, also as a man does struggling in the water in danger of being drowned; (2) be startled; (3) prevaricate, change one’s story, etc., because of fear or because of being confused, etc." SSED 454] (tapiile) toss around; move about out of nervousness or pain; go around looking for favor and trying to exploit connections one has kh_htapa/ kana mwaank^huku ‘to move like a chick’

Nakh_htapa/ kana mwaank^huku. ‘He is moving around like a chick (e.g. of someone who is unable to stay in one place, moving around either from pain or nervousness etc.)’ kh_htapa/ kanaa mbuzi/ tiinzilá ‘to writhe like a goat that has been slaughtered’

kh_htapa/ kanaa noka ‘to writhe in pain – lit. to move about like a snake’ kh_htapa/ kana ruuhu/ inamkuukó ‘to writhe like the soul is coming out of one – i.e. like one is dying’

Nakh_htapa/ kana ruuhu/ inamkuukó. ‘He is writhing in pain like he is dying.’

Omari/ nakhtapa/ kana bateera/ yimo mayiini. ‘Omari is moving about like a boat in the water.’

rel.

kh-tapaatapa v. freq. (tapiletapiile)

kh-tapila v. appl.

kh_htapila ruuhu ‘to struggle to live, stay alive’

kh-tapisha v. caus. move (e.g. of an animal moving its tail) kh_htapisha milomo ‘to move the lips, as of a child opening and closing his lips rapidly to indicate he wants food’

Mbwa/ nakhtapisha. ‘The dog is wagging its tail.’

kh-taqabaða

v. [Sw. takabadhi SSED 163; Ar. qabad?a "to grasp, receive, collect" W 738] (taqabaðiile) receive something by hand; [pron. -taqabaða or -takhabaða]

	Nt^h akhabaðilee peesá/ ka Hamadí. ‘I received the money from Hamadi (by hand).’ rel.
	kh-taqabaðila v. appl. receive something for someone
	kh-taqabaðisha v. caus. (taqabaðishiize) give something to someone directly by hand Hamadi/ nt^h aqabaðishize peesa. ‘Hamadi handed over the money to me.’
	Nuuru/ taqabaðishize madrasa/ peesa. ‘Nuuru gave the school money.’
	Uyu/ malizopo kumtakhabaðisha maskiini/ eeloyé... ‘When this one handed over to the poor man his gazelle...’
	kh-taqabaðishan(y)a v. caus. rec. give one another something Ali/ na Nuuru/ wataqabaðishenye peesa. ‘Ali and Nuuru handed over money to one another.’ (Note that this reciprocal verb does not permit what we refer to as "reciprocal shift": * Ali/ taqabaðishenye na Nuuru/ peesa.)
	kh-taqabaðishika v. caus. p/s.
	kh-taqabaðishiliza v. caus. appl. hand over something to someone for someone Nt^h aqabaðisilize mwaana/ peesa. ‘He handed money over to the child for me.’
	kh-taqabaðishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
	kh-taqabaðishoowa v. caus. pass.
	Madrasa/ itaqabaðishiza peesa/ na Nuuru. ‘The school was given money by Nuuru.’
	Sarkaali/ itaqabaðishiza peesa/ na Nuuru. ‘The government was given money by Nuuru.’ (The recipient can be the subject of the passive verb, not the logical object: * Peesa/ sataqabadhishiza sarkaali/ na Nuuru. ‘Money was given to the government by Nuuru.’)
	rel. nom.
	m-taqabadhi n. 1/2 one who receives
	m-taqabadho n. 3
	u-taqabadhisho n. 14
	u-taqabadho n. 14
kh-taqadama ahead, progress	v. [Sw. takadmu SSED 164; Ar. qadama W 747] (taqadamiile) precede, be or go variant form: khataqaduma (taqadumiile) rel. kh-taq(a)damishiliza v. caus. appl. set aside for the future
	Ba’adi/ ya miyaaka/ ayo/ yatakuuya/ miyaaka/ yaa dhibu/ yatakuja zaa ni/ ntaqdishiliizó/ miyaka ayó/ sho kuwa habamó/ yaa ni/ ntakistiro. ‘After these years will come years of difficulty; they will eat (i.e. during these years will be eaten) what you (pl.) have kept aside for those years except for a little that you (pl.) will save.’
	kh-taqadumisha v. caus. send someone ahead, in advance
u-taqadamu	n. 14 progress
taqadumu	n. development Yiko takhadumu/ niingi. ‘There is a lot of development.’
taqaaliidi takhaaliidi	n. 10 [Ar. taqaalid , plural of taqaalid W786] traditions; [pron. taqaaliidi or
taqdiimu	n. 9 an advance, something given in advance; [pron. taqdiimu or takhdiimu] Tomele peesa/ taqdiimu. ‘He paid the money in advance.’
taqiiyi (Ø, ma-)	adj. pious, devout; [pron. taqiiyi or takhiiyi] Mi/ ni takhiiyi. ‘I am a devout believer.’ Omari/ ni taqiiyi. ‘Omari is of great faith and has great fear of God and does believe and practice all that God says.’ rel.

atqiya adj. pl. poetic [Ar. atqiyā, from taqīy W 95] God-fearing, pious taqliidi n. 9 [Ar. taqlīd “imitation, uncritical faith” W786 (W says that only the plural form in Arabic means “traditions”)] tradition; [pron. taqliidi or takhlīidi] taqsiiri n. 9 [Sw. taksiri “fault, defect, offence, deficit, crime” SSED 447; Ar. taqsīr “inadequacy, slackness, fault” W 768] improper or unbecoming behavior; [pron. taqsiiri or takhsiiri] khfanya taqsiiri ‘to behavior improperly’ taqwa n. [Ar. taqwā “piety” and verb taqā “to fear God” W 95] piety; fear of God; [pron. taqwa or takhwa] Janna/ hupatowa ka taqwa/ ya mojiitu. ‘Paradise is found by extreme fear of and obedience to God.’

khfanya taqwa ‘to devote oneself to prayers and other religious activities’ mwenye taqwa ‘someone pious, devout’ na qabri ni miinza dadalataani/ ka taqwa ya mooja ndiyo liwaani [st.] ‘and the grave is darkness, do your best by obeying the prescriptions of God, it is he who brings success’

taqwiimu n. 9/10 [Ar. taqwīm W 801] calendar; [pron. taqwiimu or takhwiimu] tarafu n. 9/10 [Sw. tarafu “a district, parish; part, business, duty, work, task” SSED 454 M&N cite tarafi “side, part” 2319; Ar. taraf W 558] edge, side; (tarafu ya or tarafu za) about, concerning Basi/ naayo/ humaliza ka apo/ tarafu ya Astaghafiru. ‘So, now this discussion about Astaghafiru is finished.’

chijana chaa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the dim. child that he spoke about him’;

zijana zaa ye/ kōdele ka tarafu yaawó ‘the dim. children that he spoke about them’ (Notice that because zijaana is a noun with human reference, one says ka tarafu yaawo rather than ka tarafuye, as one would do with a noun human – see a number of the examples below.)

chilavi chaa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the fish trap that he spoke about it’; zilavi zaa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the fish traps that he spoke about them’

Hamiisi/ hupeenda/ khsooma/ ka tarafuye/ Faatima/ hupeenda/ kaandika.

‘Hamiisi likes to read; on her part, Faatima likes to write.’

Hamiisi/ husooma/ niingi/ ka tarafu yingine/ Faatima/ hupeenda/ kaandika.

‘Hamiisi likes to read, on the other hand, Faatima likes to write.’

izuliya yaa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the rug that he spoke about it’; mazuliya yaa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the rugs that he spoke about them’

Ka khisani/ si/ umriwiitu/ hashkasi/ tarafu ya mataajiri/ kendra habaasa. ‘Why do we never hear about any rich people going to jail?’ The accent needs looking into., note tarafu phrase outside final accent scope, but infinitive has final accent... construction yields final accent for infinitive?

khaasa/ tarafu yaa wake ‘especially concerning women’ ltaki laa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the bracelet that he spoke about it’; nṭhaki zaa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the bracelets that he spoke about them’

Mi/ hupeenda/ khkasa yaa we/ na’iwó/ tarafu ya jawabu izi. ‘I would like to hear what you know about these matters.’

Mi/ nḳḥasiizé/ tarafu ya Umi/ nṭḥasa yaa mi/ kudirkamana naaye/ dukaani. ‘I had heard of Umi before I met her at the shop.’

Mi/ nḳḥasiizé/ tarafu ya Umi/ nṭḥasa yaa yé/ kanza khfanya kaazi/ dukaani. ‘I had heard of Umi before she started to work at the shop.’

Mi/ nḳḥọdele tarafu ya Omari. ‘I talked about Omari.’ Or: Omari/ ikọdele tarafuye. ‘Omari was talked about him.’

ṃṭana waa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the room which he spoke about it’; miṭana waa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the rooms that he spoke about them’

ṃuṇe waa ye/ kōdele ka tarafuyé ‘the younger brother whom he spoke about him’; ṃuṇaze waa ye/ kōdele ka tarafu yaawó ‘the younger brothers whom he spoke about them’

Na’iwani/ we/ hattá/ khkoða tarafu ya mwajiitu. ‘What do you know about talking concerning God?’
Nakhkoða na Nuuru/ tarafu ya kaazi. ‘I am speaking with Nuuru about work.’ Or with verb emphasis: Nakhkoða/ na Nuuru/ tarafu ya kaazi. (In this example, the emphasis on the verb bars the projection of final accent past the verb.) Or with focus on Nuuru: Nakhkoða na Nuuru/ tarafu ya kaazi. (In this example, focus on Nuuru prevents the projection of final accent past Nuuru.)
Nnakhkoða tarafu ya kaazi. ‘I am speaking about work.’ Or: Nakhkoða/ tarafu ya kaazi. ‘I am speaking about work.’ Cf. the third person subject forms with default accent: Nakhkoða tarafu ya kaazi. ‘He is speaking about work.’ Or with verb emphasis: Nakhkoða/ tarafu ya kaazi. (The preposition tarafu apparently cannot be focused: Nnakhkoða tarafu ya kaazi. ‘I am speaking about work.’ Phrasal separation of tarafu does seem possible when it is not being focused: Nnakhkoða/ tarafu/ ya kaazi. ‘I am speaking about work.’)
Nnakhkoða tarafu ya kaazi/ na Nuuru. ‘I am speaking about work with Nuuru.’ (It is not clear whether it is possible to have this word order without focus on the IAV phrase.)
Nile ka tarafu ya Ali. ‘I came on behalf of Ali.’
numba yaa ye/ koðele ka tarafuyé ‘the house that he spoke about it’; numba zaa ye/ koðele ka tarafuyé ‘the houses that he spoke about them’
Omari/ chiwa/ kuwa Haliima/ koðele wanaafakhi/ tarafu ya mahala yaa ye/ waalikó. ‘Omari was aware that Haliima had lied about where she was.’
Shkoðeelé/ mi/ na Ali/ tarafu ya Safiya. ‘We spoke, me and Ali, about Safiya.’
Si/ chilaniilé/ tarafu ya peesa. ‘We quarreled about money.’ Cf. Peesa/ tarafuye/ ilaniila. ‘Money, about it, there was quarreling.’
Tarafu ya kaazi/ nakhkoðó. ‘About work I am speaking.’
tarafu ya peesa/ zaa mi/ khupeeló ‘about the money that I gave to you’
Yaa mi/ nakujaribo khaanya/ ni kiwisha waanthu/ zaaydi/ tarafu ya khatari. ‘What I’m trying to do is increase awareness of the danger.’
Ye/ ha’isi chiint^h/ tarafu ya numba iyi/ walá/ ya mui uyú. ‘He does not know anything about this house nor this town.’
Ye/ koðele ka tarafu za jaama’a. ‘He spoke about the university.’
Zahara/ nakhkoða/ tarafu ya mgeeni. ‘Zahara is talking about the stranger.’

i-taraja (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. daraja SSED 70; Ar. daraja "step, stairs" W 277] a step of a ladder; pl. stairs Mwaambile/ kuwaa we/ hukhaadiri/ khpandra mataraja. ‘Tell him that you cannot climb the stairs.’
Laakini/ Abunawaasi/ muliize/ chulungu cha piili/ na matarajayé/ mpanyilize ka ndilaani. ‘But Abunawaasi sold to him (only) the second story (of the house) and he made for him stairs (that go up to the second story only) from the outside.’

rel.

l-taraja (mi-) n. aug. 11/4

kh-taraja

v. [Sw. taraji SSED 454; Ar. rajā W 330] (tarajiile) hope, look forward to Imtihani ya Mawlaana/ tarajilo mwaaná/ khpitá/ iwalikoo dibu. ‘The examination that Mawlaana hoped for the child to pass was difficult.’
Kuwa Jaama/ takuuya/ nakhtarajá. ‘That Jaama will come I hope.’
Nakhtaraja keendrá. ‘I hope to go.’ (The first person subject prefix is usually absent in the speech of GM in front of the present tense TAM na; it was optional in this position for MI.)
Nakhtaraja kendra ka himá. ‘I hope to go quickly.’
Nakhtaraja kendra keeshó. ‘I hope to go tomorrow.’ Or: Keesho/ nakhtaraja keendrá. ‘Tomorrow I hope to go.’
Nakhtarajá/ kuwa Jaama/ takuuya. ‘I hope that Jaama will come.’ (In this example there is focus on the main verb, hence the final accent that the verb triggers does not go past the verb due to what we call the Accentual Law of Focus.)

Nimtarajile Nuurú/ kuleta chaakujá. ‘I hoped for Nuuru to bring food.’ (This sentence, where the subject of the lower complement clause is raised to become the object of the main verb, is ungrammatical.)

Nnakhtaraja Jaamá/ kuuyá. ‘I hope Jaama comes.’

Nnakhtaraja khpola kahimá. ‘I hope to get well soon.’

Nnakhtaraja kuwa Nureeni/ tamwandikila Hasani/ khatí. ‘I hope that Nureeni will write a letter to Hasani.’ (Observe that the final accent triggered by the verb nnakhtaraja extends to the end of the complement clause. The verb tamwaandikila is, like all future tense verbal forms, a trigger of default accent, but the final accent triggered by the main verb over-rides the default accent. If, however, focus is placed on the main verb, then the Accentual Law of Focus bars the extension of the final accent to the complement and the default accent in the complement re-emerges: Nnakhtarajá/ kuwa Nureeni/ tamwandikila Hasani/ khatí. When the main verb is a default-accent trigger, then default accent obtains in the complement regardless of whether the main verb is focused or not: Wo/ wanakhtaraja kuwa Nureeni/ tamwandikila Hasani/ khatí. ‘They hoped that Nureeni will write a letter to Hasani.’ And with focus on the main verb: Wo/ wanakhtaraja/ kuwa Nureeni/ tamwandikila Hasani/ khatí. The only difference between the preceding two sentences is intonational; the default accent pattern in all the phrases remains the same.)

Nnakhtaraja kuwa Jaamá/ ntʰakeendrá. ‘I hope that Jaama did not go.’

Nnakhtaraja kuwa Jaamá/ oloshelé. ‘I hope that Jaama went.’

Nnakhtaraja kuwa Jaamá/ uko apá. ‘I hope that Jaama is here.’

Nnakhtaraja kuwaa ye/ hatakeendrá. ‘I hope that he will not go.’

Nnakhtaraja kuwaa ye/ takeendrá. ‘I hope that he will go.’ (Note that the first person main verb requires final accent. This final accent appears at the end of each of the phonological phrases that make up the verb phrase that it heads. The complement verb, takeendra, would be pronounced with default penult accent were it used as a verb in isolation. But here it has final accent due to falling with the scope of the main verb’s final accent.)

Nnakhtaraja kuwaa ye/ takeendrá. ‘I hope that he will go.’ (Notice that although takeendra in isolation would have the default accent on the second syllable from the end, since all future tense verb forms have this accentual shape, here there is final accent. This is because the complement is within the accentual scope of the main verb, which is one that requires final accent.)

Nnakhtaraja maaná/ khpita imtihaaní. ‘I hope that the child passes the examination.’

Nnakhtaraja napole kahimá. ‘I hope that he gets well soon.’

Nnakhtarajaa ntʰo/ kuwa Jaama/ takuuya. ‘I hope very much that Jaama will come.’

Nnakhtaraja Nuurú/ khpola kahimá. ‘I hope Nuuru gets well soon.’

Ntha’ikuwaaliko/ naami/ waaðehe/ ntʰo/ yaa ye/ tarajilo khpata. ‘It wasn’t clear to me precisely what he hoped to find.’

Si/ shtarajile kendra Mkhodiishó. ‘We hoped to go to Mogadishu.’ (Cf. Wo/ watarajile kendra Mkhodiisho. ‘We hoped to go to Mkhodiisho.’)

Si/ shtarajile (kuwa) Nuurú/ takendra Mkhodiishó. ‘We hoped that Nuuru would go to Mogadishu.’ (It is possible for the subject of the complement clause to precede the complementizer kuwa: Shtarajile Nuurú/ kuwa takendra Mkhodiishó. ‘We hoped that Nuuru would go to Mogadishu.’)

Si/ shtarajile Nuurú/ kendra Mkhodiishó. ‘We hoped for Nuuru to go to Mogadishu.’ (It is not possible for the complementizer kuwa to be used to introduce the complement: Shtarajile kuwa Nuurú/ kendra Mkhodiisho. It is also not possible for the subject of the infinitive, Nuuru, to be represented by an object prefix on the main verb: Chimtarajile Nuurú/ kendra Mkhodiishó.)

Si/ shtarajile Nureeni/ chiza keendrá. ‘We hoped that Nureeni would not go.’ Cf. Wo/ watarajile Nureeni/ chiza keendra. ‘They hoped that Nureeni would not go.’ (If the final-accent triggering main verb is focused, then final accent is not extended to the complement: Si/ shtarajilé/ Nureeni/ chiza keendra.)

Si/ shtarajilee nvulá/ itakunya na mapeemá. ‘We hope that the rain will fall early.’ (Notice how the final accent triggered by the second person main verb extends across the verb phrase. If the main verb is third person, then this final accent does not appear: Wo/ watarajilee nvula/ itakunya na mapeema. ‘They hope that the rain will fall early.’)

Si/ shtarajilee nvulá/ kunya na mapeemá. ‘We hope(d) for the rain to fall early.’ (Cf. the shift to penult accent when the main verb is third person: Wo/ watarajilee nvula/ kunya na mapeema. ‘They hope(d) for the rain to fall early.’) uwe maambo nakhtaraja [song] ‘that you be living with hope for things to happen’

rel.

kh-tajarila v. appl.

Namtarajila Hamadi/ kunajih/ nt^{ho}. ‘I wish Hamadi great success.’

kh-tarajoowa v. pass.

Itarajilaa nvula/ kunya na mapeema. ‘It was hope for the rain to fall early.’

Nakhtarajowa kuuya. ‘[Lit.] he is hoped to come -- i.e. it is hoped that he will come.’

Nureeni/ keendrake/ Mkhodiisho/ itarajiila. ‘For Nureeni to go to Mogadishu was hoped for.’ (Syn. MI rejected the raising of the subject of the complement clause to become the subject of the passive verb: *Nureeni/ tarajila keendrake/ Mkhodiisho. ‘Nureeni was hoped to be going to Mogadishu.’)

kh-taraka’a v. pray stooping tarawehe n. 9 [Sw. “a long prayer said at Isha, the Muhammadan hour of prayer after sunset, during the month of Ramadhan” SSED 455; Ar. ṣalāt at-tarāwīḥ "prayer performed during the nights of Ramadhan" W 365] non-obligatory (but recommended) evening prayers during Ramadhan; the last meal eaten before dawn during Ramadhan chakuja cha tarawehe ‘food eaten before dawn during the fasting period’ Matezo/ ya karata/ ramaḏaani/ masku/ huṭezoowa/ kubashilizowa wakhti/ haṭá/ ishkoma tarawehe. ‘Cards are played at night during Ramadhan to pass the time until tarawehe (and the last meal before dawn) arrives.’

tarbaale n. [Som. darbaal “canvas”; Sw. turubali SSED 482] canvas, tarpaulin

Omari/ nakhfinka gaari/ tarbaale. ‘Omari covered the truck with a tarp.’ (Note that the verb -finika ‘cover’ permits two bare NP’s as complements. A preposition is not required to precede tarbaale in this sentence.)

tarbuushi (Ø, ma-) n. 9/10,6 [Som. tarbuush “fez”; Ar. ṭarbūs W 555] tarboosh, fez (Morroccan type of hat)

rel.

i-tarbuushi (mi-) n. 5/4

tarfaanyo n. no etymological source known in the expression:

khtila tarfaanyo ‘to trip someone’

Omari/ mtile Ali/ tarfaanyo/ mtulushiize. ‘Omari tripped Ali and made him fall down.’

targeeta (Ø, ma-) n. 9/10,6 [Ital. traghetto] ferry taari n. musical instrument, similar to a tambourine, used originally as an accompaniment to recitations in the mosque kubiga taari ‘to play the taari; to have sexual intercourse’ kubigowa taari ‘for taari to be played’

Leelo/ yiko ziyaara/ ka Dada Maasiti/ inakubigowa taari.

‘Today there is religious festivities at daada Maasita, it is being played taari.’

taarifa n. manifest, list, description, declaration (of contents), explanation

Zombo izi/ yikoyi/ taariifaye. ‘Where is the manifest for these goods?’ Or: Yikoyi/ taariifaye/ zombo izi. Or instead of yikoyi, it may be yikopi.

taariikhi n. 9/10 [Sw. tarehe SSED 455; Ar. ta’rīk W 12] history; date iyi ni taariikhi sho kuliwaloowa [nt.] ‘this is a [piece of] history that will not be forgotten'

karka taariikhi 'in history'

kulata taariikhi '[lit.] to leave behind history -- i.e. to set a record'

Muunt^hu/ suura/ kulata tariikhi/ suura/ duniyaani. 'It is good for one to set a good record in the world (i.e. to do good things and leave behind a history of such deeds).'

kuweka taariikhi 'to make history, set a record'

Omari/ hadiile/ mi/ sharti/ kuweka taariikhi/ kumwakila Shekh Nureeni/ chisima. 'Omari said: I must make history (i.e. do something that will be remembered) by making a well for Shekh Nuureeni.' (Our consultant GM regularly elides the w in a sequence mw both when the mw is morpheme internal and also when in separate morphemes. It was striking that he retained the mw in this sequence both times that he pronounced it.)

Muuyi/ wa Miini/ unaayo/ taariikhi/ nk^hulu. 'The city of Miini has a long [lit. large, great] history.'

Omari/ tariikhi gani/ nakuuyó. 'When [lit. which date] is Omari coming?'

Taariikhi/ ha'ibahi. 'History does not get lost.' (A proverb with a number of variants: Taariikhi/ ha'iliwaloowi. 'History is not forgotten.'

Taariikhi/ ha'ipiindriki. 'History cannot be denied.' Taariikhi/ hukumbukoowa. 'History is remembered.') tariikhi ya kahima or taariikhi/ (ya) kahima 'early, earliest [lit. quick] date'

Omari/ ile taariikhi/ kahima. 'Omari came at an earlier date.'

taariikhi/ khiyaasi 'estimated, approximate date'

Omari/ takuuya/ taariikhi/ khiyaasi/ mweezi/ ishiriini. 'Omari will come on approximately the twentieth of the month.'

tariikhi yaa mbele 'earlier, earliest date'

Omari/ ile tariikhi yaa mbele. 'Omari came at an earlier date.'

taariikhi/ (ya) miisho 'the last, latest date' taariikhi/ ya muuyi/ wa Mwiini 'the history of the city of Brava' taariikhi/ (ya) rasmi 'official, correct date' tariikhi yaa saha 'the exact date' tariikhi yaa wo/ wawasililo Mwiini 'the date of their arrival in Brava' taariikhiye 'its date'

We/ nakhsulaayi/ waant^hu/ keesho/ mukhtaa wo/ watakhsoomó/taariikhiyo/ nakhsula inaweeyi/ we/ taariikhiyo/ kuwa ni

muunt^hu/ waliko mwenye adli/ liini/ chilawanganyo bena taajiri/ na maskiini/ ow/ lamna yingine. 'How do you want people tomorrow, when they read about your history, how do you want it to be, that you were a person who was just, who never differentiated between rich and poor, or something else.'

taariku/ salaati

[fixed expression from Ar., based on the verb taraka "omit, leave, neglect" W 93] one who does not say prayers, =sho khsala mtume hadiilo taariku salaati/ adaabuye haanza karka wafaati [st.] 'the prophet said that the one who does not pray, his punishment starts during the time of death'

tariiqā (Ø, ma-)

n. 9/10,6 [Ar. tariqa "religious brotherhood" W 559] Islamic religious brotherhood [pron. tariiqā or tariikha] muunt^hu rashiizo ka lila/ tariiqā yiitu na mila [st.] 'whoever follows with a true (heart) our brotherhood and (its) traditions'

tariiqi

n. 9/10 [Ar. tariq W 559] road; [pron. tariiqi or tariikhi] variant form: tariiqā

taarishi (ma-)

n. [Sw. tarishi SSED 455; cf. Som. taarash DSI 569] a messenger who goes on foot, carrying a message from one place to another distant place (in earlier days)

kh-tarjuma

v. [Ar. tarjama W 93] (tarjumiile) interpret, translate

Mi/ nt^harjumile khuṭba ya Hamadi/ ka chingereenza. ‘I translated Hamadi’s speech into English.’ (Phon. If there is focus on Hamadi, then the final accent does not extend to ka chingereenza: Mi/ nt^harjumile khuṭba ya Hamadi/ ka chingereenza. If there is focus on chingereenza, then the final accent does extend to chingereenza, but there is no downstepping of the final phrase. But need to check whether there is also the possibility of lack of accent shift on the focused ka-phrase.)

(Ni Omari/ tarjumilo khuṭba ya Hamadi/ ka chingereenza. ‘(It is) Omari (who) translated Hamadi’s speech into English.’)

Omari/ tarjumile khuṭba ya Hamadi. ‘Omari interpreted Hamadi’s speech (from one language into another).’

Omari/ tarjumile khuṭba ya Hamadi/ ka chingereenza. ‘Omari translated Hamadi’s speech into English.’ (Phon. In the simple yes-no question version, there is only Q-raising, no accent shift. The exclamatory yes-no question has accent shift in the VP: Omari/ tarjumile khuṭba ya Hamadi/ ka chingereenza!?)

rel.

kh-tarjumila v. appl. (tarjumiliile)

Omari/ mtarjumiliile Hamadi/ chingereenza. ‘Omari has translated something in English for Hamadi (i.e. translated it from English into some other language that Hamadi knows).’ (Phon. In the simple yes-no question version, there is no accent shift, just Q-raising. In the exclamatory yes-no question there is accent shift in the VP: Omari/ mtarjumiliile Hamadi/ chingereenza!?)

rel. nom.

u-tarjumo n. 14 the act of interpreting (from one language to another)

m-tarjumaani (wa-)

n. 1/2 translator

Yasili/ wele mtarjumaani. ‘Yasili had become a translator.’

i-tarma (ma-)

n. the curved planks of which the boat is built, that are set up vertically

tarmuusi

n. 9/10 [Eng. thermos] thermos, flask

ikono ya tarmuusi ‘handle of a thermos’

tarniiki

n. [Som. tarniig DSI 577] sheet of eternit (fibre cement), used to cover roofs

kh-tartara

v. [etymology unknown] (tartariile) ‘to proceed by fits and starts because of engine problems (subject: motor vehicle)’

n-tartaawu

n. a kind of fish; [pron. nt^hartaawu]

tarṭiibu

adj. [Sw. taratibu SSED 397; Ar. tartīb "order, arrangement, organization" W 325] quiet, slow, easygoing

Hinendro tarṭiibú/ haḷazoowi/ na miilu. ‘The one who walks slowly is not given pain by his legs.’ (A proverb.)

ka tarṭiibu [Sw. kwa tartibu “orderly, carefully” cited in M&N 2324] slowly, carefully; with a low voice

Fanya ka tarṭiibu. ‘Do it slowly!’

Inendra ka tarṭiibu. ‘Go slowly!’

Ja ka tarṭiibu. ‘Eat slowly!’

ka tarṭiibu/ kana igombegoombe ‘slow like a tortoise’

Ka tarṭiibu/ kilaa chiint^hu/ hupatikana. ‘Slowly everything is achievable.’

Ka tarṭiibu/ ye/ chiineendra/ chiineendra/ haṭá/ shkoma muyi wa sulṭaani. ‘Slowly he walked and walked until he reached the sultan’s town.’

kendra ka tarṭiibu ‘to go, walk slowly’ munt^hu tarṭiibu ‘a very quiet and composed person’

Mwaana/ chiwa’ambila/ waant^hu/ awo/ khṭukula sanduukhu/ ka tarṭiibu.

- ‘The boy told those people to carry the box carefully.’
Nakhsooma/ nakhsooma/ ka t̥artiibu/ basi/ basi/ ayo majini/ wachiwa kanna maashe/ nt̥awamwona/ ba. ‘He was reading and reading in a low voice so, so those jinns became like blind people, they did not see him at all.’
- Wachiwona/ kuwa ni af̥ali/ wo/ mbele/ kutuma mooyi/ kati kaawo/ keendra/ kaṭartiibu/ khariibu/ ya siimba/ kumlangala/ kamaa ye/ nakasha maato. ‘They saw that it was better for them to send ahead one among them to go slowly near the lion to see if he was awake.’
- Wakomeelopó/ waziiri/ chibiga mlaango/ ka t̥artiibu. ‘When they reached (the place), the minister knocked on the door slowly.’
ka t̥artiibuyo ‘at your own pace’ Jawabu iyo/ Hamadi/ faanya/ ka t̥artiibuyo/ sibigbaté. ‘That matter, Hamadi, do it at your own pace, don’t rush!’
t̥artiibu/ kana igarnyuungu ‘as slow as a tortoise’
t̥artiibu/ kana ijungujuungu ‘as slow as a tortoise’
We/ laazimu/ khfahama/ kuwa waant̥u/ ba’adiye/ ni t̥artiibu/ kolko wiingine. ‘They must understand that some people are slower than others.’
- rel.
t̥artibuṭart̥iibu adv. slowly, gently
Basi/ isa/ mwaanawá/ mi/ nt̥akuuluka/ naawé/ ilu/ nt̥o/ chimaliza/ nt̥akishkila/ t̥artibuṭart̥iibu/ hatá/ we/ chi’uwona/ oyo/ muuyi. ‘Now, my son, I will fly with you very high and then I will descend slowly until you see that town.’
ka t̥artibuṭart̥iibu ‘very slowly, gently’ Chimbiga Abunawaasi/ laakini/ ka t̥artibuṭart̥iibu. ‘He beat Abunawaasi, but very gently.’
Fanya kazi iyi/ ka t̥artibuṭart̥iibu. ‘Do this work very slowly.’
u-t̥art̥iibu n. the act of doing something slowly
- i-taasa (mi-) n. 5/4 [Sw. kitasa SSED 209] a kind of door lock
rel.
sh-taasa (s-) n. 7/8 dim.
- sh-taasa (s-) n. 7/8 [cf. Sw. tasa “a small metal vessel, cup, jug, mug, basin, saucer, i.e. spittoon, vessel for washing hands before and after meals” SSED 455] a small copper tray; pl. form, ṣtaasa, is used to refer to a large, round, copper musical instrument, somehow similar to cymbals, that is used at weddings kubiga ṣtaasa ‘to play the ṣtaasa’
- kh-tasaahula v. [cf. Ar. tasāhul “indulgence, leniency” W 437] (tasahuliile) be lenient
- tasaahuli n. 9 [Ar. tasāhul “indulgence, leniency” W 437] leniency khfanya t̥asaahuli ‘to be lenient’
- kh-tasarufa v. [cf. Ar. taṣarruf “disposal, administration” W 513, from verb ṣarafa W 512] discharge duties, make decisions Naminilaa mi/ makhazina/ zaa nt̥i/ iyi/ mi/ ni muunt̥ú/ na’iwo kudhoorá/ na na’iwo khtasarufá. ‘Trust to me, the treasurer of this land, I am a man who knows how to protect and how to make the right decisions.’
Yuusufu/ shfanyoowa/ waziiri/ wa maali/ na chiwa/ ndiyé/ nakhtasarufó/ maali/ yaa nt̥i. ‘Joseph was made minister of finances and it became that he was the one who discharged the affairs of finance of this country.’
- kh-tasawara v. [Sw. tasawari “to be fully able to, be competent” SSED 455; Ar. ṣuwwira W 529] (-tasawariile) be possible, probable; seem; assume Huṭasawara kuwa Abasome/ ṭakhsafira ka ariplaano. ‘It is possible that Abasome will travel by airplane.’ Or: Huṭasawara Abasome/ kuwa ṭakhsafira ka ariplaano.

Huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamadi/ uzile gaari. ‘It is possible/ seems that Hamadi bought a car.’ Or: Hamadi/ huṭasawara/ kuwa uzile gaari. Or: Gaari/ huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamadi/ uzile.

Huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamadi/ waliko festaani. ‘It is possible that Hamadi has been at the party.’

Huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamadi/ wapele waana/ peesa. ‘It is possible/ seems that Hamadi gave the children money.’ Or: Huṭasawara/ Hamadi/ kuwa wapele waana/ peesa. Or: Hamadi/ huṭasawara/ kuwa wapele peesa/ waana. Or: Huṭasawara/ kuwa waana/ Hamadi/ wapele peesa. Or: Huṭasawara/ waana/ kuwa Hamadi/ wapele peesa. Or: Waana/ huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamadi/ wapele peesa. Or: Peesa/ huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamadi/ wapele waana.

Huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamiisi/ takuḷaṭa/ khsooma. ‘It is probable that Hamiisi will drop out (lit. quit studying).’

Huṭasawara/ kuwa Hamiisi/ tinzile go’aani/ kuḷaṭa masoomo. ‘It is possible that Hamiisi has decided to drop out from school (lit. studies).’

Huṭasawara/ si/ kumwendrela bilaa peesa. ‘Is it possible (and nice) for us to go to him without any money (to be given to him)?’

Ka isa/ huṭasawara/ si/ jawabu iyo/ khadara khfaanya. ‘As of now, it is possible that we can make that thing’

Khpikiḷowa Hamadi/ ha’iṭasawari. ‘Hamadi to be cooked for is not possible.’
kuja haraamu ṭaa’a hayṭasawari [st.] ‘to eat unlawful things [means that] obedience [to the tenets of Islam] is not possible’

Kuwa Abasome/ takhsafira ka ariplaano/ huṭasawara. ‘That Abasome will travel by airplane is possible.’ Or: Abasome/ kuwa takhsafira ka ariplaano/ huṭasawara.

Mi/ ska’amine/ kuwaa yo/ huṭasawara. ‘I wouldn’t have believed it possible.’

Nusu/ sa'a/ ba'adiye/ iwele waaðehe/ ka kuwa ðambi/ huṭasawara/ kuwa yiingila.
 'Half an hour later it was clear that a crime had probably been committed.'
 Si/ khshiindra/ maṭezo/ ni kana/ ha'iṭasawari. 'Our winning the match seems unlikely.'
 Ye/ ṭasawarile kuwa kaazi/ ni sahali. 'He assumed that the work was easy.'

- ṭasbihi n. 9/10 [Sw. ṭasbihi SSED 45; Ar. ṭasbīh? "glorification of God" W 393; this same word is listed with the meaning "rosary" in the Oxford English-Arabic Dictionary, p. 339] rosary
- kh-ṭasha v. (variant of kh-ṭoṣha, but only in the sense: to think, believe)
- ṭas.hili adv. [Sw. ṭasihili = tas-hili M&N 2327; cf. Ar. sahl "easy, convenient, light" and ṭasḥīl "facilitation" W 437] with speed, quickly, easily Mfanyilize ṭas.hili/ napate kumaliza kaa hima. 'Make it easy for him so that he can finish quickly.'
- ṭashbihi n. [Sw. ṭashbiha, ṭashbihi M&N 2326; Ar. ṭasbīh W 454] comparison
- n-ṭasi n. 9/10 [Sw. ṭasi SSED 456] a kind of fish; [pron. nṭ^hasi]
- ṭashwiishi n. 9/10 [Sw. ṭashwiishi SSED 418; Ar. ṭaswīs "confusion, disturbance" W 493] worries; radio interference
- ṭasliimu n. [Sw. ṭaslimu SSED409; Ar. ṭaslīm "handing over, delivery" W 426] payment khṭomola ṭasliimu 'to pay in cash' Hamadi/ uzilee nguwo/ ka Sheekhi/ dukaani/ tomele peesa/ ṭasliimu. 'Hamadi bought cloth from Sheekhi's shop and paid the money in cash.'
- ṭaswiiri n. [Sw. ṭaswira "a picture, likeness, painting, portrait" SSED 412] painting ṭaswiiri ya chiunt^hu hayi haraamu [st.] 'the painting of something alive is forbidden'
- i-ṭata (ma-) n. 5/6 [no etymological source found] water blister iṭata yaa muḷo 'a blister caused by fire' na maṭata na fimbalbari khsalila [st.] 'and blisters and boils/ pimples, to pray with these (on your body is forbidden)'
- l-ṭata (n-) n. 11/10 (cf. ltaant^ha) the part of the leg of a bed that extends up above the bed; a side of a wooden rectangular frame; [pron. lṭata and pl. nṭ^hata]
- sh-ṭata (s-) n. 7/8 [no etymological source found] fried fat (which is crunchy and eaten)
Haliima/ nakhpika ṭata. 'Haliima is cooking ṭata.'
Huseeni/ nakuja ṭata. 'Huseeni is eating ṭata.'
- ṭaw interj. right now, immediately
Isa/ Hamadi/ ṭaw/ iyi/ na'endre skolaani. 'Now Hamadi, right now, must go to school.'
Isa/ mi/ nakhsuloo we/ kump^ha peesa/ ṭaw/ iyi. 'Now I want you to give me money right now.'
- sh-ṭawa (s-) n. 7/8 a clay frying pan
 rel.
i-ṭawa (mi-) n. 5/4 aug. large pan

x-tawa?a (cf. Ar. tawa??u = ritual ablution, Wehr p. 1076)

- tawaabu n. [Ar. tawwab “forgiving, said of God” W 99] a name of God: one who accepts repentance and forgives sho khsala ðambize bila hisaabu/ ya nafsi tooba mloombe ya tawaabu [st.]
‘the one who does not pray, his sins are countless; oh mortals, repent, pray to God (the one who accepts repentance and forgives)’
- kh-tawaða v. [Sw. tawada SSED 457; Ar.] take ritual ablutions before praying Ali/ shtalaa khati/ ka waziiri/ chimaliza cheendra/ shṭawaða/ khsala/ sala ya fijiri. ‘Ali took the letter from the minister and then went to take ritual ablutions to pray the morning prayer.’
Qabla yaa sala/ laazimu/ muunt^hu/ khṭawaða. ‘Before prayer, it is a must that a person take ablutions.’
- tawaafa n. paraffin lamp (In Brava, electricity was provided from 18.00 hours (sunset) until about 23.00 hours; however, in the last years before the civil war, even this reduced service was discontinued. People bought electric generators or used paraffin lamps.)
Mkaṭulo/ wa Aamina/ hukatuḷo tawaafá/ ni kana/ ṭala. ‘The polishing of Aamina that she polishes the lantern makes it bright, like a light.’
Sheekhi mwambile Ali/ habamooyi/ tawaafa/ ruuda/ fanya miinza/ maato/ yanakundraaza/ ka weelo. ‘Sheekhi told Ali lower the lantern little, I cannot see (lit. eyes are lacking me) because of (lack of) light.’
- kh-tawafa v. go around the ka’aba
Hamadi/ hadiile/ mojiitu/ hanubli/ bilaa khṭawafa ka’aba. ‘Hamadi said: God will not kill me (i.e. let me die) without having gone around the ka’aba.’
rel.
kh-tawafuwa v. pass.
Ká’aba/ ishṭawafuwa/ huṭawafuwa/ maraa saba. ‘When the ka’aba is gone around, it is gone around seven times.’
Ká’aba/ khṭawafuwa/ ni waajibu/ wakhti waa hijja/ na umrá. ‘For the ka’aba to be gone around is a must during haj and umra.’
- kh-tawakala v. [Sw. tawakali “put trust in, have confidence in, rely on; take courage, hope” SSED 523; Ar. wakala W 1096] (tawakaliile) take a chance in doing something, risk, chance something, dare Omari/ tawakaliile/ uzile gaari. ‘Omari took a chance and bought the car.’
Shtiinda/ khṭawakala kingila muyiini. ‘He decided to venture into town.’
Si/ shṭinzile amri/ khṭawakalá. ‘We decided to take a chance.’
Tawakala/ ulá/ gari iyi. ‘Take a chance, buy this car.’ Or: Tawakala/ gari iyi/ ulá.
- tawala n. [no etymological source found] sea (Note that this noun is never used in the locative form tawalaani*.)
Ifuungu/ imooyi/ mi/ ni’ilaṭile tawalá. ‘One share I threw into the sea.’
Jahazi/ yanzize kuyela maayi/ mayi yaa nvula/ na mayi ya tawalá. ‘The dhow began to fill up with water, rainwater and water from the sea.’
kuzama tawala ‘to drown, sink in the sea’
Ifuwo la tawala ‘shore of the sea’
Wiiko/ ilu ya Ifuwo la tawala ya Hiindri. ‘It is located on the shore of the Indian Ocean.’
Mafta/ yachilaṭilowa tawala. ‘The oil was thrown into the sea.’
mṭanga wa tawala ‘sand along the shore of the sea’ nsi za tawala ‘sea fish (as opposed to river fish)’ tawala/ khfuma for the sea to ebb, be at low tide
Tawala/ ichiyela/ hufuma. ‘If the sea is at high tide, it ebbs.’ (A proverb.)

Tawala/ ifumiile. ‘The sea is at low tide.’

tawala/ kuyela ‘for the sea to fill up, i.e. be at high tide’

Tawala/ iyeele. ‘The sea is at high tide.’

Tawale/ iyele maayi. ‘The sea is filled with water, i.e. is at high tide.’

Tawala/ ni kamba msala ‘Lit. the sea is like a prayer-mat -- said of perfectly calm sea on windless days’ tawalaa nkʰulu ‘a large sea’ wamo wafakeete ndraani ya tawala [nt.] ‘some fled deep into the sea’

kh-tawala

v. [Sw. tawala SSED 457; Ar. waliya W 1099] (tawaliile) take control, take over, be in power, govern, rule

Chiwaa mi/ nfiilé/ usultaani/ ndiwé/ takhtawaló. ‘If I die, the sultanship, it is you who will take it over.’

Hutawala nuumba/ na humeramera karka nuumba/ pashpo shtiisho. ‘[Rats, at night when humans are sleeping] rule the house, and go here and there in the house, without fear.’

khawala amri ‘to be the giver of orders’

Waawe/ fiilopó/ mi/ ntʰawalile amri. ‘When father died, I became the ruler.’

Liini/ shkhadiro khawala ruuhuyé. ‘He was not able to control himself’

Mgarwa/ shawala/ chiti/ cha sultaani. ‘The fisherman took over the throne of the sultan.’

Mpʰaka/ choondroka/ mpʰana/ hutawala. ‘If the cat leaves, the rat takes control.’ (A proverb.)

mwana wa sultaani/ tawaliilopó ‘when the child of the sultan became ruler’

Wana wawili/ wa rehemula sultaani/ wachimpeenda/ ntʰo/ mwaana/ uyu/ tawalilo usultaani. ‘The two children of the late sultan loved very much this child who had taken over the sultanship.’

Shtawala/ chiwa ndiyé/ mwenye muuyi/ uyu. ‘He took over the throne and it became that he was the one who owned this town.’

Sultaani/ wakeewe/ waanawe/ na ahliyé/ wotte/ wachifa/ na Abunawaasi/ shawala chiti cha sultaani. ‘The sultan, his wives, his children, and his relatives, all died, and Abunawaasi took over the sultan’s throne.’

Ye/ chiwa’ambila/ ya kuwa usultaani/ takhtawaló/ ni mgarwa/ hattaa ye/ chiruda ka safariini. ‘He told them that the sultanship, the one who would take it over was the fisherman, until he returned from the trip.’

rel.

kh-tawalisha v. caus. make someone the ruler, put someone in power kumtawalisha muuyi ‘to make him the ruler of the town’

Oloshela/ ile naawé/ khutawalishiize/ pashpo khuza ajiri/ amó/ ijaará.

‘He came with you and enthroned you without asking for reward or recompense.’ (Phon. We have not established the reason for a final accent on ajiri in this example. The final accent on ijaara is governed by the conjunction amo, which itself is a phrasal isolate with final accent.)

Sultaani/ chimtawalisha waziiri/ chiti/ cha usultaani. ‘The sultan installed the minister in the chair of the sultanship.’

Waawe/ fiile/ na wantʰu awá/ wanakhsula kuntʰawalisha/ wanakhsulaa mi/ niwe sultani waawo. ‘My father died and these people want to install me (as sultan), they want that I become their sultan.’

kh-tawalishoowa v. caus. pass.

Mi/ mpʰindri yaa mi/ nchʰifa/ usultaani/ natawalishoowa/ mwaana/ uyu. ‘At the time when I die, as for the sultanship, this boy should be installed as ruler.’

We/ takhtawalishoowa/ chiti cha sultaani. ‘You will be given the throne of the sultan.’

rel. nom.

m-tawala (wa-) n. 1/2 ruler

kh-taawanya

v. [Sw. tawanya SSED 457] (tawanyiize) scatter, spill, dispose of, discard, throw away, neglect (This verb stem, in our data, often contracts the first two syllables to taa in extended forms of the stem.)

Gele/ staawanyé/ mahala zikoo n-k^hukú. ‘Don’t spill grain where there are chickens.’ (A proverb.)

khtawanya maayi ‘to eject water (from the mouth)’ khtawanyaa nt^haka ‘to get rid of garbage’ mahala ya waant^hu/ hutawanyoo nt^haká ‘a place where people dump their garbage’

Mwaana/ tawanyize maatozi. ‘The child shed tears.’

nt^hiinda maaziya taawanya [song] ‘slaughter me, spill my blood’

Shtala peesa/ izo/ zimo hundaani/ chistaawanya/ ilu ya msala. ‘He took those coins from the measuring tin and spread them out on the mat.’

Tawanyize mayi ya Nuuru. ‘He spilled Nuuru’s water.’ (Syn: There are two alternative constructions, at least in MI’s speech, to the associative phrase in this sentence: Tawanyize Nuuru/ maayiye. or Tawanyize mayiye Nuuru. In these two constructions, the associative particle is deleted and a possessive enclitic is located at the end of what was the head of the associative phrase. In the first example, Nuuru precedes the possessed noun and is phrasally separated from it. In the second example, the possessed noun precedes Nuuru and is in the same phrase with it. This variant is common in the speech of MI, but does not seem to be found in the speech of our recent consultants. If one separates the possessed noun phrasally from Nuuru, then Nuuru becomes a kind of afterthought: Tawanyize maayiye/ Nuuru. ‘He spilled his water, Nuuru’s.’)

Yatawanyize mayi ya Nuuru. ‘He spilled Nuuru’s water.’ (Syn: The verb here is marked with an object prefix ya agreeing with maayi ‘water’, the head of the associative phrase. MI did not, however, accept using the object prefix in the alternative constructions cited above: Yatawanyize Nuuru/ maayiye. or Yatawanyize mayiye Nuuru. This restriction, however, is limited to cases where the possessed noun is inanimate. Further research is required to determine the explanation for the lack of object agreement in these cases. Perhaps it has to do with the fact that object agreement, in the case of inanimate nouns, is used to convey definiteness.)

rel.

kh-ta(w)anyika v. p/s. [Sw. tawanyika SSED 457] (tawanyishile)

Chisiinga/ shtawanyishile mtuzi. ‘From the bowl, soup spilled out.’ (Syn. Note that one cannot say: Mtuzi/ utawanyishile chisiinga. ‘Soup spilled out from the bowl.’)

Ma’anaye/ maayi/ hutanyika/ yashtanyika/ siwo/ jawabuu nk^hulu/ laakini/ maazi/ yashtanyika/ ni jawabuu nk^hulu. ‘Its meaning (referring to the proverb maazi/ ni mazito/ kolko maayi ‘blood is heavier than water’), water does spill, if it spills, it is not a big deal, but if blood spills, it is a big deal.’

Maayi/ yashtanyika/ hayazooleki. ‘If water is spilled, it cannot be gathered up.’ (A proverb.)

Mayi yatawanyishiló/ hayazooleki. ‘Water that has been spilt cannot be gathered up.’ (A proverb.)

Maayi/ yanakhtawanyika ka lufaan/ kaa nguvu. ‘Water is dripping down through a crack with force.’

Maayi/ yatawanyishile ka ikopaani. ‘Water spilled from the cup.’ (Syn. But it is also possible to say: Ikopa/ itawanyishile maayi. ‘(From) the cup spilled water.’) maazi/ khta(w)anyika ‘for blood to be shed’

Hamadi/ bishile Omari/ iluuma/ maazi/ ‘miingi/

yamta(w)anyishiló. ‘Hamadi struck Omari a blow on the head and a lot of blood came out.’

Maazi/ yanamṭawanyikó. ‘It is blood that is spilling from her.’ (This example comes from a recording that MI collected in the 1980’s, from a female relative. This example is notable for its use of focus being put on the subject, with the verb being put into pseudo-relative form. This construction is extremely common among present-day speakers, but in our elicitation sessions with MI, we did not record its use.)

Maaziyo/ yanaṭawannyike moomo/ omo/ iboholiini. ‘Your blood should be spilled in that very same hole.’

Mwaana/ yamṭawanyishile maatozi. ‘The child shed tears (lit. tears fell from the child).’

Mwenopo siimbá/ Abdalla/ tiyiile/ nt^ho/ hattá/ maayi/ yaa ye/ tukiiló/ yachimṭawanyika. ‘When Abdalla saw the lion, he was very afraid until the water that he was carrying spilled on him.’

Tulushile/ nt^holoko/ zotte/ zimṭawanyishile. ‘He fell down and all the beans spilled [lit. from him].’

kh-ṭawanyikila v. p/s. appl. (ṭawanyikiliile)

Maayi/ yamṭawanyikiliile. ‘Water spilled on him.’

uki/ unawaṭawanyikile ‘...that honey spill on them’

kh-ṭawanyiliza v. appl.

Mṭawanyilize Nuuru/ maayi. ‘He spilled water on Nuuru.’

kh-ṭawanyilizoowa v. appl. pass.

Suufi/ ṭawanyiliza maayi. ‘Suufi was spilled on or for water.’ (Only the beneficiary or indirect object can be the subject of the passive applied verb, hence the ungrammaticality of Maayi/ yaṭawanyiliza Suufi. ‘Water was spilled on or for Suufi.’ It is possible to have maayi in pre-verb position, but only if Suufi controls the subject marking on the verb: Maayi/ ṭawanyiliza Suufi. It is also possible to have both maayi and Suufi precede the verb, again with Suufi controlling the subject marking on the verb: Suufi/ maayi/ ṭawanyiliza. Or: Maayi/ Suufi/ ṭawanyiliza.)

kh-ṭawanyisha v. caus. [Sw. tawanyisha]

kh-ṭawanyoowa v. pass. [Sw. tawanyywa] be scattered

Gele/ ha’itawanyoowi/ mahala nk^huku/ ziikó. ‘Grains of maize are not scattered where there are hens.’ (A proverb, which can be used, for example, to tell someone not to backbite in front of people since those people may turn around and inform the target of your backbiting.)

...na zakuja züingine/ huṭawaynoowá ‘and other food that is discarded’

rel. nom.

m-ṭaawanya (wa-) n. 1/2 [Sw. mtawanya] one who scatters, spills mṭawanyaa nt^haka ‘one who disposes of garbage each day’

m-ṭawanyiko n. 3

u-ṭawanyiko n. 14

m-ṭaawanyo n. 3 act of scattering mṭawanyowe ‘his act of throwing away’

u-ṭaawanyo n. 14 act of throwing away

ṭawari

n. 9/10 [cf. Som. tabar ‘strength, power, energy’ DSI 570] energy, stamina; financial possibilities mi nshiinzila ka ṭawari skuwana maali [song] ‘I was defeated because of [as the result of the issue of] financial possibilities, I did not have wealth’

kh-ṭawasula

v. [Ar. tawassul ‘entreaty, fervent plea’ W 1069 (ṭawasuliile) ask/seek/implore the intercession of a saint or a prophet; do someone’s bidding in order to get help from him; resort to someone for help

Chimwamura maraa piili/ khtomola chiṭaache/ laakini/ mnaadisha/ chizidaa kuḷa/ na kumṭawasula sultaani. ‘He ordered a second time (the auctioneer) to cut off his head but the auctioneer cried more and pleaded with the sultan.’

pray to the prophet’ leelo shkumangeene mṭawasula mtume [song] ‘today we have gathered to mṭawasuleeni sahibu ḷmiraji [st.] ‘resort to him, the man of the Ascension’ ṭawasuti

n. 9 [Ar. tawassuṭ ‘mediation, intervention’ W 1067] moderation, reconciliation

Ingile ṭawasuti/ kati kaawo. ‘He reconciled them [lit. he entered reconciliation among them].’

- l-tawi (n-) n. 11/10 [Sw. tawi (ma-), utawi SSED 457] branch; [pron. nt^hawi ‘branches’] ltawi laa muti ‘the branch of a tree’
- tawiili adj. [Sw. tawiili “long, tall” SSED 457; Ar. tawīl W 576] in the expression:
Mooja/ nampa umri tawiili. ‘May God give him a long life.’
- chi-taawo (zi-) n. 7/8 [an acronym based on the name of the Italian bus system whose buses ran between Brava and other towns in Somalia; cf. Som. shitaawe, Diz. Italiano-somalo, p. 59 under “autobus”] bus (This item represents a rare exception to the principle that the prefix chi is realized as sh in front of voiceless obstruents like t. There is a variant pronunciation, however, where the prefix elides its vowel as usual: sh-taawo.)
Chiṭaawo/ cha Mwenye Abuuyi/ huya ka wakhtī. ‘The bus of Menye Abuuyi comes on time.’
Chiṭaawo/ cha Saydi Aamaró/ hachiya/ ka wakhtī. ‘The bus of Saydi Aamaro does not come on time.’ (There were two buses that ran daily between Brava and Mogadishu; one was owned by Saydi Aamaro, the other by Menye Abuuyi.)
Chiṭaawo/ isa/ ni sa’aze/ za kuwasila. ‘The bus, now is its time of arrival.’
Duka/ mahaḷaa wé/ takhadiro kula zibuukú/ yiiko/ ba’adi/ ya mahaḷa/ husimamo zitaawó. ‘The shop where you can buy books is next to the bus stop.’
Mwana panzilo chiṭaawó/ kendra Mkhodiishó/ rudiile. ‘The child who boarded the bus to go to Mogadishu came back.’ (cf. Mwaana/ panzile chiṭaawo/ kendra Mkhodiisho. ‘The child boarded the bus to go to Mogadisho.’) Naani/ hendro skolaani/ ka chitaawó. [H!H!H] ‘Who goes to school by bus?’
Naani/ rashizo shṭaawó/ Mkhodiishó. ‘Who took the bus to Mogadishu?’ (With verb emphasis, the usual pronunciation is: Naani/ rashiizó/ shṭaawo/ Mkhodiisho. This pronunciation shows the effect of the Accentual Law of Focus. When asked whether other pronunciations were feasible, GM accepted various ones: Naani/ rashiizó/ shṭaawó/ Mkhodiishó. This pronunciation reflects the failure of ALF to restrict the projection of final accent to the end of the verb phrase. Another pronunciation accepted was Naani/ rashiizó/ shṭaawo/ Mkhodiishó. A simple account of this variant is not easily given. But until some actual context where these pronunciations might occur can be found, we are hesitant to hazard an explanation.)
shtulo cha chiṭaawo ‘a bus stop’ Takhulindra shṭawooni. ‘I will wait for you at the bus (i.e. bus stop).’ Cf.
Takhulindra mahaḷa ya shṭaawo/ hudegó. ‘I will wait for you at the place where the bus stops.’
Ye/ kasafira ka chiṭaawó/ suḷa kumbona ndilaani. ‘If he had traveled by bus, he would have seen me on the road.’
Ye/ kasafira Mkhodiishó/ ka chiṭaawó/ suḷa kumbona ndilaani. ‘If he had traveled to Mogadishu by bus he would have seen me on the road.’
Ye/ waliko chilindra chiṭaawo/ kuḷawa. ‘He was waiting for the bus to leave.’
- m-taawo (mi-) n. 3/4 [cf. Sw. mta SSED 309] pillow Makhaadimu/ awo/ wa’ishkiziize/ chiṭa/ icho/ ka heshma/ nk^hulu/ wachiweshela ilu/ ya mṭaawo/ na mṭaawo/ oyo/ wa’uweeshela/ ilu/ ya meeza. ‘Those servants took that head (in the story, the head of a jinn sultan) with great respect and placed it on a pillow, and that pillow they placed on the table.’
Mubli/ shkuumbuka/ ya kuwaa ye/ tile tubaaku/ nt^hini ya mṭaawo. ‘The man remembered that he had put tobacco under the pillow.’
Sku ya taano/ shtalaa chiṭa/ chaa mbuzi/ chichiweeka/ nt^hiini/ ya mṭaawowe. ‘On the fifth day, she took the head of the goat and put it under her pillow.’

taawuusi	n. [Sw. tausi SSED 457; Ar. ṭā'ūs W 550] peacock (Although there is evidence that in Chimiini a long vowel must shorten when a long vowel follows, there are a fair number of loanwords such as this one where a long vowel occurs in both the antepenult and the penult syllables.)
i-taaya (ma-)	n. 5/6 [Sw. taya (ma-) "jaw, jaw-bone" SSED 458] cheek itayaani 'on the cheek' raaha nt^hinikiiza mkono itayaani [song] 'I was deprived of comfort, [and I have my] hand on [my] cheek'
kh-tayamama	v. [etymology unknown] (tayamamiile) take ablutions using sand; variant form: khtayamuma khtayamuma husiha waqti chiingila [st.] 'it is permitted to take ablutions using sand when the time [for prayers] approaches'
tayaari	inv. adj. [Sw. tayari SSED 458; Pers. and Hind.] ready Bataata/ ni tayaari. 'The potatoes are ready.' Chaakuja/ shchiwa tayaari/ naayé/ nt^hanakhuwoná/ tila/ dawa iyí/ karka chaakuja. 'When the food is ready and he does not see you, put this medicine in the food.' (The use of final accent on dawa iyí appears to be an intonational phenomenon that we have not explored.) Chaakuja/ ni tayaari. 'The food is ready.' Chiwa'ambila martize/ ya kuwa kila chiint^hu/ ni tayaari/ numbaani. 'He told his guests that everything was ready at the house.' (Observe that the noun marti 'guest(s)' has a possessive enclitic enclitic =z-e that indicates a [cl.10] noun, while the object prefix -wa- indicates a [cl.2] noun. Observe also that tayaari is an invariable adjective: one says ni tayaari and not * ni sh^ttayaari . However, invariant adjectives do show agreement with derived diminutive and augmentative nouns: chijana sh^ttayaari , zijana st^ttayaari , ijint^hu itayaari , mijint^hu mitayaari .) Eelo/ waliko tayaari/ na lpaanga/ mkonooni. 'The gazelle was ready with a sword in his hand.' khfanya tayaari [Sw. fanya tayari SSED 458] 'to prepare, make ready' khfanyiliza tayaari 'to prepare for' Nfanyilize numba/ tayaari. 'He made the house ready for me.' khfanyilizowa tayaari 'to be made ready for' Mi/ nfanyiliza numba/ tayaari. '[Lit.] I was made ready for the house -- i.e. the house was made ready for me.' khfanyowa tayaari 'to be made ready' Maskuu kati/ kula mooyi/ huruda kaake/ apo/ zaakuja/ za namna/ ka namna/ huwa ziweeshela/ tayaari/ numbaani. 'At midnight each one returns to his place, there foods of different kinds are placed ready in the house (to be eaten).' Mi/ ni(ko) tayaari. 'I am ready.' Mi/ nkhashifiilé/ jisa hukhadirowa Baazi/ kuwa tayaari/ ka wakhtí. 'I discovered how to get Baazi to be ready on time.' Mukhta majuniya/ yawelo tayaari/ sul^ttaani/ na mukeewé/ waanawe/ na ahliyé/ wotte/ wachingila majuniyaani. 'When the sacks were ready, the sultan and his wife, his children, and his relatives, all went into the sacks.' Mukhta numba/ iwelo tayaari/ lazile/ oloshale/ kumera mush^ttari/ kiyuula/ iyo. 'When the house was ready (i.e. finished being built), he left and went to look for a buyer to buy that (house).' Mwanaa/ takuzaloowá/ nawe mwaamubli/ ba/ amó/ mwanaamke/ huwa inaye/ yiko tayaari. 'The child who will be born, be it a boy or a girl, its name is ready [since the parents have put in store both a female and a male name to be used for the child].' Ni njeema/ isa/ endrá/ wa'ambile/ want^huwo/ wote/ wanawe tayaari/ khpanza ngiisha/ wana'ondroshe/ muṭore/ inawe tayaari. 'That's good; now go and tell all your people that they should be ready to pull up the anchor and start the engine so that it is ready.'

Si/ ni tayaari. 'We are ready.'

Sultaani/ malizopo khsomaa khaṭi/ chamura farasi/ khfanyowa tayaari. 'When the sultan read the letter, he order a horse to be gotten ready.'

rel. nom.

u-tayaari n. 14 readiness

kh-tayaarisha

v. prepare, make ready

rel.

kh-tayarishiliza v. appl. (tayarishiliize) appl. make ready for Nṭ^hayarishilize nuumba. 'He made the house ready for me.'

kh-tayarishilizoowa v. appl. pass.

Mi/ nṭ^hayarishiliza nuumbá. 'I was prepared for the house -- i.e. the house was made ready for me.'

kh-tayarishoowa v. be prepared, made ready

Kalaasi/ itayarishiiza/ na wana wa skoola. 'The classroom has been prepared by the students.'

tayibu

[Ar. tayyib W 578]

variant form: tayyibu

ma-taaza

n. 6 [unknown etymology] a thin gruel made by boiling flour in water with sugar or salt added

Haliima/ pishile maṭaaza. 'Haliima cooked porridge'

Hasani/ nele maṭaza yaa nganu. 'He drank the wheat porridge.' Cf. with focus on Hasani: (Ni) Hasani/ nele maṭaza yaa nganú. 'It is Hasani who drank the wheat porridge.'

Maṭaaza/ nele Omari/ masuura. 'The porridge that Omari drank is good.'

Or: Maṭaza nele Omari/ masuura. (These two examples differ in terms of whether the head of the relative clause is phrased with the relative verb or not, but we did not detect any meaning difference associated with this phrasing difference.)

maṭaza yaa geḷe 'crushed corn porridge' maṭaaza/ ya Haliimá/ pishiló 'the porridge that Haliima cooked' (If one puts emphasis on Haliima, which is accompanied by a small pause after it, then the accent falls on the penult syllable. The shift to the final syllable is a characteristic of the lack of emphasis on Haliima.)

maṭaza ya khamadi 'wheat porridge' maṭaza ya mhuundru 'gruel made out of mhuundru (red sorghum)' maṭaza ya moordi 'porridge made from sorghum' maṭaza ya mpuunga 'rice porridge' maṭaza yaa nganu 'wheat porridge'

Maṭaaza/ yaa nganu/ (ya) Hasani/ neeló/ maḷada. 'The wheat porridge that Hasani drank is sweet/delicious.'

Maṭaaza/ ya Omari/ neeló/ yawaliko masuura. 'The porridge that Omari drank was good.' Or: Maṭaaza/ ya Omari/ neeló/ masuura/ yawaalikó.

maṭaza ya unga 'flour porridge'

Nakhpika maṭaaza/ Haliima/ nakhpikó. 'She is cooking porridge, Haliima, that's what she is doing.'

Omari/ nele maṭaaza. 'Omari drank porridge.' (It is possible to focus on the subject: Omari/ nele maṭaazá. Or: Omari/ neeló/ maṭaaza. Or: Mataaza/ Omari/ neeló. Or: Maṭaaza/ neeló/ Omari. Focus on the subject Omari involves some raising of its pitch level and a shift of the verb to pseudo-relative clause form.

We/ pishile mataazá. 'You cooked porridge'

n-taaza

n. 9/10 a kind of long fish, used to catch other fish which stick to it when they come in contact with a certain section of their body; [pron. nṭ^haaza]

kh-tegemela

v. [Sw. tegemea "lean upon, rest upon, rely" SSED 459] rely on kh-teka

v. [Sw. cheka SSED 53] (teshele) laugh (at) Ali/ mteshele Sa'iidi. 'Ali laughed at Sa'iidi.'
Ali/ nt^heshele. 'Ali laughed at me.'
Ali/ teshele. 'Ali laughed.'
Huteko niingi/ hula niingi. 'The one who laughs a lot, cries a lot.' (A proverb that counsels moderation in all things.)
Mi/ ndrazile mtanaani/ mi/ nakhteko. 'I left the room smiling.'
Mwaalimuwa/ poteele/ chitini/ kaake/ mi/ sula kuwa nimsaydiile/ laakini/ nimplangaliile/ tu/ nakhteko. 'My teacher fell off his chair. I should have helped him, but I just stared at him, laughing.'
Na mwaaná/ uko nakhteka. 'And the child is there and is laughing.'
Shiteka/ chiwa'ambila awaje want^hu... 'He laughed and said to those people...'
Steké. 'Don't laugh!' (cf. Stekeení. '(Pl.) don't laugh!')
Teka. 'Laugh!' (cf. Tekaani. '(Pl.) laugh!')
Wamteshele mzele/ kooðize. [H!H] 'They laughed at the words of the elder.'
Weenziwe/ warudilopo ka miyundraani/ wachimwona ngombe gisi/ funzila miilu/ na mikonó/ wote/ wachimteka. 'When his friends returned from the farms, they saw the buffalo tied legs and hands and all laughed at him.'
Wote/ wa'ingile/ kumteka. 'All began to laugh at him [lit. entered to laugh at him].'

subject and object marking illustrated with the past tense verb -teshele:
nikhuteshelé 'I laughed at you'; nimteshelé 'I laughed at [cl.1]'; ninteshelé 'I laughed at you (pl.)'; niwateshelé 'I laughed at [cl.2]' (Note that a subject prefix like ni- 'I' does not elide its vowel in front of an object marker. Note furthermore that it triggers final accent.)
nt^heshelé 'you laughed at me'; mteshelé 'you laughed at [cl.1]'; sh^heshelé 'you laughed at us'; wateshelé 'you laughed at [cl.2]' (Note that the second person singular subject prefix is null in the affirmative past tense. Note also that it triggers final accent.)
nt^heshele '[cl.1] laughed at me'; khuteshele '[cl.1] laughed at you'; mteshele '[cl.1] laughed at [cl.1]'; sh^heshele '[cl.1] laughed at us'; nateshele '[cl.1] laughed at you (pl.)'; wateshele '[cl.1] laughed at [cl.2]' (Note that the third person subject marker is null in the affirmative past, just like the second person singular subject marker. The difference is that the second person subject marker triggers final accent, while the [cl.1] subject marker has default penult accent.) chikhuteshelé 'we laughed at you'; chimteshelé 'we laughed at [cl.1]'; chinteshelé 'we laughed at you (pl.)'; chiwateshelé 'we laughed at [cl.2]' (Note that the first person plural subject marker chi does not elide its vowel in front of an object marker. Note also that it triggers final accent.)
nint^heshelé 'you (pl.) laughed at me'; nimteshelé 'you (pl.) laughed at [cl.1]'; nish^heshelé 'you (pl.) laughed at us'; niwateshelé 'you (pl.) laughed at [cl.2]' (Note that the second person plural subject marker ni does not elide its vowel in front of an object marker. Note also that it triggers final accent.)
want^heshele '[cl.2] laughed at me'; wakhuteshele '[cl.2] laughed at you'; wamteshele '[cl.2] laughed at [cl.1]'; wash^heshele '[cl.2] laughed at us'; wateshele '[cl.2] laughed at you (pl.)'; wawateshele '[cl.2] laughed at [cl.2]' (Note that the [cl.2] subject marker does not trigger final accent, rather default penult accent is used.)

rel.

kh-tekaateka v. freq. laugh and laugh

Basi/ want^hu/ awo/ watesheleteshel/ kuwona mi'ujiza/ ayo/ hattá/sultaani/ naayé/ walimo karka haali/ yiyo/ kama waant^hu. ‘So these people laughed and laughed to see these miraculous things, even the sultan as well as in the very same condition as the people.’

kh-tekeka v. p/s.

Apa/ haytekeki. ‘Here one cannot laugh.’

Wana awa/ hawatekeki. ‘These children cannot be laughed at (e.g. without their getting mad).’

kh-tekela v. appl. (tekelele) smile at; laugh at "on" someone Ali/ mtekelele Sa'iidi. ‘Ali smiled at, laughed for (i.e. showing friendliness etc. to) Sa'iidi.’

Ali/ nt^hekelele mwaana. ‘Ali laughed at my child on me.’

Nt^hekelele. ‘He smiled at me.’

Simtekelé/ mwaana. ‘Don't smile at the child (thereby showing approval of his actions)!’

kh-teksha v. caus. (tekeshenze) make laugh (This causative form is built on the intransitive use of -teka ‘laugh’ and not the transitive use ‘laugh at’.

To express a causative of the transitive verb, one must use the periphrastic construction: Mtile Sa'iidi/ kumteka Hamadi. ‘He caused Sa'iidi to laugh at Hamadi.’ One cannot say: Mtekesheze Sa'iidi/ Hamadi.)

Mtekesheze mwaana/ ka matezoye. ‘He made the child laugh with his jokes.’

Sa'iidi/ nt^hekeshenze. ‘Saiidi made me laugh.’

kh-tekshan(y)a v. caus. rec. cause one another to laugh kh-tekshanyika v. caus. rec. p/s. able for one another to be made to laugh

Haytekshanyiki. ‘There is no making one another laugh.’

kh-tekshenze v. caus. appl. (tekshenze)

Matezoye/ mtekesheze naani. ‘With his jokes, whom did he cause to laugh?’ (A possible answer: Matezoye/ mtekesheze mwaana. ‘With his jokes, he made the child laugh.’

Tekshenze naani/ matezoye. ‘Who did he make laugh with his jokes?’ (A possible answer would be: Tekshenze mwaana/ matezoye. ‘He made the child laugh with his jokes.’

kh-tekshenzezoowa v. caus. appl. pass. (tekshenzezoowa)

Muunt^hu/ tekshenzezoowa mwaana. ‘To the man's benefit/detriment the child was made to laugh.’

kh-tekshoowa v. caus. pass.

Mwaana/ tekshenze ka matezo. ‘The child was made to laugh with jokes.’

kh-tekoowa v. pass. (teshela)

Kooði/ za mzele/ tshela (naawo). [H!H] ‘The words of the elder were laughed at (by them).’ Cf. Kooði/ za mzele/ tshela. [HH!H] ‘Words of the elder were laughed at.’

Mzele/ tshela/ ka khisa kooðize. [HH!H] ‘The elder was laughed at because of his words.’

Mzele/ tshela ka kooðize. ‘The elder was laughed at (from) his words.’

Mzele/ tshela kooðize. [H!H] ‘The elder was laughed at [with respect to] his words.’

Mzele/ tshela/ naawo/ ka khisa kooðize. [H'H'H!H] ‘The elder was laughed at by them because of his words.’ Or: Mzele/ tshela naawo/ ka khisa kooðize. [H!H!H] ‘The old man was laughed at by them because of his words.’ (The intonational pattern of the first example was uncertain. We generally take the position that when a verb is separated phrasally from its complement, it may be clearly declined as here but not downstepped. The remainder of the example is clear: the agent phrase na wo is declined, while the next phrase ka kooðize is unambiguously downstepped. The intonation of the second example is unambiguously one of successive downsteps.)

Shteka/ itakhtekowa naawe/ chila/ takula wee/ peeke. ‘If you laugh, there will be laughing with you, if you cry, you will cry alone.’ (A proverb.)

Waant^hu/ inakhtekoowa. ‘As for the people, there is laughing being done.’

rel. nom.

m-teka (wa-) n. 1/2 one who laughs

Mteka chilema/ hutekowaa ye/ amo waaké. ‘The one who laughs at a cripple is laughed at or one of his (children, relatives) is.’

i-teke (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. teke (ma-) SSED 459] foot (but restricted to certain contexts) Kana mpiira/ Hamadi/ mbishilo Omari/ mateké. ‘Like a ball (i.e. hard) Hamadi kicked Omari.’ Or: Kana mpiira/ Hamadi/ mbishilo mateké/ Omari.
khkala ka iteke ‘to stamp with the foot’ kubiga iteke ‘to go on foot; to kick’ kubiga ka iteke ‘to give a kick’ kubiga mateke ‘to kick’

Mp^huundra/ mbishile siimba/ mateke/ naa ye/ nyakiila/ na lumiila/ na siimba. ‘The donkey kicked the lion, but he was scratched and bitten by the lion.’

Mi/ nimbishile Hamadi/ mateké. ‘I kicked Hamadi.’ Cf. Omari/ mbishile Hamadi/ mateke. ‘Omari kicked Hamadi.’ (Phon: The simple yes-no question version of the preceding sentence does not involve any accent shift, while the exclamatory version shifts the accent inside the VP: Omari/ mbishile Hamadi/ mateké!? Even if one puts focus on Hamadi, as in [Omari/ mbishile Hamadi/ mateke], the simple yes-no question does not involve any accent shift. In other words, it appears that mateke cannot be regarded as an out-of-focus element that undergoes accent shift in yes-no question formation. When focus is put on the verb: Omari/ mbishile/ Hamadi/ mateke., the corresponding yes-no question does not necessarily exhibit accent shift. However, our consultant also offered Omari/ mbishile Hamadi/ mateké?.)

Mi/ nimbishile mateké/ kana mpiira. ‘I kicked him hard (lit. like a ball).’ (Our consultant did not readily put a phrase break after the verb, appearing to indicate that -biga mateke is a phrasal unit.)

Omari/ mbishile mateke/ kana mpiira. ‘Omari kicked him hard (lit. like a ball).’ (The simple yes-no question version of this does not involve accent, but the exclamatory question shifts the accent in both phrases in the VP: Omari/ mbishile mateké/ kana mpiirâ!?)

kh-tekeza

v. [etymology unknown] (tekeze) lean s.t. inanimate on s.t.

Tekeze muti/ lkuta. ‘He leaned a piece of wood against the wall.’

rel.

kh-tekeleza v. appl.

kh-tekelezeka v. appl. p/s.

kh-tekezeka v. p/s.

Lkuta ili/ haltekezeki/ ngazi. ‘This wall cannot have a ladder leaned against it (e.g. because it has just been painted).’

Ngazi iyi/ haytekezeki/ lkutaani. ‘This ladder cannot be leaned against the wall.’

kh-tekezoowa v. pass. (tekeza)

Muti/ utekeza lkutaani. ‘The piece of wood was leaning against the wall.’

rel. nom.

m-tekezo n. 3

ma-tekezo n. 6

sh-tekezo (s-) n. 7/8 anything used to lean s.t against u-tekezo n. 14

sh-teko (s-)

n. 7/8 laugh, laughter

khshika shteko ‘to keep on laughing (lit. to hold laughter)’

Aamina/ nakiimba/ kana/ ijiniile/ Haliima/ shishile shteko/ ki ki ki ki!
‘Aamina is singing like a crazy person, Haliima is bursting with laughter ki ki ki ki!’

Haliima/ harusiini/ ka Omari/ mwaanawe/ shishile shteko/ hatá/ nalile ruuhuye. ‘Haliima, at the wedding of Omari’s son, kept laughing until she pissed on herself.’

Ni shteko/ shtekesheza waant^hú. ‘What laughter it is that people were caused to laugh.'

Shteko chiingi/ ni chilo chiingi. 'Too much laughter is too much crying.' (A proverb.)

Shteko/ ni furaha. 'Laughter is joy.' (A proverb.)

tekoole

adj. someone who laughs a lot

Zahara/ ni tekoole/ hatá/ chint^hu chihaba/ hushika shteko. 'Zahara is a great laugher, even something small, she keeps on laughing.'

tele

n., adj. [Sw. tele SSED 460; we did not find the Arabic etymological source cited in SSED in the W dictionary] in abundance; abundance

Chiwaa ye/ nakhsulaa muke/ mi/ nii muké/ laakini/ chiwaa ye/ nakhsula muke wa masku mamooyi/ masharmuuta/ wayeele/ t_{le}/ muyiini. 'If he wants a wife, I am a woman; but if he wants a woman for one evening, prostitutes are in abundance in town.'

Hasani/ chihuðurishoowa/ mbele za sul_{taani}/ na waant^hú/ t_{le}/ apo. 'Hasani was made to be present in front of the sultan and the numerous people there.'

Sho mzeele/ tele/ imbeele. '(One who has) no elder, advice is lost to him.'

Shtukula ibirikhi iyo/ shtila maayi/ tele. 'She carried that water-jug and she put water in abundance in it.'

tele

n. 9 [Som. talo "opinion, suggestion, proposal" DSI 575] advice, decision; way, means (of solving a problem); proposal

Abú/ iize tele iyo. 'Abu objected to the proposal.'

Ishpatowa khabari/ hupatawaa t_{le}. 'If information is gotten, advice is gotten.' (A proverb.)

khpaa tele 'to advise', kumpaa tele 'to advise someone'

Isa/ mi/ niilé/ nakump^ha tele gani/ we. 'Now I have come, what suggestion do you give me, you.'

Mi/ nimpelee t_{le}/ Haliimá/ mwaanawe/ khtinoowa. 'I gave advice to Haliima for her child to be circumcised.'

khtomolaa tele 'to advise'

Mi/ nt^homelee t_{le}/ mwáana/ khtinoowa. 'I advised that the child be circumcised.'

Kiila/ mo/ chimera khtersha/ tele/ hulawa mkonooni. 'If every one wants to rule, advice/suggestion gets out of the hands (i.e. there is no command structure, there is no hierarchy of a ruler and subordinates giving advice).' (A saying.)

kuletaa tele 'to advise (lit. bring advice)'

Huseeni/ mwambile Abú/ Omari/ bashize nfuungulo/ za nuumba/ jisa kingiloowa/ nt^haku/ isa/ letee tele. 'Huseeni told Abu that Omari lost the keys of the house, now there is no way to get inside, give advice now.'

Mi/ ndreselee t_{le}/ mwáana/ khtinoowa. 'I advised that the child be circumcised.'

Omari/ muzize mukeewe/ Haliima/ kuletaa tele/ mwáana/ khfanyowaayi. 'Omari asked his wife Haliima to bring a suggestion what (lit. how) to do regarding the child.'

Mi/ teleya/ ni mwáana/ khtinoowa. 'Me, my suggestion is that the child be circumcised.'

Miizi/ chishikoowa/ nt^haná/ tele. 'If a thief is caught, he has no way out.' (A proverb.)

sabri nk^hoseeze na teleya ikomeele [song] 'I lacked patience and my means (of solving the problem) reached a deadend'

Sho khkasa ya mzeele/ tele/ impoteele. 'The one who does not listen to an elder, advice is lost to him.' (A proverb.)

Sho mzeele/ tele/ imbeele. 'The one who has no elder, advice is lost to him.' (A proverb.)

sina tele kuya khumeera [song] 'I have no way to come to look for you'

Tele/ humerowa ka wenye hikma. ‘Advice is sought from wise men.’ (A proverb.)
tele mi sinaayo fahama ayuuni [song] ‘O my eyes, understand, have no way (of solving the problem)’ teleye ‘his advice’ wabli ka mashoga watomeele tele/ wamereele ruuhu ki’ipelekaa mbele/ Mooja wa’ilize hii’i na mawele [nt.] ‘men decided to wear women’s black wraps trying to save themselves, [but] God did not give them a woman’s shape [lit. menstruation and breasts]’ wenye mabunduqu wanaayo tele [nt.] ‘those who wield the guns have the upper hand’

Ye/ uzizee tele/ tarafu ya kumera kaazi. ‘She asked for advice about looking for a job.’

m-tele

n. [Sw. mchele SSED 271] uncooked cereal grains or flour

Cha unga/ nch’ha mtele/ cha mwaana/ nch’ha mzele. ‘That [which comes] from the flour, is from the ground maize; that [which comes] from the child, is from the father.’ (A proverb used positively to say that the child’s behavior, achievements, etc., ultimately derive from his father.)

Chishika mtaanga/ utakhuwelela mtele. ‘If you hold sand, it will become for you ground corn.’

khtunga mtele ‘to sift corn’

mtele waa gele ‘ground gele’ mtele wa mpuunga ‘uncooked rice’ mtele waa zijo ‘uncooked maize flour’

rel.

mi-tele n. 4 large quantities of ground corn

Washindaa mbuzi/ izo/ wachosha mitele aya/ washpika paapo/ apo.

‘They slaughtered those goats, they washed the quantities of ground corn, they cooked right then and there.’

telefono

n. [Eng.] telephone; telephone call

Chiza kujiibako/ telefonoya/ infanyize sh’ana. ‘Your not answering my telephone call made me angry.’

Chiza kujiibako/ telefonoya/ int’ile sh’ana. ‘Your not answering my telephone call made me angry.’

khshika telepono ‘to pick up the telephone (to use it)’

Haliima/ chibigila telepono/ hashiiki/ ba. ‘If one calls Haliima on the telephone, she never picks up.’ (It should be noted that the negative verb here is not subject to downstep intonation, but the particle ba that follows is downstepped.)

kubiga telepono ‘to make a telephone call’ kuweka telepono ‘to hang up the telephone’

Omari/ weeshele/ telepono. ‘Omari hung up the telephone.’ Or: Omari/ telepono/ weeshele.

kuwekela telepono ‘to hang up the telephone on’

Omari/ huwekela want’u/ telepono. ‘Omari hangs the telephone up on people (whenever they call, he just answers and hangs up).’

Omari/ chiza kujiba telepono/ inamwelwelisha Haliima. ‘Omari’s not answering the telephone worries Haliima.’

n-teleewa

n. 9/10 a kind of fish that is very large and lives under the rocks in the sea; [pron. nt’eleewa] ikana/ kana nt’eleewa ‘a mouth like a sp. fish – i.e. a big mouth, of talking too much’

Kanaye/ kana nt’eleewa. ‘His mouth is as as large as that of the nt’eleewa.’

shiimo/ ya nt’eleewa ‘a kind of fish that lives in the hole (shiimo) of holes in the rocks in the depth of the sea’

rel.

i-teleewa (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.

Ikanaye/ kana iteleewa. ‘His large mouth is like that of a large sp. fish.’

- ma-teeli* n. [etymology unknown] in the expression:
kubiga mateeli ‘to criticize the behavior of someone indirectly (e.g. by pointing out similar things that others have done and how they were not the right thing to do, etc.); praise someone ironically (in fact criticizing him)’ check vowel length
- l-telo (n-)* n. 11/10 [Sw. uteo SSED 509] a winnowing tray of the local type ltelo laa gele ‘sifting tray for maize’ ltelo lhuundru ‘a red winnowing tray’; nt^helo huundru ‘red winnowing trays’ ltelo lpaana ‘a wide sifting tray’ Nakhpepent^haa gele/ ka ltelo. ‘She is cleaning the maize with a sifting tray.’
Nakhpepent^ha mash^htaata/ ka ltelo. ‘She is cleaning th sesame with a sifting tray.’
- kh-teluka* v. [cf. Sw. chukia "detest, have ill feelings towards s.o." SSED 63] (telushile) go away (of someone whose presence is not welcomed by the speaker -- i.e. this verb reflects hostility on the part of the speaker towards the person) Jeeli/ telushile ka apa. ‘Jeeli went far from here.’
rel.
kh-telukila v. appl.
Mwaana/ nt^helukiliile. ‘My child went away on me.’
kh-telusha v. caus. exile s.o.; persuade or coax to leave Nimt^helushize mwaaná. ‘I persuaded the child (who was being obnoxious) to leave.’
kh-telushanya v. caus. rec.
kh-telushika v. caus. p/s.
Mwaana/ ize khtelushika. ‘The child refused to be persuaded to leave.’
kh-telushiliza v. caus. appl.
kh-telushilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
kh-telushoowa v. caus. pass.
Hasani/ telushiza na sarkaali. ‘Hasani was exiled by the government.’
- kh-temela* v. [cf. Sw. tegemea SSED 459] (temeele) lean on or against s.t.
rel.
kh-temeza v. caus. (temeeze) lean s.t. against s.t.
- kh-temuka* v. [Sw. tamka SSED 450] (temushile) pronounce, utter words Killa nch^hitemuka zeema/ za eelo/ uyu/ we/ hukiriha. ‘Whenever I speak well of this gazelle, you are disgusted.’
Ni ajabu gani/ nk^hulu/ hushindro iyí/ we/ khtemuka. ‘What great wonder surpasses this one -- for you [a gazelle] to speak?’
Stemuké/ kooði/ lamna izi. ‘Don’t utter words like these!’
Ye/ temushile inaye/ mara niingi. ‘She uttered his name several times.’
rel. nom.
ma-temuko n. 6 pronunciation sh-temuko (s-) n. 7/8 accent (in speaking)
- teena* adv. [Sw. tena SSED 462] again, still, then, anymore, any longer (in negative contexts), therefore, so Bakayle/ shkoða teena/ chihada... ‘The hare spoke again, saying...’
Chiizá/ teená. ‘If I/he etc. refuse(s), then what?’ Or: Teená/ chiizá.
Chiiza/ teena. ‘He refused then (at that time).’
Haji teená. ‘He will never eat again.’
Hakoði teená. ‘He will never speak again. (Cf. Hakoði. ‘He doesn’t speak, talk.’) Halali teená. ‘He will never sleep again.’
Haliima/ hupeenda/khsooma/ teena/ takhpita imtihaani. ‘Haliima likes to study, therefore she will pass the examination.’
Haliima/ shpiká/ teená. ‘If Haliima cooks, what then?’ Or: Haliima/ teená/ shpiká.

Or: Teená/ Haliimá/ shpiká.
Haliima/ shpikaa zijó/ teená. ‘If Haliima cooks zijo, what then?’ Or: Teená/ Haliimá/ shpikaa zijó.
Haliima/ zijo/ nt^hakhpika teená. ‘Haliima never cooked zijo again after that.’
Hatá/ ichiwa/ teena/ Harun Rashiidi/ hakhaadiri/ khshiindra/ sku mooyi/ pashpo kumwona Abunawaasi. ‘Until it got be that Haruun Rashiidi was not able to pass even one day without seeing Abunawaasi.’
Ichiwa teena/ jis’iyo/ wo/ hudirkamana/ kuḷa masku/ hatá/ ichiwa teena/ mwanaamke/ m’ashiqile muḷjaana/ na nampeenda/ nakhsuḷa kulolowa naaye. ‘It was then in this way that they met each night until it was then that the girl longed for the boy and loved him and wanted to be married by him.’
Ichiwa teena/ uje mubli/ kuḷasku/ nabiga Safiya. ‘It was then that the husband every day beat Safiya.’
Isa/ teena/ ichiwa kuwaa ye/ namkorsha mwana wa dul’eda uyu. ‘From that time he started to raise the baby fox.’
Isa teena/ yiko dhibu mooyi. ‘Now then there is (just) one problem.’
Ka khisaa ye/ kuwa mwana wa mwii(n)sho/ na teená/ kuwa mwiimbili...
‘Because he was the last child and also because he was a boy...’
Ka khisani/ iizó/ teena. ‘Why did he refuse then?’
Leelo/ hattá/ peesa/ yaa si/ kuja/ nt^hachiná/ na waant^hú/ muiyiini/ hawashpendi teena. ‘Today we do not even have money with which to eat and the people of the town do not love us anymore.’
Maraa isa/ mwanaamke/ chimwambila waawaye/ chiza mpeleka/ teena/ Hasani/ zitaani. ‘This time the girl told her father not to send anymore Hasani to the war.’
Mi/ mp^hakile gaari/ teena. ‘I loaded the truck then.’ Variant sentences: Mi/ teena/ mp^hakile gaari. Or: Mi/ teena/ mp^hakiilé/ gaari. Or: Mi/ mp^hakiilé/ teena/ gaari. Or: Mi/ mp^hakile teená/ gaari. (The last example reveals that teena can be put in IAV position without necessarily being focused. See elsewhere in this entry for an example where IAV-positioned teena is focused.)
Mi/ sinakhadira teena/ khkala naa we. ‘I cannot live with you any longer.’
Monda uki/ haakosi/ konda teena. ‘The one who tastes honey never fails to taste it again.’ (A proverb.)
Mubli/ ba’ada ya mukeewe/ kufa/ nt^hakuwa teena/ muunt^hu. ‘The man, after his wife died, was never again a human being.’
Mukeewá/ mi/ sinakhadira teena/ ku’iisha/ ka nasiibu. ‘My wife, I cannot any longer live on luck.’
Na ichiwa/ hapati teena/ hattá/ sadakhá. ‘And it became that he could not get anything, even alms, any longer.’
Na teená/ nguwo/ zaa ye/ veetó/ zinazo mayi yaa munu. ‘And also, the clothes that he is wearing have salt water [taste salty].’
Naku’insha okó/ maaka/ teena. ‘I have been living there for (since) a year.’
Nt^hakuwonowa teena. ‘He was never seen again.’
Nt^hangú/ sku iyo/ mi/ skumwona teena/ waawaye. ‘Since that day, I have not seen his father again.’
Nt^hangú/ sku iyo/ nt^hakendra teena. ‘Since that day he has not gone home again.’
Omari/ nt^hakhteza teená. ‘Omari new played a game again after that.’
Omari/ nt^hakuja teená. ‘Omari has never eaten again (after something bad happened).’
Omari/ nt^hakuya teená. ‘Omari has never come again (after something bad happened).’ (Observe that teena is phrased with the verb. Also note the final accent on the verb phrase.)
Omari/ nt^hamona teená. ‘Omari never saw him again.’
Omari/ pakile gaari/ teena. ‘Omari loaded the truck then.’ (The simple yes-no question reveals teena to be out-of-focus, as evidenced by its undergoing accent-shift: Omari/ pakile gaari/ teená? In the emphatic yes-no question, accent in the phrase containing the verb also undergoes accent shift: Omari/ pakile gaari/ teená!?) Omari/ pakile teená/ gaari. ‘Omari loaded then the truck.’ (The simple yes-no question establishes the out-of-focus nature of gaari in this sentence:

Omari/ pakile teená/ gaari? The preceding phrase also shifts its the emphatic yes-no question: Omari/ pakile teená/ gaari!?)

Omari/ shpakiza gaari/ teená. ‘If Omari loads the truck, what then?’ Or: Omari/ teená/ shpakiza gaari. Or: Teená/ Omari/ shpakiza gaari. (Prosody. In this example, we recorded the possibility of the sentence-initial subject noun undergoing accent shift in this type of question. In other examples, we observed the sentence-initial subject retaining its default penult accent.)

Omari/ skolaani/ nt^hakendra teená. ‘Omari has never gone to school after that.’

Shfaanyeni/ teena. ‘What should we do then?’ Or: Teena/ shfaanyeni. (Phon.

Notice that the preposing of teena induces the pseudo-relativization of the subjunctive verb, which in this example has the =ni ‘what?’ interrogative enclitic appended. Since there is no relative verb version of the subjunctive, the final accent is the only indication of pseudo-relativization.)

Teena/ ichiwa/ ye/ heendra/ hadiqaani/ maraa nt^hatu/ ku^la muunt^hi.

‘Then it became (the case that) he went into the garden three times each day.’

Teena/ Omari/ fiile. ‘Then Omari died.’ Or: Teena/ fiile/ Omari. Or: Fiile/ teena/ Omari. Or: Teena/ fiiló/ Omari. (Note that only in the last example is their evidence that preposed teena can be focused. Also note that although the subject can be postposed, it is not phrased with the verb when it is. Thus the following is ill-formed: Teena/ filo Omari. ‘After that died Omari.’)

Teena/ Omari/ pakile gaari. ‘Then Omari loaded the truck.’ (Since there is no out-of-focus element in the verb phrase, there is no accent-shift in the simple yes-no question: Teena/ Omari/ pakile gaari? The emphatic yes-no question shifts accent in the verb phrase: Teena/ Omari/ pakile gaari!?)

Teena/ washfaanya. ‘Then they did it.’ (Syn. It is grammatical for teena to be post-verbal, but the pre-verbal position is preferred: Washfaanya/ teena.)

Teena/ washkhira. ‘Then they agreed.’ Or: Washkhira/ teena.

Wachisaafira/ teena/ mweezi/ mzimá/ walá/ nt^hawakuwona/ nt^hi. ‘They travelled once more a whole month but they did not see land.’

We/ shfaanya/ uyu/ waliko khubeeló/ hutamwona teena. ‘If you do (wage war, in the context of the story), this one who has been lost to you, you will not see her anymore.’

Ye/ ha’endri/ teena/ numbaani. ‘He does not go home anymore.’

kh-teenga

v. [Sw. tenga SSED 462] (tengeele, teenzele) move away, keep at a distance, be far from, avoid, stay away

Abaasa/ mtengele mwaana. ‘Abaasa moved away from the child.’

Lilla/ ichiðihira/ wanaafakhi/ hutenga. ‘If truth appears, a lie stays away.’ (A proverb.)

Mfanye mweenza/ munt^hu msuura/ mwovu/ mteenge. ‘Make a friend of a good person, a bad one, just stay away from him.’ (A proverbial saying.)

Mteenge Hamza/ mteengé. ‘Stay away from Hamza, that’s what you should do.’

Mteenge Hamza/ ni mwovu. ‘Stay away from Hamza, he is evil.’

We/ ni sahá/ kumtenga Huseeni. ‘You are right to avoid Huseeni.’

rel.

kh-teengana v. rec. [Sw. tengana SSED 462] (tengeene) avoid one another, stay away from one another, move away from one another, be far from one another

kh-teengeka v. p/s. [Sw. tengeka SSED 462]

Khaasimu / ha^lteengeki. ‘Khaasimu cannot be avoided.’

kh-teengela v. appl. [Sw. tengea SSED 462]

Nt^hengela mwaanawa. ‘Leave my child alone (stay away from my child for me)!’

- kh-tengeleka* v. appl. p/s.
kh-teengsha v. caus. [Sw. tengsha SSED 462] (tengesheeze) cause someone to move away Ibraahiimu/ tengesheeze chiti/ naa muḷo. ‘Ibraahiimu moved the chair away from the fire.’
Mwaalimu/ mtengesheze mwaana/ na mweenzawe. ‘The teacher had the child move away from his friend.’
- kh-tengeshana* v. caus. rec.
kh-tengesheka v. caus. p/s.
kh-tengesheleza v. caus. appl.
kh-tengeshelezanya v. caus. appl. rec.
kh-teengeza v. tr. (teengeze) move something away from something kh-tengoowa v. pass.
Mwovu/ hutengoowa. ‘A bad person is avoided.’
- rel. nom.
m-teenga (wa-) n. 1/2 one who avoids mtenga waant^hu ‘one who avoids people’ ma-teengano n. 6
ma-teengo n. 6
m-tengoowa (wa-) n. 1/2 one who is avoided
- n-teenga* n. [Sw. chenga "a kind of fish" SSED 54; t^henga "cephaloptere" [=manta ray] Sac. 883] manta ray; [pron. nt^heenga]
- ma-teenge* n. 6 large, bow-shaped golden ear-rings, usually worn together with the smaller ambali ear-rings (in the past)
- teenka* n. no etymology known (with reference to Somali history) the act of forcing the native people to work on European plantations, where the people were paid with food but not wages -- each tribe was forced to provide workers at certain times (though one tribe might pay another tribe to go to work for them, as the Haṭimi paid the Tunni to work for them); [pron. teenk^ha] khpeleka teenk^ha ‘to send forced laborers’
- sh-teenzi* (s-) n. 7/8 [Sw. utenzi (tenzi) SSED 509] poem composed in Chimiini with religious didactic theme (The Chijini form [nzish^t] establishes that nzi has a prenasalized consonant as onset) kuleta shteenzi ‘to recite a poem’ Mi/ hukuumbuka/ kubarata shteenzi/ icho/ ka kaamu. ‘I remember learning that poem by heart.’
na shteenzi cha hija teena khitaaamu/ somaani kulla kheeri ni timaamu [st.] ‘now the poem of the pilgrimage is at an end/ recite it: its blessing is all-encompassing’ na shteenzi cha sabri tala timaamu [st.] ‘and the poem of patience, take it, it is completed’ shteenzi chimooyi ‘one poem’ stenzi za deeni ‘religious poems’ stenzi statu ‘three poems’ stenzi ziwili ‘two poems’
- l-tepe* (n-) n. 11/10 [Sw. utepe and tepe SSED 463, 509; possibly from Eng. tape] a piece of cloth used as a bandage, a strip of cloth, a (military) stripe; [pron. nt^hepe]
Ltepe ili/ nlaako. ‘This bandage is yours.’ (Cf. Nt^hepe izi/ nzaako. ‘These bandages are yours.’) ltepe lmooyi ‘one stripe (as of a military officer)’ Ma’iisha/ mzubile maana/ ltepe/ chittaani. ‘Ma’iisha wrapped a strip of cloth around the child's head.'

nt^hepee mbili 'two stripes'

rel.

sh-tepe (s-) n. 7/8 piece of cloth

Chiza khuraasha/ m̄tinde chaala/ chimó/ mpe na sh̄tepe ichi/ kuzuba mkonowe. 'If he refuses to follow you, cut off his finger and give him this piece of cloth to wrap around his hand.'

Ilu ya sh̄tepe/ icho/ yandishila ina ya sul̄taani. 'On that piece of cloth was written the name of the sultan.'

kh-tereega

v. [unknown etymology] (teregeele) be foolhardy, expose oneself to danger, take a risk, walk on the brink, edge of s.t.

Sheekhi/ nakht̄erega kilaa muunt̄hi/ khpita mahala/ zinakinendroo zitá. 'Omari is taking a risk every day passing a place where fighting is going on.'

rel.

kh-teregeka v. p/s.

Sheekhi/ mwaanawe/ nakht̄eregeka/ kurashmanyā na wiizi./ 'Sheekhi is taking a risk by accompanying thieves.'

kh-teregeka v. appl.

Mwaana/ nakhut̄eregeka. 'The child is taking a risk on you.'

nom. rel.

m-tereega (wa-) n. 1/2 one who is foolhardy

ma-tereego n. 6

Mat̄erego miingi/ nt^hamu/ shaka/ kuwa akhiriye/ nii mbovu. 'Too much risk-taking, there is no doubt that in the end it will be bad.'

kh-teremeka

v. (teremeshele) leave, go away in a rush

Hamadi/ mwabile Hasani/ kahima/ teremeka/ kaaka/ numbaani/ na kapiili/ siye. 'Hamadi told Hasani: get away from my house quickly and don't come again.'

rel. Nom.

ma-teremeko n. way of leaving in a rush

u-teremeko n. way of leaving in a rush

Omari/ ut̄eremeko/ waa ye/ teremeshelo numbaani/ ka Hasani/ nt^hakuruuda/ kapiili. 'Hasani, the way that he ran away from Hasani's house, he never went back again.'

m-teremko (mi-)

n. [Sw. mtelemko SSED 460] slope variant form: m̄teremuko

rel.

ma-teremko n. check

tereena

n. train

Ali/ leelo/ masku/ nakhsaafira/ ka t̄ereena/ nakendra Mambasa. 'Tonight Ali is traveling by train going to Mombasa.'

Hachisaafiri/ ka t̄ereena. 'We will not travel by train.'

Somaaliya/ nt^haziiko/ t̄ereena/ laakini/ Keenya/ ziiko. 'There are no trains in Somalia, but in Kenya there are.'

teersa

Gaari/ ichineendra/ hubadīlowa maarsha/ kaandra/ hut̄īlowa biriima/ chimaliza sekondo/ chimaliza t̄eersa/ chimaliza kuwaarta/ chimaliza kuwinta.

'When a car runs, you change the gears, first gear one, then gear two, then gear three, then gear four, and then gear five.’

kh-tersata

v. [unknown etymology] take care of oneself; go away, find another place to be Muunt^hu/ mahala/ shkaha^htoowa/ hutersata. ‘If a person is in a place where he hated/not wanted, he must find a solution/ another option.’

rel.

kh-tersatela v. appl.

Ali/ hadiile/ mi/ nt^hersateleni/ chiint^hu/ ba/ siná/ walá/ mahala ya keendra/ sinaayo. Ali said: me, with what can I find a solution, I have nothing and I have no where to go.’

kh-tersatoowa v. pass.

Muunt^hu/ mahala/ shkaha^htoowa/ hutersatoowa. ‘If a person is in a place where he hated/not wanted, he must find a solution/ another option.’

kh-tersatila

v. [unknown etymology] conspire, plot against kh-tersha

v. [unknown etymology] (tersheeze) rule, govern

Muunt^hu/ chiwanazoo nguvu/ hutersha. ‘When one is strong, possesses force, he rules.’ (A proverbial saying.)

Waant^hu/ awa/ mahala yaa wo/ wachi^hiinshó/ waliko sh^htershó/ sul^htaani/ nt^hana diini) ambó) kaafiri. ‘Those people, the place where they lived (which) a sultan ruled who did not have a religion, or (he was) an infidel.’ (The syntax of this example is unclear. The initial NP waant^hu/ awa ‘people these’ is followed by a non-restrictive relative clause, mahala yaa wo wachi^hiinshó ‘the place where they lived’. The next phonological phrase, waliko sh^htershó is obviously a relative clause, and sul^htaani is the postposed subject of the relative verb. What is not very clear is the syntactic link between this structure and the preceding part of the sentence. Our consultant glossed the sentence as “those people, the place where they lived was ruled by a king who had no religion or was an infidel.’ In that translation, mahala would be the subject of the passive verb -tershoowa. But waliko sh^htershó is clearly not passive and has a [cl.1] subject which requires a null subject prefix. Thus we must translate this segment as ‘which he ruled, a sultan’ but the syntactic linkage to what precedes is not transparent, however. Given that waliko sh^htershó is a relative compound verb, waaliko being a past tense copular verb and sh^htershó a past tense verb in the chi tense, where chi is here reduced to sh by virtue of phonological rules, then we have an instance of a case where the postposed subject of a relative clause is (a) prosodically separated from the verb and (b) falls outside the scope of the final accent triggered by the relative verb. Now notice that sul^htaani is itself modified by a relative clause nt^hana diini ‘who did not have religion’. The final accent shows that this is a relative verb, as does the fact that diini ‘religion’ phrases with the negative verb. In a non-relative clause structure we would expect nt^haná/ diini ‘he does not have religion’. The absence of a final accent in kaafiri ‘infidel’ demonstrates that ambó/ kaafiri is not part of the relative clause modifying sul^htaani, hence we translate as “or (in other words, he was) an infidel’ and take this to be an aside, not part of the relative modifier of sul^htaani. The syntactic issue that remains is that waant^hu/ awa does not have a predicate to which it is tied, while the rest of the sentence is a comment about where these people lived.)

Sarkaali/ hutersho bilaa u’adaalá/ hayduumi. ‘The government that rules without justice does not last long.’

rel.

kh-tershanya v. rec.

Waant^hu/ wattershenye ka mahabba. ‘People governed themselves [lit. one another] with love.’

kh-tersheka v. p/s.

Hawattersheki. ‘They cannot be governed (said, for example, of a group of rebellious people).’

kh-tersheleza v. appl.

Nt^haná/ chitta cha khtersheleza. ‘He has no brains [lit. head] to govern with.’

Sh^htersheleze muuyi/ ka u’adaala/ na haqqí. ‘He governed the town with justice and righteousness.’

kh-tershelezanya v. appl. rec.

khtershelezanya waana ‘to look after children for one another’

kh-tershoowa v. pass.

- Mi/ speendi/ kḥtershoowa. ‘I do not like being ruled (i.e. I do not want any rule to stop me from doing what I want to do).’
- rel. nom.
m-tersha (wa-) n. 1/2 ruler
m-tersho n. 3
u-tersho n. 14
- sh-terteegi* n. [no etymological source known] wart
Alí/ ṃwaanawe/ chiṃlazile sḥterteegi/ itayaani. ‘Ali’s son, a wart has grown on his cheek.’
Wanṭu wa Miini/ huhada/ dawa ya sḥterteegi/ ni kḥpishoowa. ‘The people of Miini say that the cure for a wart is to burn it.’
- teesara* n. identification document, I.D.
piicha/ ya teesara ‘identity picture’
Somaaliya/ nṭaku/ teesara/ laakini/ Keenya/ ziiko/ askari/ takhushiika/ kinendra bilaa teesara. ‘In Somali there are no identification documents, but in Kenya there are; police will arrest you for walking without an I.D.’
- i-tete* (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. cheche "a small piece of anything" SSED 52] drop; a blister filled with water itete ya maayi ‘a drop of water’ matete ya maazi ‘drops of blood’ matete yaa nvula ‘drops of rain’ mp̣hamp̣ha wa matete (or: mambarani wa matete) ‘sp. of (spotted) shark’ Nḳhasiizé/ maayi/ yanakinendra itete itete/ bombaani. ‘I heard water drip(ping) from the faucet/tap.’ (In GM’s speech, the first person subject marker typically elides in front of a voiceless consonant, and as a consequence of this elision, a voiceless stop is unaspirated. Thus the initial verb in this example was actually pronounced kasiizé. MI, on the other hand, consistently retained the nasal and aspirated the voiceless stop: nḳhasiizé.)
Wowi/ asliye/ ni matete yaa nvula. ‘A river, its origin is drops of rain.’ (A proverb.)
- rel.
l-tete (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.
n-ṭete n. 9/10
nṭete yaa mulo ‘a spark of fire’ sh-tete (s-) n. 7/8 dim.
maazi ya ụdhiya sḥtete sḥchipotela [st.] ‘if a drop of blood of a slaughtered animal falls’ sḥtete chaa mulo ‘a little spark of fire’
- n-tete* n. 9/10 [Sw. cheche "a small black and white animal, rather like a mongoose, said to be able to emit a very disagreeable odour, so strong that if it enters a beehive, all the bees die. It is said that if its skin is burned in a village, it causes all the people to quarrel among themselves" SSED 52] the exact species of this animal has not been identified, was described by MA as a member of the fox family that is very fast and attacks chickens; this animal was found mainly in the area between Brava and Mudun; it often has a sitting position (like squirrels) – perhaps a polecat (Mustela putorius)
- kh-teza* v. [Sw. cheza SSED 55] (tezeze) play games (cards, dominos, etc.), joke, play a musical instrument, dance, make rhythmical movements (said of things, e.g. boat)
kḥteza ka’uta ‘to take risks, be foolhardy’ Makhaadimu/ watezezee ngoma/ haṭá/ maskuu kati. ‘The servants drummed until midnight.’

Mbene majini/ miingi/ yakumangeene/ khteza khamaari/ basi/ naami/ nakhsuulá/ keendra/ khteza naawo. ‘I saw many djinns gathered together playing games of chance, so I also want to go and play with them.’

Mi/ n-^hezeze. ‘I played.’ (This statement has downstep intonation. The corresponding simple y/n question undergoes Q-raising, as a result of which the verb is not downstepped. By saying that the verb is not downstepped, we do not mean that it is as high or higher than the initial accented syllable. In the speech of GM, it is lower than the initial accented syllable, but does not display the marked lowering characteristic of downstep intonation. In the speech of MI, on the other hand, the final accented syllable in a simple yes-no question does become the pitch peak. The exclamatory question does exhibit downstep, and in addition the final syllable of the verb is lengthened and the high pitch clearly falls: mi/ n^hezeze!? ‘Did I really play?’ The final accent in the statement masks the fact that exclamatory questions exhibit accent shift. The data from a third person subject form reveals the accent shift: Ye/ tezeze. ‘He played.’ Ye/ tezeze? ‘Did he play?’ Ye/ tezeze!? ‘Did he really play?’ We should note that the emphatic yes-no question in the speech of MI shows the same downstep pattern as in GM’s speech, but in addition the entire pitch register is lower in the question than in the statement. The lengthening and falling pitch on the final syllable is not as apparent in MI’s speech as in GM’s.)

Mi/ skuteza. ‘I did not play.’ (In the statement, the sentence-final negative verb is lowered in pitch relative to the subject, thus contrasting with the simple y/n question, where it is not downstepped: Mi/ skuteza? ‘Didn’t I play?’ And the exclamatory question, where there is accent shift: Mi/ skuteza!? ‘Did I really not play?’)

Mwana/ tezeze naa mbwa. ‘The child played with the dog.’ (One can relativize the object of the preposition na, as in: Mbwa wa mwana/ tezezo naayé/ waliko mzele. ‘The dog that the child played with it was old.’ The pronoun ye cannot be omitted: tezezo na/, and also the preposition must be retained. Cf. the plural form of mbwa: Mbwa za mwana/ tezezo naazó/ ziwaliko wazele. ‘The dogs that the child played with them were old.’ It should be noted that while the singular mbwa governs human agreement ([cl.1] agreement), the plural mbwa governs [cl.10] agreement, as seen in za, naazo, and zi-. While this is true, it can also be seen that the adjective -zele seems to have fixed human agreement prefixes: m- and wa-.)

mwana tezezo na Saalimú/ sukhuuní ‘the child who played with Saalimu in the market’ mwana tezezo sukhuuní/ na Saalimú ‘the child who played in the market with Saalimu’

Mwaanawe/ siwo/ tezezo ndilaani. ‘Her child is not the one who played in the road.’

Mwaanawe/ tezeze ndilaani. ‘Her child played in the road.’ (Cf. the corresponding negative form for the usual difference in phrasing:

Mwaanawe/ nt^hakhteza/ ndilaani. ‘Her child did not play in the road.’ Of course, even in the affirmative, the verb may be phrasally separated from the complement if emphasis is placed on it: Mwaanawe/ tezeze/ ndilaani. ‘Her child played in the road.’ Furthermore, the negative verb is not separated from the complement in a relative clause construction: mwana nt^hakhteza ndilaani ‘the child who did not play in the road’.)

Nt^hezeze na Saalimú/ sukhuuní. ‘I played with Saalimu in the market.’ (Phon. In this sentence there is no contrastive focus and the final accent triggered by the verb extends to the end of the verb phrase. It is possible to put contrastive emphasis on Saalimu: Nt^hezeze na Saalimú/ sukhuuní. ‘I played with Saalimu (not any one else) in the market.’ In this case, the final accent does not extend past the emphasized phrase. One can locate the locative immediately after the verb, in which case it has contrastive emphasis: Nt^hezeze sukuuní/ na Saalimu. ‘I played in the market (and nowhere else) with Saalimu.’ Notice that the final accent only extends as far as the locative in this case.)

Nt^hezeze sukhuuní. ‘I played in/at the market.’

Nt^hawakhteza. or Want^hakhteza. ‘They did not play.’

Nuru/ tezeze. ‘Nuru played.’ (The simple yes/no question undergoes Q-raising but has no other differences from the statement, while the exclamatory question shifts the accent to the final syllable of the verb obligatorily, and also on the subject, although this is a variable phenomenon in our data: Nurú/ tezeze!?.)

Tezeze/ ^hNuru. ‘He played, Nuru.’ (In this statement, Nuru is radically downstepped. The simple yes/no question is Tezeze/ ^hNuru? ‘Did he play, Nuru?’ Note the shift of the accent to the final syllable of Nuuru. The postposed subject in the question is not downstepped as in the statement, but is not as raised as in ordinary Q-raising, at least in the speech of GM.)

Walatte wanateze numbaani/ pamooyi. ‘Let them play in the house together.’
rel.

kh-teleza v. appl. (teleeze) play with, joke with, at; put s.o. off

Akhili/ hatelezi/ chaake. ‘A wise man does not waste [lit. play with] his things.’ (A proverb.)

Chaake/ muunt^hu/ hatelezi. ‘His things, a person does not play with.’ (A proverb.)

khteleza peesa ‘to squander money (lit. play with)’

Omari/ peesaze/ teleeze/ isa/ chiint^hu/ nt^hanaayo. ‘Omari, his money he squandered, now he has nothing.’

khteleza ruuhuye ‘to deceive oneself, undermine oneself’

Hasani/ wanayo fursa/ khpata peesa/ dukaye/ ichiineendra/ laakini/ teleze ruuhuye/ nt^hashfaanya/ kaazi/ jisa suura/ kila wakhtⁱ/ duka/ shfuunga. ‘Hasani had an opportunity to make money; his shop was running good, but he undermined himself, he was not working well, every time the shop was closed.’

Na maali/ teleeze/ hatá/ iweele/ nt^haná/ yaa ye/ kuja. ‘And (his) wealth he squandered until it became that he had nothing to eat.’

Sint^helezé/ nambila lila. ‘Don’t joke, play with me; tell me the truth.’

Wa’izo kumraashá/ wa’anziize/ kumteleza/ na mahala ya/ shpitó/ want^hu/ wachibiga nk^heje/ wachimtaanda. ‘The ones who refused to follow him, they began to laugh at him and wherever he passed, people shouted and they insulted him.’

Weele/ kuwa want^hu/ wanamteleza. ‘It became that people were mocking him.’

kh-telezoowa v. appl. pass. (teleeza) be played with Laakini/ [†]maayi/ ni sahali/ khtaanyika/ khtelezoowa/ khfanyowa kila chiint^hu/ maayi/ maayi/ ma’anaye/ siwo/ jawabuu nk^hulu/ siwo/ jawabu yaa dhibu/ laakini/ maazi/ maazi/ siwo/ (jawabu ya) matezo. ‘But water is easy to spill, to play around with, for anything to be done with it, water, water, it means, is not a big thing, it not a thing that causes trouble; but blood, blood, is not a thing to play around with.’ (This is a portion of a discussion of the proverb Maazi/ ni mazito/ kolko maayi. ‘Blood is heavier than water.’) wakhtⁱ/ khtelezoowa ‘for time to be wasted, lit. played with’

Wakhtⁱ/ ni ghaali/ ha’utelezoowi. ‘Time is precious, it is not to be wasted.’ (A proverb.)

kh-tezaateza v. freq.

Basi shtezashtez. ‘So she danced and danced.’

Ndrani ya itiki/ yawalimo maayi/ na katiiké/ zivalimo zinsí/ ziwili/ schitezootezó. ‘In the watermelon there was water and in this there were two small fish playing.’

Uje/ nakhtezateza/ nakizaa kuja. ‘That one was playing, refusing to eat.’

kh-tezesh v. caus. (tezesheeze) instruct in how to play a game

Nakhtezesh waana/ mpiira. ‘He is training the children to play football (soccer).’

Nuuru/ mtezesheze mwaana/ mpiira. ‘Nuuru trained/guided/supervised the child playing football.’

Nuuru/ tezesheze mpiira. ‘Nuuru directed/guided the playing of football (e.g. if Nuuru is the coach, then it is his team that he is training).’

Nuuru/ tezeshezee ngoma. ‘Nuuru supervised the playing of drums.’

kh-tezesh v. caus. p/s. (tezesheshile) able to be made to play

Mwaana/ hatezesheki. ‘The child cannot be made to play.’

kh-tezesh v. caus. appl.

rel. nom.

m-teza (wa-) n. 1/2 one who plays

Mteza na matotoope/ haatowi/ kangamiza nguwoze. ‘One who plays with mud does not fail to dirty his clothes.’ (Proverb.)

m-tezo n. 3

Kuna mtezo. ‘(There will) be fun, surprises.’

ma-tezo n. 6 game(s), play, jokes

Kazii mbovu/ si matezo meema. ‘Bad work is better than good play.’ (A proverb.)

ᵐMatezo masuura/ nakhfilató/ kuwa Omari/ takhteza. ‘A good game, I expect that Omari will play.’

Matezo miingi/ huletaa dhibu. ‘Too many jokes brings problems.’ (A proverb.)

Matezo/ yawaliko masuura. ‘The game was good!’ Or: Matezo/ masuura/ yawaalikó.

Munt^hi uyu/ lapiiile/ wakulu/ na zihabá/ hulawa ibana ya muuyi/ hendra kulangala matezo za namna ka namna. ‘In the afternoon of this day adults and children go to the outskirts of town to watch games of different kinds.’

Takhshindro matezo ya taatú/ tu/ ndiyé/ takuwo shiinzió. ‘The one who just wins the third game, it is he who will be the one who won.’

Wakhti/ mwiingiwe/ Hamadi/ hafaanyi/ matezo. ‘Most of the time Hamadi is very serious (lit. doesn’t play games).’

We/ nayo matezó. ‘You are joking.’

ye/ nakhtezo matezó ‘while he was playing games’ or ye/ nakhtezó/ matezo (The second form shows that verb emphasis triggers the Accentual Law of Focus in an adverbial relative clause. GM did accept ye/ nakhtezó/ matezó as a possibility.)

rel.

ma-tezomatezo n. playing, joking

Chiint^hu/ muunt^hu/ chisula chiint^hu/ ka matezomatezo/ tu/ haapati.

‘Something, if a person wants (to get) something just by playing (joking, not taking seriously etc.), he does not get it.’

sh-tezo (s-)

n. 7/8 [unknown etymology] button

Alí/ vete shaati/ sansa stezo. ‘Ali wore a shirt without buttons.’

hanzu ya stezo ‘a haanzu with buttons (rather than a zipper)’ khtila shetezo ‘to button’

Namtila maaná/ shaati/ stezó. ‘I am buttoning the child’s shirt.’

(Phon. If there is focus on shaati, the Accentual Law of Focus may block the propagation of final accent past the focused element: [namtila maaná/ ^ᵐshaati/ stezo]. However, we also recorded the possibility of accent shift on stezo even with focus on shaati. Similarly, while focus on maana would be expected to block further propagation of final accent: [namtila ^ᵐmaaná/ shaati/ stezo], we did record the possibility of final accent propagating to the following two phrases.)

Tuuma/ mtile maana/ shaati/ stezo. ‘Tuuma buttoned the child’s shirt.’ (Phon. The simple yes-no question exhibits Q-raising but no accent shift. The exclamatory yes-no question shifts the accent in all phrases in the VP: Tuuma/ mtile maaná/ shaati/ stezó!?) shetezoche ‘its button’; stezoze ‘its buttons’ stezo za haanzu ‘the buttons on a haanzu’

n-ti

n. 9/10 [Sw. nchi SED 331] land, country, place, ground, earth; [pron. nt^hi]

Chimwambilaa muke/ ya kuwaa ye/ waliko... nakumeera/ nt^hi/ wako mayahuudí. ‘He told the woman that he was looking for a land where there were Jews.’

Chimuuló/ ni muunt^hu/ apo/ chimamulato shu’uni zaa nt^hi/ siwo/ fir’ooni/ nafiye. ‘The one who bought him [Joseph] was a man there [in Egypt] who took care of the affairs of the country; it was not Pharaoh himself.’

Chiineendra/ muda/ wa sku niingi/ nt^ho/ hatá/ aakhiri/ shkoma nt^hi mooyi. ‘He walked for a period of many days until at last he reached a land.’

Isa/ khariibu/ ya nt^hi iyi/ mahala/ ya Hasani/ ukó/ yikoo nt^hi/ yiingine/ sultaaniye/ humkahaṭa/ wawaye mwanaamke. ‘Now, near this country where Hasani is, there is another country whose sultan hates the girl’s father.’ (The construction wawaye mwanaamke is common in MI’s speech, but rejected by other speakers.)

Mi sula khpeenda/ kuziyarataa nt^{hi}/ mahalaa we/ iliiló. ‘I would like to visit the country where you come from.’

Mi/ takhpeenda/ kuziyarataa nt^{hi}/ yaa we/ iliiló. ‘I would like to visit the country where you come from.’

Miti/ hukula karkaa nt^{hi}. ‘Trees grow in the earth.’

mwana waa nt^{hi} (or: mwanaa nt^{hi}) ‘citizen’ (cf. wana waa nt^{hi} ‘citizens’)

Wanaa nt^{hi}/ wabarete kulima. ‘The natives learned to cultivate.’

Na ichiwa apo/ nt^{hi}/ nzimaye/ maazi. ‘And there was blood everywhere on the ground.’

nt^{hi}aasa wafaati Mooja shpeleke Makka/ numa Madiina nt^{hi} zinaayo baraka [st.] ‘before our death, may God take us to Mecca/ then to Medina, both blessed places’ nt^{hi}ii nk^havu ‘dry land’

Nt^{hi}/(nii) nk^havu. ‘The land is dry.’

Shkalaant^ha/ nt^{hi}/ chila. ‘She sat on the ground and cried.’

Wachimeera/ nt^{hi} suura/ washfanya muundra/ na wachaala/ matuundra/ naa mbogá. ‘They searched for some good land and they made a garden and planted fruits and vegetables.’

Wachiineendra/ wachiineendra/ hatá/ washkoma nt^{hi} yingine. ‘They walked and walked until they reached another land.’

Wahamari/ ni waant^hu/ wa’iló/ ka nt^{hi} zingine. ‘The Wahamari are people who came [to Brava] from other countries.’

Wana waa nt^{hi}/ wampele ra’iisi/ zawaadi. ‘The citizens gave the president presents.’

Want^hu wa nt^{hi} yiitu/ husuloowa/ wo/ kiiwa/ kuwaa si/ shfile ka khisa yaawó. ‘People of our country must know that we died for their sake.’

Ye/ tete ijiwe/ nakubigabigaa nt^{hi}. ‘He took a stone and pounded it against the ground.’

rel.

chi-nti (zi-) n. 7/8 dim. [pron. chint^{hi} and zint^{hi}] (Phon. These diminutive forms are notable for the occurrence of final accent rather than the default penult accent, and also for the occurrence of a short vowel in the prefix. Compare, for example, muunt^hu and waant^hu, where the prefix is lengthened before a stem with a prenasalized consonant in syllable onset position.)

i-nti (mi-) n. 5/4 aug. [pron. int^{hi} and mint^{hi}] sh-ti (s-) n. 7/8 dim. (Morph. It should be noted that while this diminutive form, without the nasal prefix element, is possible, the corresponding augmentative iti and miti are not used in the language.)

kh-tii’a

v. [Sw. tii SSED 466; Ar. tā’a W572] (ti’iile) obey

Janna/ hingilowa ka kumti’a/ ya mojiitu. ‘Paradise is attained (lit. entered) by obeying God.’

kumtii’a/ na kumkhuduma mwaaná ‘to obey and serve the child’

Mgarwa/ shtii’a/ amri/ chiingila. ‘The fisherman obeyed the order and got into [the grave].’

Muunt^hu/ chiza kuwati’a wazele/ hutala ink’aari. ‘If one does not obey his parents he is cursed.’

muunt^hu mt^{hi}iilo humtila janaani [st.] ‘the man who obeys him (God), (God) puts him in paradise’

Wahuḍuriilopó/ chiwa’uza/ sultani wiinu/ chinaamura/ jawaabu/ ntamtii’a/ amó/ hanimtii’i. ‘When they were there, he told them: if your (pl.) sultan gives you an order, would you obey him or would you not obey him?’

- Waana/ na wiikulú/ wash̄t̄ii'a/ amri/ ya chizeele. 'The children and grandchildren obeyed the order of the old woman.'
- Waant^hu/ wachim̄jiiba/ kuwa wat̄amt̄ii'a. 'The people answered that they would obey him.'
- We/ chinshiindra/ mi/ nt̄^hakhūt̄ii'a/ naamí/ nch^hikhushiindra/ we/ it̄akhulaazima/ kun̄t̄^hii'a. 'If you defeat me, I will obey you, and if I defeat you, it is a must that you obey me.'
- rel.
kh-ti'oowa v. pass. (ti'iila) be obeyed
We/ amura/ takht̄i'oowa. 'You give orders, you will be obeyed.'
- (mu-)t̄ii'i adj. obedient m̄wana mūt̄ii'i 'an obedient child' wana wat̄ii'i or wana mūt̄ii'i 'obedient children'
- t̄ibaaku n. [Sw. tumbako SSED 478, said to be derived from Hindi] tobacco variant form: t̄ubaaku kuja t̄ibaaku 'to eat, chew tobacco' magomba ya t̄ibaaku or magoomba/ ya t̄ibaaku 'tobacco leaves'
t̄ibaku bardi or t̄ibaaku/ bardi 'soft, cold (i.e. mild) tobacco' t̄ibaku booyi or t̄ibaaku/ booyi 'spoiled, tasteless tobacco'
t̄ibakuu nk^hali or t̄ibaaku/ nk^hali 'hot tobacco'
- t̄if ideo. of dripping
Khula iyo/ ivuyiile/ t̄if t̄if!/ haṭá/ maayi/ yamaliize. 'That calabash leaked until the water got finished.'
- t̄ifik ideo. of dripping slowly
Boomba/ chooloni/ ihaḷaweete/ maayi/ yanakuvuuya/ habahaba/ t̄ifik t̄ifik! 'The pipe in the toilet is damaged, water is dripping little by little, t̄ifik t̄ifik!' Maayi/ yanakht̄awanyika habahaba/ t̄ifik t̄ifik! 'The water is dropping slowly, drop by drop.'
- i-t̄iga adj. effeminate
- kh-t̄iga v. [etymology unknown] (t̄igiile) castrate
- s-t̄igaant̄i n. small, dark brown birds, flying in large groups (100 or more); they usually arrived in Brava in the dry season from the interior, where they mainly fed on sorghum in the fields; according to others, they were seen also in the rainy season when they fed on flowers; [pron. st̄igaant̄^hi]
- t̄ijaara n. [Ar. tijāra "commerce, trade" W91] commerce, trading Miini/ ni muuyi/ nda t̄ijaara. 'Brava is a city of commerce/trading.'
Omari/ hufanya t̄ijaara/ mabena ya Mkhodiisho/ na Miini. 'Omari makes trade between Mogadishu and Brava.'
Safari/ ya kuraaga/ ni t̄ijaara. 'A delayed trip is trade (i.e. good).'
- m-t̄ikati adv. mid-day, noon; [pron. m̄t̄^hikati] (This word seems to be a reduction from muunt̄^hi plus kati. The result of this reduction is unusual in that the t̄ is realized with aspiration, which is otherwise a phenomenon restricted to a prenasalized voiceless stop. Here, the nasal is missing, but aspiration is still retained.)
- t̄ikiti n. 9/10 ticket
kh̄t̄inda t̄ikiti 'to buy a ticket'
Hamadi/ t̄inzile t̄ikiti/ ya ariplaano/ nakhsaafira/ nakendra M̄wiini. 'Hamadi bought an air ticket, he is traveling to Brava.'
Mi/ siisi/ t̄ikit̄ii kamu/ nuulé. 'I do not know how many tickets to buy.' (Observe that a kamu-marked phrase triggers pseudo-relativization of a following verb; in this case, the verb is a subjunctive verb, which does not ordinarily function as a relative verb, but does nevertheless have a pseudo-relative form. The pseudo-relative form does not involve altering the final vowel, but does require final accent.)

Takhadira kuulapi/ tikiṭi/ ya dayuura. ‘Where can I buy an airline ticket?’
tikiṭi iyi ‘this ticket’ (cf. tikiṭi izi ‘these tickets’)

kh-tilfisha

v. [Sw. tilfisha SSED 467; Ar. talifa "to be(come) ruined, damaged" W 96] (tilfishiize) spoil, destroy, wear s.t. out, damage, cause to be in inferior or poor condition

Omari/ maraḏi/ yamtifishiiize/ wakhti miingi/ laaziló. ‘Omari, disease debilitated him, he has been sick for a long time.’

rel.

kh-tilfika v. p/s. get worn out

Ali/ ofeete/ tilfishile/ leelo/ nzimaye/ chilima muundra. ‘Ali is tired, he got worn out, today the whole day he was cultivating the farm.’

kh-tilmaamisha

v. [Som. tilmaan, past tilmaamay DSI 583] (tilmamishiize) point at, indicate, instruct Basi/ chiineendra/ chiineendra/ chiineendra/ jisa uje/ mtilmamishiizó. ‘So he went and went just as that (man) had instructed him.’

kh-tilmamishoowa v. pass.

Muunt^hu/ ukoo kulé/ haṭilmamishoowi/ chiint^hu. ‘One who is far off is not given directions.’ (A proverb.)

Sultaani shtomola amri/ namerowa muunt^hu/ oyo/ waant^hu/ washṭimamishoowa/ kuwa muunt^hu/ oyo/ nt^haná/ chaala/ chimó. ‘The sultan issued an order that that man be searched for; people were indicated that that man had only one finger.’

tilmaamu

n. [Som. noun tilmaan, pl. tilmaamo "indication, sign" DSI 583] act of indicating, giving direction

Nuuru/ oshale numbaani/ ka mkulé/ Ali/ ka tilmaamu/ tu. ‘Nuuru went to his brother Ali’s house just by (following) directions.’

Wako waant^hu/ hawa’isi/ kumpa muunt^hu/ tilmaamu/ jisa suura/ humbaasha. ‘There are people who do not know how to give good directions, they make people get lost.’

tilmiidi

n. [Ar. tilmīd W 97] student

Shekh Wali/ Miini/ wanayo tilmiidi/ wiingi/ chiwasomesha ilmu/ ya diini/ ya islaamu. ‘Sheikh Wali in Miini had many students, he was teaching them knowledge of the Islamic religion.’

kh-tilaanga

v. [Sw. changa “cut into small pieces, said of firewood” SSED 50] (tilaanzile) cut into small pieces, slice (e.g. meat); collect Baana/ tilanzile kani/ nama. ‘What did Baana slice the meat with?’

Baana/ tilanzilee nama/ kaa chisu. ‘Baana sliced the meat with a knife.’

Chilaweeni/ shtilangeni skunyi/ ka paapo/ shtakhtilanga ukuundri. ‘Let us go and let us collect firewood and at the same time, we shall collect the ukuundri fruit.’

Izoo nguwo/ za Omari/ tilaanziló/ ka makhasi iyi/ iwaliko za Haliima. ‘The cloth that Omari cut with these scissors belonged to Haliima.’

Ka khisani/ Omari/ tilanziloo nguwo/ ka makhasi iyó. ‘“Why did Omari cut the cloth with the scissors?” (In the implementation of this sentence, the consultant raised the pitch of the sentence-final iyó. It is significant that with emphasis in this location, there is no barrier to the projection of the final accent of the pseudo-relativized verb all the way to the end of the sentence.)

Mubji/ tilaanziló/ nguwo izo/ waliko Omari. ‘The man who cut the (pieces of) cloth was Omari.’ (In the implementation of this sentence, the pitch on Omari is raised to a level comparable to the initial accented syllable.)

nama ya Baana/ tilanzilo kaa chisú ‘the meat that Baana sliced with a knife’ Naani/ tilanziloo nguwo/ ka makhasi. ‘Who cut cloth with scissors?’
Omari/ tilanzilee nguwo/ ka makhasi. ‘Omari cut cloth with scissors.’
 rel.

kh-tilangiloowa v. appl. pass.

Chisu/ sh^htilangililaa nama/ naami. ‘The knife was used to slice the meat by me.’ (The logical object cannot be the subject of the passive instrumental applied verb: Nama/ itilangililaa chisu/ naami. ‘The meat was cut with a knife by me.’ If one wants to have the logical object be the subject of the passive verb, the simple verb plus a prepositional instrumental phrase must be employed: Nama/ itilanzila kaa chisu/ naami. ‘Meat was sliced with a knife by me.’)

Hunkhalila/ makhasi/ iyo/ itilangililaa nguwo. ‘I think that the scissors were used to cut the cloth.’ (In the implementation of this sentence, our consultant raised the pitch of the accented syllable in makhasi, which of course is phrasally separated from the demonstrative pronoun that follows it.)

Mwaana/ tilangililaa nama/ naami. ‘The child was sliced for meat by me.’ (Nama cannot be the subject of the passive applied verb: Nama/ itilangilila mwaana/ naami.)

kh-tilaangila v. appl. (tilangiliile) slice for, with

Lüini/ Omari/ tilangililoo nguwo/ ka makhasi iyo. ‘When did Omari cut the cloth with the scissors?’ (Observe that in this example, the final accent associated with the pseudo-relativization of the verb was not extended past nguwo.)

Omari/ tilangiliileni/ nguwo. ‘What did Omari cut cloth with?’ (Observe that the enclitic =ni ‘what’ does not lengthen the vowel in front of it, in contrast to the locative enclitic =ni. Also notice that when =ni questions the instrument used, the verb is in the applied form.)

kh-tilangoowa v. pass. (-tilaanzila)

Hunkhalila/ nguwo izo/ stilaanzila/ ka makhasi. ‘I think these clothes were cut with scissors.’ (Our consultant implemented this example with markedly raised pitch on the sentence final makhasi.)

Nguwo/ itilaanzila/ ka makhasi. ‘The cloth was cut with scissors.’

kh-tima

v. cf. k-ikh^htima [Sw. timu SSED 467Ar. tamma W 97] (timiile) be or become complete

Ba’ada ya miyaaka/ mitatu/ yatimiiló/ Abunawaasi/ chandikaa khat^hi/ kumpelekela sultaani. ‘After three years were completed, Abunawaasi wrote a letter and sent it to the sultan.’

Mukhta stimiiló/ ndruti khamsiini/ waziiri/ chimwaambila/ mwaarabu/ ni ebu/ kumbiga mwanaamke/ mlungaana/ lamna iyo. ‘When fifty blows were completed, the minister told the Arab: it is a shame to hit a girl of high social class in this manner.’

qasiidaya itimiile/ faataha inasomoowa [st.] ‘my poem is completed, let us recite the faataha’ skuu saba/ stimiilopó ‘when seven days passed (lit. were completed)’

Soma kht^htima. ‘Recite the Qur’aan in its entirety!’

rel.

kh-timiliza v. caus. appl.

kh-timisha v. caus. (timishiize) complete s.t.

kh-timishika v. p/s. capable of being completed kh-timishiliza v. appl.

Basi/ hunt^hosha/ aya/ yaa we/ nt^himishiliizó. ‘It’s enough, it suffices for me these (things) that you have done for me.’

kh-timiza v. caus. (timiize) cause s.o. to complete s.t.

kh-tima

n. ceremony during which people gather to read the whole text of the Qur’an khsoma kht^htima ‘to recite the Quran in its entirety’

- tīmaamu adj. [Sw. tīmaamu] complete, perfect, right variant: khiṭaamu
Mi/ miiriza/ tīmaamu. 'My reasoning is unimpaired.'
munt^hu tīmaamu 'an accomplished person' ra'yi tīmaamu 'a good idea' wa'eenzelo wanahije tīmaamu/ numa wanamzuure Mtume imaamu [st.]
'allow those who set out to the pilgrimage, to perform it properly/then allow them to visit the Prophet, our Imam'
- sh-tīimbi (s-) n. 7/8 a golden or silver necklace made of several strings of small beads
- l-tīimbo (n-) n. 11/10 rod used to break up stones (pointed at one end and of fairly thick diameter);
penis (colloq.); [pron. nt^hiimbo] līimbo lnene 'a thick rod'; nt^hiimbo nnene 'thick rods' līimboḷa 'my rod'; nt^hiimboza 'my rods'
rel.
i-tīimbo n.
kuvunda majiwe/ ka iṭiimbo 'to break stones with rod' kuvunda skunyi/ ka iṭiimbo 'to break firesticks with rod'
- sh-tīmiri n. 7 [Sw. kitimira "name of an evil spirit" SSED 210; Sac 412 cites kitimiri as also referring to the dance to exorcise this spirit] a kind of group dancing with drumming and singing Mamaḍo/ burureete/ shṭimiriini/ bigilīḷaa ngoma/ tezeze/ mirseete. 'Mamadho fell into a trance during the shṭimiri dancing, drums were beaten for him and he (resumed) dancing/playing and got his senses back.' (GM commented that Mamadho was the name of homosexual man in Brava and that homosexuals were commonly participants in dances like shṭimiri and tumbura.)
- tīimu n. team
Ka ghaḷa/ tīimu/ ya Hamiisi/ watile gooḷi/ ya kaandra. 'Suddenly, Hamiisi's team scored the first goal.'
Tīmu yīimp^hi/ Nuuru/ hadiiló/ washīnzilé. 'Which team did Nuuru say won?' (Note that this example shows that while the main verb is pseudo-relativized due to the preposed question word, it is not necessary for its complement verb to be pseudo-relativized as well. We should comment that generally emphasis on the main verb would prevent the final accent from extending to the following phrase. Nevertheless, in the performance of this sentence, we did observe the final accent being extended.) Tīmu yīimp^hi/ Nuuru/ hadiiló/ washinzilo ikoopá. 'Which team did Nuuru say won the cup?' (In this example, not only is the main verb pseudo-relativized by the preposed question word but also the complement verb is pseudo-relativized.)
- kh-tīinda v. [cf. Sw. chinja SSED 56] (tīinzile) cut, break off, quit; slaughter (an animal); knock fruit from a tree Apo/ muyiini/ waliko baduwi/ mooyi/ kaaziye/ shṭinda hoola/ chuzaa nama. 'In the town there was a nomad, his work was slaughtering animals and selling the meat.'
Boobo/ tīnzilee nama. 'Boobo cut the meat.' Or, with verb focus: Boobo/ tīinzile/nama. (In the corresponding yes-no questions, the first example has no accent-shift whereas the second one does: Boobo/ tīnzilee nama? And Boobo/ tīinzile/ namá?)
Chint^hu cha mwanaamke/ tīnziló/ iwalikoo nama. 'What the girl cut was meat.'
(Observe the use of a [cl.9] subject prefix on the past tense copular verb.)
Chint^hu cha mwanaamke/ tīnzilo kaa chisú/ nii nama. 'What [lit. the thing] the girl cut with a knife is meat.' (Or: iwalikoo nama 'was meat'.)
Chint^hu cha mwanaamke/ tīnziló/ nii nama. 'What the girl cut is meat.'

Chisu chaa ye/ t̥indil̥iloo namá/ chiweshela mezaani. ‘The knife that he used to cut the meat, he put it on the table.’ (This example illustrates that the instrument in the instrumental applied construction may be a target of relativization. The following sentence shows that instead the logical object may be the target: nama yaa ye/ t̥indil̥iloo chisú/ j̥iló... ‘the meat that he cut with the knife and ate’)

Chisu ichi/ hast̥iindi/ nama. ‘This knife won’t cut meat.’

ʿChita/ wamt̥iinzióló/ nyunyi. ‘Head they cut off the chicken.’ Or: ʿChita/ nyunyi/ wamt̥iinzióló.

Endrá/ mmeere/ mahaḷa/ it̥aakuwó/ chiza kundeetela/ nyunyi/ kama uyu/ nt̥^hakhuḷiinda. ‘Go and look for one (a bird) any place that it might be. If you do not find a bird like this one, I will kill you.’

Haliima/ t̥inzile mkate/ kaa chisu. ‘Haliima cut the bread with a knife.’

Haliima/ t̥inzile nama/ kaa cho/ chisu. ‘Haliima cut the meat with it, the knife.’

Huḷiinda/ zaaydi/ yaa chisu. ‘It cuts more than a knife (i.e. it is sharper than a knife).’

Jaani/ t̥inzile nama. ‘Jaani cut the meat.’ Or, with verb focus: Jaani/ t̥iinzi/ nama. (Cf. the pronunciation when there is a final accent-trigger: Mi/ nt̥^hinzile namá. ‘I cut the meat.’ Or, with verb focus: Mi/ nt̥^hiinzilé/ nama.)

Kanaa we/ nt̥^hunakunaamina/ chilawe kaako/ we/ nt̥^hiinda/ pata kuwona ka maat̥oyo. ‘If you do not believe me, let’s go to your place and you slaughter me and get to see with your own eyes [that I do not have a liver].’

Kanaa we/ nt̥^hunakunaamina/ chilawe kaako/ we/ nt̥^hiinda/ pata kuwona ka maat̥oyo. ‘If you do not believe me, let’s go to your place and you slaughter me and get to see with your own eyes [that I do not have a liver].’

kh̥t̥inda amri ‘to decide a matter’

Si/ sh̥t̥inzile amri/ kh̥t̥awakalá. ‘We decided to take a chance.’

Wash̥t̥inda amri/ kh̥t̥uumba. ‘They decided to dig.’

kh̥t̥inda chibarwa ‘to take out a summons’ kh̥t̥inda chaakuja or kh̥t̥indaa kuja ‘to stop supplies, food’ kh̥t̥indaa chita ‘to disgrace someone [lit. cut the head]’

Fulaani/ nt̥^hinzile chita. ‘So-and-so disgraced me.’

kh̥t̥inda feḷa ‘to reduce or withhold a sum of money (e.g. fine, tax)’

Saalaha/ bakhete kaazi/ sku niingi/ t̥indil̥ila feḷa/ mshaharaani. ‘Saalaha has been absent from work many times, he had his salary cut.’

kh̥t̥inda hokomu ‘to decide a suit, sentence, pronounce judgement’

Leelo/ khaadi/ mahkamaani/ t̥inzile hokomu/ Omari/ kilaa mweezi/ kulipa shilingii miya/ deeni/ ya Ali/

namwiló

(or: namraashó). ‘Today the judge at the court sentenced Omari to pay one hundred shillings every month for the debt that he owes Ali (lit. Ali is owed from him).’

kh̥t̥inda it̥o ‘to wink’ kh̥t̥inda jawaabu ‘to cut short talking’

Muunt̥^hu/ maneno miingi/ siwo/ suura/ suura/ kh̥fanya mukht̥asari/ kh̥t̥inda jawaabu. ‘It is not good for someone to talk too much, it is good to be brief, to cut talking short.’

kh̥t̥inda kafaara ‘to slaughter an animal as an offering’

Nuuru/ koḷele wanaafakhi/ imwajibiile/ kh̥t̥inda ngoombe/kafaara. ‘Nuuru told lies, he must (as punishment) slaughter a cow as an offering.’ (Although GM regularly pronounces mw sequences derived from pre-vocalic mu- as simply m, he does not necessarily reduce cross morpheme m-w sequences as simply m. For example, in the present example, the m-w sequence was maintained.)

kh̥t̥inda keesi ‘to decide a case at law’

Leelo/ mahkamaani/ inakht̥alowa da’awa ya Nuuru/namwishtako Huseeni/ khaaḍi/ leelo/ takhtinda keesi. ‘Today at the court the matter of Nuuru suing Huseeni is being taken up, today the judge will make a decision.’

khṭinda kooḍi ‘to decide, conclude something; to interrupt someone; to stop talking’

Omari/ ha’isi/ khṭinda kooḍi/ maneeno/ haamali/ leelo/ muntḥi mzima. ‘Omari does not know how to stop talking, he does not finish talking the whole day.’

khṭinda kuulu ‘to not repay a loan to someone even though one is able to do so [lit. to cut the leg]’

Fulaani/ nt^hinzile kuulu. ‘So-and-so did not repay the loan I made to him.’

khṭinda imilo ‘to eat one’s share [lit. to cut the throat]’

Fulaani/ nt^hinzile imilo. ‘So-and-so ate my share.’

khṭinda makiindri ‘to rotate the buttocks in dancing’

Mamadaano/ mojiitu/ namrehemu/ waliko mkali/ khṭinda makiindri. ‘Mamadaano, God have mercy on him, was very good in dancing.’

Zamaani/ ramaḍaani/ Mwiini/ masku ya sfeeli/wachiletowaa wake/ ka Bulu Mareer/ wawaliko wakali/ khṭinda makiindri. ‘During old times, in Ramadhan, on the night of competition, women were brought from Bulu Mareer; they were expert in dancing.’

khṭinda masaafa ‘to run for a long distance’

Ndovu/ ba’ada ya khṭinda masaafa/ tulushile/ fiile. ‘The elephant, after running for a long time, fell down and died.’

khṭinda matuundra ‘to collect fruit from a tree’

Walima miyuundra/ leelo/ wanakhṭinda matuundra/ miyuundra/ yalazile jisa suura. ‘Farmers today are harvesting fruits; farms produced very well.’

khṭinda miilu ‘to cut the legs – e.g. send s.o. where he will get no profit’

Simṭiindé/ miilu/ ye/ maskiini. ‘Don’t send him where he is not going to get any profit.’

khṭinda mshahara ‘to reduce or withhold money from wages’

Omari/ hafisaani/ ṭindilila mshahara/ nt^hakhfaanya/ kaazi/ mwezi uyu. ‘Omari, at the office, has had his salary reduced; he did not work this month.’

khṭinda nakhshi ‘to carve wood or stone’

Omari/ nakhtinda lwawo/ nakhshi/ kana/ mbawo za Nguuja. ‘Omari is cutting wood with designs like those in Nguuja (Zanzibar).’

khṭindaa nama ‘to annoy [lit. to cut the flesh]’

Fanya ihsaani/ sint^hiindé/ nama/ ka su’aali. ‘Please don’t annoy me with questions.’

Nakunt^hindaa nama. ‘He is annoying me.’

khṭindaa ndila ‘to take a short cut; cut across, blocking a road’

Ali/ ṭinzilee ndila/ holoko sukhuuni) ka gaari/ nt^ha’ina/khpitika. ‘Ali cut off the road going to the market with his car; it cannot be passed.’

khṭindaa nguwo ‘to buy cloth, order a new dress or suit’ khṭinda ooni ‘to quench the thirst’ khṭinda ruuhu ‘to annoy someone by repeatedly asking him to do something; be dying’

Nakhtinda ruuhu. ‘He is dying.’

khṭinda ruuhuye/ nama ‘to worry oneself to death, to be deeply troubled’

Stiindé/ ruuhuyo/ nama. ‘Don’t worry yourself!’

khṭinda showri/ shoori ‘to decide a matter’

kh̄tinda tama'a 'to give up hope, despair'

sku mooyi/ naayé/ t̄inzile tama'á/ walá/ nt^h anakhfilat̄ililá 'one day when he had given up hope and was not expecting (someone to come)...'

kum̄tinda muunt^hu/ kuulu '[lit.] to cut someone's leg -- i.e. to give someone wrong or false guidance'

Kuusi/ it̄indishile. 'The south wind has ended.'

Mi/ nt^hinzilee namá/ kaa chisú. 'I cut the meat with a knife.'

M̄t̄inzile naani/ kaa chisu. 'Whom did he slash with the knife?'

mtume ka nafs̄iye t̄inzile ūdhiya [st.] 'the Prophet slaughtered ūdhiya for himself' muke chisalo iidi sh̄t̄iindo ūdhiya [st.] 'a woman who prayed [the prayer of iidi and who slaughtered ūdhiya'] muke/ (oyo) t̄inziloo namá/ kaa chisú 'the woman who cut the meat with a knife' (Phon. It is not common for the relative verb to be focused, but it is possible; however, the final accent of the relative verb projects all the way to the end of the relative clause even if the verb is focused: muke/ (oyo) t̄iinziló/ namá/ kaa chisú.)

Muke/ sh̄t̄iinda/ ya kuwa... 'The woman decided that...'

muke/ t̄inziloo namá/ kaa chisú/ yaná 'the woman who cut the meat with a knife yesterday' (Phon. A time adverbial in a relative clause falls within the scope of the final accent obligatorily, although in the corresponding statement it would typically be out-of-focus and not fall within the scope of final accent triggered by the verb.)

Muke uyū/ sh̄fikira/ sh̄fikira/ sh̄t̄iinda/ kulaa mbuzi/ kum̄tinda. 'This woman thought and thought and decided to buy a goat to slaughter it.'

Muunt^hu/ hūt̄indo ngamiilá/ mbuzi/ hadaayaṭi. 'One who slaughters a camel does not hesitate to slaughter a goat.' (A proverb.)

Muusa/ nt^hakht̄iinda/ nama. 'Muusa did not cut the meat.'

Muusa/ t̄inzilee nama. 'Muusa cut the meat.' Or with emphasis on the verb: Muusa/ t̄inzile/ nama.

Mwaana/ fakeete/ t̄inzilee ndila. 'The child ran and crossed the street.' Or just: Mwaana/ t̄inzilee ndila. 'The child crossed the street.'

Mwaana/ t̄inzilee wowi. 'The boy crossed the river.'

Naa(ni)/ m̄t̄inziloo nyunyi/ chiṭá. 'Who cut off the bird's head?' Or with verb focus: Naa(ni)/ m̄t̄iinziló/ nyunyi/ chiṭa. (Note that in the case of pseudo-relative clauses, the Accentual Law of Focus constrains the projection of final accent from the verb.)

Nfuye/ ichiwa hūt̄inda matuundra/ hūlaṭila mayiini. 'The monkey used to pick off the fruit and throw them into the water.'

Nim̄t̄inzile mkonó/ mzeelé. 'I cut off the hand the old man.'

Nim̄t̄inzile mkonowé/ mzeelé. 'I cut off his hand the old man.'

Nim̄t̄inzile mzeelé/ mkonó. 'I cut off the old man's hand.' Or: Nim̄t̄inzile mzeelé/ mkonowé.

Nim̄t̄inzile Tuumá/ chaalá. 'I cut Tuuma's finger.' Or: Nim̄t̄inzile ^fchaalá/ Tuuma. 'I cut the finger (of) Tuuma.'

Nim̄t̄inzile Tuumá/ mashuungí. 'I cut Tuuma's hair.' Or: Nim̄t̄inzile mashuungí/ Tuumá. (The second example illustrates that a change in the order of the complements does not require any difference in focus. But one can also have focus, as in Nim̄t̄inzile ^fmashuungí/ Tuuma. 'I cut the hair (of) Tuuma.' Or: Nim̄t̄inzile Tuumá/ mashuungí. 'I cut Tuumá's hair.' There is an additional possibility where both verbal complements are focused: Nim̄t̄inzile ^fTuumá/ ^fmashuungí. This sentence does clearly from Nim̄t̄inzile Tuumá/ mashuungí. The latter sentence has downstep intonation, whereas in the former sentence mashuungí is not downstepped.)

Nnakht̄indaa namá kaa chisú. 'I am cutting the meat with a knife.' Or, with focus on kaa chisu: Nnakht̄inda kaa chisú/ nama. (Phon. If kaa chisu is put into the "immediately after verb position", then the final accent triggered by the verb may not cross it into the next phrase: Nnakhtinda kaa chisú/ namá. This is a reflection of the focused nature of kaa chisu in this position.)

Nt^hinzile mkonó/ wa mzeelé. ‘I cut off the hand of the old man.’ Or:

Nt^hinzile fmkonó/ wa mzeele. (While these two sentences are grammatical, they are not as common as, say, Nimtinzile mzeelé/ mkonó. or Nimtinzile f^hmzeelé/ mkono. It seems that the associative construction is not preferred in cases of inalienable possession. One prefers a structure involving possessor raising.)

Nt^hinzilee namá/ kaa chisú. ‘I cut meat with a kn ife.’

Nt^hinzile ngombe ya mzeelé. ‘I slaughtered the old man’s cow.’ (This sentence answers either a question like: Tinzile ngombe ya naani. ‘You slaughtered the cow of who?’ or: Tinzile ngombe ganí. ‘Which/whose cow did you slaughter?’) (It should be observe that “possessor raising” is not allowed in this case of alienable possession: Nimtinzile mzeelé/ ngoombé. ‘I slaughtered the old man the cow.’)

Nt^hinzile fngoombé/ ya mzeele. ‘I slaughtered the cow of the old man.’ (This sentence is a response to the question: Tinzilení/ ya mzeele. ‘What did you slaughter of the old man’s?’)

Nt^hinzile ruuhuyá/ kaa chisú. ‘I cut myself with a knife (accidentally, not on purpose).’

fNyunyi/ chita/ wamtinziló. ‘The bird’s head they cut.’ (The focus on the preposed nyunyi requires the verb to shift into pseudo-relative form. The focus may be on chita instead: Nyunyi/ fchita/ wamtinziló. When chita is focused, its pitch is raised somewhat above the initial phrase. Preposing does not require focus: Nyunyi/ wamtinzilee chita.)

Omari/ mtinziloo nyunyi/ chita. ‘Omari cut off the bird’s head.’ Or, with focus on the verb as well: Omari/ mtinziló/ nyunyi/ chita. (Observe that in the case of a pseudo-relative clause, focus on the verb brings the Accentual Law of Focus into play, and final accent does not project past the verb. This contrasts with canonical relative clauses.)

Omari/ nt^hakhtinda/ nama. ‘Omari did not cut the meat.’ (Cf. the ill-formed phrasing: Omari/ nt^hakhtindaa nama.) Or, with subject focus: Omari/ nt^hakhtindaa namá. Or: Omari/ nt^hakhtindá/ nama.)

Omari/ tinzile nama yaa ye/ uziló/ kaa chisu. ‘Omari cut the meat that he bought with a knife.’ (Phon. This example illustrates clearly that the final accent triggered by a relative verb, here uziló, extends only to the end of the relative clause. Specifically, we see that kaa chisu is not within the scope of the final accent since it is not part of the relative clause but rather a complement to the verb ‘cut.’)

Shinda khpumula apo/ sku/ nt^hatu/ chimooyi. ‘She decided to rest there for three days or so.’

Sku yaa saba/ karkaa wo/ wanakhtindo skunyi... ‘On the seventh day while they were cutting firewood...’

Tinzile kuya numbaani. ‘He quit going home.’

Tinzilee nama/ kaa chisu/ chimaliza/ weshelee chisu/ mezaani. ‘He cut the meat with a kn ife and then he put the knife on the table.’ Or: Tinzilee nama/ kaa chisu/ chimaliza/ chisu/ chiweshela mezaani. ‘He cut the meat with a knife and then the knife, he put it on the table.’

Tinzilee nama/ kaa chisu/ jiile. ‘He cut the meat with a knife and ate it.’ (MI considered it to be unacceptable to use the applied instrumental verb in this context: Tindilile nama/ chisu/ jiile.)

Tinzilee nama/ kaa chisu/ maliizopó/ weshelee chisu/ mezaani. ‘He cut the meat with a knife and when he finished, he put the knife on the table.’ Or: Tinzilee nama/ kaa chisu/ maliizopó/ chisu/ chiweshela mezaani. ‘He cut the meat with a knife and when he finished, the knife, he put it on the table.’

Tinzile shpandre cha maandra. ‘He broke off a piece of the bread.’

Tinzilení/ kaa chisu. ‘What did you cut with a knife?’ Or, with left-dislocation: Kaa chisu/ tinzilení. ‘With a knife, what did you cut?’ (Phon. The =ni interrogative enclitic puts focus on the verb, thus barring the final accent triggered by the second person past tense verb from projecting past it. It is ungrammatical to say: Tinzilení/ kaa chisú.)

Tinzileni/ kaa chisu. ‘What did he cut with a knife?’ (Possible answers:

Tinzile lkaambala. ‘He cut a rope.’ Tinzilee nkʰuku. ‘He slaughtered a chicken.’)

Tinziloo namá/ kaa chisú/ ni mwanaamke. ‘The one who cut the meat with a knife is the girl.’

Uje/ takhtĩindó/ mwaambile/ ndiyé/ chihaba. ‘That one (goat) who will break (the rope restraining him), tell him (the sultan), it is he who is the younger (goat).’

Wamĩnzilee nyunyi/ chiṭa. ‘They cut off the bird’s head.’ (The simple yes-no question involves no accent shift: Wamĩnzilee nyunyi/ chiṭa? The exclamatory question, of course, does: Wamĩnzilee nyunyi/ chiṭá!?) Or: Wamĩnzilee chiṭa/ nyunyi. ‘They cut off the bird’s head.’ (This example involves mere change in word order, with no alteration of focus structure. Thus the yes-no question versions of this parallel precisely the sentence with nyunyi preceding chiṭa. However, it is possible to focus on a post-verbal chiṭa: Wamĩnzilee ʿchiṭa/ nyunyi. In this case, there is a simple yes-no question with accent shift: Wamĩnzilee chiṭa/ nyunyi?)

Ye/ itinzile karka mundra wa waantʰu. ‘He picked it (e.g. a melon) from the garden of some people.’

rel.

kh-tĩindana v. rec. cut one another kh-tĩindaṭĩinda v. freq. cut frequently

Endrá/ ruuda/ ka moojó/ muuze/ waṭakuwaayi/ wake/ awaje/ waṭinzilozĩnzilo ruhu zaawó/ mikonó. ‘Go and return to your master and ask him what about those women who cut their hands.’

kh-tĩindika v. be broken, cut; be breakable, able to be cut; fall short Chaakuja/ shṭĩndishile. ‘The food was insufficient.’

Chisimacha/ hashtĩndiki/ maayi. ‘My well never stops yielding water.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is kana ‘mouth’.)

Chiʼuṭĩinda/ hawṭĩndiki/ na chiʼushiiká/ hawshiikiki. ‘If you (try to) cut it, you cannot cut it, and if you (try to) sieze it, you cannot sieze it.’

khṭĩndika ruuhu ‘to breathe the last, die’

Kuulu/ itĩndishile. ‘The leg is broken.’

Kuusi/ itĩndishile. ‘The south wind died down.’

Lkaambala/ huṭĩndika mahala nambaamba. ‘A rope breaks where it is thin.’ (A proverb.)

Muuntʰu/ imṭĩndishile/ kuulu. ‘The man broke his leg -- [lit.] the leg was broken with respect to the man.’

Muuntʰu/ tĩndishile kuulu. ‘The man broke his leg.’ Cf. Tĩndishilo kuulú/ ni muuntʰu. ‘The one who broke his leg was the man.’

Shfanya jisʼiyo/ hattá/ ooni/ imṭĩndishile. ‘He did that way until thirst [lit.] was cut off to him -- i.e. his thirst was quenched.’

Sooti/ imṭĩndishile. ‘He is hoarse (lit. voice is broken with respect to him).’

kh-tĩndikana v. p/s. rec. (wa-tĩndikeene) break off a friendly relationship; be cut off from one another’

Waṭĩndikeene. ‘They were not on good terms with one another.’

kh-tĩndikanya v. p/s. rec. caus. (-tĩndikanyiize) create friction between people kh-tĩndikanyoowa v. p/s. rec. caus. pass. (-tĩndikanyiiza)

Waana/ waṭĩndikanyiiza. ‘The children were stirred up against one another.’

kh-tĩndikila v. p/s. appl. run short of, not be sufficient for (with mass nouns as subject); able to be cut for; break for, on Chaakuja/ chintʰĩndikiliile. ‘Food was short for me.’

Chaakuja/ chishtĩndikiliile. ‘Food was short for us.’

Ka chimusmino icho/ muti uyu/ haʼuṭĩndikila/ hatá/ keesho. ‘With this little saw, this tree will not be able to be cut for (you), not even by tomorrow.’

Lkaambala/ limṭĩndikiliile. ‘The rope finally cut in two for him.’

Muti/ ukhuṭindikiliile? ‘Were you able to cut the tree (lit. was the tree able to be cut for you)? was the tree able to be cut for you (by someone else)?’

Peesa/ zikhuṭindikiliile? ‘Are you short of money?’

Peesa/ zintḥindikiliile. ‘I ran short of money (lit. money ran short to me).’

kh-tindikiloowa v. p/s. appl. pass. (tindikiliila)

Nṭḥindikiliila na peesá. ‘I was short of money.’

kh-tindiloowa v. appl. pass. be cut for, with Chisu cha Nuuru/ shṭindililaa nama. ‘Nuuru’s knife was used to cut the meat.’ Or: Chisuche Nuuru/ shṭindililaa nama. Or: Nuuru/ chisuuche/ shṭindililaa nama.

Chisu/ shṭindililaa nama. ‘The knife was used to cut meat.’ (This example from MI shows the instrument having been promoted to passive subject. In this situation, MI rejected relativizing onto the secondary object: nama yaa chisu/ shṭindililá ‘the meat that the knife was used to cut’.)

Muke/ tindililaa nama/ na muunt^hu. ‘The woman had the meat cut for her by the man.’ (There is an alternative word order where the subject is postposed: Nama/ tindililaa muke/ na waant^hu. What is especially interesting here is that the postposed subject phrases with the verb.)

muke tindililaa namá/ na muunt^hú ‘the woman who had the meat cut for her by the man’

Nama/ ileseḷa kḥṭindilowa mwaana. ‘Meat was brought to be cut for the child.’

nama tindililaa muké/ na muunt^hú ‘the meat that the woman had cut for her by the man’ confirm that the predicate would be predicated of nama

Saalaha/ bakhete kaazi/ sku niingi/ tindilila feḷa/ mshaharaani. ‘Saalaha has been absent from work many times, he had had his salary cut.’

Shṭindililaa namá/ na mwanaamké/ nii chisu. ‘What was used to cut the meat by the girl was a knife.’

kh-tiindila v. appl. (tindiliile) cut for, with; to avoid an opponent in ball games, dodge an opponent

Chint^hu cha mwanaamke/ mṭindililo mwaaná/ iwalikoo nama. ‘What [lit. the thing] that the girl cut for the child was meat.’

Chint^hu cha mwanaamke/ tindililoo namá/ chiwalikoo chisu. ‘What [lit. the thing] the girl used to cut the meat was a knife.’

Chisu chaa mi/ nṭḥindililee nk^hukú/ chibeele. ‘The knife that I used to slaughter the chickens is lost.’)

Chisu/ nṭḥindililee namá. ‘The knife, I cut the meat with it.’ (In this example of the instrumental applied verb, the instrument is very comfortably left-dislocated. MI disfavored a structure where the instrument is in IAV position: ?Nṭḥindililee^f chisú/ nama. ‘I cut with a knife meat.’ It is not the case that we cannot find in our notes from MI examples like this offered, but there is also the case that he clearly preferred to prepose the instrument. MI would accept have the instrument in a out-of-focus position in the VP, as in Nṭḥindililee^f namá/ chisu. However, fronting the instrument was even more common. In summary, MI dispreferred using the applied instrumental if the instrument bore focus.)

Chisu/ tindilileni. ‘The knife was used to cut what?’ (cf. A possible answer to this question: Chisu, nṭḥindililee namá. ‘The knife, I used it to cut meat.’)

Chisu/ nṭḥindililoo namá. ‘It’s a knife that I used to cut the meat.’ Or, with verb emphasis: Chisu/ nt^hindililó/ nama.

Daawuudi/ tindilile/ chisu/ nama. ‘Daawuudi cut the meat with the knife’
(It is interesting that MI accepted this sentence, where the verb is focused, but at the same time tended to reject a sentence like Daawuudi/ tindilile chisu/ nama. The explanation seems to be this: MI tended to reject sentences where there is focus on the instrument in the instrumental applied. In the rejected sentence, chisu is included in the focus, while in the case of verb focus, it is not.)

Haliima/ tindilile^f chisu/ mkate. ‘Haliima used a knife to cut the bread.’
(This example is from GM, who accepts the possibility of the instrument in the instrumental applied to be focused. This example answers the question: What did Haliima use to cut the bread?)

Haliima/ tindilile^f mkate/ chisu. ‘Haliima cut the bread with a knife.’ (This example, where mkate is focused, answers the question: What did Haliima cut with a knife?)

Haliima/ tindilileni/ mkate. ‘What did Haliima use to cut the bread?’ Or:
Haliima/ mkate/ tindilileni. ‘Haliima the bread what did she use to cut?’ (A possible answer: Haliima/ mkate/ tindilile chisu. ‘Haliima the bread cut with a knife.’)

Haliima/ tindilile mkate/ chisu. ‘Haliima cut the bread with the knife.’ (This example, provided by GM, was judged to be an answer to the question: ‘What did Haliima do with the knife?’)

Hamadi/ tindilile nama/ chisu cha Nuuru. ‘Hamadi cut the meat with Nuuru’s knife.’ Or: Hamadi/ tindilile nama/ chisuche Nuuru.

But our consultant MI rejected: Hamadi/ tindilile nama/ Nuuru/ chisuche. The ill-formedness of this example suggests that perhaps there is focus present on chisu in the expression Nuuru/ chisuche (recall that MI prefers the instrument to be a topic in the instrumental applied construction. It should be noted that it is possible to prepose the possessive phrase: Chisu cha Nuuru/ Hamadi/ tindilile nama. This possessive phrase may be restructured; best is: Chisuche Nuuru/ Hamadi/ tindilile nama. But also: Nuuru/ chisuche/ Hamadi/ tindilile nama.)

Ibraahimu/ khadirile khindilaa chisu/ nama. ‘Ibraahimu was able to cut the meat with the knife.’ (It is interesting that this is a sentence that MI accepted as well-formed, though in general he rejected sentences where the instrument in an instrumental applied was included in the focus. We do not have an account of why MI found this sentence well-formed.)

Iindilile ruuhuye/ chinofu chaa nama. ‘And so he cut himself a piece of meat.’

Iindilile ruuhuye/ nama/ kaa chisu. ‘(And finally) he cut the meat with a knife.’ (Note that in order to express the instrument, it must be preceded by the preposition ka. The applied verb here is being used with a reflexive object marker. It is ungrammatical for the applied extension to both license the reflexive object marker and also a bare instrument: Iindilile ruuhuye/ nama/ chisu. It should be pointed out that in some cases an applied verb may license both a beneficiary and a bare instrument if the instrument is not actually located in the verb phrase. But this is not possible in the present case according to MI, who rejects Chisu/ iindilile ruuhuye/ nama. ‘The knife, he finally cut the meat with it.’ and Chisu chaa ye/ iindililo ruuhuyé/ namá/ chibeele. ‘The knife that he finally cut the meat with it is lost.’

Jaama/ mtindilile naani/ nama. ‘For whom did Jaama cut meat?’

khindila chaakuja or khindilaa kuja ‘to cut off food, supplies to’

Dowla/ ya Amerikaano/ iwatindilile ma’askari/ ya Somaaliya/ mu’aawana/ yaa kuja/ ka sababu/ mamulii mbovu.

‘The American government cut assistance for food to the soldiers of Somalia because of bad administration.’

khindila ito ‘to wink at’

Ali/ mtindilile Haliima/ ito/ ka nt^hiini/ nakhsula kumshukaamisha. ‘Ali has winked at Haliima secretly, he wants to talk to her about getting together for sex etc.’

Muunt^hu/ mtindilile muke/ nama. ‘The man cut the meat for the woman.’

munt^hu mtindililo muké/ namá ‘the man who cut the meat for the woman’ Mwaana/ tindilile nama/ chisu. ‘The boy cut the meat with a knife.’ (Syn. The instrumental position in this sentence can be relativized ‘into’:

Chisu cha mwaana/ tindililo namaá/ chivundishile. ‘The knife that the boy used to cut the meat is broken.’

Nama/ nt^hindilīlee chisú. ‘Meat, I cut it using a knife.’ (This example from GM illustrates that he allows Left Dislocation of the secondary object in an instrumental applied construction. MI preferred not to have an instrument sitting after the verb, thus he avoided such forms and preferred to use the simple verb plus preposition construction:

Nama/ nt^hinzile kaa chisú. ‘The meat, I cut it with a knife.’

Nimtindilīle maaná/ nama. ‘I cut meat for the child.’ (Syn. Either one of the complements in this sentence may be preposed: Maana/ nimtindilīlee nama. or Nama/ nimtindilīle maaná. The logical object may be ordered after the verb, while still retaining canonical downstep intonation: Nimtindilīlee nama/ maaná.)

Nk^huku zaa mi/ nt^hindilīloo chisú/ spishiḷa naa muke. ‘The chickens that I slaughtered with a knife were cooked by the woman.’ (Syn. In this example, we see the head of a relative clause having the role of direct object in the instrumental applied verb phrase. Our consultant MI was not willing to allow the head to refer to the instrument. However, other speakers do accept a sentence such as:

Nt^haná/ chisu chaa ye/ kunt^hindilaa mi/ nama. ‘He does not have a knife to cut meat for me.

Nt^hindilīle ruuhuyá/ chisu. ‘I cut myself (on purpose) with a knife.’ Or:

Chisu/ nt^hindilīle ruuhuyá.

Tuuma/ mtindilīle maana/ nama. ‘Tuuma cut meat for the child.’ (This sentence represents the canonical word order: beneficiary before logical direct object, and exhibits canonical downstep intonation. The simple yes-no question version retains the same accent locations as the statement. The emphatic yes-no question shifts accent in VP phonological phrases: Tuuma/ mtindilīle maaná/ nama!?)

Tuuma/ mtindilīlee nama/ maana. ‘Tuuma cut meat for the child.’ (Phon. Despite the fact that the logical direct object has been placed immediately after the verb, there is no necessary focus on the direct object. As a result of an absence of focus, the sentence is pronounced with ordinary downstep intonation. And the simple yes-no question version has no accent-shifting: Tuuma/ mtindilīlee nama/ maana? In the emphatic yes-no question, accent shift does occur since the shifting is not connected in any way with a phrase being out-of-focus: Tuuma/ mtindilīlee nama/ maaná!?)

Uzile chisu chaa ye/ kh^hindilaa nama. ‘He bought a knife (for him) to cut meat with.’ (Cf. Uzilee chisu/ kh^hindilaa nama. ‘He bought a knife to use to cut meat.’) kh-tindilana v. appl. rec. settle accounts together, with one another kh-tindilika v. appl. p/s.

Saahibu/ ha^htindiliki/ hoola. ‘Animals cannot be slaughtered for animals for Saahibu (e.g. he will not pay the fee), but note that it is Saahibu that is the subject of the verb.’

kh-tiindisha v. caus. (tindishiize)

Abú/ mtindishize Ali/ ruuhuye/ mkono/ kaa chisu. ‘Abu caused Ali to cut himself on the hand with a knife.’ (Syn. Observe that in the causative the reflexive may be co-referential to the "causee", which is the primary object of the verb. Ordinarily, the reflexive itself must be the primary object of the verb.)

Banaali/ mtindishize Boobo/ nama/ kaa chisu. ‘Banaali caused Boobo to cut the meat with a knife.’

kh-tindishana v. caus. rec.

kh-tindishika v. caus. p/s.

kh-tindishiliza v. caus. appl. (tindishiliize) chisu cha Saalimu/ mtindishilizo Waali/ nama ‘the knife that Saalimu caused Waali to cut the meat with’

Huseeni/ mtindishilize Hamadi/ mwaana/ mwaalimu/ mkono. ‘Huseeni caused Hamadi’s child to cut the teacher’s hand.’ (This causative applied verb form is used to establish a relationship between the two nouns, Hamadi and mwaana, which would ordinarily be one of possession: Hamadi's child. The word order is critical here to establishing the thematic roles of the verbal complements due to the fact that Hamadi, mwaana, and mwaalimu are all [cl.1] nouns and would govern the object marker m(u). Deleting the overt beneficiary/possessor Hamadi does not appear to yield a viable sentence: Huseeni/ m̄t̄indishilize mwaana/ mwaalimu/ mkono. Perhaps the unacceptability of this sentence is due to a kind of "garden path" effect stemming from the natural assumption that the post-verb NP mwaana is controlling the OM on the verb and is the beneficiary/possessor. It is acceptable to have a sentence like Huseeni/ m̄t̄indishilize waana/ mwaalimu/ mkono. 'Huseeni caused his children to cut the teacher's hand.' Here the third person singular possessor is not overt in the sentence except by virtue of the OM that agrees with it; however, the fact that waana cannot be the noun governing the OM, since it would require [cl.2] agreement wa, serves to render the identification of thematic roles clear.)

Osmaani/ m̄t̄indishilize Nureeni/ mwaana/ muti. 'Osmaani caused Nureeni's child to cut the tree.'

Suufi/ chisu/ m̄t̄indishilize Waali/ nama. 'Suufi, a knife, caused Waali to cut meat with.' Or: Chisu/ Suufi/ m̄t̄indishilize Waali/ nama. (These two sentences illustrate that the instrument can be preposed to the front of the sentence, located either before or after the subject. This preposing is more felicitous than leaving the instrument in the verb phrase.)

Suufi/ t̄indishilizeni/ chisu. 'What did Suufi cause to be cut with a knife?' (A possible answer to this question: Suufi/ t̄indishilizee nama/ chisu. 'Suufi caused meat to be cut with a knife.') kh-t̄indishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

kh-t̄indishilizoowa v. caus. appl. pass. (t̄indishiliza)

Chisu/ sh̄t̄indishiliza Nuuru. 'The knife Nuuru was made to cut with.' (The interpretation here is one where Nuuru is doing the cutting and the knife is being used to do the cutting. The structure invites an interpretation where chisu is a beneficiary, but no such sense is actually available. Note that it is unacceptable to say Chisu/ sh̄t̄indishilizaa nama. The agent of the cutting cannot be omitted.)

kh-t̄indoowa v. pass. (t̄inzila) be cut, slaughtered

Apa/ sh̄t̄indoowa/ mbuzi iyo. 'Here that goat was slaughtered.' (In this example, the subject of the passive verb is mbuzi iyo. Notice that mbuzi triggers [cl.9] agreement on the demonstrative, but [cl.1] agree on the verb. The verb here is in the chi narrative past tense; chi appears as sh in front of a voiceless stop.)

Chinyunyi/ t̄inzilaa chita. 'The (dim.) bird was cut off the head.' (In this example, the subject noun chinyunyi is focused, hence the verb is put into pseudo-relative form. The pseudo-relative nature of the verb is visible only from the final accent since a passive perfect verb retains the final vowel a in relative clause forms.)

Chinyunyi/ t̄inzilapi. 'Where did they cut the bird?' Or: T̄inzilapo/ chinyunyi. (Possible answer: Chinyunyi/ t̄inzilaa chita. 'The bird was cut off the head.')

Chita/ t̄inzilaa nyunyi. 'The head, the bird has had it cut off.' (In this example, chita is preposed but not focused, thus the verb is not put into pseudo-relative form. The subject of the passive verb is nyunyi, which is located after the verb and phrased with it.)

T̄inzila kaa chisú/ na mwanaamké/ nii nama. 'What was cut with a knife by the girl is meat.'

Karka muunt^hi/ kati/ hūt̄indowaa mbuzi/ niingi. 'Around mid-day many goats are slaughtered.'

Nambiilá/ kumeera/ nyunyi/ mwiingine/ kama oyo/ na chiza kumpatá/ nt̄^hakht̄indoowa. 'I am told to look for another bird like that one and if I do not find one, I will be slaughtered.'

Ndila/ it̄inzila. 'The street was run across.'

Shchivasila/ muyiini/ mi/ nt̄^hakht̄indoowa/ na namayá/ it̄akhpikoowa. 'When we arrive in town, I will be slaughtered and my meat will be cooked.'

T̄inzila naani/ chita. 'Whose head was cut off?' (Note that because the wh-question word naani is post-verbal, the verb is not put into a pseudo-relative form. Naani is functioning as subject of the passive relative verb, but it postposed to the right of the verb and forms a phonological phrase with it.)

Menye/ nakhtindowa khuuni. ‘Menye is having a tonsilectomy (lit. cutting the tonsils).’

Na chiza kumpatá/ nt^hakhindoowa. ‘And if I do not get it, I will be killed.’

Ndiwó/ kuła maaka/ wachileetó/ mbuzi iyó/ ishindoowá/ okó/ ishindoowá/ ka Iboholi yaa Wake/ apa/ shindoowa/ mbuzi iyo. ‘It was they who every year brought the goat which was slaughtered there, which was slaughtered; here at the Women’s Pool the goat was slaughtered.’

Omari/ chitaache/ tjinzila. ‘Omari, his head was cut off.’

‘Omari/ tjinzila chita. ‘Omari’s head was cut off.’

Sultaani/ choondroka/ shtomola amri/ ngoombeze/ zotte/ khindoowa. ‘The sultan arose and gave an order that all his cattle be slaughtered.’

Wowi/ itjinzila. ‘The river was crossed.’

Ye/ shindowa chitaache. ‘He got his head cut off.’

rel. nom.

m-tinda (wa-) n. 1/2 one who cuts, slaughters mtinda hoola (or: ngoombe) ‘a professional butcher (when one buys an animal at the animal market, one brings the animal home and hires a butcher to slaughter it; this person is generally paid by being given the head and intestines of the animal)’

Mtinda hoola/ haṭalami/ khpasula. ‘One who slaughter animals does not hesitate/ to skin (them).’ (A proverb.)

m-tindo (mi-) n. 3/4 cutting, butchering; style (in clothes, etc.)

sh-tindo (s-) n. dim. 7/8 cutting, butchering

n-tindo

n. chisel; [pron. nt^hiindo]

ting

ideo. of metal, coins, etc., falling and making noise

Jisaa ye/ nakualo kootiyé/ mashijingi/ yapootele/ nt^hi/ ting ting! ‘The way he was wearing his coat, a several shillings fell onto the floor ting ting!’ descending pitch

Mwaana/ uskumilee sa’a/ ipootele/ ting/ ivundishile. ‘The child pushed the clock and it fell down ting! it broke.’ (Ideophones can usually be repeated, as in: Mwaana/ uskumilee sa’a/ ipootele/ ting ting/ ivundishile.)

tjini

n. 9/10 [cf. Sw. tini SSED 468; Ar. fin W 100] fig, fig tree

Ali/ azile mshaka/ wa tjini/ kaake/ numbaani/ imorooni. ‘Ali grew a fig tree in the backyard of his house.’

muti wa tjini ‘fig tree’

Tjini/ huhadoowa/ ni karka mashaka/ ya matuundra/ ya janaani. ‘The fig tree is said to be among the fruit trees of paradise.’

rel.

m-tjini (mi-) n. [cf. Sw. mtini SSED 309] fig tree

n-tjini

n. 9 [cf. Sw. chini SSED 56] under, below, downstairs, down; [pron. nt^hiini]

Ali/ ishkizize chibuuku/ nt^hiini. ‘Ali brought the book downstairs.’

Chendra khpumula/ nt^hiini yaa muti/ mooyi/ mkulu. ‘He went to rest under a big tree.’

Chibuuku/ chiko nt^hiini/ ya meeza. ‘The book is under the table.’ Or:

Chibuuku/ chiko nt^hiini ya meeza. ‘A book is under the table.’

Also: Nt^hiini ya meeza/ chibuuku/ chiikó. ‘Under the table there is a book.’ Meeza/ nt^hiinike/ chiko chibuuku. ‘The table, under it, there is a book.’

Chishkila nt^hiini. ‘She went downstairs.’

chiti chaa mbwa/ uko nt^hiiniké... ‘the chair that the dog is under it...’

Chooloka/ nt^hiini yaa muti. 'He went under a tree.'

Hamadi/ uko nt^hiini yaa muti. 'Hamadi is under a tree.'

Ha^htaa we/ nakhko^oo na Nuuru/ nakendra nt^hiini/ kuleta zoombozá.
'While you are talking to Nuuru, I am going down to bring my things.'

ilu/ na nt^hiini 'top and bottom, from top to bottom' ka nt^hiini 'secretly, (to speak) in a whisper'

Ye/ hadile inaye/ ka nt^hiini/ mara niingi. 'She said his name several times in a whisper.'

Ye/ hadile ka nt^hiini/ kuwaa ye/ nt^hachiiwa/ jisa hinenzowa gaari.
'He whispered that he did not know how to drive a car.'

Yuusufu/ chimpa/ mtumishi/ mooyi/ amri/ ka nt^hiini/ khtila ikoopaye/ karka izigo/ ya Bin.yaameeni. 'Yuusufu gave the servant an order secretly to put the cup in the bag of Binyaameeni.'

ka nt^hiini/ ka nt^hiini 'under and under'

Lele nt^hiini yaa chiti. 'He slept under the chair. ' Or, with emphasis on the verb: Leele/ nt^hiini yaa chiti. Or, with preposing of the prepositional phrase and a shifting of the verb to its pseudo-relative form: Nt^hiini yaa 'chiti/ leeló.

Mbwa/ sh^hteza nt^hiini ya meeza. 'The dog was playing under the table.'

Mbwa/ uko nt^hiini ya meeza. 'The dog is under the table.'

Meeza/ ipeta chibuuku/ nt^hiiniye. 'The table, there was found a book under it.' (This is an impersonal passive. It is not clear to us whether it is possible for there to be agreement with chibuuku: ?Meeza/ sh^hpeta chibuuku/ nt^hiiniye.)

Meza izi/ ipeta majiwe/ nt^hiiniye. 'These tables, there were stones gotten under them.' (This sentence is an impersonal passive, hence the i subject marker on the verb and not ya in agreement with majiwe or zi in agreement with meeza. Note that nt^hiini is a [cl.9] noun and thus the possessive enclitic has y in agreement. Note further that the possessive root =e is used for any third person non-human noun, whether singular or plural. In this case =e is referring to the [cl.10] plural noun meeza. It is possible for the passive verb to agree with majiwe: Meza izi/ yapeta majiwe/ nt^hiiniye. Meeza, on the other hand, cannot control subject agreement: *Meza izi speta majiwe/ nt^hiiniye.)

Meza yaa mbwa/ sh^htezo nt^hiiniyé// ndaaká. 'The table that the dog is playing under it is mine.'

Meza yaa mbwa/ uko nt^hiiniyé/ ndaaká. 'The table that the dog is under is mine.' (cf. Mbwa/ uko nt^hiini ya meeza. 'The dog is under the table.')

Mukhta^haa ye/ langajilo nt^hiini/ chimwona/ uje siimba/ leele/ nt^hiini yaa muti. 'When he look down, he saw that lion sleeping under the tree.'

Muti wa Hamadi/ uko nt^hiiniyé/ mbwa sarkaali. 'The tree that Hamadi is under it belongs to the government.'

Nnakendra nt^hiini/ kuleta zoombozá. 'I am going down to bring my stuff.'
Or with verb emphasis: Nnakeendrá/ nt^hiini/ kuleta zoomboza. 'I am going down to bring my things.'

Ndrele nt^hiini. 'I slept down/ under.'

Ndrele nt^hiini yaa chiti. 'I slept under the chair.' Or, with focus on the verb:

Ndreelé/ nt^hiini yaa chiti., but also possible: Ndreelé/ nt^hiini/ yaa chiti. Or with focus on the preposition: Ndrele nt^hiini/ yaa chiti.

Or: Ndreelé/ nt^hiini/ yaa chiti.

nt^hiini/ ka nt^hiini ‘under and under’

Nt^hiini ya meza gani/ weshelo zibuukú. ‘Under which table did you put the books?’

Oloshela nt^hiini. ‘He went down.’

Pete chibuuku/ nt^hiini ya meeza. ‘He found a book under the table.’ (Cf. meza yaa ye/ pete chibuuku/ nt^hiiniye... ‘the table that he found a book under it’.)

Shkalant^ha nt^hiini yaa muti/ naku^hla kaa nk^hele. ‘He sat under the tree crying loudly.’

Tile sanduukhu/ nt^hiini ya meeza. ‘He put the box under the table.’

Tile tubaaku/ nt^hiini ya mtaawo. ‘He put tobacco under the pillow.’

Wachishkila/ hattá/ nt^hiini. ‘They went down to the bottom.’

Wo/ wafakeete/ numbaani/ ka khshera nt^hiini/ ka lkaambala. ‘They escaped from the house by sliding down a rope.’

Yachimawanyikila siimba/ lelo nt^hiiniké. ‘It [the water] spilled on the lion that was sleeping under it [the tree].’

Ye/ chilangala/ teena/ nt^hiini. ‘He looked again down, below.’

n-tiini

n. [pron. nt^hiini] in the expression:

mtondro wa nt^hiini ‘the second day after tomorrow’

tiira

n. [Som. tirri “exceptional strength” DSI 583; ?Ital. tirare “to pull”] force, strength, power

Gari iyi/ nt^haná/ tiira. ‘This car has no power.’

khtowa tiira ‘to lose force, strength’

Gaari/ itozele/ tiira. ‘The truck lost force (e.g. couldn’t go further up the hill).’

kubiga mpiira/ tiira ‘to kick a soccer ball with great force’

Omari/ bishile mpiira/ tiira. ‘Omari kicked the ball with great force.’

kumpa tiira ‘to give him strength’ kuwanayo tiira ‘to have strength, force’

Nt^haná/ tiira. ‘He has no strength, force.’

tira^{oore}

n. [Ital. tiratore] slingshot, catapult (Although tiratore is an Italian word, it does not correspond to the meaning of the Chimiini term, which in Italian is fionda. Many Italian loanwords used in Somali and Chimiini have meanings that do not correspond to the Italian use of these words.)

tireeta

n. 9/10 [Ital. tiretto] drawer (in a cabinet)

Mismaari/ yamo tireetaani. ‘The nails are in the drawer.’

tiriiki

n. 9/10 [Som. tirig “kerosene lamp” DSI 584] petrolmax

Naji/ yana/ masku/ ziyaraani/ ka Dada Maasi^{ti}/ zoloshela/ mara mooyi/ tu/ zam!/ chimaliza/ zashiza tiriiki. ‘Lights (electric) last night at the Dada Maasiti ceremony went off at once zam! then petrolmaxes were lit.’

tis’a

num. nine

Keesho/ mumkini/ kuwa rama^{da}aani/ ka sababu/ leelo/ ni mweezi/ tis’a/ wa ishiriini/ sha’abaani. ‘Tomorrow may possibly be Ramadhan because today is the 29th of the month of Sha’abaani.’

tis’iini

n., adj. [Ar. tis’ūn W94] ninety tis’ina keendra or tis’iini/ na keendrá ‘ninety nine’

Ma’ina/ masuura/ ya mojiitu/ ni tis’ina keendra. ‘God’s good names are 99.’

tis’ina naane or tis’iini/ na naané ‘ninety eight’ tis’inaa saba or tis’iini/ naa sabá ‘ninety seven’

- tis'ina sitta or tis'iini/ na sittä 'ninety six'
- i-tishaali (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. tishari, variant tishali SSED 468] barge (pulled by motorboat) that is used to take goods etc. from shore to ship or from ship to shore
- (mu)-tma'ini adj. tranquil, quiet, peaceful munt^hu mut^hma'ini 'a tranquil person'; want^hu mut^hma'ini or want^hu wat^hma'ini 'tranquil people'
- tiivi n. television; [pron. tiiví]
Ā'ā/ Huseeni/ tu/ nakulangalo tiiví. [HH!H] 'No, only Huseeni is watching TV.'
Omari/ nakulangala tiiví/ matezo ya mpiira/ ya duniya/ kubashiliza wakhti. 'Omari is watching on television the football game of the world (=World Cup) to pass time with.'
Want^hu wiingi/ hawapeendi/ khsooma/ wiingine/ hupenda kulangala tiiví. 'Many people do not like to read. Other people like to watch TV.'
- chi-to (zi-) n. [Sw. kito SSED 210] gem (used in rings) chitoocha 'my gem'
- i-to (maa-) n. 5/6 [cf. jicho (macho) SSED 154] eye
Chondrola maotooye/ ilu/ chiwona/ kuwa nt^heendre/ nt^hayiiko/ na mwaaná/ leele/ nt^hini yaa muti. 'When he lifted his eyes up, he saw that the dates were not there and the child was asleep under the tree.'
Fulaani/ impete ito iwovu. 'The evil-eye has gotten so-and-so.'
fungilopo maatoyé 'when she opened her eyes...'
Funzile maatoye. 'She closed her eyes.'
Humpeenda/ kana maatoya, 'I love her like my eyes (i.e. too much).'
Huseeni/ chimtila chaala/ itooni/ shfanya kama nakhsuuló/ kumtomola itó. 'Huseeni put his finger in his eye and acted like he wanted to take out his eye from him.' (This example illustrates that in the true relative clause, prosodic separation of the relative verb from its complement does not invoke the Accentual Law of Focus: kama nakhsuuló/ kumtomola itó, not kama nakhsuuló/ kumtomola ito.) ito iwovu 'the evil eye'
Itó/ ya mwaadamu/ hatá/ muti/ ivuunzile. 'The evil eye of a person, even a tree it breaks down.' (A proverb.)
Itó/ ya mwaadamu/ kana ha'ikhubli/ khuluza. 'The eye of a human being (i.e. the evil eye), if it does not kill you weakens you.' (A proverb.)
Itó/ ya mwaadamu/ ni khatari/ zaaydi/ ya maraði. 'The evil eye of a person is more dangerous than disease.' (A proverb.)
ito ya maayi 'a spring of water' ito ya waant^hu 'the (evil) eye of people'
Itó ya waant^hu/ ni khatari/ zaaydi/ ya maraði. 'The evil eye is more dangerous than disease.' (A proverb, which counsels that the jealousy and envious looks of others are damaging to you, and therefore you should be humble.)
Itó yimphi. 'Which eye?'
itooye 'his eye [=injustice]' kasha maato 'to be awake, lie in bed with the eyes open' kendra ka tartiibu/ kharibu ya siimba/ kumlangala kamaa ye/ nakasha maato 'to go slowly near the lion to see if he was sleeping' Kheeri/ kufa maato/ kama kufa khalbi. 'Better to lose one's eyes than to die in the heart.' (A proverb.)
khfunga maato 'to close the eyes but not sleep' khfungula maato 'to gain understanding of the world, insight into the ways of the world' khfunguza maato 'to help have insight into the world'

Abadiine/ mfungize mwaana/ maato. ‘Abadiine helped the child to have a better understanding of the world.’
khkesha maato ‘to lie in bed with one’s eyes open’ Kesheze maato/ masku/ mazimaye. ‘He lay awake the whole night (i.e. he could not sleep).’

khinda ito ‘to wink’

khindila ito ‘to wink at’

kubiga ito ‘to wink’

kubigila ito ‘to wink at s.o.’

Omari/ mbigilile Ali/ ito. ‘Omari winked at Ali.’ Or: Omari/ mbigilile ito/ Ali. (Phon. The final accent on Ali is a characteristic of the pronunciation of this name by one of our consultants; MIA did not have the final accent for this noun in default environments.)

kumdhoora/ kama itooyo ‘to protect him as (you would your) eye’

Haliima/ humdhoora/ mwaanawe/ kana maatoye. ‘Haliima protects her child like her eyes.’

Maama/ watile waanawe/ waandra/ maatooni. ‘Mother applied eyeshadow to her daughters’ eyes.’

mato makavu ‘dry eyes’

mato mtuzi ‘conjunctivitis (where eyes become red and blurred)-- lit. soup eyes’

Mato ya mapeenzi/ hayaawoni/ ebu/ (za shpeendo). ‘The eyes of the lover do not see the defects (of the loved one).’ (A proverb.)

Mato yaamp^{hi}. ‘Which eyes?’

Maatoya/ yawele miinza/ ka zaa mi/ nakhkasó. ‘My eyes have become dim from what I have heard (experienced).’

Maatoye/ makali/ kana iwa. ‘His eyes are bright like the sun (i.e. he sees very well).’

Maatoye/ (makali)/ kana ya wiizi. ‘His eyes are sharp like those of thieves.’

Maatoyo/ ni shaahidi. ‘Your eyes are witnesses.’ (A proverb.)

Mkorshe/ heendra/ kachiwelela shtuzo cha maato. ‘Raise him (e.g. this child) so that he becomes for us the joy of our eyes.’

Mubli/ chiya numbaani/ ondroshezopo maatoyé/ ilú/ chimwona noka. ‘The husband came into the house, and when he raised his eyes up, he saw a snake.’

Muunt^hu/ nayo maato/ ha’onyoowi/ ndila. ‘The man who has eyes is not shown the road.’ (A proverb.)

Mwaana/ fungile maato. ‘The child came to understand things (lit. opened eyes).’

Na khariibuye/ iwaaliko/ ito ya maayi/ mabardi/ na malada. ‘And near it was a spring of water, cool and fresh.’

Nakhsula nimtile kaaka/ maatooni. ‘Do you want me to put her in my eye?’

Nakuhada/ kuwa waawe/ mtumbile ito. ‘He is saying that my father perforated his eye (lit. him the eye).’ (This example illustrates the phenomenon of “possessor raising”, which is common in Chimiini.)

Shfungile maato. ‘We opened [our] eyes.’

Shfungula maato. ‘He opened his eyes.’

Shfunzile mato yitú. ‘We closed our eyes.’ Or: Mato yitú/ shfunzilé.

Wakomele mahala/ iwaliko ito ya maayi. ‘They reached a place where there was a spring of water.’

Zita/ nt^haziná/ maato. ‘War does not have eyes.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

chi-ji-to (zi-) n. dim. 7/8

Zijitoze/ kana/ zaa nyunyi. ‘Her eyes are [small] like those of a bird.’

tooba

n. 9 [Sw. toba SSED 475; Ar. tauba W98] penitence, repentance, remorse, self-reproach; variant form: towba

kuleta tooba 'to repent'

abdi ni waajibu kuleeta tooba/ shfaanya dambi nk'ulu mooje kumloomba [st.] 'a slave of God obliged to repent if he does a great sin and to pray to his God'

Chanzaa kula/ na kuleta toobá. 'He began to cry and to repent.'
duniya ni nuumba ya mwenye sho nuumba/ mtiyeeni mwajiitu ka kuleeta tooba [st.] 'the world is the house of of the one without a house, fear God and repent'

Muunt'u/ chileta tooba/ hafishoowa. 'When someone repents, he is forgiven.' (A proverb.)

Muunt'u/ chileta towba/ chint'u icho/ mara yingine/ haruudili. 'If a person repents for that thing one time, he should not repeat it.'

Mwaadamu/ chigafa/ ka mojiitu/ huleta towba/ hulomba maghfira. 'If a human being errs before God, he repents and begs for forgiveness.'

ya nafsi lete tooba mloomba rabi/ tooba ni waajibu kila shfaanya dambi [st.] 'oh mortals, repent, pray to God, repentance is a duty whenever you sin'

toohiidi

n. theology; variant form: toowhiidi

Husomeshowa diini/ akhlaakhi/ toohiidi. 'They are taught religions, ethics, theology.'

tooka

n. 9/10 [Som. toogo DSI 587] turn khfanya tooka 'to arrange turns (e.g. of a manager establishing the taking of turns)' khtala tooka 'to take turns'

Wabjaana/ wawili wawili/ watete tooka/ kudara maayi. 'The young men in twos took turns bailing out the water.'

Mi/ shfilatilowa kulindra tookaya 'I was expected to wait my turn.'

Ni toka ya naani/ kuumisha. 'It is whose turn to dry (e.g. the dishes)?'

tookaye 'his turn'

kh-tooka

v. get away

Bur'i/ hadiile/ Omari/ natooke/ ka apa. 'Bur'i told Omari that he should get away from here.'

Haliima/ mwambile Faaṭima/ tooka/ ka apa/ speendi/ kuwona. 'Haliima told Faaṭima: go away from here, I do not want to see you.'

rel.

kh-tookesha v. cause.

Mtookeshe. 'Send him away!'

kh-tokoowa v. pass.

Somo/ hadiile/ apa/ ni khtokoowa/ tu/ sababu/ siwo/ mahala/ suura. 'Somo said: here it should be left because it is not a good place.'

kh-tokeza

v. [Sw. tokeza "cause to come out" SSED 470] (tokeeze) appear

Mp'isi/ sh'tokeza/ tamlatilila rasaasi. 'If a hyena appears, I will shoot a bullet at it.'

Nimwene Omari/ nakhtokeza ka shpululuuni. 'I saw Omari appearing from the alley.'

Toldobaṭol

n. the seven clans of Brava: the five Tunni clans and the Bida, consisting of the Wakohaṭimu and the Raa Waali

kh-toleza

v. appear, come from

Apo/ sh'tolezaa nyunyi/ mkulu/ chija nt^heendre/ zote/ na maliizopó/ chiyulukila. 'At that time a large bird appeared and ate all the dates and when he was finished, he flew away.'

Ba'adiye/ chimwona muunt^hu/ nakhtoleza/ kaa kule/ walá/ ye/nt^hakhaadira/ kiiwa/ ka kuwa waliko Safiya/ amo waliko mubji/ mwinginewe. 'After that, he saw someone appear from afar, but he was not able to know whether it was Safiya or someone else [lit. another man].' (In the recording of the story from which this line comes, Mohammad Imam seemed to pronounce amo without any accent. In many other examples, amó can be heard, i.e. it is pronounced as a phrasal isolate with final accent.)

Kaa kule/ sh^toleza/ mzele igobeegobe. 'In the distance, out popped Old Tortoise.'

Mara niingi/ hachiwi/ mahala ya ye/ hu^tolezó. 'Often we do not know the place where he comes from.'

rel.

kh-tolezoowa v. pass. be come from

Kaa kule/ sh^toleza mbwa wa maduuri. 'A wild dog approached from afar.'

Kaa kule/ sh^toleza muunt^hu. 'A man approached from afar.'

n-toloko

n. 9/10 bean(s); [pron. nt^holoko]

Halo nt^holokó/ haavuni/ mpuunga. 'The one who sows beans does not harvest rice.' (A proverb.)

Nt^holoko mooyi/ humpunguliló/ m(o) ingile mutiini/ ingiló/ sh^toloko chimooyi. 'One bean is missing from him, one went into the tree, it did, one little bean.'

nt^holoko za lamna niingi 'beans of many kinds'

rel.

sh-toloko (s-) n. 7/8 dim.

Nnafunguloowá/ isa/ laano/ la sh^toloko. 'Now I will tell the story of the little bean.'

kh-tomola

v. [Sw. chomoa SSED 59] (tomeele) pay, give out, offer, take something or someone out of, send out; disburse, distribute Abú/ tomele peesa/ chiborsaani/ kaake. 'Abu took money out of his wallet.'

Awa/ hawa^tomoli/ chaayi. 'These ones did not give out tea.'

Ba'ada yaa ye/ kulaa kuja/ tomele pesa za feða. 'After he bought the food, he paid with coins of silver.'

Basi/ muunt^hu/ oyo/ ka himaahima/ shfuungula/ ijuuniya/ chim^tomola Abunawaasi/ chingilo ijuniyaani/ ndiyé. 'So that man quickly opened the sack and took out Abunawaasi and it was he who got into the sack.'

Dakhtari/ mtomele mwaana/ igoyi. 'The doctor extracted the child's molar tooth.'

Enzele/ tiinzile/ muti uje/ mwaana/ tomele sh^tolokoche. 'He went and cut down the tree; the boy took out his little bean [from it].'

Hasiibu/ sh^tomolaa ziwo/ za waawaye/ ka mivunguuni. 'Hasiibu took the books of his father out from the space under the bed.'

Hu^tomolo ni khalbí/ siwo/ utaajiri. 'That which gives is the heart, not wealth.' (A proverb.)

Ijini/ munt^hu tiiló/ ndiyé/ hu^tomoló. 'The djinn, the one who brought him in, is the one who can take him out.' (A proverb.)

Isa/ tomola chitaacho/ mpe. 'Now, take your head and give it to him.'

khtomola amri 'to issue an order' khtomola deeni 'to give a loan' khtomola fitiri 'to distribute alms at the end of Ramadhan' khtomola hukumu 'to pass judgement'

Apo/ sul^taani/ wa muuyi/ sh^tomola hukumu. 'There the king of the town passed judgement.'

khtomola iðni 'to approve'

kḥtomola kafaara ‘to give an offering, make a sacrifice in atonement for a wrong one has done’

Nuuru/ koḍele wanaafakhi/ imwajibibile/ kḥtomola ngoombe/ kafaara. ‘Nuuru told lies, he must (as punishment) slaughter a cow as an offering.’

kḥtomola khabari ‘to issue news’ kḥtomola khabari mbelé ‘to predict (lit. issue news preceding)’

kḥtomola makosa ‘to point out a mistake’

Abdulkhaadiri/ ṃtomele ṃwaana/ makosa. ‘Abdulkhaadiri pointed out the child’s mistake to him.’

kḥtomola mshahara ‘to pay a salary’

kḥtomola sadaqa ‘to distribute alms’

kḥtomola waajibu ‘to fulfill an obligation (also, in particular, a social obligation, like going to present condolences, or to attend a ceremony) kḥtomolaa zaka ‘to distribute zaka’

Mahaḷaa we/ tamtiló/ haṭá/ nṭhupaani/ ṃwaachisi/ takhṭtomola chaala. ‘Even though the place where you put him is in a bottle, a bastard will stick out his finger (showing he is there).’ (A proverb.)

Mubli/ sḥtomola/ shiḷingi/ khamsiini/ ka chiwovuuni/ chimpa. ‘The husband took out fifty shillings from the pocket and gave it to her.’

Mukhtạa ye/ maliizó/ Abunawaasi/ sḥtomolaa khati/ chimpa Harun Rashiidi. ‘When he [Abunawaasi] was finished, Abunawaasi took out the letter and gave it to Harun Rashiidi.’

Ni eelo/ iló/ sḥtomelo ka khaṭariini. ‘It was the gazelle who came and who got you out of danger.’

Nuuru/ tomele meeza/ ka ṃtanaani. ‘Nuuru took the table out of the room.’

Omari/ tomele mpiira/ sandukhuuni. ‘Omari took the ball out from the box.’

Oyo ṃwiimbili/ chilawa/ shtala icho chilaatu/ sḥtomola/ cheendra. ‘That young man went out, taking that shoe, taking (it from the leg that he had cut off the woman) and went away.’

Sḥtomola thumuni ya riyaali. ‘He took out an eighth of a riyal.’

Tomelee chiti/ ndilaani. ‘He took the chair out.’

ṭomola sadaqa sku ya ziyaara [st.] ‘distribute alms (or food) on the day of the ziyaara’

Wasḥtomola peesa. ‘They paid the money.’

Waṭaṃtomola ka ḷkaambala. ‘They will bring him out with a rope.’

rel.

kḥ-tomoka v. [cf. the Sw. transitive verbs tomoa “break through” and tomea “bring to the surface” SSED 472, though an intransitive or p/s. form is not cited] (-tomoshēle) come out; be extractable

Mpiira uṭomeḷa sandukhuuni. ‘The ball was taken out of the box.’ Also: Sandukhuuni/ iṭomeḷa mpiira. ‘From the box there was taking of the ball.’

Musmaari/ nṭh’a’ unakḥtomoka/ ka ḷkutaani. ‘The nail cannot be extracted from the wall.’

kḥ-tomoloowa v. pass. (tomeeḷa) be paid; be taken out of Chaayi/ hasḥtomoloowi/ na awa. ‘Tea was not given out by these ones.’

Hasḥtomolowi na awá/ ni chaayi. ‘What was not given out by these ones is tea.’

Peesa/ ṣtomēḷa chiborsaani/ kaake. ‘Money was taken out of his wallet.’

Also: Chiborsaani/ kaake/ ṣtomēḷa peesá. ‘His wallet money was taken from.’ Chiboorsa/ sḥtomēḷa peesa. ‘The wallet was taken from money.’

Shawaala/ tomeeḷa/ kaziini. ‘The worker was fired from his job.’ Or:

Kaziini/ tomeeḷa/ shawaala. (Although MI used the word shawaala in this example, it is rarely used now. The word shaqaale/ shakhaale from Somali is the usual term for a worker.)

- Sh_tomolowa ndilaani/ hufa. ‘When he is taken out, he dies.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is nsi ‘fish’.)
- teena somaani faataha/ Sheekhi nakhtomoloowa [st.] ‘then recite the faataha, the Sheikh is being taken out’
- Tomela kaziini/ ni shawaala. ‘The one who was fired from his job is the worker.’
- kh-tomoleka v. pass.
Pesa izi/ hastomoleki/ ka nthupaani. ‘These coins cannot be taken from the bottle.’
- kh-tomoza v. caus. (tomeeze) make s.o. pay or give s.t.; cause to get out kh_tomoza koo_oi ‘to make s.o. say s.t. unconsciously’ Nt^homeze peesa. ‘He made me pay the money.’
Sa’iidi/ shfakata/ kuulu/ nt^homoza. ‘Sa’iidi ran away [saying] my legs, save me!’
Yaako/ ichikhushiika/ tomoza ruuhuyo. ‘When yours catches hold of you, get yourself out!’ (A proverb.)
- kh-tomozanya v. caus. rec. (-tomozeenye) make one another pay or give kh-tomozanyana v. caus. double rec. (-tomozanyeene) make one another pay or give kh-tomozanyoowa v. caus. rec. pass. (-tomozeenya) be made to pay or give one another kh-tomozanyanoowa v. caus. double rec. pass. (-tomozanyeena) be made to pay or give one another kh-tomozoowa v. caus. pass. (tomeeza) be made to pay or give s.t.
rel. nom.
m-tomola (wa-) n. 1/2 one who gives out m-tomola amri (wa-) n. leader [lit. the one who issues orders]
- toomu n. [Tunni toon "butter" Tosco 239] cream, fresh butter nasha/ kamba toomu ‘as smooth as butter’ noloolo/ kana toomu ‘as soft as cream’ zubadi ka chimbalazi ni toomu [st.] ‘cream in Chimbalazi is toomu’
- sh-toomu (s-) n. small, plain, gold, round ear-ring; a number of these were fixed all along the edge of a woman’s auricle (that was pierced at intervals), while longer ear-rings were worn on the ear-lobes
- kh-toonga v. [cf. Sw. chonjo "incitement to quarrel" SSED 60] (toonzele) provoke Stoongé/ want^hu wazima. ‘Don’t provoke adults!’
rel.
kh-toongana v. rec. (-tongeene) provoke one another Omari wa Nuuru/ watongeene. ‘Omari and Nuuru provoked one another.’
kh-toongeka v. p/s. able to be provoked Ha_toongeki/ ka sahali. ‘He is not easily provoked.’
kh-toongela v. appl. provoke for Ndi_iwa/ chimwaambila/ sint^hoongelé/ zita zaa mi/ sikhaadiri. ‘The pigeon told him: Don’t provoke for me wars that I cannot afford!’
Nyunyi uje/ nt^hongelee bala. ‘That bird did cause me a mishap.’
kh-tongoowa v. pass. (toonzele) Khtongowa muunt^hu/ ikalant^hiliiló/ siwo/ suura. ‘To provoke someone who is sitting is not good.’
- n-toongo inv. adj. [Sw. chongo SSED 60] blind in one eye; [pron. nt^hoongo] Apo/ sukhuuni/ waliko mzeele/ mooyi/ nt^hoongo. ‘There at the market there was an old blind (in one eye) man.’
mbwa nt^hoongo ‘a dog blind in one eye’ mibwa mitoongo ‘blind (aug.) dogs’
Muunt^hu/ humrasho nt^hoongó/ huwa nt^hoongo. ‘The one who follows a blind-in-one-eye person becomes blind.’ Or: Mrasha nt^hoongo/

- huwa nt^hoongo. (A proverb.)
- munt^hu nt^hoongo ‘a blind man’
- Ngamiilayo/ we/ ni nt^hoongo/ so. ‘Your camel, you, is he one-eyed?’
- Nt^hoongo/ hinendra na nt^hoongo. ‘Blind goes with blind.’ (A proverb, essentially ‘birds of a feather, flock together’.)
- rel
- i-toongo (mi-) adj. 5/4 in agreement with augmentative nouns
- ibwa itoongo ‘a large blind-in-one-eye dog’
- sh-toongo (s-) adj. in agreement with diminutive nouns
- chibwa sh^htoongo ‘a blind-in-one-eye little dog’
- i-toongo (ma-) n. secretion from the eye, thick, like paste
- kh^hpangula ma^htoongo ‘to clean, wipe away secretion from the eye’
- Maato/ yanamlawa ma^htoongo. ‘His eyes are secreting ma^htoongo.’
- kh-toonsa v. no etymological source found be capable of having an erection and having sex, be potent, be capable of defending oneself in a fight, of satisfying one’s needs
- Ha^htoonsi. ‘He is not able to take care of himself; he is impotent.’
- Wako mifuga/ hu^htoonsó. ‘There are “bottoms” (passive male homosexuals) who are sexually potent (said, for example, of males who while married and sexually potent still like to engage in homosexual intercourse).’
- We/ hu^htoonsa. ‘You are potent.’
- ma-toonso n. 6
- kh-toontela v. [Sw. chochea SSED 57] (tont^heleele or tont^heele) poke (a fire in order to revive it), push wood into a fire to revive it; keep friction, war, enmity going; [pron. kh^htoont^hela]
- kh^htont^helaa mu^hlo ‘to revive a fire’
- rel.
- kh-tontelela v. appl. (tont^heleele) [pron. kh^htont^he^hela]
- rel. nom.
- u-toontelo n. 14 act of poking; [pron. u^htoont^helo]
- sh-toontelo (s-) n. 7/8 an instrument used to stir up a fire to revive it; [pron. sh^htoont^helo]
- i-toonzi (mi-) n. someone who is always ready to provoke others; s.o. who fucks frequently
- Mlate/ itonzi oyo. ‘Leave him, that big fucker!’
- Oyo/ ni itoonzi. ‘That one is a big fucker.’
- i-topsi (ma-) n. [possibly related to Som. dub “to roast, fry” DSI 195] a blister (e.g. from a burn or from carrying s.t.)
- kh-toorata v. [Som. tar “to be useful” DSI 576; also Tunni tar- idem. Tosco 238] (toreete) be useful
- Ha^htoorati/ chiint^hu. ‘He is good for nothing.’ Or, less commonly: Ha^htoorati chiint^hu.
- Hu^htoorani/ Hasani. ‘What is Hasani able to do?’ Or: Hasani/ hu^htoorani. (These questions imply that Hasani isn’t able to do anything.)
- kh^htoorataa buni ‘to add popcorn and sugar to a dish of deep-fried coffee beans (this concoction is served to people who have gathered for the reading of the Quran, e.g. at someone’s death)’
- kh^htoorata daank^hu ‘to mix daank^hu with oil, sugar, resins, etc.’
- Mkono mtupu/ ha^hu^htoorati/ chiint^hu. ‘An empty hand cannot do anything.’ (A proverb.)
- Mubli/ ha^htoorati chiint^hu/ siwo/ mubli. ‘A man who is not capable of anything’

is not a man.’ (A proverb.)

Naani/ haṭoraṭi chiint^hu. ‘Who is not able to do anything?’ The answer to this question might be: Omari/ haṭoraṭi chiint^hu. ‘Omari is not able to do anything.’

rel.

kh-toraṭika v. p/s.

Buni/ haṣtoraṭiki/ bilaa daank^hu. ‘Coffee beans cannot be used/served in (making the concoction described above) without daank^hu.’

Haytoraṭiki/ chiint^hu/ bilaa ma’arifa. ‘Nothing can be useful without knowledge.’

kh-toraṭila v. appl. able to do for

M(w)ana uyu/ hant^horaṭili/ chiint^hu. ‘This child is not able to do anything for me.’

kh-toraṭilana v. appl. rec. be able to do for one another, be of help to one another kh-toraṭisha v. caus.

Mṭoraṭishize Haliima/ buni. ‘He had Haliima add the ingredients to the coffee beans (to make the concoction described above).’

rel. nom.

m-tooraṭo n. 3

u-tooraṭo n. 14

tooraṭi

n. [Sw. torati SSED 473; Ar. taurāh W 99] Torah ṭoraṭiini ‘in the Torah’

m-tooro (wa-)

n. 1/2 [cf. Sw. mtoro ‘a runaway, a truant’ SSED 473] thief

kh-toroka

v. [Sw. toroka SSED 473] (ṭoroshēle) run off, run out, escape, go away

Chiwonoowa/ nakhtoroka. ‘Whenever he is seen, he is running away.’

Nakhtorokapi. ‘Where are you running to?’

Omari/ nakhtoroka. ‘Omari is going away.’

toosani

adj. straight (morally or physically) ṭuti toosani ‘a straight stick’

munt^hu toosani ‘an upright man’

Mtume Ya’aquuba/ ni mooyi/ karka mitume/ watumiilá/ na mwajiitu/ keendra/ koonyeza/ waant^hu/ ndila toosani/ na ndila mp^hotofú. ‘The prophet Jacob was one of the prophets who was sent by God to go and show people the straight road and the crooked road.’ (It is unclear to us why, in this example, the final accent associated with watumiilá does not project to the complement of this relative verb. Ordinarily, a relative clause does not show such a failure to project final accent even when the relative verb is put in Phonological Phrase-final position, as in this example.)

kh-toosaṭa

v. [Som. toos ‘to become straight, honest’ DSI 587] (ṭoseete) be morally or physically straight; become correct in behavior; become clear, certain Laakini/ mwaana/ wele karwaayi/ ize khtooṣaṭa. ‘But the boy became stubborn and refused to be corrected.’

Safari/ iṭoseete. ‘The journey was confirmed, became certain (after there had been doubts as to its being possible).’

Sho khkoḍowa ṭila/ jawaabu/ ha’iṭoosaṭi. ‘Without telling the truth, things do not get right.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

kh-toosaṭila v. appl.

Mwaana/ nt^hakunt^hosaṭila. ‘My son did not turn out morally upright for me.’

kh-toosisha v. caus. [Som. toosi ‘to make s.t. straight; to make s.o. honest’ DSI 587] (ṭoshishiize) make straight; give clear directions, indications (e.g. about what route to follow).’

Mwaana/ nt^hakhaadira/ khtosisha yaa ye/ (ku)m^wambila waawaye. ‘The boy was not able to think of anything (plausible) to tell his father.’

Nt^hakhaadira/ khtosisha chiint^hu/ mun^hbi oyo/ mzimawe. ‘He was not able to think straight that whole day.’

kh-tosishika v. caus. p/s.

Muti upotosheló/ ha’u^htosishiki. ‘A tree that is bent cannot be straightened.’
(A proverb.)

kh-tosishiliza v. caus. appl.

Mi/ khuletelele mwaaná/ kun^htosishilizá. ‘I brought my child to you for you to make him morally upright for me.’

kh-tosishoowa v. caus. pass.

Muti/ ukorelopo ipotofú/ ha’ikhadiroowi/ khtosishoowa. ‘A tree that grows up crooked is not able to be straightened.’ (A proverb.)

kh-tosha

v. [Sw. tosha SSED 473] (tosheeze) think, believe; guess; be sufficient, suffice variant form: khtasha

Abastiide/ tosheze kuwa mlaango/ uwaliko mwaazi. ‘Abastiide thought that the door was open.’

Adabu/ inakhutoshe. ‘Behave [lit. let good manners suffice you]!’

Amiini/ mtosheze Mustafa/ dokhaani. ‘Amiini thought Mustafa to be a fool.’

Basi/ hun^hosha/ aya/ yaa we/ nt^himishiliizó. ‘It’s enough, it suffices for me these (things) that you have done for me.’

chaakuja/ cha kuwatosha/ skuu mbili/ tu ‘food sufficient for them for only two days’ chakuja cha khtosha ‘sufficient food’

Chaakuja/ sh^htosheeze. ‘The food was sufficient.’

Chibuku cha Ali/ toshezo kuwa Nuuru/ chiboozelé/ shpeeta. ‘The book that Ali thought that Nuuru stole (it) has been found.’ (In this example, the object position in the complement clause has been relativized into. Observe that only the verb ‘think’ is put into the relative form; the verb in the complement is not put into the relative form. However, the final-accent triggered by the relative verb ‘think’ extends to the end of the complement clause.)

chibuuku/ cha Muusa (or: Muusá)/ nakhtosha kuwa maaná/ takhsoomó ‘the book that Muusa thinks that the child will read’ (Notice the possibility of the subject of the relative clause being assigned final accent in the object relativization structure.) review this example

Chibuku ichi/ hutosha/ mi/ we/ ni laazimu/ khsooma. ‘This book, I think that you should read it [lit. it is a must for you to read].’ (This sentence is an instance of Left-Dislocation from a sentential complement clause to the beginning of the sentence. There is a “cleft” structure available as well: Chibuku ichi/ hutoshó/ mi/ we/ ni laazimu/ khsooma. ‘This book, I think you should read it.’)

Chibuku gani/ we/ nakhtoshó/ kuwa Hamadi/ takuuló (or: takuula). ‘Which book do you think that Hamadi will buy.’

Fakhi/ tosheze kuwa Imaamu/ mpele mwaana/ chibuuku. ‘Fakhi thought that Imaamu gave the child the book.’ (Cf. It is possible for mwaana to be the head of a relative version of this sentence: Mwana waa Faqi/ toshezo kuwa Imaamu/ mpele chibuuku/ ni Ali. ‘The boy who Faqi thought that Imaamu gave (him) the book is Ali.’)

Hamadi/ mtosheze Baazi/ kuwa fiile. ‘Hamadi thought Baazi that he died.’ (Note that one can also have: Hamadi/ mtosheze Baazi/ kuwaa ye/ fiile. ‘Hamadi thought Baazi that he died.’)

Haanzu/ ha’im^htoshi/ Fardoosa. ‘This dress will not fit Fardoosa.’

Hutosha/ mi/ we/ ni laazimu/ khsoma chibuku ichi. ‘I think that you should read this book.’ (Note that ni laazimu has an impersonal subject and we is not the subject, hence there is no final accent on ni laazimu. In other words, the structure is not “you must” but rather “it is a must for you”.)

Imtihaani/ Muusa/ nakhtosha/ mwaana/ takhpita. ‘The examination, Muusa thinks that the child will pass.’ (This example illustrates that an object noun in an embedded complement clause may be preposed to sentence initial position. Notice that this preposing does not imply that the noun is focused since the main verb is not shifted to a pseudo-relative form.)

kama ikoofiya/ ichin^hosha ‘if the hat fits me’ kama makoofiya/ yachin^hosha ‘if the hats fit me’

the

Kuwa mwaana/ takhpita imtihaani/ Muusa/ nakhtoshó. ‘That the child will pass examination, Muusa thinks.’ Or: Kuwa maana/ takhpita/ imtihaani/ Muusa/ nakhtoshó. (Note that in these two examples, the main verb is in pseudo-relative form. This indicates that some element in the preceding material is focused, but it is not very clear from the prosody of the sentence which phrase should be regarded as the trigger. In a sense, perhaps the preposed complement clause itself is the trigger. Our consultant offered some possible reorderings of elements in the preposed complement clause: Imtihaani/ maana/ takhpita/ Muusa/ nakhtoshó. And: Imtihaani/ takhpita/ maana/ Muusa/ nakhtoshó.)

Maryamu/ tosheeze/ mukhta waana/ chibuuku/ watamony mwaalimu.

‘Maryamu guessed when the children would show the book to the teacher.’

Mi/ nakhtoshá/ kuwa Nuuru/ takhpita imtihaani. ‘I think that Nuuru will pass the examination.’ (Note that in this example there is focus on the main verb nakhtoshá. This focus entails a strong pitch drop on the following phrase. It also entails that the final accent triggered by the first person main verb does not project past the verb. Without this focus, we have: Mi/ nakhtosha kuwa mwaaná/ takhpita imtihaani. ‘I think that the child will pass the examination. Here the final accent projects to the end of both phrases. Remember, were it not for the final accent trigger in the main verb, the complement sentence would have default penult accent: Maana/ takhpita imtihaani. ‘The child will pass the examination.’

Mi/ nt^hosheze kuwaa wo/ nt^hasá/ nt^hawaakujá. ‘I thought that they had not yet eaten.’ (The final accent in the negative verb nt^hawaakujá derives from the final accent projected from the first person past tense verb in the main clause.)

Mi/ sinakhtosha/ kuwaa we/ takhpata kumwona/ mtume uyu. ‘I do not think that you will get to see this prophet.’

Milyuuni/ miyaa mbili/ hastoshi chiint^u/ na husuloowa/ zo/ khtomoloowa/ ka hima/ ka sababu ba^aoⁱ yaa nt^hi/ zimo karkaa dhibu/ nt^o/ ya iqtisaadi. ‘Two hundred million (dollars) is not enough for anything and it is desired that they (the dollars) be paid immediately. because some of the countries are in a lot of economic difficulty.’

Mukhtaari/ nakhtosha kuwa ya raⁱisi/ hadiiló/ ni wanaafakhi. ‘Mukhtaari thinks that what the president said is a lie.’ (The complementizer kuwa cannot be elided in this example.)

Muusa/ nakhtosha/ kuwa mwaana/ takhpita (/) imtihaani. ‘Muusa thinks that the child will pass the examination.’

Muusa/ nakhtosha kuwa mwaana/ tu/ takhpito imtihaani. ‘Muusa thinks that only the child will pass the examination.’

Muusa/ nakhtosha/ ^fNuuru/ takhpitó/ imtihaani. ‘Muusa thinks that it is Nuuru who will pass the examination.’ (The focus on the complement subject triggers pseudo-relative clause formation on the complement verb. Because the verb is prosodically separated from its complement, the final accent on the pseudo-relative verb is unable to project to the complement.)

Muusa/ nakhtosha ^fNuuru/ takhpito imtihaani. ‘Muusa thinks that it is Nuuru who will pass the examination.’ (This sentence is parallel to the preceding in having focus on the subject of the complement clause, but differs in that neither the main nor the complement verb are phrasally separated from their complement.)

Muusa/ tu/ nakhtosha mwaaná/ takhpita imtihaani. ‘Only Muusa thinks that the child will pass the examination.’

Mwaalimu/ watosheze mwanaamke/ na mwiimbili/ madokhani. ‘The teacher thought that the girl and the boy were fools.’ Or: Mwaaalimu/ m̄tosheze mwanaamke/ na m̄wiimbili/ madokhani. (Notice the variation between whether agreement on the main verb is with the conjoined NP or with the first member of the conjunction.)

Mwana wa Baana/ ̄tosheze kuwa Jaama/ mpelo chibuukú/ ni Nureeni. ‘The child whom Baana thought that Jaama gave him a book is Nureeni.’

mwaana/ wa Hasani/ nakht̄osho (kuwaa ye/) takhsoomá ‘the child whom Hasani thinks (that he) will read the book’ mwanaamke/ na m̄wiimbili wa Banafuunzi/ m̄tosheze kuwa madokhani ‘the girl and the boy whom Banafuunzi thought were fools’ (It is possible for the head of the relative to be just the second member of the conjunct: mwanamke wa Banafuunzi/ wa ̄tosheze m̄wiimbili/ naayé/ madokhani ‘the girl who Banafuunzi thought the boy and her were fools’. The head cannot be the first member of the conjunction: mwanamke wa Banafuunzi/ m̄tosheze na m̄wiimbili/ madokhani ‘the girl who Banafuunzi thought she and the boy were fools’.)

nafasi ya kht̄osha ‘enough room’

Nakht̄ashá/ Jeeli/ nakuwa mwaaalimu. ‘I think that Jeeli is becoming a teacher.’

Nakht̄osha Haliimá/ tu/ wasaydilo waaná. [HH!!H] ‘I think only Haliima helped the children.’

Nakht̄osha kuwa Hamadí/ chimbele chibuukú. ‘I think that Hamadi lost a book.’ Cf.

Nakht̄osha kuwa Hamadí/ chibuukú/ chimbeelé. ‘I think that Hamadi lost the book.’ confirm accent in definite form and the distinction between indefinite and definite

Nakht̄osha kuwa mwaaná/ takhpita im̄tihaani/ keeshó. ‘I think that the child will pass the examination tomorrow.’ (The first person main verb triggers final accent, which in this case extends all the way through the complement clause, including the time adverbial keesho. Time adverbials ordinarily fall outside the domain of final accent

Nakht̄osha kuwa mwaaná/ takhpita/ im̄tihaani/ keesho. ‘I think that the child will pass the examination tomorrow.’ (This example is of considerable interest with respect to the issue of the domain of final accent. Observe that the verb in the complement clause has been prosodically separated from its complement. We treat this separation of the verb as a case of “focus”, though it is perhaps better understood as a kind of stylistic emphasis. Nevertheless, this focus/emphasis on the verb appears to prevent the verb from being within the scope of the final accent triggered by the main verb. Note that the first person singular subject marker, which normally appears as n- in the speech of ML, generally elides in front of na in the speech of GM.)

Nakht̄oshá/ kuwa mwaana/ takhpita/ im̄tihaani/ keesho. ‘I think that the child will pass the examination tomorrow.’ (The prosodic separation of the main verb from its complement clause means that the final accent triggered by that verb is unable to project past it.)

Nakht̄oshá/ kuwa Nureeni/ nakhsuúlaa kuja. ‘I think that Nureeni wants food.’ Or: Nakht̄oshá/ kuwaa kuja/ Nureeni/ nakhsuúla. ‘I think that food Nureeni wants.’ (Notice that although kuja has been preposed, it is not structurally focused, since it does not trigger pseudo-relativization of the verb in this pronunciation. Kuja may even be preposed to sentence initial position without being structurally focused: Kuja/ nakht̄oshá/ kuwa Nureeni/ nakhsuúla. ‘Food I think that Nureeni wants.’ It is apparently possible to even prepose the complement sentence, at the same time preposing the object within that sentence: Kuja/ kuwa Nureeni/ nakhsuúla/ nakht̄oshá. ‘Food, that Nureeni wants, I think.’)

Nakht̄osha kuwa Nuurú/ jilee kujá. ‘I think that Nuuru ate the food.’ Or:

Nakht̄osha kuwa Nuurú/ jiile/ kuja. ‘I think that Nuuru ate the food.’ (Notice that in the first example, the final accent triggered by the main verb projects throughout the complement clause. This reflects a situation where there is no focus internal to the sentence. In the second example, there appears to be some emphasis on the verb of the complement clause, but notice that the final accent from the main verb does not project into the complement verb, but stops at the subject of the complement clause. One might have expected instead the pronunciation: Nakhtosha kuwa Nuurú/ jiiilé/ kuja. Such a pronunciation was not offered by our consultant and we suspect that its absence may be systematic, but doubtless further work on the topic is merited.)

Nakhtosha kuwa Nuurú/ jiloo kujá. ‘I think that Nuuru ate the food.’ Or: Nakhtosha kuwa Nuurú/ jiiilé/ kuja. (In these two sentences, the final accent in the complement verb phrase is not due to the main verb, but rather to the focus on Nuuru; this focus requires that the complement verb be put into pseudo-relative form. If the verb is phrased with its complement, the final accent appears on the complement. If the verb is separated from its complement, then the final accent does not cross past the verb, due to the Accentual Law of Focus.)

Nakhtoshá/ kuwa Omari/ mbozele Nureeni/ peesa/ yana. ‘I think that Omari stole money from Nureeni yesterday.’ Or: Nakhtoshá/ kuwa Omari/ mbozele peesa/ Nureeni/ yana. Or with focus on subject of complement verb: Nakhtoshá/ kuwa Omari/ mbozelo Nureeni/ peesá/ yaná (or: yána). Or: Nakhtoshá/ kuwa Omari/ mbozele Nureeni/ peesa/ yana.

Nakhtosha kuwa Omari/ mbozele Nureeni/ peesá/ yaná (or: yána). ‘I think that Omari stole money from Nureeni yesterday.’ Or: Nakhtosha kuwa Omari/ mbozele Nureeni/ peesa/ yana. Nakhtosha kuwa Omari/ mbozelo Nureeni/ peesá/ yaná (or: yana).’

Nakhtosha kuwa Nureeni/ nakhsulaa kujá. ‘I think that Nureeni wants food.’ (This sentence lacks internal focus; as a consequence, the final accent triggered by the first person present tense verb projects to the end of the sentential complement.)

Nakhtosha Nureeni/ kuwa nakhsulaa kuja. ‘I think that Nureeni wants food.’ Or: Nakhtosha Nureeni/ kuja/ nakhsuula. (There are a couple notable points about these examples. It is necessary to consider Nureeni to be focused, since the final accent triggered by the first person present tense main verb does not project past Nureeni. On the other hand, the focus on Nureeni does not trigger pseudo-relativization of the complement verb. Perhaps this is a consequence of Nureeni phrasing with the main verb. More research is required on this matter.)

Nakhtoshá/ ye/ mbishilee mi/ ka khashi. ‘I think he knocked me down on purpose’

Naani/ Muusa/ nakhtosho takhpita imtihaani. ‘Who does Muusa think will pass the examination?’ (The pre-verbal position of naani requires that the main verb be put into pseudo-relative clause form. If naani is post-verbal, no such morphological shift occurs on the main verb: Muusa/ nakhtosha naani/ takhpito imtihaani. ‘Muusa thinks that who will pass the examination?’ Of course, the verb following naani must be put into pseudo-relative form.)

Naani/ nakhtoshó/ kuwa mwaana/ takhpita imtihaani. ‘Who thinks that the child will pass the examination?’ (This example illustrates one of the most notable aspects of the difference between true relative clauses and pseudo-relative clauses such as the one triggered by the question word naani. In pseudo-relative clauses, the final accent associated with the pseudo-relative verb does not project past the verb if the verb is focused. In true relative clauses, however, a phrasal break after the verb does not bar the extension of final accent to the end of the relative clause. If there is no focus on the verb, then the final accent does extend to the end of the pseudo-relative clause: Naani/ nakhtosho kuwa maaná/ takhpita imtihaani.)

Naani/ takhshiindró/ we/ nakhtoshó. ‘Who will win do you think?’

Naani/ we/ nakhtoshó/ kuwa bozelo gaari. ‘Who do you think that he stole the car?’ (Although this example shows the focused phrase naani triggering pseudo-relativization of both the main verb and the complement verb, the latter pseudo-relativization is not obligatory.)

Ndruti izo/ hastoshi/ uyu/ nabigoowa/ miyaa mbili/ na khamsiini. ‘These blows are not enough; this one should be given two hundred and fifty (blows).’

ni sunna stoshe waajibu wala faró [st.] ‘it is not obligatory [to fast then], don’t think

[in terms of] obligatory and compulsory’

Nimtosheze kuwa ni dokhaani. ‘I thought him to be a fool.’

Nishtosheze chibuukú/ kuwa chiboozelá. ‘I thought the book that it had been stolen.’
(But not *Nishtosheze kuwa chibuukú/ chiboozelá.)

Nishtosheze ~~kuwa~~ chiboozelá. ‘I thought it to have been stolen.’

Nt^hosheze chibuukú/ kuwa chiboozelá. ‘I thought the book to have been stolen.’
Also: Nt^hosheze kuwa chibuukú/ chiboozelá. ‘I thought that the book was stolen.’

Nt^hosheze ni sahalí/ khfanyoowa/ gaariya. ‘I thought that it would be easy for my car to be fixed.’

Nuuru/ tu/ nakhtoshó/ kuwa Baana/ takhshiindró (or: takhshiindra). ‘Only Nuuru thinks that Baana will win.’

Omari/ nakhtosha/ kuwa Nureeni/ nakhsu^laa kuja. ‘Omari thinks that Nureeni wants food.’ Or: Omari/ nakhtosha/ kuwa ^lkuja/ Nureeni/ nakhsu^ló. ‘Omari thinks that it is food that Nureeni wants.’ Or: Omari/ nakhtosha/ kuwa ^lNureeni/ kuja/ nakhsu^ló. ‘Omari thinks that Nureeni food wants.’

Omari/ nakhtosha kuwa Sheekhe/ ni taajiri. ‘Omari thinks that Sheekhe is rich.’

Sa’uuda/ tosheze kuwa Jeeli/ bozele chibuuku. ‘Sa’uuda thought that Jeeli stole a book.’

Shaafi/ tosheze kuwa Nureeni/ chimbiile. ‘Shaafi thought that Nureeni ran away.’ Or: Shaafi/ tosheze Nureeni/ kuwa chimbiile. Or: Shaafi mtosheze Nureeni/ kuwa chimbiile.

Skutosha/ hatá/ mara mooyi/ kuwa we/ tamkhaadira/ noka uyu. ‘I did not think, even one time, that you would be able (to fight, do battle with) this snake.’

Stoshi/ kuwa Baana/ takuuya. ‘I don’t think that Baana will come.’ Cf. Nakhtosha Baana/ kuwa hatakuuya. ‘I think that Baana will not come.’

Taahiri/ tosheze (kuwa) Fatú/ fiile. ‘Taahiri thought that Fatu died.’ Or: Taahiri/ tosheze Fatú/ kuwa fiile. Or: Taahiri/ mtosheze Fatú/ (kuwa) fiile.

Ukuje/ washpata mawiindo/ ya khtosha. ‘There they found sufficient prey.’

Watosheze kuwa nii mp^haka/ nakuuyó. ‘They thought that it was the cat who was coming.’

We/ nakhtosha ~~kuwa~~ Nuurú/ bozeleni. ‘You think that Nuuru stole what?’ Or: We/ nakhtoshani/ kuwa Nuuru/ bozele. ‘What do you think that Nuuru stole?’

We/ nakhtosha kuwa naani/ Hamadi/ mpelo peesá. Who do you think that Hamadi gave money to?’ Without pseudo-relativization of the complement verb: We/ nakhtosha kuwa naani/ Hamadi/ mpele peesa. Without pseudo-relativization of the complement verb and also with emphasis on that verb: We/ nakhtosha kuwa naani/ Hamadi/ mpee/ peesa. are these examples of non-pseudo relativization valid?

We/ nakhtosha kuwa naani/ takhshiindró. ‘Who do you think that he will win?’ Without pseudo-relativization: We/ nakhtosha kuwa naani/ takhshiindra. is this really ok?

We/ nakhtosha naani/ kuwa Hamadi/ mpelo peesá. ‘Who do you think that Hamadi gave money to?’ Without pseudo-relativization of the complement verb: We/ nakhtosha naani/ kuwa Hamadi/ mpele peesa. Without pseudo-relativization and with emphasis on the complement verb: We/ nakhtosha naani/ kuwa Hamadi/ mpee/ peesa.

We/ nakhtosha naani/ kuwa takhshiindró. ‘Who do you think that he will win?’ Without pseudo-relativization: We/ nakhtosha naani/ kuwa takhshiindra.

Ye/ bakayle/ fikirii^le/ shfanya jis’iyo/ dafa/ takhtosha kuwa ye/ fiile. ‘It, the rabbit, thought that if he acted that way, the hawk would believe that he was dead.’

Ye/ fikiriile/ shfanya jis’iyo/ dafa/ takhtosha kuwa ye/ fiile. ‘He thought that if he acted this way the kite would think that he was dead.’

rel.

kh-tosheleza v. appl. (tosheleeze) suffice for; go in someone’s place

Nt^hosheleza. ‘You go in my place!’

kh-toshesha v. caus (toshesheeze)

kh-toshoowa v. pass. (tosheeza)

Baazi/ tosheza kuwa fiile. 'Baazi was thought that he died.' But note that one can also say: Baazi/ tosheza kuwaa ye/ fiile. 'Baazi was thought that he died.'

Chibuuku/ sh_tosheza kuwa chiboozela. 'The book was thought that it had been stolen.'

Hamadi/ tosheza dokhaani/ na Suufi. 'Hamadi was thought a fool by Suufi.'

Kuwa Hamadi/ ni dokhaani/ itosheza na Suufi. 'That Hamadi is a fool was thought by Suufi.'

Kuwa Nuuru/ takhpita imtihaani/ inakhtoshoowa/ naami. 'That Nuuru will pass the examination is believed by me.'

Mwanaamke/ na mwiimbili/ watosheza madokhani/ na mwaalimu. 'The girl and the boy were thought to be fools by the teacher.' (It is not possible for one member of the conjunct to be the passive subject: Mwanaamke/ tosheza na mwiimbili/ madokhani. 'The girl was thought and the boy to be fools.')

Nureeni/ tosheza kuwa chimbiile. 'Nureeni was thought that he ran away.' (This is a personal passive sentence, where the subject of the kuwa-complement clause has become the subject of the passive main verb. There are impersonal passive variants: Itosheza kuwa Nureeni/ chimbiile. Also: Nureeni/ itosheza kuwa chimbiile. 'It was thought that Nureeni ran away.')

rel. nom.

m-tosha (wa-) n. 1/2 one who thinks kh-tova

v. [Sw. chovya SSED 61] (toveele) dip (in a liquid)

khtova rooti/ chayiini 'to dip bread in tea' mandra yaa mi/ nt^hovelo mtuziini 'the bread that I dipped into the sauce' mtuzi waa mi/ nt^hovelo maandra/ katiike 'the sauce that I dipped the bread into (it)'

Nt^hovele maandra/ mtuziini. 'I dipped the bread into the sauce.'

rel.

kh-tovela v. appl. [Sw. chovya SSED 61] (-tovelele) dip for, with Nimtovelele mwaaná/ maandra/ mtuziini. 'I dipped bread in the sauce for the child.'

kh-tovoowa v. pass. [Sw. chovya SSED 61] (-toveela) be dipped kh-towa

v. [Sw. toa "lack, not have, be lacking, not used in the Dir. Form except as an auxiliary of negation when combined with other verbs" SSED 470] (tozele) miss, not find, fail

Biibi/ tozele chibuuku. 'Biibi could not find the book.'

Humero zont^he/ hutowa kont^he. 'The one who searches for (or: demands) all misses all ([lit.] everywhere).' (A proverb.) Also: Humero zont^he/ hutowa zont^he. 'The one who searches for (or: demands) all misses all.'

Khsula yont^he/ hutowa yont^he. 'Wanting all means missing all.' (A proverb.)

khtowaa kati 'to disappear, to come to a place and then disappear without being noticed -- lit. to get lost in the middle'

Shpetecha/ cha dhahabu/ sh_tozelaa kati/ tu. 'My gold ring has gotten lost (it has just disappeared, it was here and then it was gone).'

khtowa maato 'to lose one's sight (but with the eye not being damaged or lost)'

Zubeeri/ tozele maato. 'Zubeeri lost his sight.' (In contrast to the expression khtumbuka maato, it is not possible in the case of khtowa maato for maato to be the subject of the verb: Zubeeri/ maato/ yamtozele.) khtowa ruhu zaawo 'to lose their lives'

khtowa uso 'to lose face'

khtowaa ziya ‘to lose strength, stamina’
Kilasku/ ya Hamadi/ nakuyo numbaani/ haatowi/ kuja. ‘Whenever Hamadi comes home, he never misses food.’

Mbuziwe/ tozele/ shpiipache/ tozele. ‘Her goat, she lost; her tin (of oil), she lost.’

Mubjaana/ uyu/ jisaa ye/ kumwona mwanaamke/ tozele. ‘This young man, he could not find a way to see the girl (he was infatuated with).’

Mukhtaa mi/ nsuliloo ye/ kunaambilá/ ka khisa yaa ye/ nkoðeloo mi/ kaziini/ jisaa mbovú/ ye/ / tozele/ yaa ye/ kujiiba. ‘When I wanted him to tell me why he talked badly of me at work, he ended up talking nonsense.’

Muunt^hu/ chisula khfanya chiint^hu/ haatowi/ sonk^haali. ‘If someone wants to do something, he will not fail to find a reason or justification for doing it.’ (A proverb.)

Mwana waa noka/ haatowi/ kuluma. ‘The child of a snake does not fail to bite.’ (A proverb.)

Mwanamke chihaba/ tozele/ nguwoze. ‘The youngest girl could not find her clothes.’

ngamila sh^towa miti ha’imshiki [st.] ‘if a camel does not find plants [to feed on], he does not get fat [lit. meat does not stick to him]’

Nini/ nt^hozeleni. ‘What are you missing?’

Si/ sh^tozele ikopa ya sul^taani. ‘We are missing the cup of the sultan.’

Sul^taani/ sh^towa/ yaa ye/ kuhada. ‘The sultan could not find what to say.’

Tozele/ ba/ nsi. ‘He could not find any fish at all.’

Waant^hu/ wa^tozele/ jisaa wo/ kendra maduriini. ‘People could not go into the bush country.’

Washt^towa. ‘They did not find any.’ (This example, from a text, illustrates that there are a significant number of transitive verbs in Chimiini that may be used with no overt reference to the object.)

Wele maskiini/ nt^ho/ hattá/ yaa ye/ kuja/ tozele. ‘He became very poor until he could not get anything to eat.’

rel.

kh-towana v. rec. (-toweene)

Muunt^hu/ na mukeewé/ hawa^towani. ‘A man and his wife do not miss each other.’ (A proverb.)

kh-toweka v. p/s. (-toweshela) be unobtainable, unavailable kh-towe^loowa v. appl. pass.

Muunt^hu/ sh^teza ka’uta/ sh^towe^lowa taakha/ huwona yaake. ‘If a person takes risks and cannot be managed, he sees his (i.e. he will get what he deserves for being so reckless).’

Towe^lela taakha. ‘He cannot be restrained (from a certain behavior) or made to change his mind (despite warnings, punishments, etc.)’ kh-towela v. appl.

kh-towoowa v. pass. (-tozela)

Apo/ sukhuuni/ washkasa/ waant^hu/ wanakuhada/ mwana wa sul^taani/ wa muuyi/ uyu/ hakhaadiri/ nt^ho/ na hattá/ isa/ toze^la muunt^hu/ wa kumfanyilizaa dawa. ‘There at the market they heard people saying that the child of the sultan of this town was very sick and even to now a man could not be found to treat him medically.’

Birimbirize/ st^toze^la. ‘No signs of him were seen.’

Chimó/ sh^hit^towoowa/ tu/ kont^he/ sh^toze^la. ‘One [of the shoes] was not to be seen anywhere, it was missing.’

Chiint^hu/ it^toze^la muunt^hi/ masku/ haypatoowi. ‘Something not found during the day is not found at night.’ (A proverb.)

maayi ni numa na zote sh^towoowa futuri^laani ka kila hujoo^la [st.] ‘water is later, and if there is nothing available, break your fast with anything edible’

Mbona/ toze^la. ‘[Lit.] how come you have got lost -- meaning: you have not been seen for a long time.’ (This is said to a visitor, after greetings, as a polite comment to the fact that he has not been recently a frequent visitor as one would have wished. Cf. with Birimbirize/ stozela above, which is a comment not made directly to the person concerned.)

Munt^hu wa khupa koo^odi/ hatowoowi/ munt^hu wa khufanyiliza chiint^hu/ hapatikani. ‘You will not miss getting someone who will give you words, (but) someone to do something for you is not found.’ (A proverb.)

Tozela/ muunt^hu/ khtafsiira. ‘There was no one found to interpret (the dream).’

Wachiimba/ washteza/ hatá/ sa’a ikumi/ za masku/ ba’ada ya apo/ dhokhookhi/ yaawo/ itozela/ wote/ usiinzi/ uwateete/ wala^tize/nt^hini ya mteendre. ‘They sang, they danced until ten at night (i.e. four a.m.), after that their sound was missing (i.e. no sound was heard from them), sleep took them all so that they lay under the date tree.’

kh-toza v. caus.

Abooke/ mtozeze waawaye/ miiri. ‘Abooke drove his father to his wits’ end.’

Mtozeze mwaana/ chaakuja. ‘He caused the child to miss getting food.’
kh^toza uso ‘to cause to lose face’

Nt^hozeze uso/ ka weenzawa. ‘He caused me to lose face (in the eyes of) my friends.’

kh^tozaa ziya ‘to cause to lose strength, stamina’

kh-tozeleza v. caus. appl. cause to miss on (one’s)

Sheekhi/ mtozeleze Nureeni/ mwaana/ chaakuja. ‘Sheekhi caused Nureeni’s child to miss getting food.’

kh-tozelezanya v. caus. appl. rec. (-tozelezenye)

Nuuru/ na Suufi/ watozelezenye waana/ chaakuja. ‘Nuuru and Suufi caused one another’s children to miss getting food.’

rel. nom.

m-towa (wa-) n. 1/2 one who misses

Mtowaa luti/ hushika ikuti. ‘One who lacks a stick grabs a reed.’ (A proverb.)

n-towa

n. 9/10 (cf. kh-towa) drought, famine, lack of food; [pron. nt^howa]

Mwaka oyo/ apo/ ba’adiye/ yilee nt^howa/ na ooni. ‘That year at that place afterwards came drought/famine and thirst.’

na mehena na nt^howa iyi tomola [st.] ‘and difficulties and this drought, take them away’

rel.

mi-towa n. 4 famines

Somaaliya/ ni nt^hi ya mitowa. ‘Somalia is a country of famines.’

kh-towesha

v.

Mooja (or: Mojiitu)/ namtoweshe. ‘Let him be, do not oppose him or interfere with his wrong doing.’

Ichiwaa ye/ ize khkasa jawaabu/ za wazeleewe/ mojiitu/ namtoweshe/ ye/ ba/ takuwona yaake. ‘If he refuses to listen to his parents’ advice, leave him alone, he will see the consequence for himself.’

towfiqi

n. [Sw. taufiki "guidance and grace of God, fulfillment of one’s wishes, success, prosperity" SSED 457; Ar. taufiq W 1085] God’s guidance, grace, success and prosperity (granted by God)

variants: toofiqi, toofikhi, towfikhi

Mojiitu/ nakhupa towfiqi. ‘May God crown your efforts with success.’

pamo na towfiqi janna ni sahali [st.] ‘with God’s guidance, Paradise is easily attainable’ toowhiidi

n. [Ar. tawhīd W 1055] theology; the oneness of God

i-tozi (maa-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. chozi SSED 61] tear

Asadi/ huṭasawara kuwa maatozi/ yachimvuuya. ‘Asadi, it is possible that he was crying.’ Or: Maatozi/ huṭasawara kuwa yachimvuya Asadi. ‘Tears, it is possible that they were flowing from Asadi.’

Huṭasawara kuwa Asadi/ yachimvuya maatozi. ‘It is possible that Asadi was crying.’

kumiminika maatozi/ kana bomba ‘for tears to pour out like tap water’ kureba maatozi ‘to hold back tears’

Kuwa Asadi/ yachimvuya maatozi/ huṭasawara. ‘That Asadi was crying is possible.’ Or: Asadi/ kuwa yachimvuya maatozi/ huṭasawara.

Kuwa maatozi/ yachimvuya Asadi/ huṭasawara. ‘That tears were flowing (from Asadi) is possible.’ Or: Maatozi/ kuwa yachimvuya Asadi/ huṭasawara.

Maatozi/ yachimṭawanyika kamaa nvula. ‘Tears spilled from her like rain.’

Mwaana/ yamḷazile maatozi. [H!H] ‘Tears flowed from the child.’ Cf. Maatozi/ yamḷazile/ mwaana. [H!H!H] ‘Tears flowed from him, the child.’ Cf. Yamḷazile mwaaná/ ni maatozi. [H!H] ‘What flowed from the child was tears.’

Mwanaamke/ uko ilu yaa muti/ chila/ matoziye/yachimpotelela/ mwaana/ wa sultaani/ leeló/ nt^hini yaa muti. ‘The girl, she was in the tree, cried, and her tears fell on the son of the sultan who was asleep under the tree.’

tu

adv. [Sw. tu SSED 474] only, just Arabiya/ ni keesho/ tu. ‘Wednesday is just tomorrow.’

Baaba/ chihada/ la/ skhaadiri/ kumpa Yuusufu/ ye/ ni mwaana/ chihaba/ tu. ‘Father said: no, I cannot give Joseph, he is just a small child.’

Baana/ huwabarsha adabu/ tu/ waana. ‘Baana only disciplines the children [i.e. he does not do anything but discipline them].’

Baana/ huwabarsha waana/ tu/ adabu. ‘Baana punishes only children.’

Baana/ huwabiga/ tu/ waana. ‘Baana only beats the children [i.e. he never praises them or anything other than beating them].’ (Note that tu in post-verbal position does not trigger pseudo-relativization of the verb. Tu receives H pitch and is raised above the verb that it is associated to. The following complement is radically lowered in pitch.)

Basi/ uko/ tu/ numbaani. ‘So she is always at the house.’

Baazi/ tu/ nt^haakuja. ‘Only Baazi has not eaten.’ (In this example, while there is declination in pitch height between Baazi and tu, there is no downstepping of the sort that occurs in canonical sentences between a subject phrase and a verb phrase. Also notice that this example indicates that tu does not necessarily trigger pseudo-relativization of the following verb.)

Fardoosa/ haanzu/ jaribiile/ tu/ ye/ nt^hakiyuula. ‘Fardoosa only tried on the dress, she did not buy it.’

Haliima/ tu/ imṭihaani/ pisile. ‘Only Haliima passed the examination.’

Ichiwa/ teena/ kuḷa mara/ humviiḷa/ pashpo/ sababu/ basi/ kumwona tu. ‘It became then that every time she called him without any reason just to see him.’

Laakini/ mi/ ni mwaaná/ chihaba/ tu/ spendi/ kuwa sultaani. ‘But I am just a child, I do not want to be sultan.’

Laazima/ tubaaku/ yiko paapo/ apo/ tu. ‘The tobacco must be there just at that very place.’

Menye/ tu/ nakhfilato kooloká. ‘Only Menye expects to go.’

Menye/ tu/ nakhfilato maaná/ kooloká. ‘Only Menye expects the child to go.’

Mi/ husoma masku/ tu. ‘I study just at night.’

Mi/ nakhtiya/ tu. ‘I am just afraid.’

- Mi/ namsuḷa uyú/ tu. ‘I want [to marry] just this one.’
- Mi/ ndrwelee tu. ‘I just forgot.’
- Mp^hele shilingii mbili/ tu. ‘He gave me only two shillings’
- Muusa/ tu/ koḏeeló/ ka lkeḷé. ‘It is only Muusa who spoke loudly.’
- Muusa/ tu/ nakhtósho maaná/ takhpita imṭihaani. ‘Only Muusa thinks that the child will pass the examination.’
- Muusa/ tu/ nayo chibuukú. ‘Only Muusa has a book.’ Or with verb focus:
Muusa/ tu/ naayó/ chibuuku. ‘Only Muusa has a book.’ (Cf. Muusa/ tu/ nacho chibuukú. ‘Only Muusa has the book.’ Or with verb focus: Muusa/ tu/ naachó/ chibuuku.)
- Muusa/ tu/ nt^hakhkoḏa ka lkeḷé. ‘It is only Muusa who did not speak loudly.’ (The tu in this example triggers the pseudo-relativization of the negative verb. Recall that while a negative verb typically is followed by a phrase-boundary, this is not the case when it is in the relative form. The relative verbal form in the present example is indicated by the final accent rather than a change in the final vowel to o. The final o does not occur in negative forms.)
- Muusa/ tu/ somelo zibuukú/ zont^hé. ‘Only Muusa read all the books.’
- Nakhsuḷa chibuuku/ tu. ‘He wants just a book.’
- Nakhsuḷa sabuni/ tu. ‘He wants soap only.’
- Ndiyé/ tu/ uko numbaani. ‘She is the only one who is (always) at home.’
- Ni njeema/ tu. ‘It’s [just] nice, fine, etc.’
- Ni sahali/ tu. ‘It’s easy, simple.’
- Ni yaa we/ takuhadó/ tu. ‘It will be just as you say (i.e. it will be done just as you say it should be).’
- Nimpele Nureeni/ tu/ peesa. ‘I gave only Nureeni money.’ (The particle tu bears the raised pitch associated with focus, and there is a radical drop on the pitch of the complement peesa. It is interesting that in the sentence: Nimpele Nureeni/ peesa/ tu. ‘I gave only money to Nureeni.’, the final accent triggered by the verb does not extend to peesa. The generalization that is at work here is not clear to us. Note also that the following sentence is ill-formed: Nimpeelé/ Nureeni/ tu/ peesa.)
- Omari/ ile/ tu. [HH!!H] ‘Omari just came [i.e. he did not come for any particular reason, he just came to be there, “hang out”, etc.]’
- Omari/ tu/ iló. ‘Only Omari came.’ Or: Iló/ Omari/ tu. ‘Who came is only Omari.’ (In the first example, tu is focused and not downstepped relative to the preceding subject. In the second example, iló is the pitch peak of the sentence, and Omari is downstepped relative to it; tu, on the other hand, is not downstepped, but realized at approximately the same level as Omari or a bit higher.) (Syn. It is not possible for tu to be initial in the sentence, nor may it be located after the verb: Tu/ Omari/ iló. and Iló/ tu/ Omari.)
- Omari/ tu/ mpelo Nureeni/ peesá. ‘[It is] Omari only [who] gave money to Nureeni.’ Or: Omari/ tu/ mpeeló/ Nureeni/ peesa. ‘[It is] Omari only [who] gave money to Nureeni.’ Or: Omari/ tu/ mpelo Nureeni/ peesa. ‘[It is] Omari only [who] gave money to Nureeni.’ (In all these variants, tu is the pitch peak in the sentence. Its presence in pre-verbal position associated with the subject triggers pseudo-relativization, at least in the speech of GM. We do not have relevant data from MI.)
- Omari/ mpele Nureeni/ tu/ peesa. ‘Omari gave only Nureeni money.’
- Omari/ mpele Nureeni/ peesa/ tu. ‘Omari gave Nureeni only money.’ (Note that one cannot say Omari/ mpele/ tu/ Nureeni/ peesa. Omari only gave money to Nureeni.)
- Oyo/ siwo/ mwaanawa/ mi/ khuzazilee we/ tu. ‘That one is not my child, I bore only you.’
- Paṭika/ tu. ‘Just put it on (any old way, don’t worry about putting it on properly)!’ (The accent on tu is clearly present, though the raised pitch on tu is not higher than the raised pitch on the penult of paṭika.)
- Sule faṭura iyó/ tu. ‘Just don’t buy that car (i.e. buy anything else, just do not buy that car).’ (Recall that the negative imperative is a final accent-trigger, but in the default case a negative verb is phrase-final. Thus we find sentences like Sulé/ faṭura iyo. ‘Don’t buy that car.’ In the present example, the particle tu draws the focus to the complement faṭura iyo ‘that car’ and thus allows the verb to escape phrase-final position. The final accent of the verb now appears on the complement.)

zint^hu zibardi/ tu ‘cold things only’

kh-tuuba v. [Sw. tubu SSED 475; Ar. tāba, taub W 98] (tubiile) repent, ask for forgiveness Mzeele/ chanza kubigaa nk^heje/ n^hubiilé/ n^hubiilé/ basi/ ndraṭa/ mi/ nk^hoḍele wanaafakhí. ‘The old man began to shout: I repent, I repent, so let me go, I told lies.’
ya nafsi tuuba mbeleyo ni miinza/ karka qabriini pweeke nt^huna mweenza [st.] ‘oh mortals, repent, what is before you is darkness; in the grave, all alone, you do have no friend’

tubaaku n. [Sw. tumbako SSED 478; Hindi] tobacco Mubli/ chimwambila mukeewe/ kumletela tubaaku/ ka kabaṭiini. ‘The husband told his wife to bring him tobacco from the cupboard.’
Talaa ṭala/ mereḷa tubaaku. ‘Take the lamp and loo for the tobacco.’

kh-tubata v. pile up khṭubata mṭaanga ‘to pile up sand’
rel.
kh-tubama v. (tubeeme) be abundant (to be piled up) Gele/ itubeeme. ‘Maize is abundant.’
Mṭaanga/ uṭubeeme. ‘Sand is abundant.’
Sukhuuni/ mazu/ yaṭubeeme. ‘In the market bananas are abundant (i.e. there are piles of bananas).’
kh-tubana v. (tubeene) gather, collect Waant^hu/ waṭubeene/ apo/ kanaa nyoki. ‘People gathered there like bees.’
kh-tubisha v. pile s.t. up khṭubishaa kuja ‘to pile up food’ khṭubisha mṭaanga ‘to pile up sand’

tuubo n. 9/10 [Ital. tubo] water pipe, hose Ṭubo ziitu/ za maayi/ stumbushilé/ ka bardi niingi. ‘Our water pipes burst from the severe cold.’

tuubu n. [cf. Som. verb tub "to heap" DSI 588; also Tunni tub- "to stock up" Tosco 239] pile, heap
ṭubu ya mṭaanga ‘sandpile’
rel.
i-tuubu n. pile
iṭubu ya mṭaanga ‘sandpile’

tuf ideo. of spitting Makiina/ inakhṭa(w)anya maayi/ tuf tuf tuf. ‘The machne is spitting out water tuf tuf tuf.’
Makiina/ inakhṭufa maayi/ tuf tuf tuf. ‘The machne is spitting out water tuf tuf tuf.’

kh-tufa v. [Som. tuf "to spit" DSI 588; entered other Sw. dialects as well – e.g. tufa is cited in Sac. 906, where it is said to be found in the Kigunya (or Kitikuu) dialect, the northern Swahili spoken on the island of Rasini] spit Komelopo ifuwooni/ chimṭufa. ‘When (the fish) reached the shore, he spit him (Huseeni) out.’

kumṭufa ‘to spit on s.o. – i.e. to give up on that person, reject him’ Khaasimu/ hadile kuwaa ye/ ṭakunsaayda/ laakini/ nt^hakuuya/ nimṭufiilé/ tamuza munt^hu mwiingine/ badiliye. ‘Khaasimu said that he would help me, but he did not come, I have given up on him, I will ask someone else instead.’
stoshe khuṭufiile umo karka niya [song] ‘don’t think that I have quit on you, you are in my mind’

kḥtufaa mate ‘to spit’

Stufé/ mate/ n̄thi. ‘Don’t spit on the floor!’

kḥtufa maazi ‘to spit blood’

Mara maape/ mi/ hụtufa maazi/ ka khisa miinoya/ hụlawa maazi/ masku. ‘Sometimes I spit up blood because my teeth bleed at night.’

Omari/ fanyize kaazi/ karka warshada iyo/ hạtá/ tufile maazi. ‘Omari worked (long and hard) in that industry until he spit blood.’

rel.

kḥ-tufạatufa v. freq.

kḥtufạatufaa mate ‘to spit over and over’ kḥ-tufịloowa v. pass. (tufịlịla) be spit on kḥ-tufịla v. appl. (tufịlịle) spit on kḥtufịla qur’aani/ maayi ‘to spit water (while reading) the Quran – refers to the still common custom in Brava, where a sick person will have someone known to be very religious read the Quran aloud for him, with a glass of water placed nearby, into which the person reading feigns spitting after each verse is read; when the reading is finished, the sick person will either drink the glass of water or sprinkle the water over himself’

Masheekhi/ wanakḥtufịla maayi/ pu pu. ‘The religious people are “spitting” in the water (while reading the Quran) pu pu.’

Shekh Nureeni/ mayi aya/ tufịlịle quraani/ pu pu. ‘Sheikh Nureeni has spit in this water (while reading the Quran).’

kḥ-tufịsha v. caus. (tufịshịize) cause s.o. to spit

M̄tufịshịize. ‘He caused him to spit.’

kḥ-tufịshoowa v. caus. pass. (tufịshịiza) be made to spit

Nuuru/ tufịshiza maazi. ‘Nuuru was made to spit blood (i.e. he was beaten to the point that he started spitting blood).’

kḥ-tuufa

v. [Ar. fāfa, tūf “perform the circumambulation of the Kaaba” W 573-574] (tufịile) go around the Ka’ba kḥtufa ka’ba ‘to go around the Kaaba seven rounds’ wanạtuufe ka’ba wa naane zamzamu [st.] ‘let them go around the Kaaba and drink from zamzamu (a well in the Grand Mosque)’

rel.

kḥ-tufoowa v. pass.

Ka’ba mara saba shartị kḥtufoowa [st.] ‘it is obligatory to go around the Ka’ba seven times’

tufaaha

n. 9/10 [Sw. tufaha M&N 2413; Ar. tuffah W 95] apple

Azile tufaaha. ‘He grew apples.’

Chala tufaaha/ ha’ịlawi/ mazu. ‘If you plant apples, it will not yield bananas.’ (A proverb.)

Chisụlịlopo kḥtinda tufaahá/ kujá/ shkasize muunt^hu/ nakuhada/ stindeeni/ tufaha izi./ Muti uyu/ mbwa suḷtaani. ‘When we wanted to pick apples to eat, we heard a man say: Don’t pick these apples! This tree belongs to the king.’

kana tufaaha or mạtufaaha ‘like an apple/apples’ (Apples are not found in Brava, but the want^h wa Miini consider apples to be something very good, and thus they compare other things to apples.)

Omari/ lesele embe/ kana ma-tufaaha/ yanakuuzika/ yanakiineendra/ kana mayiimbi. ‘Omari bought mangoes which (are good, magbificent) like apples; they are getting sold, they are moving like sea waves.’

tufaha akthari ‘a green apple’ tufaha huundru ‘a red apple’

Tufaaha/ ni matuundra/ ya jannaani. ‘Apples are the fruit of paradise.’

Tufaaha/ zont^he/ uzile. ‘All the apples, he bought.’ (Syn. This example of simple Left-Dislocation of the object is acceptable, but it is better when the leftward shift triggers pseudo-relativization: Tufaaha/ zont^he/ uziló. ‘(It is) all the apples (that) he bought.’)

rel.

m-tufaaha (mi-) n. 3/4 apple tree

Ilu ya jaziira/ iyi/ chiweené/ mtufaaha/ mkulu. ‘On this island we saw a large apple tree.’

ma-tufaaha n. 6 an exaggerated number of apples

Nt^hi/ nzimaye/ matufaaha. ‘The land is all apples.’

tuufaani

n. 9/10 [Sw. tufani “storm, gale, tempest, hurricane, e.g. of rain, wind, and thunder together” SSED 475; Ar. tūfān “flood, deluge” W 574] storm, hurricane, etc.

Muyi wa Miini/ khariibu/ khpangulowa na tuufaani. ‘The town of Brava was nearly wiped out by a storm.’

kh-tuhuma

v. [Sw. tuhumu SSED 475; Ar. wahama W 1103; cf. also tuhma “accusation, suspicion” W 1103] (tuhumiile) suspect s.o., suspect that Hasani/ nakhtuhuma zibuuku/ kuwa ziboozela. ‘Hasani suspects that the books were stolen.’

Hasani/ nakhtuhumaa zijo/ kuwa zijiila. ‘Hasani suspects that the zijo was eaten.’

Hasani/ nakhtuhuma Nuuru/ kuwa jilee kuja. ‘Hasani suspects that Nuuru ate the food.’ (This sentence displays canonical downstep intonation. The simple yes-no question does not shift accent, while the exclamatory question does: Hasani/ nakhtuhuma Nuurú/ kuwa jilee kujâ!?)

Hasani/ namtuhuma kuwaa zijo/ jiile. ‘Hasani suspects that he ate the zijo.’ Or, with focus on zijo: Hasani/ namtuhuma kuwaa zijo/ jiiló.

Hasani/ namtuhuma Nuuru. ‘Hasani suspects Nuuru.’

Hasani/ namtuhuma Nuuru/ kuwa jilee kuja. ‘Hasani suspects him, Nuuru, that he ate the food.’ (The simple yes-no question has no accent shift, whereas the exclamatory question shifts accent in the final two phrases: Hasani/ namtuhuma Nuurú/ kuwa jilee/ kujâ!?)

Hasani/ namtuhuma Nuuru/ kuwa jiloo kujá. ‘Hasani suspects that Nuuru ate the food.’ Or: Hasani/ namtuhuma Nuuru/ jiiló/ kuja. (In this sentence, focus is on the subject of the complement, which requires the complement verb to be put into pseudo-relative form.)

haṭa khkala kaaka waant^hu khtuhuma [song] ‘even your staying at my place, people suspect you’

Mukeewe/ ba/ mtuhumiile. ‘Even his wife suspected him.’

Omari/ tuhumile kuwa mwaana/ ni mwiizi. ‘Omari suspected that the child was a thief.’ (It is possible to raise the subject of the lower clause to be the object of the main clause: Omari/ mtuhumile mwaana/ kuwa ni mwiizi.)

Suufi/ tuhumile kuwa mwaana/ bozele peesa. ‘Suufi suspected that the child stole some money.’ (It is possible to raise the subject of the lower clause to become the object of the higher verb, in which case it appears to the left of kuwa: Suufi/ mtuhumile mwaana/ kuwa bozele peesa. ‘[Lit.] Suufi expected the child that he stole some money.’ It is ungrammatical for the higher verb to have object agreement with mwaana when mwaana remains in situ: Suufi/ mtuhumile kuwa mwaana/ bozele peesa.)

Tuhumile kuwa Ali/ mfitinile ka sarkaali. ‘He suspected that Ali reported him to the government.’

rel.

kh-tuhumana v. rec. suspect one another

kh-tuhumika v. p/s. [Sw. tuhumika SSED 475]

Ali/ hatuhumiki/ ka khisaa ye/ waliko apa/ mukhtạa duka/ iboozẹlá. ‘Ali cannot be suspected (of the crime) because he was here at the time when the shop was robbed.’

kh-tuhumiiloowa v. appl. pass. (tuhumiila) kh-tuhumila v. appl. [Sw. tuhumia SSED 475] (tuhumiile) suspect on (i.e. suspect someone related to one)

Nt^huhumililee muná. ‘He suspected my brother.’ (The applied form of the verb is often used to express possession/relatedness/connection between the complement noun and the object of the verb; the object is not the “beneficiary” of the action, rather often the “anti-beneficiary” which in English is expressed by “on” rather than “for”. In other words, the present example might be translated as “he suspect my brother on me”, i.e. his suspecting my brother is not a good thing from my point of view.)

kh-tuhumoowa v. pass. [Sw. tuhumiwa SSED 475] (tuhumiila) be suspected by Mwaana/ tuhumiila kuwa bozele peesa. ‘The child was suspected to have stolen some money.’ (Syn: Interestingly, MI accepted having an infinitive in the lower clause: Mwaana/ tuhumiila kubola peesa. ‘[Lit.]The child was suspected to steal money.’ He did not, however, accept an infinitive in the active version of the sentence: Suufi/ mtuhumile mwaana/ kubola peesa. ‘[Lit.] Suufi suspected the child to steal money.’)

Zibuuku/ zinakhtuhumoowa/ kuwa ziboozẹlá. ‘The books were suspected to have been stolen.’ Or: Zibuuku/ zinakhtuhuma kuwa ziboozẹlá.

rel. nom.

m-tuhumo n. 3

u-tuhumo n. 14

tuhumu

n. [Sw. tuhuma SSED 475; Ar. tuhma "accusation, suspicion" W 1103] suspicion

alternant forms: tuhuma, tuhmu

Ichimingila tuhumu/ mukeewe. ‘His wife got suspicious.’ (Prosody.

Despite the non-canonical looking word order, the sentence displays downstep intonation. The simple yes-no question raises pitch but do not shift the accent. The exclamatory question shifts accent in both phrases: Ichimingila tuhumu/ mukeewê!?)

Mi/ nayo tuhumu/ na Hasaní. ‘I have suspicions about Nuuru.’

Mukeewe/ ba/ imingile tuhumu. ‘Even his wife got suspicious.’

Mukeewe/ ichimwingila tuhumu. ‘His wife became suspicious.’ (Prosody.

Despite the non-canonical looking nature of this sentence, it displays downstep intonation. As a consequence, the simple yes-no question involves no accent-shift: Mukeewe/ ichimwingila tuhumu? The emphatic question of course shifts the accent in the VP: Mukeewe/ ichimwingila tuhumu!?) Tuhumu/ ichimiingila/ mukeewe. ‘His wife got suspicious.’ (Prosody. In some ways, this sentence looks more canonical than the two variants of this sentence already cited. After all, tuhumu is the grammatical subject and mukeewe controls the object agreement on the verb. Nevertheless, it is apparently the case that this is a non-canonical location for mukeewe. As a result, the simple yes-no question shifts the accent on mukeewe: Tuhumu/ ichimiingila/ mukeewé? The emphatic question also shifts the accent in the verb: Tuhumu/ ichimiingilá/ mukeewê!?) Tuhumu/ ichimiingiló/ mukeewe. ‘Suspicion entered his wife.’ (Prosody.

This sentence is actually preferred over the preceding example. Focus is placed here on the subject and the verb is put into pseudo-relative clause form. In the simple yes-no question, accent-shift still occurs: Tuhumu/ ichimiingiló/ mukeewé? The emphatic question also has this shift: Tuhumu/ ichimiingiló/ mukeewê!? Of course, since the preceding verb already has a final accent, shift there is vacuous.)

Tuhumu niingi/ siwo/ suura. ‘Too many suspicions are not good.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

u-tuhumu n. 14 suspicion

m-tukufu (wa-)

adj. [Sw. mtukufu (wa-) SSED 476] exalted, respected munt^hu mtukufu ‘someone exalted’ want^hu watukufu ‘exalted people’

- v. [Sw. chukua SSED 63] (tukiile) carry, bear, take; take time
- Ali/ tukile sandukhu ya Nuuru. ‘Ali carried Nuuru’s box (i.e. either the box Nuuru owns or the box Nuuru was supposed to carry).’ (Cf. also: Ali/ tukile Nuuru/ sanduukhuye. ‘(Lit.) Ali carried Nuuru his box.’ It should be noted that in this construction, the verb may not have an object prefix agreeing with sanduukhuye, even though this is the primary object in the sentence: Ali/ itukile Nuuru/ sanduukhuye. The verb may also not have an object prefix agreeing with Nuuru since Nuuru is not the primary object in the sentence: Ali/ mtukile Nuuru/ sanduukhuye.)
- Baana/ tukile masanduukhu/ numbaani. ‘Baana carried the boxes into the house.’
- Baana/ tukile masanduukhu/ numbaani/ ka tartiibu. ‘Baana carried boxes into the house slowly.’ (The locative before the adverb seems to be the canonical word order. A pronunciation with an inverted word order seemed to have some emphasis on the adverb., but this point has not been explored in any detail.)
- Basi/ askari/ wa sulṭaani/ waṭukile ijuuniya/ wa’oloshele/ naayo/ ka Abunawaasi/ numbaani. ‘So the sultan’s soldiers carried a sack and went with it to Abunawaasi’s house.’
- Chikhuṭukulapó/ hakhuruudi. ‘When it takes you, it does not bring you back.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is khabri ‘the grave’.)
- Chimṭukula/ chimruda ka mwenḡewe. ‘He took him and returned him to his owner.’
- Chimwaambila/ e/ we/ muunṭhu/ tukiloo mbuzi/ leete/ nuuliza/ mbuzi. ‘He (Bwanawaasi) said to him: O, you, man who is taking goats (somewhere), bring (them), sell me a goat.’
- Chiti ichi/ changaangu/ kana shkuti/ haṭá/ mwaana/ hukhaadira/ kishṭukula. ‘This chair is as light as a reed, even a child can carry it.’
- Dafa/ mwenopo karaaylé/ wamṭukiile/ wampeleshele/ ka sulṭani waawo. ‘When the kites saw the crow, they carried him, and took him to their king.’
- Eelo/ shṭukula aḡmaasi/ iyo/ kanaani/ kaake. ‘The gazelle carried this diamond in his mouth.’
- humṭukulo ni maḡaayka/ makaaniye takonyoowa [st.] ‘the angels are to take him away to show him his place (in heaven)’
- Jidari iyi/ itakhaadira/ khṭukula zulungu statu. ‘This foundation will be able to support three stories.’
- Karkaa ndila/ chiwawona/ waanṭhu/ wawili/ waṭukilo sufuriyaa nk^hulú/ na nguwo nelṭé. ‘On the way, he saw two people who were carrying a large pot and a white cloth.’
- khṭukulaa dhibu ‘to endure, bear difficulties’
- Fulaani/ ni munt^hu huṭukuloo dhibú. ‘So-and-so is a man who can endure hardships.’
- khṭukula ḡambi ‘to sin [lit. to carry a sin]’
- Simkooḡé/ mweenziwo/ takṭukula ḡambi. ‘Don’t speak ill of your companion [in his absence], you will be committing a sin.’
- khṭukula ḡulṭi ‘to endure being scorned and reviled’
- Fulaani/ ni munt^hu huṭukulo ḡulṭi. ‘So-and-so is a man who can endure scorn.’
- khṭukula fulaani ‘to endure, put up with, tolerate someone’
- Ni laazima/ ilu ya mwaana/ kuwaṭukula wazelewe. ‘It is an obligation for a child to tolerate his parents.’
- khṭukula khasaara ‘to suffer a loss’
- khṭukula kooḡi ‘to gossip, tell others everything that one is told’
- Skooḡé/ kharibu ya Jeeli/ huṭukula kooḡi. ‘Don’t talk in front of Jeeli, he will broadcast what is said everywhere.’
- khṭukula miimba ‘to be pregnant’
- khṭukula mṭuungi ‘to carry a large pot’
- khṭukulaa muda ‘to take time, use up time’
- Itukilee muda/ kumaliza numba iyi. ‘It took a long time to finish this house.’

khtukula mzigo ‘to bear a load’ khtukulaa nt^hume ‘to carry a message’ khtukula waqti ‘to take time, use up time’ kumtukula ‘to carry him; to endure, tolerate, put up with him’

Omari/ ni rabshoole/ nimtukuliilé/ tu, ‘Omari is troublesome; I just put up with him.’

Mwene muunt^hu/ tukilee mbuzi/ niingi/ nakinendra naazo/ nakiineendró.

‘He saw a man taking many goats (somewhere), he was walking with them, that’s what he was doing.’

Na washtukula/ ma’askari. ‘And they took some soldiers (with them).’

Nakhsula kunt^hukula chinemaan. ‘He wants to take me to a movie.’

Naani/ tukulo masanduukhú/ numbaani. ‘Who carried the boxes into the house?’ Or with verb emphasis: Naani/ tukiiló/ masanduukhu/ numbaani. ‘Who carried the boxes into the house?’ Note that in the default case the Accentual Law of Focus constrains the projection of the final accent from the verb. However, GM accepted as possible some variations: Naani/ tukiiló/ masanduukhú/ numbaani. And even: Naani/ tukiiló/ masanduukhú/ numbaani. It is unclear what context might be involved in inducing violation of ALF. For the most part, we record in this dictionary just the default pronunciation, where ALF is obeyed in pseudo-relative clauses.)

Ndru/ shtukula majibu/ yaa muke/ chimpelekela sarmala. ‘The relative took the answer of the woman and carried it to the carpenter.’

Nt^hukula/ sindaaré. ‘[Lit.] carry me – do not touch me!’ (An idiom used when s.o. wants two opposite things that are mutually incompatible. Also used with reference to someone who will argue or want to discuss every matter, someone who cannot be gotten along with, etc.)

Ntukileeyi. ‘How did you (pl.) carry it?’

Nuuru/ nakhtuluka meeza. ‘Nuuru is carrying a table.’

Omari/ hatukuli/ ðulli. ‘Omari does not bear, tolerate humiliation.’

Safari/ itukile sku nt^haano. ‘The trip took five days.’

Safari yiitu/ itukile sku niingi. ‘Our trip took many days.’

Shkapu ichi/ hutukula suukari/ kiloo ne. ‘This basket holds four kilos of sugar.’

Shpowa mwanaamke/ chimtukula/ chendra naaye/ jahaziini. ‘He was given the girl and he took her and he went with her to the dhow.’

Takhpita mbeleye/ takhtukula iluti/ takhtukuló. ‘I will pass in front of him and I will carry a big stick, that’s what I will do.’

Tukilo masanduukhú/ numbaani/ naani. ‘The one who carried boxes into the house is who?’ Or with verb emphasis: Tukiiló/ masanduukhu/ numbaani/ naani.

Uko chizeele/ chimooyi/ nakiineendra/ nakiineendra/ tukile shpipa cha mafta/ naa mbuzi. ‘There was an old woman, she was walking and walking, she was carrying a tin of oil and a goat.’

rel.

kh-tukulila v. appl. (tukuliile) carry for, with, in

Alfaani/ fikiriile/ kuwa ipakacha/ itakih^htajoowa/ kumtukulila sultani waa noká/ mukhtaa wo/ watamshiikó. ‘Alfaani thought that a basket was needed to carry the king of snakes in when they seized him.’

...kuwaa ye/ tamulila mp^huundra/ napate khtukulila skunyi. ‘...so that she would be able to buy for him a donkey so that he could use it to carry firewood.’

Nt^hukulile mwaana. ‘He carried the child for me.’

Tete chigaari/ khtukulila bataata. ‘He took a cart to carry the potatoes with.’

kh-tukulilana v. appl. rec. carry for one another kh-tukuliloowa v. appl. pass. (tukuliila) be carried for kh-tukuloowa v. pass. (tukiila) be carried

Chaamura/ nguwo niingi/ za chisultaani/ khtukuloowa. ‘He ordered many clothes fit for a sultan to be carried.'

Ichendrowa apo/ ishtukuloowa sharbaati/ mazu/ embe. 'They used to go there bringing sharbaati, bananas, mangoes.' (Syn: Observe the use of impersonal passives in this sentence.)

Mooyi/ chihada/ natukuloowa/ na'endroowa/ na'ubuloowa. 'One person said let him be taken and be gone away with and be killed.'

Nuuru/ sanduukhuye/ itukila na Ali. '[Lit.] Nuuru his box was carried by Ali.' (Observe that in this construction, sanduukhuye governs the i- subject prefix on the passive verb. Nuuru cannot govern subject agreement, which of course would be phonologically null: Nuuru/ sanduukhuye/ tukila na Ali.)

Sanduukhuye Nuuru/ itukila na Ali. 'Nuuru's box was carried by Ali.' (The phrase sanduukhuye Nuuru 'Nuuru's box' is a phonological phrase and apparently a syntactic one as well. If Nuuru is separated from the possessed noun, then the unity of the phrase is destroyed and Nuuru becomes like an afterthought:

Sanduukhuye/ itukila na Ali/ Nuuru. 'His box was carried by Ali, Nuuru's (I mean).'

Tukila na fikiri. 'His mind was somewhere else (lit. he was carried off by thought).'

Wakaleent^{he} kumniindra/ chiza takhtukuloowa [st.] 'they stand guard over him lest he be taken away' kh-tukulowatukuloowa v. freq. pass.

Washtukulowatukuloowa/ washpakizowa markabuuni/ washpakizowa mijahaziini. 'They were carried and were put on ships and (others) were put on dhows.'

kh-tukulana v. rec. carry one another; fig. bear, tolerate, be patient with, endure

Ntukulene na Osmaani/ ka mudaa mulé/ hattá/ ilopo Nuuru. 'I put up with Osmaani for a long time until Nuuru showed up.'

Waana/ wanakhteza ibanyaani/ wanakhtukulana. 'Children are playing outside, they are carrying one another.'

Waant^{hu}/ wazaleenó/ laazimu/ khtukulana/ khsaaydana. 'People who are relatives should endure/ be patient with each other, help each other.'

kh-tukulatukula v. freq.

kh-tukulika v. p/s. (-tukulishile) able to be carried; take off; tolerate, put up with s.o.

Duniya/ ina maambo/ haytukuliki. 'The world has affairs that are unbearable.'

Izi/ siwo/ zamani hutukuliko khasaará. 'These are not times when one can afford to suffer a loss.'

Laakini/ zaa mi/ nakuwonó/ hastukuliki. 'But what I see is unbearable.'

Majiwe aya/ haytukuliki. 'These stones cannot be carried (e.g. they are too heavy).'

Mubli/ na ahliyé/ washtukulika/ wachooloka/ waawaye/ mwanaamke. 'The man and his relatives carried (themselves) and went to her father, the girl's.'

Mwana uyu/ hastukuliki. 'This child is not bearable.'

Ntumeye/ haytukuliki. 'His message cannot be carried.'

Omari/ hastukuliki. 'Omari cannot be tolerated/put up with etc.'

Sanduukhu/ haytukuliki/ ka khisa nii nzito. 'This box cannot be carried because it is too heavy.'

Washtukulika/ kendra kummeraa mp^haka/ wamweenopó/ wachanza kumvunaanga. 'They took off and went to look for a cat, and when they saw one, they began to beat him.'

Ye/ shtukulika/ naayé/ mzimawe/ murugu/ chendra ka waawaye. 'He took himself and also his whole, worries (i.e. filled with worries), and went to his father.'

kh-tukuliza v. send/mail to Ali/ mwandikilile Nuuru/ khati/ mtukuliize. 'Ali wrote a letter to Nuuru and mailed it to him.'

Dede/ andishilee khaṭi/ chimaliza/ mṭukulize waawaye. ‘Dede wrote a letter and then mailed it to her father.’

Mṭukulize mwaanawe/ peesa. ‘He sent money to his child.’

Nimṭukulize mwaaná/ khaṭi. ‘I sent a letter to/for the boy.’

Nkhiriiḷé/ kumṭukuliza Hamadi/ peesa. ‘I agreed to send Hamadi money.’

Nṭʰaná/ tiki zaa ye/ khṭukulizaa khaṭi. ‘He has no stamp to send the letter with.’

Nṭʰukulize mwaana/ sandukhuu nzito. ‘He made my child carry a heavy box.’

Zisu za Baana/ nṭʰukuliizó/ nṭʰaskwasila. ‘The knives that Baana sent to me did not arrive.’

kh-tukulizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

kh-tukulizoowa v. pass. (ṭukuliiza)

Mwaana/ ṭukulizaa khaṭi. ‘The child was sent a letter.’ (Note that khaṭi cannot be the passive subject: Khaṭi/ iṭukuliza mwaana. That word is possible, but mwaana must still control the subject agreement: Khaṭi/ ṭukuliza mwaana.)

Nṭʰukuliza peesá/ na waawé. ‘I was sent money by my father.’

kh-tukuza v. caus. (ṭukiize) have take or carry, send (via s.o.); entrust s.t. to s.o.

Aawó/ mṭukize mwaana/ majiwe. Aawo made the child carry stones.’

Baana/ mṭukize mwaana/ Mkhodiisho. ‘Baana sent the child (with someone) to Mogadishu.’

Baazi/ ṭukizee khaṭi. ‘Baazi sent a letter.’

khṭukuza ḍambi ‘to cause to sin (e.g. by exposing someone to sinful things)’ khṭukuza khasaara ‘to cause s.o. to suffer a loss’

Mṭukize Hamadi/ sanduukhu. ‘He sent the box with Hamadi (he entrusted the box to Hamadi, who may or may not have actually done the carrying, e.g. Hamadi may have taken it on the bus).’

Ye/ da’ile kuwa Baazi/ tete baḷani/ khṭukuza peesa. ‘She claimed that Baazi promised to send money.’

kh-tukuzanya v. caus. rec.

Wanakhtukuzanya mizigo. ‘They are loading one another with loads.’

Waṭukuzenye zoombo. ‘They took, carried things for one another.’

kh-tukuzika v. caus. p/s.

Majiwe aya/ hayaṭukuziki. ‘These stones cannot be sent.’

Wana awa/ hawaṭuzukiki. ‘These children cannot be made to carry (things).’

kh-tukuzoowa v. caus. pass. (ṭukiiza)

Mi/ nṭʰukiza zombo izi/ khuleetela. ‘I am loaded with these things to bring to you’

Myaana/ chimninkʰila eelo/ zintʰu zaa ye/ ṭukiiza. ‘The servant handed over to the gazelle the things that she had brought.’

rel. nom.

m-tukula (wa-) n. 1/2 one who carries

m-tukulo n. 3

u-tukulo n. 14

m-tukuzi (wa-) n. 1/2 one who sends; a porter (but hamaali is more commonly used for this sense)

m-tukuzo n. 3

sh-tukuzo (s-) n. 7/8 that which is sent u-tukuzo n. 14

tuulo

n. village

Buulo/ ni tuulo/ nkʰulu. ‘Buulo is a large village.’

Lamna/ yaa ye/ himbo limbo ili/ hunkʰumbushaa mi/ tuulooya. ‘The way she sings this song reminds me of my home village.’

rel.

sh-tuulo (s-) n. small village

Eeriile/ ni shṭuulo/ chihabba. ‘Eeriile is a small village.’

kh-tuluba

v. [Sw. tulubu M&N 2420; Ar. talaba W 563] (tulubiile) ask for, request, want (This verb takes a NP+infinitive phrase a complement. It does not allow a kuwa-complement clause. Our consultant GM regarded a subjunctive complement as dubious, being incompatible with the request-like nature of this verb.)

Baaba/ uyu/ shtaala/ shpete/ ichi/ chimtila Hasani/ chalaani/ chimwaambila/ kuḷa/ yaa we/ takhsuuḷó/ chambile shpete/ ichi/ na takhpoowa/ ije/ yaa we/ takhtulubó. ‘This father took that ring and put it on Hasani’s finger and said to him: everything that you want, tell this ring, and you will be given that which you request.’

Chiza khfaanya/ yaa mi/ nnakhtulubo kaakó/ nṯhakhufitina/ ka mubḷiwa. ‘If you refuse to do what I ask from you, I will report you to my husband.’

Huseeni/ chimpa mḡanaamke/ chiguwo/ chaa ye/ tulubiiló. ‘Huseeni gave the girl the piece of cloth that she requested.’

Jaama/ tulubilee mi/ keendra. ‘Jaama wanted me to go.’

Jaama/ tulubile Nuuru/ kooloka. ‘Jaama asked (directly or indirectly) Nuuru to go.’ (The subjunctive verb may perhaps be used instead of the infinitive in the complement: na’oloke, but it is not preferred.)

Mubjaana/ mooyi/ hufahamó/ khabari za duniyá/ tulubile...khkooḷa. ‘One young man who understood world news asked permission to speak.’

Mwaana/ chimjiiba/ marhabá/ choondroka/ chileta chaakuja/ za chizeelé/ tulubiiló. ‘The boy answered her: very good, and he got up and went and brought the foods that the old woman asked for.’ (Note the possibility of the subject of the relative verb being assigned final accent. The conditions under which this is possible have not been adequately explored.)

Nimṯulubile Nuurú/ kujá. ‘I requested Nuuru eat.’ Or: Nimṯulubile ^fNuurú/ kuja. ‘I requested Nuuru eat.’

Niṯṯulubilee ^fchisú/ Nuuru/ kuleeta. ‘I requested it the knife Nuuru to bring.’ (Note that the object of the infinitive can control an OM on the main verb when it is inserted between the main verb and the subject of the infinitive. Agreement is also possible if the subject of the infinitive is preposed in front of the main verb: Nuuru/ niṯṯulubilee ^fchisú/ kuleeta. ‘Nuuru, I requested it the knife to bring.’ The object of the infinitive cannot control object marking on the main verb if it is separated from that verb by the subject of the infinitive: Niṯṯulubile ^fNuurú/ kuleetaa chisu. Also: Niṯṯulubile ^fNuurú/ chisu/ kuleeta.)

Nṯhulubiilé/ kuja/ Nuuru. ‘I requested Nuuru eat.’ (This example requires further exploration. Specifically, is it a case of the infinitive being preposed with respect to the subject noun Nuuru, or is it the right-dislocation of Nuuru?)

Nṯhulubile ^fNuurú/ chisu/ kuleeta (or: kichileeta). ‘I requested Nuuru knife to bring (it).’

Nṯhulubiilé/ Nuuru/ kuja. ‘I requested (that) Nuuru eat.’ Cf. Nṯhulubile Nuurú/ kujá. ‘I requested Nuuru eat.’ Cf. Nṯhulubile ^fNuurú/ kuja. ‘I requested Nuuru eat.’

Nṯhulubile Nuurú/ keendra. ‘I requested for Nuuru to go.’ Cf. Nimṯulubile ^fNuurú/ keendra. ‘I requested Nuuru to go.’

Nṯhulubile Nuurú/ kuja maandra. ‘I requested Nuuru to eat bread.’ Cf. Nṯhulubile ^fNuurú/ kuja maandra. ‘I requested Nuuru eat bread.’ Also: Nṯhulubile ^fNuurú/ kuja/ maandra. ‘I requested Nuuru eat bread.’ (Our consultant did not accept: Nṯhulubile Nuurú/ ^fkujá/ maandra. ‘I requested Nuuru eat bread.’) This point needs further exploration.

Nṯhulubile Nuurú/ kuleetaa chisú. ‘I requested for Nuuru to bring a knife.’ Cf. Nimṯulubile Nuurú/ kuleetaa chisú. ‘I requested Nuuru to bring a knife.’

Nṯhulubile ^fNuurú/ maandra/ kuja. ‘I requested Nuuru bread eat.’ (It is not immediately evident whether the final accent from the main verb does not project past Nuuru because Nuuru is focused or because the preposed object maandra is not a possible target. However, we did record Nṯhulubile Nuurú/ maandra/ kujá. ‘I requested Nuuru food eat.’ This sentence suggests that a preposed object may be within the scope of final accent and, if not focused, allow final accent to propagate further to the right. We also recorded Nṯhulubile Nuurú/ ^fmaandra/ kuja. ‘I requested Nuuru bread eat.’ We interpret this pronunciation to reflect focus on the preposed object.)

Nṯhulubile peesá. ‘I requested money.’

Nṭhulubile peesá/ kaakó. ‘I requested money from you.’ (The pitch pattern observed here is the one associated with the absence of internal focus. If peesá is focused, we get Nṭhulubile ˈpeesá/ kaako. If the verb is emphasized, we get Nṭhulubiīlé/ peesa/ kaako. If one wishes to focus on kaako, it is put in position immediately after the verb: Nṭhulubile ˈkaakó/ peesa.)

Nṭhulubile Jaamá/ keendrá. ‘I wanted Jaama to go.’ (Note that this verb does not allow a kuwa-complement clause: Mi/ nṭhulubile kuwa Nuuru/ oloshéle. ‘I wanted that Nuuru went.’)

Numbaani/ shfanya yaa ye/ chisuuló/ na yaa ye/ sḥtulubó/ shpata ka wazeelewe. ‘In the house he did whatever he wanted to do and whatever he asked for, he got from his parents.’

Omari/ ˈpeesá/ tulubiiló. ‘Omari money requested.’

Omari/ tulubile Nuuru/ kuja. ‘Omari asked Nuuru to eat.’ (Our consultant noted that it would not be normal to use the subjunctive in place of the infinitive: ?Omari/ tulubile Nuuru/ naaje. His explanation was that naaje conveys the idea ‘he must eat’ and that this is in conflict with the request-like nature of the main verb.)

Omari/ tulubile peesa. ‘Omari asked for money.’

Omari/ tulubile ˈpeesá/ kaako. ‘Omari requested money from you.’ (In this example, the absence of downstep on peesá indicates that it is focused. This is corroborated by the corresponding simple yes-no question: Omari/ tulubile ˈpeesá/ kaakó? A simple yes-no question without Accent-Shift is possible: Omari/ tulubile peesa/ kaako? But this corresponds to a statement where there is no focus on peesá.)

peesá.

ˈOmari/ tulubilo peesá. ‘(It’s) Omari (who) requested money.’ Or: ˈOmari/ tulubiiló/

ˈPeesa/ kaako/ nṭhulubiiló. ‘Money from you I requested.’

kaako.

ˈPeesa/ nṭhulubilo kaakó. ‘Money I requested from you.’ Or: ˈPeesa/ nṭhulubiiló/ his dreams.’

Sḥtuluba ka Yuusufu/ kuṃtafsirīla ndrootoze. ‘He asked Joseph to explain to him

Sulṭaani/ chimpa zaakuja/ zaa ye/ tulubiiló. ‘The sultan gave him the different kinds of foods that he requested.’

Tuluba/ ka kaaka/ yaa we/ nakhsuuló/ mi/ nṭhakhupa/ laakini/sīnṭḥīndé/ chitṭa. ‘Ask for whatever you want from me, I will give it to you, but do not cut off my head.’

Tulubile chisima/ ka sarkaali. ‘He requested a well from the government.’

Tulubiile/ ka mwanaamke/ kunūbla/ mi/ waawaye. ‘He asked (my) daughter to kill me, me, her father.’

Tulubile peesa/ Omari. ‘He requested money, Omari.’ (In the corresponding simple yes-no question, the right-dislocated subject undergoes Accent-Shift: Tulubile peesa/ Omari?)

Ye/ nakhaambila/ kḥtuluba yaa we/ takhsuuló. ‘He is telling you to ask for whatever you want.’

Zijo/ nṭhulubiilé/ Nuuru/ kuja. ‘Zijo I requested Nuuru eat.’ Or with focus on the preposed complement: Zijo/ nṭhulubiiló/ Nuuru/ kuja.

rel.

kh-tulubana v. rec. (-tulubeene)

Wātulubene chiza khf̣af̣ishilizanya sirri. ‘They asked one another to not reveal secrets on one another.’

kh-tulubika v. p/s. (-tulubishile)

Ka sarkali iyi/ haȳtulubiki/ chiinṭhu. ‘From this government one cannot ask for anything.’

kh-tulubila v. appl. (-tulubiīle) make a request for someone kh-tulubilana v. appl. .rec. (-tulubileene) kh-tulubisha v. caus. (tulubishīize) persuade, convince someone to make a request kh-tulubishika v. caus. p/s. (-tulubishishile)

kh-tulubishiliza v. caus. appl. (-tulubishiliize)

kh-tulubishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. (-tulubishilizeenye)

kh-tuluboowa v. pass. (-tulubīla) be asked

Ali/ tulubila chiza kuzaa nama/ ibanyaani. ‘Ali was requested not to sell meat outside.’

Chisu/ shtulubila kuletoowa. ‘The knife was requested to be brought.’

Jaama/ tulubila keendra. ‘Jaama was asked to go.’

Leelo/ fijiri/ nthulubila na Jaama/ keendra. ‘Today this morning I was asked by Jaama to go.’ Or: Nthulubila na Jaama/ leelo/ fijiri/ keendra.

Mi/ keendra/ ithulubila na Jaama. ‘[Lit. me to go] was requested by Jaama.’ (It seems to be possible for the subject of the infinitive verb to be the passive subject, with the infinitive remaining in the VP: Mi/ nthulubila na Jaama/ keendra. ‘I was asked by Jaama to go.’) Perhaps the possibility of this structure is due to the possibility for the NP to be the object of the verb. For example, perhaps one can say: ni-m-thulubile keendra ‘I asked him to go’ or : ni-m-thulubile Nuuru/ keendra.

Mi/ nthulubila na Jaama/ keendra. ‘I was asked by Jaama to go.’ (Locating the agentive phrase in position immediately after the view, the agent is focused, and as a consequence the final accent triggered by the verb does not extend to the infinitive keendra.)

Nuuru/ tulubila keendra. ‘Nuuru was requested to go.’

Nuuru/ tulubilaa kuja. ‘Nuuru was requested to eat.’

Nuuru/ tulubilaa kuja/ zijo. ‘Nuuru was requested to eat zijo.’ Cf. with focus on the subject: Nuuru/ tulubila kujaa zijo. ‘Nuuru was requested to eat zijo.’

Nuuru/ tulubila naami/ kooloka. ‘Nuuru was asked by me to go.’

rel. nom.

m-tulubo n. 3

sh-tulubo (s-) n. 7/8 dim.

u-tulubo n. act of demanding, a demand

Mi/ niizé/utulubo/ wa Hasani/ si/ khfanya kaazi/ pamooyi. ‘I rejected Hasani’s offer that we work together.’

Utulubo wa mashakhaale/ yiiza. ‘The demand(s) of the workers was/were denied.’

Utulubowa/ mi/ khkalantha/ hatá/ maskuu kati/ wiiza. ‘My offer to stay until midnight was rejected.’

Utulubowa/ Omari/ khirilowa kulawa/ ukhiriila. ‘My request that Omari be allowed to leave was accepted.’

kh-tuma

v. [Sw. chuma “(1) pluck, gather—of fruit, flowers, etc.; (2) make a profit, esp. in trade or business, gain in trade, prosper, be well paid” SSED 64] make money; take out confirm second use below ‘take out’

khtuma maali ‘to make money’

Fulaani/ oloshela Mkhodiisho/ khtuma maali. ‘So-and-so went to Mogadishu to make money.’

Omari/ nayo ulaazo/ nakhtapa/ kana nsi tumela mayiini. ‘Omari has pain, he is moving like a fish taken out of water.’

tumaaya

n. [Ital.] the top part of the shoe

kh-tumba

v. [Sw. tumbua “make a hole” SSED 78] (tuunzile or tumbiile) puncture, pierce, perforate, make a hole, dig Abú/ tumbile lkuta. ‘Abu made a hole in the wall.’ Or, with focus on the verb: Abú/ tumbiile/ lkuta. Or, with focus on the subject: Abú/ tumbilo lkuta.

Apo/ ye/ shtumba iboholi/ chi’itila igozi/ chizumbiza mtaanga. ‘There he dug a hole and put the skin in it and covered the hole with sand.’

Baana/ tunzile iboholi. ‘Baana dug a hole.’

Basi/ ndovu/ chiwa’ambila/ endraani/ mvileni bakayle/ naayé/ shtumbe chisima. ‘So Elephant told them: go and call hare so that he dig a well.’ (The final accent on naayé indicates that this is the conjunction naa#yé rather than the subjunctive form naa-ye. That being said, MI did translate the form as “so that he come and dig a well”.)

Huseeni/ chimwaambila/ itakuwaayi/ kuwa ni waawe/ khuṭumbiiló/... itó/ naayé/ hakhiisi/ walá/ nt'akhkoma/ nt'hi iyi/ hattá/ skumo. ‘Huseeni said to him: how could it be that it was my father who perforated you in the eye, while he does not know you nor did he ever reach this land even one day?’

Isa/ nt'hi yaa ni/ nt'akhṭumbó/ takhṭumbo maayi/ yaṭakuḷawa maayi/ tu. ‘Now, whatever land you (plural) will dig in search of water, water will just come out.’

khṭumba chisima ‘to dig a well’ khṭumba iboholi ‘to dig a hole’

Kiḷa/ muunt'hu/ kaaké/ numbaani/ shṭumba chisima/ shṭumbó. ‘Every person at his house dug a well, that’s what he did.’

Mi/ nt'hunzile iboholi/ nzishile nguwozé. ‘I dug a hole and buried her clothes.’

Mukhṭaa ye/ maskiini/ qaribililoo mutí/ chiwona ya kuwa munt'hu nakhṭumbo iboholi/ ni jiraaniye. ‘When the poor man got close to the tree, he saw that the man who was digging the hole was his neighbor.’

Mzeele/ uyu/ chimwambila Huseeni/ ito/ iyi/ mi/ nt'umbiiló/ ni waawo/ mukhṭaa ye/ pisilo apá. ‘This old man said to Huseeni: this eye, me, the one who pierced me was your father when he passed here.’

Shṭumba/ shṭomola lpaangale/ na ijambiyayé. ‘He dug and he took out his sword and his dagger [from the hole in which he had hidden them].’

Stumbeení. ‘(Pl.) don’t dig!’

Tumbaani. ‘(pl.) dig!’

Waṭuunzile/ zisima/ mbele ya kiḷa miskiti. ‘They dug wells in front of each mosque.’

waṭunzilopó ‘when they had dug’

Wotte/ washṭumba/ laakini/ nt'awakhpata/ maayi. ‘All went digging, but they did not find ([lit.] get) water.’

rel.

kh-tuumbika v. p/s. able to be dug; get punctured

Hayṭuumbiki/ apa. ‘One cannot dig a hole here (e.g. the ground is too hard).’

Iboholi/ itumbishile ka sahali. ‘The hole was easily dug.’

Ijulu ya gaari/ itumbishile. ‘The tire of the lorry got punctured.’

kh-tumbikila v. p/s. appl.

Iboholi/ int'umbikilile ka sahali. ‘The hole dug easily for me.’

kh-tumbiloowa v. appl. pass.

Mṭumba khabri/ mwiishowe/ huṭumbilowaa ye. ‘The gravedigger’s end is [for a grave] to be dug for him.’ (A proverb.)

kh-tuumbila v. appl. (i) dig for, with; (ii) idiom put s.o. in a hole, i.e. set s.o. up so that he will be trapped, caught, etc.

(i) Mṭumbilile mwaalimu/ iboholi/ ka iyeembe. ‘He dug a hole for the teacher with a hoe.’

heendra/ kapotelaa we/ mw-enewé.

Simṭumbilé/ walaaliwo/ iboholi/ na chimtuumbila/ sfanye ndraani/ yiko keendra/ khpotelaa we. ‘Do not dig a hole for your brother, and if you do, do not make it deep, as you might be the one who will fall in.’ (A proverb.)

(ii) Mṭumbilile mweenziwe/ iboholi. ‘He set his mate up (so that he would be caught etc.’)

- Ntumbilile iboholi. ‘He got me in trouble.’
kh-tumbilana v. appl. rec. (i) dig for one another; (ii) idiom set one another up kh-tumbilika v. appl. p/s.
- Haadi/ haṭumbiliki/ iboholi. ‘Haadi cannot be dug a hole for (e.g. he is too critical and won’t accept any mistakes by the diggers).’
kh-tuumbisha v. caus.
- Haadi/ mṭumbishize mwaana/ iboholi. ‘Haadi made the child dig a hole.’
kh-tumbishanya v. caus. rec.
kh-tumbishiliza v. caus. appl.
kh-tumbishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
kh-tuumbuka v. be perforated, punctured, have a hole
- Basi/ ndraṭila iṭooya/ tu/ iyi/ mi/ iṭo ya kaandra/ siwo/ waawo/ ntumbiiló/ inṭumbushile ka maraḍi/ mwajitu/ ndreteleeló. ‘Well, just let go of this my eye; the first eye, it was not your father who put a hole in it; it became perforated from illness that God brought to me.’
Mpiira/ utumbishile. ‘The ball has a puncture in it.’
kh-tumbulila v. app. make a hole with, for
- Ntumbulile musmaari/ ntundru yinginé/ Ikaandrajá. ‘I used a nail to make another hole in my belt.’ (This example was provided by GM, establishing that contrary to MI, the instrument in an instrumental applied verbal construction may occupy the position immediately after the verb. There is no focus on musmaari in this example, as can be seen by the fact that the final accent of the verb extends to the end of the verb phrase. The word order seems to vary freely, as GM gave two other versions: Ntumbulile Ikaandrajá/ musmaari/ ntundru yinginé. And also: Ntumbulile musmaari/ Ikaandrajá/ ntundu yinginé. In all these variants, the final accent projected to the end of the verb phrase, indicating a lack of focus associated with these word orders.
- kh-tumbuloowa* v. pass.
kh-tumboowa v. pass. (tuunzila) Iboholi/ ituunzila. ‘A hole was dug.’
rel. nom.
m-tumba (wa-) n. 1/2 one who digs
Mtumba chisima/ harebeḷoowi/ maayi. ‘The digger of a well is not denied water.’ (A proverb which conveys the idea that conspiring against others will come back on you.)
Mtumba iboholi/ hiingiló/ ye/ mwenewe. ‘The digger of a hole, the one who enters it, is he himself.’ (A proverb.)
Mtumba khabri/ mwiishowe/ huṭumbilowaa ye. ‘The gravedigger’s end is dug for him.’
Shtakingilo mimbaani/ kaakó/ ndicho chaako/ shtakhsaaló/ nch^ha mṭumba khabri. ‘That which enters your stomach is what is yours, that which is left behind, belongs to the one who will dig (your) grave.’
m-tumbo n. 3
Makini iyi/ mṭumbowe... ‘This drill, its making a hole...’
ma-tumbo n. 6 way of digging; act of digging matumbo yaawo ‘their ways of digging’ u-tumbo n. 14 act of digging sh-tuumbula (z-) n. 7/8 s.t. that perforates, makes a hole
- kh-tuumbana* v. [cf. Som. tuban, past tubnaa "to be gathered, of people or animals" DSI 588] (tumbeene) crowd together, gather (by chance) Waant^hu/ waṭumbene nt^hini yaa muti. ‘People were gathered under a tree.’
- i-tumbi* (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. tumbi “much, many” M&N 2422] heap, pile of s.t.
itumbi ya mṭaanga ‘a pile of sand’
rel.
l-tumbi (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.
l-tumbi (n-) n. 11/10 a pile of s.t.; [pron. pl. nt^humbi] Itumba la mṭaanga ‘a pile of sand’ nt^humbi za waant^hu ‘groups of people’

m-tuumbi	adj. full to the brim huundra/ m̄tuumbi/ yaa gele ‘a full measure of maize’
n-tuumbulu [pron. n̄t̄huumbulu]	n.9/10 [Sw. tumbuu SSED 479; ?Pers.] a sliding long rod that locks a door;
n-tuumbulu	n. granule n̄t̄huumbulu/ yaa nsi/ ya mp̄aamp̄a ‘shark granules (lit. granules of fish of shark)’
tumbuluq	ideo. check the l variant: qumbuluq Hamadi/ yana/ masku/ hafaani/ p̄otele iboholiini/ tumbuluq!/ vundishile kuulu. ‘Hamadi last night in the neighborhood fell into hole/ditch, tumbuluq! and broke the leg.’
tumbura	n. [perhaps somehow connected to the tumbura spirit possession cult in the Sudan] a kind of dance accompanied by a guitar-like instrument and singing
kh-tuunga	v. [Sw. chunga SSED 65] (tuunzile) tend, graze animals; strain, sift (crushed grain, e.g.); string together (fish, meat) (Chimiini dental t̄ often corresponds to ch in Swahili.) Abdow/ t̄unzilee mbuzi. ‘Abdow herded goats.’ Hutunga unga. ‘He sifts flour.’ kh̄tunga limi ‘to watch one’s tongue, be careful what one says’ Tunga limiilo/ mwaana/ we. ‘Watch your tongue, you child.’ kh̄tunga unga ‘to sift flour’ Amina/ t̄unzile unga. ‘Amina sifted flour.’ Tunzile ngoombe. ‘He herded, grazed cattle.’ rel. kh-tuungika v. p/s. is this verb used? kh-tungikila v. p/s/ appl. is this verb in use? kh-tuungila v. appl. (tungiliile) graze for; sift for, with Tuuma/ tete skhukuunt • o/ kh̄tungila unga. ‘Tuuma took a sieve to sift flour with.’ kh-tuungisha v. caus. have s.o. herd animals. Osmaani/ m̄tungishize mwaana/ mbuzi. ‘Osmaani had the boy herd goats.’ kh-tungishana v. caus. rec. kh-tungishika v. caus. p/s. kh-tungishiliza v. caus. appl. Zubeeri/ m̄tungishilize Sayyidina/ mwaana/ mbuzi. ‘Zubeeri had Sayyidina’s child herd goats.’ kh-tungishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. Zubeeri/ na Sayyidiná/ watungishilizenye waana/ mbuzi. ‘Zubeeri and Sayyidina had one another’s children herd goats.’ rel. nom. m-tuunga (wa-) n. 1/2 [Sw. mchunga SSED xxx] one who tends animals, shepherd m̄tungaa mbuzi ‘a shepherd of goats’ m̄tunga ngoombe ‘a shepherd of cattle’ m-tuungo n. 3 ma-tuungo n. 6 u-tuungo n. 14 m-tuungi (mi-) n. 3/4 [Sw. mtungi (mi-) SSED 512] a big pot made of clay (Note that while the Chimiini dental t̄ often corresponds to ch in Swahili, there are also items such as the present one where t̄ corresponds to Swahili t .) kh̄tukula m̄tuungi ‘to carry a water pot’ kh̄teka maayi/ ka m̄tuungi ‘to fetch water with a large pot’

kosha m̄tuungi ‘to clean a pot’ koteza m̄tuungi ‘to fumigate, smoke a pot’ kuvunda m̄tuungi ‘to break a pot’

Maayi/ ha’inoowi/ m̄tungini. ‘Water is not drunk at, near, in the water pot.’
(It is believed by the want̄u wa Miini that one should not drink water from or at the water pot. One should put the water in a cup and take it somewhere to sit down and drink it slowly in a relaxed environment.)

mayi ya m̄tuungi ‘water for the pot’
Miimbaye/ kana m̄tuungi. ‘His stomach is large like that of a clay pot.’
M̄tungi ayo/ ni melpe. ‘Those pots are white.’
m̄tungi chihaba ‘small pot’
m̄tuungi/ kuvuundika ‘for a pot to break’
m̄tungi mkulu ‘large pot’

M̄tuungi/ nt^ha’ukuyela/ maayi. [H^hH] ‘The clay pot was not filled with honey.’

M̄tuungi/ uyele uki. [H^hH] ‘The pot was filled with honey.’ Cf. Uyelo m̄tuungi/ ni uki. [H^hH] ‘What filled the pot is honey.’

m̄tungi wa maayi or m̄tuungi/ wa maayi ‘water pot’
M̄tungini/ kaaka/ kata/ hayiingili. ‘In my water jar a ladle cannot enter.’
(A riddle, the answer to which is nt̄upa ‘bottle’.)

Nt^hamu/ maayi/ m̄tungini. ‘There is no water in the clay pot.’

Uki/ uyele m̄tuungi. [H^hH] ‘Honey filled the pot.’

Uyelo m̄tuungi/ ni uki. ‘What filled the pot is honey.’

rel.

i-tuungi n. aug.

kh-tuungila

v. [Sw. chungulia SSED p. 65] (tungiliile) look at s.t. stealthily (e.g. through a hole, a window)

Chiya/ sh̄tuungila. ‘He came and looked (but did not see them).’

Ha’endri/ mahaḷa/ haḷawi/ hatt̄á/ choloko/ haṭuungili. ‘She does not go places, she does not go out, not even from the window does she look out.’

Maama/ sh̄tuungila/ ka cholokooni/ chiwona/ kuwaa ye/ ub̄leeló/ siwo/ siimba. ‘Mother peered out from the window and saw that what he had killed was not the lion.’

Mwanaamke/ kasizopoo nk^heḷé/ sh̄tuungila/ ka cholokooni/ chimwona Abunawaasi/ na mub̄jaaná. ‘When the girl heard the shouting, she looked out from the window and she saw Abunawaasi and the young man.’

n-tuungu

n. 9/10 [Sw. chungu SSED 66] ant; [pron. nt̄uungu] kana nt̄uungu ‘(as many) as ants, i.e. a large number’

children like ants.’

Haliima/ nakuzala waana/ kana/ nt̄uungu. ‘Haliima is having children like ants.’

Haliima/ zazile waana/ kana/ nt̄uungu. ‘Haliima gave birth to Harusiini/ wa’ile waant̄u/ kana nt̄uungu. ‘A lot of people came to the wedding.’

Waant̄u/ kana nt̄uungu/ wa’iló. ‘People came like ants (i.e. a lot of people came).’

Nt̄uungu/ huluma. ‘Ants bite.’

Nayo waana/ kana nt̄uungu. ‘(S)he has many children.’

nt̄uungu mwelpe ‘white ant’ (Morph. Note that while this noun is formally [cl.9/10], in the singular it behaves as animate nouns usually do and triggers [cl.1] agreement on the adjective.)

Nt̄uungu/ zimnumiiló. ‘Ants bit him.’

Nt̄uungu/ zingiiiló/ sukaari. ‘Ants entered the sugar.’

- si shchiparpatooowa mithaali ya nt^huungu* [nt.] ‘we were hunted down everywhere as if we were ants’ Ulumo wa nt^huungu/ ha’ilaazi/ nt^ho.. ‘The bite of an ant is not very painful.’
- rel.
i-tuungu (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.
Ibanya iyi/ hukaló/ ni mituungu/ mikulumikulu/ ka miino/ mikulu/ kama mino yaa mbwa. ‘In that open space, the ones who live there are huge ants with big teeth like the teeth of a dog.’
mitungu mikulu ‘big ants’
- sh-tuungu* (s-) n. dim. 7/8 small ant stungu za suukari ‘sugar ants (ants that are attracted to sugar)’ stungu zihaba ‘small ants’
- u-tuungu* n. 14 [Sw. utungu SSED 510] labor pains
khshika utuungo ‘to go into labor’
Muke/ wakhti ukomeelopó/ chishika utuungu/ chizaala. ‘When the time arrived, the woman went into labor and gave birth.’
mbanaayo ulaazo zaa’idi ya utuungu [nt.] ‘we felt a pain more severe than labor-pains’
- Tunne n. the Tunnis, a collective term for a southern Somali clan, formed by five sub-clans, called Shan Gamas; they are part of Brava’s urban population and form the majority of the people living around Brava; the Tunnis that live in the town often are quite fluent in Chimiini) variant form: Tunni
Tunne/ ni waant^hu/ akthari yaawo/ wakaziló/ baadiya/ ya Mwiini. ‘The Tunnis are people, the majority of whom live in the countryside around Brava.’
- rel.
m-tunne (wa-) n. 1/2 member of one of the Tunne clans Yo/ huhadoowa/ kuwa Aw’ali/ nafsiye/ waaliko/ mtunne. ‘It is said that Aw’ali himself was a Tunne.’
- tuuni* n. [Som. toon “garlic” DSI 587] garlic (though thuuma directly from Arabic is also used) Hamadi/ shtumikila tuuni/ miingi/ ka chihaba. ‘Hamadi used to eat a lot of garlic when he was a child.’
- kh-tuunza* v. [Sw. tunza SSED 481] (tunziize) look at s.t. stealthily, peep at, keep an eye on Ni laazima/ kumtuunza/ mp^haka. ‘You (pl.) must watch the cat.’
Shenze mara yiingine/ na isá/ tuunza/ kamaa we/ chiwona/ kuwaa mi/ nakhkhada’á. ‘Let us play another game [of chance] and now, look carefully if you see me cheating you.’
- rel.
kh-tunziliza v. appl. (tunziliize)
kh-tuunzisha v. caus.
kh-tunzishana v. caus. rec.
kh-tunzishika v. caus. p/s.
kh-tunzishiliza v. caus. appl.
kh-tunzishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
- tuupa* n. 9/10 [Sw. tupa SSED 481] file (instrument for sharpening) kubiga tuupa ‘to file s.t.’
Nt^hilee chisú/ makali/ ka tuupá. ‘I sharpened the knife with a file.’ (MI did not like putting the prepositional phrase in front of makali: *Nt^hilee chisú/ ka tuupá/ makali. He did accept focusing the prepositional phrase by moving it to Immediately After the Verb position: Nt^hile ka tuupá/ chisu/ makali. ‘I used a file to sharpen the knife.’ He rejected putting makali in front of chisu: *Nt^hile ka tuupá/ makali/ chisu.)

N^hilīlee chisú/ makali/ tuupa. ‘I used it to sharpen the knife, a file.’ (MI generally avoided having the instrument in an instrumental applied verb construction located in the verb phrase. In the present example, the instrument is right-dislocated, as indicated by the fact that the final accent triggered by the verb does not project onto it. Notice that in this sentence, the final accent does project onto both chisu and ma-kali, indicating that the Immediately After the Verb chisu is not focused. If it is focused, then the final accent will not cross past chisu: N^hilīlee ^fchisú/ makali/ tuupa. MI rejected a sentence like N^hilīlee chisú/ tuupá/ ma-kalí. It is important to admit that while MI seemed to reject focusing the instrument by putting it into Immediately After the Verb position, we do find examples in our notes where such sentences were offered; e.g. N^hilīle ^ftuupá/ chisu/ makali. In any case, our present consultant, GM, accepts focusing on the instrument. Other consultants had similar judgments. But MI did not allow makali to precede chisu: N^hilīle ka tuupá/ makali/ chisu.)

Tuupa/ n^hilīlee chisu/ makali. ‘A file, I used it to sharpen the knife (lit. to put sharpness in the knife).’

n-tupa n. 9/10 [Sw. chupa SSED 66] bottle; glass; [pron. n^hupa] chijamu chaa n^hupa ‘glass plate’
Miimbaya/ nii nk^hulu/ kanaya/ ni chihaba. ‘My stomach is big, but my mouth is small.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is n^hupa ‘bottle’.)

Nakuwala/ kambaa n^hupa. ‘He is shining like a bottle – i.e. he looks good, fresh.’

N^hupa izi/ hastiliki/ maayi. ‘ [Lit.] these bottles cannot be put water into (e.g. their mouths are too small).’

n^hupa ya mafta ‘a bottle of oil’

n^hupa ya sharbaati ‘a bottle of kool-aid’

rel.

i-tupa (mi-) n. can be used as an augmentative noun referring to a large bottle, but commonly used to refer to a piece of a broken bottle used in fighting

Omari/ m^finzile Nuuru/ ka itupa. ‘Omari cut Nuuru with a piece of broken bottle.’

sh-tupa (s-) n. small bottle, but also a small piece of a broken bottle

Haliima/ fungile shfiniko/ sh^tupa/ kaa nguvu/ bukh! ‘Haliima opened the lid of the bottle with force, buq!’ sh^tupa chilusi ‘the contents of a bottle of 330 cc. (the usual beer bottle with a long neck); it corresponds to three kaba’ (The word for this expression in Tunni Somali is qoorey.)

Sh^tupa/ chim^finzile. ‘A small piece of broken bottle cut him.’

sh-tupa (s-) n. [=Sw. kikaimati] a kind of doughnut fried in oil turba n. [Ar. turba W 92 means “cemetery” and thus it is unclear how the Chimiini usage developed] dome (a synonym of quba); tower or minaret -- there is in Brava a particular mosque that was called miskiti wa turba (the old mosques of Brava did not have a minaret)

rel.

i-turba (mi-) n. aug.

sh-turba (s-) n. dim.

tuuri n. 9/10 [Som. tuur DSI 591] hump; back of the neck (e.g. of a cow)

rel.

tuure n., adj. hump-backed, round-shouldered, deformed variant form: sh^tuure (s^tuure)

Muun^hu/ chim^fteka sh^tuure/ naayé/ huzala maana/ sh^tuure. ‘If someone laughs at a deformed person, he will have a deformed child.’ (A belief among the wan^hu wa Miini.)

munt^hu tuure ‘a humpbacked person’

Tuure (or: s^tuure)/ ndiyé/ na’iwo malaaloyé. ‘It is the humpback who knows how (to position himself) to get his sleep.’ (A proverb which communicates the idea that everyone is different, each person knows his own way to make himself comfortable etc.)

-tuure adj hump-backed

Basi/ karka mulkuwe/ chi'iisha/ chizeele/ sh̄tuure/ chimó/ chiwalimo miyakaa miya/ amo zaaydí. 'So in his possession [i.e. the land he owned] there lived an old one-hump-backed woman who was one hundred years old or more.'

i-tuure (mi-) n. 5/4 aug. hump

ma-tuuri

n. 6 [cf. Som. tuur DSI 591; the hump of an animal consists of fat] fatness, animal fat Chiwa'ambila/ awo marti/ yikoo nama/ suura/ matuuri/ numbaani. 'She told these guests: there is good, fatty meat in the house.'

Mi/ huja zint^hu matuuri/ zote/ laakini/ mi/ siwaandri. 'I eat all fat things but I do not get fat.' (A riddle, the answer to which is: chuungu 'a cooking pot'.)

ngombe matuuri 'a fat cow'

Ngombe yuu/ ni matuuri. 'This cow is fat.'

(m-)turjumaani (ma-)

n. interpreter, translator

m-turki (wa-, ma-)

n. 1/2,6 [Sw. mturki SSED 482] a Turk

Turkiya

n. Turkey

turufu

n. [Sw. turufu SSED 482; Eng. or Port.] a card game

tush

ideo. [Som. tush "to prick", cited in Dhoorre & Tosco, p. 152]

Farmiyeeri/ mbishile maana/ sindaanu/ tush! 'The nurse injected the child with a needle tush!'

kh-tuusha

v. [Sw. tusha SSED 482] (tushiize) annoy, put in a bad temper; refer indirectly to someone's mistakes in his company kudhiba ruuhuya mato yachintuusha [song] 'to bother myself, (my) eyes ridicule me (exposing my disgrace)'

Muyiini/ waant^hu/ wamkaheete/ na kila chimwonó/ chimtuusha/ na chimteleza/ kama muunt^hu/ mwa nda wazimu. 'In the town, people hated him and everyone who saw him derided him and teased him as being a crazy person.'

Nakunt^huusha/ oyo. 'He is annoying me, that one.'

Sint^huushé. 'Don't annoy me!'

Page 456

x-tuusha. In example 1, chimtuusha na kumteleza seems ungrammatical: either it is chimtuusha na chimteleza, or chimtuusha ka kumteleza (annoyed him by laughing at him/making jokes on him)

rel. nom.

ma-tuusho n. 6 words meant to annoy

tuusi

n. 9/10 [Tunni tùus "bottom" Tosco 239] rectum, ass

Mpandra farasii mbili/ hatuka tuusi. 'The one who rides two horses splits his ass.' (A proverb.)

Nfuye/ halangali/ tuusiye/ hulangali ya waant^hu. 'A monkey does not look at his own ass, he looks at (the asses) of (other) people.' (A proverb.)

Nfuye/ haawoni/ tuusiye/ huwona tusi ya mweenziwe. 'A monkey does not see his own ass, he sees the ass of his companion.' (A proverb.)

Nfuye/ haawoni/ tuusiye/ huwona tusi ya wiingine. 'A monkey does not see his own ass, he sees the ass of others.' (A proverb.)

nyulusi/ kana tuusi ‘as black as the ass’ Waana/ wanakhfungana tuusi. ‘They boys are having anal intercourse.’

- tuusu’i [Ar. tus ‘W94] one-ninth
- tuuvu adj.
waloombele wabli watuuvu weema/ na waana saalihi wateendra zeema [SCB:588] ‘Pray that they may find good and gentle husbands and have upright children who act virtuously.’
- u-tuuvu n. 14 [Sw. utuvu SSED 475] gentleness, tranquillity, quietness
- kh-tuwa v. [Sw. chua SSED 62] (tuwiile) rub kh-tuwa ka maayi ‘to rub with water’ kh-tuwa kaa nguvu ‘to rub with force’ kh-tuwa ka sabuuni ‘to rub with soap’ kh-tuwa ka tartiibu ‘to rub gently’ kh-tuwa maluungo ‘to rub the body’ kh-tuwa moongo ‘to rub the back’ kh-tuwa uso ‘to rub the face’ tuwa maluungo anza karka kubli [st.] ‘rub the body, begin on the right side’ review, syllable count does not seem right
- rel.
kh-tuwana, kh-tuwanana v. rec. (-tuweene, -tuwaneene)
kh-tuwanoowa, kh-tuwananoowa v. rec. pass.
kh-tuwaatuwa v. freq.
Namtuwaatuwa. ‘She is caressing him.’
kh-tuwika, kh-tuwikika v. p/s. (tuwishile, tuwikishile) kh-tuwila v. appl. (tuwiliile) kh-tuwiloowa v. appl. pass.
kh-tuwisha v. caus. (tuwishiize) cause to rub Baaba/ mtuwishize Ali/ ruuhuye/ chiṭa. ‘Father had Ali rub his (Ali’s) head.’
kh-tuwishoowa v. caus. pass. (tuwishiiza) be made to rub kh-tuwoowa v. pass. (tuwiila) be rubbed
- n-tuwaakala n. 9 [Sw. chokaa SSED 58] the lime powder that results from burning any kind of stone (e.g. paale), used to whiten wallx
- n-tuwi n. 9/10 [Sw. chui SSED 62] leopard; canine tooth [pron. nt^huwi]
rel.
sh-tuwi (s-) n. 7/8 dim.
i-tuwi (mi-) n. 5/4 aug. (Note that plural augmentive forms may sometimes be used as plurals without any augmentative significance. For example, mituwi was used by one consultant to refer to canine teeth without any suggestion of largeness.)
chi-n-tuwi (zi-) n. 7/8 dim. [pron. chint^huwi]
- m-tuzi n. 3 [Sw. mchuzi SSED 272] gravy, sauce, soup
Chija zijooze/ ka mtuzi/ naa namá. ‘She ate her zijo with gravy and meat.’
Lesele mtuzi. ‘You brought soup.’ Or: Leeselé/ mtuzi. ‘You brought soup.’ (The corresponding yes-no questions: Lesele mtuzi? And Leeselé/ mtuzi?
Notice that in the case of verb focus, in the statement mtuzi is outside the scope of final accent due to the Accentual Law of Focus; in the question, the out-of-focus mtuzi is subject to accent shift.)
mtuzi wa nyaanya ‘tomato soup’
Mukeewo/ humpa mwaanawe/ zaakuja/ zisuura/ ka mtuzi/ na shṭoweló. ‘Your wife gave her child good things with gravy and relish.’
Nakuja maandra/ ka mtuzi. ‘He is eating bread with soup.’

Nakujaa zijo/ ka m̄tuzi. ‘He is eating zijo with soup.’

Nakuna m̄tuzi. ‘He is drinking (=eating) soup.’

Nt^hovele maandra/ m̄tuziini. ‘I dipped the bread into the sauce.’

Wapishi wiingi/ hangamiza m̄tuzi. ‘Many cooks spoil the soup.’ (A proverb.)

Ye/ takhtala m̄tuzi uyu/ taakuna. ‘He will take this soup and drink it.’

rel.

mi-tuzi n. 4 aug. large quantities of soup etc.

ma-tuzi

n. excrement

Hasani/ hadiile/ ka Omari/ numbaani/ choolo/ chinakunuunk^ha/ rihi/ ya matuzi/ siwo/ nañiifa/ chooloche. ‘Hasani said at Omari house the toilet is smelling the smell of feces, it is not clean, his toilet.’

Matuzi yaa ndovu/ nii dawa. ‘The excrement of an elephant is used as medicine.’

ku-ta

v. [cf. Sw. twa(a) M&N 2441-2, where it is identified as from the Ki-Amu dialect of Swahili] (teele) take grain that has already been pounded and placed in water to soften and use a stone (called miinawe) to roll it out on a large smooth stone (called ijiwe yaa kuta) into a paste-like consistency

Tangawizi iyi/ itele nasha. ‘This ginger has been ground very fine.’

rel.

kh-teeka v. p/s. able to be pounded kh-teelele v. appl. (teelele) ijiwe ya khteleele ‘the stone used to grind he maize = ijiwe yaa kuta’ kh-teeleloowa v. appl. pass.

kh-toowa v. pass. (teele) (We also observed ku-toowa. This is apparently based on analogy to the active verb ku-ta, where the vowel of the prefix does not elide because it is followed by a monosyllabic stem.)

Ka makinaani/ ka Amiini/ maandra/ hutowa nasha/ kana/ chimento/ haaziwi/ lada. ‘At Amiini’s grinding machine, the dough is ground very smooth, like cement, the bread does not become good.’

rel. nom.

mu-ta (wa-) n. 1/2

n-ta

n. 9/10 [cf. Sw. nta "wax" SSED 341] candle [pron. nt^ha] kudarshaa nt^ha ‘to light a candle’ kuzimizaa nt^ha ‘to put out a candle’

Nt^ha/ inakaaka. ‘The candle is burning’

Nt^ha/ inakuzima. ‘The candle is going out.’

rel.

chi-n-ta (zi-n) n. dim. [pron. chint^ha, zint^ha]

k-asha chint^ha ‘to light a candle’

kh-tafuna

v. [Sw. tafuna SSED 444] chew; backbite

Miimba/ inakunt^hafuna. ‘I have stomach cramps.’

Miimba/ inamtafuna/ kanaa noka. ‘His stomach is cramping him like a snake (i.e. he has bad stomach cramps).’

Ni chiint^hu/ shkhafiifu/ laakini/ hukhaadiri/ kishtafuna. ‘It is a light, soft thing but one cannot chew it.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is maayi ‘water’.)

Nuuru/ tafinee nama. ‘Nuuru chewed the meat.’

Washtafuna tambú. ‘They were chewing tambú.’

rel.

kh-tafunana v. rec. (tafuneeene)

kh-tafunika v. p/s. (-tafunishile)

kh-tafunila v. appl. [Sw. tafunia] (tafuniliile)

kh-tafunisha v. caus. [Sw. tafunisha]

Nuuru/ mtafunishize mwaana/ nama. ‘Nuuru made the child chew the meat.’

kh-tafunishika v. caus. p/s.

kh-tafunishiliza v. caus. appl.

- Nuuru/ mtafunishilize Suufi/ mwaana/ nama. ‘Nuuru made Suufi’s child chew the meat.’
kh-tafunishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
Nuuru/ na Suufi/ watafunishilizenye waana/ nama. ‘Nuuru and Suufi made one another’s children chew meat.’
kh-tafunoowa v. pass. [Sw. tafunwa]
- taka adj. dirty
chungu shtaka ‘dirty cooking pot’ Ijambi ije/ ni itaka. ‘That mat is dirty.’
ijambi itaka ‘a dirty mat’; majambi mataka ‘dirty mats’ nguwoo nt^haka ‘dirty clothes’
- n-taka n. [Sw. taka SSED 446] garbage, rubbish, dirt; [pron. nt^haka] Chizoola/ kanaa nt^haka. ‘She collected (the beaten, cut up body of the girl) like garbage.’
Kaa kule/ waana/ wamwene maskiini/ kaleent^he/ ilu yaa nt^haka. ‘From afar, children saw the poor man sitting on the garbage.’
mahala ya waant^hu/ huṭawanyoo nt^haká ‘a place where people dump garbage’ sku mooyi/ naayé/ nakhfatiṣhofatiṣhoo nt^haka ‘one day while he was rummaging through garbage’
Ye/ hisabaṭowa kamaa nt^haka. ‘He is considered like garbage.’
Ye/ hu’iisha/ ka zaakuja/ zaa ye/ hupato nt^hakaani. ‘He lives on food that he gets from the garbage dump.’
- rel.
sh-taka n. dim.
mi-takaataka n. 4 odds and ends n-takaantaka n. [Sw. takataka SSED 446] garbage; [pron. nt^hakaant^haka] Kujaako/ ni nt^hakant^haka za waant^hu/ huṭaṭiló. ‘Your food is the garbage that people throw away.’
Wé/ chi’iisha/ ka nt^hakant^haka za waant^hu/ huṭawanyó. ‘You live on the garbage that people throw away.’
- kh-takasa v. [cf. Sw. takasa "clean, make clean, cleanse, purify, sanctify. Includes all kinds of cleaning." SSED 446] fill in, smooth over holes in a wall with lime Nimtakasize ipi ya usó. ‘I plastered him with a slap on the face.’
rel.
kh-takasiliza v. appl. (takasiliize)
kh-takasilizan(y)a v. appl. rec.
kh-takasoowa v. pass. (takasiiza)
Lkuta ili/ lbishiḷa buraashi/ Itakasiiza/ inasha/ kana chimento. ‘This wall has been brushed and filled in, it is smooth like cement.’
- i-tako (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. tako (ma-) SSED 447] buttock; keel of a boat Abunawaasi/ shtala lkaambala/ shfuunga/ mbuzi ya matako/ ka chinume/ chimfunga itakooni. ‘Abunawaasi took the rope and tied up the sheep from behind, he tied him around the backside.’
itako ikooko ‘lit. crusty butt – i.e. a very thin butt’ itako ikulu ‘a big butt’
itako ya siindanu ‘the bottom of a needle’ Dhibu/ huya ka mshiindro/ naharisi/ itako ya siindanu. ‘Hardship comes with a bang, relief, slowly, little by little (lit. the bottom of a needle).’ (A proverb.)
khkalan^ha ka itako ‘to sit on the butt’ kumersha itako ‘to rotate the butt – i.e. dance’ mbuzi ya matako ‘sheep’
Mbuzi uyu/ wa matako/ mbwa sulṭaani/ mi/ mboozelé/ we/ chimkhubura/ muunt^hu/ jawaabu/ iyi/ si/ shtakubloowa. ‘This sheep belongs to the sultan, I stole it; if you inform anyone of this matter, we will be killed.’

Muunthu/ hendra madrasaani/ huwoza matakoye/ chimaliza chilawa/ nt^haku/ kaazi. ‘A person goes to school, rots his buttocks, then when he finishes, there is no job.’

sindanu ya itako ‘an injection in the buttock’
rel.

l-tako (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.

sh-tako (s-) n. 7/8

khkalantha ka shtako [Sw. kaa kitako] ‘to sit (on the buttock)’

Shkalantha ka shtako/ khfikira yaa ye/ khfaanya. ‘He sat down and thought about what he should do.’

kubiga shtako ‘to sit on the ground [lit. to sit on the buttock]’

Chiya/ chibiga shtako/ shtala ukiwe/ chija. ‘He came and sat on the ground and took his honey and ate it.’

Maskiini/ chibiga shtako/ khkasa. ‘The poor man sat down to listen.’

kuweka shtako ‘[lit.] to put a buttock [down] – i.e. to sit’

Chiingila/ chiweka shtako/ chija chaakuja/ icho/ chaa ye/ darbishiliizá. ‘He went in and sat down and ate that food that [lit.] he had been prepared for [i.e. had been prepared for him].’

kh-taala

v. [Sw. twaa SSED 483] (teete) take

Chibuku cha mwaalimu/ oloshelo numbaani/ khtaala/ nt^hashkuwaaliko. ‘The book that the teacher went home to get wasn’t there.’

Chibuku gani/ teto nt^hini ya meezá. ‘Which book did you (or he) take from under the table?’ Or: Chibuku gani/ teetó/ nt^hini ya meeza. (In the second example, the Accentual Law of Focus blocks the extension of the final accent of the pseudo-relative verb from extending beyond the verb. This undoubtedly reflects the norm. Further research is necessary to determine whether there is possible circumstance for the Accentual Law of Focus to be violated: ?Chibuku gani/ teetó/ nt^hini ya meezá.)

Chimtaala. ‘He took him.’

Hutala ziint^hu/ ka waant^hu/ huuza/ hupata peesa. ‘He takes things from people, sells them, and gets money.’ (This sentence is from a text where the speaker is reporting what a man, now dead, used to do.)

Isa/ mi nile khtala maaliyé/ yotte/ naami/ nt^hakoofisha/ ahdi yaa mi/nt^heeetó. ‘Now I have come to take all his wealth and I also will fulfill the promise that I have taken.’

Huseeni/ hataali/ imtihaani/ mara ya piili. ‘Huseeni will not take the examination a second time.’

Ka khisani/ we/ nakunt^haaló. ‘For what reason are you taking [kidnapping] me?’

Kharibu ya ilooni/ ofeetopó/ chilemela mteendre/ khpumula/ na usiinzizi/ uchimtaala. ‘About dusk, when he grew tired, he leaned against the date tree to rest and sleep overtook him.’

khurashiize ka tama’a ahdiyo nt^heeete mi skiiza [song] ‘I followed you with hope, I took your promise, I did not refuse’ khutaala ruhuuyo bila ya sababu [n_l.] ‘they take your life without any reason’

Maskiini/ shtala eeloye/ chishika ndilaze/ kendra kaake. ‘The poor man took his gazelle and went on his way to his place.’

Mi/ khuteeté/ we/ kumwelela mwaanawá/ khaadimu. ‘I took you (in order for) you to be a servant to my daughter.’

Mi/ nt^hete chijamuchá/ noloshele nacho/ ndilaani. ‘I took my plate and went with it outside.’

Mi/ nt^hete pesa za Omari. ‘I took Omari’s money.’ Or: Mi/ nt^hete Omari/ peesazé.

Mi/ siisi/ walá/ skhaadiri/ khtaala/ peesa/ izi. ‘I don’t know nor am I able to take this money.’

Mtaale. ‘Take him!’

muke waa ye/ teto peesá/ ka kaaké ‘the woman whom he took money from (her)’

muke waa ye/ teto peesá/ ka kaaké/ numbaaní ‘the woman whom he took money from her house’

Mwaana/ shtala lwarakha ili/ chisooma. ‘The child took this paper and read it.’

Mwiizi/ tete Omari/ peesaze. ‘The thief took Omari’s money.’ Cf. Mwiizi/ tete Omari/ peesaze? and Miizi/ tete Omari/ peesazê!?

Mwiizi/ tete peesa/ ka Omari. ‘The thief took money from Omari.’

Mwiizi/ tete pesa za Omari. ‘The thief took Omari’s money.’ Cf. Mwiizi/ tete pesa za Omari? and Mwiizi/ tete pesa za Omari!?

Naayé/ nakishtaaló/ icho chijuumbá/ majini/ wachimwona. ‘While he was taking that bird’s nest, the djinns saw him.’

Nimwambile kuwa ndimi/ nt^heto nguwozé. ‘I told her that it is me who took the clothes.’

Nt^hakishtaala. ‘He did not take it [cl.7].’ (Observe how the prefix ku, which precedes the macrostem in the negative past tense, is converted to ki in front of the [cl.7] object prefix chi, which here is realized as sh in position before a voiceless consonant.)

Nt^heeeté/ chuwo/ nichisomeelé. ‘I took this book and read it.’

Nuuru/ tete chint^hu cha Suufi. ‘Nuuru took Suufi’s stuff (lit. something of Suufi).’ Or: Nuuru/ tete Suufi/ chiint^huche. ‘Nuuru took Suufi his stuff.’ (Notice that in these two sentences, Suufi cannot control an object prefix on the verb; e.g. Nuuru/ mtete Suufi/ chiint^huche.)

Peesa/ za miizi/ teto ka Omari/ speeta. ‘the money that the thief took from Omari was found.’

Peesa/ za mwiizi/ teetó/ speeta. ‘The money that the thief took was found.’ (Notice the variability in the pre-relative medial phrase za mwiizi between whether there is final accent, as in this example, or not, as in the preceding example. In both cases we recorded the initial phrase peesa as having default penult accent.)

Shtalaa luti/ chimbiga Abunawaasi. ‘He took a stick and beat Abunawaasi.’

Shtala na mishpa yaa noka/ oyo/ chiya’usha. ‘She took as well the bones of that snake and hid them.’

Shtala na peesa/ zaa ye/ tukiiló. ‘She took as well the money that he was carrying.’

Taala. ‘Take it!’ Talaani. ‘(Pl.) take it!’ Talani skunyi. ‘Take the firewood!’

Staleeni. ‘Don’t take it!’ Staleeni/ skunyi. ‘Don’t take the firewood!’

Taala/ dawa iyi/ endrá/ tumba iboholi. ‘Take this medicine and go and dig a hole.’

Talaa tala/ meereja. ‘Take a lamp and look for it.’

Talaa zijo/ ja. ‘Take some zijo and eat!’

Tetee mazu/ sandukhuuni. ‘He took bananas from the box.’

Teeteni/ nt^hini ya meeza. ‘What did you take from under the table?’

Udokhani/ ukhuteete. ‘Stupidity prevailed over you (i.e. you were stupid).’ rel.

kh-taalila v. appl. [Sw. twalia] (taliile) take for, take someone’s, choose for Abú/ nt^halile balani/ mi/ kaalmeje/ khpata kazii mp^hiya. ‘Abu promised me his help in getting me a new job.’

Hamadi/ imtilile wakhtí/ [↑]miingi/ kumala khsoma chibuku icho. ‘Hamadi, it took him a long time to finish reading that book.’

Mi/ nimalile Omari/ peesá. ‘I took Omari’s money.’ Or: ‘I took the money for Omari.’

Mwaana/ nt^halile chibuuku/ ka Huseeni. ‘The child took the book from Huseeni for me.’ (The preposition ka is obligatory with a human noun. It can be omitted if the following noun is a locative; humans do not allow the locative suffix to be attached to them.)

Mwanafuunzi/ tete chaakuja/ ka mikooni. ‘The student took food from (in) the kitchen.’

Mwanafuunzi/ tete chibuuku/ cha mwaalimu. ‘The student took the book from the teacher.’

Mwanafuunzi/ tete chibuuku/ ka mezaani. ‘The student took the book from (on) the table.’ (Note that ka meeza is ungrammatical.)

Mwiizi/ mtalile Omari/ peesa (or: peesaze). ‘The thief took Omari’s money.’ Or: ‘The thief took money for Omari.’ Or, with the same two interpretations: Mwiizi/ mtalile peesa/ Omari. (Observe that the applied verb may be used to convey the idea that the action was done for someone’s benefit, but it may also be used to “raise” the possessor to be the primary object of the verb, i.e. the object that controls object agreement on the verb. This sentence type represents a canonical sentence, as revealed by the yes-no questions: Mwiizi/ mtalile Omari/ peesa? and Miizi/ mtalile Omari/ peesâ!? One can of course put focus on peesa, for example, by preposing it and putting the verb in pseudo-relative form: Mwiizi/ peesa/ mtalilo Omari. ‘The thief money took from Omari.’)

Peesa/ za mwiizi/ mtalilo Omari/ speeta. ‘The money that the thief took from Omari was found.’

Si/ hihtaja khadira khtalila ruhu ziitu. ‘We need to be able to choose for ourselves.’

We/ chita/ takitaajila/ ka faayda/ takichaja/ kama marti/ uyu/ chiza kuuya/ kuda’a chita chaa ye/ uziló/ kaakó. ‘You, the (cow’s) head, you will take for yourself as profit and you will eat it if this visitor does not come to claim the (cow’s) head that he bought from you.’

kh-taliloowa v. appl. pass. [Sw. twawa] be taken for Chibuuku/ shteta ka mwaalimu. ‘The book was taken from the teacher.’ (One cannot passivize mw-aalimu, even if a resumptive pronoun is left behind with ka: mw-aalimu/ teta chibuuku/ kaake/ na mw-anafuunzi. ‘The teacher was taken a book from him by a student.’ One can prepose mw-aalimu, but the verb must have chibuuku as its subject: mw-aalimu/ shteta chibuuku/ kaake/ na mwanafuunzi. ‘The teacher, the book was taken from him by a student.’) hutaaliloowa wake na wabjaana [st.] ‘it is taken for (in context: God’s approval is given to them all) the girls and boys’

Shtililowa nt’eendre/ ka chiguni/ shtililowá. ‘Dates were put for him in a bag, that was what was done.’

kh-taloowa v. (teeta) be taken

Chisu chaa mi/ nuuziló/ shteeta. ‘The knife that I bought has been taken.’

Hutaalowa izoo mbuzi/ huwekowa skuu nt’atu/ amó/ skuu saba/ kaa ndala. ‘They were taken, those goats, and made to stay three days or seven days in hunger.’

Icholokoowa/ khtalowa zibalaasi/ sabaze/ za mafta/ na shkooyá/ naachó/ shchitaloowa/ naa talá/ naayó/ ishtaloowa. ‘There went someone to take all seven clay jars of oil, and the necklace as well was taken, and the lamp as well was taken.’

khtalowa na maayi ‘to drown (lit. be taken by water)’

Tete na maayi. ‘He drowned.’

Mazu/ steta sandukhuuni. ‘Bananas were taken from the box.’ (Syn. One cannot say Sanduukhu/ itetaa mazu. ‘The box was taken bananas.’ Nor, with a resumptive pronoun: Sanduukhu/ itetaa mazu/ katiike (or: ka kaake). ‘The box was taken from it bananas.’)

Na shkooyá/ naachó/ shchitaloowa. ‘And the necklace as well was taken.’

Naa talá/ naayó/ ishtaloowa. ‘And the lamp as well was taken.’

numa takishila ruuhu khtaloowa [st.] ‘later he will descend and his soul be taken’

Schitalowaa mbuzi/ schifungoowa/ skuu kamu. ‘The goats were taken and tied up for some days.’

Sku yaa saba/ hutaalowa. ‘On the seventh day they are set free.’

Teena/ mukhta ijini/ weenó/ kuwa maaliyé/ yotté/ yateetá/ chimwambila Sa’iidi/ ndro/ shteze maraa piili. ‘Then, when the djinn saw that all his goods had been taken, he said to Sa’iidi: come, let us play (gamble) a second time.’

kh-taalana v. rec. [Sw. twaana] kh-talataala v. freq.

- Basi/ hattá/ leelo/ oyo mwaana/ wene waant^hu/ hutalataala/... ‘So, until one day that boy saw people always carrying...’
- kh-taalika* v. p/s.
Nuuru/ hashtaaliki/ chiint^huche. ‘As for Nuuru, his stuff cannot be taken away from him.’ (In this example, ‘his stuff’ is the subject of the verb –taalika. The subject may also be impersonal: Nuuru/ haytaaliki/ chiint^huche. But it is not possible for Nuuru to be the subject: Nuuru/ hataaliki/ chiint^huche.
- kh-taalisha* v. caus. (talishiize) cause to take N^talishize zibuuku. ‘He made me take books.’
- kh-talishana* v. caus. rec.
kh-talishiliza v. caus. appl. make take for/on N^talishilize waana/ zibuuku. ‘He made the children take the books for/on me.’
- Nuuru/ mtalishilize Ali/ waana/ zibuuku. ‘Nuuru made the children take the books for/on Ali.’ (The meanings conveyed by the sentence include: the children took the books for Ali’s benefit, or the children took the books to Ali’s detriment, or just that it was Ali’s children who were made to take the books.)
- kh-talishoowa* v. caus. pass. (-talishiiza) be made to take Talishiza naani/ zibuuku. ‘Who was made to take books?’ (Syn. When the question word naani is post-verbal, it does not trigger the pseudo-relative form of the verb: Talishiza naani/ zibuukú.) Watalishiizani/ waana. ‘What were they made to take, the children?’
- rel. nom.
m-taala (wa-) n. 1/2 one who takes
- i-tama* (ma-) n. 5/6 mouthful of s.t.
kubiga itama ‘to take a mouthful of s.t.’
rel.
l-tama (mi-) n.aug. 11/4 big mouthful
- i-tama* n. [Sw. tama “cheek – now used in the expression shika tama, rest the cheek on the hand, sit in a dejected or brooding attitude or in deep thought” SSED 448] cheek khshika itama ‘to wonder about s.t., be puzzled by s.t.’
- m-tama*(mi-) n. 3/4 [Sw. mtama (mi-) "millet, kaffircorn, sorghum" SSED 307] a synonym for gele ‘maize’, but with a slightly different use: mtama refers to the yield or the harvest, while gele can be a large or a small quantity, even a grain, and is used for all products of maize, e.g. zijo zaa gele ‘maize meal’, unga waa gele ‘maize flour’
Mahaḷa (ziko) nk^huku niingi/ saaniké/ mtama. ‘Don’t spread millet where there are many hens.’ (A proverb.)
mtama mwovu ‘bad millet’; mitama miwovu ‘bad millet (pl.)’
- kh-tamaayula* v. no etymological source found move back and forth
- kh-taambala* v. [Sw. tambaa SSED 448] (tambeele) creep, crawl on all four (of child who has not yet learned to walk), spread (of vines); drag on the ground (e.g. of a dress)
Chiboodo/ tambeele/ ka miimba/ hattá/ komeele/ kharibu yaa ndovu. ‘Flea crawled on his stomach until he reached near the elephant.’
Huzaala/ naachó/ chinakhtaambaló. ‘It gives birth while it is creeping.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is ibori hiindi ‘a pumpkin’.)
Ka apo/ wachaanza/ khtaambala/ ka magoonjo/ hattá/ washkoma/ khariibu/ ya dughaaghi. ‘From there, they began to crawl on their knees until they reached near the beast.’
khtaambala/ kanaa noka ‘to crawl like a snake’
Mi/ nt^hambeelé/ kulawa muḷooni. ‘I crawled out of the fire.’
Muḷo/ utambeela/ kulawoowa. ‘The fire was crawled out of.’

- Tambeele/ nt^hini ya maburaangeeti. ‘He crawled under the blankets.’
rel.
- kh-tambaḽila v. appl. crawl with; crawl for, on someone; (but not used in the sense of ‘crawl to’)
- kh-tambaliḽoowa v. appl. pass.
Magoonjo/ yashtambaliḽoowá/ haḽá/ mnangooni. ‘Knees were crawled on to the door.’
- kh-tambaḽoowa v. pass.
Maburaangeeti/ yatambela nt^hiniyaawo. ‘The blankets were crawled under them.’
- kh-tambalataambala v. freq.
Shtambalatambala ka magoonjo/ haḽá/ mnangoonio. ‘He crawled on his knees to the door.’
- kh-tambalika v. p/s.
- kh-tambaliza v. caus. appl.
- kh-taambaza v. caus. help crawl; drag something on the ground khtambaza mwaana ‘to help a child crawl’ khtambazaa nguwo ‘to drag a cloth on the ground’
- m-taambo (mi-) n. 3/4 [Sw. mtambo (mi-) SSED 307] a kind of net for trapping animals; a scale for weighing things
- sh-taambo (s-) n. 7/8 [Sw. kitambo SSED 208] awhile, a period of time, some portion of time Nimlinzile shtaambó. ‘I waited for him for awhile.’
Nt^hakiineedra/ shtaambo/ chaa muda/ mule/ haḽá/ chi’iwona/ ibwa/ ikulu. ‘He did not go for a long period of time before he saw a large wild dog.’
- kh-taambula
v. [Sw. tambua SSED 449] (tambiile) understand, recognize; solve a puzzle, riddle Ali/ kuḽa muzizo fanyizeeyi/ maaliyó/ mjibiile/ ha’isi/ ma’anayé/ ha’ambiḽoowi/ ma’ana/ ka khisa/ wo/ kawa’ambiḽoowá/ ma’anaye/ wo/ skawataambule. ‘Ali, each one who asked him what he did with his wealth, he answered: the one who does not know its meaning is not told the meaning because if they were told its meaning, they would not understand.’
Basi/ shtaambula. ‘So he (was able to) distinguish (between them).’
Chiza khtambulake/ inyawishiize. ‘His not understanding surprised me.’
Isa/ chaambile/ jisaa ye/ takhtaambuló. ‘Now tell us how he will tell the difference.’
Kanaa we/ nakhsuḽa amaani/ mbuzi izi/ mbilize/ taambula/ ump^hi/ mzeele/ ump^hi/ mwaana. ‘If you want peace, these two goats, determine which is the older and which is the younger.’
Kooḽi/ kiḽa mo/ jisaa ye/ hutaambuló. ‘Talk is how everyone understands it.’ (A proverb.)
Maamé/ mi/ siwo/ mwaana/ hutaambula/ mbovu/ na suurá. ‘Mother, I am not a child, I understand (the difference between) evil and good.’
Mi/ hutaambula/ jisa iyi/ hufanyoowá. ‘I understand how to fix this.’
Mi/ nakhaadirá/ khtaambula/ ka khisani/ Haliima/ nakhshikowa shtanaa nt^ho/ na muḽiwé. ‘I can understand Haliima getting very angry at her husband.’
Mi/ nhadiilé/ sho kiwa ma’anaye/ ha’ambiḽoowi/ ma’anaye/ ka khisa/ chimweeleza/ muunt^hu/ nt^hana aqili/ kooḽi/ hataambuli. ‘I said that the one who does not know its meaning is not told its meaning because if one explains the words to a person without wits, he will not understand.’
Mi/ simtaambuli/ Omari/ biḽkuliya. ‘I do not understand Omari at all.’
Mi/ sinakhtaambula. ‘I do not understand.’
Mmereelé/ nfunguloza/ kiḽa/ mahaḽa/ skutaambula/ mbeshleepi. ‘I looked for my keys everywhere, I could not figure out where I had put them.’
Muḽjaana/ chimwaambila/ we/ ni mwenye aqili/ tambiiélé. ‘The young - man said to him, you possess intelligence, you understood.’

- Muun^hu/ hutambula yaa ye/ nakhpeendó/ tu. ‘One understands only what he likes.’ (A proverbial.)
- Muun^hu/ itooye/ hutambu^oowa. ‘One is understood by his eye (i.e. by the expression on his face).’ (A proverbial saying.)
- Ndisi/ tu/ nt^hachinakhtaambuló. ‘Is it just us who do not understand?’
- Nt^haku/ ba/ nakhtaambuló. ‘There was no one who could understand/ differentiate (the two things).’
- Nuuru/ tambile darsi. ‘Nuuru understood the lesson.’
- Shtaambula/ mi/ chi^taacha/ halaaliyo/ na chiiza/ khtambula/ chi^taacho/ ni halaaliya. ‘If you solve [e.g. the riddle], my head is lawfully yours, and if you do not solve it, your head is lawfully mine.’
- Sinakhtaambula/ chint^hu icho. ‘I cannot figure out, understand this thing.’
- Sultaani/ chiwona/ chileemba/ chishtaambula. ‘The sultan saw the turban and recognized it.’
- Sultaani/ na waant^hú/ wotte/ wachimtaambula. ‘The sultan and all the people recognized him.’
- Sultaani/ paapo/ shtaambula/ ya kuwa ikoofiya/ iyi/ ifanyiizó/ ni moojé. ‘The sultan immediately understood that the one who made this hat was his master.’
- Sultaani/ shtaambula/ kuwa waziiriwe/ mkoðishize wanaafakhi/ na kuwaa ye/ oloshela/ ka Ali/ kumera tafsiri/ ya kooðize. ‘The sultan understood that his minister had lied to him and that he had gone to Ali seeking a translation of his words.’
- Taambula/ nini/ imp^hheetó. ‘Understand what befell me!’
- Wa’ingilopo nt^hi iyi/ kumeraa kujá/ Yusuufu/ chiwataambula. ‘When they entered this land to look for food, Yusuufu recognized them.’
- Ye/ tambiiile/ ma’ana/ ya ndrooto/ izi. ‘He recognized the meaning of these dreams.’
- rel.
- kh-tambu^oowa* v. pass. be recognized, differentiated, understood
- Chiint^hu/ hutambu^oowa/ jisaa cho/ shkeeló/ kamba ni chisuurá/ ambá/ kamba ni chiwovú. ‘Something is understood as to how it looks like, whether it is good or whether it is bad.’
- hutambu^oowa langala ka aqli/ na ma’ina yaawo taala mba^lmbali [st.] ‘you should focus your mind on it, and learn their names one by one’
- Nt^haynakhtambu^oowa/ ba. ‘There was no way [for the difference between the two goats] to be recognized.’
- kh-tambulana* v. rec. understand one another
- Si/ hutambulana. ‘We understand each other.’
- Wadoreete/ we/ chimaliza/ watambuleene. ‘They argued, you know, and then, they agreed (understood one another).’
- wenye muuyi na wageeni/ nt^haku khtambulanoowa [st.] ‘local people and visitors will be indistinguishable (in this crowd)’
- kh-tambulika* v. p/s. able to be understood
- kh-tambuliza* v. caus. appl.
- Nuuru/ mtambulize Suufi/ mwaana/ darsi. ‘Nuuru helped Suufi’s child understand the lesson.’
- kh-tambulizanya* v. caus. appl. rec.
- Nuuru/ na Suufi/ watambulizenye waana/ darsi. ‘Nuuru and Suufi helped one another’s children understand the lesson.’
- kh-taambuza* v. caus. (tambiiize) help to understand
- Nuuru/ mtambize mwaana/ darsi. ‘Nuuru helped the child understand the lesson.’
- shtambiizo si haraamu na halaali [st.] ‘who made us discern the lawful from the unlawful’
- kh-tambuzanya* v. caus. rec.
- kh-tambuzika* v. caus. p/s.

- kh-tambuzoowa* v.
rel. nom.
m-taambula (wa-) n. 1/2
ma-taambulo n. 6
u-taambulo n. 14
m-taambuza (wa-) n. 1/2
u-taambuza n. 14
- kh-taambuza* v. sharpen
rel.
kh-tambuzoowa v. pass. be sharpened Chisu/ chinakhtahaja khtambuza. ‘This knife needs to be sharpened.’
rel. nom.
m-taambuza n. 3
Chisu/ chinakhtahaja mtaambuza. ‘This knife needs sharpening.’
- taambuzi* adj. intelligent, clever munt^hu mtaambuzi ‘a clever person’
- m-taana* (wa-) n. 1/2 [Sw. mtwana SSED 313] originally referred to a male slave, particularly a prisoner of war, but now used to refer to descendants of slaves, thus someone who cannot trace his ancestry (equivalent to the Somali word addoon)
Aada/ ya mtaana/ maneeno/ ya mlungaana/ shteendro. ‘The custom of the slave is to talk, that of the free man is action.’ (A proverb.)
Apo/ ye/ chimvila mooyi/ karka wataanawe/ chimwaambila/ zaa ye/ nakhsula khfaanya. ‘There he called one of his slaves and told him what he wanted.’
Ka kaake/ nt^haku/ mtaana/ wala/ mluunganá. ‘For him there is neither slave nor free man (i.e. he does not care about a person’s social status).’
Mooyi/ karka wataana/ ondroshela/ kinendrakiineendra. ‘One of the slaves got up and took a stroll.’
Mtaana/ shfaanya/ zaa ye/ amuriila. ‘The slave did what he was ordered to do.’
Mwaana/ chiwa’amura wataana/ kumkokotaa ndovu/ hatá/ muyiini. ‘The son ordered the slaves to drag the elephant up to the town.’
Sku yaa saba mtaana/ oyo/ chufkula khabri. ‘On the seventh day that slave dug up the tomb.’
Tala majumbaya/ miyuundraya/ na wataanawa/ wotte. ‘Take my houses, my gardens, and all my slaves.’
Wataana/ washkhira/ kumraasha. ‘The slaves agreed to follow him.’
We/ chimshiindra/ takulozowa/ mwanaamke/ ama/ ye/ chikhushiindra/ we/ takhfanyowa mtaana/ kumtumika sul^htani. ‘If you defeat her, you will be married to the girl, but if she defeats you, you will be made a slave to serve the sultan.’
rel.
sh-taana (s-) n. slave, s.o. who cannot trace his ancestry Hasani/ chivaala/ nguwoze/ za shtaana/ shpandra shpuundrache/ keendra/ ka sul^htani. ‘Hasani put on his clothes for a slave and mounted his little donkey and went to the sultan.’
u-taana n. 14 the state of being a mtaana ku^hlawa utaana ‘to become free (lit. come out of slavery)’
Mtume Mhamadi/ mukhta^ha ye/ iló/ Bilaali/ lazile ka utaana. ‘When Prophet Mohammad emerged, Bilaal became a free man.’ (Bilaal was a slave of African descent who converted to Islam and who was beaten unmercifully until his freedom was purchased by a fellow Muslim.)
- kh-taandra* v. [Sw. tanda SSED 450] spread out; spin a web (of a spider) khtandraa chili ‘to make a bed; to weave with a rope a kind of ‘springs’ upon which the mattress if a bed is placed khtandra ijaambi ‘to spread out a mat’

rel.

kh-tandraliza v. appl. lay out, spread out for kh-taandraza v. [Sw. tandaza SSED 450] spread s.t. out khtandraza ijaambi ‘to spread a mat out’ khtandrazaa nguwo ‘to spread clothes out’

kh-tandrazisha v. caus.

kh-taandrika v. [Sw. tandika SSED 450] spread a cover over the body (e.g. of Muslim women); make a bed

Ali/ mtandishile mwaana/ khashiida. ‘Ali spread the khashiida over the child.’

Haliima/ tandrishilee chili. ‘Haliima made the bed.’

khtandrika farasi ‘to put a saddle on a horse’

Shtandrika farasiye/ chimpaanza. ‘He put a saddle on his horse and helped her to mount [the horse].’

kibri ni garbasaari ya Mojiitu/ hutaandriko kuzaamake si chiint^{hu} [st.]

‘pride is the mantle of God/ whoever (else) wraps himself in it will founder’ (kuzaamake means literally ‘its/his/her drowning’)

Nuuru/ tandrishile khashiida. ‘Nuuru draped the shawl over himself.’

kh-tandrikana v. rec.

kh-tandrikila v. appl.

kh-tandrikisha v. caus. make someone spread something over someone Nuuru/ mtandrikishize mwaana/ khashiida. ‘Nuuru made the child spread a shawl over himself.’

kh-tandrikishana v. caus. rec.

kh-tandrikishika v. caus. p/s.

kh-tandrikishiliza v. caus. appl.

Nuuru/ mtandrikishilize Suufi/ mwaana/ khashiida. ‘Nuuru made Suufi’s child spread a shawl over himself.’

kh-tandrikishilizanya v. caus. applk. rec.

Nuuru/ na Suufi/ watandrikishilizenye waana/ khashiida. ‘Nuuru and Suufi made one another’s children drape shawls over themselves.’

kh-tandrikoowa v. pass.

Chili/ shtandrishila. ‘The bed was made.’

kh-taandriila v. appl.

kh-taandriisha v. caus.

rel. nom.

m-taandriko n. 3

ma-taandriko n. 6

sh-tandrawili (s-)

n. [Sw. kitandawili SSED 451] riddle

Bwaana/ takhaadira/ we/ khfungula shtandrawili ichi. ‘Master, will you be able to solve this riddle?’

sh-taandriko (s-)

n. 7/8 a wrap used by Bravanese women to cover the head and shoulders, often made of flimsy material like cotton voile

Ka paapo/ apo/ Fikiriini/ shtomola/ ichije shtaandriko/ cha mwanaamke/ lasilo/ chimonyeza sulṭaani. ‘At that very moment Fikiriini took out that veil which the daughter [of the sultan] had left behind and showed it to the sultan.’

Sulṭaani/ wenopo shtaandrikó/ tambiiile/ kuwa nch^ha mwanaamkewe/ na tambiiile/ kuwa khada’a/ ya mwanaamkewe/ fanyiizó/ yiwiiila. ‘When the sultan saw the veil, he understood that it belonged to his daughter and he understood that the deception that his daughter had done was known.’

Waspeelee/ staandriko/ wo. ‘They gave head coverings, them.’ (Our consultant, GM, accepted that while wo in this sentence might be accepted as a right-dislocated subject, it was also possible to take it to refer to some unspecified recipients. This latter interpretation runs counter to our hypothesis that an object marker on the verb can be linked to the logical object just in the event there is no recipient mentioned in the sentence. He also considered this ambiguity to be present with other word orders as well: Staadriko/waspee/ 'wo. Also: Waspee/ 'wo/ staadriko. More extensive research on this point is required.)

(Wo/ waspee/ staadriko. 'They gave head coverings (to someone unspecified).')

i-taandru (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. tandu SSED 452 "centipede", but suggesting a Persian origin with the meaning "spider"] cobweb, spider's web; the thick skin that forms on top of liquids (e.g. milk) when cooked (cf. ikooko, which refers to the hard crust that forms at the bottom of solids, esp. rice); (pl.) the greenish scum at the top of standing water itandru ya iziwa 'the layer at the top of milk that has boiled and been left standing'

Kama mahala/ mweepe/ ivundishile/ kama yako mataandru/ wa'ambile watumishi/ wanapeele. 'If some place is broken, if there are cobwebs there, tell the servants that they should sweep (there).'

Kama yako mataandru/ wa'ambile watumishi/ wanapeele. 'If there are cobwebs, tell the servants to sweep (the place) clean.'

rel.

l-taandru (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.

kh-taandrula

v. [Sw. tandua SSED 450: "take off (fold up, remove) what is laid on (spread out, etc.), and so of unfurnishing a bed or room, unharnessing an animal"] clean away, remove (cobwebs) khtandrula mataandru 'to remove cobwebs'

i-taanga (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. tanga SSED 452] sail

kandika itaanga 'to put up the sail'

Huseeni/ shomola ngiisha/ wachandika itaanga/ wachisaafira.

'Huseeni raised the anchor and put the sail up and they set off.'

Ye/ chandika itaanga/ kendra kuza nsiize/ karka muyi mwiingine. 'He put up the sail [of his boat] to go to sell his fish in another town.'

khpanza itaanga 'to hoist the sail'

Washpanza itaanga/ wachoondroka/ ka apo/ wachisaafira/wachisaafira/ hattá/ washkoma/ jaziira/ yiingine. 'They hoisted the sail and left from there and traveled and traveled until they reached another island.'

khsimika itaanga 'to hoist the sail' kishkiza itaanga 'to get the sail down' markabu ya itaanga 'a sail boat'

rel.

mi-taanga n. 4 sails

Mitaanga/ yadarile matotoope. 'The sails were soaked with mud.' Or: Yadarilo matotoopé/ ni mitaanga. 'What were soaked with mud is the sails.'

Nnakhsula markabú/ ya ðahabú/ milongoŕiye/ ya feða/ mitaangaye/ ya hariiri. 'I want a ship of gold, its masts of silver, its sails of silk.'

ma-taanga

n. 6 [Sw. tanga (ma-) "a formal mourning—usually in the plur. matanga, lasting from three or four to ten days, during which friends sleep in the mourner's house" SSED 452] six day mourning period, wake khfanya mataanga 'to hold a mourning gathering'

Baaba/ chifa/ waana/ washfanya mataanga/ wamaliizopó/washkalaant^ha/ wachawanya maali/ ya mzele waawo/lasiló. 'Father died; the children held a wake, and when they finished, they sat down and divided up the wealth that their father had left.'

khkalan^ha mataanga 'to mourn'

Khpasa/ haruusi/ kulipa/ mataanga. 'To take a loan is a wedding, to repay is, is days of mourning.' (A proverb.)

kuweka mataanga 'to conduct the formal mourning period'

- Weshele matanga makulu. ‘He held a large wake.’
Sultaani/ fiilopó/ ba’ada ya mataanga/ kondroloowa/ mwaana/ shfanyowa sultaani/ na chidhahalishoowa/ maali/ na mulkú/ na kulla ya sultaani/ chimilkó. ‘When the sultan died, and the wake was held, the boy was made sultan and was given the wealth and property and all that the sultan owned.’
- sh-taanga (s-)* n. 7/8 [Sw. kitanga SSED 209] a round mat used to lay food on shtanga cha mizaani ‘the pan of a scale’ shtanga cha mkono ‘the palm of the hand’
- sh-taanga* n. a prayer that is prayed on the morning of idi ya wamuusi khsalowa shtaanga ‘for shtaanga to be prayed’ Shtaanga/ ni sala husalowa fijiri ya sku ya iidí. ‘Shtaanga is a prayer that is prayed on the morning of iidi (ya wamuusi).’ khsala shtaanga ‘to pray shtaanga’
Fijiri ya sku iyi/ waant^hu/ wote/ hendra miskitiini/ khsala shtaanga. ‘On the morning of this day all people go to the mosque to pray shtaanga.’
- m-taange (mi-)* n. 3/4 [Sw. mtange SSED 307: "the beam of a pair of scales for weighing with"] scale
- kh-tanguliza* v. [Sw. tangulia "precede" and tanguliza "give precedence" SSED 453] precede
rel. nom.
u-tangulizo n. 14
- n-tanu* n. [Sw. tanu SSED 453; Ar. tannūr "baking oven, usually clay-lined, for baking bread" W 98] oven made of clay, and used mainly to bake local bread (maandra); it is found in most houses of Brava and it consists of a large clay jar, usually embedded in cement; [pron. nt^hanu]
Nt^hanu/ nt^haasá/ ni imulo/ yifke/ inakuławó. ‘The stove is still hot, heat is coming out.’
Siná/ nt^hanu ya khpikila. ‘I do not have a stove to cook on.’
rel.
i-tanu (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.
sh-tanu (s-) n. 7/8 dim.
- i-tapika (ma-)* n. 5/6 vomit; pl: matapika
maazi na matapika ya kanaani/ ni nijisi pashpo kuuya ka ndraani [st.] ‘blood and vomit from the mouth are impure, even if they do not come from deep inside’
- i-tapika ya tawala* n. [lit. vomit of the sea] jellyfish
- kh-tapika* v. [Sw. tapika SSED 454] (tapishile) vomit Chimdirka eelo/ nakhtapika. ‘She found the gazelle vomiting.’
Hamadi/ mbene mi/ khtapika. ‘Hamadi saw me vomiting.’
Hamadi/ mbene mi/ nakhtapikó. ‘Hamadi saw me vomiting.’
Muunt^hu/ yaa ye/ hujó/ hutapikó. ‘What a person eats is what he vomits.’ (A proverb.)
Nele maayi/ tapishile. ‘(As soon as) he drank water, he vomited.’
rel.
kh-tapikila v. appl. (tapikiliile) vomit on, with Mwaana/ mtapikiliile maamaye. ‘The child threw up on his mother.’
kh-tapisha v. caus. make vomit; fig. make talk ka khas̄i shtapisha soomu huvuundika [st.] ‘if you vomit on purpose, fasting is invalidated’
rel. nom.

- ma-tapiko* n. 6 vomiting
- ma-tata* n. 6 [Sw. matata "tangle, mess, difficulty" SSED 456] troubles Fanyize matata yaayo/ ka yaayo. 'He created the same problems over and over.'
mwenye matata 'a troublemaker' Sta'alūqané/ naaye/ ni mwenye matata. 'Don't associate with him, he is a troublemaker.'
rel.
sh-tata (s-) n. 7/8 trouble, confusion, quarreling Chiko stata/ apo. 'There is trouble here.'
- kh-tatanya* v. [cf. Sw. tata "tangle, complicate, confuse" SSED 456] (tateenye or tatanyiize) create confusion, discord
rel.
kh-tatanyisha v. caus. [=kh-tatanya]
Ali/ mtatanyishize Jaama/ na Hamadi. 'Ali caused friction between Jaama and Hamadi.'
kh-tatiliza v. appl. (formed from kh-tatiza below) kh-tatiza v. [Sw. tatiza SSED 456] (tatiize) confuse, cause worry
rel. nom.
ma-tatizo n. 6 confusion
- tatu* adj. [Sw. tatu SSED 457] three Amurile ma'askari watatu/ kulindra wardiya. 'He ordered three soldiers to stand guard.'
Chisele watatú. 'We remained three (i.e. there were just three of us left).'
ikumi naa nt^hatu 'thirteen'
Isa/ ni sa'aa nt^hatu/ za masku. 'Now it is nine o'clock at night [lit. three of the evening].'
Mi/ niwapele wana zihaba watatú/ mazú. 'I gave the three small children bananas.'
Mp^hana izi/ nt^hatuze/ nt^haskukhaadira/ khtukula ijarsi. 'These rats, all three of them, were not able to carry the bell.' review whether there is lengthening muda wa miyezi mitatu 'a period of three months' Nazo jawaabú/ nt^hatu/ nakhsula khaambilá. 'I have three things that I want to tell you.'
skapu statu 'three baskets'
sku nt^hatu zimooyi 'three days or more' review
Waant^hu/ hukalo Mwiini/ wote/ ni wasoomaali/ ka sharii'a/ laakini/ chimeera/ asli yaawo/ wo/ hulawaangana/ lamnaa nt^hatu. 'All the people who live in Miini are Somalis legally, but if one traces their ancestry they are divided into three groups.'
waant^hu/ watatu/ wawaliko kharibuyé 'three people who were near him' Watatuwe/ ka paapo/ mp^haka/ chiwablá. All three of them, the cats killed at the same time.'
Ye/ ni kuya apa/ keesho/ sa'aa nt^hatu/ fijiri. 'She is to come here tomorrow at nine in the morning.'
Ye/ wapele wana zihaba watatu/ mazu. 'She fed the three small children bananas.'
Or: Ye/ wapelee mazu/ wana zihaba watatu. 'She fed bananas to the three small children.' (The shift in word order between these two sentences does not alter the fact that object agreement is with waana 'children'.)
- taatu* third
Isa/ awa/ wawili/ niwaweené/ mlete mwana wa taatu. 'Now these two, I have seen them; bring (home) a third child.'

	Munt^hu wa taatu/ ile. ‘The third man came.’
	Na chimnyamula na wa taatu. ‘And he scratched the third one.’
	Sku ya taatu/ mzeele/ rudiile/ ka safariini. ‘On the third day, the old man returned from his trip.’
	Wachisaafira/ sku ya kaandra/ sku ya piili/ sku ya taatu/ sku yaane/ haḡá/ sku ya ikumi. ‘They travelled the first day, the second day, the third day, the fourth day, until the tenth day.’
	Ya taatu/ mi/ nakhsuulá/ we/ kishpa rukhsa/ si/ kugura leelo. ‘Thirdly, I want you to give us permission to move today.’
	Ye/ zazila kuwa mwana wa taatu. ‘He was born the third child.’
kh-tatula	v. [Sw. tatua SSED 456] (tatiile) [used primarily in negative contexts or non-perfective contexts. thus the past tense form tatiile is not absolutely certain] unravel or comprehend s.t. unclear
	Hatatuli/ chiint^hu. ‘He does not understand anything.’
	Nt^hakhtatula/ kooḡiza. ‘He did not get the idea of what I said.’
	Ye/ ṭakhtatula kooḡiza. ‘He will grasp the meaning of my words.’
	rel.
	kh-tatuza v. (tatiize or tatuziize) let someone be quiet and think about something
sh-tatuzi (s-)	n. 7/8 clue, sign
ku-tawa	v. kumtawaa nt^hawa ‘to pick out lice from s.o.’
n-tawa	n. 9/10 [Sw. chawa SSED 52] louse; [pron. nt^hawa] Chala chimooyi/ hachubli/ nt^hawa. ‘One finger does not kill a louse.’ (A proverb.) kubḷaa nt^hawa ‘to kill a louse/lice’ Nt^hawa/ zimingiló. ‘Lice has entered him, he is infested with lice.’
sh-tawa (s-)	n. 7/8 a kind of fish
i-taza	n. a kind of small fish, Remora; they swim along with and attach themselves to sharks, feeding off them confirm pronunciation
sh-taazi (s-)	n. 7/8 [cf. Sw. verb twaá "carry away" SSED 483] a stretcher, with a cover on it, for carrying corpses
kh-teka	v. [Sw. teka SSED 459] (teshele) draw, get water from a well or out of a bigger container, fetch Ichiwa kuwaa wo/ huteka uki/ ka iboholiini/ hendra kuuza/ muyiini. ‘It became the case that they fetched honey from the hole and went to sell it in town.’ iyi ni bishaara na kullu iwaani/ ya meema khteka apa duniyaani [st.] ‘this is the good news, and each (of you) be aware that the good man is departing from this world’ khteka maayi ‘to fetch water from the well’ khteka maayi/ ka mṭuungi ‘to fetch water with a large water pot’ (Traditionally in Brava, women would make repeated trips to a nearby well to fetch water using a large water pot called mṭuungi . There is a well at each of the many mosques.) khteka skunyi ‘to fetch firewood’ maayi ya bahari shteka hayamali / na siifa za mtume ndrúwa hazimali [st.] ‘if you fetch water from the sea it does not finish (i.e. you are unable to take all water out of the sea, it is an endless task), and [likewise] the praises of the Prophet, my friend, are endless’ sandra wrote nruwa Nṭ^hakhtekaayi/ mi/ maayi. ‘How can I fetch water?’ We/ iizé/ khṭumba chisima/ na isá/ ile khṭeka maayí. ‘You refused to dig the well and now you have come to fetch water?’

rel.

kh-tekeka v. p/s. able to be fetched kh-tekela v. appl. fetch for, with

Ye/ nt^hakuwanaayo/ wadaamu/ yaa ye/ khtekela maayi. ‘He did not have a bucket with which to fetch water.’

kh-tekoowa v. pass. (tesheja) be drawn (of water)

Maayi/ yanakhtekoowa. ‘Water is being fetched.’

kh-teeka

v. [Sw. tweka "hoist up, raise up" SSED 483 and twika "to lift loads" SSED 484] load an animal; raise or lift up khteka itaanga ‘to hoist a sail’ khteka mp^huundra ‘to load a donkey’

Mp^huundra/ zinakhtekoowa. ‘Donkeys are being loaded.’

ya mweema khteka apa duniyaani [st.] ‘that the good [man] is departing from (lit. being raised from) this world’

rel.

kh-tekateeka v. freq. load again and again

kh-teekeka v. p/s. able to be loaded

n-teeka

n. a burden animal; [pron. nt^heeka]

karka siraaji ni nt^heeka khpandroowa [st.] ‘it is a burden animal to be ridden on the narrow path to heaven’

kh-teketela

v. [Sw. teketea SSED 459] (teketele) burn until charred (of food, meat); have a strong desire

rel.

kh-teketelela v. appl.

Int^heketelelee nama/ int^heketelelelo. ‘The meat burned up on me, that’s what it did.’

Nama/ int^heketelele. ‘The meat burned up on me.’

kh-teketeleza v. caus. appl.

kh-teketelezanya v. caus. appl. rec.

kh-teketeza v. caus. burn something until it is charred kh-teketezeka v. caus. p/s.

kh-teketezekela v. appl. p/s.

Nama/ int^heketezekelele. ‘The meat was able to be charred for me.’

rel. nom.

m-teketelo n. 3

m-teketezo n. 3

teembo

n. 9/10 [Sw. tembo SSED 461] Swahilicism coconut palm wine made from the sap of the coconut tree (This word and the examples are from our first consultant, Mohammed Imam Abasheikh, who spoke both Chimiini, his father’s language, and Swahili, his mother’s language. The word teembo is not used generally among the Bravanese as there are no coconut trees in Brava and thus no palm wine made from coconuts.)

khamrisha teembo ‘to brew coconut palm wine’

kuna teembo ‘to drink coconut palm wine’

kh-teendra

v. [Sw. tenda SSED 461] (teenzele) act, do

Mbelela raaði/ ka yaa mi/ khuteenzeló. ‘Forgive me for what I have done to you.’

Muunt^hu/ chiwanazo peesa/ humwambila nt^heendra. ‘If one has money, it tells him: spend (lit. do) me!’ (A proverbial saying.)

Siná/ ya khfaanya/ walá/ ya khteendrá. ‘I don’t have anything to do nor anything to make – i.e. I am totally idle.’ (A saying.)

Sulilee muke/ wa maaziye/ na muke wa maaziyé/ ndiyé/ mtenzelo jis’iyó. ‘He wanted a woman of his blood (i.e. from his clan) and the woman of his blood, it is her who acted this way to him (i.e. badly).’

Tenzele ziwovu. ‘He did evil things.’

rel.

kh-teendrana v. rec.

kh-teendreka v. p/s. do well on one’s own

Nakhteendreka. ‘He is doing well on his own.’

kh-tendrefoowa v. appl. pass.

kh-teendrela v. appl.

Mooja shteendrela biða’a rakhiiisi [st.] ‘O God, make affordable [lit. not expensive] to us all merchandise’

kh-tendroowa v. pass.

Nt^haku/ ya khfanyoowa/ walá/ ya khtendroowá. ‘There’s nothing to be done or to be made (to make something less problematic, get some relief, lessen damage).’

Zombo izi/ zinakhtendrowaayi. ‘These things, what do we do with them?’

rel. nom.

m-teendra (wa-) n. 1/2 one who acts, does

n-teendre

n. 9 [Sw. tende SSED 462] date (fruit); [pron. nt^heendre] (Although this is a [cl.9/10] noun, the agreement observed in the examples below show that the noun is generally used as a mass noun that governs [cl.9] agreement.)

busuri ya nt^heendre ‘one piece of date’

Furahiile/ nt^ho/ kuwona nt^heendre/ yiko mutiini/ kharibu ya kuviva. ‘He was very pleased to see the dates there in the tree about to ripen.’ (The copular verb yiko... exhibits [cl.9] agreement with nt^heendre, but it is clear that the meaning is ‘dates’ and not ‘a date’.)

ka nt^heendre khpisa mbele ndrúza afðali [st.] ‘it is best to break the fast first with dates, my brothers’

Karkaa ye/ oloshelo kumrasha nk^haanga/ mundraani/ wa’ilee nyunyi/ wajile nt^heendre/ yote. ‘While he was chasing the guinea fowl, in the garden, birds came, and they ate all the dates.’

khfufuriila nt^heendre ‘to break the fast with (the eating of) dates’

Mukhtaa muti/ wa nt^heendre/ wanzizo khtomola fiiti/ wafakeete/ ka wawa yaawo/ wachimpa/ khabari. ‘When the date tree began to blossom, the children ran to their father and gave him the news.’

Mwaana/ chiwaviila makhaadimu/ washtinda nt^heendre. ‘The boy called the servants and they cut off the dates.’

Nt^heendre/ iwaliko paapo/ mutiini. ‘The dates were right there on the tree.’

nt^heendre iyi ‘this date, these dates’ nt^heendre ya farði ‘a kind of soft, sweet date that people like to eat to break the fast during Ramadhan’ nt^heendre ya gosra ‘a kind of date, harder than nt^heendre ya farði’ nt^heendre yaa maka ‘a type of date – lit. date of Mecca’

Nt^heendre iyi/ ndaa maka. ‘These dates are from Mecca.’

nt^heendre yaa suna ‘dates which are eaten ordinarily, unlike nt^heendre ya farði which are expensive and usually eaten during Ramadhan’

Nt^heendre/ yanzizopo kuvivá/ chintuma mwaana/ mwiingine/ keendra/ kulindra nt^heendre. ‘When the dates began to ripen, he sent another son to go and protect the dates.’ (The verb form yanzizopo... has a subject prefix y- that is a [cl.9] agreement, indicating that nt^heendre may, in its [cl.9] form, carry plural significance.)

Sultaani/ sulile mooyi/ karka kaawo/ kulindra mteendre/ ka khisaa ye/ shtiyaa nyunyi/ kuja nt^heendreze. ‘The sultan wanted one of them to protect the date tree because he was afraid that birds would eat his dates.’ (The possessed

- form nt^heendreze uses the [cl.10] form here to express plurality.)
rel.
- m-teendre (mi-) n. 3/4 a date tree [=muti wa nt^heendre]
Mtendreeni/ nt^hayikhsaala/ haṭá/ nt^hendre mooyi. ‘In the date tree not even one date remained.’
Mwaana/ chiruda mtendreeni. ‘The boy returned to the date tree.’
- kh-teendreza v. (tendreeze) stir, mix up food
rel.
kh-tendreleza v. appl.
rel. nom.
u-teendrezo n. act of stirring, mixing
- sh-teendro (s-) n. 7/8 [Sw. kitendo SSED 462] action, happening; [in grammar] verb Apo/ stendro izi/ zinakhtulukó/ mshaawuri/ wa maamulaṭa muuyi/ waliko nakhpita/ ka apo/ chiwona. ‘There, where these happenings were taking place, the advisor of the administrator of the town was passing by that place, and saw (everything that happened).’
shtendro cha amri ‘[in grammar] imperative verb’ shtendro chiimó ‘[in grammar] present tense’ shtendro chinakuuyó ‘[in grammar] future tense’ shtendro shpisiló ‘[in grammar] past tense’
Stendro za Jaani/ honyesha kuwaa ye/ ni dokhaani. ‘The actions of John show that he is stupid.’
Wachilawa/ ziizo/ steendro/ zinakurudiḷoowa. ‘When they are gone, the same actions are repeated.’
Wana awa/ shtendro zaawo/ (ni) ziwovu. ‘These children, their actions are bad.’
Wiingine/ wa’aminile/ kuwaa ye/ ni ijini/ ka khisa/ stendro zaa ye/ fanyiizó. ‘Others believed that he was a djinn because of the actions that he performed.’
- sh-teenge (s-) n. 7/8 [perhaps related to the Sw. verb tenga SSED 462: "separate, set (put, move, take) apart (aside), remove, withdraw, divide off"] a tuft of hair left at the front of the head after the rest of the head has been shaved (formerly a style of cutting the hair of children)
- i-tetela n. stuttering
Muunt^hu/ chiwanayo maali/ amó/ muunt^hu/ chiwa mkulu/ haṭá/ itetela/ huwa fasiiha. ‘If a man has money or if a man is important, (then) even if he is one who stutters, he (is considered) eloquent.’ (A proverb.)
Omari/ ni itetela. ‘Omari is a person who stutters.’
- kh-tetela v. [Sw. tetea "cackle--of a hen" SSED 464] (teteele) stammer, stutter; cackle Nk^huku/ zinakhtetela. ‘The hens are cackling.’
rel.
kh-tetelesha v. caus.
- kh-tetema v. [Sw. tetema SSED 464] (tetemeele) shiver, shake, tremble Ba’adi ya nuumba/ khtetema/ u[yu]/ chiwa’uza/ mbona/ nuumba/ inakhtetema. ‘After the house shook, he asked them how come the house is shaking.’
Huseeni/ nakhtetema/ ka kaḍiiḍo. ‘Huseeni is shaking from fever.’
Jeelaani/ mkono/ umtetemeele. ‘Jeelaani’s hand trembled.’
Mnaadisha/ ondroshele ka apo/ naayé/ nakhtetemó/ karkaa ndila/ naayé/ nakendo kaaké/ qalbi/ ichanza mbiga/ ka ije impeetó. ‘The auctioneer moved from that place; while he was trembling on his way, while he was going home, his heart began to pound [lit. beat him] because of what had happened to him.’
Muti/ bilaa lpepo/ ha’tetemi. ‘A tree without wind does not shake.’ (A proverb.)

	Skumó/ muunt^hu/ mooyi/ shpete chinoka chihabba/ nt^hini yaa muti/ naachó/ chinakhtetemo ka bardí. ‘One day a man found a small snake under a tree and it was shivering from the cold.’ Tetemele ka bardí. ‘He shivered from the cold.’ Wa’ingile nuumba/ nuumba/ inakhtetema. ‘They entered the house; the house was shaking.’ rel. kh-tetemeka v. p/s. (-tetemeshele) Chanza khtetemeka shtiisho. ‘He started to tremble from fear.’ kh-tetemesha v. caus. (tetemesheeze) shake something Ali/ tetemesheze mkono. ‘Ali shook his (own) hand.’ Jaama/ mtetemesheze Jeelaani/ mkono. ‘Jaama shook Jeelaani’s hand (i.e. took hold of Jeelaani’s hand and shook it).’ khtetemeshaa chiṭa ‘to shake the head’ Nt^hetemesheze chiṭaachá. ‘I shook my head.’ Tetemesheze chiṭaache. ‘He shook his head.’ Wazele wiitu/ huhada/ bakayle/ chifa/ hutetemesha mkilawe. ‘Our ancestors say that when a rabbit dies, it shakes its tail.’ We/ tetemeshezee muti/ na iwuyú/ impotelele mwaalimu/ chiṭaani/ imublelele. ‘You shook the tree and the baobab fell on the teacher’s head and killed him.’ kh-tetemeshana v. caus. rec. kh-tetermesheka v. caus. p/s. kh-tetemesheleza v. caus. appl. kh-tetemeshelezanya v. caus. appl. rec. kh-tetemeshoowa v. caus. pass. (tetemesheeza) Hamadi/ nakhtetemeshowa/ na (or: ka) kaḍiiḍo. ‘Hamadi is shaking from, because of fever.’ kh-tetemoowa v. pass. (tetemeela) Yiko bardí/ zaaydi/ haṭá/ hutetemoowa. ‘There is so much cold to the point that there is trembling.’ rel. nom. m-tetemeko n. shaking, trembling mtetemeko wa miino ‘chattering of teeth’ m-tetemesha (wa-) n. 1/2 one who shakes
sh-tetemeko	n. trembling
sh-tetemo	n. trembling
	shtetemo chaa nt^hi ‘earthquake’
sh-tewelo	n. 7/8 [Sw. kitoweo SSED 474] whatever is eaten along with bread, rice, starches (e.g. meat, fish, sauce, gravy) variant form:
	sh-towelo n. ibid. (This variant form was used by MI, whose speech is perhaps influenced by his Swahili origins on his mother’s side.)
	Mi/ hupowa makooko/ makavu/ bila shtowelo. ‘I am given the hard crust of dry rice without relish.’
	Sulaa kuja/ zijo/ ka shtowelo chisuura. ‘I would eat zijo with a good relish.’
i-tezi (mi-)	n. 5/4 cyst
	rel.
	sh-tezi (s-) n. 7/8 no etymological source found cyst; lump on the body that has no function
thaabití	adj. firm khsimama thaabití ‘to stand firm’

	Tama'aye/ iwalikoo nk^hulu/ na imaaniiyé/ ka mwaajitú/ iwaliko thaabiṭi. 'His hope was great and his faith in God was firm.'
thaqaleeni	n. [Ar. at-taqalān , W 104] the humans and the jinns sulūile miime Muusa kuwa ummaṭiyo sayyiḍi ya thaqaleeni [st.] 'the prophet Moses wanted to belong to your people, o lord of humans and jinns'
thalaatha	n., adj. [Ar. ṭalāṭa W 105] three (in Chimiini, the stem -tatu is the most common means to express the notion 'three', but thalaatha is a possible alternative, at least in some expressions) thalatha alfu 'three thousand' (or alfuu nt^hatu) thalathaa miya 'three hundred' (or miyaa nt^hatu) thalaatha miya na ikumi ka jimla/ na watatu sho kiiwa nt^haanayo mila [st.] '(there are) three hundred and ten (prophets) in total, plus three, the one who does not know this does not have religion (faith)' thalaathiini	n., adj. [Sw. thelathini SSED 465; Ar. ṭalātūn W 105] thirty Chimpa mwaana/ shilingi thalaathiini. 'He gave the boy thirty shillings.' Jeelaani/ waliko mubjaana/ wa miyaka siṭaashara/ laakini/ akhilize/ schipita/ aqli/ za muunt^hu/ wa miyaka thalaathiini. 'Jeelaani was a youth of sixteen but his intelligence surpassed the intelligence of a man of thirty years.' thalathina keendra or thalaathiini/ na keendrá 'thirty nine' thalathina mooyi or thalaathiini/ na mooyí 'thirty one' thalathina naane or thalaathiini/ na naané 'thirty eight' thalathinaa saba or thalaathiini/ naa sabá 'thirty seven' thalathina sitta or thalaathiini/ na sittá 'thirt six'
thamanṭaashara	n., adj. eighteen
thaamani	n. [Sw. thamani] value, cost chint^hu chenye thaamani 'something having value' khamri tahaḍari walo thamaniye/ ni ḍambi hatta khtukuloowa nt^hupaye [st.] 'beware of liquor, even of the value (that is gotten from its sale); it is a sin even to be carried in its bottle' khpa thaamani 'to give a price, bid, value' khtila thaamani 'to put value on' Omari/ tile zoombo/ thaamini. 'Omari valued things.' Kila muunt^hu/ huyo kulaa namá/ huweeka/ thaamani/ ya shpaandre/ chaa nama/ chaa ye/ nakichisuuló/ hishtaala/ hendra naacho. 'Each person who comes to buy meat puts down the cost of the piece of meat that he wants, and he takes it and leaves with it.'
thamaaniini	n., adj. [Sw. themanini SSED 465; Ar. ṭamānān W 107] eighty thamanina keendra or thamaaniini/ na keendrá 'eighty nine' kh-thamina	v. [Sw. thamini SSED 465; Ar. ṭamina W 107] (thaminiile) value something or someone rel. kh-thamanisha v. tr. (thamanishiize) [=kh-thamina] value something or someone variant form: khthaminisha (thaminishiize) Ali/ thamanishize zoombo. 'Ali values things.' Nt^hamthamanishi/ muunt^hu. 'He did not put value on a person (i.e. was inconsiderate).' Omari/ hamthamanishi/ muunt^hu. 'Omari does not value people, i.e. does not respect or esteem them.' Omari/ mthamanishize waawaye. 'Omari values his father.' Sho khiiwa/ hakhuthamanishi. 'The one who does not know you does not

- value you.’ (A proverb.)
kh-thamanishana v. tr. rec.
 variant form: khthaminishana
kh-thamanishiliza v. tr. appl.
kh-thamanishilizanya v. tr. appl. rec.
kh-thamanishoowa v. be valued, respected Chimthamanisha muunt^u/ naawé/ takhthamanishoowa. ‘If you value, respect s.o., you also will be valued, respected.’
Maadamu/ ni suura/ khthamanishoowa. ‘It is good to value, respect people.’
- thaaniya n. second (of time), second (as opposed to first)
Ba’ada/ ya thaaniya/ ishiriini/ sa’a yiitu/ karka stuudyo/ itakubiga mooyi. ‘After twenty seconds, our clock in the studio will strike seven (lit. one) (o’clock).’
Muunt^u/ awali/ humshukura mojiitu/ thaaniya/ maadamu. ‘One first thanks God and second human beings.’
- thaqili adj. [Sw. thakili M&N 2358; Ar. taqīl “burdensome, dull, disagreeable (person) W 104] plodding (of human beings)
- tharthaari adj. [Ar. tartār “prattler” W 102] talkative
- thawaabu n. 9/10 [Sw. thawabu SSED 465; Ar. tawāb W 108] something that one does and it goes on one’s record as a good act for which one will be rewarded in the afterlife, reward, blessing heendro husaalo hupoowa thawaabu/ na hasanaati nt^hazina hisaabu [st.] ‘those who pray there receive rewards/ and benefits without number’
Ismu ya jawaabu/ ya mojiitu/ faramiiló/ muunt^u/ shfaanya/ hupata thawaabu. ‘Whatever God recommended to be done, if one does it, one gets rewards.’ (Note that there is an alternative pronunciation where the subject of the relative clause receives final accent: ya mojiitú. Also: hu-pata... may be replaced by h-andikiḷowa...)
Kiḷa/ kalima/ mooyi/ ya qur’aani/ inaayo/ thawaabu/ miya. ‘Every word of the Quran has one hundred blessings.’
sadaqa afḍali khpoowa agrabu/ na jiraai thawaabuze siwo haba [st.] ‘it is preferable to give alms to blood relatives/ and to neighbors: the rewards for this are great (lit. are not few)’
- thawaafa n. 9/10 [Sw. tawafa SSED 457; no source identified] lantern, paraffin lamp mnara wa thawaafa ‘the glass globe of a lantern’
Yiikopi/ thawaafa, ‘Where is the lantern?’
Ziikopi/ thawaafa. ‘Where are the lanterns?’
- kh-thibiṭa v. [Ar. ṭabata W 101] (thibiṭiile) be certain, confirmed Ka haqiiqa/ nt^haasá/ nt^haykhthibiṭa/ ya kuwaa ye/ ingiile/ ḍambi izo. ‘In fact, it has not yet been confirmed that he committed those crimes.’
zithibiṭiile furaha niingi karka makhluuqu [st.] ‘(at the Prophet’s birth) much joy [=furaha [cl.10] noun] was evident/appeared among (all) creatures’
 rel.
kh-thibiṭisha v. caus. [Sw. thibitisha “make firm, secure, establish, prove” SSED 464] (thibiṭishiize) make certain, affirm, maintain that
- thimaari n. fruit
mwenye thimaari ‘productive, fruitful’ munt^u mwenye thimaari ‘a productive person’
- thiqa n. trust; [pron. thiqa or thikha] kubasha thikha ‘to lose trust’
Mi/ na Omari/ mbashiizé/ thikha. ‘Me, I have lost trust with Omari.’
Muunt^u/ mara mooyi/ chibasha thikha/ bas/ teena/ hakhaamini. ‘Once a person loses trust he will never again believe in you.’ Mi/ siná/ thikha/ na Hamadi. ‘I do not have trust in Hamadi.’ Nt^haná/ thikha/ na waant^hu. ‘He does not trust people.’ Omari/ nt^haná/ thikha/ na ismu ya muunt^hu. ‘Omari does not have trust in anyone.’

thoora	n. revolution; variant form: thowra khfanya thoora gloss?
i-thbaati	n. proof
thuluthi	n., adj. [Ar. tult W 105] one third mayti shfarama thuluthi ya maali/ waarithi kuja stoshe ni halaali [st.] ‘if the dead person instructs (how to spend) a third of his wealth, the inheritors should not think it lawful to eat (i.e. spend that third how they want, rather than according to the instructions)’
thuumu	n. [Sw. thumu SSED 465; Ar. tūm W 109] garlic Thuumu/ nii dawa. ‘Garlic is a remedy, a medicine.’ khtila thuumu/ kujaani ‘to put garlic in food’
thumuni	adj. [Sw. thumuni SSED 465; Ar. tumn W 107] one-eighth Kamaa ye/ fiile/ ni thumuni/ tu/ ibeeló/ siwo/ maali/ yote. ‘If he is dead, it is only one-eighth (of a riyal) that is lost, not all (my) wealth.’ Shpata thumuni ya riyaaali. ‘He found an eighth of a riyal.’
chi-ti (zi-)	n. 7/8 [Sw. kiti SSED 210] chair, seat chiti cha chuuma ‘a metal chair’ chiti cha ezi ‘throne’ chiti cha kuskuma ‘a chair that can be pushed, wheelchair’ chiti chaa mi/ nandishilo kuulú ‘the chair that I put my leg on’ chiti cha miilu ‘wheelchair’ chiti chaa muti ‘a wooden chair’ chiti cha piili ‘the second chair’ chiti chaa saba ‘the seventh chair’ Chiti chimooyi/ chivaliko shkulu/ kolko zingineze. ‘One chair was larger than the others.’ chitiicha ‘my chair’ chitiini ‘on the chair’ Mi/ nachoo chiti. ‘I have a chair.’ ziti za chuuma ‘metal chairs’ ziti zaa muti ‘wooden chairs’ ziti ziingi ‘many chairs’ rel. chi-ji-ti (zi-ji-) n. 7/8 dim. chi-mu-ti (zi-mu-) n. dim. i-ji-ti (mi-ji-) n. 5/4 aug. i-mu-ti (mi-mu-) n. 5/4 aug.
mu-ti (mi-)	n. 3/4 [Sw. mti SSED 308] tree Amá/ we/ takulawa/ ka apa/ laakini/ takubloowa/ takhutundikowa wa mutiini/ naa nyunyú/ staakuja/ karka ongoyo. ‘As for you, you will leave from here (prison), but you will be killed and you will be hung from a tree and birds will eat from your brains.’ ikharba yaa muti ‘leaf of a tree’ ilu ya muti mkulu ‘on a large tree’ (Notice that one cannot have an adjective agreeing with a locative noun: * mutiini/ mkulu or * mutini mkulu.) kamaa miti/ yashtuluka ‘if the trees fall’ kamaa muti/ ushtuluka ‘if the tree falls’ kharibu yaa muti ‘near the tree’; kharibu yaa miti ‘near the trees’ khfanyaa miti ‘(lit.) to make trees, i.e. to harm s.o. by sorcery, piercing a selected tree’ and thus indirectly causing the targeted person unbearable pains'

Omari/ hufanyaa miti. 'Omari practices tree sorcery.' (Note that it is possible for the verb to be omitted and miti to be understood as being used in this fashion: Muunt^hu/ haminoo miti/ hukufura. 'One who believes in trees (magic) becomes an infidel.' Or: Miti/ haya' aminoowi. 'Trees (magic) is not believed in.') khfanyowaa miti 'to suffer the effects of tree sorcery'

Nuuru/ fanyiza kaa miti. 'Nuuru has been affected by tree sorcery (lit. was done, worked with trees).'

Langaḷa/ mahaḷa/ yakoo miti. 'Look at the place where there are trees.'

Maduriini/ ye/ wenee muti/ wa mawuuyu/ mkulu. 'In the bush he saw a large baobab tree.'

Miti aya/ nii mile. 'These trees are tall.'

Miti aya/ nii mile/ nt^ho. 'These trees are very tall.'

Miti aya/ nii mile/ nt^ho/ kuzida miti ayaje. 'These trees are very tall, surpassing those trees.'

Miti aya/ siwo/ mile. 'These trees are not tall.'

Miti aya/ siwo/ milee nt^ho. 'These trees are not very tall.'

Miti ayo/ siwo/ zigobe/ kolko/ miti aya. 'Those trees are not shorter than these trees.'

Miti/ membaamba. 'The trees are thin.' (Although MI used the form membraamba, our current consultants use the form mambaamba.)

miti membaamba 'thin trees'

Miti ayo/ ni zigobe/ kuzida miti aya. 'Those trees are shorter than these trees.'

Mubjaana/ paanzile/ ilu/ mutiini. 'The young man climbed up the tree.'

Muti/ bila lpepo/ ha'tetemi. 'A tree without wind does not shake.' (A proverb.)

muti/ unawaburbukile 'that the tree fell on them'; miti/ yanawaburbukile 'that the trees fell on him'

mutii mule 'tall tree'; mitii mile 'tall trees'

Muti oyo/ ni chigobe/ kolko muti uyu. [H'H'H] 'That tree is shorter than this tree.'

Muti oyo/ nii mule. [H!H] 'That tree is tall.' (cf. Muti uje/ ni chigobe. [H!H] 'That tree is short.')

(In a simple statement "x is adjective" or "x is noun", the adjective or noun is regularly lowered in pitch relative to x. The basic intonational pattern of the language is that there is a radical downstep of the pitch in the accented syllable of the adjective or noun relative to the accented syllable of x. But at the same time, in these copular sentences, the more emphasis is put on the adjective or noun, the expected downstep may be altered to what we have referred to as declination.)

Muti/ upotelele nuumba. 'A tree fell on the house.'

muti usimeemo wo hutuluka [song] 'the tree that is standing high, it is doomed to fall down' muti uwaalikó/ kharibu naa wowi 'a tree which was near the river'

Muti uyu/ nii mule/ kuzida muti oyo. [H'H'H] 'This tree is taller than that tree.' (In this construction, "x is adj-er than y", the drop in pitch on the adjective strikes us as being declination rather than radical downstep, and the final phrase kuzida muti oyo seems similar.)

Muti uyu/ nt^hawuná/ mwenewe. 'This tree has no owner.'

Muti uyu/ uwanaayo/ matuundra/ miingi. 'This tree had a lot of fruit on it.'

mutiiwa 'my tree'

Nii mile/ miti aya. 'Are tall, these trees.'

Ni milee nt^ho/ miti aya. 'Are very tall, these trees.'

Nuumba/ naa miti/ yapeeta. 'The house and the trees were found.' (Notice that the verb agrees with the closest conjunct in this example, miti. In the conjuncts are interchanged, we find a different agreement on the verb: Miti/ na nuumbá/ ipeeta. 'The trees and the house (singular) were found.' If nuumba is understood as a plural noun, we get: Miti/ na nuumbá/ s-peeta. 'The trees and the houses were found.')

Sanduukhu/ ileseḷapó/ Huseeni/ shfuungula/ shtomola miilu/ yaa miti. 'When the box was brought, Huseeni opened it and took out legs of wood.'

Shkalaant^ha/ ilu yaa muti. 'He stayed at the top of the tree.'

Siwo/ zigobe/ miti aya. 'Are not short, these trees.'

Siwo/ zigobee nt^ho/ miti aya. 'Are not very short, these trees.'

- Wachingukula/ haṭá/ shchikoma jaziira/ mooyi/ yenyee miti/ miingi.
‘They carried me until we reached an island, one having many trees.’
- Ye/ ishkiḷiḷe/ ka mutiini/ na ingiile/ kubigaa nk^heje/ kuwaviḷa weenziwe.
‘He climbed down from the tree and began to shout to call his companions.’
- rel.
i-mu-ti (mi-mu-ti) n. 5/4 aug.
- i-tiki* (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. tikiti SSED 466] watermelon Ka shkapuuni/ ichiḷawa na itiki ikulu. ‘From the basket also a large watermelon came out.’
Leelo/ sukhuuni/ matiki/ yabariḷe. ‘Today at the market watermelons became very cheap (no one was buying them and they lacked value as a consequence).’
Ndrani ya itiki/ yawalimo maayi/ na katiiké/ zivalimo zinsí/ ziwili/ schitezootézó. ‘In the watermelon there was water and in this there were two small fish playing.’
- i-tik(i)ti* n. 9/10 [Sw. tikiti SSED 466; Eng. ticket] postage stamp; ticket
- kh-tikiza* v. [cf. Sw. tikiza “endure, bear (pain, trouble, etc.” SSED 466] pay heed to, listen Nṭ^hamtikiza/ waawaye. ‘He did not pay heed to his father.’
Skutikiza/ wano waa mi/ mp^heeḷá. ‘I did not heed the advice that I was given.’
- rel.
kh-tikiliza v. appl. (tikiliize) listen to (to someone’s detriment) Nṭ^hikilize kooḷiza. ‘He eavesdropped on me (lit. listened to my words on me).’
kh-tikizoowa v. pass.
Ni laazimu/ khtikizoowa/ maalimu. ‘Teachers must be paid heed to.’
- rel. nom.
ma-tikizo n.6 act of paying heed
- kh-tila* v. [Sw. tia SSED 465] (tiile) put, put in, put on, pour (liquids)
Askari/ wachimshika Abunawaasi/ wachimtila ijuniyaani/ washtila naa mawe/ karka ijuuniya. ‘The soldiers captured Abunawaasi and put him in the sack, and they put in stones as well in the sack.’
Basi/ numa/ izo ziṭa ziingine/ shtilaa nṭ^hi/ shtiló/ chimó/ ka apa/ chimó/ ka apa/ mahaḷaa nṭ^hatu. ‘So then those other heads he put on the ground, that’s what he did, one in one place, one in another place, at three places.’
Chinaambila/ kuwaa ye/ nakunt^hila/ karka igozi/ ya ngamiila. ‘He told me that he was going to put me inside the skin of the camel.’
Hamadi/ fanyize khafasi/ ya chuuma/ kuwatila nk^hbukuze. ‘Hamadi made an iron cage to put his hens in to brood.’
Hamadi/ tile maandra/ sandukhuuni. ‘Hamadi put the bread in a box.’ (Syn: One uses the locative form sandukhuuni rather than the bare noun sanduukhu in this construction.)
Ijini/ munt^hu tiiló/ ndiyé/ huṭomoló. ‘The djinn, the one who brought him in, is the one who can take him out.’ (A proverb.)
khtilowa miimba ‘to be made pregnant’ Muke/ tiḷa miimba. ‘The woman was made pregnant.’
khtila adaba ‘to discipline’
Hamadi/ ni aḷabdara/ waawaye/ nṭ^hamtila/ adabu/ ka chihaba. ‘Hamadi is undisciplined, his father did not discipline him while he was a child.’
khtila baakoora ‘to hit with a cane’ khtilaa be’i ‘to make a bid, name a price’ khtila chaayi ‘to pour tea’ (also: khtilila chaayi ‘to pour tea for’) Haliima/ nakuwatilila marti/ chaayi. ‘Haliima is pouring tea for the guests.’

khtilaa dawa ‘to apply medicine (etc.) externally’ Haliima/ nakhtilaa dawa/ mashungiini/ khfanya mahuundru.
‘Haliima is putting dye in her hair to make it red.’

khtila eebu ‘to find fault with, disgrace’ Kilaa mahala/ ichiwaliko chiintu/ Omari/ hupeenda/ khtila eebu. ‘Everywhere there is something (that happens, that is said) Omari likes to find fault, blame someone.’

khtila iboholiini ‘to put into trouble (lit. put in a hole)’ Ntaku/ mtilo/ tile ruuhuye/ iboholiini. ‘No one put him in, he put himself in a hole (trouble).’

khtila illa ‘to find fault’ Ali/ hupeenda/ khtila illa/ jawabu za waantbu. ‘Ali likes to find fault with what people say.’

khtila ishkilooni ‘to pay heed’ Maskiini/ ntakhtila/ ishkilooni/ yaa wo/ wamwambiilo. ‘The poor man did not pay heed to what they told him.’

khtila ka apa/ x-tomola ka apa ‘lit. to put in here, to take out here (usually used in the imperative), indicating at the same time one’s own ears, one after the other -- meaning: listen to (put in), but do not heed (take out) s.o.’s criticism, bad words, or unwanted advice’ khtila kahawa ‘to pour coffee’

khtilaa kati ‘to surround’ Wanafuunzi/ wamtile mwaajimu/ kati. ‘The students surrounded the teacher.’

khtila khasara ‘to cause to incur losses (financial, e.g.)’ khtila khoofu ‘to frighten’ Nkuwa/ zinakubiga/ hatá/ stile waantbu/ khoofu.

‘Thunderstorms are sounding loudly till they put fear to people.’
Saahera/ watile waantbu/ khoofu. ‘The witch instilled in the people fear (i.e. frightened them).’

khtila ifuungulo ‘to insert a key into; to wind up (a clock)’ Omari/ nakhtilaa sa’a/ ifuungulo. ‘Omari is winding up the clock.’
Omari/ tile ifuungulo/khufuliini/ lyundishile. ‘Omari put the key in the lock and it broke.’

Omari/ tile ifuungulo/ gariini/ koondrola. ‘Omari put the key in the car to start it.’

khtila makali ‘to sharpen’ Nthilee chisú/ makali/ ijiweení. ‘I sharpened a knife on the stone.’
(While it would be possible to focus the locative and put it into Immediately After the Verb position, MI did not accept *Nthilee chisú/ ijiweení/ makali.)

khtila maandra ‘to make bread’
Haliima/ nakuwatila waana/ maandra/ kujilaa nsi. ‘Haliima is making bread for children to eat with fish.’
Haliima/ umo mikooni/ nakhtila maandra. ‘Haliima is in the kitchen, she is making bread.’

khtila maraöi ‘to cause illness, disease’ Kufake/ waawaye/ umtile maraöi. ‘His father’s death caused him to become ill.’

khtila masiiri ‘to make jealous’
Hamadi/ mwambile Nuuru/ fauura/ we/ uzilo/ suura/ hatá/ itile masiiri. ‘Hamadi told Nuuru: the car you bought is nice, it even made me jealous.’
Omari/ jawabu yaa ye/ fanyiizo/ imtile mukeewe/ masiiri. ‘The thing that Omari did made his wife jealous.’

khtila matata ‘to cause troubles’ khtila miimba ‘to make pregnant’
Mtilee muke/ miimba. ‘He made the woman pregnant.’ Or: Mtile miimba/ muke.
khtila mkate ‘to bake bread’ Fardoosa/ tile mkate/ laakini/ ye/ nt^hakiyija. ‘Fardoosa baked a cake but did not eat it.’
khtila mkono ‘to greet with a handshake’ khtilaa mu_lo ‘to burn s.t.’
khtilaa mu_looni ‘to put s.t. in fire’ khtilaa ndruti ‘to hit with a stick’ khtila ngiisha ‘to anchor, stay permanently in a place’ khtilaa nguvu ‘to strengthen’

khtila niyaani ‘to have the intention to do something’

N^hile niyaani/ leelo/ kendra kuwona mweenzawa. ‘Today I intend to go and see my friend.’ review accent khtila qalbi ‘to encourage someone’ khtila qalbiini ‘(lit.) to put in the heart, i.e. to have the intention to do s.t.’ N^hile qalbiini/ kendra hijj^a/ mwaka uyú. ‘I have the intention of going to the pilgrimage this year.’

khtila ranji ‘to dye s.t.’
khtila ruuhu ‘to revive someone’s spirits; pretend’
Mp^haka/ shtila ruuhuye/ usinziziini. ‘The cat pretended to sleep.’
Mtile Hamadi/ ruuhu. ‘He revived Hamadi’s spirits.’

khtila ruuhu/ karka kha_tari ‘to expose oneself to danger, jeopardize oneself’

Tile ruuhuye/ kha_tari/ khutilaa we/ karka raaha. ‘He put himself in danger (in order to) put you in comfort.’

khtilaa shaka ‘to doubt (lit. put in doubt)’; kh-tila ma-sháka ‘ibid.’

Omari/ kila chiint^hu/ hutilaa shaka. ‘Omari doubts everything (lit. Omari puts in doubt to everything).’

khtila ulaazo ‘to inflict pain’ khtila usiinzizi ‘to induce sleepiness’

Limi/ ndiló/ humtilo muunt^hú/ mu_looni. ‘It is the tongue that puts one in hell.’ (A proverb.)

Mojiitu/ khatiloo kaná/ haatowi/ ya khutila. ‘God, who is the one that opened your mouth, does not fail to put something in your mouth.’ (A proverb.)

mzele sho mtla mwaanawe chiwoni [st.] ‘a parent who does not put his child in koranic school’

Noka/ tilopo chitaaché/ mlangooni/ eelo/ chibiga ka lpaanga/ chimtiinda. ‘When the snake put his head in the door, the gazelle struck him with the sword and cut his head off.’

Nureeni/ tile peesa/ sandukhuuni. ‘Nureeni put money in the box.’ Or:

Nureeni/ tile peesa/ ndrani ya sanduukhu. ‘Nureeni put money in the box.’ (The bare noun cannot be used in place of the locative or ndrani-phrase: *Nureeni/ tile peesa/ sanduukhu. ‘Nureeni put money in the box.’

Nuru/ tile chibuuku/ mezaani/ tiiló. ‘Nuru put a book on the table, that’s what he did.’ Or: Nuru/ tile chibuuku/ tiiló/ mezaani. ‘Nuru put a book, that’s what he did, on the table.’

sanduukhu ya Nureeni/ tilo peesá/ (katiiké) ‘the box that Nureeni put money in (it)’

Shtila chaakuja/ karka zijamu statu. ‘She put food on three plates.’

Tilee kha_ti/ chumbaani. ‘He put the letter in the drawer.’

Tile kooti. ‘He put on a coat.’

Tile peesa/ chiwovuuni. ‘The child put money in his pocket.’

Tile peesa/ sandukhuuni. ‘He put money in the box.’ Or: Tile peesa/ karka sanduukhu.

Tile tubaaku/ nt^hini ya mtaawo. ‘He put tobacco under the pillow.’

Zeena/ (i)tile wadaamu/ maayi. Zeena poured water into the bucket. Or:
Zeena/ tile maayi/ wadamuuni.
Zeena/ mtile mwaalimu/ maayi. ‘Zeena put water on the teacher.’

rel.

kh-tilila v. appl. (tiliile) put for Basi/ nthililani ntʰeendre/ nthililaani/ ka chiguni. ‘So, (you pl.) put for me dates, that’s what you should do, in a bag.’

Hamadi/ mtile Nuuru/ maandra/ sandukhuuni. ‘Hamadi put the bread in the box for Nuuru.’

khtilowa lfuungulo ‘to be wound up (of a clock)’

Sa’aya/ nthaykhsimama/ ntʰangú/ itila lfuunguló. ‘My watch has never stopped since it was wound up.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is qalbi ‘heart’ or mooyo ‘heart’.)

khtilowa mwaako ‘to be parched; burn from (e.g. greed)

Ali/ tila mwaako. ‘Ali was parched (with thirst).’

Tila mwaako/ wa maali. ‘He burned with greed for wealth.’

Mtilile Hamadi/ muke/ miimba. ‘He made the woman pregnant on Hamadi.’ (Syn. Although in the case of the simple verb, miimba can appear immediately after the verb, this is not possible in the case of the applied verb: Mtilile miimba/ Hamadi/ muke.

Neither can miimba be located immediately after the beneficiary: Mtilile Hamadi/ miimba/ muke.

sküza we kuntʰilila [song] ‘I did not refuse your pouring for me’

Sku mooyi/ waantʰu/ wachimtilila fitina/ ka Harun Rashiidi. ‘One day people created discord between him and Harun Rashiidi.’

Taahiri/ mtile mbwa/ maayi. ‘Taahiri poured the dog water.’

dog into the bucket.’

Taahiri/ mtile mbwa/ maayi/ wadamuuni. ‘Taahiri poured water for the teacher’s dog.’

Taahiri/ mtile mwaalimu/ mbwa/ maayi. ‘Taahiri threw water at the teacher water into the bucket.’ Or: Taahiri/ mtile mwaalimu/ maayi/ wadamuuni. ‘Ibid.’ (Although MI accepted the use of a bare wadamu in the first example, the word order seemed pertinent, as he rejected Taahiri/ mtile mwaalimu/ maayi/ wadamu.)

Taahiri/ mtile mwaana/ maayi/ wadamuuni. ‘Taahiri poured water into the bucket for the child.’

Ye/ nthile makooko/ na chita chaa nsi. ‘She put for me (on the plate) the hard crust of the rice and a fish head.’

kh-tililoowa v. appl. pass. (tiliila) be put in for

Mwaalimu/ tililaa mbwa/ maayi. ‘The teacher’s dog was thrown water at.’ (Notice that it is ungrammatical to say Mbwa/ tilila mwaalimu/ maayi. Also Maayi/ yatilila mwaalimu/ mbwa. Only the beneficiary can be the subject of the passive applied structure here.)

Shtilowa ntʰeendre/ ka chiguni/ shtililowá. ‘There was put dates in the bag, that’s what was done.’

kh-tiloowa v. pass. (tilila) be put Hasiibu/ tila madrasaani. ‘Hasiibu was put in school.’

Ikoopa/ ishtiloowa/ pashpo/ wo/ kiiwa. ‘The cup was put (somewhere) without them knowing.’

Mwaalimu/ tila maayi/ na Zeena. ‘The teacher was put into water by Zeena.’ (Note that it is ungrammatical to say Maayi/yatila mwaalimu/ na Zeena. ‘(In) the water was put the teacher by Zeena.’)

Mwaana/ chamura inatiloowa/ kaake/ mtanaani. ‘The boy ordered that it be put in his room.’

nda weema wapeenzela ntʰo/ ruuhu zaawo hutiloowa [st.] ‘it is for the pious ones who are very much loved/ and whose souls have been specifically selected’

Peesa/ stila sandukhuuni. ‘Money was put in the box.’

sandukhu itila peesá ‘the box in which money was put’

Sanduukhu/ itila peesa/ na Ali. ‘The box had money put in it by Ali.’ (Syn. Notice that the non-locative noun sanduukhu governs the subject prefix on the verb in this example, in contrast to the earlier sentence where the locative form sandukhuuni is used and peesa is the subject of the verb.)

wake na wabli watiila faza'a [nt.] 'women and men [alike] are afraid' Waant^hu/ watiila khoofu/ na saahera. 'People were frightened by the witch.'

Yuusufu/ shtilowa habasaani. 'Joseph was put in prison.'

kh-tilana v. rec. go in one another

Stezo/ izi/ na stuundru/ izi/ hastilani/ ka sababu/ stuundru/ ni zihaba.
'These buttons and these button holes cannot enter each other because the holes are small.'

kh-tilika v. p/s.

N^hupa iyi/ haytiliki/ maayi. 'This bottle cannot have water put in it (e.g. it has too small an opening).'

N^hupa izi/ hastiliki/ maayi. 'These bottles cannot have water put in them.'

kh-tilisha v. caus. (tilishiize)

Jeelaani/ mtilishize mwaana/ maayi/ wadamuuni. 'Jeelaani caused the child to pour water into the bucket.' (The use of the locative noun here seems preferable to a bare noun, though the following sentence is apparently acceptable: Jeelani/ mtilishize mwaana/ wadaamu/ maayi. 'Ibid.')

Jeelaani/ mtilishize mwaana/ mbwa/ maayi. 'Jeelaani caused the child to throw water at the dog.'

Ji/ mtilishize mwaana/ peesa/ chiwovuuni. 'Ji made the child put the money in his pocket.' (Syn. Object agreement is necessarily with the 'causee', mwaana, and not the logical object, peesa, hence the ungrammaticality of Ji/ stilishize mwaana/ peesa/ chiwovuuni., regardless of the word order. This holds true, however, just when the causee is present in the sentence. It is grammatical to say: Ji/ (s)tilishize peesa/ chiwovuuni. 'Ji caused money to be put in the pocket.') kh-tilishika v. caus. p/s.

Mwana uyu/ hatilishiki/ peesa/ chiwovuuni. 'This child cannot be made to put money in his pocket.'

Pesa izi/ hastilishiki/ chiwovuuni. 'This money cannot be made to be put (by someone) in the pocket.' (Syn. If the causee is expressed, it must be the subject, hence the unacceptability of Pesa izi/ hastilishiki/ mwaana/ chiwovuuni.

kh-tilishiliza v. caus. appl.

Jeelaani/ mtilishilize mwaalimu/ mwaana/ maayi/ wadamuuni. 'Jeelaani caused the teacher's child to pour water into the bucket.'

Jeelaani/ mtilishilize mwaalimu/ mwaana/ mbwa/ maayi. 'Jeelaani caused the teacher's child to throw water at the dog.' (MI judged this sentence to be grammatically correct, but not preferred from a stylistic point of view. He judged a sentence like Jeelaani/ mtilishilize mwaana/ mbwa/ maayi. to be better, saying that the [cl.1] object marker m on the verb refers not to mwaana but to an omitted beneficiary (i.e. possessor of the child). Thus the meaning is 'Jeelaani made someone's child throw water at the dog.' This point merits more research, as in other situations the NP controlling an object marker could not be deleted if on the surface there was another complement present that would control the same object marker on the verb, as in the present example where mwaana would control the same m object marker as the individual possessing the child. Perhaps what is at issue here is that the applied verb here identifies a relationship between one individual and another individual, and one cannot omit either of these individuals from the sentence without destroying this relationship. As a result, in Jeelaani/ mtilishilize mwaana/ mbwa/ maayi. the child cannot be understood as the beneficiary since there would be no noun identifying who threw the water at the dog. The only interpretation possible is that the object marker on the verb refers to the beneficiary/possessor and the child is the causee.)

kh-tilishoowa v. caus. pass.

Mwaana/ tilishiza maayi/ wadamuuni. 'The child was made to pour water into the bucket.' (Note that it is ungrammatical to say: Maayi/ yatilishiza mwaana/ wadamuuni. The "causee" must be the subject of the passive of the causative verb. If the causee is not identified in the sentence, then passivizing maayi is perhaps acceptable: ?Maayi/ yatilishiza wadamuu=ni. 'Water was caused to be put in the bucket.' Notice the use of the locative wadamuuni. MI rejected making a bare wadaamu the passive subject even with the causee not identified: Wadaamu/ itilishiza maayi.)

Mwaana/ tilishiza peesa/ chiwovuuni. 'The child was made to put money in his pocket.’ (Syn. The logical object cannot be the passive subject if the "causee" is present in the sentence: Peesa/ stilishiza mwaana/ chiwovuuni. The ungrammaticality still holds when the causee is deleted syntactically: mwana wa peesa/ stilishiza chiwovuuni ‘the child whom money was caused to be put in his pocket’. If the causee is simply not mentioned in the sentence, then it seems acceptable to say: Peesa/ stilishiza chiwovuuni. ‘Money was made to be put in the pocket.’)

- kh-tila* v. used to form a periphrastic causative verb Nuru mfile mwaana/ kendra sukhuuni. ‘Nuru caused the child to go to the market.’
- m-timiino (mi-)* n. 3/4 [cf. muti ‘tree’ and miino ‘teeth’] a tooth-stick (made out of the wood of a special tree) kubiga mtimiino ‘to clean the teeth’ Hubiga/ mtimiino/ nt^hasaa we/ kulaala? ‘Do you clean your teeth before sleeping?’ (This is a yes-no question where the verb hubiga is focused; as a consequence, the following phrases shift their accent to the final syllable.)
- kh-tina* v. circumcise
muke na mubli sho khtina nt^hana milla/ ya mtume Ibraahimu na iyo ni illa [st.] ‘uncircumcised women and men do not follow the tradition of Prophet Ibraahiim – this is the truth’
rel.
kh-tinoowa v. pass.
Wanaashke/ washtinoowa/ huindowa chindooro/ habamooyi. ‘When girls are circumcised, the clitoris is cut a little.’
rel. nom.
m-tina (wa-) n. 1/2 one who circumcises
m-tino (mi-) n. 3/4 act of circumcising u-tino n. 14 act of circumcising
m-tinoowa (wa-) n. 1/2 one to be circumcised
- kh-tinikiza* v. (tinikiize) spoil s.t. for s.o.
adwi mkulu sheetaani Iblisi/ watinikiize jannatu lfirdowsi [st.] ‘the great enemy, the devil Iblis, spoiled for them (i.e. Adam and Eve) paradise’
Nvula/ int^hinikiize/ safari. ‘The rain spoiled my trip.’
- m-tino (mi-)* n. 3/4 [cf. Sw. tina sac. 89, identified with Kipemba and Kiamu dialects] part of the penis where the foreskin has been cut na mitino yashkunt^hana ni laazimu/ kowoowa chizapo a^oabu daa’imu [st.] ‘and if mitino meet (i.e. sexual intercourse occurs), (then) it is obligatory to bathe, otherwise punishment is eternal’
- tis’aataashara* n., adj. nineteen
- kh-tiisha* v. (usually used in the past tense) be still-born (but with the mother being an ‘object’, so-to-speak) ismu mtomelele hatta wa khtiisha [t.] ‘give a name even to a child who is still-born’ Mwaana/ mtishize maamaye. ‘The child was still-born [lit. still-born his mother].’
mwana wa khtiisha ‘a child who dies in childbirth’
rel.
kh-tishoowa v. pass. give birth to a still-born child Muke wa fulaani/ tishiiza. ‘The wife of so-and-so gave birth to a still-born child.’
- sh-tiisho* n. fear
Chimwingile shtiisho/ tiyiile/ nt^ho. ‘Fear entered him; he was very afraid.’
Lata/ shtisho chaa we/ naachó/ paandra/ mloongoti/ uyu/ na shkoma ilu/simama/ bila/ khoofu/ huṭakhtuluka/ we. ‘Let go of the fear that you have, climb this mast, and when you reach the top, stand up, without fear, you will not fall.’

Mukhtāa we/ nayo shtiishó/ khalbiyo/ hubiga zaaydi. ‘When you are afraid, your heart beats fast.’

Oyo munt^hu umo ijuniyaani/ kasizopo koḏi za askari/ chimwingile shtiisho/ shkulu. ‘That man who was inside the sack, when he heard the words of the soldiers, great fear entered him.’

Ndrangaliile/ mi/ bilaa shtiisho. ‘He watched me fearlessly.’

Ndrangaliile/ mi/ ka shtiisho. ‘He watched me fearfully.’

Uyu/ wenopo ma’askari/ qalbiye/ yanzize mbiga/ na mwingile shtiisho. ‘This one, when he saw the policemen, his heart began to pound and he became afraid.’

Waant^hu/ chiwa’ingile shtiisho/ shkulu. ‘The people were affected [lit. entered] by great fear.’

sh-tita (s-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. kitita “1. ready money; 2. In a large quantity” SSED 210; cf. also Sw. tita “to make a bundle or carry a heavy load” SSED 468] a small pile of s.t.

Hamadi/ weshele shtiita chaa nguwo/ ilu ya meeza. ‘Hamadi put a small pile of clothes on the table.’

shtita cha peesa ‘a pile of money’

rel.

i-titu n. [cf. Sw. tuta “to pile up” SSED 482] pile ititu ya peesa ‘a pile of money’

kh-tiya

v. [Sw. cha SSED 44] (tiyiile) be afraid, fear something Ali/ mtiyile waawaye. ‘Ali feared his father.’

Ali/ tiyile keendra. ‘Ali was afraid to go.’

Ali/ tiyiile/ khfungula mlaango. ‘Ali was afraid to open the door.’

Chibuku cha Baana/ tiyilo kuwa mwaaná/ takichibashá/ nch^haaká. ‘The book that Baana feared that the child would lose is mine.’

Daadá/ stiyé. ‘Grandmother, don’t be afraid!’

Haliima/ tiyilee kufa. ‘Haliima was afraid to die.’ Or with emphasis on the verb: Haliima/ tiyiile/ kufa.

Hamadi/ nayo ^hkhalbi/ ismu/ ya chiint^hu/ hatiya. ‘Hamadi is brave, he is not afraid of anything.’

Hutiyo mwaaná/ kulá/ ndiyé/ huló. ‘The one who is afraid for his child to cry, it is he who cries.’ (A proverb.)

ka qahri na huuri na wana umbukhu/ kaa ndruti tayaari shchitiya bundukhu [n̄.] ‘overpowered, sweating, suffocating/ ready with sticks, we were fearing guns’

Karkaa ndila/ wawili/ karka wataana/ wachihada/ kuwaa wo/ wanakhtiya. ‘On the way, two of the slaves said that they were afraid.’

kuuya khuwona fahama n^hiyiile [song] ‘understand, I was afraid to come to see you’

Lumiḷa naa noká/ hutiya ikuti. ‘One who has been bitten by a snake is afraid of a coconut palm leaf.’ (A proverb.)

Mi/ nch^hiza kumpa/ nakhtiya kunijaa mi. ‘If I refuse to give it (e.g. the chick), I am afraid that it (e.g. the rabbit) might eat me.’

Mi/ nnakhtiya mwana uyú/ kichilanya na waant^hú. ‘I am afraid that this child will cause us to fight with people.’

Mtiye aduwiyo/ mara mooyi/ mweenzawo/ mara ikumi na mooyi. ‘Be fearful of your enemies once, of your friends, eleven times.’ (A proverb.)

Mukhtāa we/ nakhtiyó/ khalbiyo/ hubiga zaaydi. ‘When you are afraid, your heart beats fast.’

Mwaana/ chingila khtiya. ‘The child began to be afraid.’

Mwaana/ tiyiile/ ye/ cheendra/ kulaala/ munt^hu mweepe/ kuuya/ kubola nt^heendre. ‘The child feared that if he went to sleep, some person would come to steal the dates.’

Naani/ tiyiloo kufá. ‘Who was afraid to die?’

Nakhtiyání. ‘What are you afraid of?’

Ndiwa/ chanza khtiya. ‘The pigeon began to be afraid.’

Ni ’aadi/ muunt^hu/ khtiyaa noka. ‘It is common for one to be afraid of snakes.’

Ñnakhtiya kujaa nsi. ‘I am afraid to eat fish.’ Cf. with verb emphasis: Ñnakhtiyá/ kujaa nsi.

Ñnakhtiyá/ kula gari ya Hamadi. ‘I am afraid to buy Hamadi’s car.’

Ñnakhtiyá. ‘I am afraid of you.’

Ñnakishtiyá. ‘I am afraid of it [cl.7].’

Ñnakishtiyá/ kula chigaari/ cha Hamadi. ‘I am afraid it (dim.) car of Hamadi to buy.’

Nsi wa piili/ shfungula kanaye/ chimwambila Huseeni/ ingila/ kanaani/ kaaka/ stiyé. ‘The second fish opened its mouth and said to Huseeni: enter my mouth, do not be afraid.’

Nt^haku/ waa mi/ namtiyó/ isa. ‘There is nobody that I fear now.’ (Notice that our consultant offered this example, where the time adverb stands outside the scope of the final accent of the relative clause, as his first choice. He did accept also: Nt^haku/ waa mi/ namtiyó/ isá.)

Nuuru/ shtiyilee chisu ichi/ khtindilaa nama. ‘Nuuru was afraid to use this knife to cut the meat.’ (Observe that the main verb -tiya may bear an object marker agreeing with the topicalized instrument chisu ichi ‘this knife’ The use of a demonstrative is not required: Nuuru/ stiyilee chisu/ khtindilaa nama. The preposing of the instrument does seem to be necessary, as a sentence like the following was judged to be dubious: ?Nuuru/ shtiyile khtindilaa nama. An even more egregious ungrammaticality comes from trying to have the higher verb agree with an instrument preceded by a preposition: Nuuru/ shtiyile khtindaa nama/ ka chisu ichi.)

Nuuru/ tiyile kanza kuja chaakuja. ‘Nuuru was afraid to begin to eat food.’
Or: Nuuru/ tiyile kanza kichija chaakuja. ‘Nuuru was afraid to begin to eat the food.’

Nuuru/ tiyiile/ chisu ichi/ kumpa mwaana. ‘Nuuru was afraid this knife to give the child.’ (Mohammad Imam rejected having the main verb be marked with an object marker referring to chisu: Nuuru/ shtiyiile/ chisu ichi/ kumpa mwaana. However, if chisu is made the subject of the passive version of the infinitive, then it may be passivized into the subject of the main verb: Chisu ichi/ shtiyila khpowa mwaana. ‘This knife was feared to be given to the child.’)

Nuuru/ tiyile khpakila gaari/ boomba. ‘Nuuru was afraid to load the truck with the bomb.’ (It is not possible to mark an object of the infinitive verb on the main verb if the object is not marked on the infinitive: Nuuru/ itiyle khpakila gaari/ boomba. Marking a lower object on the main verb is possible when the object is also marked on the infinitive: Nuuru/ itiyle ki’ipikila bomba iyi/ gariini. ‘Nuuru was afraid of it for to be load this bomb on the truck.’)

Nuuru/ tiyile khtindilaa nama/ chisu. ‘Nuuru was afraid to cut the meat with a knife.’ (In an instrumental applied construction with two non-human objects, the applied instrumental verb cannot agree with either object in Mohammad Imam’s speech: Nuuru/ tiyile kishindilaa nama/ chisu. Also: Nuuru/ tiyile ki’itindilaa nama/ chisu. To put an object marker on the verb, the verb must be in its simple form and can only agree with the logical object: Nuuru/ tiyile ki’itinda nama iyi/ kaa chisu. ‘Nuuru was afraid to cut the meat with a knife.’)

Nuuru/ tiyile kumbiga siimba/ kaa luti. ‘Nuuru was afraid to strike the lion with a stick.’ (The infinitival verb can be put into the applied form as well: Nuuru/ tiyile kumbigila siimba/ luti. This example is from Mohammad Imam, who systematically avoided focusing the instrument in an instrumental applied construction, as reflected in the example just given by its not being located in Immediately-After-Verb position. The instrument can be topicalized and when it is, the main verb may bear an object marker agreeing with it: Nuuru/ ltiyile luti ili/ kumbigila siimba. ‘Nuuru is afraid for it, this stick, to be used to strike the lion.’ Marking the higher verb by agreeing with the instrument has the effect of suggesting that it is something about the stick that makes Nuuru afraid of the situation, for example, it is not strong enough and might break and be ineffectual.)

Nuuru/ tiyile kumpa mwaana/ chisu ichi. ‘Nuuru was afraid to give the child this knife.’

Nuuru/ tiyile kuwa mwaana/ takichibasha chibuuku. ‘Nuuru was afraid that the child would lose the book.’ (Cf. It is possible to make chibuuku the head of a relative version of this sentence: Chibuuku cha Nuuru/ tiyilo kuwa mwaaná/ takichibashá/ nch^haaká. ‘The book that Nuuru was afraid that the boy would lose is mine.’)

Sinakhtiya/ chiint^hu/ nnakhiwá/ jisaa mi/ nna’iwo wazelewa. ‘I am not afraid of anything, I know you just the way I know my own parents.’

Stiyé/ mi/ skooði. ‘Do not be afraid, I will not talk [and reveal this secret].’

Sultaani/ sulile mooyi/ kati kaawo/ kulindra mteendre/ ka khisaa ye/ shtiyaa nyunyi/ kuja nt^heendrece. ‘The sultan wanted one among them to protect the date tree because he was afraid that birds would eat his dates.’

Uyu/ chiwa’ambila weenziwe/ stiyeni/ mi/ nt^hampata/ bakayle/ ye/ hanshiindri. ‘This one said to his friends: don’t fear, I will catch Hare, he cannot defeat me.’

Wanakuntiya/ mi/ ni mkulu waawó. ‘They are afraid of me, I am their chief.’

Waant^hu/ kawa mtiya mojiitú/ dhibu/ ska’iwaako/ duniyaani. ‘If people had been obeying God, there would have been no problems in this world.’ (A proverbial saying.)

Watishizo waant^hú/ ni saahera. ‘The one who frightened people is the witch.’

Watiyile sultaani/ kuwabla. ‘They were afraid for the sultan to kill them.’

Wo/ ka khtiyaa si/ khfakata/ wachivundavunda batera yitu. ‘They broke our boat out of fear of us running away.’

Ye/ nakhtiya/ naayé/ seendré/ ka’ublowa na siimbá. ‘She was afraid lest he be killed by the lion.’

rel.

kh-tiyiloowa v. appl. pass.

Luti ili/ Itiyila kubigilowaa noka. ‘This stick was feared to be used to beat the snake.’ (This example illustrates that an instrument in an instrumental applied infinitive clause can be the subject of the main verb -tiya ‘be afraid’.)

kh-tiyila v. appl. (tiyilile) be afraid for chibuku cha Nuuru/ mtiyililo mwaaná/ kubashá ‘the book that Nuuru was afraid the child would lose’ mwana wa Mawlaana/ mtiyililo kubasha chibuuku ‘the child whom Mawlaana was afraid would lose the book’ na killa maadamu khtiyila nafiye [nt.] ‘and every one is fearing for his own life’

Nuuru/ mtiyilile mwaana/ kubasha chibuuku. ‘Nuuru was afraid of the child losing the book.’ (Cf. It is possible for mwaana to be the head of a relative version of this sentence: Mwana wa Nuuru/ mtiyililo kubasha chibuuku... ‘the boy who Nuuru was afraid of his losing the book...’ It is also possible for chibuuku to be the head of a relative version of this sentence: chibuku cha Nuuru/ mtiyililo mwaaná/ kubashá... ‘the book that Nuuru is afraid of the child losing...’)

kh-tiisha v. [Sw. tisha SSED 468] (tishiize) frighten, threaten (This verb is not equivalent to the notion “cause to fear”, hence one cannot say Nuuru/ mtishize mwaana/ waawaye. ‘Nuuru caused the child to fear his father.’ To convey such a notion, a periphrastic causative structure is used: Nuuru/ mtile mwaana/ kumtiya waawaye. ‘Nuuru (lit. instilled in the child) caused the child to fear his father.’)

Maduuri/ yanakhtishaa nt^ho. ‘The bush country is very frightening.’

Miizi/ mtishize muke wa Omari. ‘The thief threatened Omari’s wife.’ Or:

Miizi/ mtishize Omari/ mukewe. (Note that one cannot say Miizi/ mtishize Omari/ muke. Possession must be overtly marked.)

Nuuru/ mtishize mwaana. ‘Nuuru frightened the boy.’

mwana wa khtiisha ‘lit. child of causing fear – although MI glossed this expression as referring to a child who is dead at birth, others have suggested that it refers to a “changeling” or a handicapped or abnormal infant’ ismu mtomolele hata wa khtiisha [st.] ‘give a name even to a changeling etc.’

kh-tiishika v. caus. p/s.
kh-tiishan(y)a v. caus. rec.
kh-tishiliza v. caus. appl.

Miizi/ mtishilize Omari/ muke. ‘Omari used the woman to threaten Omari.’
Or: Miizi/ mtishilizee muke/ Omari. (Syn. This instrumental use of the applied is parallel to Miizi/ mtishilizee chisu/ Omari. ‘The thief used a knife to threaten Omari.’ Notice that a possessive interpretation did not come to the forefront for our consultant: ‘Omari threatened Omari’s wife.’ The applied is used to convey benefactive/ possessive/ instrumental/ directional meanings, but each verb must be examined to determine which interpretations are most accessible.)

Nuru/ mtishilize Suufi/ mwaana. ‘Nuru frightened Suufi’s child.’
kh-tishilizan(y)a v. caus. appl. rec.
Nuru/ na Suufi/ watishilizenye waana. ‘Nuru and Suufi frightened one another’s children.’
Waana/ wa’uzile misanamu ya majini/ khtishilizana. ‘Children bought jinn-idols to frighten one another with.’

kh-tishoowa v. pass. be frightened by Waant^hu/ watishiza na saahera. ‘People were frightened by the witch.’

kh-tiyila v. appl. (tiyiliile)

Mi/ khutyiiliile/ nt^ho. ‘I was very afraid of you.’
kh-tiyoowa v. pass. be afraid of Bomba iyi/ itiyila khpakilowa gaari (or: gariini). ‘This bomb was feared to be loaded on the truck.’ (This is a personal passive verb where the logical indirect object of a applied infinitival verb has been raised to become the subject of the passive of the main verb -tiya. The subject marker on the verb is i in agreement with the [cl.9] noun boomba. This raising is possible, however, only because boomba was made into the passive subject of the infinitive.)

Chisu ichi/ shtiyila khtindilowaa nama. ‘This knife was feared to be used to cut meat.’ (Observe that the instrument in the infinitival complement clause can appear as the subject of a passive version of -tiya ‘be afraid of’, but this is only possible because it has been made the subject of the passive instrumental infinitive verb.

Inakhtiyowa kuwa mwaana/ haṭakhpata/ imṭihaani. ‘It is feared that the child will not pass the examination.’ (This represents an impersonal passive of the verb -tiya which uses the [cl.9] subject marker i on the main verb. The complement is a kuwa-clause.)

Mwana uyu/ tiyila khtindilowaa nama. ‘This child was feared to be cut meat for.’

Nt^haku/ sababu/ ya khtiyooowa. ‘There is no reason to be afraid.’
Siimba/ mbwa khtiyooowa. ‘A lion is something to be afraid of.’

rel. nom.

i-tiishi (mi-) n. 5/4 coward sh-tiisho (s-) n. 7/8 fright (either caused or felt)

u-tiisho n. 14

hula ka qalbiini ka utiisho hutaḷama [song] ‘I cry from my heart and for fear I hesitate’

m-tiya (wa-) n. 1/2 one who fears

Mtiyaa kufa/ kufa/ humraasha. ‘One who is afraid to die, death follows him.’ (A proverb.)

sh-tiyo (s-) n. 7/8 fear

mu-to (mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mtō SSED 309] pool of water near the shore of the sea (just south of Brava there was one such secluded spot, a pool sheltered by the reef where women used to bathe and was called ibohooli/ yaa wake ‘the women’s hole, or pool’); puddle of water left behind on shore when high tide recedes; river [archaic in this sense, as wowi is preferred]; spring of fresh water

Hamadi/ khariibu/ kuzama mutooni. ‘Hamadi almost drowned in a river.’ (The raised upward-pointing arrow indicates that the pitch is extremely raised, indeed the pitch peak of the sentence.)

kharibu yaa muto ‘near the pool of water’ mtii’e mojiitu khuunzilo/ menyē bahari na mito [st.] ‘obey God, your Creator, the Lord of the seas and the rivers’ ndalaye niingi ooniye siwo haba/ haṭa chimneesha bahari mito saba [st.] ‘his (the one who does not pray) is great, his thirst is not small, even if he is made to drink the ocean, the seven seas’

Ningilopo mṭanaani/ mbene hadiiqá/ nk^hulu/ na muto mooyi.
‘When I entered the room I found a large garden with a river.’

nsi zaa muto ‘fish found in pond, pool’

Wachiineendra/ wachiineendra/ haṭá/ washkoma mutooni.

‘They walked and walked until they reached a pool of water.’

Wake awa/ wa’ingile mutooni/ koowa. ‘These women entered the pool to bathe.’

sh-toka (s-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. shoka SSED 427] axe

kubiga ka shtoka ‘to cut, strike etc. with an axe’ kumbiga ka shtoka ‘to cut, strike etc. him with an axe’ kuvunda ka shtoka ‘to break with an axe’

We/ vuzile mnaangó/ ka shtoká. ‘You broke the door with an axe.’ (Phon. Cf. a sentence where the subject controls default accent: Nuuru/ vuzile mnaango/ ka shtoka.

‘Nuuru broke the door with an axe.’

Mwenye shtoka/ haṭowi/ skunyi. ‘The one who has an axe does not lack firewood.’ (A proverb.)

Tinzile ishaka/ ka shtoka. ‘He cut down a tree with an axe.’

n-tokolo

n. whore ([pron. nt^hokolo]:

farasi yaa nt^haka/ na nt^hokoló ‘a prostitute (lit. horse of garbage) and a whore, i.e. a woman who gives herself to men of the lowest sort’

Iisha/ waliko mwanaamke/ mwenye jamaala/ laakini/ farasi yaa nt^haka/naa nt^hokoló/ kuhada ā’ā/ Iisha/ nt^hachiiwa. ‘Iisha was a beautiful girl, but she was a woman who gives herself to men of the lowest sort [lit. a horse of garbage and nt^hokolo]; to say “no”, Iisha did not know how.’

rel.

wa-tokolo n. 2 whores

Wake/ wa shtulo ichi/ wonṭhe/ ni watokolo. ‘The women of this town are all whores.’

kh-tokomela

v. [Sw. tokomea SSED 471] (tokomeele) leave forever, disappear, vanish

Mwaambile/ khtokomelaa mbele/ kaa mbele. ‘Tell her to go far, far away!’

Nuuru/ tokomeele. ‘Nuuru vanished.’

Tokomela/ mbele/ kaa mbele. ‘Go far away!’

rel.

kh-tokomeleza v. caus. appl. (tokomeleeze) abandon someone’s

Suufi/ mtokomeleze Nuuru/ mwaana. ‘Suufi abandoned Nuuru’s child.’

kh-tokomelezanya v. caus. appl. rec. abandon one another’s

Nuuru/ na Suufi/ watokomelezenye waana. ‘Nuuru and Suufi abandoned one another’s children.’

kh-tokomeza v. caus. [Sw. tokomeza] (tokomeeze) abandon, leave s.o.

Aa/ mtokomeze Omari/ kooḍizé. ‘Aa! leave Omari (forget about him), his words (what he is saying)!’

Basi/ baaba/ chintokomeza/ na chilawa/ karka hawaze. ‘So Father let him be and forsook him.’

Maama/ ofeetopó/ chintokomeza. ‘When mother got tired (e.g. of all this), she left him.’

Mbwa/ chintokomeza mp^huundra/ kubloowa/ na mbwa wa maduuri.
‘The dog left the donkey to be killed by the wild dog.’

Mtokomeze. ‘Let her alone!’

Mtokomeze mwaana/ apa. ‘He left the child here.’

Natokomeze yaa ye/ naayó/ yote/ kooko. ‘Let him leave all that he has here!’

Suufi/ mtokomeze mwaana. ‘Suufi abandoned the child.’

kh-tokomezanya v. caus. rec. leave one another kh-tokota

v. [Sw. tokota SSED 471] (tokosele) boil

Chaayi/ chinakhtokota. ‘The tea is boiling.’

Diini/ mkono/ unamtokota. ‘Diini’s arm has a boil ready to burst (referring to the inflamed nature of the boil).’

Iziwa/ inakhtokota. ‘Milk is boiling.’

Mafta yanakhtokotó/ kuuluka. ‘Oil that is boiling jumps (i.e. splatters).’

Maayi/ yanakhtokota ibirikhiini. ‘Water is boiling in the kettle.’ Or:

Maayi/ yatokosele. ‘The water boiled.’

Yanakhtokota/ maayi/ chibirikhiini. ‘Is boiling water in the kettle.’

Yanakhtokota/ mayi ya chibirikhiini. ‘Is boiling, the water of [in] the kettle.’

Yanakhtokota/ mayi yamo chibirikhiini. ‘Is boiling, the water that is in the kettle.’

rel.

kh-tokosa v. caus. [Sw. tokosa SSED 471] (tokoseeze) boil s.t.; scold, nag Baana/ mtokoseze mwaana. ‘Baana scolded the child.’

Baana/ yatokoseze maayi. ‘Baana boiled water.’

khtokosa halwa ‘to boil (i.e. cook) halwa’ khtokosa iziwa ‘to boil milk’

N^haná/ budi/ ye/ khtokosa maayi. ‘He has no choice but to boil water.’

(Syn. In contrast to Swahili, Chimiini does not use the subjunctive in this structure: *N^haná/ budi/ ye/ natokose maayi.)

N^huná/ budi/ we/ khtokosa maayi. ‘You have no choice but to boil the water.’

kh-tokosanya v. caus. rec. (-tokoseenye) scold one another kh-tokoseka v. caus. p/s.

kh-tokoseleza v. caus. appl.

Omari/ mtokoseleze Baana/ mwaana. ‘Omari scolded Baana’s child (on him).’

kh-tokoselezanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Omari/ na Baaná/ watokoselezenye waana. ‘Omari and Baana scolded one another’s children.’

rel. nom.

m-tokosa (wa-) n. 1/2 one who boils

ma-tokoso n. 6

n-tokoso

n. ranting, raving, scolding (finding fault); [pron. nt^hokoso]

Ni munt^hu wa nt^hokoso. ‘He is a man who is always scolding, rebuking.’

kh-toomba man)

v. [Sw. tomba SSED 472] (toonzele) fuck, have sexual intercourse, copulate (of the Mtombe maamo. ‘Fuck your mother!’ (A curse.)

rel.

kh-toombana v. rec.

Omari/ na mukeewé/ watombeene. ‘Omari and his wife fucked.’

kh-toonza v. caus. (tonzeeze) fuck

Omari/ mtonzele mukeewe. ‘Omari fucked his wife.’ (Cf. the yes-no questions: Omari/ mtonzele mukeewe? and Omari/ mtonzele mukeewê!?)

Omari/ mtoonzele/ mukeewe. ‘Omari fucked his wife.’ (Cf. the simple yes-no question: Omari/ mtoonzele/ mukeewé?)

m-toondro

n. 3 [Sw. mtondo ‘the third day following’ SSED 310] day after tomorrow

Leelo/ ziyaara/ za Shekh Khaasimu/ ni taano/ mtoondro/ nii saba/ itakikhimoowa. ‘Today the religious ceremony of Sheekh Khaasimu is the fifth day, the day after tomorrow is the seventh, it will be concluded.’

mtondro wa nᵗhiini ‘the second day after tomorrow (the day after the day after tomorrow)’

i-toonge (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. tonge SSED 472] lump, small round mass of s.t. (e.g. food)
rel.

l-toonge (mi-) n.aug. 11/4 big lump kh-tonoka v. [Sw. tonoka SSED 472] (tonoshele) hurt a sore by knocking against it Hamadi/ tonoshele ijarahā ya Muusa. ‘Hamadi hurt Muusa’s wound by knocking against it.’

Nureeni/ tonoshele ijarahā. ‘Nureeni aggravated, reopened a wound by knocking against it.’

rel.

kh-tonola v. (toneele) reinjure s.o.

Tonele igoonjoye/ skuu mbili/ ba’adi ya katuloowa. ‘He reinjured his knee two days after surgery.’

kh-tonosha v. caus. (tonosheeze) hurt s.o.’s sore, wound by knocking against it

Nureeni/ mtonosheze mwaana/ ijarahā. ‘Nureeni knocked against the child’s wound.’ (Syn. Contrast the periphrastic causative: Nureeni/ mtile mwaana/ khtonoka ijarahā. ‘Nuuru (somehow) caused the child to aggravate his wound (by the child bumping against s.t.).’) kh-tonosheleza v. caus. appl.

Nureeni/ mtonosheleze Suufi/ mwaana/ ijarahā. ‘Nureeni bumped against Suufi’s child’s wound, reopening it.’ (Syn. Compare the periphrastic version: Nureeni/ mtile Suufi/ mwaana/ khtonoka ijarahā. ‘Nureeni somehow caused Suufi’s child to aggravate a wound by bumping against s.t.’) kh-tonoshelezanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Nureeni/ na Suufi/ watililene waana/ khtonoka majaraha. ‘Nureeni and Suufi caused one another’s children to aggravate their wounds by bumping against s.t.’

kh-tosa v. [perhaps related to Sw. tosa ‘plunge in water, throw into the sea, cause to sink’ SSED 473] lead someone into doing s.t. to his detriment (e.g. by giving him false information, offering false reassurance, misleading)

Muusa/ mtoseze waawaye. ‘Muusa misled his father.’

Zeena/ mtoseze mwaana. ‘Zeena talked the child into doing s.t. to his own detriment.’

rel.

kh-toseka v. p/s.

Hatoseki. ‘He cannot be misled.’

Umari/ hatoseki/ ka sahali. ‘Umari cannot be misled easily.’

kh-toseleza v. appl. (toseleeze)

Zeena nt^hoseleze mwaana. ‘Zeena misled my child.’

rel. nom.

ma-toso n. 6

u-toso n. 14

ma-totoope n. 6 [Sw. tope SSED 263, matope SSED 472] mud Fungula zilaatu/ nakhpaka matotoopé/ ijambiini. ‘Take off (your) shoes, you are getting (lit. applying) mud on the floor mat.’

Mitaanga/ yadariḷe matotoope. ‘The sails were soaked in mud.’

Mteza na matotoope/ haatowi/ kangamuza nguwoze. ‘One who plays with mud never fails to dirty his clothes.’ (A proverb that comments that when you associate with people of low reputation, you yourself are susceptible to losing your reputation.)

Nuuru/ nt^hakuzaama/ matotoopeeni. ‘Nuuru did not sink in the mud.’

Nuuru/ zamile matotoopeeni. ‘Nuuru sank in the mud.’

Yadariḷo matotoopé/ ni mitaanga. ‘What is soaked in mud is the sails.’

kh-towela v. [Sw. toweā SSED 474] (toweleele) use something as a relish nama koshoowa kuwa saafi laazimu/ chiiza ni nijisi khtowela daa’imu

[st.] ‘it is necessary to wash meat to purify it, or else it is always an impure thing to eat’

Nuuru/ towelelee zijo/ m̄tuzi. ‘Nuuru used the gravy as a sauce for the zijo.’ Or: Nuuru/ towelele m̄tuzi/ zijo.

rel.

kh-toweeloowa v. pass.

Nt̄aku/ chiint̄u/ khtowelowa maandra. ‘There is nothing to be used as a relish for the bread.’

sh-towelo

n. 7 [Sw. kitoweo SSED 474] whatever is eaten along with bread, rice, starches (e.g. meat, fish, sauce, gravy)

variant form: shtewelo

Mi/ hupowa makooko/ makavu/ bila shtowelo. ‘I am given the hard crust of dry rice without relish.’

Sulaa kuja/ zijo/ ka shtowelo chisuura. ‘I would eat rice with a good relish.’

tuuba

n. [Ar. tūbā W 571]] blessedness, beatitude tuuba na howōi na m̄ito ya Kowthari / zont̄e izo nza mtume w̄iitu =[st.] ‘beatitude, water basins and the springs of Kauthar : all those belong to our Prophet’

kh-tuula

v. [Sw. tua SSED 474] (tuuzile) settle, calm down; get better, recover (health); come down, land, rest

Ali/ tuzilee chitta. ‘Ali felt better, the head (i.e. his headache subsided).’

Ali/ tuzile miimba. ‘Ali’s stomach ache subsided.’

Chimwaambila/ maamaye/ kuwaa ye/ siwo/ takhtuuló/ mpaka kumub̄ja siimba. ‘He told his mother that he would not rest until he killed the lion.’

Kuja/ ha’ijoowi/ imulo/ hulindrowa khtuula. ‘Food is not eaten hot, one waits for it to cool down.’

Muunt̄^hu/ tuzile ruuhu. [H!H] ‘The man was calm, settled.’

Nt̄^huuzilé. ‘I felt better.’

Ruuhu/ imtuuzile/ muunt̄^hu. [H’H!H] ‘The man was calm, settled.’ Or: Imtuuzilo muunt̄^hú/ ni ruuhu. [HH] ‘What became calm for the man was (his) spirit.’ (In this construction ruuhu controls the subject agreement on the verb, while muunt̄^hu controls an object prefix. As shown above, there is an alternative construction where muunt̄^hu controls the subject agreement.)

rel.

kh-tuulila v. appl. (tuliile) calm down for Mwaana/ nt̄^huliile. ‘The child calmed down for me (e.g. after I soothed the child).’

kh-tuuliza v. caus. appl. (tuliize)

Ali/ mtulize Iisa/ mwaana. ‘Ali calmed the child down for Iisa.’

kh-tulizanya v. caus. appl. rec. (-tulizeenye) calm down for one another’

Ali/ na Ji/ watulizenye waana. ‘Ali and Ji calmed the children down for one another.’

kh-tulizika v. caus. appl. p/s.

Ye/ hatuliziki/ mwaana. ‘The child cannot be calmed down for him.’

kh-tuuzā v. caus. (tuziize) quieten s.o.; relieve s.o. (of medicine, e.g.); calm s.o. down, comfort, soothe

Ali/ mtuzize mwaana. ‘Ali soothed the child.’ (Note that one cannot say: Ali/ mtuzize mwaana/ chitta. ‘Ali caused the child’s headache to subside.’)

Bilaa khtuuzā/ Hamiisi/ bishile mpiira. ‘Without hesitation, Hamiisi kicked the ball.’

Mi/ nakht̄ahaja wakht̄i/ habamooyi/ khtuza ch̄itaachá. ‘I need a little time to make up my mind.’ (But cf. with emphasis on adverb: Mi/ nakht̄ahaja wakht̄i/ [↑]haba/ khtuza ch̄itaacha. ‘I need a little time to make up my mind.’ Notice that when the adverb is raised in pitch, the final accent from the verb does extend to it nor past it.)

Muunt^hu/ tuzize ruuhuye. [H!H] ‘The man calmed himself.’

Omari/ mwambile Hamadi/ oloka/ mtuze Ali/ shishiḷa shtana. ‘Omari told Hamadi: go and calm Ali down, he is angry.’

kh-tuuzanya v. caus. rec. (-tuzeenye) calm one another down x-tuzatuuza v. caus. freq.

Chimtuzatuuza/ haṭá/ mwanaamke/ chimaamala. ‘He comforted the girl until she stopped crying.’

kh-tuuzika v. caus. p/s.

kh-tuzikila v. caus. p/s. appl.

Mwaana/ nt^huzikiliile. ‘The child was able to be calmed down for me.’

kh-tuzoowa v. caus. pass. (tuziiza)

Ituziza na muunt^hú/ ni ruuhu. [HH] ‘What was calmed by the man was the spirit.’

Tuziza qalbi. ‘His mind was put at ease.’

Wake/ watuziza ruuhu. [H!H] ‘The women were comforted.’

Wanaashke/ watuziza ruuhu. [H!H] ‘The girls were comforted.’

Watuziza ruuhú/ nii wake. [H'H] ‘The ones who were comforted were the women.’ Or: Watuziza ruuhú/ ni wanaashke. [H'H] ‘The ones who were comforted were the girls.’ (The declination in these two examples is minimal; this is perhaps a function of the copular structure of the sentence.)

rel. nom.

u-tuuliḷo n. 14

m-tuulo n. 3 act of quieting down; improvement in health

u-tuulo n. 14 act of calming s.o. down

m-tuuza (wa-) n. 1/2 one who calms, quietens sh-tuuzo (s-) n. 7/8 that which calms; a traditional gift of jewelry given by the husband to the bride at their first meeting after the wedding ceremony (note: the woman is not present at the wedding ceremony)

variant form: shtuuza

Mkorshe/ heendra/ kachiweleḷa shtuzo cha maatḷo. ‘Raise him (this child), he goes, he might become for us the joy of our eyes.’

u-tuuzo n. 14 the act of calming s.o. down

sh-tuulo (s-)

n. 7/8 stopping place, resting place; town

shtulo cha chitawo ‘bus-stop’

Wake/ wa shtulo ichi/ wont^he/ ni watokolo. ‘The women of this town are all whores.’

kh-tuluka

v. [Sw. tukia "happen, occur" SSED 476] (tulushile, tuushile) fall; fail (an examination); happen, befall

Ali/ tulushile. ‘Ali fell down.’

Amaani/ naa zitá/ ba/ hutuluka. ‘Peace and war both happen.’

Ba’adi ya apo/ tu/ mi/ niwiiló/ iyo itulushiló. ‘Only then did I understand what had happened.’

Chiboodo/ weene/ mahaḷa yaa ndovú/ tulushiló... ‘Flea saw the place where the elephant had fallen...’

Chiint^hu/ ishtuluka/ husaaló/ maneeno. ‘When something happens, what remains is talking.’ (This saying remarks that once something has happened, there is nothing more that can be done except to talk about it.)

Chiint^hu/ mara mooyi/ shchituluka/ kafanya jis’iyí/ kana/ kafanya jis’iyó/ hayiinfi/ chiint^hu. ‘Once something has happened, if this, if that does not serve any purpose.’ (A proverb that conveys the idea that once something has happened, there is no point to talking about what if this, what if that, etc.)

Hamadi/ tuushile/ vundishile mkono/ qa’. ‘Hamadi fell and broke (his) hand, qa!’
Itulushile harbi/ kati kaawo. ‘A war took place between them.’

Itulushile kuwa Sa'iidi/ lazile mbele ya waant^hu/ wotte. 'It happened that Saiidi left before all the other people (e.g. that's why nothing happened to him).'

Itulushileni. 'What happened?'

khtulukake 'his falling'

khtulukake/ imtihaani 'his failing the examination'

Kalaant^ha/ khupe khabari/ suura/ stulushiló. 'Sit so that I can give you the good news of what has happened.'

Kasiizé/ ituushileni. 'Did you hear what happened?'

Kasiizé/ ituushiló. 'Did you hear what happened?'

Kuwa Ali/ nt^hakhtulukaka/ imtihaani/ inakonyesha kuwaa ye/ someele. 'That Ali did not fail the examination shows that he studied.'

Mi/ nayoo shaká/ haba/ kuwa iyi/.aakhiri/ itakhtulukaka. 'I have little doubt that this will ultimately occur.'

Mi/ skuumbuki/ itulushiló. 'I don't remember what happened.'

Munt^hu oyo/ tulushile. 'That man fell.' Or: Tulushile/ munt^hu oyo. (But the phrasing Tulushile munt^hu oyo. seems incomplete. It seems to be acceptable however in a sentence such as: Tulushile munt^hu oyo/ takhuyaawata. '(The way) that man fell will shock, surprise you.'

Muunt^hu/ shfakata/ hutulukaka. 'When one runs, one falls.' (A proverb.)

muti/ ushtulukaka 'if the tree falls'

Mwaana/ ha'ineendri/ sho khtulukaka. 'A child does not walk without falling down.' (A proverb.)

Mwaana/ tulushile/ bun. 'The child fell bun!'

Mwaana/ tulushiló/ ni Omari. 'The child who fell is Omari.'

Ndrata/ mbele/ khaambile/ stulushiló. 'Let me first tell you what happened.'

Omari/ tuushile. 'Omari fell.' Or: Tuushile/ Omari.

Omari/ tulushile ka uso. 'Omari fell on his face.'

Si/ chinaayo/ ya kuwa...ka chiza kuwaa we/ izi/ zoŋe/ skastuluke. 'We believe [lit. have it] that if not for you, all these [things] would not have happened.'

Si/ khshindra matezo/ ni kana/ ha'ituluki. 'Our winning the match seems unlikely.'

Si/ ni kuliindra/ tu/ kuwona iyo/ itakhtulukó. 'We just have to wait and see what happens.'

Waliko tulushile/ kihumiila. 'He has fallen down and fainted.'

rel.

kh-tulukiloowa v. appl. pass. (tulukiliila)

Uso/ utulukiliila. 'His face was fallen on/' kh-tulukila v. appl. (tulukiliile) fall down on, befall someone

Maskiini/ nafiye/ nt^hakhaadira/ kiiwa/ impeetó/ walá/ imtulukiliiló. 'The poor man himself did not know what had happened to him nor what had befallen him.'

Muti/ ka'unt^hulukilá/ mi/ suŋaa kufa. 'If the tree fell on me, I would die.'

Or: Suŋaa kufa/ mi/ muti/ ka'unt^hulukilá. 'I would die if the tree fell on me.' Or: Suŋaa kufa/ muti/ ka'unt^hulukilá.

Muti/ kawa unt^hulukiliilé/ suŋa kuwa nfiilé. 'If the tree had fallen on me, I would have died.' Or: Suŋa kuwa nfiilé/ kawaa muti/ unt^hulukiliile. 'I would have died if the tree had fallen on me.'

Mwaana/ mtulukiliile Hamadi. 'The child fell on Hamadi.'

Sku ya piilike/ chilawa/ ka numbaani/ chendra ka sulŋaani/ oyo/ chimtulukila miluuni/ kaake. 'On the second day [of it -- i.e., in the context of the story, his staying at the woman's place] he left from the house and went to that sultan and threw himself at his knees.'

Ye/ nt^hataambula/ isa/ inamtulukilani/ ye. 'She did not understand what was happening to her.'

kh-tulukoowa v. pass. (tulushiila)

kh-tulusha v. caus. (tulushiize) cause to fall, fell, cause to happen, knock down

Hamadi/ mtulushize mwaana. 'Hamadi caused the child to fall.'

Mi/ nk^hawa hukhadira khtulusha izi/ zoté/ mazá/ mi/ sula kulata/ chisú/ kunt^hiindá. ‘If I were able to make all these things happen, how come I let a knife cut me?’ review accent

Omari/ mwaanawe/ chambaamba/ kana chiluti/ hatá/ lpepo/ ltamtulusha. ‘Omari, his son is thin, like a small stick, to the point that the wind will knock him down.’

kh-tulushiliza v. caus. appl. (tulushiliize)

Hamadi/ mtulushilize Nuuru/ mwaana. ‘Hamadi caused Nuuru’s child to fall.’

Wamaliizopó/ moyi waawo/ chihada/ si/ ni laazima/ keendra/ kummeera/ uje/ mtulushilizo mwaalimú/ iwuyú/ imubleejó. ‘When they finished, one of them said that it is necessary for us to go to search for the one who caused the baobab to fall on the teacher and kill him.’

kh-tulushoowa v. caus. pass. (tulushiiza)

kh-tuma

v. [Sw. tuma SSED 476] (tumiile) send

Ali/ mtumile mwaana/ sukhuuni. ‘Ali sent the child to the market.’

Ali/ tumilee khati. ‘Ali sent a letter.’

chikhutuma/ teena/ kaaka ‘if he sends you again to me’

Chimtuma mwaana/ mwiingine/ keendra/ kulindra nt^heendre. ‘He sent another son to look over the dates.’

Khaadimu/ chimjiiba/ ya kuwa mtumiló/ ni mukeewe/ Zubeeda. ‘The servant answered him (in the story, Harun Rashiidi) that the one who sent him was Zubeeda, his (Harun Rashiidi’s) wife.’

Mtume. ‘Send him!’

Muunt^hu/ shfakata kendra ka munt^hu mtumiló. ‘The man ran back to the man who had sent him.’

Munt^hu tumilá/ hawbloowi. ‘A messenger is not killed.’ (A proverb.)

Mwajiitu/ mtumile mtume. ‘God sent the Prophet.’

Nimtumile Jaamá/ ka Nuuru. ‘I sent Jaama to Nuuru (e.g. to have him report s.t. to Nuuru).’

Safiya/ maamaye/ chimwambila Jeelaani/ nt^humiiló/ ni Safiya. ‘Safiya’s mother told Jeelaani: the one who sent me is Safiya.’

Shtuma waant^hu/ keendra/ kumubla Abunawaasi. ‘He sent people to go and kill Abunawaasi.’

Sultaani/ chimtuma muunt^hu/ keendra/ kumvila oyo ijini. ‘The sultan sent a man to go and call that djinn.’

Sultaani/ shtuma waant^huwe/ keendra/ jahaziini/ kuleta sanduukhu/ iyo. ‘The sultan sent his men to go to the dhow to bring that box.’

Wachimtuma mooyi/ karka wataana/ chivilowa Chiboodó. ‘They sent one of the servants who was called Flea.’

ya kuwa Sultani Daraayi/ mtumiile/ kendra muyiini/ kaake/ kudarbisha nuumba ‘that Sultan Daraayi had sent him to go to his town to make the house ready’
rel.

kh-tumika v. p/s.

kh-tumiloowa v. appl. pass.

Nt^hume/ watumiila/ reeriya. ‘A message, they were sent, my family.’

Reeriya/ watumiilaa nt^hume. ‘My family was sent a message to.’

Ukopi/ munt^hu tumiila waaná. ‘Where is the man to whom the children were sent?’

kh-tumila v. appl. (tumiile) send to, send for;

Ali/ mtumilile Jaama/ nt^hume. ‘Ali sent Jaama a message.’

Hamadi/ mtumilile Omari/ na Huseeni. [HH!!H] ‘Hamadi sent for Omari and Huseeni.’

Hamadi/ mtumilile Omari/ tu. [H!HH] ‘Hamadi sent for only Omari.’

- Hamadi/ nt^hamtumilila/ Omari/ tu/ na Huseeni/ mtumiliile. ‘Hamadi not only sent for Omari, he also sent for Huseeni.’
- Mi/ niwatumililee nt^humé/ reeriyá. ‘I sent a message to my family.’
- Nimtumilile Nuurú/ Jaamá. ‘I sent Jaama (to call) Nuuru.’ Or: Nuuru/ nimtumilile Jaamá. ‘As for Nuuru, I sent Jaama to (call) Jaama.’ (It should be noted this applied verb represents an example where the applied verb is not equivalent to the simple verb plus preposition ka. The sentence: Nimtumile Jaamá/ ka Nuuruú. means ‘I sent Jaama to Nuuru (e.g. to report s.t.)’ The same meaning holds when Jaama is preposed: Jaama/ nimtumile ka Nuuruú. ‘As for Jaama, I sent him to Nuuru’)
- Nimtumilile Nuurú/ khatí. ‘I sent a letter to Nuuru.’ (One can prepose either complement in a case like this wherethe logical direct object is non-human: Nuuru/ nimtumililee khatí. or Khatí/ nimtumilile Nuurú.)
- sultaani/ chintumila mwaanawe/ nt^hume/ kumwaambila/ kuwaa ye... ‘the sultan sent his son a message telling him that he...’
- Wawaye mukeewa/ chint^humilaa nt^hume/ kendra kundroza mwanaamkewe/ mwiingine. ‘My (former) wife’s father sent to me a message to go and marry another daughter of his.’ (The construction wawaye mukeewa was used by MI, and also observed in texts recorded by family members; mukeewa/ waawaye was also used by MI and is the form accepted by our current consultants.)
- Ye/ nt^hamtumilila/ Huseeni. [HH!!H] ‘He did not send for Huseeni.’
- kh-tumilika* v. appl. p/s.
- Jaama/ hatumiliki/ nt^hume. ‘Jaama cannot be sent a message (e.g. he is an inaccessible place).’ (Syn. One cannot say: Nt^hume/ haytumiliki/ Jaama. ‘A message cannot be sent to Jaama.’)
- kh-tumisha* v. caus.
- Muunt^hu/ chiint^hu/ cha khatari/ kana/ kinenza gaari/ khtumikilaa khori/ laazimu/ khtumisha tahaðari. ‘If something is dangerous, like driving a car, handling guns, one must use caution.’
- Nuuru/ mtumishize mwaana/ mweenzawe. ‘Nuuru had the child send his friend.’
- kh-tumishana* v. caus. rec.
- kh-tumishika* v. caus. p/s.
- kh-tumishiliza* v. caus. appl.
- Nuuru/ mtumishilize Suufi/ mwaana/ mweenzawe. ‘Nuuru had Suufi’s child send his friend.’
- kh-tumishilizanya* v. caus. appl. rec.
- kh-tumoowa* v. pass. (tumiila) be sent
- Basi/ sku mooyi/ mwaana/ oyo/ tumila sukhuuni/ keendra/ kula nt^holoko. ‘So, one day the child was sent to the market to go and buy beans.’
- Ma’askari/ watumila khfitisha nuumba. ‘Police were sent to search the house.’ With emphasis on the verb: Ma’askari/ watumiila/ khfitisha nuumba. (The emphasized verb does not undergo the strong downstepping associated with canonical downstep intonation, although the subsequent infinitive phrase khfitisha nuumba is downstepped. A simple yes-no question based on the sentence with an emphasized verb undergoes Accent-Shift in the complement: Ma’askari/ wa-tumiila/ khfitisha nuumba? As usual, GM did not offer an emphatic yes-no question version of such a sentence.)
- Mi/ nt^humila kaako/ na munt^hu mweema/ na akhyaari. ‘I have been sent to you by a good and kind man.’
- Naani/ tumila Mkhodiishó. ‘Who was sent to Mogadishu.’ Or: Naani/ tumiila/ Mkhodiisho. Or: Tumiila naani/ Mkhodiisho.

N^humila khfitisha nuumba. ‘I was sent to search the house.’ Or with verb emphasis: N^humiilá/ khfitisha nuumba. ‘I was sent to search the house.’ (The infinitive verb can also be emphasized: N^humiilá/ khfitisha/ nuumba. In this rendition, there is some declination of pitch on the infinitive verb, but it is only its complement that is strongly downstepped.)

Watumila ma’askari/ khfitisha nuumba. ‘Policemen were sent to search the house.’ (This sentence illustrates the subject postposing that is common in passive sentences in Chimini, where the postposed subject is put into Immediately After the Verb position, forming a phonological phrase with the verb. There is the canonical downstep intonation where the accented syllable in the second phrase is lowered with respect to the accented syllable of the first phrase. The simple yes-no question based on this sentence eliminates the downstepping. In the emphatic yes-no question, the accent shifts to the final syllable in both phrases, with the second phrase being downstepped and the final syllable lengthened and displaying a clearly falling pitch in GM’s pronunciation: Watumila ma’askari/ khfitisha numbâ!?)

rel. nom.

m-tuma (wa-) n. 1/2 one who sends someone to do something

m-tumisha (wa-) n. 1/2

m-tuuma (wa-)

n. 1/2 [Sw. mtumwa (wa-) SSED 477] servant

Mooyi/ karka watuumawe/ teta na maayi. ‘One of his servants drowned.’

m-tuumbi (mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mtumbwi ‘a native canoe, made all in one piece of a dug-out tree trunk, often a hollowed log of the mango tree, without outriggers, but sometimes with a small mast and sail’ SSED 312] canoe

Iyiimbi/ ikulu/ igambishize mtuumbiwe. ‘A big wave capsized his canoe.’

i-tuumbo

n. 5/6 [Sw. matumbo SSED 264, 478] belly, stomach, piece of intestine; (pl.) intestines

Haliima/ mkali/ khpika matuumbo. ‘Haliima is very good at cooking intestines.’

Haliima/ nakhpika matuumbo. ‘Haliima is cooking intestines.’

Haliima/ nakosha matuumbo. ‘Haliima is washing the intestines.’

Itumbo izaaziló/ ndiyó/ huló. ‘The stomach that gives birth is the one that cries.’ (A proverb which says that if something bad happens, the one who cries is the one who owns/created whatever it is that was affected.)

Matuumbo/ suura/ khkhalangoowa. ‘It is good for intestines to be fried.’

Matuumbo/ yaa mbuzi/ maláda/ zayda ya ngoombe. ‘A goat’s intestines taste more delicious than the intestines of a cow.’ Or: Matumbo yaa mbuzi/ maládda/ kolko ya ngoombe.

Omari/ huja matuumno. ‘Omari eats intestines.’

Omari/ ituumbo ‘Omari the big belly’

Want’u wa Mwiini/ hupeenda/ kuja matuumbo. ‘People of Brava like to eat intestines.’

kh-tuumbuka

v. intr. (-tumbushile) burst, break open

Ipu/ imtumbushile. ‘His boil burst open.’

Ipu/ itumbushile. ‘The boil broke open.’

khtumbuka maato ‘to lose one’s eyesight completely due to injury’

Siimba/ tumbushile maato. ‘Siimba lost his sight (from an injury).’

(Observe that in this example, Siimba is the subject of the verb.

There is, however, a variation where it is maato that is the subject:

Siimba/ maato/ yamtumbushile.

Kulu ya gaari/ itumbushile nt^huundru. ‘The tire of the car is punctured.’

Mpiira/ utumbushile nt^huundru. ‘The ball has been punctured.’

Numba (y)a Hamadi/ itumbushile/ dakan dakan. ‘Hamadi’s house broke down completely.'

Omari/ tumbushile miimba/ ka sh̄teko. 'Omari burst his stomach with laughter.'
Osmaani/ ipu/ imtumbushile. 'Osmani's boil burst.' Or: Osmaani/ imtumbushile ipu. (MI suggested that in this position, ipu represents new information.) (Observe that in this sentence ipu controls the subject prefix on the verb, not Osmaani. MI suggested that it is acceptable for Osmaani to control the subject agreement: Osmaani/ tumbushile ipu. However, this usage somehow belittles Osmaani. We did not have an opportunity to pursue this matter further.)

rel.

kh-tumbukila v. intr. appl. break open to khtumbukila mahala 'to go to a place frequently'

Sku izi/ tumbukilile kiitu. 'These days he is always at our place.'

khtumbukila maato 'to lose eyesight to someone's detriment'

Nt^humbukilile maato. 'My child lost his sight.'

kh-tumbulila v. tr. appl. make a hole for, with kh-tumbulilana v. tr. appl. rec. make a hole for one another kh-tumbuloowa v. tr. pass. be pierced by kh-tuumbula v. tr. (tumbiile) make a hole, pierce (but not with reference to the ground, rather in cloth or the ear e.g.), perforate

Fuunzi/ nakhtumbula lkuta. 'The craftsman made a hole in the wall.'

khtumbula mashkilo 'to pierce the ears' khtumbula iyaank^huku 'to puncture the egg' khtumbula nt^huundru 'to make a hole'

Haliima) Ø-tumbile ishkilo) n-t^huundru 'Haliima pierced her ear (lit. made a hole in the ear).'

Nakhtumbula nt^huundru/ mashkilooni. 'She is piercing the ears.'

Nakhtumbula nt^huundru/ mp^hulaani. 'She is piercing the nose.'

Mwaana/ tumbile ipu. 'The child broke open the boil.'

Stumbuleeni/ ikopa. 'You (pl.) don't make a hole in the cup!'

Tumbulaani. 'You (pl.) break open!'

Tumbulani chigaango. 'You (pl.) make a hole in the tin can!'

kh-tumbulana v. tr. rec. pierce one another kh-tumbulatuumbula v. freq. make holes in a cloth kh-tumbulika v. tr. p/s.

Lwawo/ ha^htumbuliki/ ka sahali. 'The piece of wood cannot be pierced easily.'

kh-tumbuliza v.

kh-tuumbuza v. (tumbiize) to frequent a place

Tumbize ka Haliima. 'He was always at Haliima's place.'

rel. nom.

m-tuumbuko n. 3

u-tuumbuko n. 14

m-tuumbulo n. 3

n-tumbulo n. perforating; [pron. nt^huumbulo]

u-tuumbulo n. 14

i-tuumbulu (mi-) n. 5/4 thorny needle fish

tumbulukhu n. whorehouse, brothel, cathouse

Muusa/ hendra tumbulukhuuni/ kul^hla/ masku ya arabiya. 'Muusa goes to a whorehouse every Wednesday night.'

sh-tuumbuwa (s-) n. 7/8 [Sw. kitumbua SSED "a small round fritter made of rice flour, fried in fat" SSED 211] a small round, ball-shaped pancake, donut made of flour and fried in lots of oil

m-tume (mi-) n. 3/4 [Sw. mtume SSED 477] prophet

Anshuura fuunzilo Muusa na qoomuye/ na mtume Mhammadi peenzelo soomuye [st.] ‘Anshuura, the one who fasted (on this day) was Muusa and his people, and the prophet Mohammad loved its fasting’

Iyi/ nii qisa/ ya mtume Nuuhu. ‘This is the story of the prophet Nuuhu (Noah).’
mtume mweema ‘a good prophet’

Yaaqubi/ wawaye Yuusufu/ ni mooyi/ karka mitume/ watumila na mwajiitu.
‘Jacob, Joseph’s father, is one of the prophets sent by God.’

n-tume n. 9/10 [Sw. tume SSED 477] message; messenger [pron. nt^hume]

Chihada/ nimwambileni/ waawe/ ye/ takhtumaa nt^hume/ kuuya/ khtala nt^heendre/ na nt^heendré/ nt^hayiiko. ‘He said: what should I tell my father? he will send a messenger to come and take the dates and there will be none.’

Mweenza/ mi/ nthukiile/ nt^hume/ yaako/ ilazilo/ ka sulṭaani/ wa hayawaani. ‘My friend, I am carrying a message to you that comes from the king of the animals (Lion).’

Nimkomeze nt^humeyo. ‘I conveyed to her your message.’

Nt^hume/ hawbloowi. ‘A messenger is not killed.’ (A proverb that says that the messenger must be respected, whatever the message may be.)

Nt^humeeye/ yalikoo dhibu/ khtambuḷoowa. ‘His message was difficult to understand.’

Shtumaa nt^hume/ ka apa/ na apa/ kendroowa/ kumerowa muunṭu/ takhaadiró/khtafsiirá/ ndroto izó. ‘He sent messengers here and there to be gone for a man to be searched for who would be able to interpret these dreams.’ (This example, from a text, is of some significance since it reveals phrase breaks after takhaadiró and khtafsiirá which in main clauses would indicate the presence of focus and thus the imposition of a barrier to a final accent being extended past the focused item. However, in the relative clause, the final accent associated with the relative verb extends to the end of the relative clause, despite the phrasal separation of the verb from its complement. We take this to mean that there is not true focus involved in the case of the relative clause.)

Sulṭaani/ chimtumila mwaanawe/ nt^hume/ kumwaambila/ kuwaa ye/ ile/pamo na ma’akhyaari/ tomele mayti/ ya elo/ ka chisimaani/oloshiye naayo. ‘The sultan sent to his child a messenger telling her that he had come together with the rulers and had taken the corpse of the gazelle from the well and had departed with it.’

Washpelekaa nt^hume. ‘They sent a message.’

Yalikoo nt^hume/ ichimlindro kaaké/ sandukhuuni. ‘There was a message waiting for him in his box.’

m-tumi (wa-) n. 1/2 one who is sent to do something kh-tumika v. intr. [Sw. tumika SSED 476] serve (work); be negotiable (of money), circulate (of money), shop

Aasha/ hendra dukaani/ khtumika/ jima/ na jima piili. [HHHH!!H] ‘Aasha goes to the market to shop on Fridays and on Sundays.’ (The intonation of this statement has not been explored in detail, but it is clear that there is no downstepping of jima ‘Friday’ but is radical downstepping of na jima piili ‘Sunday’. We recorded a possible response to this statement that was noteworthy: ā’ā/ Aasha/ hendra dukaani/ khtumika/ jima tu. [HHHHH] ‘No, Aasha goes shopping only on Fridays.’ Generally, we observed tu phrasally separated from the phrase that it focuses, but here it seems that tu phrases with jima and furthermore this phrase is not lowered in pitch. Further research is required.)

Ali/ peesaze/ hastumiki. ‘Ali’s money is not negotiable (e.g. it is counterfeit).’

Khaadimu/ ka jis’iyo/ chi’iwelela sulṭaani/ ka makhaadimu/ khtumika. ‘The servant in that way became a sultan himself with servants [of his own] to serve him.’

Mphundra oyo/ kulla/ mukhtaaya ye/ chisuḷo kendra mahalá/ amo fanyiza kaazi/chimtumikila mp^hundra/ oyo. ‘That donkey, every time he wanted to go somewhere or work, he used that donkey.’

Pelesheḷa nuumba/ maape/ ya maṭajiri/ khtumika. ‘He was sent to the home of some rich people to work as a servant.'

Pesa iyi/ haytumiki. 'This money is not valid, negotiable.'

Peesa/ zinakhtumikaa nt^ho. 'The money is circulating widely.'

Pesa ziitu/ hastumiki/ apa. 'Our coins are not negotiable here.'

rel.

kh-tumiki^loowa v. intr. appl. pass.

Mawele/ hutumiki^lowa chiloho. 'Mawele [a sp. fish] is used for bait.'

Ndrebeelé/ pesa izo/ khtumiki^loowa. 'I prevented that money from being used.' Or: Peza izo/ khtumiki^loowa/ ndrebeelé. 'That money being used I prevented.'

Peesa/ izi/ za feḏa/ stambiila/ kuwa schitumiki^lowa zamaani/ muuyi/ uyu. 'These coins of silver were understood that they were used a long time ago in this town.'

kh-tumikila v. intr. appl. (-tumikiile) use something; use, serve for Chisu gani/ tumikiiló/ we. 'Which knife did you use?'

Muunt^hu/ umriwe/ chiza khtumikila jisa suura/ nt^hayná/ faayda. 'For a person to not use his life well has no profit.'

Nakhaadirá/ khtumikila khalamuyo? 'Can I use your pen?'

Tumikile chisu shkali. 'I used the sharp knife.'

kh-tumiloowa v. pass.

hutumiloowa ya haqi/ ya baatili hulatoowa [st.] 'we must serve truth and reject falsehood' kh-tumila v. tr. (tumiliile) use

Basi/ isa/ mwaanawá/ we/ jisaa we/ tumiliilo hiilá/ khpataa ndrevú/ zaa mp^hisi/ naank^hó/ tumila hiilazo/ jisaa we/ khpata mu^hjiwo/ khuruudila. 'So now, my daughter, you, the way that you used tricks to get the beards of hyenas, use your tricks again in order to get your husband to remarry [lit. return to] you.'

Isa/ mp^ha/ peesa/ yaa mi/ khtumilá. 'Now give me money for me to use.'
izo khtumila oyo mbwa mu^looni [st.] 'the one who refuses to use [knowledge of Islam], that one belongs in hell'

N^hi/ za chi'aafrika/ nt^haziná/ haja ya kooḏi/ zinaayo/ haaja/ ya peesa/ khtumila. 'The countries of Africa do not have need for talk, they have a need for money to use.'

Tete peesa/ khtumila. 'He took money to use.'

Tumiliile chisu. 'He used the knife.'

tumila hatta ikumi ka mooyi [st.] 'follow at least one tenth [of the precepts given below]' kh-tumilika v. tr. p/s.

Ali/ peesaze/ hastumiliki. 'Ali's money cannot be used (e.g. he will gain revenge on you if you use it; or it isn't valid money).'

Pesa iyi/ haytumiliki. 'This money cannot be used.'

kh-tumisha v. caus. cause to serve khtumisha aqili 'to thin, use intelligence, act wisely' khtumishaa nguvu 'to use force' khtumisha peesa 'to use money to get s.t. done' khtumisha waant^hu 'to use people'

kh-tumishiliza v. caus. appl.

kh-tumishoowa v. caus. pass.

watakuuyo ni malaayka/ wiingi wa khtumishoowa [st.] 'angels will descend to perform this service'

rel. nom.

m-tumila (wa-) n. 1/2 one who serves mtumila sanamu siwo islaamu [st.] 'one who uses idols is not a Muslim'

m-tumishi (wa-)

n. 1/2 servant

Basi/ ye/ mwanaamke/ choondroka/ chendra ka sulṭaani/ chiloomba/ kaake/ khpowa Hasani/ kumwelele mtumishi. 'So she, the girl, arose and went to the sultan and implored from him that Hasani be given to her as a servant.'

Chiwaviila/ watumishi/ chiwa'uza... 'She called the servants and asked them...'

Kama mahala/ mweepe/ ivundishile/ kama yako mataandu/ wa'ambile watumishi/ wanapeele. 'If some place is broken, if there are cobwebs there, tell the servants that they should sweep (there).'

Kama yako matuundru/ wa'ambile watumishi/ wanapeele. 'If there are cobwebs, tell the servants to sweep the place clean.'

Karka watumishi/ waliko mwanaashke/ msuura. 'Among the servants there was a beautiful girl.'

Mwanaashke/ msuura/ waliko karka watumishi. 'A beautiful girl was among the servants.'

Sultaani/ chimbabila/ karka watumishiwe. 'The king included him in with his servants.'

kh-tuundra

v. [Sw. tunda SSED 479, where the use of this verb is said to be especially characteristic of northern dialects] pick off (fruit); gather (firewood)

Muunt'u/ yaa ye/ aziló/ hutuundra. 'A man harvests, collects what he has cultivated.' review

Nakhtundraa mazu. 'He is collecting bananas.'

rel.

kh-tuundrila v. appl. gather for Namtuundrila/ mbuzi/ manyi. 'He is gathering grass for the goat.'

kh-tuundrisha v. caus. (-tundrishiiize) have someone gather Mtundrishize mwaana/ skunyi. 'He had the child gather firewood.'

Tundrishize skunyi. 'He had firewood gathered.' (Syn. Observe that it is possible to omit any reference to the causee in a causative verb construction when the causee is indefinite or not relevant.)

i-tuundra (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. tunda SSED 479] fruit

Ituunda/ imphotejeje chitaani. 'A piece of fruit fell on my head.'

Jaziraani/ shpete matuundra/ chijiilé/ na maayi/ chineelé. 'On the island we found fruit we ate and water we drank.'

kuja matuundra 'to eat fruits' matundra ya jannaani 'the fruits in paradise'

muundra/ wa matuundra 'a fruit farm'

Ndraaniye/ chaala/ miti/ ya matuundra/ ya lamna/ ka lamna. 'Inside it [the garden], he grew fruit trees of different kinds.'

Omari/ nakhinda matuundra. 'Omari is harvesting (lit. cutting) fruits.'

Sultaani/ chamura ma'askariwe/ kendra kuleta matuundra/ na zaakujá. 'The king ordered his soldiers to go and bring fruits and food.'

rel.

l-tuundra (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.

kh-tuundrika

v. [Sw. tundika SSED 479] (tundrishile) hang s.t.; worry someone Haliima/ nt^hundrishile. 'Haliima worried me [e.g. when she did not show up when expected].'

khtuundrika alamu 'to hang a flag'

Tundrishile ikooti/ musmariini. 'He hung the coat on a nail.'

rel.

kh-tuundrikana v. rec. worry one another kh-tuundrikika v. p/s. (i) able to be hung; (ii) be worried about s.t.

kh-tuundrikila v. appl. (i) hang for, with; (ii) worry s.o. on s.o.

Nt^hundrikilile mwaana. 'He worried my child on me.'

kh-tuundrikisha v. caus.

kh-tuundrikoowa v. pass. (tundrishila) be hung; be hung up on (i.e. in love with)' be worried

Ali/ tundrishila na Haliima. 'Ali is in love with Haliima [lit. hung up on Haliima].'

Amá/ we/ takulawa/ ka apa/ laakini/ takubloowa/ takhtuundrikowa mutiini/ naa nyunyi/ staakuja/ karka ongoyo. 'As for you, you will leave from here [prison], but you will be killed, you will be hung from a tree, and birds will eat from your brains.'

Bandeera/ itundrishila. ‘The flag has been hung (put up).’

Ikooti/ itundrishila musmariini. ‘The coat was hung up on a nail.’

Nt^hijile mwaana/ khtundrikoowa/ naaye. ‘She caused my child to be “hung up” on her, i.e. fall in love with her.’ (Syn. The benefactive applied verb construction often is used merely to indicate a relationship between the beneficiary, which here is first person singular, and the logical direct object, here mwaana. However, it also may convey that the action was to the “beneficiary’s” benefit or detriment. In the present example, it is understood to be to the speaker’s detriment – i.e. the speaker is not happy with what has happened to his son.)

Suufi/ chibaratana na Iisha/ na shtundrikowa naaye. ‘Suufi became acquainted with Iisha and he fell in love with her.’

rel. nom.

m-tuundriko n. 3 act of hanging s.t.

ma-tuundriko n. 6

u-tuundriko n. 14

n-tuundru

n. 9/10 [Sw. tundu SSED 479] hole (in the ground), hole (e.g. in a shirt); [pron. nt^huundru]

Choloko/ chimo nt^huundru. ‘There’s a hole in the window.’

Hiingila/ kaake/ nt^huundruuni. ‘He (the rat) enters into his hole.’

kh^htumbula nt^huundru ‘to punch, make a hole (e.g. in a shirt)’

Lkuta/ limo nt^huundru. ‘The wall has a hole in it.’

mashkilo na mp^hula zotte ni nt^huundru [st.] ‘the ears and the nose are all holes (through which nothing may enter during fasting)’

Mnaango/ wimo nt^huundru. ‘There is a hole in the door.’

Mpiira/ yimo nt^huundru. ‘The ball has a hole in it.’ (Comparing this example to the immediately preceding example shows that there is variation between whether –mo has a class agreement triggered by the subject noun or whether it has a [cl.9] agreement.)

Nguwo/ yimo nt^huundru. ‘The cloth has a hole in it.’

nt^huundru ya ishkilo ‘ear hole’

nt^huundru ya mp^hula [Sw. tundy ya pua] ‘nostril’ nt^huundru yaa ndini ‘orifice of the vagina’

nt^huundru yaa mp^hana ‘a mouse hole (a hole by which a mouse enters or leaves a house)’

nt^huundru ya rasaasi ‘bullet hole’

nt^huundru ya siindanu ‘the eye of a needle’

Sanduukhu/ yimo nt^huundru. ‘The box has a hole in it.’

Yiko nt^huundru. ‘There is a hole.’

rel.

i-tundru (mi-) n. 5/4 aug. large hole, cave

As.haabu/ alkahfi/ wawaalimo/ itundruuni/ miyaaka/ alfu. ‘The companions of the cave (in Christian mythology known as the “Seven Sleepers of Ephesus”) were in the cave for a years.’

thousand itundru ikulu ‘a large hole’ itundru ya ndraani ‘a deep hole’

itundru yaa noka ‘a snake hole’

Wotte/ washfakaṭa/ wachingila mitundruuni. ‘All of them ran and entered into aug. holes.’

i-tuundru (ma-) n. 5/6 hole

Mp^hana/ haalawi/ ndilaani/ muunt^hi/ huzimila matunduuni. ‘A rat does not go outside during the daytime, he hides in holes.’

Muunt^hi/ huzimila matundruuni. ‘During the day it (e.g. a rat) hides in holes.’

sh-tuundru (s-) n. 7/8 dim. [Sw. kitundu] small hole

- Abú/ hufanya kaazi/ sherkhaniini/ ka Taahá/ huḡumbula shaati/ stuundru/ chimaliza hutila sṭezo. ‘Ali works at tailor shop of Taaha, he makes button holes in shirts, then he puts in buttons.’
- kofiya ya stuundru ‘a white skullcap with a design of small holes that is hand-made, also referred to as kofiya ya Chimwiini, a skullcap in the Chimwiini style’
- Sṭezo/ izi/ na stuundrú/ izi/ hastilani/ ka sababu/ stuundru/ ni zihaba. ‘These buttons and these button holes cannot enter each other because the holes are small.’
- kh-tuunga* necklace
- v. [Sw. tunga SSED 480] (tuunzile) compose poetry; string beads of a rosary or
- khtunga shṭeenzi ‘to compose a shṭeenzi’ nakaanza khtuunga marjaani [st.] ‘I start stringing coral beads’
- l-tuungo*
- n. [Sw. utungo SSED 481] poem, composition variant: ltuungu
- huraasho ltuungo liitu nt^hana loomu [st.] ‘those who follow our poem will not go wrong’
- Ltuungolo/ nt^haliná/ ma’ana. ‘Your composition has no meaning.’
tuunzilo ilo ltuungu ni Ahmadi/ hunasabiloowa Marzuuqu ni jaddi [st.] \ ‘that poem was composed by Ahmad, who took the nisba al-Marzuqi from his grandfather’
- rel.
sh-tuungo (s-) n. 7/8 [Sw. kitungo SSED] composition
- n-tuungu*
- n. elephantiasis of the scrotum, testicles; [pron. nt^huungu]
Omari/ nayo nt^huungu/ nakendra Mkhodiisho/ spitaḷeeni/ khṭindoowa.
‘Omari has swelling of the scrotum, he is going to the hospital in Mogadishu to be operated on (lit. be cut).’
- sh-tuungulu* (s-)
- n. 7/8 [Sw. kitunguu SSED 211] onion
Shtungulu chimooyi/ huwoza zont^he. ‘One onion makes all rotten.’
Shtungulu chiwozeló/ huwoza ijuniya izima. ‘A rotten onion spoils the whole bag.’ (A proverb.) stungulu zaa mboga ‘spring onions’
- tuuni*
- n. [cf. Som. toon "garlic" DSI 587] garlic (cf. thuumu with the same meaning, borrowed directly from Arabic; the Somali pronunciation reflects the fact that there is no "th" sound in Somali and words may not end in m)
- n-tuunzi*
- n. [cf. Sw. tuzo, tunzo “present”: SSED 481, 483] wedding gifts arranged prior to the wedding; [pron. nt^huunzi]
Endrá/ mvile mwaana/ shpata kumwonya nt^huunziye. ‘Go and call the child so that we may show her her wedding presents.’
Mi/ speendi/ nt^huunzi/ ka kaake. ‘I do not want wedding presents from him.’
- tupu*
- adj. [Sw. -tupu SSED 482] empty, naked, bare; only; completely ignorant (of a certain subject, especially related to school learning)
Ali/ ile kanaa nt^hupu. ‘Ali came naked.’
Ali/ lele kanaa nt^hupu. ‘Ali slept naked.’
Ali/ owelele kanaa nt^hupu. ‘Ali swam naked.’
chiwovu shtupu ‘an empty pocket’
Hamiisi/ nambilee mi/ ye/ hupeenda/ khsooma/ kumbé/ ni wanaafakhi/ nt^hupú’ ‘Hamiisi told me he likes to read but it was an empty lie!’
Ichihadoowa/ ya kuwa chisiwa ichi/ shkalo ni wake watupú. ‘It was said that this island was inhabited only by women.'

kanaa nt^hupu/ kana maamaye/ mzaaziló 'as naked as his mother gave birth to him'

Wamlasile kanaa nt^hupu/ jisa maamaye/ mzaaziló. 'They left him naked, just as his mother gave birth to him.'

Mbona/ we/ ile mikono mitupú. 'How come you have come empty-handed?'

Mkono mtupu/ hawkomboowi. 'An empty hand is never licked.' (A proverb.)

Na kilá/ waa mi/ nimpeshelo kuliindrá/ rudile mikono mitupu. 'And each [boy] that I sent to guard [the dates] returned empty-handed.' (Although the conjunction na ordinarily requires final accent on its complement, this is not possible with kilá: Na kilá/....) nt^hupaa nt^hupu 'empty bottle(s)'

Sa'iidi/ ba'adaa ye/ khtomola maaliye/ yotte/ kumpa sultaani/ chisala mtupú/ nt^haykumsaalíla/ chiint^hu. 'Sa'iidi, after he took all his wealth and gave it to the sultan, he remained penniless, nothing remained with him.'

Wamposhele maali/ yaa ye/ tukiiló/ yote/ na wachimlata mtupu/ kanaa nt^hupu. 'They robbed him of all the wealth that he was carrying and left him empty-handed and naked.'

ziwovu stupu 'empty pockets'

rel.

u-tupu n. 14 emptiness

i-tuuvi

n. 5 [Sw. tui SSED 475] the juice of s.t.

ituvi ya naazi 'the essence of the coconut, obtained by taking crushed coconut meat, adding hot water, and then straining it, yielding the ituvi'

-tuuvu

adj. [cf. Sw. utuuvu "gentleness, good manners, quietness of mien" SSED 475] sober, quiet, calm, gentleness

Askari uyu/ ni mtuuvu. 'This soldier is calm, quiet.' (Cf. Askari izi/ ni watuuvu. 'These soldiers are calm.' (MI did not accept Askari izi/ ni stuuvu.)

Haliima/ ni mtuuvu/ hatá/ chibigoowa/ haruudili/ mkono/ degani/ kana/ maayi. 'Haliima is calm, even if she is hit, she does not (lit.) return the hand (i.e. hit back), she stays as calm as water.'

ma'askari matuuvu or ma'askari watuuvu 'calm, quiet soldiers'

Ngombe uyu/ ni mtuuvu. 'This cow is calm.' Cf. Ngombe izi/ ni watuuvu. 'These cows are calm.' (MI did not accept Ngombe izi/ ni stuuvu.) want^hu watuuvu 'quiet, calm people'

rel.

ma-tuuvu n. 6 calmness

tawala ya matuuvu 'a calm sea'

u-tuuvu n. 14 gentleness, calmness kubasha utuuvu 'to lose (one's) cool, calmness'

Omari/ ni munt^hu udeggani/ hatá/ shfanyaayi/ habaashi/

utuuvu. 'Omari is a very calm person, he never (lit. even if how he does) loses his cool.'

Suufi/ waliko mujaana/ mwenye nguvu/ na utuuvú/ haali/ na maali/laakini/ ye/ wanayo dhibu mooyi/ liini/ shkhadiro khtawala ruuhuyé/ khaasá/ ka tarafu yaa wake. 'Suufi was a young man having strength and gentleness, good health and wealth, but he had one problem, he was not able to control himself, especially in regard to women.'

ma-tuzi

n. 6 [cf. Bajuni ch-udhi "excrement" (from Nurse's Bajuni wordlist)] excrement, dung, shit

Haliima/ nakumera matuzi/ ya ngoombe/ kuwakilaa ngawo/ ya nuumbaye. 'Haliima is searching for cow dung to build the side wall of her house.'

ishondre ya matuzi ‘a lump of excrement’ khkalan^hila matuzi ‘[lit. to sit on shit] to have real problems that one has brought on oneself’

Omari/ kalan^hilile matuziye. ‘Omari brought problems on himself.’

khpaka matuzi ‘to find fault [lit. to apply excrement]’ matuzi yaa mp^hana ‘rat droppings’

Muunt^hu/ matuziye/ ndiyé/ hooshó. ‘A person, his shit, it is he who cleans (himself).’ (A proverb conveying the idea that one must take responsibility for one’s own mistakes.)

rel.

i-tuzi (mi-) n. 5/4 aug. someone who is good for nothing, ‘a piece of shit’

l-tuzi (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.

n-tuzi n. a large quantity of faeces; [pron. nt^huzi]

-u-

second person singular subject prefix in negative tenses

We/ hupeendi/ keendra/ kubigaa zita. ‘You do not like to go to fight the war.’ (hupeendi is derived from /ha-u-peendi)

u-

[cl.3] subject prefix; u in preconsonantal position and w in prevocalic position

Muundrawa/ unayo miti mi^haano/ tu. ‘My farm has only five trees.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is mkono/ na zaalá ‘a hand and fingers’.)

Muti/ uburbushile. ‘The tree fell down.’

Muuyi/ mzimawe/ washizaa tala. ‘The whole town was lit with lamps.’

u-

[cl.14] subject prefix

Muke/ wakhtⁱ ukomeelopó/ chishika utuungu/ chizaala. ‘The woman, when the time came, went into labor and gave birth.’ (The noun wakhtⁱ ‘time’ is treated as a [cl.14], though its initial w is not transparently a surface alternant of the [cl.14] noun class prefix u. The noun is a borrowing from an Arabic word with an initial w.)

Uhuru/ umfurahishiize. ‘Freedom pleased him.’

Usiinzi/ umbeele. ‘Sleep was lost to him (i.e. he could not sleep).’

u-

[cl.14] noun class prefix

uhuru ‘freedom’

ujaja ‘itching’

usiinzi ‘sleep’

utuungu ‘labor pains’

-u-

[cl.3] object prefix

Iyo huunda/ shtila/ ndraani/ ya msala/ chi’utukula/ chooloka/ naawo/ ka sul^htaani. ‘That measuring cup he put inside the mat and carried it (the mat) and went with it to the sultan.’

Nuuru/ uletelele muundra/ makiina. ‘Nuuru brought a piece of machinery for (use in) the field.’

Ski’ukuumbuki. ‘I did not remember it [cl.3].’

Skuwuuzza. ‘I did not sell it [cl.3].’

Uvunzile mlaango. ‘He closed the door.’

(Ye/ ka’oloká/ sula ku’uwonaa muti. ‘If he went, he would see the tree.’

k-ubla

v. [Sw. ua SSED 484] (ub^hlele) kill; [pron. kub^hla]

Baaba/ chihada/ ni laazimu/ uyu/ kub^hloowa/ laakini/ Huseeni/ chihada/ simub^hlé/ waawé/ ml^hate kaa mbele. ‘Father said: it is a must that this one be killed, but Huseeni said: don’t kill him, father, let him go (ignoring him).’

Hasani/ choondroka/ chub^hla ngoombe/ mbili. ‘Hasani went and killed two cows.’

Hasiibu/ chimubla. ‘Hasiibu killed him.’
Kamaa ye/ chinubla/ nanuble. ‘If he kills me, let him kill me.’
Khambile muble mubliwá. ‘I told you that you should kill my husband.’
Kheeri/ oloka/ chizaa mi/ takufa/ watakunublaa mi/ watakunublo.
‘Better (to) go, otherwise I will die, they will kill me, that’s what they will do.’
kubla qalbi ‘to discourage (lit. kill the heart)’ Hamadi/ hupeenda/ kubla waant^hu/ khalbi. [H^hH^hH^h] ‘Hamadi likes to discourage people.’
kubla ruuhu ‘to kill oneself; to go all out, do all that one can do for someone’
Chublele ruhu ziitu/ ka khisaa we. ‘We went all out for you (lit. killed ourselves because of you).’
Nublele ruhuyá/ ka khisaa we. ‘I went all out for you (lit. killed myself because of you).’
Wa’ublele ruhu zaawo/ ka khisaa we. ‘They went all out for you (lit. killed themselves for you).’
Luti/ limo mkonooni/ ndilo/ hubloo noká. ‘The stick which is in your hand is the thing that kills a snake.’ (A proverb.)
malizopo kumubla mp^huundra ‘when he killed the donkey’ Mweenzawo/ ndiyé/ khublo. ‘It is your friend who kills you.’ (A proverb.)
Mi/ sitamubla/ siimba/ ye/ mbwaaká/ na kila chiint^hu/ chiko apá/ nch^haaká. ‘I will not kill the lion; he is mine, and everything that is here is mine.’
mp^hate kumwubla noka uyu ‘so that I can kill this snake’ Muunt^hu/ hubla ruuhuye/ ka kanaye. ‘A man kills himself by his mouth.’ (A proverb.)
Muti/ ka’utuluká/ sula kumubla. ‘If the tree fell, it would kill him.’
Muti/ kawa unt^hbulukilile/ sula kuwa unublele. ‘If the tree had fallen on me, it would have killed me.’
Muti/ kawa utulushilé/ sula kuwa umublele. ‘If the tree had fallen, it would have killed him.’ Or: Muti/ sula kuwa umublele/ kawa utulushilé. ‘The tree would have killed me if it had fallen.’
Mwiingine/ chihada/ la/ sichimuble/ walá/ sichimrude chisimaani.
‘Another one said: no, let us not kill him, neither let us return back into the well.’
Nakubla. ‘He is killing (someone, something).’ (The Chijini form of this word demonstrates that b is not part of the onset to the final syllable, since it fails to participate in the fronting of the final syllable of the word: lanákub.)
Nimwubleeyi. ‘How should I kill him?’
Nk^hbuku/ hamubli/ mwank^hukuwe. ‘A hen does not kill its chick.’ (A proverb.)
Noka/ chimwaambila/ nimubleeyi/ ye/ sulile kunublaa mi/ leelo. ‘The snake said to her: how should I kill him? Today he wanted (tried) to kill me.’
Nublele noká/ kaa luti. ‘I killed a snake with a stick.’ (This example represents the most neutral pronunciation of the sentence, indicating a lack of any internal focus/ emphasis. Note that the final accent triggered by the verb extends all the way to the end of the verb phrase. One can, of course, put contrastive emphasis on the post-verbal element, in which case the final accent does not extend past it: Nublelee noká/ kaa luti. ‘It was a snake (not anything else) that I killed with a stick.’ The instrument can also be put in post-verbal position, with the final accent similarly stopping at that point: Nublele kaa luti/ noka. ‘It was a snake (not anything else) that I killed with a stick.’) Sultaani/ chimwamura Abdalla/ keendra/ kumwubla siimba/ oyo. ‘The sultan ordered Abdalla to go and kill that lion.’
Takinubla. ‘He will kill you (pl.)’
Waant^hu/ watumubla. ‘People will kill him.’
Watatuwe/ ka paapo/ mp^haka/ chiwabla. ‘At the same time, the cat killed all three of them (rats).’
Watiyile sultaani/ kuwabla. ‘They were afraid for the sultan to kill them.’

(The form kuwabla is employing a stem shape -bla rather than -ubla. If the latter stem form were being used, then the object marker wa would be separated from the stem-initial vowel by a glottal stop: kuwa'ubla.)

rel.

k-ublana v. rec. [Sw. uana SSED 484] kill one another; [pron. kuɓlana]

k-ubleka v. p/s. able to be killed; [pron. kuɓleka]

k-ublela v. appl. [Sw. ulia SSED 484] kill with, for; [pron. kuɓlela]

Hamadi/ mwubulele mwaana/ mp^haka. ‘Hamadi killed the child’s cat.’ (In this example, we see a common use of the benefactive applied verb – it expresses a relationship between the logical direct object and the “benefactive” object, the child in this case. In the present instance, the action is actually to the child’s detriment. This use of the construction would not be appropriate if there were no relationship between the child and the cat. However, there is another meaning available; namely, Hamadi killed the cat “for” the child – e.g., the child was supposed to kill the cat and Hamadi did the killing for him, or the child wanted the cat dead and Hamadi did the deed.)

Jisaa ye/ ubulelo mbuziyá/ naayé/ na’ubloowa. ‘The way that he killed my lamb, he too should be killed.’

k-ubuleloowa v. appl. pass. (ubulelela) [pron. kuɓleloowa]

Luti ili/ lubulelelaa noka. ‘By means of this stick the snake was killed.’ (The subject marker on the verb shows clearly that this is a personal passive where k-ubloowa v. pass. [Sw. uawa SSED 484] be killed; [pron. kuɓloowa]

Amá/ we/ takulawa/ ka apa/ laakini/ takubloowa/ takhutundrikowa wa mutiini/ naa nyunyú/ staakuja/ karka ongoyo. ‘As for you, you will leave from here (prison), but you will be killed and you will be hung from a tree and birds will eat from your brains.’

Basi/ mbwa/ chimtokomeza mp^huundra/ kubloowa/ na mbwa wa maduuri. ‘So the dog left the donkey to be killed by the wild dog.’

Basi/ muke/ chilawa/ masku/ chendra wowiini/ kumtalaa noka/ ubulela. ‘So the woman went out at night to go to the river to pick up the snake that had been killed.’

karka we/ nakuɓloowá ‘while you are being killed’

Mooyi/ chihada/ natukuloowa/ na’endroowa/ na’ubloowa. ‘One (person) said: let him be taken and be gone away with and be killed.’

Munt^hu uyu/ naayé/ ubulelaayi/ ubulela lamna gani. ‘This man, how was he killed? He was killed in what manner?’

Mzele Simsini/ chamura sul^tani/ uyu/ kubloowa. ‘Old Simsini ordered this sultan to be killed.’

Nt^hume/ hawɓloowi. ‘A messenger is not killed.’ (A proverb.)

We/ takubloowa. ‘You will be killed.’

Yubulela noka/ kaa luti. ‘There was killing of the snake with a stick.’ (A passive form such as this is ambiguous as to whether the [cl.9] subject marker i (which here appears in its pre-vocalic form as y) is agreeing with the [cl.9] noka, in which case we are dealing with a personal passive form, or whether the subject marker is indicative of an impersonal passive, which employs [cl.9] agreement as well. Examples like the following more clearly establish the structure as being that of an impersonal passive: Yubulela minoka/ miingi/ kaa luti. ‘There was killing of many (aug.) snakes with a stick.’ A [cl.4] noun such as minoka would have ya as an agreeing subject marker.)

rel. nom.

m-ubla n. [Sw. mwua SSED 484] killer; [pron. muɓla]

m-ublo n. 3 the act of killing; [pron. muɓlo]

w-ublo n. 14 the act of killing; [pron. wuɓlo]

uudi

n. 14 [Sw. udi “aromatic aloe wood – used for fumigation” SSED 468] imported aromatic wood which comes in little splinters and is burnt on religious and festive occasions to fumigate clothes, incense uudi/ wa suukari ‘a concoction of sugar, perfume, and resins used to fumigate clothes and rooms’

Wake/ wachilawa hiiði/ hu’uunsata ka bakhuuri/ na uudi. ‘When women finish their period, they fumigate with incense.’

k-uuḏa	v. [Sw. udhi SSED 487] make suffer, give a hard time, disturb, annoy, molest Mbuzi wa Hamadi/ masku mazima/ nakuwa'uḏa waant^hu/ nakubigaa nk^heje/ mbée mbée mbée. 'Hamadi's goat is disturbing people the whole night, it is making noise mbee mbee mbee.' rel. k-uuḏika v. p/s. (uḏishile) be disturbed, troubled, annoyed, uneasy k-uḏikila v. p/s. appl. be worried about, for k-uuḏisha v. caus. bother, trouble, annoy someone mambo ya mwana uje/ yanuḏishiizó 'the behavior of that child that annoyed me' – cf. the subject prefix on the relative verb is in agreement with maambo and not mwaana Mwana uje/ maamboye/ yanuḏishiize. 'That child's behavior annoyed me.' Nambila inakhuuḏishó. 'Tell me what is troubling you.' Ni mambo ya mwana uje/ yanuḏishiizó. 'It is the behavior of that child that annoyed me.' k-uḏishiliza v. caus. appl. rel. nom. ma-'uḏiko n. 6 ma-'uḏisho n. 6
m-uuḏi (w-)	adj. 1/2 bothersome, troublesome, annoying, devilish Kilaa muunt^hu/ nayo muuḏiye. 'Every one has his devil/troublemaker.' (A proverb.)
uḏhiya	n. slaughtering an animal during the performance of the pilgrimage and the meat given to the poor when this is done uḏhiya wakht^hiwe chisala iid [st.] 'the time of slaughtering is when one says the prayers of iid.'
uḏiya	n. trouble, annoyance, nuisance, burden khfanya uḏiya 'to annoy, trouble, make difficult Umi/ mwambile mwanashkewe/ we/ hufanya uḏiya/ haṭá/ khfula ziguwo/ habamooyi. 'Umi told her daughter: you make it difficult, even if you wash just a few clothes (e.g. you lament, complain about it)' Mp^hana/ ni chihayawaani/ chihaba/ huchileteloo dhibu/ na uḏiyá. 'A rat is a small animal who brings to us harm and nuisance.' Muunt^hu/ uḏiyaye/ hamwaandiki/ walaaliwe. 'One does not put one's burdens on his brother.' Nini/ we/ khtala uḏiya/ uyu/ wote/ ka wee peeke. 'Why do you take all this trouble alone?' sinoonye uḏiya we ndiwe nuuruza [song] 'don't show me annoyance/ nuisance, you are my light'
uuḏu	n. [Sw. udhu "state of ceremonial purity" SSED 488] ablution; state of purity Ba'adi ya maḏhabu/ ya islaamu/ huhada/ mubli/ chimdaraa muke/ uuḏu/ huvuundika. 'Some Islamic schools say that if a man touches a woman, it nullifies ablution.' khtala uuḏu 'to make ablutions (prior to praying) Muunt^hu/ laazimu/ khtala uuḏu/ qabla yaa sala. 'One must take ablution before praying.' kuwa nayo uuḏu 'to be in a state of purity (and therefore able to pray) Muunt^hu/ laazimu/ kuwanayo uuḏu/ khabla yaa sala. 'One must have one's ablutions before praying.' Munt^hu nayo uuḏu/ haṭalami/ khsala. 'The person who has ritual cleanliness does not fear prayer.' (A proverb.) Sala/ bila ya uuḏu/ ha'isihi. 'Praying without ablution is not approved/not accepted.' (A proverb.)

uð(u)ri

n. 14, 9/10 excuse; sickness, disease

kudara uðuri ‘to give, make, have an excuse’; also: kudariḷa uðuru, kudarowa uðuri

Dafa/ wamuzizopo ka khisani/ ye/ nt^hanakendra kanisaani/ ye/ darile uðuri/ hadiile/ kuwa miimba/ inamlaaza. ‘When the kites asked him why he was not going to church, he gave an excuse and said that his stomach was aching him.’

Hamadi/ nt^haakuya/ karkaa shiri/ darile uðuri ‘Hamadi did not come to the meeting, he sent an excuse.’

Kiḷaa wakhti/ kudarowa uðuri/ chiza kuyoowa/ shiriini/ hayiinfi/ ni udokhani. ‘To every time make excuses not to come to meetings does not work, it is foolishness.’

Leelo/ shiriini/ Hasani/ nt^hakuuya/ darile uðuri/ mwaanawe/ hakhaadiri. ‘Today Hasani did not come to the meeting; he gave the excuse that his child is sick.’

Omari/ tozele sababu/ ya ka kalila/ kudariḷa uðuri/ yaa ye/ nt^hakuuyá/ skoḷaani. ‘Omari lacked a valid reason for why he did not come to school.’

Sungura/ chidara uðuri/ chiwalata wawili waawo/ apo. ‘Rabbit excused himself and left both of them there.’

manyala ya mubli henna hizoowa/ khpaka bila udhuri hureboowa [st.] ‘it is also forbidden for a man to apply henna to his nails, he should not do so without a valid excuse’

Peetepi/ uðuri uyu. ‘Where did you get this disease?’

uðuri izi ‘these excuses’ (In this example uðuri is treated as a [cl.10] nominal, as shown by the izi form of the demonstrative.)

uðuri niingi ‘many excuses’ (In this example uðuri is treated as a [cl.10] nominal, as shown by the initial n- agreement on -iingi.)

Uðuriwe/ nt^hawkhubaloowa. ‘His excuses are not accepted.’ (This examples provides an example where the noun uðuri is treated as a [cl.14] noun. This is shown by the use of the possessive enclitic =w-e, where the w is [cl.14] agreement, in contrast to the example below where a [cl.9] agreement is used: =y-e. It is also shown by the w subject marking on the negative verb nt^hawqubaloowa.)

Uðuriye/ nini. ‘His sickness (or his excuse) is what?’ (In this example, uðuri is treated as a [cl.9] nominal, as shown by the y agreement in the possessive enclitic.)

rel.

uðurdaari n. excuse

Kiḷaa mara/ si/ hukasa uðurdaari/ yiyo. ‘Every time we hear the same excuse.’

uf

ideo. [Som. uf “to emit a bad odour, to stink”, cited in Dhoorre & Tosco, p. 156, with the example uf buu yiri “he farted (without noise)”] of a bad smell

Omari/ hadiile/ nama iyi/ inakununk^ha lvuundro/ uf!/ inatawanyoowa. ‘OmarI said: his meat is smelling bad, uf! it should be thrown away.’

Uf/ ishuziyo/ inakunuunk^ha. ‘Uf! Your fart smells bad.’

ufishaale

n. officer

Dakhtari/ Wilson/ na ufishaale/ Bowers/ kaa dhibu/ na ta’abú/ wa’ineenzele/ sku nne ziingine. ‘Dr. Wilson and Officer Bowers with difficulty and hardship walked for another four days.’ accent

k-ufkuka

v. intr. [cf. Sw. fukukua SSED 102] (ufkushile) be dug up, broken up; be coming loose (of stones, bricks in a wall, because not cemented together)

rel.

kh-kufkulila v. tr. appl. dig up with, for Chufkulila nt^huundru. ‘He began to dig a hole with his paw.’

kh-kufkulilana v. tr. appl. rec.

kh-fukuḷoowa v. pass.

Mukhta khabri/ imalizo kufkuḷoowá/ sulṭaani/ chimwambila mgarwa/haye/ ingila. ‘When the grave was finished being dug up, the sultan said to the fisherman: well, then, get in.’

k-ufkula v. tr. [cf. Sw. fukua SSED 102; kufkua, a metathesized form such as is found in Chimiini, occurs in the “Word List to the Epic of the Gospel” by M.E. Mnyampala and Dr. Jan Knappert in the journal Swahili 34.1 (1964), p. 84] (ufkiile) dig up s.t. buried variant form: khfukula

Chanza kufkulaa nṭhi/ ka kuuluye. ‘He began to dig up the ground with his paw.’

karkaa ye/ nakufkuló ‘while he was digging up’

Sku yaa saba/ mtaana/ oyo/ chufkula khabri. ‘On the seventh day that servant dug up the grave.’

Sultani ðaalimu/ chiwatuma/ khadimuze/ chiwapa miyeembe/ chiwa’ambila/ keendra/ kufkula khabri/ ya waawaye. ‘The unjust sultan sent his servants and gave them hoes and told them to go to dig up the grave of his father.’

Kuḷa ba’ada ya sku habamó/ ye/ hufkula iboholi/ histomola peesa/ hiziwalaanga/ na chimalizapó/ hiziruda peesa/ iboholiini/ na hu’izumbiza iboholi. ‘Always after a few days, he would dig up the hole and take out the money and count it, and when he had finished, he would return the money to the hole and cover up the hole [with sand].’

Maskumó/ maskiini/ mwene muunṭhu/ nakufkula iboholi/ nṭhini yaa muti/ walá/ ye/ nṭhakumtaambula/ waliko naani. ‘One night the poor man saw a man digging up a hole under a tree and neither did he recognize who it was.’

kh-fukulafukula ‘to scratch the earth (action of chicken that unearths food by scratching soil)’

k-ufkulika v. tr. p/s. able to be dug k-ufkulisha v. tr. caus.

k-ufu

v. (uftiile) invent lies; give an interpretation of the Quran or to the sayings of Mohammad

Nṭhakufta. ‘He did not invent lies.’ (Evidence that the f in this example is a coda consonant is provided by the secret language Chijini, where the final syllable of a word is transposed to the beginning of the word. The Chijini version of the present example is [ṭanṭhákuf].)

rel.

k-ufuowa v. pass.

hadilo ni mtume siwo kufuowa [sṭ.] ‘the one who said this is the Prophet and it is not lies [created by people other than the Prophet]’

Ugaandra

n. Uganda

Ra’iisi/ wa Ugaandra/ Iidi/ Amiini/ wa’ambiile/ wanakhabari/ ya kuwa Ugaandra/ takuwachiimbiza/ wangereenza/ wotte/ wamo karka muuyi/ mp̣hiindri/ raadiyo/ ya BBC/ ichiza kuḷaṭa/ khfaafisha/ ishaa’aaṭi/ ðiddi/ yaa nṭhi/ ya Ugaandra. ‘The president of Uganda, Iidi Amiini, told reporters that Uganda would evict all Englishmen who are in the country if the radio of the BBC refuses to stop broadcasting lies against the country of Uganda.’

rel.

m-gaandra n. 1/2 an Ugandan

Iidi/ Amiini/ ra’iisi/ ya Ugaandra/ tomeele/ amri/ ya kuwa killa/ mgaandra/ ni laazima/ kubarata/ khtumila bundukhu. ‘Iidi Amiin, president of Uganda, issued an order that every Ugandan must learn to use a rifle.’

uje

[cl.1] demonstrative (cf. Sw. yule) someone away from speaker and addressee (It should be noted that uje in post-nominal position is used as a demonstrative, e.g. munṭhu uje ‘that man’, while in pre-nominal position it identifies the referent of the noun as being previously identified, e.g. uje mukeewe ‘the wife of his previously mentioned’.

Chimwambila ujee noka. ‘She told that (previously mentioned) snake.’ (Note that in this example, the noun noka governs [cl.1] agreement both in terms of the OM on the verb and the choice of the demonstrative.)

Humlazima kumwolakela/ uje tamviiló. ‘It is a must for him to go to whomever calls him.’

Isa/ mpishi/ uje walimo habasaani/ na Yuusufú/ na isá/ rudilila kaaziye/ shkuumbuka/ chimkumbuka Yuusufu. ‘Now the cook who was in prison with Joseph and now he had been returned to his job, he remembered, he remembered Joseph.’

leelo/ uje takhuwonó ‘today anyone who sees you’

Muná/ uje hu’isho Mkhodiishó/ ni mwaalimu. ‘My younger same-sex sibling, the one who lives in Mogadishu, is a teacher.’

Munt’u uje/ chilaala/ paapo/ apo/ maduriini. ‘That man slept in the very same place in the country/bush.’

Munt’u uje/ si/ chinamwiiwá/ kol’koo we. ‘That man we know him better than you.’

Mwana uje/ ile. ‘That boy (over there) came.’ (cf. Uje mwaana/ ile. ‘The boy (we were discussing) came.’)

Mwana uje/ ni chigobe. ‘That boy is short.’

mwana/ uje oloshelo numbaani ‘the child, the one who went home’ (The relative clause construction illustrated here – namely, a full NP phrasally separated from a co-referential demonstrative -- has a mwaana/ uje wa mwaalimu/ mbishiló ‘the child, that one whom the teacher hit’ or mwana uje/ wa mwaalimu/ mbishiló ‘that child, the one whom the teacher hit’)

Nnamwiiwá/ uje munt’u iló. ‘I know the man who has come.’

Sa’iidi/ chiruuda/ numbaani/ ka ujee muke. ‘Sa’iidi returned home to the woman (mentioned earlier).’

Uje mukeewe/ chimwaambila/ mubliwá/ we/ leelo/ we/ takubloowa. ‘That wife of his told him: my husband, you will be killed today.’

Uje mwaana/ naakuja/ naakuja/ tu/ attá/ chimaliza/ chilawa. ‘The boy just ate and ate until he finished and then left.’

Uje taajiri/ chiiza. ‘That rich man refused.’

Uje taakuwó/ na’oloke. ‘Whoever it be, let him go.’

Uje/ yaweeje/ sultani uje/ kuwa uyu/ tambiiile. ‘That one was astonished, that sultan, that this one (in the story, another sultan) could differentiate (between the two goats).’

uje

[cl.3] demonstrative [cf. Sw. ule]

Msaḷa uje/ ni mnasha. ‘That mat is smooth.’

mṭana uje ‘that room’

Muti uje/ ni chigobe. ‘That tree is short.’

ujo

[cl.1] demonstrative (This demonstrative was not known to GM.)

Hasani/ shpandra mp^huundra/ ujo. ‘Hasani rode that donkey.’

ujubu

n. [Ar. ‘ujb W 591] pride, vanity

Hukoḍo ujubú/ akhiriye/ huḍulika. ‘The one who talks with pride/vanity, finally is humiliated.’ (A proverb.)

kibri na aariya na ujbu [st.] ‘arrogance, wordly (lit. temporary) things and vanity’

w-ujuudi

n. 14 existence

ukhda

n. [Som. cugda DSI 109; Ar. ‘uqda W 628] bad feelings

Muunt’u/ siwo/ suura/ kumshikila ukhda/ walaaliwe/ suura/ kumwambila lila.

‘It is not good to keep bad feeling of your brother, it is good to tell the truth.’

Omari/ nayo ukhda/ na Ali/ nt'angú/ wana waawo/ wajaniló. 'Omari is having bad feelings about Ali ever since their children fought.'

ukhuba

n. hardship, curse, bad

Ukhuba/ numbáani/ ajiri/ ibanyaani. 'At home, bad [behavior], outside, good [behavior].' (A proverb, commenting on someone who is very poorly behaved at home, but outside the home everyone thinks he is wonderful etc.)

uki

n. honey

Basi/ bakayle/ chiya/ naayé/ tukilo uki. 'Well, Hare came carrying honey.'

lada/ kana uki 'as sweet as honey'

Mtuungi/ uyele uki. 'The clay pot was filled with honey.'

Shtaala/ bakyle/ chimpaa ndovu/ uki habamó. 'The hare took and gave the elephant a little honey.'

Uki/ huzaaló/ nyoki. 'Honey is produced by bees [lit. honey, who produces it (is) bees].' (In a sentence such as this, nyoki is a predicate noun, as shown by the fact that it may be preceded by the copular ni:

Uki/ huzaaló/ nii nyoki.)

Uki/ nii dawa. 'Honey is a remedy.'

Uki/ uwaliko mlada. 'The honey was sweet.'

Uki/ uyele mtuungi. 'The honey filled the clay pot.'

ukuje

[cl. 16] demon. [Sw. kule] over there (far from speaker and hearer)

Chendra ka ukuje/ chiwonaa mbuzi/ mooyi/ fiile. 'He went there (to some unspecified place) and he saw a dead goat (lit. goat one he died).'

Chibuuku/ chiko ukuje. 'The book is over there somewhere.'

maskiini/ ukuje 'the poor man over there'

Mbeshele ukujé. 'I put it there away from us.' (One can also use apaje in this example.)

Mi/ ndrasilé/ badiikhi/ ukuje/ khabriini. 'I left the melons there at the grave.'

Olokani ka ukuje/ tezaani. 'Go somewhere there and play!'

Ukuje/ washpata mawiindo/ ya khtosha. 'There they found sufficient prey.'

ukunu

[cl.17] demon. [cf. Sw. huku] here (close to the speaker) (This demonstrative, used by GM, is not known to GM.)

Chibuuku/ chiko ukunu. 'The book is here somewhere.'

Chiko ukunu/ mahaala/ mweepe. 'It's here somewhere.'

ujillaahi

in the phrase:

ka ujillaahi 'with truth, honesty'

Muunt^h/ chinendra ka ujillaahi/ haawoni/ dhibu. 'If one behaves with truth, he does not see problems.'

-ul/-ola recurring stem formative without any identifiable semantic characterization kholola 'to cough'

khpangula 'to cancel, erase' khpapula 'to break off a portion' khpasula 'to skin an animal'

khpotola 'to bend'

khpumula 'to rest'

khtomola 'ay, take out'

khtukula 'to carry'

khtamaayula 'to move back and forth'

khtaambula 'to understand'

Koondrola 'to lift up, wake up' kuvuumbula 'to revive a fire'

- kuwaangula ‘to hatch’
- ul/-ol- a recurring stem formative indicating a transitive verb that pairs with an intransitive formative -uk/-ok-
- khpiindula ‘to turn s.t. over’ khpiinduka ‘to turn over’
- ch-uula (z-) n. 7/8 [Sw. chura (vyura) SSED 66] frog Chuula/ chimo mayiini. ‘The frog is in the water.’
Chuula/ hukhadira kumub^hlaa ndrovu/ humingila mp^hulaani. ‘The frog can kill an elephant (by) entering into the elephant’s nose.’
Chuula/ masku/ hubigaa nk^heje. ‘A frog makes noises at night.’
Huna maayi/ kana chuula. ‘He drinks water like a frog (i.e. he drinks a lot of water).’
kuna maayi/ zaaydi/ ya chuula ‘to drink water more than a frog (i.e. drink a lot of water)’
- k-uula v. [cf. gula in the Mijikenda languages, but the cognate for this verb does not seem to be used in Swahili, which employs the verb nunua for “buy”] (uzile) buy Abunuwaasi/ sku mooyi/ sulile kula mp^huundra. ‘One day Abunuwaasi wanted to buy a donkey.’
Ali/ uzile gari ya Nuuru. ‘Ali bought Nuuru’s truck.’
Faatma/ yuuzile. ‘Faatma bought it (e.g. a dress).’ (A right-dislocated variant is possible: Yuuzile/ Faatma. The prosody of this sentence indicates the dislocated nature of Faatma. Specifically, there is a slight pause separating it from the verb, and the pitch seems to be more radically dropped than is the case when we are not dealing with right dislocation. The corresponding yes-no question indicates that the right-dislocated subject is out-of-focus: Yuuzile/ Faatma? The shift of the accent to the final syllable of Faatma is characteristic of out-of-focus phrases in yes-no questions. Returning to the statement version, it should be noted that the right-dislocated subject cannot be wrapped into the same phrase as the verb: Yuzile Faatma.)
Faatma/ yuzile haanzu. ‘Faatma bought the dress.’ (Cf. Faatma/ uzile haanzu. ‘Faatma bought a dress.’ (The presence of an object prefix in agreement with haanzu indicates a definite object.) (As above, right-dislocation of the subject is possible, with the dislocated subject being located clause-finally: Yuzile haanzu/ Faatma. ‘(She) bought the dress, Faatma.’ Again, the prosody – slight pause in front of Faatma and the radical pitch lowering -- indicate the dislocated status of the subject, and the yes-no question confirms its out-of-focus status: Yuzile haanzu/ Faatma? ‘Did she buy the dress, Faatma?’)
Fatuura/ uzile/ Tuuma. ‘A car, she has bought, Tuuma.’ (Cf. the simple yes-no question: Fatuura/ uzile/Tuumá?) ^fFatuura/ uziló/ Omari/ mwaanawe. ‘The car he bought it, Omari’s son.’ Cf. the simple yes-no question: Fatuura/ uziló/ Omari/ mwaanawé?
^fFatuura/ uziló/ ye. ‘The car he bought, he.’ (The postposed subject in this example is radically lowered in pitch. The simple yes-no question, on the other hand, raises the pitch on the postposed subject: Fatuura/ uziló/ ye? GM did not offer an emphatic yes-no question version for a sentence of this sort.)
gari yaa mi/ nuzilo ka do^oooré... ‘the car that I bought from a doctor...’ (Cf. do^oore waa mi/ nuzilo gaarí/ (ka) kaaké... ‘the doctor whom I bought a car from him...’ Note that resumptive pronoun kaake is obligatory in this construction: do^oore waa mi/ nuzilo gaarí/ (ká)...)
Haaji/ uzile fatuura. ‘Haaji bought a car’ (The corresponding yes-no question involves just Q-Raising: Haaji/ uzile fatuura? The exclamatory yes-no question shifts the accent of the final phrase: Haaji/ uzile fatuurâ!?)
Haliima/ uzile chibuuku. ‘Haliima bought the book.’ Or: Haliima/ uzilo chibuukú. ‘(It is) Haliima (who) bought the book.’
Haliima/ tu/ uzilo chibuukú. ‘Only Haliima/ bought a book.’ Cf. Haliima/ uzile zibuuku/ tu. ‘Haliima bought only books.’ Cf. Zibuuku/ tu/ Haliima/

- uziló. ‘(It is) only books (that) Haliima bought.’
- Jaama/ uzilee nama/ tinzile kaa chisu. ‘Jama bought meat (and) cut it with a knife.’ (Putting the second verb into the instrumental applied kachula gaari ‘if we (had) bought a car’ (Note that one cannot put focus on the verb in such a sentence by making it phrase-final: kachuulá/ gaari. Using an overt subject pronoun apparently would give emphasis: si/ kachula gaari ‘if we (had) bought the car’.)
- Maama/ choloka sukhuuni/ chulaa mbuzi/ shtindaa mbuzi/ shfanya karamu/ nk^hulu. ‘Mother went to the market (and) bought a goat (and) slaughtered the goat (and) made a large feast.’
- Mwaanawe/ uzile fatuura/ 'Omari. ‘His son bought a car, Omari’s.’ Cf. simple yes-no question: Mwaanawe/ uzile fatuura/ Omari?
- Mi/ nuzile nama yaa mbuzi. ‘I bought goat meat.’ (It is interesting that MI rejected putting focus on the head of the associative phrase in this case: Mi/ nuzilee namá/ yaa mbuzi. ‘I bought the meat of a goat.’ Perhaps his rejection of this pronunciation is the absence of a context which makes it appropriate to focus on meat in the expression nama yaa mbuzi.)
- Naani/ uzilo chibuukú. ‘Who bought a book?’ (But if the verb is also focused: Naani/ uziló/ chibuuku.)
- Nt^hanakuula. ‘He is not buying.’
- Nuumba/ nii nk^hulu/ ya Omari/ uziló. ‘The house is large that Omari bought.’ Possible, but less preferred, with the omission of the ya relative particle:
- Nuumba/ nii nk^hulu/ Omari/ uziló.
- ^fNuumba/ nk^hulu/ mi/ nuuziló. ‘A large house I bought.’ Or: Nuumba/ nk^hulu/ ^fmi/ uziló. ‘A large house I bought.’
- ^fNuumba/ nk^hulu/ Omari/ uziló. ‘A large house Omari bought.’ Or: Ni nuumba/ nk^hulu/ Omari/ uziló. ‘It is a large house that Omari bought.’
- Nuumba/ nk^hulu/ ^fOmari/ uziló. ‘A large house, Omari bought.’
- Nuumba/ nk^hulu/ Omari/ uziló. ‘A large house Omari bought.’
- Nuumba/ nk^hulu/ uziló/ Omari. ‘A large house, the one who bought it is Omari.’
- Nureeni/ uzile jaka iyo. ‘Nureeni bought that jacket.’ (This is a canonical sentence with downstep intonation. It is also possible to say: Nureeni/ uzile jaaka/ iyo. In this sentence, there seems to be some emphasis on iyó ‘that’. In this version of the sentence, jaaka is somewhat downstepped relative to the initial phrase Nureeni, but iyó is roughly at the same pitch level as jaaka.)
- Nureeni/ uzile/ jaka iyó? ‘Did Nureeni buy that jacket?’ Or: Nureeni/ uzile/ jaaká/ iyó? ‘ibid.’
- Nureeni/ uzile jaaka/ ya ghaali. ‘Nureeni bought an expensive jacket.’ (In this sentence, jaaka is somewhat downstepped relative to Nureeni, but jaaka and ya ghaali are at a similar pitch level.)
- Nuzile chibuukú. ‘I bought a book.’ Cf. Nichuzile chibuukú. ‘I bought the book.’ Or: Nichuuzilé/ chibuuku. ‘I bought the book.’
- Nuuzilé/ chibuuku. ‘I bought a book.’
- Nuzile gaari/ ka dotooré. ‘I bought a car from a doctor.’
- Omari/ chuuzile. ‘Omari bought it.’
- Omari/ mwaanawe/ uzile fatuura. ‘Omari’s son bought a car.’ Or with verb focus: Omari/ mwaanawe/ uzile/ fatuura. The two simple yes-no questions corresponding to these are Omari/ maanawe/ uzile fatuura? and Omari/ mwaanawe/ uzile/ fatuurá?
- Omari/ uzile fatuura/ 'mwaanawe. ‘Omari he bought a car, his son’ Cf. the simple yes-no question: Omari/ uzile fatuura/ mwaanawé?
- Omari/ uzile nuumba/ nk^hulu. ‘Omari bought a large house.’
- ^fOmari/ uzilo numbaa nk^hulú. ‘Omari bought the large house.’
- Omari/ uzile shati gani. ‘Which shirt did Omari buy?’ (A possible answer: Omari/ uzile shati iyo. ‘Omari bought that shirt.’ (Even though shati iyo is replacing the focused phrase shati gani, it is not the case that there is pitch raising on shati iyo, just as there is no pitch raising on shati gani.)
- Omari/ uzile/ shati iyó? ‘Did Omari buy that shirt?’ (A possible answer: Ee/ uzile/ shati iyo. ‘Yes, he bought that shirt.’)
- Osmaani/ uzile fatuura/ yana/ uziló. ‘Osmaani bought a car yesterday, he did.’

Suulé/ faṭura iyo. ‘Don’t buy that car!’
Sule faṭura iyó/ tu. ‘(Buy anything else, but just) don’y buy that car!’
Suuléni/ mi. ‘What should I not buy?’
Tuuma/ ^ffaṭuura/ uziló. ‘Tuuma, a car, she bought.’
Tuuma/ uzile faṭuura. ‘Tuuma bought a car.’ (Cf. Tuuma/ uzile faṭuura? ‘Did Tuuma buy a car? Tuuma/ uzile faṭuurâ!?) Ulá. ‘Buy!’
Uzile faṭuura/ Tuuma. ‘She bought a car, Tuuma.’ (Cf. Uzile faṭuura/ Tuumá? ‘She bought a car, did Tuuma?’ Uzile faṭuurá/ Tuumâ!?)
Uzile faṭuura/ ye. ‘Has bought a car, he.’ (Cf. Uzile faṭuura/ ye? ‘Has bought a car, he?’ Uzile faṭuurá/ ye!?) Uzile jaaká. ‘You bought a jacket.’
Uzilé/ jaaká? ‘Did you buy a jacket?’ (A possible answer: Ā’ā/ skuula/ jaaka/ nuzile shaatí. ‘No, I did not buy a jacket, I bought a shirt.’ Another possible answer: Ee/ nuzile jaaká/ (na) nuzile shaatí. ‘Yes, I bought a jacket, and I also bought a shirt.’)
Uzile/ jaka iyó? ‘Did he buy that jacket?’ (A possible answer: Ā’ā/ nt^hakuula. ‘No, he didn’t buy it.’ Or: Ee/ uzile. ‘Yes, he did buy it.’)
Uzilee nama/ jiile. ‘He bought meat (and) ate it.’ (This example involves two actions in sequence with the same object. MI thought that it was acceptable, but not normal for the common action to be mentioned in only the second sentence: Uzile/ jiilee nama. ‘He bought (and) ate the meat.’)
Uzile shpandre chaa nguwo/ uziló. ‘He bought a piece of cloth, that’s what he did.’ Or: Uzile shpaandre/ uziló/ chaa nguwo. ‘He bought a piece, that’s what he did, of cloth.’
Uzilopo mp^huundrá/ chimpaandra/ choloka naaye/ kaake. ‘When he bought the donkey, he mounted it and went with it to his place.’
We/ uzile faṭuurá. ‘You bought a car.’
Ye/ hakhaadiri/ kulawaanganya/ want^hu watakuuló/ na want^hu hawatakuuló. ‘He cannot distinguish people who will buy from people who will not buy.’
Ye/ uzile faṭuura. ‘He has bought a car.’ (Cf. Ye/ uzile faṭuura? ‘Has he bought a car?’ Ye/ uzile faṭuurâ!?)
Ye/ waliko oloshole kuulani/ sukhuuni/ yana. ‘He had gone to buy what at the market yesterday?’ (A possible answer: Ye/ waliko oloshole kulaa nama/ sukhuuni/ yana. ‘He had gone to buy meat at the market yesterday.’)
rel.
k-uulila v. appl. (uliile) buy for, with Ali/ muliile naani/ gaari. ‘Ali bought a car for whom?’
Baana/ uliile gaari/ motoree mp^hiya. ‘Baana bought a new engine for the car.’
Chisu cha Baana/ nuliiló/ ni shkalii nt^ho. ‘The knife that Baana bought for me is very sharp.’
^fFaṭuura/ nimwuliilo mwaanawá. ‘A car I bought for my son.’ Or with verb focus as well: ^fFaṭuura/ nimwuliiló/ mwaanawa.
Huseeni/ mwuliile=ni/ Nuura. ‘What did Huseeni buy for Nuura?’ A possible response to this question would be: Huseeni/ mwuliile chibuuku/ Nuura. ‘Huseeni bought a book for Nuura.’
Maama/ shkhiira/ chiwa’ambila/ kuwaa ye/ tamwuliila mp^huundra napate khtukuliila skunyi. ‘Mother agreed and told them that she would buy for him (her son) a donkey so that he might carry firewood.’
^fMwaanawa/ nimuliilo faṭuurá. ‘My son I bought a car for him.’ Or with verb focus as well: ^fMwaanawa/ nimwuliiló/ faṭuura.
^fMi/ nimwuliilo mwaanawá/ faṭuurá. Or even better: Ndimi/ nimwuliilo mwaanawá/ faṭuurá. ‘It is me who bought my son a car.’
Muliile luzi/ na shpandre chaa nguwo/ muliiló. ‘He bought for him thread and a piece of cloth, that’s what he did.’ Or: Muliile luzi/ muliiló/ na shpandre chaa nguwo. ‘He bought for him thread, that’s what he did, and a piece of cloth.’ Or: Muliile luzi/ na

- shpaandré/ muliiló/ chaá nguwo. ‘He bought for him thread and a piece, that’s what he did, of cloth.’
- Mzele mulilo Hasani/ sanduukhú/ oloshéle. ‘The old man who bought a box for Hasani left.’ (cf. Mzeele/ mulile Hasani/ sanduukhu. ‘The old man bought a box for Hasani.’)
- Nimulile^f fatuurá/ maanawa. ‘I bought a car for my son.’ Cf. without focus: Nimulile fatuurá/ mwaanawá.
- Nimulile mwaaná/ gaarí/ ka dotóoré. ‘I bought for the child a car from the doctor.’
- Nimulile mwaaná/ gaarí/ ka dotóoré/ ka pesa zaa mi/ nt^heto (ka) bangiini. ‘I bought a car for the child with money that I took from the bank.’
- Nimulile mwaanwá/ fatuurá. ‘I bought a car for my son.’ Or, with verb focus: Nimulilé/ mwaanawa/ fatuura. ‘I bought for my son a car.’ (When there is focus on the verb, the final accent cannot cross into the complements, the effect of the Accentual Law of Focus.)
- Nimulile^f mwaanawá/ fatuura. ‘I bought for my son a car.’ Or with emphasis on fatuura in situ: Nimulile mwaanawá/ fatuurá.)
- Nt^haná/ pesa zaa ye/ kulilaa nguwo. ‘He does not have money to buy clothes with.’
- Nuuru/ ulile mlaango/ khufuli. ‘Nuuru bought for the door a lock’ (It is not common to have the verb agree with the inanimate beneficiary, but it is possible: Nuuru/ wulile mlaango/ khufli., but agreement with the logical direct object is ungrammatical, whatever the word order: Nuuru/ yulile mlaango/ khufuli. or Nuuru/ yulile khufuli/ mlaango.)
- Omari/ mwulile^f fatuura/ mwaanawe. ‘Omari bought a car for his son.’ (In the simple-yes no question version of this sentence, there is accent shift on mwaanawe, which can be attributed to the out-of-focus nature of this NP: Omari/ mulile fatuura/ mwaanawé? In the exclamatory yes-no question, both of the last two phrases in this sentence undergo accent shift: Omari/ mwulile fatuurá/ mwaanawé!?)
- Omari/ muliile/ mwaanawe/ fatuura. ‘Omari bought for his son a car.’ (The separation of a verb from its complement indicates emphasis/focus on the verb. In such cases, the verb is always somewhat raised in pitch, not showing the typical downstep intonation found in Chimiini sentences. The pitch drop on the complement following a focused verb is clear. We do not provide any special annotation as in general, when the verb is phrase-final and separated prosodically from its complement, one can assume that the verb is raised in pitch and the complement significantly lowered.)
- Omari/ mulile^f mwaanawe/ fatuura. ‘Omari bought a car for his son.’ (In the preceding example, there was focus on the verb, which is accompanied by a raised pitch. There is no real necessity for marking this raised pitch in our transcriptions because the fact that the verb is at the end of a phrase is itself an indication that it is focused. But in the present example, mwaanawe is at the end of a phrase regardless of whether it is focused or not. We use the symbol ^f to indicate that mwaanawe is focused and thus has raised pitch. It is also possible to put special emphasis on fatuura, as well: Omari/ mwulile mwaanawe/ fatuurá.)
- Omari/ mulile mwaanawe/ fatuura. ‘Omari bought a car for his son.’ (This example represents what we refer to as a “canonical sentence”, which exhibits downstep intonation. The simple yes-no question involves no changes in the accentual pattern: Omari/ mulile mwaanawe/ fatuura? There is, however, in GM’s speech somewhat subtle raising of pitch, effectively cancelling out the downstep intonation of the statement. In MI’s speech, Q-Raising generally involves this same raising, but with the final accented syllable being especially raised and forming the pitch peak of the sentence. The result is that for the non-native speaker, MI's simple yes-no questions are much more obvious than GM's. Of course, native speakers presumably do not have any difficulty separating the statements from the questions! The exclamatory yes-no question involves a shift of accent in the final two phrases, i.e. the subject is unaffected: Omari/ mulile mwaanawé/ fatuura!?

There is evidence from GM's speech that the subject may undergo the accent shift, but it is unclear what conditions favor shift versus its absence. We lack data from MI on this point, as in the material that he collected, he used only monosyllabic pronominal subjects; these subjects of course do not allow us to examine their susceptibility to accent-shift. However, our data from MI does contain examples of sentence-initial non-subjects that do undergo accent-shift in the emphatic yes-no questions.)

Omari/ mulilo mwaanawé/ fatuurá. 'Omari (is the one who) bought a car for his son.' (The focus in this example is the subject Omari; the verb is put into the pseudo-relative clause shape.)

Peeza/ izi/ wazeele/ wa mwanaamke/ hulilaa chili. 'This money, the parents of the girl used to buy a bed.'

Peesa/ nulile gaarí. 'With money, I bought a car.' (Syn. This example from MI illustrates the fact that in his speech, left-dislocation does not trigger pseudo-relativization of the verb.)

Peesa/ nulile gaarí/ ka doṭooré. 'Money, I bought a car from the doctor with it.' (In the speech of MI, it is not favored for the instrument in the instrumental applied active verb to be located in post-verbal position. Thus for him a sentence like *?nulilile gaarí/ ka doṭooré/ peesá. is of questionable validity.)

Peesa/ uliilení. 'Using money, what did you buy?'

pesa zaa mi/ nulilo gaarí/ ka doṭooré... 'the money that I used to buy a car from the doctor...' (In MI's speech, the instrument in the instrumental applied active verb is disfavored in post-verbal position; the present sentence shows, however, that when the instrument is absent from post-verbal position due to its co-reference with the head of the relative clause, the sentence is grammatical.) (We should note that when the head is not the subject of the relative clause, and if the subject is not postposed, then the -a relative particle and an overt subject must be used. Thus it is not well formed to say pesa/ nulilo gaarí/ ka doṭooré... or pesa nulilo gaarí/ ka doṭooré...*)

Tuuma/ mulilee khori/ Omari. 'Tuuma bought a gun for Omari.' (The benefactive meaning in this example is stronger than a possessive interpretation: 'Tuuma bought Omari's gun.' One cannot, however, exclude the possibility of the possessive interpretation.)

Uyu/ ni maskiini/ nt^haná/ yaa ye/ kulila chiint^hu. 'This is a poor man, he has nothing with which to buy anything.'

Yulile ruuhuye/ zilatu. 'And so he bought the shoes.' (In this construction, involving the reflexive prefix i and the applied verb stem, there appears to be some variability as to whether the reflexive pronoun may be used in addition to the reflexive prefix. Our consultant MI preferred to include ruuhuye in this example, saying that it sounded odd to omit it. But at the same time he accepted Yulile zilatu/ yolokelele. 'And so he bought the shoes and went.') k-ulilana v. appl. rec. (-ulileene) buy for one another

Wa'ulilene zibuuku/ ka pesa zaa mi/ niwapeeló. 'They bought books for one another with money that I gave them.'

Wa'ulilene zibuuku/ peesa. 'They bought books for one another with money.' (Syn. The acceptability of the present sentence, where the applied reciprocal verb allows both a beneficiary argument and an instrumental argument, depends on there being focus on the logical object of ‘buy’. We indicate this focus by the superscript ^f in this example, although we have not usually encoded focus in our phonological representations. It is also possible to topicalize the instrument: Peesa/ wa’ulilene zibuuku. ‘Money, they used it to buy books for one another.’)

Waana/ wa’ulilene majuuu/ ya gaari. ‘The children bought for one another tires for the car.’

k-uliloowa v. appl. pass. (-ulila) be bought for, with Faatma/ ulila haanzu. ‘[Lit.] Faatma was bought for a dress.’ (In the corresponding simple yes-no question, there is simply Q-raising, i.e. haanzu is not subject to downstep intonation: Faatma/ ulila haanzu? ‘Was Faatma bought for a dress?’) (Emphasis can be placed on Faatma causing the verb to be in pseudo-relative form: Faatma/ ulila haanzú. ‘(It was) Faatma (who) was bought for a dress.’ This subject-focus is also possible when there is also emphasis on the verb: Faatma/ ulilá/ haanzu. ‘(It was) Faatma (who) was bought for a dress.’)

Fatuura/ ulila Omari/ ivundishile. ‘The car that was bought for Omari broke down.’ (Notice in this relative clause that the head, fatuura, is not separated from the relative clause by the relative particle -a since the subject of the relative clause has been postposed after the relative verb. It is important to note that the head is not the subject of the relative clause, as it is ungrammatical for the relative verb to have a subject marker in agreement with fatuura: Fatuura/ yulila Omari/ ivundishile.)

Gaari/ yulila motoree mp^hiya. ‘A new engine was bought for the car [lit. the car was bought for a new engine].’ (One does not say motoree mp^hiya/ yulila gaari. ‘A new engine was bought for the car.’)

Nuura/ nakulilowa chibuuku. ‘Nuura is being bought for a book [i.e. someone is buying a book for Nuura].’ Or, with verb focus: Nuura/ nakuliloowa/ chibuuku. ‘Nuura is being bought for a book.’

Omari/ ulila fatuura. ‘Omari was bought a car.’ Or: Omari/ ulila/ fatuura. Or, with right-dislocation of the subject: Ulila fatuura/ Omari. Or: Fatuura/ ulila Omari. (This word order and prosody, where the subject is postposed and phrased with the verb while the complement is left-dislocated, is a characteristic of passive verbs. It is possible in this type of structure to focus the preposed complement: Fatuura/ ulila Omari. The verb is put into pseudo-relative form when there is focus on the preposed complement.)

Pesa izi/ schisulowa kulilowa gaari. ‘This money was earmarked for a car to be bought (with it).’

k-uuloowa v. (uzila) be bought k-uulisha v. caus. (ulishiize) cause to buy

Baana/ mwulushize mwaana/ nama. ‘Baana caused the child to buy meat.’ (Syn. This verb is quite distinct from the verb -uza ‘sell’; it is used to refer to someone inducing the child to buy meat rather than selling him meat. There is, of course, a periphrastic version also: Baana/ mtile mwaana/ kulaa nama.)

k-ulishiliza v. caus. appl. (ulishiliize) cause to buy for, etc.

Baana/ mwulishilize Nureeni/ mwaana/ nama. ‘Baana caused Nureeni’s child to buy meat.’ (Syn. The periphrastic version of this: Baana/ mtilile Nureeni/ mwaana/ kulaa nama.)

k-ulishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. (-ulishilizeenye)

Baana/ na Nureeni/ wa’ulishilizenye waana/ nama. ‘Baana and Nureeni caused one another’s children to buy meat.’ (Syn. The periphrastic version of this sentence: Baana/ na Nureeni/ watililene waana/ kulaa nama.)

k-uuliza v. tr. appl. (uliize) sell to chimala naank^ho ka peesa takhuuliza [nt̩.] ‘then he will sell it back to you for money’ (This line from a poem is referring to the fact that when young men were captured and forced to join the army during the Said Barre era, their parents might be able to purchase their release -- which, of course, did not prevent them from being taken again later.)

Chiwa’uliza waant^hu/ wa muuyi. ‘He sold [e.g. meat] to the people of the town.’

Nuuru/ nulize gari ya Omaari. ‘Nuuru sold Omari’s car to me.’ (It should be emphasized that kuuza ‘to sell’ and its derivatives is a transitive verb and is not used as a true causative. Thus the present example does not mean ‘Nuuru made me buy Omaari’s car.’)

Oyo muunt^hu/ chimuuliza. ‘That person sold it to him.’

Sinuulizi/ kaa nguvu. ‘I will not sell it to you (pl.) by force (i.e. if you try to force me).’

Takunuuliza. ‘You will sell it to me.’ Or: Takunulizaa mi. ‘You will sell it to me.’

We/ takichulizaa si. ‘You will sell it to us.’ (Note the shift of the infinitive prefix ku to ki in front of the first person plural object marker ch-, from underlying chi-.)

k-ulizany(an)a v.caus. rec. (-ulizeenye, -ulizanyeene) sell to each other k-ulizany(an)ooowa v. caus. rec. pass. (-ulizeenya, -ulizanyeena)

k-ulizoowa v. caus. appl. pass. (uliiza) be sold for, to Mmamulaṭaa nt̩^hi/ tomele amri/ uje takuuyó/ kulizoowa/ chaakuja. ‘The administrator of the land issued orders that anyone who comes should be sold for food.’

k-uuzaa v. caus. (uziize) sell

Majirani wanne/ wa’ilo ka mamaye Hasiibú/ kazi yaawo/ iwaliko kht̩inda skunyi/ kuuza. ‘The four neighbors who came to Hasiibu’s mother, their work was to cut firewood (and) sell it’

Nt̩^hanakuuza. ‘He is not selling it.’

Nuuru/ uzize gari ya Omari. ‘Nuuru sold Omari’s car (would ordinarily be understood as selling Omari’s car for him).’

Suuzé. ‘Don’t sell!’ (cf. Suzeení. ‘You (pl.) don’t sell!’)

Suuzé/ chibuuku. ‘Don’t sell the book!’

Uzá. ‘Sell!’ (cf. Uzaani. ‘You (pl.) sell!’)

Uza ghaali/ suuzé/ rakhiisi. ‘Sell at a high price, don’t sell cheap!’

Ye/ waliko oloshale kuzaa nsi/ sukhuuni/ yana. ‘He had gone to sell fish at the market yesterday.’ (A possible answer to the question: Ye/ waliko oloshale kuuzani/ sukhuuni/ yana. ‘What had he gone to the market yesterday to sell?’)

k-uuzanya v. caus. rec. sell each other k-uza’uza v. freq. sell and sell

Apo/ muyiini/ chuzachuza khabari/ laakini/ nt̩^hakhpata/ khabari za mkuḷé. ‘There in the town he asked and asked for news but he did not get news of his older brother.’

k-uuzika v. caus. p/s. (-uzishile, -uzikishile) able to be sold

Nsi/ zinakuuzika. ‘The fish are being, getting sold (now, perhaps before they were too expensive and were not being bought).’

k-uzikila v. caus. p/s. appl. (-uzikiliile)

Nsi/ zinakunuzikila. ‘The fish are selling for me.’

Zoombo/ zinuzikiliile. ‘The things were sold to/for/on me.’

k-uzoowa v. caus. pass. (uziiza)

Almasi izi/ zinakuzoowa. ‘These diamonds are being sold.’

Kana waant^hu/ laazimu/ kulaa yo/ teena/ wo/ laazimu/ kuliindra/ ayamu mooyi/ amá/ mbili/ haṭaa yo/ ichuzoowa. ‘If people have to buy it then they should wait two or three weeks until it's on sale.’

numa ka maali machaache uziiza [st̩.] ‘later he was sold for a small amount of money (referring to Joseph) si/ wa'uzá ziiint'bu 'we sellers of things'

We/ na'iwá/ kuwa eelo/ zinakuzoowa/ mbili/ ka robo riyaali. 'You know that gazelles are sold two for a quarter of a riyal.'

rel. nom.

m(w)-uula (wa'-ula) n. 1/2 buyer

m(w)-uuza (wa'-uza) n. 1/2 seller

Juma/ oloshéle ka muza mp'huundra/ kula mp'huundra. 'Juma went to a seller of donkeys to buy a donkey.'

m(w)-uzaaji (wa'-) n. 1/2 rare seller (MI gave a few deverbal nouns ending in -ji and regarded them as being examples of Chimiini, but these nouns are not generally found in present-day Chimiini to our knowledge. Perhaps they reflect the fact that MI was bilingual in Chimiini and Kiswahili, or represent a variety of Chimiini with greater affinity to Kiswahili.)

Baabu/ mtile muzaaji/ khpunguza sa'ari. 'Baabu made the seller lower the price.'

k-uuluka

v. (ulushile) jump, fly, skip

Abú/ ulushile baṭeera. 'Abu jumped from the boat.'

Abú/ ulushile baṭeraani. 'Abu jumped from the boat.'

Baazi/ ulushile. 'Baazi jumped.' Or: Ulushile/ Baazi. 'Jumped, Baazi.' (A right-dislocated subject is, in sentence-final position, ordinarily phrased separately from the verb and is radically downstepped. In the present example, it is unacceptable to join the postposed subject into a phrase with the verb: Ulushile Baazi.)

Baazi/ ulushile mayiini. 'Baazi jumped into the water.' Or, with verb focus: Baazi/ ulushile/ mayiini. (The simple yes-no question corresponding to the first sentence exhibits only Q-raising, while in the case of the second example, there is accent-shift: Baazi/ ulushile/ mayiini?)

Chizeele/ ulushile/ degeele/ ka furaha. 'The old woman jumped up and down with joy.'

Duwaara/ yulushile. 'The kite was flying.'

Hamadi/ hakaḷaant'hi/ mahaḷa/ ka tartiibu/ chiwonoowa/ nakhfakaṭa/ nakuuluka/ kana/ nyunyi. 'Hamadi does not sit calmly; whenever he is seen, he is running, flying, like a bird.'

Hamadi/ ulushile/ kubigoo nk'elé. 'Hamadi jumped up screaming.'

Hamadi/ ulushile l-kuta. 'Hamadi jumped off the wall.'

Hamadi/ ulushile l-kutáa=ni 'Hamadi jumped off the wall.'

Inyunyi/ imbeenopó/ ifaza'ishile/ na yulushile. 'When the bird saw me, it was frightened and flew away.'

Jeelaani/ fungilopo mlaangó/ weno kuwa ni baabá/ na mama wa Safiyá/ chuuluka/ chiwabusa mikono/ chiwa'ingiza numbaani. 'When Jeelaani opened the door and saw that it was the father and mother of Safiya, he jumped and kiss, and he let them into the house.' (Observe the conjoined relative clauses in this sentence.)

Kulu huulukó/ mwiishowe/ hishkila. 'Whatever flies, its end is to come down.' (A proverb.)

kuuluka/ kana chinyunyi or kuuluka/ kana nyunyi 'to fly like a bird – of s.o. who walks or runs very fast' kuuluka/ kana lpepo 'to fly like the wind – of s.o. who walks or runs very fast'

Laakini/ maaziyo/ yasuuluke/ kendra mahaḷa yingine. 'But your blood should not spurt out/ and go somewhere else.'

Mi/ hukhadira kuluka ka muti mooyi/ keendra/ muti mwiingine. 'I am able to jump from one tree to go to another tree.'

Ndo/ ka sababu gani/ waana/ nt'awakhkoma/ wakhṭi/ waa wo/ kuuluká. 'Come, for what reason have the chicks (in the story, this sentence is being addressed to a bird) not reached the time for them to fly?'

Nfuye/ chuuluka/ chimpantra mp^haamp^ha/ mongooni. 'The monkey jumped down (from the tree) and climbed on the back of the shark.'

Uluka. ‘Jump!’

Ulushile maayini/ Baazi. ‘He jumped into the water, Baazi.’ (The right-dislocated subject is radically lowered in pitch, and in the corresponding yes-no question undergoes accent-shift: Ulushile mayiini/ Baazi?)

Ulushiló/ Baazi/mayiini. ‘Jumped Baazi into the water.’

Wakomeelopó/ nfuye/ chuuluka/ shpandra mutiini. ‘When they reached (the tree), the monkey jumped off (the shark) and climbed the tree.’

Wamalizopo koowá/ wavete nguwo zaawo/ wa’ulushile. ‘When they finished bathing, they put on their clothes and flew away.’

rel.

k-uluka’uluka v. freq.

Muunt^u/ chulukachuuluka/ akhiriye/ hudega. ‘If a man jumps (freq.) his end is that (at last) he settles.’ (A proverb.)

k-ulukila v. appl.

Nt^hanaa nguvu/ kulukila. ‘He has no strength to jump with.’

k-ulukoowa v. pass.

Bateera/ yulushila. ‘The boat was jumped from.’

Lkuta/ lulushila. ‘The wall was jumped off.’

k-uulusha v. caus. fly something; cause to fly, jump; lie to (The verb -ulusha is clearly a causative form of -uluka. As such, like all causative verbs, it does not undergo a second round of causation to become -ulushisha ‘to cause to fly, to cause to cause to fly, jump’. But in the meaning ‘lie to’, there is no transparent relationship between -ulusha and a base verb. Thus one might propose that -ulusha ‘to lie to’ is an independent verb and not itself a causative verb. But if this were so, there would be nothing preventing this verb from undergoing causative formation to yield -ulushisha ‘to cause s.o. to tell a lie to’. But this is impossible, suggesting that speakers in fact do regard the verb as a causative.)

Ali/ ulushize ariplaano. ‘Ali flew the plane.’

Ali/ ulushize duwaara. ‘Ali flew the kite.’

Chuluka iduwaara. ‘He made the kite fly.’

kulusha waant^u ‘to tell people lies (lit. make people jump)’

L^uaakini/ jisa aada/ ya chiruusi/ sababu/ walá/ gharó/ ya waruusi/ kulusha qamari sinaa’i/ iyi/ nt^haykiwishoowa. ‘But as is the Russian custom, neither reason nor the goal of the Russians launching this satellite (artificial moon) was given.’

mi qalbiya yulushiza na skhaadiri kuja rizkhi [song] ‘my heart is made to fly and I cannot eat food’

k-ulushana v. caus. rec. tell lies to one another Wanakulushana. ‘They are telling one another lies.’

k-ulushanya v. caus. rec. make one another jump

Wanakulushanya. ‘They are making one another jump.’

k-ulushiliza v. caus. appl. fly for Ali/ mwulushilize mwaana/ duwaara. ‘Ali flew the kite for the child.’

Nt^hakunulushiliza. ‘He did not fly it for me.’

Nt^hakuwa’ulushiliza. ‘He did not fly it for them.’

k-ulushilizoowa v. caus. appl. pass.

Mwaana/ ulushiliza duwaara/ na Ali. ‘The child was flown for a kite by Ali.’ (The word order of the passive is quite flexible. Our consultant accepted many variations: Mwaana/ duwaara/ ulushiliza na Ali. Or: Duwaara/ mwaana/ ulushiliza na Ali. Or: Duwaara/ ulushiliza mwaana/ na Ali. Or: Duwaara/ ulushiliza na Ali/ mwaana. One word order that was rejected is Na Ali/ mwaana/ ulushiliza duwaara. We have not determined what makes this particular word problematic in contrast to all the others.)

Ni duwaara/ ya mwaana/ ulushiliza na Ali. ‘It was a kite that the child was flown for by Ali.’

Ni na Ali/ mwaana/ ulushiliza duwaara. ‘It is by Ali that the child was flown for a kite.’

ku-y-ulukila v. reflex. appl. fly oneself off

Apo/ shtolezaa nyunyi/ mkulu/ chija nt^heendre/ zotte/ na maliizopó/ chiyulukila. ‘At that time there appeared a large bird and it ate all the dates and when it finished, it flew away.’

Mukeewa/ tunzile iboholi/ tete nguwoze/ veete/ chimaliza/ yulukijiile/ kendra kaawo. ‘My wife dug a hole and took out all her clothes put them on, and then flew herself off to go to her home.’

k-uulukila

v. (ulukijiile) attack, scold, shout at

Ka jis’iyo/ chimwulukila mp^huundra/ chimuḅḷa. ‘Therefore he attacked the donkey and killed him.’

Kamba mbwa wa maduuri/ chinulukila... ‘If the wild dog attacks me...’

Kiḷaa mukhta ya/ humulukilo mwaaná/ ye/ huḷa. ‘Whenever she scolds the boy, he cries.’

kunulukila kamaa mp^haka/ pashpo kunuuzá ‘to attack (scold) me like a cat without asking me (any questions first)’

Mwulukijiile mw aana. ‘He scolded the child.’

Nuuru/ mwulukijiile mwaalimu/ mwaana. ‘Nuuru scolded the child on [i.e. to the detriment of] the teacher, [or] the teacher’s child’ (The verb /ulukila/, while it looks like an applied verb stem, is actually just a transitive verb stem taking a single object. However, in this example we see that it is possible to use the stem as though it were a benefactive stem taking two objects.)

Songeelopó/ siimba/ chimwulukila/ nakhsuḷa kumuḅḷa. ‘When she came near, Lion attacked her and wanted to kill her.’

Sungura/ lazilopó/ siimba/ chimwulukila mp^huundra/ chimuḅḷa. ‘When Rabbit left, Lion attacked Donkey and killed him.’

ch-uluungu (z-)

n. 7/8 floor of a building; variant form: chi-luungu (zi-) is used by present-day speakers

Abunawaasi/ washile nuumba/ ya zulungu ziwili. ‘Abunawaasi built a house of two storeys.’

Ali/ ishkizize chibuuku/ chulungu cha kaandra. ‘Ali brought a book down to the first floor.’

chilungu chaa nne ‘fourth floor’ chilungu cha piili ‘the second floor’

chilungu cha taatu ‘the third floor’

Nenzele chulunguuni/ ka sultaani. ‘I went upstairs to the king.’

Nuura/ ishkizize chibuuku/ ka chulunguuni. ‘Nuura brought a book down from upstairs.’

Suufi/ mpanzize mwaana/ chulunguuni. ‘Suufi took the child upstairs.’

-ulusi

adj. (see under -lusi) black nyulusi/ kana wiino ‘as black as ink’ uma

n. nation

Haruusi/ ni chiint^hu/ shkulu/ ka kiḷa uma/ na jamaa’á. ‘Marriage is something important for every nation and community.’

uma ya Islaamu ‘the Islamic nation, people’

ch-uuma (z-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. chuma SSED 64] iron, metal, steel; capital (for use in business), money

Biga chuuma/ ka chuuma. ‘Strike iron with iron.’ (A proverb which counsels, for example, that if you want something from someone, get another person who is like that one to approach him and get what you want. Compare the English: Fight fire with fire.)

chiti cha chuuma ‘metal chair’; ziti za chuuma ‘metal chairs’

chuma cha nk^halaambi ‘[lit.] iron from lightning’

Chuuma/ hubigowa chimuḷo. ‘Iron is hit (shaped) when hot.’ (A proverb.)

kumbiga ka chuuma ‘to hit s.o. with a piece of iron’

Nacho chuuma. ‘He has money.’

nuumu/ kana/ chuuma ‘as hard as iron’
Omari/ ikoondreye/ kana chuuma. ‘Omari’s punch, blow is like steel.’
Wachimera chuuma. ‘They looked for metal, iron.’
-zito/ kana/ chuuma ‘as heavy as iron’
Mwana uyu/ mzito/ kana/ chuuma. ‘This child is as heavy as iron.’

k-uuma

v. (umiile) become dry Shaati/ yumiile. ‘The shirt is dry.’
Wowi/ yumiile. ‘The river dried up.’
Wowi/ zumiile. ‘The rivers dried up.’
rel.
k-uumisha v. tr. (umishiize) dry s.t.
Nguwo/ yumishiiza. ‘The cloth was dried.’
Nguwo/ zumishiiza. ‘The clothes were dried.’
k-umishoowa v. tr. pass. (umishiiza)
k-umoowa v. pass.

umati

n. 9 [Sw. umati SSED 498; Ar.] followers, people of the faith, a community (We have recorded both agreement appropriate for a [cl.9] noun, with a collective meaning, but also human plural agreement.)
afðali ya umati ni Abubakar [st.] ‘the best of the followers is Abubakar’ umati ya Iisa ‘followers of Jesus’ umati ya Mhamadi ‘the people (=community, followers) of Mohammad’ umati ya Muusa ‘followers of Moses’ umatiyo ni aajizi ða’iifu [st.] ‘your people are lazy [and] weak’ umati wa Mtume Mhamadi ‘Prophet Mohammad’s people, nation’ ummati wa Mohamadi/ ka diini huzalanoowa [st.] ‘(we) Mohammad’s community/ all are related (brothers) in the faith’ ummati or umati or both? agreement: y or w or both?

ch-uumba (z-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. chumba “room, chamber, apartment, i.e. part of a nyumba” SSED 64] room, chamber, box, drawer Chiingila/ chumbaani/ kaake/ chimwambila chizeele/ uje/ mwanaamke/ wa sultaani/ nakuya kulangala markabu. ‘He entered his room and said to the old woman: that daughter of the sultan is coming to look at the ship.’
chumba cha chivundooni ‘a place to put s.t. located at the angle’ chumba cha kati ‘central chamber’ chumba cha mataraja ‘storing space under staircase’ chumba cha meeza ‘drawer’ chumba cha peesa ‘a box to put money in’
Jahaziini/ chimfanyiliza chuumba/ mwanaamke/ napate khkala yee peeke. ‘In the dhow he made a room for the girl so that he would get to live by herself.’
Waant^hu/ wayeele/ chumbaani. [H'H!H] ‘People filled the room.’

go through the uses of this word with gelani

k-uumba

v. [Sw. umba “give form to, shape, fashion, create, make – but in most places used only of God” SSED 498] (unzile) create (of God), invent Aadamu/ ni munt^hu wa kaandra/ wa mwajiitu/ mwuunziló. ‘Adam was the first man that God created.’
Kuumba/ na waanó/ kuumba/ mbele. ‘Creation and advice, creation was first.’ (Translation of a Somali proverb.)
Muke/ chumba wanaafakhi/ chimwaambila/ nk^humbushile nt^hi yitú/ tu/ majiwe yitú/ ya ðahabu/ nt^hi/ hattá/ nda ðahabu/ nk^humbushile zint^hu izó. ‘The woman invented lies and said to him: I just remember our land, our stones of gold, even the earth is of gold; I remember those things.’
mwaanzo wa waajibu ndrúza kasaani/ kumwiwa moojo khuunzilo rahmaani [st.] ‘listen my friends: the beginning of [all] religious obligations is to know

	God, the Compassionate, who created you' wa'unzilo mwajiitu ka khtiyariye [st.] 'it is God who created them, of his own will' rel. k-umboowa v. pass. (unzila) be created Nt'angú/ chuunzila/ chinakhfakata/ nt'ashkupata/ khpumula/ hatá/ sku mooyi. 'Since it was created, it has been running and never gets to rest even one day.' (A riddle, the answer to which is iwa 'the sun'.) rel. nom. m(w)-uumba n. 1 [Sw.] the creator ch-uumbe (z-) n. 7/8 [Sw. kiumbe "a created thing, a creature, but usually limited to the rational, or at least animate, creation" SSED 498] creature, mortal, human being l-uumbo n. 11 [Sw. umbo SSED 498] the figure, shape of a person luumbole 'his/her figure, shape' Mi/ hubadilika luumbo/ kuja shpindri cha wakhti/ shchipita. 'I change shapes when each noon passes.' m-uumbo n. 3 creation w-uumbo n. 14 creation umbo	n. creation Kilaa chiint'u/ hayi/ ni umbo/ ya mojiitu. 'Every living thing is a creation of God.'
k-umbukhsata	v. (umbukhseeete) hold anger inside, trying not to show it; be suffocated Ka Omari/ numbaani/ waant'u/ wiingi/ ikaleena/ hatá/ hu'umbukhsatoowa. 'At Omari's house there are many people, it is packed to the point one gets suffocated.'
umbukhu	n. the act of holding anger inside one; breathing problem when the chest is congested, suffocation Besmentiini/ ka Ali/ numbaani/ nt'amu/ chooloko/ kingilaa hawa/ humfanya muunt'u/ umbukhu.
umburiyaako	adj. [Ital.] drunk; n. drunkard Khamri/ humfanya umburiyaako. 'Liquor makes him drunk.' Mi/ mbishila na gaari/ nakinenzo umburiyaako. 'I was hit by a car that a drunkard was driving.' Or: Mi/mbishila na gaari/ umburiyaako/ nakiineenzó. 'I was hit by a car, it was a drunk who was driving.' Omari/ ni umburiyaako. 'Omari is drunk.'
uumito	n. humidity Lamiyeeri/ kharibu ya tawala/ hupandra miriiri/ kahima/ ka uumito. 'Corrugated sheets near the sea get rusted quickly from the humidity.'
umra	n. the lesser (in comparison to hajj) pilgrimage to Mecca, which can be performed at any time of the year and which has fewer requirements hija na umra mbilize laazimu/ nt'amu shaka amri ya Mooja Haakimu [st.] 'Hajj and Umra are both obligatory/ they were definitely commanded by God' Mwaaka/ mzimawe/ umra/ ukhadiroowa/ kolokoowa/ sho/ kuwa wakhti yaa hija. 'It is possible for umra to be gone on the whole year, except for the period of hija .' Nakhtaraja/ kendra umra/ mwaka unakuuyó. 'I hope to go on umra next year (lit. the year which is coming).'
umri	n. 14 [Sw. umri SSED 500; Ar.] age; life; ever (It is quite possible that this item should be analyzed as consisting of the [cl.14] prefix u plus a stem -mri , but we have no example where the stem -mri is used independently of the u .) Jawabu iyo/ mi/ sfaanyi/ umriwa. 'That thing I will never do (lit. for my life).' Komelopo ka ujee muké/ Sa'iidi/ chambiloowa/ chimwaambiló/ nii muke/ we/ tetee ribá/ umriwo/ hutakiikuta. 'When he reached that woman, Sa'iidi was told, the one who told him was the woman, you have taken usury, in all your life you will not be satisfied.’

kubasha umri ‘to waste (one’s) life’

Muunthu/ hubasha umriwe/ bilaa ma’ana/ nt^hayná/ faayda. ‘There is no profit for someone to waste his life without meaning.’

muke umriwe sho mfuṭa faḍila [st.] ‘a woman [namely, Fatima] who never failed to do good deeds’ mwaana/ shkoma miyaaka/ mitatu/ ya umri ‘when a child reaches the age of three’

Mweené/ ^fumriwo/ Hasani/ huno aalkolá? ‘Have you ever seen Hasani drink alcohol?’ (The pseudo-relativization of the complement verb, indicated by the final vowel o and the final accent, indicate that a pre-verbal element is focused. This focused element appears to be umriwo. A possible answer: ā’ā/ umriwa/ skumwona/ Hasani/ kuna aalkola. ‘No, I have never seen Hasani drink alcohol.’ Or: Umriwa/ skumona/ Hasani/ kuna aalkola. ‘In my life I have never seen Hasani drink alcohol.’ The preposing of umriwa in this example does not count as focus, as indicated by the lack of pseudo-relativization of the following verb, skumona.)

Na itakhupató/ we/ le answerwo/ hutakuliwala. ‘And what will happen to you in your life you will not forget.’

Skeendra/ Mambasa/ umriwa. ‘I have never gone to Mambasa.’

Skuwaaliko/ Mambasa/ umriwa. ‘I have never been to Mambasa.’ Or: Umriwa/ skuwaalikó/ Mambasa. ‘I have never been to Mombasa.’

Shṭana/ chaa mi/ shishiḷa sku iyó/ umriwa/ skuwona/ shṭana/ kana icho. ‘The anger that grabbed me that day, I had never in my life seen anger like that.’

Umri/ ni mchaache. ‘Life is short.’

Umriwa/ skukooḍa/ wanaafakhi. ‘I have never told a lie in my life.’ (We have noted that often the negative verb is separated from its complement and not subject to downstep intonation. But it seems that this cannot be taken as a categorical truth. In the present example, the accented syllable in the negative verb is clearly lower in pitch than the accented syllable of the initial umriwa ‘in my life’ and the accented syllable of wanaafakhi is clearly downstepped relative to the verb. Perhaps this is a matter of the emphasis on ‘in my life’.)

Umriwa/ skuwoona. ‘I never saw [such a thing] in my life.’

Umriwe/ nii kamu. ‘Hold old is (s)he?’

Ye/ hamwiisi/ waawe/ walá/ waawe/ umriwe/ nt^hakuuya/ nt^hi iyi. ‘He doesn’t know my father nor did my father his whole life ever come to this land.’

Ye/ umriwe/ hasoomi/ jornaale. [HHH!!H] ‘He never reads newspapers.’

umu

[cl.18] loc. dem. [Sw. humu Moh 174]

muumu/ umu ‘in this same place’

-uumu

adj. hard, rigid; [the class 9/10 form may be pronounced nuumu or nuumu]

Chili ichi/ chuumu/ kana/ chuuma. ‘This bed is hard like iron.’

chiṭa chuumu ‘hard-headed, head-strong, stubborn, stern’

Chiṭa chuumu/ haapiti/ mbele. ‘A stubborn person (hard-headed one) does not progress.’ (A saying.)

munthu chiṭa chuumu ‘a stubborn person’

Omari/ chiṭaache/ chuumu. ‘Omari is stubborn.’

mwenye chiṭa chuumu ‘one who is stubborn, headstrong’ wantthu ziṭa zuumu ‘stubborn people’

E/ we/ sho naharisi/ muumu/ qalbiyo/ inakhfungoowa. ‘O you merciless and rigid one, your heart is being locked.’

Ijili/ yuumu. ‘The big bed is hard.’

ijiwe yuumu ‘hard stone’

kazi nuumu ‘hard work’

majiwe muumu ‘hard stones’

Mbona/ qalbiyo/ nuumu/ nt^ho. ‘Why is your heart so hard?’

Mimaandra/ muumu. ‘The big loaves of bread are hard.’
muumu/ kana chuuma ‘s.o. as tough as iron’, nuumu/ kana chuuma ‘s.t. as hard as iron, steel’ nuumu/ kana/ chuuma ‘as hard as steel’ Omari/ ^fmuumu/ kana chuuma. ‘Omari is strong, hard, tough like iron.’
nuumu/ kana/ ijiwe ‘s.t. as hard as stone’ nuuma/ kana/ lkuta ‘as hard as a wall’ nuumu/ kanaa ngome ‘s.t. as hard as a sea-rock’ muumu/ kana/ shkunyi ‘as hard as a piece of firewood’ munt^hu m^wuumu ‘tough person’; want^hu wuumu ‘tough people’ muti m^wuumu ‘hard wood tree’; miti muumu ‘hard wood trees’
Omari/ chi^taache/ nuumu. ‘Omari is hard-headed – i.e. he doesn’t understand things.’
Omari/ muumu. ‘Omari is tough, hard.’

umuje

[cl.18] loc. dem. [cf. Sw. mle Moh 174] in there muumuje/ umuje ‘in that same place there’ numbaani/ umuje ‘in that house’
umuje numbaani ‘in that house’
Umuje m^tanaani/ umo munt^hu leele. ‘In there there is a man sleeping.’
review
Umuje/ we/ na’iwoowá/ kuwa ni sultaani/ wa muuyi. ‘In there you are known as the sultan of the town.’

umunu

[cl.18] loc. dem. in here
Chibuuku/ chimo umunu. ‘The book is inside here somewhere.’
Chimo umunu mahala mweepe. ‘It is in here somewhere.’ phrasing
Nt^haamo/ umunu. ‘He is not in here.’
Umunu/ wamo waant^hu/ hawaasaji. ‘In here there are people who do not pray.’

review whether there is final accent

m-uundra (mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mgunda SSED 278] field, cultivated land, farm; [pron. miyuundra (pl.)] Ali/ tala miyuundraya/ yotte. ‘Ali, take all my fields.’
Ba’adi ya waant^hu/ awa/ hala miyuundra. ‘Some of these people cultivate fields.’
Basi/ hendra mundraani/ hukalaant^ha/ hubashaalata/ hufikira jawaabu/ meepe/ mbele/ alhaasili/ yaa ye/ khtomola/ ma’anaye/ khpata chakujaake (=chakujaache). ‘So he goes to the farm and stays there and passes the time thinking about something, first, in short, how to take out (from it), which means, to earn his food.’
Basi/ nayo muundra/ nayoo muke. ‘So he has a farm, he has a wife.’
Chimwaambila/ mi/ nnakhtosha ya kuwa mkulá/ tezeze/ na mwanaamke/ uyu/ na shiinzila/ na isá/ nakfaanya/ kaazi/ miyundraani. ‘He told her: I think that my older brother played cards with this girl and was defeated and now he is working in the fields.’
Fijiri/ mkulu/ wa makhaadimu/ kama aadaye/ choondroka/ kulangala muundra. ‘In the morning, the head of the servants, as was his custom, came and surveyed the field.’
Fijiri/ naank^hó/ hayawaani/ zotte/ scheendra miyundaani/ kulima. ‘In the morning, again all the animals went to the fields to cultivate.’
Hulima miyuundrá/ ni waant^hu/ haba. [H’HH] ‘Those who are farm are a few people.’ (The successive H pitches indicated in our intonational transcription represents a pronunciation where there is no clear declination between waantu and haba.)
Mahala/ yaa mi/ ndirkameno naayé/ ibadilila/ ifanyiza muundra. ‘The place where I met her has been turned into farmland.’
Hulima miyuundrá/ ni waant^hu/ wiingi. [H’HH] ‘Those who farm are many people.’
Muundrawe/ ni mkulu/ laakini/ mavuynoye/ hayayezi/ lkusi. ‘My farm is large,’ but its harvest doesn't fill a hand.' (A riddle, the answer to which is mashuungi 'hair'.)

Nesheze muundra. 'He watered the farm.'

Nile naayó/ ka muundraani. 'I [lit.came with it -- i.e. took it] from the field.'

Nuuru/ letelele muundra/ makiina. 'Nuuru brought a machine for (to cultivate) the field.'

nt^hangú/ kaaka/ muundraani/ hattá/ apa 'starting from my field up to here'

Ori wa muundrani/ hawiiki/ muyiini. 'A farm rooster does not crow in town.' (A proverb.)

Sku mooyi/ muke uyu/ mubliwe/ oloshela miyundraani. 'One day this woman's husband went to the farms.'

Waant^hu/ wiingi/ walima miyundra. [HH'H] 'Many people are farmers.' (The adjective wiingi was slightly raised in pitch relative to waantu, which indicates some emphasis on wiingi. The following PP would ordinarily be downstepped, but in the recording of this example, the pitch does not undergo radical lowering, although the declination is obvious. We interpret this declination as indicating that miyundra is emphasized to some extent.)

Waant^hu/ wote/ ni walima miyundra. [H'HH] 'All the people are farmers.' (This example sentence comes from one of our earliest recordings from MI of example sentences. The intonation observed in this example is in part quite expected: there is declination between the initial waantu, which is the pitch peak, and wote. One would expect the following PredP to be downstepped, but in fact in the recording miyundra is not downstepped. It is declinated with respect to the initial PP, but a bit higher than wote. It seems that this shape is due to the presence of emphasis on miyundra.)

Wene maali/ miingi/ wene miyundra/ na ndraaniyé/ wenee gele/ na wenee miti/ ya matuundra/ anwaa'i/ niingi. 'He saw great wealth, he saw farms and in them, he saw maize and he saw fruit trees of many different kinds.' check, i added accent

Wote/ wachanza kiineendra/ kendra muundraani/ kaawo. 'They all began to walk to go to their field.'

Ye/ itinzile karka muundra wa waant^hu. 'She picked it [a melon] from the field of some people.'

Ye/ shinda tamáa/ chiruda muundraani. 'He grew up and returned to the field.'

unga

n. 14 [Sw. unga SSED 501] flour (It is quite possible that this item should be analyzed as consisting of the [cl.14] prefix u- and a stem -nga. However, we have no example establishing that -nga is a stem independent of u.)

mandra za unga 'bread made from flour'

Numbaani/ kaaka/ unga/ hawkosekani. 'In my house flour is never lacking.' (A riddle, the answer to which is ivu 'ashes'.)

Si/ kiitu/ hi'ijilila...ije/ tu/ mandra za unga tu/ ka kahawa. 'We at our house eat just bread made from maize flour with coffee.'

unga waa gele 'corn flour'

unga waa mbawo [Sw. unga wa mbao] sawdust unga wa mpuunga 'rice flour'

unga waa muti [Sw. unga wa mtí] sawdust unga waa nganu 'wheat flour'

ungawa 'my flour'

k-uunganya

v. (unganyiize) collect, gather

Chimaliza/ naank^hó/ shfanya jis'iyo/ hattá/ chunganya maayi/ miingi/ ya kumtsha farasiye. 'Then again he did it that way until he had collected much water so as to satisfy his horse.'

kuunganya/ maali/ kumpelekela dobla ya talyaani 'to collect money to send to the government of Italy'

Wachunganya peesa/ zaa wo/ wakhadirilo khatá. 'They collected as much money as they could get.'

Wachunganyaa sehe/ niingi/ washpakila jahaziini. ‘They collected a lot of provisions and loaded them on the boat.’

rel.

k-ungamanya v. collect, gather together

Ungamanya/ kuḷa/ hayawaani/ ḍakari/ na uunthá/ muke/ na muḷi.
‘Gather together every animal, male and female, female and male.’

k-ungamanyisha v. caus. gather people, things together

k-unganya’unganya v. freq.

Choondroka/ chunganychunganya ziint^huze/ chishikaa ndila/ kendra kaawo. ‘He got up and gathered his things and took to the road to go home.’

Muné/ wanazo peesa/ habamó/ zaa ye/ unganyizo’unganyizó/ mkuḷé/ ilopó/ chimpa/ chimwaambila/ kuḷilaa nguwo. ‘His younger brother had a little money that he had collected here and there, and when his older brother came, he gave it to him, telling him to buy clothes with it.’

k-unganyoowa v. pass. (-unganyiiza) be collected by won^he watakunganyoowa [st.] ‘they will all be assembled’

Zunganyiiza. ‘(The stories, e.g.) were collected.’

ch-uungu (z-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. chungu SSED 65] earthen cooking pot

chuungu/ chaa zijo ‘a pot pf zijo’

Chuungu/ chiko muḷooni. ‘The pot is on the fire.’

Chuungu/ chivundishile. ‘The pot is broken.’

Ijiko mooyi/ háireebi/ chuungu. ‘One cooking stone does not support a pot.’ (A proverb.)

Kooḍi/ haspiki/ chuungu. ‘Words do not cook food [lit. the cooking pot].’ (A proverb.)

rel.

chi-j-uungu (zi-j-) n. dim. small cooking pot

i-j-uungu (mi-j-) n. aug. large cooking pot

n-uungu

n. 9/10 clay cooking pot

Lekele nunguuni/ kuja. ‘He went to the clay pot to eat from it.’

Nungu nk^hulu/ haykosi/ ikooko. ‘A large pot never fails to have ikooko.’ (A proverb.)

Unguja
check with Gelani

n. [Sw. unguja SSED 502] Zanzibar; var. form: Nguja

ch-unguḷiya

n. [Sw. kiungulia SSED 502] heartburn

Huhadoowa/ iziwa/ nii dawa/ ya chunguḷiya. ‘It is said that milk is a remedy for heartburn.’

ku-’uunsata

v. [Som. uunsan- Ab 242] cover oneself with a cloth in the application of bukhuuri (a vapor made from burning certain herbs and used for medicinal purposes or as a scent)

Wake/ wachiḷawa hiiḍi/ hu’uunsata ka bakhuuri/ na uurdí. ‘When women finish their period, they fumigate with incense.’

rel.

ku-’uunsisha v. caus. (unsishiize)

unsuri

n. [Som. cunsur DSI 108] mishap, trouble, disaster, bad luck

Omari/ faṭura yaa ye/ uziló/ imwelele unsuri/ kiḷaa wakhtí/ inakuvuundika.

‘Omari, the car that he bought has become back luck for him, it is always breaking.’

m-uunti

n. [no etymological source found] day; [pron. muunt^hi]

Fijiri/ ya sku ya piili/ maama/ chimulila mp^huundra/ na Hasiibú/ munt^hi oyo/ chirashmánya na jiraani/ chendra khtinda skunyi ‘On the morning of the second day, mother bought a donkey for him and Hasiibu, on that day, followed the neighbors (and) went to cut firewood.’

Ineenzele/ muunt^hi/ mzimawe. ‘He walked the entire day.’

Masku/ ya muunt^hi/ oyo/ wa’ile waant^hu/ numbaani. ‘On the night of that day, people came to the house.’

Omari/ holoka dukaani/ kilaa muunt^hi. ‘Omari goes to the shop every day.’ Or, with verb emphasis: Omari/ hooloka/ dukaani/ kilaa muunt^hi. (The simple yes-no question for the first example, where verb and complement phrase together, is: Omari/ holoka dukaani/ kilaa muunt^hi? This sentence exhibits Q-raising but not accent shift. The simple yes-no question for the second version is: Omari/ hooloka/ dukaani/ kilaa muunt^hi? In this case, there is accent shift in the last two phrases. With respect to the emphatic yes-no question, GM was comfortable only with the case where verb and complement are put into the same phrase: Omari/ holoka dukaani/ kilaa muunt^hi!?)

Sa’iidi/ chishkila/ ka mlongoṭiini/ choloka kaa muke/ numbaani/ shkalaant^ha/ naaye/ muunt^hi/ mzimawe. ‘Sa’iidi climbed down the mast and went to the woman’s house and stayed with her the whole day.’

untha

n. a female

Hasani/ tabi’aye/ kana/ untha/ siwo/ ba/ kana/ mubḷi. ‘Hasani’s behavior is like a female, he is not like a man at all.’

Ungamanya/ kuḷa/ hayawaani/ ḍakari/ na unthá/ muke/ na mubḷi. ‘Gather together every creature, a male and a female, a woman and a man.’

Untha/ na ḍakari/ ni mojiitu/ huumbó. ‘Female and male are created by God.’

uqda

n. [Som. cuqda DSI 109; Ar. ‘uqda W 628] complex

ku-’urata

v. [Som. ur- Ab 244] (ureete) stink, smell (of the body); lose one’s social or economic position

Skiiizi/ maayi/ haba/ Mwiini/ waant^hu/ hawa’owi/ hatá/ wanaku’urata.

‘Nowadays there is little water in Miini, people don’t take shower until they are smelling bad.’

rel.

ku-’ursata v. caus. (urseeṭe)

ure

n. someone dirty; slave, someone low in status

Mwenye maali/ ni mkulu/ hatá/ ure/ pete jaaha. ‘One who is wealthy is important, respected, even someone of low caste is esteemed (if he is wealthy).’ (A proverb.)

Wana wa Haliima/ ni ure/ mama yaawo/ hawa’oshi/ hatá/ mweezi. ‘Haliima’s children are dirty, their mother does not wash them even for a month.’

urugu

n. [Som. urug] tuberculosis

Huhadoowa/ maraḍi/ ya urugu/ ni miingi/ Somáaliya. ‘It is said that the t.b. disease is a lot in Somalia.’

Pete urugu. ‘He got tuberculosis.’

Skiiizi/ maraḍi/ ya urugu/ ni sahali/ khfanyilizowaa dawa. ‘Nowadays it is easy to treat the TB disease.’

k-uusata

v. (useete) wait cautiously

Baaba/ ilopó/ na fungilopo mlaangó/ chimwona noka/ mzimawe/ maazi/ na nt^hakuliinda/ kuusata/ shtala shtoka/ chimub^helela noka. ‘When father came and opened the door, he saw the snake bloody all over, and he did not wait to find out what really happened, he took a sword and killed the snake with it.’

kachuusata ‘if we waited’

kamaa ye/ chimuusata ‘if he gives him time (to think, make a decision)’

Muun^hu/ chiwanayo imaani/ hakuusata/ nahirisi/ ya mojiitu. ‘When one has faith he does not give up on God’s mercy/kindness.’

Nt^hasaa we/ kujiiba/ dhukhsata/ na usata. ‘Before you reply, listen carefully and wait cautiously.’

rel.

k-usatisha v. caus. (usatishiize)

k-uusha

v. (ushiize) hide s.t.

Chingila ka waawaye/ chimwaambila/ mi/ ndrudiile/ ka amaani/ laakini/ siwakhubure/ waant^hu/ kuwaa mi/ ndrudiile/ waawaye/ shkhubala/ chimwusha mwaanawe. ‘He entered his father’s place and said to him: I have returned in peace, but do not inform people that I have returned; his father agreed and hid his son.’

Choondroka/ chiboola/ mbuzi/ oyo/ wa sul^htani/ chimuusha. ‘He went and stole that sheep [mbuzi ya matako] of the sultan and hid it.’

Hasani/ chilawa/ ka numbaani/ chooloka/ apaje/ mashakaani/ mahala ya/ husho silahaze. ‘Hasani departed from the house and went to that place in the bush where he hides his weapons.’

Ibreeni/ mbozele Sarmadi/ chibuuku/ (ch)uziiza. ‘Ibreeni stole the book from Sarmadi and hid it.’ (The presence of the object marker on the conjoined verb is preferred.)

Khalamu/ nushiize. ‘A pen, I hid one.’ (In order to make the preposed noun phrase definite, one would put an object marker in agreement with it on the verb: Khalamu/ niyushiize. ‘The pen, I hid it.’) kana/ muun^hu/ nakusho chiint^hu ‘like someone hiding something’

Mbigaa nk^heje/ ha’ushi/ ziwovu/ mimbaani. ‘The one who shouts does not hide evil inside him (lit. in the stomach).’ (A proverb.)

Nichushize chaakujá/ ye/ sichiwoni. ‘I hid the food so that he would not see it.’ Or: Nichusize chaakujá/ ye/ spate kichiwona. ‘I hid the food so that he would not (get to) see it.’

Nkhashifile/ kuwa Baazi/ ushize peesa/ nt^hini yaa chili. ‘I discovered that Baazi had hidden the money under the bed.’

Omari/ ushize mwaana/ nguwoze. ‘Omari hid the child’s clothes (lit. The child his clothes).’

Omari/ ushize mwaana/ nguwoze/ siwo/ zibuukuze. ‘Omari hid the child’s clothes, not his books.’

Omari/ ushize nguwo za mwaana. ‘Omari hid the clothes of the child.’ Or, with verb emphasis: Omari/ ushiize/ nguwo za mwaana.

Omari/ ushize nguwo za mwaana/ siwo/ (za) mweenzawe . ‘Omari hid the child’s clothes, not those of his friend.’ (Note that with this phrasing of nguwo za mwaana, one cannot continue the sentence by contrasting nguwo: *Omari/ ushize nguwo za mwaana/ siwo/ peesa. ‘Omari hid the clothes of the child, not the money.’ In order to allow this continuation, one must put focus on nguwo: Omari/ ushizee Omari/ ushize mwaana/ nguwoze. ‘nguwo/ za mwaana/ siwo/ peesa. ‘Omari hid the clothes of the child, not the money.’)

Paapo/ ichimweelela/ ya kuwa taajiri/ huusha/ maaliye/ nt^hini yaa muti. ‘Right then it became clear to him that the rich man was hiding his money under the tree.’

Shtala na mishpa yaa noka/ oyo/ chiya’usha. ‘She took the bones of that snake and hid them.’

Sungura/ shtalaa nama/ cheendra/ chiyuusha/ mahala ya siimba/ sho kuwona/ na shkalaanga/ mashkilo/ na khalbi/ chisterehela. ‘Rabbit took the meat and went and hid himself in a place where Lion could not see and he grilled the ears and the heart and enjoyed them.’

Takuusha. ‘He will hide it.’

Talaa nguwo/ za mwanaamke/ waa we/ m’ashiqiiló/ ushá. ‘Take the clothes of the girl that you are smitten with and hide.’

Tuuma/ ushize chibuku cha maana. ‘Tuuma hid the child’s book.’ Or. Tuuma/ ushize maana/ chibuukuche.

Usha maandra/ seendré/ mp^hana/ kaajá. ‘Hide the bread, otherwise the rats might eat it.’

Usha peesa/ seendré/ miizi/ kaboolá. ‘Hide the money otherwise a thief might steal it.’

Ushize peesa. ‘He hid money.’

Ye/ chushiize. ‘She hid it (referring to a noun like chi-noka).’

rel.

k-ushakuusha v. redup.

Haliima/ hupeenda/ kushakusha ziint^hu. ‘Halima likes to hide things.’

k-uushika v. p/s.

Mapeenzi/ ni kama shkololo/ haya’ushiki. ‘Love is like coughing, it cannot be hidden.’ (A proverb.)

Miimba/ hayuushiki. ‘A pregnancy cannot be hidden.’ (A proverb.)

k-ushiliza v. appl. hide for, from

N^hakhushiliza. ‘He did not hide it for you.’

N^hakichushiliza. ‘He did not hide it for us.’

N^hakinushiliza. ‘He did not hide it for you (pl.).’

N^hakunushiliza. ‘He did not hide it for me.’

N^hakuwa’ushiliza. ‘He did not hide it for them.’

Tuuma/ mwushilize mwaana/ chibuuku. ‘Tuuma hid the book for the child.’ Or: ‘Tuuma hid the book from the child (i.e. hid the child’s book).’

k-ushoowa v. pass. (ushiiza) be hidden

Chisu chaa mi/ nuuziló/ chushiiza. ‘The knife that I bought has been hidden.’

Khalamu/ yushiza na Hamadi. ‘The pen was hidden by Hamadi.’

k-ushowakushoowa v. pass. redup.

Jawaabu/ ya lila/ hayushowiyushoowi. True/facts thing is not hidden Ziint^hu/ kushowakushoowa/ siwo/ suura. ‘For things to be hidden is not good.’

rel. nom.

mw-uusha n. 1 one who hides form of the plural?

Mwusha siriye/ hupata mraadiwe. ‘The one who hides his secrets achieves his goal.’

ushuuru

n. [Sw. ushuru SSED 507] tax(es), revenue

kulipa ushuuru [cf. Sw. lipa ushuru] ‘to pay taxes’ khtomola ushuuru [cf. Sw. toa ushuru] ‘to pay taxes’ khtala ushuuru ‘to collect taxes’

k-uskuma

v. [Sw. sukuma SSED 439] (uskumiile) push

Muskumile mwaana/ lkutaani. ‘He pushed the child against the wall.’

Nimwuskumile Jaamá/ mayiini. ‘I pushed Jaama into the water.’

Uskumile ijiwe/ lkutaani. ‘He pushed the stone towards the wall.’

rel.

k-uskuma’uskuma or k-uskumakuskuma v. redup.

Haba mo/ shpataa nguvu/ chuskuma’uskuma majiwe/ ayo/ ruuhuya/ chiya’ondrola/ mzimawa. ‘In a little while, I gained strength, and pushed and pushed those stones off of me, and I lifted them off from my whole body [the stones had been placed over his whole body].’

Hamadi/ namuskumamuskuma Omari/ khsaafira/ kendra Mkhodiisho. ‘Hamadi is pushing Omari to travel to Mogadishu.’

k-uskumana v. rec. (-uskumeene)

k-uskumila v. appl. (uskumiliile) push for, with, towards gari yaa mi/ mwuskumiliilo mwaalimú ‘the car that I pushed for the teacher’ iteke yaa mi/ nimwuskumiliilo Jaamá ‘the foot that I pushed Jaama with’ Muskumiliile Ali/ gaari. ‘He pushed the car for Ali.’
Muskumiliile Ali/ lwawo. ‘He used a stick to push Ali.’
Muskumiliile Ali/ mwaana. ‘He pushed the child towards Ali.’ or ‘He pushed Ali’s child.’
Mwuskumiliile ka ní/ Jaama. ‘With what did you push Jaama?’ Mwuskumiliileni/ Jaama. ‘What did you push for Jaama? What did you push Jaama with?’
Nimwuskumiliile iteké/ Jaama. ‘I pushed with my foot Jaama.’
Nimwuskumiliile mwaalimú/ gaari. ‘I pushed the car for the teacher.’
Uskumiliile lkuta/ ijiwe. ‘He pushed the stone up against the wall.’

k-uskumilana v. appl. rec.

k-uskumoowa v. pass.

Jaama/ usukumila mayiini/ naa mi. ‘Jaama was pushed into the water by me.’ The relative order of the locative phrase and the agentive phrase seems free: Jaama/ usukumila naa mi/ mayiini.

k-uskumowakuskumoowa v. pass. redup.

Omari/ chiinthu/ hafaanyi/ ka sahali/ sharti/ kuskumowakuskumoowa. ‘Omari does not do thing easily, he must be pushed.’

rel. nom.

m-uskuma (wa-) n. one who pushes; [pron. wa’uskuma (pl.)]

Mahamaali/ sukhuuni/ ndiwó/ wa’uskuma mikookoto. ‘Porters at the market are the ones who push carts.’

w-uskumo n. 14 the act of pushing

Mahamaali/ sukhuuni/ ndiwó/ wa’uskuma mikookoto. ‘Porters at the market are the ones who push carts.’

k-uskutiza

v. [cf. Sw. sukutua SSED 439] rinse (e.g. the mouth, clothes that have been washed with detergent, dishes that are already clean)

Booyi/ nakuskutiza zoombo. ‘The waiter is rinsing the things.’

rel.

k-uskutitila v. appl. (uskutitiile)

Uskutitiile maayi. ‘He gargled with water.’

k-uskutitila v. (uskutiile) gargle kuskutitila kana ‘to rinse the mouth’

k-uskutitiza v. appl. (uskutitiize)

Ji/ mwuskutitiza mwaana/ kana. ‘Ji rinsed the child’s mouth.’

k-uskutitizoowa v. appl. pass.

k-uskutitizowakuskutitizoowa v. appl. pass. redup.

Mayi ayo/ haba mooyi/ yaseeló/ yatakuskutitizowakuskutitizowa ziguwo/ za waana. ‘That small amount of water left will be used to rinse the clothes of the children.’

k-uskutisha v. caus.

k-uskutishana v. caus. rec.

k-uskutishiliza v. caus. appl.

k-uskutishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

k-uskutizakuskutiza v. redup.

Kuskutizakuskutiza zihaanzu/ za waana/ ka maayi. ‘Haliima is rinsing dresses of children with water.’

uslubu

n. behavior, character

Ali/ nt^hanaayo/ uslubu suura/ hahistarimi/ waant^hu. ‘Ali does not have good character, he does not respect people.’

uso (ny-)

n. 14/10 [Sw. uso (nyuso) SSED 507] face (It is possible that this item should be analyzed morphologically as consisting of a prefix u- and a stem -so. However, we have not found any evidence that the stem -so exists independently of the prefix u- and consequently write the item without showing internal morphological structure. Also, the [cl.10] form nyuso seems to have the prevocalic form of the nasal prefix of [cl. 9/10].)

Chambiloowa/ kuwa sulṭaani/ uyu/ nayo mwanaamke/ mwenye akhili/ na usura wa usó. ‘He was told that this sultan had a daughter possessing intelligence and a beautiful face.’

chimwona mublīwe usowe chuusha [st.] ‘if she saw her husband, she hid her face’ kangamila uso ‘to lose face’ khfursha uso ‘to swell the face (with anger)’

Haliima/ mfurshize usowe. ‘Haliima swelled her face (with anger etc).’

khkunda uso ‘to grimace’ needs checking khkuta uso ‘to grimace [lit. fold face]’; also: khkutila uso ‘grimace at’

Haliima/ mkutiliḷe Umi/ uso/ harusiini. ‘Haliima scowled (lit. folded the face) at Umi at the wedding.’

kumkuṭila uso ‘to fold one’s face – i.e. to show anger or dissatisfaction’ khpaka uso/ mashizi ‘to disgrace by not doing what was asked or expected [lit. smear the face with soot]’ konyesha waant^hu/ uso ‘lit. to show people [one’s] face -- i.e. to make a brief appearance at a ceremony (usually a happy gathering, like a wedding), so that people know that you have attended’

kuwa mhuundru uso ‘to redden the face’

Nyuso/ ziwawele huundru. ‘Their faces reddened.’ is nyuso possible? in chimiini

Mpowaa kuja/ na waant^hu/ nt^haná/ uso. ‘The one who is given food by people has no face.’ (A proverb; the idea being conveyed here is that if one is given food etc., then one is indebted to the giver and cannot refuse him in other matters.)

muke sku za hija uso hafiniki [st.] ‘a woman should not cover her face during the pilgrimage’

Muunt^hu/ shfanya chiint^hu/ hufanya ka uso wa mojiitu/ hameeri/ ka muunt^hu/ jeza/ walá/ ihsaaní. ‘When a human being does something, he does (i.e. should do) it for the sake (lit. face) of God; he does not (i.e. should not) seek reward or favor from someone.’ (A proverb,)

Mwaana/ uso/ uchimwala. ‘The child’s face was shining.’

Mwaana/ uso/ umwele mhuundru. ‘The child’s face reddened.’ (It is not grammatical to omit the object prefix agreeing with mwaana: Mwaana/ uso/ uwele mhuundru.)

Mwaana/ usowe/ u(m)wele mhuundru. ‘The child, his face, became red.’ (Observe that the presence of an object prefix in this case is optional.)

Omari/ nt^haná/ uso/ kaaka. ‘(Lit.) Omari does not have face with me, i.e. we are not on good terms, he has wronged me.’

Siná/ uso/ ka Hamadi/ nimangamize miingi. ‘(Lit.) I do not have face with Hamadi, I have done a lot of bad things to him (i.e. I am not on good terms with Hamadi as I have done bad things to him).’

Speendi/ kooḍizo/ walá/ kuwona usoowó. ‘I do not want [to hear] your words nor to see your face.’

uso kamba chilaatu ‘lit. a face like a shoe -- said of person with gloomy or displeased mien’ uso mhuundru ‘red face’

uso/ ka uso ‘face to face’

Uso/ umwele mhuundru. ‘(His) face became red (to him).’ (Mwaana could appear in sentence-final position, but it would then be an afterthought added to the sentence: Uso/ umwele mhuundru/ mwaana. It would not be possible to have mwaana immediately post-verbal: Uso/ umwele mwaana/ mhuundru.) uso wa furaha ‘a happy face’ uso waa nt^hi ‘the surface of the earth’

uso wa nuumba ‘the front of the house’

- Uso wa mwaana/ uchiwala. ‘The child’s face was shining.
Uso wa mwaana/ uwele mhuundru. ‘The face of the child became red.’ (It is not grammatical to say: *Uso wa mwaana/ umwele mhuundru., where there is object agreement on the verb -- lit. the face of the child became red to him.)
Usoole/ wele mhuundru. ‘His face became red.’ (Observe that in this example, the subject of the verb is not uso, which would trigger a u- subject prefix on the stem wele, but rather a human [cl.1] subject, which triggers a null subject prefix.)
usooni ‘on the face’
uso zaawo ‘their faces’ note use as pl.
usoowa ‘my face’
Usura waa muke/ ni usura wa tabi’a/ siwo/ usura wa uso. ‘The beauty of a woman is beauty of character, it is not facial beauty.’ (A proverb.)
Yuusufu/ chiwapa haanzuye/ chiwa’ambila/ talaani/ hanzu iyi/ endraani/ mwandikeni waawe/ usooni. ‘Joseph gave them his robe and told them: take this robe and go and put it over my father’s face.’
- usri n. [Ar. usr W 612] predicament, difficult situation, distress (This item is not known to GM.)
usri faanya yasiiri/ oondrola ufaqiri [st.] ‘ease [our] distress, remove poverty’
- uss interj. [Sw. usu SSED 508] be quiet! shut up! (normally one accompanies this word with the gesture of putting the finger in a vertical position in the middle of the mouth)
Muunt^{hu}/ siwo/ suura/ kumambila mzeelewe/ uss. ‘It is not good for a person to tell his elder: shut up.’
Sinaambilé/ us. ‘Don’t tell me to shut up.’
Sinaambilé/ mi/ us. ‘Don’t tell me to shup up!’
- ustaadi (ma-’) n. professor, teacher; variant form: ustaaði
Baana/ ustaadi/ waliko apa/ yana. ‘Baana the teacher was here yesterday.’
Nimwené/ Baana/ ustaadi/ yana masku. ‘I saw Baana the teacher last night.’
Nimwene Omari/ ustaadi. ‘I saw Omari the teacher.’
Nimwene Ustadi Baaná. ‘I saw Teacher Baana.’
- utaaridi n. [Ar. utārid W 620] the planet Mercury
- utla n. holiday, vacation (This item is not known to GM.) koloka utla ‘to go on holiday’
- uwa interj. of surprise; [pron. uwá] Uwá/ Omari/ naank^{bó}/ iize. ‘What! Omari refused again.’
- m-uuwa (miy-) n. 3/4 [Sw. muwa (miwa) SSED 315] sugar cane muundra/ wa muuwa ‘a sugar cane farm’ muwa mlada ‘sweet sugar cane’; miyuwa milada ‘sweet sugar canes’ Suukari/ hufanyowa ka muuwa. ‘Sugar is made from sugar cane.’
- uwah interj.
Uwah/ Hamadi/ jawaabu/ ba/ haakasi. ‘uwah! Hamadi never listens to anything.’
- ch-uwu (z-) n. 7/8 [Sw. chuo SSED 66] (especially a) religious book; religious schooling, school variant form: chiwo (ziwo)
Basi/ maamaye/ chimtila chiwooni. ‘So his mother put him in school.’
Hasiibu/ chimuza maamaye/ ziikopi/ ziwo za waawaye. ‘Hasiibu asked his mother where the books of his father were.’
kharibu yaa chuwo or khariibu/ yaa chuwo ‘near the school’ khtila chiwooni ‘to “school” someone; to put in school’

Baba Hamadi/ watile waanawe/ chiwooni. ‘Father Hamadi has put his children in school.’

[Maama/ chimjiiba/ ya kuwa [↑]ziwo/ za waawaye/ zimo nt^hini yamivuungu.] ‘(His mother answered him that the books of his father were under the bed.’ (We have located this example in brackets to indicate that it contains a special symbol, the upraised arrow, indicating that the pitch on the following word is raised beyond normal. This raising of the pitch on ziwo seems to be critical to explaining why the preceding word does not end in a lengthened vowel. Specifically, a CVCV word like ziwo would ordinarily cause a preceding final vowel to be lengthened, but this lengthening does not occur here when ziwo is specially emphasized. Why not? The answer appears to revolve around how stress is assigned in this phrase. Ordinarily, phrasal stress is not sensitive to word boundaries in the phrase. But apparently here the stress most fall on the word being emphasized, i.e. the last word in the phrase. Thus the vowel preceding ziwo is not stressed and thus cannot be long.)

Nt^hakuwanaayo/ sho kuwaa zuwo/ zaa dawa. ‘He did not have anything except books of medicine.’

Nuuru/ somelee chiwo. ‘Nuuru read/studied a book.’ Or: Nuuru/ somelee/ chiwo. ‘Nuuru read a book.’ Or: Nuuru/ someloo chiwó. ‘Nuuru read a book.’ (The yes-no question version of the first example has no shift in accent, simply Q-raising: Nuuru/ somelee chiwo? The yes-no question version of the second sentence induces accent-shift in the out-of-focus complement: Nuuru/ somelee/ chiwó? The yes-no question version of the third sentence again shows no accentual difference, just Q-raising: Nuuru/ someloo chiwó?)

Shfungulaa chuwo/ chisooma/ chimaliza/ chimwambila mukeewe... ‘He opened the book and read it and then said to his wife...’

Sku mooyi/ chimvīla mukeewe/ chimwaambila/ kumletela chiwo cha udakhtari. ‘One day he called his wife (and) told her to bring to him a book of doctoring.’

ziwo za qur’aani or ziwo/ za qur’aani ‘koranic schools’
rel.

chi-j-uwo (zi-) n. 7/8

Hukalaant^ha/ husomasoma chijuwoche. ‘He sits and reads his little book.’

Hutukula chijuwo/ cha qur’aani/ chijuwo/ mwaape/ cha ilmu/ husomasooma. ‘He carries a book of the Quran, some little book of knowledge, and reads it.’

ch-uwooni

n. koranic school; variant form: chiwooni

Basi/ maamaye/ chimtila chiwooni. ‘So his mother put him in school.’

Chuwooni/ hukalan^hoowa/ nt^hi. ‘In koranic school one sits of the ground.’

Hupelekoowa/ chiwooni. ‘He is sent to koranic school.’

wana wa ziwooni ‘children in koranic schools’

Waana/ wa ziwooni/ washtukula ziwawo/ zandishiīa. ‘The children of the koranic schools carried wooden boards on which the Quran was written.’

wana ziwooni ‘[lit.] children in the koranic school, but the actual meaning is:] religious scholars

Wana ziwooni/ masheekhi/ wachihadó/ mbuzi/ yaa ye/ ichinshaarató. ‘It was the religious scholars, the sheikhs, who said what the goat had forecast.’ accent phrasing see text

uwu

[cl.3] demonstrative

Muti uyu (or: uwu)/ (laazimu)/ ustindoowa. ‘This tree must not be cut.’

- uwuje [cl.3] demonstrative Muti uwuje/ nii mule. ‘That tree is tall.’
wuuwuje uwuje ‘that same one’
- uyu [cl.1] demonstrative Koođizo/ ni lila/ laakini/ uyu/ ni mwaanawa. ‘Your words are true, but this is my daughter.’
munt^hu uyu ‘this person’
Mwana uyu/ nii mule. ‘This child is tall.’
Ngombe uyu/ ni mkulu. ‘This cow is big.’ (Observe that in the singular an animal like ngombe usually controls [cl.1] “human” agreement.)
Sultaani/ uyu/ chaamura/ waana/ khpowa Hasani. ‘This sultan ordered the children to be given to Hasani.’ (The verb -poowa ‘be given’ ordinarily has the indirect object (here Hasani) as its subject and not the direct object (here waana). In the present sentence, it is not clear which noun phrase is the subject. It is not uncommon in Chimiini passive structures for the subject to be postposed after the verb. Thus it is entirely possible that Hasani is indeed the subject. Since the verb khpowa does not have subject marking, it is impossible to use that criterion to determine which noun phrase is the syntactic subject of the passive.) Uu/ mbaakó. ‘This one (e.g. a cow) is yours.’
Uu/ ngoombe/ mbaakó. ‘This the cow is yours.’ Or: Ngombe uu/ mbaakó. ‘This cow is yours.’
Uyu/ ni munt^hu nakumeroowá. ‘This one is the person who is being looked for.’
Uyu/ waliko leele. ‘This one [referring to a beast] was asleep.’
- uyu [cl.3] demonstrative
mšana uyu ‘this room’
Mkate/ suyú. ‘The cake is here.’ Or: Suyú/ mkate.
Muti uyu/ nii mule/ kuziđa muti oyo. ‘This tree is taller than that tree.’
Uyu/ ni mulku/ wa masultaani. ‘This is property fit for sultans.’
Uyu/ ni muunt^hi/ hударбајилова/ na hulindroowa. ‘This is a day prepared for and waited for.’
- uyu [cl.14] demonstrative
Uyu/ ni wakhti/ waa ye/ huyoo kujá. ‘This is the time that he comes to eat.’
- (‘)uyuubi n. [Ar. ‘uyūb, plural of ‘aib W 660] flaws, shortcomings (This item is not known to GM.) na mzimaawo ni ‘uyuubi / ka ḏaahiri na ka gheebi [st.] ‘and you are full of flaws, evident and hidden’
- k-uuzā v. [Sw. uza SSED 511] (uziize) ask Apo/ teena/ we/ mwuuze/ majiibu/ ya su’aaliye. ‘There then you ask him the answer to his question.’
Chimvīla mzeele/ chimwuuzā. ‘He called the old woman and asked her.’
Hunuuzi/ chiint^hu. ‘You don’t ask me anything.’
Kīla chuuzā/ ka khisani/ ye/ hapoowi/ peesazé/ ma’askari/ humjiiba/ si/ chamurīla na sultaani/ khtalaa nsi/ kiineendrá. ‘Every time he asks for what reason he is not given his money, the soldiers answer: we were ordered by the sultan to take the fish to walk away.’ (Observe the final accent triggered by the pre-verbal ka khisani ‘why?’.)
muunt^hu sho kīwa namuuzē jo aadili [st.] ‘a man who does not know [the regulations] should ask one who is knowledgeable’ Nimwuzize Fariidá/ kendra dukaani. ‘I asked Fariida to go to the shop.’ (In this example, we observe that the final accent triggered by nimwuzize... appears at the end of both PP’s in the VP. It is possible to put focus on the first complement, in which case the final accent stops there: Nimwuzize

Fariidá/ kendra dukaani. If the main verb is focused, then the final accent does not extend beyond it: Nimwuziizé/ Fariida/ keendra/ dukaani.
review It is also possible to focus on the complement verb: Nimwuzize Fariidá/ keendrá/ dukaani. Once again, we see that the final accent does not extend past the focused element.)

Nimwuzize Hamadí/ kooloká. ‘I asked Hamadi to go’

Nimwuzize Hamadí/ kump^ha peesá/ mi. ‘I asked Hamadi to give me money.’

Nimwuzize peesá/ Hamadí. ‘I asked for money from Hamadi.’

nimwuzizopo inamlizoní ‘when I asked her what made her cry’ Sandra suggested ni be added – check with gelani

Nizuzize peesá/ khpoowá. ‘I asked for the money to be given.’

Nizuzize peesazá. ‘I asked for it my money.’ Or: Nizuzize peesá. ‘I asked for it the money.’ Or: Nizuziizé/ peesa(za). ‘I asked for it my money.’ (It is possible for the verb to have an OM in agreement with peesá just in case one does not mention from whom the money is being asked. Thus it is ungrammatical to say Nizuzize peesá/ Hamadi. ‘I asked for the money from Hamadi.’ In contrast, the verb may agree with Hamadi and still mention peesá:

Nimwuziizé/ Hamadi/ peesa. Or: Nimwuziizé/ peesa/ Hamadi.

Nuuza/ mi/ yaa we/ nakhsulo kiiwá. ‘Ask me whatever you want to know.’

Nuuza/ teena/ naa wé/ nakhsuuló/ nuuza. ‘Ask me, then, what you want [to ask me], ask me.’

Omari/ uzize kulala masku. ‘Omari asked to stay (lit. to sleep) overnight.’

Omari/ uzize kuwako masku. ‘Omari asked to stay (lit. to be there) overnight.’

Sku mooyi/ mwaana/ mwuzize waawaye/ waawé/ chimwiini/ chilazilepi?

‘One day a child asked his father, Father, where did Chimwiini come from?’

Sultaani/ chiwa’uza ma’askari wiingine/ ndooni/ uyu/ ndiyé/ so/ wa’ublelo ngoombezá. ‘The sultan asked the other soldiers: come you, is this the one who killed my cattle?’

Uza! ‘Ask!’

Uziizopó/ chambiloowa/ kuwa sultaani/ wa muuyi/ fiile/ na kuwa waant^hú/wanakumeera/ muunt^hu/ aadili/ na faahimú/ kuwawelela sultaani.

‘When he asked [what the news was from this town], he was told that the sultan of the town had died and that people were searching for someone just and intelligent to be the sultan.’

Ye/ uzize rukhsa/ kulawa numbaani. ‘She asked permission to leave the house.’

rel.

k-uuliza v. appl. (uliize)

k-ulizanya or k-ulizanyana v. appl. rec. (ulizeenye or ulizanyeene)

k-ulizoowa v. appl. pass. (uliiza)

k-uza’uza v. redup.

Muunt^hu/ kuza’uza su’aali/ niingi/ hukaha^oowa. ‘(For) one to ask many questions is hated.’

k-uuzan(y)a v. rec. ask one another kuzanya su’aali ‘to ask one another questions’

Wachuzanya khabari. ‘They asked each other the news.’

Wamó/ wachuuzanya/ mbona/ futushile ka mahalaamp^hi. ‘Some were asking one another: say, where did he pop out from?’

k-uuzika or k-uzikika v. p/s. (uzishile or uzikishile)

Nsi/ zinakuuzika. ‘The fish are getting sold.’

k-uzikila v. caus. p/s. appl.

Zaakuja/ zikhuzikiliile? ‘Were you able to sell the food (lit. was the food able to be sold for you)?’

k-uzoowa v. pass. (-uziiza) be asked

Muunt^hu/ huzowa veetení/ ha’uzoowi/ jileení. ‘A man is asked: what are you dressed in, he is not asked: what have you eaten.’ (A proverb.)

Mwaana/ chuzoowa/ ka khisani/ we/ chiza khfungula/ shtandrawili.

‘The boy was asked: for what reason did you refuse to solve the riddle?’

k-uzowa’uzoowa or k-uzowakuzoowa v. redup.

Kuzowakuzowa su’aali/ niingi/ muunt^hu/ hushikowa shtana. ‘(For) one be asked many questions, a person gets angry.’

rel. nom.

*mw-uuz*a (wa-’uza) n. 1/2 one who asks uzi

in the expression:

majumba ya uzi ‘houses of mud’

vaalvola

n. [Ital. valvola] valve

Maayi/ tubooni/ yasimeeme/ sharti/ khfungulowa vaalvola. ‘The water in the tube has been stopped, the valve must be opened.’

ku-vaala

v. [Sw.vaa SSED 512] (veete) dress, wear clothes, put on clothes

Ali/ chivaala/ haanzu/ cheendra/ ka sultaani. ‘Ali wore the haanzu and went to the king.’

Ali/ vetee nguwo. ‘Ali put on clothes.’

Chimaliza/ chivala nguwoze/ za shtaajiri/ shpandra farasiye/ msuura/ choloka ka sultaani. ‘Then he put on his clothes of a rich man, and mounted his beautiful horse and went to the sultan.’

Chimaambila/ kuvaala. ‘He told him to get dressed.’

Chivalaa nguwo. ‘She got dressed.’

Haliima/ liweele/ kuvala chiint^hu. ‘Haliima forgot to put on something.’

Haanzu/ muke/ veeto. ‘A dress, the woman wore.’ Or: Haanzu/ muke/ veeto. ‘A dress the woman wore.’

Huseeni/ chivala nguwoze/ shtaala/ na chiguwo/ cha mwanaamke/ mpeelo/ chibiga chileemba. ‘Huseeni put on his clothes, he took (also) the cloth which the girl had given him and used it as a turban.’

Iveta naami/ nguwo. ‘By me were put on clothes (i.e. clothes were put on by me).’

Kula muunt^hu/ huvala nguwo mp^hiya. ‘Everyone wears new clothes.’

Kuvala chileemba chelpe/ si kumtiya/ mwajiitu. ‘To wear a white turban is not to fear God.’ (A proverb.)

Maskiini/ chivala sarwaani. ‘The poor man put on trousers.’

Mukeewa/ tuzile iboholi/ tete nguwoze/ veete/ chimaliza/ yulukiliile/ kendra kaawo. ‘My wife dug a hole and took out her clothes, put them on, and then she flew herself off to go to her home.’

Naami/ ivetaa nguwo. ‘By me were put on clothes.’

Na naani/ ivetaa nguwo. ‘By whom were put on clothes?’ verify accent

Nakuvaala. ‘He is getting dressed.’

Nguwo/ fuzilo Faatima/ sivaali ‘The clothes that Faatima washed, I won’t put (them) on.’

Nguwo/ iveta na naani. ‘Clothes were put on by whom?’

Nguwo suura/ ziveta na waana. [H!H] ‘Nice clothes were worn by the children.’

nguwo zaa ye/ veeto ‘the clothes that she wore’

Nureeni/ vete jaaka. ‘Nureeni wore a jacket.’

Nureeni/ vete jaka ya naani. ‘Nureeni wore whose jacket?’

Nveete. ‘I got dressed.’

Nvete haanzuya/ mp^hiyá. ‘I put on my new dress.’

Nvete nguwo. ‘I put on clothes.’

Omari/ nt^hakuvaala/ shaati. ‘Omari did not wear a shirt.’ (Phon. The unmarked case for a negative verb is that is focused and the following complement is out-of-focus. The focus on the negative verb is conveyed by raising of pitch and the placement of a phrase-edge at the end of the verb. The out-of-focus nature of the complement is revealed by the simple yes-no question: Omari/ nt^hakuvaala/ shaati? ‘did Omari not wear a shirt?’)

Uzilee nguwo/ kuvaala. ‘He bought clothes to wear.’

Valani mikandra yiinu/ arip^laano/ inakuuluka. ‘Fasten your seatbelts, the airplane is taking off.’ Or: Valani mikandra yiinu, valaani/ arip^laano/ inakuuluka.

‘Fasten your seat belts, that’s what you should do, the airplane is taking off.’
Vete Ikandra la aaga/ veetó. ‘He wore a rubber belt, that’s what he did.’ Or: Vete Ikaandra/ veetó/ la aaga. ‘He wore a belt, that’s what he wore, of rubber.’
Vete shati nyulusi. ‘He has a black shirt on.’
Wamalizopo koowá/ wavete nguwo zaawo/ wa’ulushile. ‘When they finished bathing, they put on their clothes and they flew away.’
Waana/ wavete nguwo suura. ‘The children wore beautiful clothes.’ Or: Wavete nguwo suura/ waana.
Waveto nguwo suurá/ ni waana. ‘The ones who have worn beautiful clothes are the children.’
We/ veeté/ jaaka/ suura. ‘You wore a nice jacket.’ (In a sentence such as this, the phrasal separation of the verb from its complement requires that the verb not be downstepped. The phrasal separation of jaaka and suura appears to prevent the downstepping that ordinarily follows a focused verb. A parallel example is: We/ veeté/ jaaka/ mp’iya. ‘You bought a new jacket.’)
We/ veeté/ jaka ya Hamadi. ‘You wore Hamadi’s jacket.’ (It is important to note, however, that one cannot say: We/ veeté/ jaka ya naani. ‘Whose jacket did you wear?’ It seems that naani must be the sole focus in a sentence and that focusing in addition on the verb renders the sentence unacceptable.)
We/ vete jaka ya naani. ‘Whose jacket did you wear?’ We/ vete jaaká/ ya naani. ‘You wore whose jacket?’ (Observe that in the second version, where jaaka is phrasally separated from ya naani, the final accent triggered by the second person past tense verb form does not project to the focused word naani. This failure requires explanation since in other cases where the head of an associative phrase is separated prosodically from its complement, final accent does project to the complement.) Ye/ chivala chimó/ naamí/ takuvala chimooyi. ‘If she puts on one (shoe), I will put on one (shoe).’ (The stem –mooyi, with default penult accent, may contract to –mo, in which case the final vowel is short and accented. Notice that although chimó has the apparent shape CVCV, it does not trigger lengthening of a preceding vowel in the phrase, as is the usual case for words of the structure CVCV. This failure to induce lengthening is apparently a reflection of the fact that chi-mooyi does not have the right structure to induce lengthening.)

rel.

ku-vaalila v. appl. (valiile)

Ivaliile zilaatu. ‘And so he put on the shoes.’ (Note the use of the reflexive prefix in conjunction with the applied verb stem.)

ku-valoowa v. pass. (veeta) be worn by Chimwambila muhli/ khamsiini/ kulawa/ nama/ kasha/ na shkooyá/ kuvaloowá/ ma’anaye nini. ‘She said to her husband: fifty to go out, meat to light; and a necklace to be worn -- what is its meaning (i.e. what is the meaning of this riddle)?’

Nguwo/ iveta naami. ‘The clothes were put on by me.’

Nguwo suura/ ziveṭa na waana. ‘Nice clothes were worn by the children.’

ku-valowavaloowa v. redup.

Nguwo/ kuvalowavaloowa/ ka wiingi/ humala. ‘(For) a cloth to be worn a lot, they get worn/finished.’

ku-valavaala v. redup.

Wana wa Haliima/ huvalavala ziguwo zishepe/ ni masaakiini. ‘Haliima’s children wear old cloth, they are poor.’

ku-vaalika v. p/s. able to be worn

Ltakila/ nii lile/ laakini/ halvaaliki/ shingooni. ‘My necklace is long, but it cannot be worn around the neck.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is siyaafu ‘safari ants’.)

ku-vaalisha v. caus. put clothes on (This verbal form was accepted by MI, but not recognized by GM.)

Nuuru/ mvalishize mwaana/ nguwo. ‘Nuuru put clothes on the child.’

ku-valishiliza v. caus. appl.

Nuuru/ mvalishilize Suufi/ mwaana/ nguwo. ‘Nuuru put clothes on Suufi's child.'

ku-valishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Nuuru/ na Suufi/ wavalishilizenye waana/ nguwo. 'Nuuru and Suufi put clothes on one another's children.'

ku-veesha v. caus. (vesheeze) dress someone, put clothes on s.o., help someone dress

Ali/ mvesheze mwaana/ nguwo. 'Ali dressed the child.' (If one wished to convey the idea that one induced the child to get dressed, the periphrastic construction would be used: Ali/ mtile mwaana/ kuvalaa nguwo.) kumveesha 'to dress him'

Mveshe mwaana/ nguwo. 'Put clothes on the child.'

Naani/ humvesho maaná 'who dresses the child?' (A possible answer:

Tuuma/ humvesho maaná. 'Tuuma dresses the child.' The fact that Tuuma is focused in this answer is indicated by the fact that the verb has been put into pseudo-relative clause form.)

Nimvesheze Hamadi/ chileembá. 'I helped Hamadi put on a turban.'

Nimvesheze mwaaná/ nguwo. 'I dressed the child.' (This sentence is not understood as 'I made the child put on clothes'; to convey this idea, one would say: Nimghasibile Hamadi/ kuvalaa nguwo. 'I made Hamadi wear clothes.')

Nuuru/ vesheze nguwo huundru. 'Nuuru had [some indefinite people] put on red clothes.' (Syn. The simple verb -vaala is used when one is dressing himself; if -veesha is employed, then the subject is somehow causing someone else to wear clothes. If there an object prefix, then a direct causation is understood – i.e. the subject dressed the object. In the absence of an object prefix, however, as in the present example, all that is conveyed is that the subject somehow caused indefinite people to be wearing clothes.)

Tuuma/ mkali/ kuveesha. 'Tuuma is very good at dressing (people).' (Cf.

Tuuma/ mkali/ kuveshá? and Tuuma/ mkali/ kuveshá!?)

Tuuma/ mkali/ kuveshaa nguwo. 'Tuuma is very good in dressing (people), lit. putting clothes on s.o.'

Tuuma/ namvesha maana/ shaati. 'Tuuma is putting a shirt on the child.'

(Cf. Tuuma/ namvesha maana/ shaati? and Tuuma/ namvesha maana/ shaati. 'Tuuma dressed the child with a shirt.' (Cf.

Tuuma/ namvesha/ maaná/ shaati?) Or: Tuuma/ namvesha maana/ shaati. 'Tuuma dressed the child with a shirt.' (Cf.

Tuuma/ namvesha maana/ shaati?)

ku-veeshana v. caus. rec.

ku-veesheka v. p/s.

ku-veshoowa v. caus. pass. (vesheeza)

Hamadi/ vesheza chileembe/ naami. 'Hamadi was helped by me to put on a turban.'

Maana/ vesheeza/ shati ya ghaali. 'The child was garbed (by someone) with an expensive shirt.'

Naani/ nt^hakuveshoowá. 'Who was not dressed (by someone)? (A possible answer: Maana/ nt^hakuveshoowá. 'The child was not dressed (by someone)?')

Nguwo/ vesheza mwaana/ naami. 'Clothes were put on the child by me.'

rel. nom.

i-vaalo n. review use of this item ma-vaalo n. 6 clothes, garments ma-vaazi n. 6 clothing, garments; style or way of dressing

Mavaaziye/ kama ya want^hu wa zamaani. 'His way of dressing is like that of the people of olden times.'

ma-vaazi

n.

Endrá/ vala mavaazi/ masuura/ chimaliza/ ndo/ mlole mwanaamkewa. 'Go, put on nice clothes, then come and marry my daughter.'

Mwanaamke/ chigedisha mavaazi/ sh^tukula ruuhuye/ chendra ka Fikiriini. 'The girl changed her clothes and took herself and went to Fikiriini.’

ventilatoore

n. 9/10 [Ital. ventilatore] fan (of a car)

Numbaani/ ka Nuuru/ hari/ sharti/ kudarshowa ventilatoore/ ya lpepo. ‘It is hot at Nuuru’s house, it is necessary for an air ventilator to be put on.’

videyo

n. video

Videyoye/ ivundishile/ khacha khacha!/ ba’adi ya ijuuniya/ yaa gele/ khpotela iluke. ‘His video was completely broken after the gunny sack of maize fell onto it.’

ku-viila

v. [uncertain etymology; cf. Sw. lia ‘utter a sound, cry out’ SSED 244] (viilile) call s.o., summon; name

Ali/ mviilile mwaana. ‘Ali called the child.’

Apo/ ye/ chimvila mooyi/ karka wataanaawe/ chimwambila/ zaa ye/ nakhsulo khfaanya. ‘Then he called one of his slaves and told him what he wanted to do.’

Chimwuuza/ naani/ namviililo. ‘She asked her who was the one calling her.’

Endraani/ mviileni bakayle/ naayé/ shatumbe chisima. ‘You all go and call the rabbit (so that) he come and we can dig a well.’

Iyi/ ni sababu/ yaa mi/ khuviiililo. ‘This is the reason (for which) I have called you.’

Iyi/ siwo/ sababu yaa mi/ khuviiililo. ‘This is not the reason (for which) I have called you.’

Jaama/ nviilile. ‘Jaama called me.’

Kanaa we/ chint^hahaaja/ viila. ‘If you need me, call.’

Mi/ nimviilile/ Umi/ mukhtaa mi/ noshelo Mwiini. ‘I called Umi when I went to Brava.’

Mi/ nimviilile/ Umi/ mukhtaa ye/ ilo Mwiini. ‘I called Umi when she came to Brava.’

Mi/ niwaviilile/ waana/ wote. ‘I called all the children.’

Mubli/ chimwambila mukeewe/ kuwavila waana/ wanaje naaye. ‘The man told his wife to call the children so that they could eat with him.’

Muusa/ mviilile mwaanawe. ‘Muusa called his son.’

Mwaana/ chimvila maamaye/ chimwuuza/ mfanyiizeni/ mune. ‘The child called her mother and asked her what she had done to her little sister.’

Nimviilile Haaji/ mweenzwe. ‘I called Haaji’s friend.’

Nimviilile Jeeli/ oyo waliko mwalimu wa mwaanawa/ mwakaa yaná. ‘I called Jeeli, who was my son’s teacher last year.’ Alternatively: Nimviilile Jeeli/ oyo waliko mwaanawa/ mwalimuwe/ mwakaa yaná. (The phrase mwakaa yaná is a contraction of mwaka waa yaná.)

Nimviilile mukeewa/ Barka/ yana. ‘I called my wife Barka yesterday.’

Nt^hakuwaviila/ waana. ‘She did not call the children.’

Sinviiile/ maame. ‘Don’t call me mother!’

Sku yaane/ khaadi/ chimvila. ‘On the fourth day the judge summoned her.’

Wachimvila mubli/ wachimwambila/ bwaana/ apa/ ukoo noka. ‘They called the husband and said to him: master, there is a snake there.’

rel.

ku-viilana v. rec. call one another, name one another ku-vilanoowa v. rec. pass. for one another to be called, named iido huvilanoowa, iidi mubarak huhadoowa [song] ‘on iidi there is calling of one another, blessed iidi is said’ ku-vilaviila v. redup.

Haliima/ mwambile Omari/ we/ simvileviile/ Sheekhi/ kilaa muunthi/ nthana/ wakhti/ wa khiilila. ‘Halima told Omari: do not call Sheekhi every day, he has no time to come to you.’

Hamadi/ hadile Omari/ sinvileviile/ bilaa ma’ana. ‘Hamadi said to Omari: don’t call me without reason.’

ku-viilila v. appl.

ku-viḷiḷoowa v. appl. pass. (viḷiḷa)

Nviḷiḷa na Jaamá. ‘I was called by Jaama.’

Sultaani/ chaamura/ kuvililooowa/ Ali. ‘The king ordered that Ali be called (to come to him).’

Ye/ chamura kuvililooowa/ oyo mgarwa. ‘He ordered that fisherman to be summoned.’

ku-viḷoowa v. pass. (viḷiḷa) be called

Apo/ zamaani/ waliko muunt^hu/ mooyi/ chivilowa Khamiisi. ‘Once upon a time there was a man called Khamiisi.’

Chimaliza/ khaadimu/ chimvilaa mbwa/ naa mbwa/ ikusilopó/ chivilowa mwanaamke/ wa mwaarabu/ oyo/ naa ye/ chija. ‘Then the servant called the dog (to eat), and when the dog was satiated, the daughter of that Arab was called, and she also ate.’

Chimwaambila/ kuwa nakuvilooowa. ‘She told her that she was being called.’

Chivilooowa. ‘He was called.’

inaye chivilooowa Hawla [st.] ‘by name [lit. her name] she was called Hawla’

Khamsiiniza/ mp^hetété/ isa/ nakhsuulá/ ye/ kuvilooowa/ xpoowa/ ndrutize khamsiini. ‘My fifty (blows) I got, now I want him to be called to be given his fifty blows.’

Kooḍizo/ ḷiḷa/ navilooowa/ mwana maskiini/ naaye. ‘Your words are true; let the poor boy be called so that he come.’

Mooyi/ karka waanawe/ zihaba/ chivilooowa/ Yuusufu/ na mwiinginé/ chivilooowa/ Binyameeni. ‘One among his small children was named Joseph and the other was named Benjamin.’

Muke oyo/ wanayo mwaana/ mooyi/ chivilowa Sa’iidi. ‘That woman had a child called Sa’iidi.’

Mwaana/ choondroka/ chendra markabuuni/ chimwambila sultaani/ bwaana/ we/ nakuvilooowá/ tawala. ‘The boy got up and went to the ship and said to the sultan: master, you are being called at the shore.’

Mwanamke oyo/ chivilowa.. Safiya. ‘That girl was called Safiya.’ (In the recording of the story from which this example comes, the speaker pauses between the verb and Safiya. In this and other similar examples, the final vowel of the word preceding the pause is lengthened.)

Sultaani/ shtumaa nt^hume/ kuvilowa mwaana. ‘The sultan sent a message calling the boy (to come to him).’ (Observe the postposing of the subject after the passive verb. This postposed passive subject phrases with the verb.)

ku-viḷowavilooowa v. redup.

Omari/ hapeendi/ kuvilowavilooowa/ kilaa wakhti/ kaaziye/ niingi.

‘Omari does not like to be called evry time, his work is too much.’

ku-viḷisha v. (vishiize) answer a call; pay attention to what someone is saying Zakariya/ mvishize Diine. ‘Zakariya answered Diine’s call.’

-viriinge

adj. [Sw. viringa ‘become round’ SSED 514] round

Aweeso/ chijitache/ chihaba/ chiviriinge/ kana chinaazi. ‘Aweeso his head is small, round like small coconut.’

baskuti nviriinge ‘round cookie(s)’ chiti chiviriinge ‘a round chair’; ziti ziviriinge ‘round chairs’ ibanya iviriinge ‘a round space’; mabanya maviriinge ‘round spaces’; mibanya miviriinge ‘round spaces’ imoro iviriinge ‘round fence’; mimori miviriinge ‘round fences’ ito iviriinge ‘round eye’; mato maviriinge ‘round eyes’ meza nviriinge ‘a round table; round tables’

numba nviriinge ‘a round house’

uso mviriinge ‘a round face’

	Baana/ usowe/ mviriinge. ‘Baana’s face is round.’
	rel.
	m-viriingo (mi-) n. 3/4 circle
	u-viriingo n. 14 circle, rim, circumference uviringo wa shkoombe ‘the rim of a cup’
ku-viriingika	v. go or walk around viisita	n. visit; [pron. viisita] dakhtari/ kumfanya viisita ‘for a doctor to examine someone’; also: dakhtari/ khfanyowa viisita Ali/ hakhaadiri/ oshele ka dakhtari/ khfanyowa viisita. ‘Ali is sick; he went to the doctor to be checked.’ Dakhtari/ namfanya Omari/ viisita/ mwambiile/ panza neefu/ ilu. ‘The doctor examined Omari and told him: breathe in hard (lit. raise up breath).’ Nakendra dakhtari/ kumfanya viisita. ‘I am going to the doctor for him to examine me.’ kumfanya viisita ‘to visit someone’; also: khfanyowa viisita, khfanyiliza viisita Haaji/ nayo rukhsa/ ya mfanyiliza muunt^hu/ umo spitaleeni/ viisita/ kilaa wakhti yaa ye/ nakhsuuló. ‘Haaji has permission to visit someone in the hospital any time that he wants.’ Haliima/ umo spitaale/ waant^hu/ wiingi/ wa’enzele (ku)mfanya viisita. ‘Haliima is in hospital, many people went to visit her.’ Zikoo sa’a/ spitaleeni/ ha’ikhiroowi/ khfanyowa viisita/ muunt^hu. ‘There are times in the hospital when it is not allowed for a visit to be made.’
vitamiini	n. vitamins Baghali/ inayo vitamiini. ‘ Baghali has vitamins.’ Mayaank^huku/ ni afiya/ zimo vitamiini. ‘Eggs are healthy, they have vitamins.’ Vitamiini “B”/ hinfa maraöi ya neervo. ‘Vitamin B is good for nerve disease.’
ku-viva	v. [Sw. iva SSED 145] (viviile) be ripe, cooked Chaakuja/ chiviviilopó/ Fikiriini/ shpakula/ chiweeka/ chaakuja/ icho/ ilu ya meeza. ‘When the food was cooked, Fikiriini dished it out and placed that food on the table.’ Ha’ivivi. ‘It won’t ripen.’ Khariibu/ ya kuviva/ mwaana/ chilawa/ cheendra/ kuliindra. ‘[When the dates were] close to ripening, the boy left and went to look after [them].’ ...kuliinda/ nt^heendre/ hattá/ mukhta zo/ stakuvivó ‘...to guard the dates until they become ripe’ Mayank^huku aya/ nt^hayakuviva. [H’H] ‘These eggs are not cooked.’ Mayank^huku aya/ yaviviile. [H!H] ‘These eggs are cooked.’ Mazu iviviiló ‘a banana that is ripe’ Mubli/ oloshelopo kaziini/ muke/ shpikaa zijo/ ziviviilopó/ chwapakulila waana/ mbalibali. ‘When the husband left for work, the woman cooked zijo and when it was done, she dished it out for the children (on separate plates).’ Muke/ shpikaa zijo/ ziviviilopó/ chiwapakulila waana. ‘The woman prepared zijo and when it was cooked, she dished it out to the children.’ Mukhta nt^heendre/ zilaziló/ baaba/ chiwavila waanawe/ sitta/ chiwa’ambila/ kuwaa ye/ namsula mooyi/ kati kaawo/ kuliindra/ nt^heendre/ hattá/ mukhta zo/ stakuvivó. ‘When the dates came out, Father called his his six children and told them that he wanted one among them to protect the dates until they became ripe.’ Nama/ iviviile. ‘The meat is cooked.’ Sultaani/ liinzile/ hattá/ ya nt^heendre/ kuviva. ‘The sultan waited until about the time of the ripening of the dates.’ Washkoöakooöa/ walwaawo/ hattá/ chaakuja/ shchiviva. ‘They chatted, both of them, until the food was cooked [lit. ripe].’

rel.

ku-vivila v. appl. [Sw. ivia SSED 145] (-viviliile) become ripe for Matuundra/ humvivila mwenye sabri. ‘Fruits ripen for the one with patience.’ (A proverb.)

Nama/ imviviile. ‘The meat became cooked for him.’

ku-vivisha v. caus. ripen, cook

Isa/ mayooshi/ tu/ mahala/ ichiwa yanakuḷawa/ weshelee kuja/khupikilá/ha’ivivishi. ‘Now, if only smoke is coming out from a place and you put (there) food to cook for you, it does not cook it.’

Nvivishizee namá. ‘I cooked the meat.’

ku-vivishiliza v. caus. appl.

rel. nom.

u-vivo n. 14 ripeness

voota

n. vote, election

Voota mp^hiya/ nt^haasá/ yiko khtasawara/ nt^ho. ‘A new election remains a stong possibility.’

Ye/ nt^haasá/ takuwa ni ra’iisi/ haṭá/ voota/ mp^hiya. ‘He will remain as president until there are new elections.’

i-vu

n. 9 [cf. Sw. majivu SSED 255] ashes

Ivu/ ha’ipiishi. ‘Ash does not burn.’ (A proverb.)

ivu niigi ‘a lot of ashes’

khpakana ivu/ usooni ‘to put ashes on one another’s face’

Muḷo/ uwele ivu. ‘Fire becomes ash.’

Muunt^hu/ impishizoo muḷó/ haṭá/ ivuye/ hutiya. ‘A person who has been burned by fire, he is afraid of even its ashes.’ (A proverb.)

Muunt^hu/ muḷo/ chimpiisha/ haṭá/ ivu/ hutiya. ‘If fire has burned a person, he is afraid even of ashes.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

mi’-ivu n. 4 a large quantity of ashes

zi’-ivu n. 8 a small quantity of ashes

ku-vuuka

v. [Sw. vuka SSED 515] (vuushile) go away

Basi/ uje mwiimbili/ naank^hó/ chivuka bahariini/ kaake/ naank^hó/ cheendra/kooko/ okó/ igomeeni. ‘So that boy once again went to his place in the sea, again he went to that very same place in the rocks.’ (In our recording of the text from which this example comes, we could not clearly hear the final accent on okó, but Mohammad Imam in transcribing the text wrote a final accent. We are not sure of the principle according to which it would be assigned.)

Basi/ ye/ chila/ awaje/ wotte/ wachivuka harusiini. ‘So she [the step-daughter] cried and those ones [the sisters, the father and stepmother] all went to the wedding.’

Chivuka naaye. ‘He went with him.’

Hamadi/ vuushile/ ka khisa/ ye/ suliiile/ kumziyaraṭa mweenzawe. ‘Hamadi left because he wanted to visit his friend.’

Isa/ basi/ vushile ka sulṭaani/ sku iyo/ bozele chilaatu/ chimooyi/ cha ḍahabu/bozeló. ‘So now he went to the sultan that day and stole one shoe of gold, that’s what he did.’

Mi/ nimviliile/ Umi/ mukhtaa mi/ nvushilo Mwiini. ‘I called Umi when I went to Brava.’

Muḷjiwa/ vushile safari. ‘My husband has gone away on a trip.’

Muke/ (uje) vushilo Mkhodiishó/ ni Tuuma. ‘The woman who went to Mogadiiisho is Tuuma.’

Naank^hó/ sku ya piiji/ wavushile chiwooni/ wasomeele/ nini/ naank^hó/ illa/chimwambila oyo mwaana/ chilawe. ‘Again, the next day [lit. the second day] they went to school, they studied, what, and again [it was a] must, he told that child, let's go!

Nayo kuvuuká. 'I should leave, go away.' review

Numa/ wavuushile. 'Then they went away.'

Nvushile Mkhodishó/ fijiri ya jimaa tatu. 'I went to Mogadishu on Monday morning'

Sho/ kuwa mubliwa/ Nureeni/ vushilo Miini. 'Only my husband Nureeni went to Brava.'

Sho/ kuwa Tuumá/ vushilo Mkhodiishó. 'Only Tuuma went to Mogadishu.' Or:

Sho/ kuwa Tuumá/ ndiyé/ vushilo Mkhodiishó.

Si/ shchifilaṭila Hamadi/ khkalaant^ha/ laakini/ ye/ ziyareete/ wakhtⁱ/ chihaba/ tu/ na vuushile. 'We expected Hamadi to stay, but he just visited for a short while and left.'

Sivukeeni. 'You (pl.) don't go away!'

Sivukeeni/ kiinu. 'You (pl.) don't go to your place.'

Tuuma/ vushile Mkhodiisho/ jimaa tatu/ fijiri. 'Tuuma went to Mogadishu on Monday morning.' Cf. Fijiri ya jimaa tatu/ Tuuma/ vushile Mkhodiisho. 'On Monday morning, Tuuma went to Mogadishu.'

Tuuma/ vushile liini/ Mkhodiisho. 'When did Tuuma go to Mogadishu?' Or: Liini/ Tuuma/ vushilo Mkhodiishó.

Tuuma/ ndiyé/ vushilo Mkhodiishó/ fijiri ya jimaa tatu. 'Tuuma is the one who went to Mogadishu on Monday morning.'

Tuuma/ vushile Mkhodiisho/ jimaa tatu/ fijiri? 'Did Tuuma go to Mogadishu on Monday morning?' Cf. emphatic yes-no question: Tuumá/ vushile Mkhodiishó/ jimaa tatu/ fijiri!?

Umi/ anzize khpika/ ba'adi ya mubliwe/ vuushiló. 'Umi started cooking after her husband left.'

Vuuka. 'Go away!' (cf. Vukaani. 'You (pl.) go away!')

Vushile ka mweenzawe. 'He went to his friend.'

Vushilo Mkhodiishó/ jimaa tatu/ fijiri/ ni Tuuma. 'The only who went to Mogadishu on Monday morning is Tuuma.'

rel.

ku-vukavuuka v. redup.

Omari/ mwambile Ali/ we/ sivukevuuké/ ka Hamadi/ hawakhupeendi.

'Omari told Ali: you, don't keep going to Hamadi's place, they do not like you.'

ku-vuukila v. appl. go to (apparently not used in a beneficiary sense of 'going for') Mvukilile mweenzawe. 'He went to his friend.'

ku-vukoowa v. pass.

Anshuura/ ma'anaye/ ni maaka/ wa anshuura/ huvukowa tawala.

'Anshuura, its meaning, is the year(ly festival) of anshuura, (all people) go to the sea.'

ku-vukowavukoowa v. redup. pass.

Kuvukowavukowa mahala/ nth^a'ina faaydá/ ni u'ahmakhi. 'To keep going to a place that is not beneficial, useful is foolishness.'

ku-vuula

v. [Sw. vua SSED 515] (perfect form uncertain) fish, esp. by means of a fish trap consisting of a number of compartments into which the fish swim and are trapped; get fish out of nets; get fishing nets out of water; dive under water to get pale; pick up paale that has been deposited on the shore by the tide kuvula maayi 'to bail water'

Wotte/ washpokezanya/ kuvula maayi/ laakini/ maayi/yazidiile/ kiingila/ ka ilu/ na nt^hiini. 'All took turns bailing water, but the water increased, entering from above and below.'

kuvuulila v. appl. (vuliile)

n-vula

n. 9 [Sw. mvua SSED 316] rain

Alama yaa nvula/ ni mawiingu. 'The sign of rain is clouds.' (A proverb.)

Astaghafirú/ ni sku/ waant^hu/ wa Mwiini/ hulawa kendra lfuwooni/kulombaa nvula. 'Astaghafirú is the day the people of Miini leave to go to the beach to pray for rain.'

Chiletele nvula ya aarani. ‘Bring us the rain of plenty.’

Chiiza/ magozi/ yafakuwola/ nvulaani. ‘Otherwise the hides will rot in the rain.’

hataa nvula/ ishtiinda ‘until the rain stopped’

Ichanza kunyaa nvula. ‘It began to rain.’

Iwingu ya khpita/ ha’ileeti/ nvula. ‘A passing cloud does not bring rain.’ (A proverb that communicates the idea that something that comes and goes has no lasting impact; stable and persistent things or people have an impact.)

khfungaa nvula ‘to show signs of rain’

Nuuhu/ shpandra jahazi/ nt^ha’ukhpita/ wakhtⁱ/ ishfungaa nvula/ na ichaanza/ kunya. ‘Noah went on the boat and not much time passed before there were signs of rain and (soon) it began to rain.’

kubigaa nvula ‘to be rained on’

Nvula/ imbishile. ‘He was rained on.’

kumiminika/ kanaa nvula ‘to pour like rain’

mayi yaa nvula ‘rainwater’

Nvula/ hu’isiifó/ ni munt^hu imnyejeeló. ‘The one who praises the rain is the person who has been rained on.’ (A proverb.)

Mwaana/ choondroka/ ka usinziziini/ chihada/ yiikoni/ oko/ ilu/ nt^hakuu nvula/ paandra/ kulangala. ‘The boy awoke from sleep [when the girl’s tears fell on him] and said: what is there up [in the tree], there is no rain, climb up and take a look.’

ku-vuma

v. [Sw. vuma SSED 517] (vumiile) blow (of wind), beat loudly (of drums); spread widely (of a reputation)

Inaye/ inakuvuma ‘He is famous -- [lit.] his name is blowing in the wind.’

Lpepo/ lchanza kuvuma. ‘The wind began to blow.’

Lpepo/ l(i)nakuvuma. ‘The wind is blowing.’

Lpepo/ lvyumiile. ‘The wind blew.’

mukhta lpepo/ lanzizo kuvuma ka wiingi ‘when the wind began to blow hard’

Ngoma huvumó/ hayduumi. ‘A drum that beats loudly does not last.’ (A proverb that suggests that nothing is eternal.)

Ngoma huvumó/ hayraagi/ kaatuka. ‘A drum that beats loudly does not delay breaking.’ (A proverb.)

Ye/ shfikira/ kumwambila waawaye/ kuwa masku/ ivumile ipepo/ kaa nguvu/ na nt^eendré/ spoteele/ mutiini. ‘He thought about telling his father that during the night a big wind blew with force and the dates fell from the tree.’

rel.

ku-vumaavuma v. redup.

Lpepo la waarabu/ Inakuvumaavuma. ‘The Arab wind is blowing (referring to strong winds that at a certain time of year come from the Arabian peninsula).’

ku-vumila v. appl. (-vumiliile) blow on Lpepo/ lichivumiliile. ‘The wind blew on us.’

ku-vumisha v. caus.

ku-vumishiliza v. caus. appl.

ku-vumishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

ku-vuumba

v. [Sw. vumbika SSED 517] (vumbiile) bury a fire with ashes so as to keep the coals from going out

rel.

ku-vuumbika v. p/s. [Sw. vumbika SSED 317]

Mulo/ unakuvuumbika. ‘The fire is able to be buried.’

Mulo/ uvumbishile. ‘The fire is buried.’

ku-vuumbiza v. caus. (vumbiize) cover, bury

Abú/ tunzile iboholi/ zishile nk^hoombe/ vumbize ka mtaanga. ‘Abu dug a hole and buried the forks and covered with sand.’

kuvumbizaa mulo ‘to bury a fire’

Mpishi/ nakuvumbizaa mulo. ‘The cook is covering the fire.’

ku-vuumbula v. rev. [Sw. vumbua SSED 518] (vumbiile) revive a fire by removing ashes that have been put over the coals to keep the fire alive

Haliima/ mwambile mwanaashkewe/ Umi/ vuumbula/ mujo/ kahima/nt^haasá/ yaa wo/ kufa. ‘Haliima told her daughter Umi: revive the fire before it dies.’

ku-vumbulika v. rev. p/s.

ku-vumbuliza v. caus. appl.

ku-vumbulizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

ku-vuumbuza v. rev. caus.

i-vuumbi (mi-)

n. 5/4 [Sw. vumbi SSED 517] dust

Ivuumbi/ hayoondroki/ bila lpepo. ‘Dust does not go up without wind.’ (A proverb, equivalent to “if there is smoke, then there is fire”.)

Ivuumbi/ huleta hargabu. ‘Dust causes flu.’

kh pangula ivuumbi ‘to dust off’

Mzimawe/ ivuumbi. ‘He has dust all over.’

Nt^hi za dhowooyi/ zinayo ivuumbi. ‘Areas with clay soil have dust.’

Nt^hakuwona/ sho kuwa ivuumbi. ‘He could not see anything except dust.’

ku-vuna

v. [Sw. vuna SSED 518] (vuniile) harvest; n. harvesting

Halo nt^holokó/ haavuni/ mpuunga. ‘The one who sows beans does not harvest rice.’ (A proverb.)

Kula mooyi/ huvuna yaa ye/ yaaziló. ‘Each one harvests what he has sown.’ (A proverb.)

rel. nom.

m-vuno n. 3 harvest

ma-vuno n. 6 harvest

Muundrawa/ ni mkulu/ laakini/ mavunoye/ hayayezi/ Ikusi. ‘My farm is large, but its harvest does not fill a hand.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is mashuungi ‘hair’.)

ku-vunaanga

v. [no etymological source identified] (vunaanzile) hit, beat someone

Baaba/ ofetopo kumnusuhá/ chanza kumvunaanga/ na kumfuungá. ‘When father got tired of admonishing him (e.g. the child), he began to beat him and to tie him up.’

Mi/ ni lpepo la kuusi/ mbona/ ni nakunvunaangá. ‘I am the south wind, how come you are beating me?’

Mwana uyu/ tu/ chimvunango Hamadí. ‘Only this child was beating Hamadi.’ One cannot say: Mwaana/ tu/ uyu/ chimvunango Hamadí.

Mwana uyu/ tu/ chimvunaangó/ Hamadi. This sentence is ambiguous: Only this child was beating Hamadi, or Hamadi was beating only this child. The same Mwaana/ uyu/ tu/ chimvunaangó/ Hamadi.

Mwaana/ wa Hamadi/ tu/ chimvunango Nuurú. ‘Only Hamadi’s child beat Nuuru.’
Or: Mwana wa Hamadi/ tu/ chimvunango Nuurú. ‘Only the child of Hamadi beat Nuuru.’ Nor can you say: Mwaana/ tu/ wa Hamadi/chimvunango Nuurú.

Omari/ chimvunanga mwaana/ wa Hamadi/ tu. ‘Omari beat only Hamadi’s child.’
One cannot say: Omari/ chimvunaanga/ mwaana/ tu/ wa Hamadi. Nor:
Omari/ chimvunanga mwaana/ tu/ wa Hamadi.

Omari/ chimvunaanga/ tu/ mwana wa Hamadi. ‘Omari just beat Hamadi’s child (he didn’t kill him).’

Omari/ mvunanzile mwaana/ kana/ ngoma. ‘Omari beat the boy like a drum.’

Omari/ tu/ chimvunaangó/ Hamadi. ‘Only Omari beat Hamadi.’

Omari/ tu/ chimvunaangó/ mwana wa Hamadi. ‘Only Omari beat Hamadi’s child.’

Shtala sarbi/ chimvunaanga. ‘He took the sticks and beat her.’

Wachaanza/ kumvunaanga/ nt^hangú/ apo/ hattá/ numbaani/ ka sultaani. ‘They began to beat him from there up to to the sultan’s house.’

Wachi’ishika kuusi/ wachi’ivunaanga. ‘They seized the south wind and beat it.’

Wamvunaanzile. ‘They beat (past tense) him.’

Zinavunaanzióló/ ni karayle weenziwa/ ka sababu/ mi/ niwa'ambiilé/ kuwa ni kheeri/ sí/ kuruda muyiini/ kiitu/ kumtíí'a/ sultani waa dafa/ na khfaanya/ yaa ye/ takichaamuró. 'The ones who have beaten me are my fellow crows because I told them that it was better for us to return home and obey the king of the kites and do whatever he ordered us to do.'

rel.

ku-vunangavunaanga v. freq. beat repeatedly

We/ laṭa/ kuvunangavunanga waana. 'You, quit beating and beating children.'

ku-vunaangila v. appl. (-vunangiile) beat with Luti/ lo/ laa we/ mvunangilo maaná/ lpeetá. 'The stick itself that you beat the child with is the (very) one that has been found.'

ku-vunangoowa v. pass.

Mi/ nvunaanziólá/ na Omari. 'I was beaten by Omari'. Or: Mi/ mbaliko nvunaanziólá/ na Omari.

Waana/ wafanyiizeni/ kawavunangoowá. 'What did the children do that they have been beaten?'

rel. nom.

ma-vunaango n. beatings

Kullasku/ teena/ inakuwani/ mashṭako/ na mavunaangó. 'Every day then there are complaints and beatings.'

ku-vuunda

v. [Sw. vunja SSED 519] (vuunzile) break, destroy; contradict

Ali/ vunzile chibaburi cha mwaana. 'Ali broke the child's toy car.'

Ali/ vunzile ikoopa. 'Ali broke the glass.'

Ali/ vunzile nuumba/ choloko. 'Ali broke the window of the house.'

Chimvunzile aduwí. 'We broke (contradicted, defeated) the hostile one.'

Or with verb emphasis: Chimvuunzilé/ aduwí.

Chiti/ Omari/ vunzile kuulu. 'The chair, Omari broke the leg (of the chair).'

(In this example of a preposed complement, there is no focus on the preposed element. It is possible for both complements to be preposed: ^fChiti/ kuulu/ Omari/ vuunziló. 'The chair's leg Omari broke.' In this example, our consultant focused the initial phrase.)

huvuunda milaango hiingila ka mbele [nt.] 'they break doors and go into the houses straight away'

Idiriisha/ vuunziló/ ni mwana uje. 'The window, the one who broke it is that child.' (This sentence is a better way to put emphasis on idiriisha than: Idiriisha/ vunzile mwana uje.)

Ijiwe/ imvunzile kuuluye. [H!H] 'A stone broke his leg.'

Ijiwe/ imvunzile muunt^hu/ kuuluye. [H!H!H] 'A stone broke the man's leg.'

Iyĩmbi/ inakuvuunda. 'The wave broke (on the shore).'

kuvunda aduwi 'lit. break the enemy -- defeat the enemy'

Mojiitu/ nawavuunda ma'aduwi wiitu. 'God defeats our enemies.'

kuvunda ah(a)di 'to break a promise' kuvunda balani 'to break a promise' kuvunda baraza [Sw. vunja baraza SSED 519] dismiss, break up a meeting'

Kuvunda chiint^hu/ ni sahali. 'To break something is easy.'

kuvundaa chiṭa 'to disgrace [lit. break the head]' kuvundaa chizaazi '[lit.] to break the genealogy, heritage link' kuvundaa fad(h)i 'to break up a meeting'

kuvunda kaḏiiḏo 'to reduce, lower, break a fever'

Lwato/ ka chindriimu/ na ukí/ huvunda kaḏiiḏo. 'Fennugreek with lemon and honey reduces fever.'

kuvundaa mbavu '[lit.] break the ribs'

Nakhsula kuvundaa mbavú / khṭukula mijombo ayo. 'Do you want to break my ribs by having me carrying those big things?'

kuvunda heshma ‘[lit.] to break respect -- i.e. to not show respect’ kuvunda hima ‘to cause someone to lose enthusiasm’

kuvunda maduuri ‘to go through a forest, bush’ kuvunda maayi ‘to break (of a woman’s water in the course of delivering a child)’ kuvunda mkono ‘[lit.] to break the arm -- to harm’

Munt^hu/ hamvuundi/ waake/ mkono. ‘[Lit.] One does not break his relative’s arm -- i.e. one does not harm/his brother’s effort.’

kuvunda muuyi ‘lit. to destroy a town – of a woman’s water breaking (in the course of giving birth to a child)’

Vunzile muuyi. ‘Her water broke.’

kuvunda muuyi ‘lit. to destroy a town’s economy, cause it to lose its population and business activity etc.’

kuvundaa niya ‘to break the will, heart’

Omari/ huvunda waant^hu/ niya. ‘Omari breaks down the will, heart, commitment of people.’

kuvundaa nt^hupa/ mitupa ‘to break a bottle/ bottles’ idiomatic meaning?

kuvunda nuumba ‘[lit.] to break the house -- i.e. break up a family, husband and wife’

Siwo/ suura/ kuvunda nuumba. ‘It is not good to break up a husband and wife, etc.’

kuvunda nuungu ‘[lit.] to break the pot’

Simvuundilé/ walaaliwo/ nuunguye. ‘Do not break your brother’s pot-- i.e., do not spoil your brother’s daily food earning.’

review

kuvunda peesa ‘to make change’

kuvunda qaanuuni ‘to break the law’ kuvunda qalbi [cf. Sw. vanja moyo SSED 519] ‘[lit.] to break the heart, will -- i.e. be discouraged, demoralized’

Hamadi/ hupeenda/ kuvunda waant^hu/ khalbi. [H’H!H!H] ‘Hamadi likes to discourage people.’

Imvunzilo shaghaalé/ qalbi/ ni pesa haba. ‘What discouraged the worker was the small amount of money (he was paid).’

Nvunzile qalbi. ‘He discouraged me.’

kuvunda ruuhuye ‘to humble oneself, humiliate oneself’ kuvunda shariya ‘to break the rules/laws’

Wiizi/ wavunzile shariya. ‘The thieves broke the law.’

kuvunda thamani [Sw. vanja thamani SSED 519] reduce the price as a result of competition developing ([lit.] to break the price)’

L̄iini/ miizi/ vunzilo mnaangó. ‘When did the thief break down the door?’

Mamaðo/ mvunzile Suufi/ mkono. ‘Mamaðo broke Suufi’s hand.’

Mi/ nvunzile idiriishá. ‘I broke the window.’ Or: Nvunzile idiriishá/ mi.

Miizi/ vunzile mnaango. ‘The thief broke down door.’ Or: Miizi/ vuunzile/ mnaango. ‘The thief broke down the door.’

Muke/ chingila mikooni/ chivundaa nazi. ‘The woman went into the kitchen and broke up some coconut.’

Mvunzile Hamadi/ mkono. ‘He broke Hamadi(’s) arm.’ (Note that the [cl.1] noun Hamadi governs the [cl.1] OM m- on the verb.)

Mwana uje/ vunzile choloko. ‘That child broke a window.’ (cf. Ni mwana uje/ vunzilo cholokó. ‘It is that child who broke the window.’ And: Ndiyé/ mwana uje/ vunzilo cholokó. ‘It is that child who broke the window.’)

Mwana uyu/ vunzile chaaa(che). ‘The child broke his finger.’ (Note that in this example, the noun chaala may appear either bare or with a possessive enclitic. However, in the corresponding passive sentence, chaala may not appear in its bare form: Mwana uyu/ chivunzila chala. One can only say: Mwana uyu/ chivunzila chaalache. ‘This child, his finger was broken.’ The noun questions:

arm.'

- chaalache is the subject of this passive sentence.)
Mwaana/ vuzile choloko ichije. 'The child broke that window.' (cf. Nvuzile choloko ichijé. 'I broke that window.')
- Naani/ vuzilo mnaangó. 'Who broke down the door?'
Nuuru/ vuzilee chiti. 'Nuuru broke a chair.'
Nvuzile kuuluyá. 'I broke my leg (intentionally).'
Nvuzile qalbi. 'He discouraged me.'
- Omari/ vuzilee chiti/ kuulu. 'Omari broke the chair's leg.' (Another speaker may deny this sentence by saying: ā'ā/ vuzile ikono. 'No, he broke the arm.' It would not be appropriate to say: ā'ā/ vuzile kuulu/ chiji.) (The simple yes-no question involves just Q-raising: Omari/ vuzilee chiti/ kuulu? The emphatic yes-no question involves the usual lowering/downstep intonation together with accent shift: Omari/ vuzilee chiti/ kuulú!?)
- Omari/ vuzile 'kuulu/ chiti. 'Omari broke the leg of the bread.' (In the yes-no question version of this sentence with focus on kuulu, there is accent shift in the second complement: Omari/ vuzile 'kuulu/ chiti? The emphatic yes-no question does not in any way reflect focus on kuulu: Omari/ vuzile kuulú/ chiti!?)
- Omari/ vuzile kulu yaa chiti. 'Omari broke the leg of the chair.' (Another person might deny this sentence by saying: ā'ā/ vuzile kulu yaa chiji. 'No, he broke the leg of the bed.' But it is also possible to deny this sentence by saying: ā'ā/ vuzile ikono. 'No, he broke the arm.')
- Omari/ vuzile kulu yani. 'What did he break the leg of?'
- Omari/ vuzileni/ chiti. 'What part of the chair did Omari break?' Or:
Omari/ chiti/ vuzileni. (Possible answers to these Omari/ chiti/ vuzile ikono. 'Omari the chair he broke the Or: Omari/ chiti/ 'ikono/ ivuunziló. 'Omari, the chair, the arm he broke.')
- Simvuundé/ mweenziwo. 'Don't contradict, belie your friend (e.g. if your friend has put on airs, made false claims, etc.)!'
- Tuuma/ mvuzile Haliima/ chaala. 'Tuuma broke Haliima's finger.' Or:
Tuuma/ vuzile chala cha Haliima. 'Tuuma broke the finger of Haliima.'
- Vuzile chilolo. 'He broke the mirror.'
Vuzile idiriisha/ mwana uje. 'That child broke the window.' Vuzilo choloko ichijé/ ndimí. 'The one who broke that window is me.' (cf. Ndimí/ nvuzilo choloko ichijé. 'It is me who broke that window.')
- Vuzile khalamu. 'He broke a pen.'
Vuzile maandra. 'He broke bread into pieces.'
- Vuzilo choloko ichijé/ ni mwaana. 'The one who broke that window is the child.'
- Vuzile shkoombe. 'He broke a cup.'
- We/ chivunda chuluungucho/ cha kaandra/ cha piiji/ hashtakhkalaant'a. 'If you break your first storey, the second will not stand.'
- Ye/ vuzile lkuta la nuumba. 'He broke the wall of the house.'
- Ye/ vuzile nuumba/ lkuta. 'He broke the house the wall.' (The noun nuumba may not control an OM on the verb: Ye/ ivuzile nuumba/ lkuta. 'He broke it the house the wall.' MI did not accept the word order Ye/ vuzile lkuta/ nuumba.)

rel.

ku-vundana v. rec. [Sw. vunjana SSED 519] break one another, contradict one another

Hawavuundani. 'They do not contradict one another.'

Wavundene mikono. 'They broke one another's arms.'

ku-vundavuunda v. redup. (vuzilevuuzile) crumble up, break up

Mi/ kawanazoo nguvú/ sulá mvundavunda Hamadi. 'If I had the strength, I would have (broken Hamadi (cf. English: broken him in two).')

Vuzilevuzile maandra/ tile mtuziini. 'She crumbled up the bread and put it in the soup.’

Wo/ ka khtiyaa si/ khfakata/ wachivundavunda bafera yiitu. ‘Running away from us from fear, they broke our boat.’

ku-vuundika v. p/s. [Sw. vuunjika] (vundishile) break (intr.), be broken, be breakable; fall down

Chala cha Tuuma/ chivundishile. ‘Tuuma’s finger is broken.’ Or: Tuuma/ chaalache/ chivundishile. Or: Tuuma/ vundishile chaala/ (siwo/ kuulu). ‘Tuuma broke (her) finger (not (her) leg).’ But one does not say: Tuuma/ vundishile chaalache. ‘Tuuma broke her finger.’ One can emphasize the body part: Tuuma/ chaala/ chivundishilo. ‘Tuuma’s finger is broken.’ Or: Tuuma/ chaalache/ chivundishilo/ siwo/ kuulu. ‘Tuuma’s finger is broken, not (her) leg.’

Chala cha Tuuma/ chivundishilo/ siwo/ cha Haliima. ‘Tuuma’s finger is broken, not Haliima’s.’

Chiti ichi/ chivundishile. ‘This chair is broken.’

Gaari/ ivundishile ndilaani. ‘The car broke down on the road.’

Gari ya Nuuru/ ivundishile. ‘Nuuru’s car is broken.’ Or: Nuuru/ gaariye/ ivundishile. ‘Nuuru, his car is broken.’ (One cannot say: Nuuru/ vundishile gaari. This contrasts with the acceptability of Nuuru/ vundishile mkono. ‘Nuuru is broken, the hand.’)

Hamadi/ mkono/ uvundishile. ‘Hamadi’s hand/arm is broken.’

Hamadi/ vundishile kuulu. ‘Hamadi broke his leg.’ Or: Kuulu/ imvundishile Hamadi.

Hamadi/ vundishile mkono. ‘Hamadi is broken, the hand/arm.’

Isa/ Mwiini/ inakuvuundika/ na want^huwé/ wanakhpunguka. ‘Now Brava is going into ruin and its people are decreasing in number.’

Ivundishileni. ‘What broke?’

Kuulu/ invundishile. ‘My leg broke.’ Cf. Nvundishile kuulu. ‘I have a broken leg.’

Kuulu/ ivundishile. ‘The leg is broken.’

Kuuluye/ ivundishile. [H^hH] ‘His leg is broken.’ (This example was recorded with declination between the two phrases rather than downstep..)

kuvundika qalbi ‘to be discouraged’

Hamadi/ havuundiki/ qalbi. ‘Hamadi does not get disheartened.’

Hamadi/ vundishile qalbi. ‘Hamadi got disheartened.’

Sivuundiká/ qalbi. ‘Don’t be discouraged, disheartened!’

Vundishilo qalbi/ ni mfanya kaazi. ‘The one who is discouraged is the worker.’

kuvundika qaanuuni ‘(of law) breaking down’

Bilaa dowla/ qaanuuni/ huvuundika. ‘Without the government the law breaks down.’

Mamaðo/ mkono/ umvundishile. ‘Mamadho broke his arm -- [lit.] the arm broke with respect to Mamadho.’ Or, with a less preferred word order: Mamaðo/ umvundishile mkono.

Luti/ likoo n^hi/ halvuundiki. ‘A stick that is on the ground does not break.’ (A proverb.)

Muunt^hu/ vundishile kuulu. ‘The man broke his leg.’

Muuyi/ uvundishile. ‘The town has become ruined (e.g. is in economic decline, people are moving away, etc.).’

Mwaana/ kuulu/ imvundishile. ‘The child’s leg is broken.’

Naani/ vundishilo chaalá. ‘Who broke (his or her) finger?’ Answer: Tuuma/ vundishilo chaalá/ siwo/ Haliima. ‘Tuuma broke her finger, not Haliima.’

Numba izi/ milaangoye/ yavundishile. ‘These houses, their doors are broken.’ Or: Numba izi/ zivundishishile milaango. ‘These houses are broken, the doors.’

Siwo/ Haliima/ chivundishilo chaalá/ ni Tuuma. ‘It is not Haliima who broke her finger, it is Tuuma.’

Tuuma/ chaalache/ chivundishile/ nthashkuṭiindika. ‘Tuuma’s finger is broken, it has not been cut off.’

Tuuma/ vundishileni. ‘What (body part) did she break?’ Answer: Tuuma/ vundishile chaala/ siwo/ kuulu. ‘Tuuma broke the finger, not the leg.’

Ye/ nafsiye/ waliko mariiḍi/ na waliko qalbi/ imvundishile. ‘He himself was sick and he was discouraged (lit. his heart broke).’

Zijamu izi/ huvundika ka sahali. ‘These plates break easily.’

ku-vundikila v. p/s. appl.

Nuumba/ imvundikiliile. ‘The house fell down on him.’

ku-vundikoowa v. p/s. pass.

Matezo ayo/ huvundikowa ka sahali. ‘If one plays these types of games, one will get injured easily.’ Or: Matezo ayo/ huvundikoowa/ ka sahali.

Kibri/ huvundikoowa. ‘Arrogance makes one break.’ (A proverb.)

ku-vuundila v. appl. [Sw. vunjia]

Mvundiile mwaalimu/ khalamu. ‘He broke the teacher’s pen.’

Sarkali uyu/ chivundiile muuyi. ‘The government destroys the town’s economy on us.’

Tete shtoka/ kuvundila naazi. ‘He took an axe to break the coconut with.’

ku-vundilana v. appl. rec.

ku-vuundisha v. caus. [Sw. vunjisha] (vundishiize) cause someone to break something

Baana/ mvundishize Hamadi/ mwaana/ ikoopa. ‘Baana made Hamadi’s child break the glass.’

Mamaḍo/ mvundishize Suufi/ mkono wa mwaana. ‘Mamadho caused Suufi to break the child’s arm.’ (Syn. But this verb cannot be used to say: Mamaḍo/ mvundishize Suufi/ mkono. ‘Mamadho caused Suufi to break (his own) hand.’)

Nimvundishize Nuuru/ chiti. ‘I made Nuuru break the chair.’

Nvundishizee chiti. ‘I had the chair broken.’

ku-vundishana v. caus. rec.

ku-vundishiliza v. caus. appl.

Baana/ mvundishilize Nuuru/ mwaana/ ikoopa. ‘Baana made Nuuru’s child break the glass.’

ku-vundishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Wavundishilizenye waana/ ikoopa. ‘They caused one another’s children to break a glass.’

ku-vundoowa v. pass. [Sw. vunjwa] (-vuunziḷa)

Choloko ichije/ chivunziḷa na mwaana. ‘That window was broken by the child.’

Hamadi/ vunziḷa mkono. ‘Hamadi(s) arm was broken (b y s.o.).’ (One cannot make mkono the subject of the passive verb: Mkono/ uvunziḷa Hamadi.)

Khalamu/ ivunziḷa na Hamadi. ‘The pen was broken by Hamadi.’

Kuuluye/ ivunziḷa. ‘His leg was broken (by someone).’

kuvundowa ah(a)di ‘(of a promise) to be broken

Ah(a)di/ ha’ivundoowi. ‘A promise is not broken.’

kuvundowa balani ‘a promise to be broken, not fulfilled’

Balani/ ni kana/ deeni/ ha’ivundoowi/ laazimu/ khfulishoowa.

‘A promise is like a debt, it must be fulfilled.’

kuvundowa chizaazi ‘(of heritage link) to be broken’

Chizaazi/ hachuvundoowi. ‘The link to one’s heritage is not broken.’

kuvundowa heshma ‘(of respect) not to be shown’

Heshma/ ivundoowi. ‘Respect is not broken -- i.e. respect should be shown.’

kuvundowa qalbi

Muunt^hu/ havundoowi/ qalbi. ‘One is not discouraged/ demoralised).’

Kuvundowa chiint^hu/ ni sahali. ‘For something to be broken is easy.’

Muunt^hu/ kuuluye/ vuunziḷa. [H!H!H] ‘The man broke his leg.’ (One would expect the verb to agree with the ‘possessed’ noun rather than the ‘possessor’, but we recorded this sentence with agreement to muunt^hu. More research on this matter is warranted. With respect to intonation, the pitch drop between the first two phrases was recorded as about 30 Hz. This seems to us to be an instance of declination since the drop between the second and third phrases is even greater.) Cf. Kuuluye/ ivuunziḷa. [H!H] ‘His leg was broken.’

Muunt^hu/ vunziḷa kuulu/ naami. [H!H!H] ‘The man’s leg was broken by me.’

Nuumba/ ivunziḷa choloko. ‘The house was broken the window.’

Nuumba/ ivunziḷa ḷkuta. ‘The house was broken the wall.’ (Not ḷkuta/ ivunziḷa nuumba.)

Nuumba/ kuvundoowa/ siwo/ sahali. ‘For a house to be destroyed is not easy.’

Shkoombe/ chivunziḷa na Omari. ‘The cup was broken by Omari.’

ku-vundowaavundoowa v. redup. pass.

Fijiri/ choloshelopo ḷfuwooní/ khtala baṭera yíitú/ chiwene kuwa baṭeerá/ ivunziḷavuunziḷa. ‘In the morning when we went to the shore to get our boat, we found that the boat has been broken into pieces.’

rel. nom.

chi-vuunda (zi-) n. 7/8 s.t that breaks s.t. (This word was not familiar to GM.)

m-vuundo n. 3 [Sw. mvunjo] ma-vuundo n. 6 the act of breaking s.t.

Mavundo ya mwashi/ vunzilo ḷkutá/ haḷwakiki/ teena/ mara yíingine.

‘The act of breaking of the builder broke the wall, it cannot be built again another time.’

u-vuundo n. 14 [Sw. uvunjo]

Uvuundo/ wa Hamadi/ vunzilo meezá/ jisaa mbovú/ ha’ifaanyiki/ teena.

‘Hamadi’s act of breaking the table is badly done, it cannot be fixed again.’

chi-vuundo (zi-)

n. 7/8 7/8 [no etymological source identified] corner, angle; hiding place, secret place

Chivuundoche/ chiwiḷa. ‘His secret hiding place was discovered.’

Nimlinzile Jeelí/ chivundooní. ‘I waited for Jeeli at the corner.’

ḷ-vuundo

n. 11 [Sw. uvundo SSED 518] bad smell

ikana ḷvuundo ‘bad-smelling mouth’

Kuja/ ichiwola/ hununk^ha ḷvuundo. ‘If food gets spoiled, it smells bad.’

ḷvuundo/ kolko bakhtí ‘of smelling worse than s.t. dead’ ḷNama/ inakununk^ha ḷvuundo. ‘The meat smells bad.’ Or: Inakununk^ho ḷvuundró/ nii ḷnama. ‘What smells bad is the meat.’

ḷNama i(y)i/ inakununk^ha ḷvuundo. ‘This meat smells bad.’

Omari/ kanaye/ hununk^ha ḷvuundo. ‘Omari’s mouth smells bad.’

Omari/ ikanaye/ ḷvuundo. ‘Omari’s mouth is bad-smelling.’

m-vuungu (mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mvungu SSED 317] space under the bed used for storage

Hasiibu/ shtomolaa ziwo/ za waawaye/ ka mivunguuni. ‘Hasiibu took out the books of his father from the spaces under the bed.’

Husuḷo chimo mvunguuni/ hayimhuri/ kiinama. ‘The one who wants what is under the bed cannot help stooping.’ (A proverb.)

Maama/ chimjiiba/ ya kuwa/ ziwo/ za waawaye/ zimo nṭ^hini ya mivuungu. ‘His mother answered him that the books of his father were in the storage space under the bed.’

waaliko shfateeme ndraani ya mivuungu [nt.] ‘we hid under beds’

ma-vuno

n. 6 harvest

Muundrawa/ ni mkulu/ laakini/ mavunoye/ hayayezi/ lkusi. ‘My farm is large but its harvest does not fill a hand.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is: mashuungi ‘hair’.)

Mukhta wakhti/ wa mavunó/ ukomeeló/ washfunga safari/ kendra kuvuna. ‘When the time for harvesting arrived, they prepared to take a journey to go to harvest (the garden).’

n-vuno

n. worms (that hatch from rotten foods)

Ayuubu jismuye nvuno zingile [st.] ‘worms entered Job’s body’

Kuja/ iwozele/ hatá/ ilazilee nvuno. ‘The food rotted until worms came out of it.’

ku-vurumisha

v. caus. [Sw. vurumisha “cause a thing to be stirred up, to buzz round and round” SSED 519] (vurumishiize) throw away something unwanted, with anger and hate; leave s.o. without due care (implying that they are unwanted) (When said with anger and hate, the r in this stem is geminated.)

Ali/ vurumishize chibuuku. ‘Ali threw the book away.’

Mwaana/ iwilopo kuwa dughaaghi/ yaa ye/ ubleeló/ siwo/ siimba/ chimvurumisha. ‘When the boy learned that the animal that he had killed was not the lion, he threw it down.’

Sultaani/ shtomola amri/ chiwa’ambila want^hu wa muuyi/ wotte/ keendra/ kumshiika/ Abunawaasi/ kumtila ndrani ya ijuuniya/ kuyeza ijuuniya/ majiwe/ khfungaa kana/ kanmake/ kuvurumisha ijuuniya/ iyo/ bahariini. ‘The sultan issued an order and told all the people of the town to go and arrest Abunawaasi and to put him inside a sack and to fill the sack with stones and to tie up the opening and then to throw that sack into the sea.’

Vurumisha sigareeti/ yimó/ mkooni/ kaakó. ‘Throw away the cigarette you have in your hand.’

Wa’itukiile/ iyo ijuuniya/ wa’ivurumishize bahariini. ‘They carried that sack and they threw it into the sea.’

Watete waana/ wavurumishiize. ‘They took the children and left them without proper care.’

rel.

ku-vurumishiliza v. caus. appl. throw at Saalimu/ mvurumishilize Sa’iidi/ zibuuku. ‘Saliimu threw books at Sa’iidi.’

ku-vurumishilizoowa v. caus. appl. pass. be thrown at Mwaana/ vurumishiliza majiwe. ‘At the child was thrown stones.’

ku-vurumishoowa v. caus. pass. (vurumishiiza)

Sultaani/ kasizopo za ma’askari/ wahadiiló/ chizida khshikowa shtana/ chamura Hasani/ kuvurumishoowa/ habasaani. ‘When the sultan heard what the soldiers said, he grew more angry, and he ordered Hasani to be thrown into prison.’

Majiwe/ yavurumishiiza. [H!H] ‘Stones were thrown. Or:

Yavurumishiiza/ ni majiwe. [H’H] ‘What were thrown are stones.’

Mwaana/ vurumishiza majiwe. [H!H] ‘The child was thrown at stones.’

Watakuvurumishoowa/ mułooni/ keesho/ aakhera. ‘They will be thrown into the fire in the Afterlife.’

ku-vuusha

v. caus. [Sw. vusha SSED 516] (vushiize) make someone cross a body of water (This verb appears to be in origin a causative form of the verb kuvuuka, which in the Kitikuu dialect of Swahili means “to cross a river, or from one island to another”; however, in Chimwiini we have only recorded for kuvuuka the meaning “to go away” and not a meaning that is specific to crossing a body of water.)

Ali/ mvushize mwaana/ wowi. 'Ali made the child cross the river.'

ku-vuuta

v. [Sw. vuta SSED 520] (vuusile) pull, drag

Gaari/ ya Nuuru/ imvusile gari ya Aba/ imtomele matotopeeni. 'Nuuru's car pulled Aba's car out from the mud.'

kuvuta gaari 'to tow a car'

kuvuta mapula 'to sniffle' kuvuta neefu/ kaa kana 'to inhale with the mouth' kuvuta neefu/ kaa mp^hula 'to inhale with the nose' kuvuta ngoroonzi 'to snore'

Hamadi/ chilaala/ huvuta ngoroonzi/ kurr kurr. 'When Hamadi sleeps, he snores.'

Nakuvuta magoroonzi. 'He is snoring.'

kuvuta sigareeti 'to smoke a cigarette, to take a drag'

Sivuuté. 'Don't pull!'

Vusile sanduukhu. 'He dragged the box.'

rel.

ku-vuutana v. rec. pull one another ku-vuutika v. p/s. able to be pulled

Maayi/ ya'ingilo ka Mukhtaari/ numbaani/ miingi/ hayavuutiki/ ka bomba ichi/ chihaba. 'The water that entered Mukhtaari's house is too much, it cannot be pulled out by this small pump.'

ku-vuutika v. appl. pull for or with Ivutilile sigareeti. 'And so he smoked a cigarette.'

Kheeri/ vutila kiinu. 'As for blessing, pull it towards one's own (i.e. if there is something to be gained or gotten, let it go to one's relatives, one's own family and not to others).' (A proverb.)

Omari/ lesele makiina/ kuvutila maayi/ ya'ingilo basmenteeni/ ka Haaji/ numbaani. 'Omari brought a machine to extract the water that had entered the basement of Haaji's house.'

ku-vuutisha v. caus. cause to pull, smoke a cigarette

Mvutishize mwaana/ sigareeti. 'He caused the child to smoke cigarettes.'

ku-vutoowa v. pass. be pulled Gaari/ ya Ali/ ikalene matotopeeni/ inakuvutoowa. 'Ali's truck is stuck in the mud, it is being pulled.'

ku-vuuya

v. [Sw. vuja SSED 516] (-vuyiile) leak, trickle, drip; fall (of rain)

Baazi/ wena maatozi/ yachimvuuya. 'Baazi was seen crying.'

ha^tá/ khalamu/ imvuyile ka zalaani 'until the pen slipped from his fingers'

Hamadi/ maatozi/ yanamvuuya. 'Tears are trickling slowly down Hamadi's face.' Or: Maatozi/ yanamvuya Hamadi. or Maatozi/ yanamvuuya/ Hamadi. or Hamadi/ yanamvuya maatozi. or Hamadi/ yanamvuuya/ Hamadi. (Syn: One would not say *Hamadi/ nakuvuya maatozi.)

Jasi/ ivuyiile. 'The roof leaked.'

Maayi/ yanakuvuya (ka) wadamuuni. 'Water is leaking from the bucket.' (Syn: It is ungrammatical to not use the locative enclitic in this example: *Maayi/ yanakuvuya (ka) wadamu.

Maayi/ yavuyiile. 'Water dripped down.'

Maayi/ yavuyile (ka) birikhiini. 'Water leaked from the kettle.'

Maayi/ yavuyiile/ ka wadamuuni. [H'H!H] 'Water leaked from the bucket.'

Mbene maatozi/ yachimvuya Baazi. 'I saw tears trickling down Baazi's face.'

Mp^hete mahala inakuvuuyó. 'I found the place where it is leaking.'

Nimwene Baazi/ maatozi/ yachimvuuyá. 'I saw tears trickling down Baazi's face.'

Wadamu/ inakuvuuya. 'The bucket is leaking.'

Wadamu/ inakuvuya maayi. 'The bucket is leaking water.'

	Wadaamu/ ivuyile maayi. [H!H] ‘The bucket leaked water.’ rel. ku-vuuyila v. appl. (-vuyiliile) fall down on, leak into Hamadi/ weshele ibaa_ldi/ maayi/ kuvuyila ka jasiini. ‘Hamadi put a bucket for water to leak into from the roof.’ Nvula/ imvuyi_lile mwaana. ‘The rain fell on the child.’ ku-vuuyisha v. caus. (vuyishiize) Haliima/ tumbile sufuriya/ kuvuyisha m_tuzi. ‘Haliima punctured the dish to let soup drip out.’ ku-vuyishiliza v. caus. appl. (vuyishiliize) ku-vuyishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. (-vuyishilizeenye) ku-vuyoowa v. pass. (-vuyi_lla) Hamadi/ nakuvuyowa na ma_tozi. ‘[Lit.] Hamadi was trickled by tears.’ (Syn. MI considered this sentence to be acceptable, but not the sort of sentence that would be frequently used.) rel. nom. m-vuuyo n. 3 leaking
n-vuuye	n. [cf. Sw. mvuje "a tree, the gum of which is evil-smelling" (Asafoetida) SSED 316] a resin or gum with a bad smell. Small pieces are mixed with water and drunk as a remedy against intestinal worms/parasites. Also used in smoking out snakes. Nvuuye/ huburishaa noka. ‘Nvuuye expels [smokes out] snakes.’
i-vuuyu (mi-)	n. 5/4 [cf. Sw. buibui SSED 40] spider Ivuuyu/ im_tufi_lile/ mate. ‘The spider spit on him.’ Mate ya ivuuyu/ ni kha_tari. ‘A spider’s sputum is dangerous.’ U_hlele ivuuyu/ ilusi/ ikulu. ‘She killed a large black spider.’
ku-vuzila	v. [Sw. vuvia SSED 520] (vuziile) blow with the mouth; blow (as wind) Baabu/ nakuvuzila firiimbi. ‘Baabu is blowing the whistle.’ Bur’i/ nakuvuzila ipiira. ‘Bur’i is blowing up the balloon.’ L_pepo/ inakuvuzila. ‘The wind is blowing.’
=w-	[cl.3] possessive agreement Muuyi/ mzimawe/ washizaa tala. ‘The whole town (lit. town its whole) was lit with lamps.’
wa-	[cl.2] subject prefix; [morphophonemic variants: wa-, waa-, wa’-] Ma’askari/ wachiluma zaala/ ki_lla mooyi/ nakhsu_lla/ kuwa ndiyé/ takhshiindó. ‘The soldiers bit their fingers, each one wants to be the one who wins [and thus marries the sultan’s daughter].’ (Although ma’askari is formally a [cl.6] noun taking the prefix ma-, it governs human [cl.2] agreement on the subject prefix.) ngoombe/ kawaafá ‘if cows/ the cows were to die’ Wajile liini. ‘When did they eat?’ Waant^hu/ wa’ingile numbaani. ‘People entered the house.’ Wabjaana/ na wiimbili/ wotte/ wachiruuda. ‘Young boys and boys all came back.’ Wake/ wapapent^he maandra. ‘The women shaped the dough into bread.’ Waant^hu/ wa muuyi/ wawenopo markabú/ wotte/ wa’ile fuwooni. ‘When the people of the town saw the ship, they all came to the shore.’
-wa-	[cl.2] object prefix Abdalla/ chiwaraasha/ askari/ cheendra/ mbele za sultaani. ‘Abdalla

followed the soldiers to go in front of the sultan.’ (Note that while askari ‘soldier(s)’ is formally a [cl.9/10] noun lacking a prefix, it triggers human [cl.1/2] agreement on the verb.)

Chiwapa kuja yaawo/ wachija. ‘She gave them their food (and) they ate.’
Chiwa’ambila/ haye/ isa/ kalant’aaani/ ninfungulile laano. ‘She told them: well, now, sit down so that I may recount to you a story.’
kuwabiga ‘to hit them [cl.2]’
Hasani/ chiwalangala/ tu. ‘Hasani just looked at them.’
Niwalooselé. ‘I dreamed about them.’
Siwakooðishé. ‘Don’t talk to them!’ or ‘Don’t make them talk!’
Sultaani/ sh’omola amri/ chiwapa/ askarize/ khkumaanganya/ majuuniya/ miingi/ kiyaweka tayaari. ‘The sultan issued an order to his soldiers to collect many sacks and to keep them ready.’
(Ye/) ka’oloká/ suja kuwawona. ‘If he went, he would see them.’

wa-

[cl.2] noun class prefix

This prefix is wa- before consonant-initial stems:

wabjaana ‘young boys’
wake ‘women’
wazeele ‘parents’

This prefix has the shape w- before vowel-initial stems not derived from verbs:

waalimu ‘teachers’
waana ‘children’
wanafuunzi ‘students’
weenza ‘friends’
wiimbili ‘boys’
wiipa ‘sister’s children’
wiizi ‘thieves’

Before deverbal vowel-initial stems, wa- is retained but is separated from the following vowel by a glottal stop.

wa’endresha ‘supervisors’ wa’imbaaji ‘singers’ wa’iskitika ‘ones who feel sorrowful’ wa’osha ‘ones who wash’

wa-

[cl.2] agreement prefix

w-otte ‘all [cl.2]’

w-a

[cl.2] associative particle; see also under -a

Wana wa Nuuru/ wa’oloshéle. ‘The children of Nuuru left.’

wa

interjection expressing amazement

Chimwambila oyo mzeele/ wa/ mi/ chilaatu/ chimp’hotela/ isa/ mi/ jisa/ khfaanya/ siná. ‘She [“Cinderella”] told the old woman, Wa!, a shoe fell off [my foot], now I do not know [lit. have] what to do.’

Wa/ leelo/ ninpatililee kujá/ nt’aziná/ ba/ adadi. ‘Wa! Today I have gotten for you food that has no count.’

Wa/ Omari/ oloshéle. ‘What! Omari went?’

i-wa

n. sun (In the first published article on Chimiini, Whiteley (196x) observed that tone might be contrastive in the language, citing the difference between [íwa] ‘sun’ which has a penult H tone and [iwá] ‘get to know s.t.!’ The final accent in the second example is the consequence of the fact that in imperative verbs of the shape VCV, the initial vowel is ignored for purposes of accent placement. We know that these verbs are not true “final-accent triggers” since when they are put together into a phrase with another word, the phrase is not assigned final accent. See the discussion of final-accent triggers in the introductory materials.) iwa/ kana/ a’daabu ‘a (hot) sun like hell’

Ka iwa/ tu/ chiikó/ hattá/ sku mo/ haayinyi/ ba/ nt'hi iyi/ nvula. 'With the sun only have we lived; until this day it has not rained in this land.'

kana iwa 'like the sun'

Haliima/ osheze zoombo/ zinakuwala/ kana iwa. 'Haliima washed stuff, they are as bright as the sun.'

kubiga iwa 'to be struck by the sun'

Ingila numbaani/ iwa/ isikhubige. 'Enter the house so that the sun won't hit you.'

kudara iwa

Iwa/ indariile/ haba mo/ shpataa nguvu.

Iwa/ ni imuḷo. 'The sun is hot.'

Masku ayo/ mazimaye/ wachoowela/ fijiri/ iwa/ ilazilopó/ kaa kule/ wachiwona chisiwa. 'The whole night they swam, and in the morning when the sun came out, in the distance they saw an island.'

Mwelppe/ kana/ iwa. 'He is as white as the sun.'

Wakomeele/ mahaḷaa wo/ waḷasilo zombo zaawó/ khariibu/ ya iwa/ kiingila.

'They reached the place where they left their supplies near sunset [i.e. near of the sun entering].'

ku-wa

v. [Sw. wa SSED 521] (weele) be, become

Ali/ haawi/ mzeele. 'Ali does not become old (i.e. he always looks young).'

Chibuku ichi/ kachiwa chiwaliko nch'aaká/ mi/ suḷa kiiwa. 'If this book was mine, I would know it.'

Chibuku ichi/ kachiwa nch'aaká... 'If this book were mine (but it is not)...'

Chiint^hu/ haachiwi/ ka chiicho. 'A thing does not come into being by itself.' (A proverb.)

Chisuḷa kuwa taajiri/ sibaðizé/ maaliyo. 'If you want to be rich, don't squander your money.'

chiwa Ali/ wele mwaalimu 'if Ali has become a teacher'

Chiwa belee ndilá/ maduriini/ mera mahaḷa ya iwa huḷawó/ amó/ hiingiló. 'If you lose your way in the forest, look for the place where the sun rises or the sun sets.'

Chiwaa mi/ nnayo ijini/ naawé/ nayo ijini. 'If I am crazy, then as well you are crazy.'

chiwaa we/ nakandikaa khaḭi 'if you are writing a letter'

Chiwaa we/ ni dakhḭari/ ingila. 'If you are a doctor, come in.'

chiwaa ye/ nakhsuḷaa muke/ wa masku mooyi 'if he wants a woman for one evening'

Endrá/ mmeere/ mahaḷa/ itaakuwó. 'Go and look for it in any place where it might be!'

Haḭá/ kanaa we/ nazo peesá/ kilaa chiint^hu/ haayiwi. 'Even if you have money, not everything is possible.'

Hunk^hajila/ Jeeli/ nakuwa mwaalimu. 'I think that Jeeli is becoming a teacher.'

Huwa/ huwó/ nda mwajiitu. 'It occurs, that which occurs comes from God.' (A proverb.)

Itaakuwó/ inaawe. 'What will be, let it be.'

Iwele kuwa Sa'iidi/ ni mwenye sabri. 'It happened (was fortunate) that Saiidi was a patient man.'

Jeeli/ nakuwa mwaalimu. 'Jeeli is becoming a teacher.'

ka nasiibuye/ kuwa suura 'because his luck was good'

Kaachiwá/ suḷa khaambila. 'If we were (e.g. police agents), we would tell you.'

(Observe the lengthening of the conditional prefix ka in this example. It is interesting to notice that this lengthening is present when the subject prefix is chi 'us' but not when it is chi '[cl.7]', e.g. kachiwá 'if it [cl.7] had been'.)

Keesho/ nt'akuwako Mambasa. 'Tomorrow I shall be in Mombasa.' (This example contains the first person singular form of the future tense of the verb 'be' with the locative enclitic =ko.)

kuwa mnene 'to be fat'

kuwa mzeele 'to be, become old'

kuwa siita 'to turn sour'

Laakini/ siimba/ nt^hakuwaaliko/ ba'iidi. 'But a/the lion was not far away.' (The verb here is the [cl.1] subject form of the negative past tense of 'be', where the element li occurs between 'be' and the locative enclitic =ko.)

Limi/ ni chinama/ tu/ nt^haliná/ mwishpa/ Nt^haku/ chiint^hu/ hureebó/ Hisaabuye/ mwishpa/ mahaja/ ichiwaamo/ chiint^hu/ haayiwi/ ma'anaye/ nasha. 'The tongue is flesh only, it has no bone. There is nothing to stop it (metaphorically: to constrain it from saying whatever it wishes to say, be it true or false). That's to say, if a bone is somewhere in something, it is not, I mean (lit. its meaning) smooth (i.e. if the tongue had a bone, false words would not so smoothly come forth).'

maame/ kawa hayi 'if my mother were alive'

Maandra/ iwelee nk^havu. 'The bread has gotten dry.'

Mi/ nk^hawaa munó/ mi/ suła khpoowa/ makooko/ naawé/ zijo. 'If I were your little sister, would I be given rice crust and you zijo?'

Muunt^hu/ oyo nakuwo mwaalimú/ ni Jeeli. 'The man who is becoming a teacher is Jeeli.'

Naani/ nakhsomo kuwa mwaalimú. 'Who is studying to be a teacher?'

Naani/ nakuwo mwaalimú. 'Who is becoming a teacher?'

Ni Jeeli/ nakuwo mwaalimú. 'It is Jeeli who is becoming a teacher.'

Nk^hawa noloshelé/ suła kuwa niwaweené. 'If I had gone, I would have seen them.'

Nt^hakuwa mzelee. 'I will be an old man.'

Nt^hashkuwaalimo/ karka mashaawuri/ ayo. 'We were not involved in those affairs.'

(The verb here is the first person plural form of the negative past tense form of 'be' in conjunction with the locative enclitic =mo. The element li follows 'be' in the past tense.)

numba/ nzimaye/ inawe yaako 'so that the whole house be yours'

Oyo muunt^hu/ chimuuzá/ iweleeyi/ nuumbayo/ iyi/ ni numba ya waziiri.

'That man asked him: how did it become your house? This is the house of the minister.'

Oyo/ takuwo bozelo peesazá/ takulipa. 'Who(ever) has stolen my money will have to pay for it.' Other variants recorded: Oyo/ taakuwó/ bozelo peesazá/ takulipa. Or: Oyo/ taakuwó/ bozelo peesazá/ takulipa. Or: Oyo/ taakuwó/ boozelé/ peesazá/ takulipa. (Note there is variation between whether the verb 'he stole' shifts its final vowel to o or not. There is also variation in whether there is verb emphasis on 'he will be' as well as on 'he stole'. But in any case, the verb emphasis does not impede the projection of final accent to the end of the relative clause.)

Sku mooyi/ nt^hafsirilile ndrootoza/ na zaa ye/ nambiiló/ zote/ stulushile/ ziwele lila. 'One day he explained to me my dreams and everything that he told me happened and came true.'

Teena/ ichiwa ye/ naku'iisha/ na mwanaamke. 'Then it was that he lived with his daughter.'

Teena/ wachiwa/ wanakooða. 'Then they started talking [lit. they became they were talking].'

Uu/ hadiile/ uu/ hadiile/ haayiwi/ kooði. 'This one said, this one said does not become talk.' (A proverb.)

Wana awa/ kawa mbwaaká... 'If these children were mine...' Cf. Mwana uyu/ kawa mbwaaká... 'If this child were mine...'

Wowi/ iwelee nk^havu. 'The river dried up.'

Zibuku izi/ chiwa nzaaká... 'If these books are mine...' (Cf. Zibuku izi/ schiwa zaaká... 'If these books become mine...' Cf. also: Chibuku ichi chiwa nch^haaaká... 'If this book is mine...' and Chibuku ichi/ shchiwa chaaká... 'If this book becomes mine...')

rel.

ku-weelele v. appl.

Duniya/ imweelele/ miinza. 'The world became darkness for him.'

huwaweelele 'it becomes/ gets for them'

Ikooti/ imbelelele chihaba. ‘The coat became small, short for me.’
Ka dhibu/ kumwelele niingi/ mwaana/ chi’azima/ kondroka ka apo.
 ‘Because there were many difficulties weighing on him, the boy decided to move from there.’
ka sababu kumwelele/ mwaanawe/ wahali ‘in order to be company for her son’ kuwelele raaði ‘to forgive’
Mi/ khiriilé/ we/ kumbelele moojá. ‘I agreed for you to be my master.’
Mwaana/ mbelele mwovu. ‘The child turned out bad on me.’
Na imwelele/ kuwa nt^haná/ budi/ ye/ kuuza/ chulungu cha kaandra.
 ‘And it became for him that there was no way out but for him to sell the first storey of the house (having earlier sold the second storey only).’
Takhurashiliza myaana/ takhuwelele maama/ takhuwelele yaa we/ nakhsuuló. ‘She will be a servant to you, she will be a mother to you, she will be whatever you want.’

ku-woowa v. pass. (-wele)

Iwela waalimu. ‘Some people became teachers [lit. there was becoming teachers].’

Mule/ na chigobé/ muunt^hu/ huzaliloowa/ laakini/ mwambaamba/ na mnené/ huwonoowa. ‘Tall and short a person is born with, but skinny and fat one becomes.’ (A proverb.)

ku-wa

v. aux. be

Mi/ speendi/ we/ kuwa fiilé. ‘I don’t wish you dead!’

Walwaawo/ wachirashmánya/ wachiwa wanakendra ka siimba. ‘Both together followed one another and they went went to Lion.’

ku-waa-li-ko

v. past tense copular verb

waaliko ‘you were’

Waliko (karka) numba ganí. ‘Which house were you at?’

waaliko ‘(s)he was’

Ali/ waliko nakuwa mwaana/ msuura. ‘Ali was becoming a good child.’

Hutaraja/ kuwa Hamadi/ waaliko/ festaani. ‘I wish that Hamadi had been at the party.’

Omari/ chiiwa/ kuwa Haliima/ kódele wanaafakhi/ tarafu ya mahaļa yaa ye/ waalikó. ‘Omari was aware that Haliima had lied about where she was.’

mbaaliko first person singular

Hutaraja/ kuwaa mi/ mbaliko festaani. ‘I wish that I had been at the party.’

Mbaliko numbaani. ‘I was at home.’ Or: Mbaalikó/ numbaani.

zaaliko [cl.10]

Kawa mbarakhá/ ziiṭú/ zaliko niḏaamó/ si/ suļa kuwa chivuushilé/ ka paapo. ‘If our documents had been in order we would have gone immediately.’

wa’

ideo. (cf. Sw. -washa waa ‘light at once’)

Ba’adi yaa ye/ kingila mṭanaani/ wa kulaala/ darshizee nali/ ka paapo/ wa’!/ jisaa ye/ khpata kuwona haļaawu/ mashakhaale/ wa’aminiiłá/ kulangaļa nuumbá/ wafanyiižó. ‘After entering in the bedroom, he put on the lights at once in order to see the damage that the workers whom he had entrusted with looking after the house had done.’

ku-wa’adisha

v. (wa’adishiize) preach to a group, giving advice

Kiļaa jima/ masheekhi/ huwa’adisha/ diini/ muskitiini. ‘Every Friday scholars preach religion in mosques.’

wa’adi

n. advice, counsel, sermon; variant form: wa’adi

Laakini/ Sa’iidi/ iize/ khtila ishkiłooni/ waano/ na wa’adí. ‘But Sa’iidi refused to heed the warnings and advice.’

mooja chiloongole chiraashe wa’adi [st.] ‘O God show us the right way so that we may follow good advice’ ya nafsi raasha wa’adi na waano/ ni qowli ya mtume stoshe ni laano [st.] ‘oh mortals, follow the advice and warnings, they are the words of the Prophet, do not think it is a story’ Ye/ hataali/ wa’adi. ‘He won’t listen to (lit. take) advice.’

wadaamu n. 9/10 [Som. wadaan DSI 603; that the n at the end of the stem here is underlyingly a m in Somali is shown by the plural form wadaamo] any receptacle for fetching water from a well (but in Somali the word refers to a leather bucket that is used to fetch water from a well)

Maayi/ karka wadaamu/ yanakuvuuya. ‘The water in the bucket is leaking.’

Maayi/ yatila wadamuuni. ‘Water was poured into the bucket.’

Maayi/ yavuyiile/ ka wadamuuni. ‘Water leaked from the bucket.’

Mwanaamke/ yezeze wadaamo/ maayi. ‘The girl filled the bucket with water.’ Or: Mwanaamke/ yezeze maayi/ wadaamo.

Uzile wadaamu/ kumtekela maamaye/ maayi. ‘He bought a bucket to fetch water for his mother with.’ (Observe in this sentence how the applied verb -tekela permits both a beneficiary (maamaye) and an instrumental (wadaamu) to appear without a preposition.)

Uzile wadaamu/ khtekela maayi. ‘He bought a bucket to fetch water with.’

Wadaamu/ itila maayi. ‘The bucket had water poured into it.’ (Syn.

Interestingly, one cannot say: Maayi/ yatila wadaamu. ‘Water was poured into the bucket.’ If the logical direct object is to be the subject of the passive verb, then the recipient must be in its locative form.

Wadaamu/ inakuvuya maayi. ‘The bucket is leaking water.’

Wadaamu/ ivuyile maayi. ‘The bucket leaked water.’

Wo/ watilopo wadamu yaawó/ chisimaani/ Yuusufu/ chishika wadaamu/ awa/ wachigita wadaamu. ‘When they put their bucket in the well, Yuusufu clung to the bucket and they pulled up the bucket.’

Ye/ nt^hakuwaó/ wadaamu/ yaa ye/ khtekela maayi. ‘He did not have a bucket with which to fetch water.’

Zeena/ tile maayi/ wadamuuni. ‘Zeena poured water into the bucket.’

waadi n. valley; var. iwaadi

Gaari/ iburbushile/ ipotele karka waadi/ nk^hulu/ itozeja. ‘The car crashed and fell into a big valley, it went missing (no one can see where it is).’

Shkoma mahala/ yiko iwaadi/ ikulu. ‘He reached a place, at that place there was a large valley.’

waduudi adj. [Ar. wadūd W 1058] favorably disposed (This word is not known to our primary consultant and likely not in general use.)

chimnoombe ma’abudi / rabbi rahiimu waduudi [st.] ‘let us beg the one to be adored, the Lord, [who is] compassionate and favorably disposed’

waaðehe adj. clear; variant form: waaðihi

Baazi/ waliko waaðehe/ tarafu yaa ye/ suljiiló. ‘Baazi was very clear about what he wanted.’

Fardoosa/ fanyize waaðehe/ kuwaa ye/ ni tayaari/ kichisaayda/ si. ‘Fardoosa gave a clear indication that she is ready to help us.’

Habba/ ni waaðehe/ tarafu ya khisa/ iseeló. ‘Very little about the rest of the story is clear.’

Inakuwonoowa/ waaðehe/ kuwa Baazi/ nakhkoða wanaafakhi. ‘It is clear to see that Baazi is lying.’

ka waaðihi ‘clearly’

Koođi/ suura/ waađehe/ huhadika. ‘Good words and clear can be said.’
Mi/ nakhfanya ruuhuyá/ waađehe? ‘Do I make myself clear?’
Mi/ siná/ waađehe/ kaamili/ nini/ iwelo ghaltá. ‘I’m not entirely clear what’s actually gone wrong.’
Mzele wa muuyi/ fanyize waađehe/ ye/ halati/ iyi/ khtuluka. ‘The mayor has made clear he will not let this happen.’
Ni waađehe/ kuwa Abú/ shkhiyanseeŋe. ‘It is clear that Abu cheated/betrayed us.’
Nt^haasá/ siwo/ waađehe/ liini/ amá/ mahalaamp^hi/ Baazi/ takeendró. ‘It’s not yet clear when or where Baazi will go.’
Nt^ha’ikuwaaliko/ waađehe/ ka khisani/ ariplaano/ ipoteeló. ‘It is not clear why the airplane crashed.’
Omari/ ziinaze/ waađehe/ kiła mo/ hukhaadira/ khsooma. ‘Omari’s handwriting is clear, anyone can read it.’
Sababu ya Omari/ chiza kuya shiriini/ waađehe. ‘Omari’s reason for not attending the meeting is clear.’
Sheekhi/ koođize/ waađehe/ kiła mo/ hukhaadira/ khtaambula. ‘Sheekhi, his talking is clear, any one can understand.’
Yaliko waađehe/ ka koođize/ kuwa Fardoosa/ nt^hakhiira/ fi’ili/ za Baazi. ‘It was clear from her comments that Fardoosa did not approve of Baazi’s actions.’
Yaliko waađehe/ wakhŋi miingi/ kuwa nt^haku/ chiint^hu/ chisuura/ shŋakuyo ka yaa wó/ wafanyiizó. ‘It’s been clear for a long time that nothing good would come from what they did.’
Ye/ fanyiizee yó/ waađehe/ kuwaa mi/ sinakhsuloowa. ‘He’s made it clear I’m not wanted.’
Ye/ fanyizee yo/ waađehe/ kuwaa ye/ hapeendi/ kaazi. ‘He has made it clear that he does not want the job.’
Ye nayo piicha/ waađehe/ ya iyo itulushiló. ‘She had a clear view of what happened.’
Ye/ nt^hakhfaanya/ waađehe/ kanaa ye/ takhkalant^ha Mwiini. He did not make clear whether he would stay in Brava.’

ku-wađihika

v. p/s. [cf. Ar. wađaha W 1076] (-wađihishile) (be able to be) understood, explained Ije su’aali/ iwađihishile. ‘The question was explained.’

rel.

ku-wađihisha v. caus. (wađihishiize) make clear, explain ku-wađihishiliza v. caus. appl. explain to Nimwađihishilize Jaamá/ mas’alá. ‘I explained the problem to Jaama.’

(Syn. It appears to be possible to locate mas’ala immediately after the verb without making it the focus, in which case the final accent triggered by the verb extends to the end of the verb phrase:

Nimwađihishilize mas’alá/ Jaamá. If mas’ala is the focus, of course, then the final accent does not extend past it:

Nimwađihishilize mas’alá/ Jaama.)

ku-wađihishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. explain to one another ku-wađihishilizoowa v. caus. appl. pass.

Chiwađihishiliizá/ jawaabu/ zote. [H’H’H] ‘We were explained all the matters.’

Chiwađihishiliizá/ koođi/ zote. [H’H’H] ‘All the words were explained to us [lit. we were explained all the words].’

Jaama/ wađihishiliza mas’ala/ naami. ‘Jaama was made to understand the problem by me.’ (Syn. Only Jaama and not mas’ala can be the subject of the passive verb here. It is possible, however, to switch the order of the words, without changing the grammatical relationships: Mas’ala/ wađihishiliza Jaama. ‘Jaama was made to understand the problem.’ Observe that the postposed subject Jaama is phrased together with the verb.)

ku-wađihishoowa v. caus. (-wađihishiiza) be explained, made clear

Mas’ala/ iwađihishiiza. ‘The problem was explained.’

- mu-waafaqa* n. 3 agreement; [pron. muwaafaqa or muwaafakha] Omari/ na Hamadi/ wakomele muwaafakha/ khsaaydana. ‘Omari and Hamadi reached an agreement to help each other.’
rel.
u-waafaqa n. 14 togetherness; [usu. pron. uwaafakha] Guuli/ hupatowa ka uwaafakha. ‘Victory is achieved by being united.’
uwaafakha una kheeri [song] ‘togetherness has blessing’
- wafaati* n. the time of death, death
Muunthu/ suura/ kudardaarmaṭa/ khabla ya wafaati. ‘It is good to leave a will before the time of death.’
somaani ya niya karka wafaati [st.] ‘read [the Quran] with the intention to do so [stated] at the time of death’
- wafdi* n. [Som. wafdi DSI 604] delegation (this is part of the "official vocabulary" that entered Chimini after the independence of Somalia)
Leelo/ wafdi/ wa’ilo Mwiini/ ka Mkhodiisho. ‘Today a delegation came to Miini from Mogadishu.’ (This example illustrates the pseudo-relativization that affects a main verb when a pre-verb element is focused. It also illustrates that in pseudo-relativization, the entire verb phrase does not necessarily fall within the scope of the final accent triggered by the verb. Here ka Mkhodiisho does not exhibit final accent. This is not the case when the verb is a true relative verb.)
Nuuru/ ni mooyi/ karka wafdi/ watumila kingilaa shiri/ Misra. ‘Nuuru is one of a delegation sent to attend a meeting in Egypt.’
- waafi* n. as complete and correct as possible (specifically with respect to weighing correctly and not reducing the weight, or with respect to talking correctly and completely) Ali/ miizaaniye/ siwo/ waafi/ ni nukhsaani (or: ni gaasiri). ‘Ali’s scale is not accurate, it (weighs) less than the correct weight.’
Ghaltaze/ zinakoonyesha/ kuwaa ye/ nt^hana/ khpata/ mp^humuzi/ waafi. ‘His mistakes show that he is not getting enough rest.’
Muunthu/ miizaani/ laazimu/ khfanya waafi/ chiza khiyansaṭa waant^hu. ‘A person, scales, must make balanced/ fair, not to cheat people.’
Omari/ kooḍize/ ni waafi/ tarafu ya Abu/ kuboola/ nt^hamu/ shaka. ‘Omari, his (lit.) talk is complete/correct concerning Abu’s stealing, there is no doubt.’
- ku-waafiqa* v. [Sw. afiki SSED 4; Ar.] (wafiqiile) agree (with, to), approve, affirm; be fitting, appropriate, useful; [usu. pron. kuwaafikha] Ali/ wafikhile keendra. ‘Ali agreed to go.’
Ali/ wafikhile kula gaari. ‘Ali agreed to buy a car.’
Ali/ wafikhile kumwujila Nuuru/ gaari. ‘Ali agreed to buy a car for Nuuru.’
Ali/ wafikhilee mi/ keendra. ‘Ali approved my going.’
Ali/ wafikhilee mi/ kula gaari. ‘Ali agreed for me to buy a car.’
Omari/ wafikhile kula gaari. ‘Omari agreed to buy a car.’
Wafikhile khtomola peesa. ‘He agreed to pay money.’
rel.
ku-wafiqana v. rec. [Sw. afik(i)ana SSED 4] (-wafiqeene) agree with one another; reconcile; [usu. pron. kuwafikhana]
Ali/ na Nuuru/ wawafikheene. ‘Ali and Nuuru reconciled.’ (Our consultant GM pronounces the name Ali with final accent, while MI employed default accent.)
Ali/ na Nuuru/ wawafikhene keendra. ‘Ali and Nuuru agreed to go.’ Or, with verb focus: Ali/ na Nuuru/ wawafikheene/ keendra.

Ali/ na Nuurú/ wawafikheene/ wo/ keendra. ‘Ali and Nuuru agreed for them to go.’ (Notice the possibility for a resumptive pronoun in position of subject of the infinitive.)

Ali/ na Nuurú/ wawafiqene kula gaari. ‘Ali and Nuuru agreed with one another to buy a car.’ (Syn: One can also say: Ali/ wafiqene na Nuuru/ kula gaari. ‘Ali agreed together with Nuuru to buy a car.’ Observe that in this example, subject agreement is with Ali, thus the null third person singular subject prefix is used rather than the [cl.2] plural subject prefix wa-.)

Baabu/ na Nuurú/ wawafikheene. ‘Baabu and Nuuru reconciled.’

Baabu/ na Nuurú/ wawafikheene keendra. ‘Baabu and Nuuru agreed to go.’ Or. with verb focus: Baabu/ na Nuurú/ wawafikheene/ keendra.

Baabu/ na Nuurú/ wawafikheene/ wo/ keendra. ‘Baabu and Nuuru agreed they to go.’

Nuuru/ wafiqene na Ali/ kooloka. ‘Nuuru agreed with Ali to go.’

Wachiwafiqana/ kumpelekela/ mamaye Hasiibu/ peesa. ‘They agreed to send Hasiibu’s mother money.’ (Syn. In MI’s speech, the construction mamaye Hasiibu is an alternative to Hasiibu/ maamaye. Research is required to see whether this construction is common with other speakers, but preliminary research suggests that it is not found generally.)

Wawafiqene kooloka. ‘They agreed to go.’

Wazeele/ wawafikheene/ Mwiini/ khfungulowa skoolá/ za diini. ‘Elders agreed together in Miini to open a religious school.’

Woŋe/ wachiwafikhana kumtumila khaaŋi/ nt^hume. ‘All agreed to send a messenger to the judge.’

ku-wafiqanoowa v. rec. pass. (-wafiqeena)

Isa/ ráyi/ iwafiqeena/ iwaaliko/ ya kuwaa wo/ ni laazima/ keendra/ khfula/ khfaanya/ chijarsi chihaba/ hukhadiroowa/khŋulukoowa/ nma mp^hana mooyi. ‘Now, the agreed upon idea was that they must go and forge a small bell able to be carried by one rat.’ need to review phrasing/vowel length

ku-wafiqila v. guide, crown one’s efforts with success (of God)

Mojiitu/ kheeri/ nachiwafikhila/ shari/ nachiba’idila. ‘May God make good things (blessings) happen to us, and bad things (evil) take far away from us.’ (A supplication made to God.)

ku-wafiqoowa v. pass.

Gari iyi/ iwafiqila kulooowa. ‘This car was agreed to be purchased.’ (The singular noun gaari controls subject agreement on the passive main verb. Notice that both the main verb and the lower verb are passives. gaari, of course, is the logical object of the active form of the lower verb. Cf. the plural forms: Gari izi/ ziwafiqilakuloowa. or Magari aya/ yawafiqila kulooowa. ‘These cars were agreed to be purchased.’ There is an impersonal form as well: Iwaqila kulowa magari aya. ‘There was agreement for these cars to be purchased.’

Gari izi/ ziwafiqila kulilowa Nuuru. ‘These cars were agreed to be bought for Nuuru.’

Nuuru/ iwafiqila kulilowa gaari. ‘There was agreement for Nuuru to have a car bought for him.’

wah

interj. a word expressing surprise or astonishment

Chimwambila oyo mzeele/ wah/ mi/ chilaatu/ chimp^hotela/ isa/ mi/ jisa/khfaanya/ siná. ‘She [“Cinderella”] told the old woman, Wah!, a shoe fell off [my foot], now I do not know [lit. have] what to do’

Hamadi/ ilo numbaani/ teto peesá/ wah. ‘(I wonder that) it was Hamadi who came home and took the money, wah!’

Wah/ khalamu. ‘Here’s a pen! Of all places to find a pen!’

Wah/ leelo/ ninpatililee kujá/ nt^haziná/ ba/ adadi ‘What! today I have gotten for

- you food that has no count.’
- Wah/ nakuleetani/ naank^hó/ we. ‘What are you coming with (i.e. saying, doing) now?’
- Wah/ Omari/ mbishile mwaaná? ‘what! Omari hit the boy?’
- Wah/ Omari/ oloshela? ‘What! Omari went?’
- Wah/ Omari/ we/ naank^hó/ leseleni. ‘What! Omari, what are you bringing (i.e. saying, doing, etc.) again/now?’
- wahali (ma-)
- n. 1/2 [Som. wehel ‘1. company, 2. companion’ DSI 612] companion, company
- ata chisala p(w)eeke pashpo wahali [st.] ‘even if you pray alone without a companion’
- Bilaa wahali/ ni dahari. ‘Without a companion is suffering.’ (A proverb.)
- Koði njeema/ wahali/ koði mbovu/ dahari. ‘Good words are a companion, bad words are hardship/ suffering.’ (A proverb.)
- Mi/ siná/ wahali. ‘I do not have any companion (e.g. on a journey), I live alone (in a house).’
- Mojiitu/ sichiweeke/ bilaa wahali. ‘May God not leave us without a companion.’ (A proverb.)
- Mp^hisi/ haawi/ wahali. ‘A hyena does not become a companion, friend.’ (A proverb.)
- Namsuḷa wahali. ‘I want a companion (someone to accompany me somewhere).’
- nuumba zisho wahali [st.] ‘houses without companions (i.e. the graves, where the dead are alone)’
- Omari/ ni wahali. ‘Omar is a (good) companion.’
- wahaliwa ‘my companion’; mawahaliwa ‘my companions’
- Wahaliwe/ chimbahiliile. ‘The other one is lost to me (i.e. I have lost the other one).’
- wanakuwelele wahali/ ndilaani ‘that they be companions to you on the road’
- ya nafsi tuuba mbeleyo su’aali/ apo nt^huna wahali nt^huna haali [st.] ‘oh mortals, repent, before you there is interrogation (at the time of your death), there you have no company, you have no strength’
- waahidi
- n., adj. [Sw. wahedi SSED 523; Ar. wāḥid W 1055] Arabicism one; an attribute of God (the One)
- variant: waahidu
- miya mbili na waahidi masmu ya mtume [st.] ‘two hundred and one are the names of the Prophet’
- Peeke/ waahidu aḷ ahadi/ ni mojiitu. ‘Alone, the only one is God.’ (A proverb.)
- qiraani mooja wiitu kuwa waahidi [st.] ‘accept that our God is [the only] one’
- wahshi
- adj. wild, animal-like, cruel
- Ali/ maramara/ kooḍize/ kana/ za wahshi/ humtila muunt^hu/ shṭana. ‘Sometimes Ali’s words are like (those of) an animal, they make one angry.’
- munt^hu wahshi ‘a cruel person’ (cf. want^hu wahshi ‘cruel people’)
- wahyi
- n. [Ar. wahy W 1057] revelation -- in particular, God’s revelation to the Prophet, carried by Jibriili (Gabriel)
- Mtume Mhamadi/ chishkiliza wahyi/ ka mojiitu/ na Malik Jibriili. ‘The Prophet Mohammad was handed down revelation from God through the angel Gabriel.’
- Wahyi/ mojiitu/ humwishkiliza muunt^hu/ waa ye/ namsuuló/ kana mitume/ na masheekhi. ‘Revelation, God brings down to whomever he likes, such as prophets and learned men.’

- wajhi n. face; status (in society) muunt^hu mwenye wajhi ‘a man of status, position in society’
Nt^haná/ wajhi. ‘He has no status; he is not respected.’
- wajhillahi n. the face of God (Allah) Muunt^hu/ shfanya chiint^hu/ hufanya ka wajhillahi/ hameeri/ ka muunt^hu/ jeza/ walá/ ihsaani. ‘When a human being does something, he does (i.e. should do) it for the sake (lit. face) of God; he does not (i.e. should not) seek reward or favor from someone.’ (A proverb,)
- ku-waajiba v. [Sw. wajibu SSED 523; Ar.] (wajibiile) compel, oblige Hinwaajiba/ keendra. ‘You (pl.) are obliged to go.’
humwaajibó/ na hazimwaajibi ‘what she is required to do and those things that she should not do’ Hunwaajiba/ keendra. ‘I am obliged to go.’
huwaajibu somu ya ramadaani [st.] ‘it is obligatory to fast during Ramadhan’ huwawaajiba ‘it becomes a must for them’ Ikuwajibile keendra. ‘You were obliged to go.’ (Similarly: Imwajibile keendra. ‘He was obliged to go.’ Ichiwajibile keendra. ‘We were obliged to go.’ Etc.
Inwajibile keendra. ‘I was obliged to go.’ (The hardening of w after the first person singular object marker in the case of this verb is infrequent: Imbajibile keendra.)
Iwaliko ichiwajibiile/ kuwelele raaði/ ya mwajiitu/ choolele. ‘It was compelled for us to be pleased with what God decreed for us.’
Khuwaajiba/ keendra. ‘You are obliged to go.’ (Observe that the habitual prefix hu- elides in front of the second person singular object marker khu- just like the infinitive prefix.)
Kula muunt^hu/ islaamu/ baalighi/ na aqilizé/ ni tamaamu/ humwajiba ziint^hu/ ştaano. ‘Every Muslim who has reached puberty and his faculties are unimpaired is obliged five things.’
Mi/ soloki naaye/ chiliini/ simpikili/ walá/ sfaanyi/ yoyote/ humwaajibó/ muke/ kumfanyiliza muhjiwe. ‘I will not go with him to bed, I will not cook for him, nor will I do anything that a wife is obligated to do for her husband.’
Mwaajimu/ mwajibile mwaana/ keendra. ‘The teacher compelled the child to go.’
rel.
ku-wajibisha v. caus. (wajibishiize) compel Mwaajimu/ mwajibishize mwaana/ keendra. ‘The teacher compelled the child to go.’ (The causative form of this verb has the same usage as the simple form: both simply mean ‘compel’. One does not use the causative to mean ‘cause to compel’.)
- waajibu n. [Sw. wajibu SSED 523] duty, an obligatory thing, a necessity Islaamu/ waajibu/ khsala/ sala nt^haano/ muunt^hi. ‘For a Muslim it is an obligation to pray five prayers a day.’
Ka kaaka/ kufa/ ni waajibu. ‘For me, dying is something necessary, obligatory.’
Kila muunt^hu/ wa Mwiini/ ni waajibu/ iluye/ khsaayda/ wazelewe/ na nduuzazé/ wote/ nt^hawana kaazi. ‘It is the duty of each man of Brava to help his parents and all his relatives who do not have jobs.’
Kufa/ ka Nuuru/ ni waajibu. ‘To die for Nuuru is a necessity.’
Nuuru/ hisabataa kufa/ kuwa ni waajibu. ‘Nuuru considers dying a necessity, s.t. obligatory.’
Ramadaani/ khfuunga/ ni waajibu. ‘The month of Ramadhan, to fast it is obligatory.’
sho kiiwa waajibu hu’adiboowa [st.] ‘those ignorant of religious obligations will be punished'

Oko kiitu/ we/ shfanya kaazi/ ka daḍaali/ chidaḍaalata/ kuḷawila wajibuye/ we/ hisabaṭoowi/ kuwa muunt^hu. 'There in my country, if you work hard, if you try hard to carry out your duties, you are not considered to be anyone (a person of importance).'

ku-wajiha

v. expand this entry

Ziko khaṭari/ zaa si/ laazimu/ kuwajihá. 'There are dangers that we must face.'

waaka

n. underground silo for storing grains

Waaka/ yaa geḷe/ ka Nuuru/ numbaani/ yingile maayi/ geḷe/ yont^he/ yangamiile.
'The underground grain storage pl;ace at Nuuru's house became flooded with water, all the grain has gone bad.'

rel.

mi-waaka pl.

miwaka miingi 'many underground silos'

ku-waka

v. [Sw. aka SSED 7] (washile) build; build s.o. up

Abú/ ka'iza kuwaka nuumbá 'if Abu had not built a house'; or: Abú/ ka'iza kuwaká/ nuumba (Need to review whether in second example there is a possibility of final accent, or whether we are dealing with an intonational raising of the final syllable.)

Abú/ kachiza kuwaka nuumbá 'if Abu had not built a house'; or: Abú/ kachiza kuwaká/ nuumba... (Our transcription of the second example needs reviewing; we would expect default accent on nuumba due to the Accentual Law of Focus, but we heard a final pitch rise which, however, may have been intonational.)

Abú/ kawaka nuumbá 'if Abu had built a house'; or Abú/ kaawaká/ nuumba

(More research is required on whether the ka-tense necessarily respects the Accentual Law of Focus; our transcriptions of examples such as the second one here indicated a final H tone, but this may well have been the intonational H tone associated with the ka-tense.)

Abunawaasi/ washile nuumba/ ya zulungu ziwili. 'Abunawaasi built a house of two storeys.'

Baazi/ washile nuumbá. 'Baazi (really) built (some) house!' (The final accent in this example seems to be intonational, given that the verb governs default accent, emphasizing that Baazi built a really wonderful, high-quality house.)

Funga miimba/ waka nuumba. 'Close your belly, build a house.' (A proverb.)

Hasani/ nakuwaka nuumbaye/ chiluungu. 'Omari is building another floor to his house.'

Huwakoo nt^hi/ ni mwana waa nt^hi. 'The one who builds the country is the child of the country.' (A proverb.)

kama kuwaka nuumba karka bahari [st.] 'like building a house in the sea'

Maneeno/ hayawaaki/ muuyi. 'Words do not build a city.'

mbake 'that I build' (Note the hardening of the stem-initial w after the first person singular subject marker. This hardening does not take place in nwake 'that you (pl.) build'.)

Mbashile nuumbá. 'I built a house.' Or, with verb focus: Mbashilé/ nuumba. 'I built a house.' (There is no doubt but that the default case is for the final accent to not extend beyond the verb. However, there seems to be some context where it is acceptable to say: Mbashilé/ nuumbá. It must be emphasized in this case, there is clear downstep on the complement. This contrasts with the simple yes-no question based on Mbashilé/ nuumba. In the question, the complement undergoes accent shift to the final syllable, but the complement is not downstepped: Mbashilé/ nuumbá? If it is true that there are contexts where one might say Mbashilé/ nuumbá., then it seems clear that the final accent on the noun is a reflection of the verb being a final-accent trigger. GM did not accept a sentence like Washile/ nuumbá.

‘He built a house.’ The verb in this example has default penult accent, and it is out of the realm of possibility that nuumba could have final accent in a statement. Of course, in a simple yes-no question it is expected.)

Mi/ nsulīle kuwaka madrasá. ‘I wanted to build the school.’ Or: Mi/ nsulīlélé/ kuwaka madrasa. ‘I wanted to build the school.’ Or: Mi/ nsulīle kuwaká/ madrasa. ‘I wanted to build the school.’

Mwenye/ washile nuumba. ‘Mwenye has built a house.’ Or: Mwenye/ washile/ nuumba.

Naani/ washilo nuumbá. ‘Who built a house?’ Or: Naani/ washiló/ nuumba. ‘Who built a house?’ (This sentence, where emphasis on the verb brings the Accentual Law of Focus into play, is the default pronunciation. However, when we asked whether it was possible to say Naani/ washiló/ nuumbá., this pronunciation was accepted as possible. We have not identified a context for its use.)

Nuumba/ washiló/ náani. ‘The house, the one who built it is who?’ (Putting final accent on naani was dismissed out of hand. The post-verbal position for naani is clearly tied to the relative clause preceding it; cf. the ungrammaticality of Nuumba/ washile/ naani. Nor Washile nuumba/ naani. Nor: Washile/ nuumba/ naani. The problem with all of these sentences is clear: they would require naani to be understood as a right-dislocated subject. But right-dislocated subjects are out-of-focus, whereas naani is inherently focused. Therefore it cannot be right-dislocated.)

Nuumba/ washilo Nuurú/ ha’iwaari. ‘The house that Nuuru built won’t last long.’ (Note the postposing of the subject in the relative clause structure.)

Omari/ washile/ nuumba. ‘Omari built a house.’ (Yes-no question: Omari/ washile/ nuumbá? ‘Did Omari build a house?’)

Omari/ washilo nuumbá. ‘Omari built a house.’ (This construction, where the main verb of the sentence is put into a “pseudo-relative clause” shape, is employed when there is a focused preverbal element. This sentence type is common in present-day speech, though we did not observe it in the speech of Mohammad Imam unless the focused element is preceded by the copula ni or when an element is inherently focused, like the question word naani.)

Wa’anziize/ kuwaka muuyi. ‘They began to build a town.’

Waka nuumba/ ilu ya mlima. ‘Build a house on a hill.’

Washile nuumba/ Omari. ‘He built a house, Omari.’ (In this sentence, the right-dislocated subject Omari is downstepped, apparently to an even greater extent than ordinary. In the corresponding simple yes-no question, the right-dislocated subject undergoes accent shift: Washile nuumba/ Omari? ‘Did he build a house, Omari?’ Although there is no doubt that there is declination of the pitch level on the postposed subject in comparison to the verb phrase, but still it is not the radical downstepping of the statement.)

Washile/ nuumba/ Omari. ‘He built a house, Omari.’ (In the simple yes-no question, both nuumba and the right-dislocated subject undergo accent shift: Washile/ nuumbá/ Omari. ‘Did he build a house, Omari?’)

Wawashile majuumba/ yaa mawe. ‘They built houses of stones.’

Wawashile miskiti miingi. ‘They built many mosques.’

wawashilo ka’ba mbele malaayka/ numa ni Aadamu ba’da miyaaka [st.] ‘the first to build the ka’ba were the angels/ then Adam, years later’ ye/ nakuwako nuumbá ‘while he was building a house’ or, with verb emphasis: ye/ nakuwakó/ nuumba (The latter example shows the consequences of the Accentual Law of Focus, which applies to adverbial relative clauses. GM accepts the possibility of ye/ nakuwakó/ nuumbá, but it is not clear that this should be viewed simply as a failure of ALF to apply. See below under -wakila.)

rel.

ku-wakika v. p/s. able to be built ku-wakikila v. p/s. appl. able to be built for Nuumba/ imwakilīle. ‘The house was able to be built for him.’

ku-wakilooowa v. appl. pass.

Mwaaḷimu/ wakilīḷa nuumba/ na muunt^hu. ‘The teacher was built for a house by the man.’ Or, with the same meaning and the same grammatical relationships, just a different word order: Nuumba/ wakilīḷa mwaaḷimu/ na muunt^hu.

mwaḷimu wakilīḷa nuumbá/ na muunt^hú ‘the teacher who was built for a house by the man’

Omari/ wakilīḷa nuumba. ‘Omari was built for a house.’ Or with verb focus: Omari/ wakilīḷa/ nuumba.

Pesa izi/ schisulowa kuwakilooowa. ‘This money was earmarked for building a house (with it).’

Peesa/ zont^he/ stumikilīḷa kuwakilowa nuumba. ‘All the money has been used for repairing/building the house.’

Wakilīḷa Omari/ nuumba. ‘He was built for Omari a house.’ (The simple yes-no question reveals the out-of-focus nature of the complement: Wakilīḷa Omari/ nuumbá? The exclamatory question shifts accent in both phrases: Wakilīḷa Omari/ nuumbá!?) ku-wakila v. appl.

Haliima/ nakumera matuzi/ ya ngoombe/ kuwakilaa ngawo/ ya ariishiye. ‘Haliima is searching for cow dung to build the side wall of her hut.’

Nt^hakhuloza mwanaamkewa/ na nt^hakhuwakila/ nuumba/ nk^hulu/ nt^ho/ yaa we/ khkala/ we/ na mukeewó. ‘I will marry you to my daughter and I will build for you a very big house for you to live in, you and your wife.’

ye/ namwakilo Haliimá/ nuumbá ‘while he was building a house for Haliima’ or, with verb emphasis: ye/ namwakiló/ Haliima/ nuumba, where the Accentual Law of Focus bars final accent from being assigned to the post-verb phrases (GM does accept as possible: ye/ namwakiló/ Haliima/ nuumbá, but this pronunciation cannot be explained by a proposal that ALF may optionally fail to constrain adverbial relative clauses; the simple failure of ALF to be applied would rather predict the unattested pronunciation: ye/ namwakiló/ Haliimá/ nuumbá. We are uncertain of the correct interpretation of the data, however, as the shift to final accent in the final phrase somehow does seem to be dependent on the presence of final accent on the verb.)

ku-wakisha v. caus. [Sw. akisha] make build

Nuuru/ mwakishize mwashi/ nuumba. ‘Nuuru had the mason build a house.’

ku-wakishana v. caus. rec.

ku-wakishika v. caus. p/s.

ku-wakishiliza v. caus. appl. make build for ku-wakishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. make build for one another ku-wakoowa v. pass. [Sw. akwa] be built

Khaadimu/ izo/ schifakata/ kuwaka zibaandra/ laakini/ nvula/ yanzizee kunya/ na nt^haasá/ zibaandra/ kumaliza kuwakoowa. ‘Those servants ran and built shelters but the rain began to fall before the shelters were finished being built.’

rel. nom.

m-waka (wa-) n. 1/2 one who builds

Mwaka nt^hi/ ni mwana waa nt^hi. ‘The builder of the country is the child of the country.’ (A proverb.)

ma-wako n. 6 the way s.t. is built; buildings janna mawakoye nusu nda ḍahabu / nusu nda feḍa ni kana makhsabu [st.] the buildings of paradise are [made] half of gold, half of silver, they are like a brocade embroidered with gold and silver.’

m-wako n. 3 way of building

Mwako oyo/ ni khaṭari. ‘That way of building is dangerous.’
Mwako waa we/ huwako nuumbá/ ni khaṭari. ‘The way that you built the house is dangerous.’

- wakaala n. [Sw. wakala SSED 523] agency
- u-wakaala n. power of attorney; appointment
Hunikaahishó/ ni khaði wa muuyi/ amó/ muunt^hu/ nayo uwakala wa khaaði.
 ‘The one who performs the marriage is the town judge, or someone who has an appointment from the judge.’
Mbarakha/ za uwakaala/ nuumba/ ya Ali/ Mkhodiisho/ naazó/ ni mkulé/ Abú.
 ‘Papers for the representation of Ali’s house in Mogadishu, the one who has them is his brother Abu.’
- wakiili (ma-) n. [Sw. wakili SSED 523] lawyer, representative of s.o., s.o. with power of attorney Omari/ mfanyize Sheekhi/ wakiili/ wa nuumbaye/ Miini. ‘Omari made Sheekhi the representative for his house in Miini.’
Si/ shchifilaṭila Hamadi/ kuuya/ laakini/ iló/ wakiiliwe/ tu. ‘We expected Hamadi to come, but just his representative came.’
- ku-wakilisha v. give power of attorney to, make one’s representative, etc.
Abú/ mwakilishize dhahaliye/ mukeewe. ‘Abu designated his wife to be his representative with respect to his inheritance (from his father), i.e. his wife would receive the inheritance.’
 rel.
ku-wakilishiliza v. tr. appl.
ku-wakilishilizanya v. tr. appl. rec.
ku-wakilishoowa v. pass.
Muunt^hu/ amiini/ huwakilishowa chiint^hu. ‘Someone trustworthy can be given power to represent one.’
- waakh ideo. of the sound of ducks
Mibiṭa/ yanaakuḷa/ waakh waakh waakh. ‘The ducks are crying waakh waakh waakh.’
- Wakohaatiimu n.
Forḍaani/ yiko kharibu ya Wakohaatiimu. ‘Port stores are near Wakohaatiimu.’
Makoofiya/ masuura/ hushomowa ka Wakohaatiimu. ‘Good (traditional Bravanese) hats are knitted at Wakohaatiimu.’
- waḷ- prep. [a contraction of wa-wili] between, both, together waḷwaawo ‘both of them, both of those’
Waḷwaawo/ wachirashmana koloka kaa muke. ‘The two went together to the woman.’
Waḷwaawo/ washpandra mp^huundra/ wanakiineendra/ wanakiineendra.
 ‘Both of them climbed up on the donkey and continued on.’
waḷwiitu ‘both of us, between us two’
Basi Juha/ chiwakasa/ chimwambila maanawe/ shṭakhpandra waḷwiitu/ mp^huundra. ‘So Juha heard them (e.g. the people who were taunting them) and told his son: We will both of us ride on the donkey.’
Choloshelé/ teena/ waḷwiitu/ chimpanzile mp^huundra. ‘We went, then we both rode the donkey.’
Ni ḍaruuri/ naasi/ waḷwiitu/ kuwa marti ziitu/ wanayo niingi/ kuja. ‘It’s essential to us both that our guests have lots to eat.’

Oloka/ chiwanyilize walwiitu. ‘Go and divide it between us two.’
Walwiitu/ chirashmeenye/ choloshele kaaké. ‘The two of us together left and we went to his place.’

walwiinu ‘between you (pl.)’ ni walwiinu ‘both of us’

cf.

watatu waawo ‘among those three’ watatu wiinu ‘among you three’ watatu wiitu ‘among us three’

wane wiitu ‘among us four’

etc.

wal’asri

n. the name of a sura in the Quran ku-walana

v. (-waleene) be tight; be firmly stuck together; refuse categorically to do s.t.

Mlaango/ uwaleene. ‘The door is stuck together.’

Musmaari/ uwaleene. ‘The nail is firmly stuck in.’

Mzele uyu/ ziluungoze/ ziwaleene. ‘This old man is in good physical shape [lit. his limbs are stuck firmly together].’

Nuuru/ vete jiinsi/ iriri/ imwaleene. ‘Nuuru wore very narrow jeans, they were tight on him.’ (It should be noted that while Gelani Mohamed regular simplifies a mw- prefix to m-, and in some cases similarly simplifies a sequence m-w across morphemes. in this example the mw was maintained. Further study of cross-morpheme m-w sequences is required.)

Tuuma/ waleene. ‘Tuuma refused to do it.’

rel.

ku-walanisha v. caus. (walanishiize) make firm, tight

Mwalanishize Zahara. ‘He caused Zahara to refuse to do it.’

Walanishize musmaari. ‘He caused the nail to be firmly in (though this usage has the effect of personifying the nail).’

ku-waliliza v. tr. appl. tighten with, for ku-waliza v. tr. (waliize) tighten, close firmly, screw tightly; demand immediate repayment or return of s.t.

Nureeni/ mwalize Adamu. ‘Nureeni demanded that Adamu repay it immediately.’

Omari/ chiza khfunga mnaango/ kuwaliza/ mo/ mwaape/ takhadira kiingila. ‘If Omari does not close the door tight, someone can come in.’

Walize musmaari. ‘He made the nail firmly in place.’

ku-walizanya v. tr. rec. demand immediate repayment from one another ku-walizika v. tr. p/s. be capable of being tightened ku-walizisha v. tr. caus. make s.o. tighten s.t.

rel. nom.

ma-walizo n. 6

u-walizo n. 14

Nuuru/ uwalizo/ waa ye/ walizo shfinikó/ chigaangó/ nt’aku/ khadiriilo khfuungulá. ‘Nuuru, the tightening that he tightened the lid (of the) tin can, there is no one who is able to loosen it.’

waldaraani

n. something bad

Wiikuto/ waldaraani. ‘To be over-full (satisfied, satiated, lacking for nothing) is a bad thing.’ (A proverb.)

waliija

n. [Ital. valigia] luggage, suitcase, valise

Walijaza/ zibeele. ‘My luggage has been lost.’

Walijazo/ stakuya liini. ‘When will your luggage arrive?’

ku-walika

v. (-walishile) pop, squeak

- Daank^hu/ zinakuwajika. ‘The popcorn is popping.’
rel.
ku-wajisha v. caus. (wajishiize) cause to pop or crack (e.g. the knuckles of the hand) kuwajisha sh^heko ‘to crack up laughing’ Hamadi/ wajishize sh^heko/ dhakh dhakh dhakh. ‘Hamadi laughed dhakh dhakh dhakh.’ kuwajisha zaala ‘to crack the fingers (i.e. knuckles)’
- wajima
n. food served at the wedding feast (haruusi) khfanya wajima ‘to prepare the food for the wedding feast’ Pesa husaaló/ hupiki^lowa wajima wa haruusi. ‘The money that remains is used to cook the food for the wedding feast.’
wajima wa haruusi ‘the food served at the wedding feast’
- wajiyi (ma-)
n. [Sw. walii SSED 524; Ar. waliy W 1100] a man close to God, an Islamic saint na mawajiyi won^he ni wenye haqi na lilla [st.] ‘and all men close to God are just and true’ Sku mooyi/ du^l’eda/ mōihirilile ori/ ka nguwo za wajiyi. ‘One day a fox appeared to a cock in the clothes of a pious man dedicated to God.’
rel.
owliya (ma-) n. ibid. [Ar. awliyā’ W 1100]
Ma’owliya/ni waant^hu/ wa janaani. ‘Religious people are people of paradise.’
Mojiitu/ hadiile/ ma’owliya/ nt^hawanaayo/ khoofu/ kaaka/ ni wenye janna. ‘God said religious people do not have fear from me, they are people of paradise.’
Omari/ ni kana/ owliya/ hamwangamizi/ muunt^hu/ umriwe. ‘Omari is like saint, he does not harm/ make one feel bad in all his life.’
- ku-walkhalata
v. slaughter an animal to celebrate the birth of a child kumwalkhalata ‘to slaughter a goat for him’ Omari/ nakumwalkhalata/ mwaanawe. ‘Omari is slaughtering a goat for (the purification of) his child.’
rel.
ku-walkhalatoowa v. pass. be slaughtered
Waana/ wachizaloowa/ diini/ ya islaamu/ huhada/ laazimu/ kuwalkhalatoowa. ‘When children are born, the Islamic religion says that it is necessary for a sacrifice to be made.’
- walkhali
n. a celebration purifying a child, male or female, where a goat is slaughtered and eaten Huseeni/ nakuwafanyiliza waanawe/ walkhali/ nakhtindaa mbuzi/ nt^hatu. ‘Huseeni is making a sacrifice for his children, he is slaughtering fthree goats).
- wajwaawo
both of them
Haaji/ na Nuuru/ wajwaawo/ ni wiizi. ‘Haaji and Nuuru are both thieves.’
Ma’askari/ wachiwona/ kuwa ni afōali/ kuwatukula wajwaawo/ kendra naawo/ ka sultaani. ‘The soldiers saw that it was better to take both of them to go to the sultan.’
Sheekhi/ na Hamadi/ wajwaawo/ wa’ub^lleela/ harbiini. ‘Sheekhi and Hamadi were both killed in the war.’
- wala
conj. [Sw. wala SSED 524] nor, neither [pron: walá]; variant form: waló Faatima/ hapeendi/ khsooma/ walá/ kulangala mpiirá. Faatima does not like reading nor watching football.’
Jeelaani/ nt^hakiwa yaa ye/ khfaanya/ walá/ yaa ye/ kuhadá. ‘Jeelaani did not know what to do nor what to say.'

Ka khisa/ mi/ skumkoseleza/ mukeewo/ walá/ skukhukoseleza. 'Because I did not wrong your wife nor did I wrong you.'

Kaleent^he/ liinzile/ walá/ nt^hakoofaṭa. 'He sat, he waited, and he never got tired.'

kuja/ walá/ kuná 'to eat or to drink'

kuja/ walá/ kuna maayí 'to eat or to drink water'

Leelo/ hattá/ peesa/ yaa si/ kuja/ nt^hachiná/ na waant^hu/ muyiini/hawashpendi teena/ walá/ nt^hawanakhfurahila/ kichiwona. 'Today we do not even have money with which to eat and the people of the town do not love us anymore nor are they pleased to see us.'

Mi/ siisi/ mahala mi/ niliiló/ walá/ mahala mi/ nnakeendró. 'I do not know where I came from nor where I am going.'

Mwiingine/ chihada/ la/ sichimuble/ walá/ sichimrude chisimaani. 'Another one said no, let us not kill him, neither let us return back into the well.'

Nthamwona Omari/ walá/ Hamadí/ walá/ Nuuru. 'I did not see Omari nor Hamadi nor Nuuru.'

Nthaná/ asli/ walá/ faḍli. 'He does not have either ancestry (i.e. noble birth) nor manners.' (A proverb.)

Sinakhsuḷa keendra/ walá/ sinakhsuḷa khkalaant^ha. 'I do not want to go nor do I want to stay.' Or: Sinakhsuḷa keendra/ walá/ khkalaant^ha.

Skhaadiri/ khkooḍa/ walá/ kudawaṭá. I cannot speak, nor complain.'

Skhaadiri/ khkooḍa/ walá/ kuhada zaa mi/ nakhfanyoowá. 'I cannot talk nor say what is being done to me [lit. I am being done to].'

Siná/ wakhti/ walá/ sinakuwona/ kuwa ni suura/ kinkhubura kaa khaṭi/ stulushilo apá. 'I do not have the time, neither do I think that it is good to inform you by letter what has happened here.'

Sinakhsuḷa keendra/ walá/ khkalaant^ha. 'I do not want either to go or to stay.'

Siwreerishé/ ruuhuyo/ walá/ siwanaayo/ faza'a. 'Do not disturb yourself, neither be afraid.'

Spendii mazu/ walá/ spendi ndriimu. 'I do not like bananas nor do I like lemons.'

Spendii mazu/ walá/ ndriimú. 'I do not like bananas or lemons.'

Standrawili/ mfuunzile/ walá/ siwo/ jawabuu nk^hulu. 'The riddle, she asked him to solve it, neither is it a big thing.'

Wachisimama/ sukhuuni/ pashpo kiiwa/ yaa wo/ wanakhsuuló/ walá/ yaa wo/ wanakhfaanyó. 'They stopped in the market without knowing what they wanted, neither what they were doing.'

walá/ eelo or wala eeló 'nor the gazelle' walá/ khsoma chibuukú 'or to read a book' walá/ kumsomela maaná/ chibuukú 'or to read a book to the child'

walá/ mana wa Nuuru 'or Nuuru's son'

walá/ Nureení 'or Nureení'

Walá/ nt^haku/ chiwó. 'Neither was there anyone who knew about it.'

Walá/ nt^hawanakhfurahila/ kichiwona. 'Nor are they pleased to see us.'

walá/ Nuuru/ maanawé 'nor Nuuru's son'

walá/ we 'nor you'

walo mashuungiye mafta hadaarshi [st.] 'not even her hair should she apply oil to it'

chi-wala (zi-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. waa "spot, patch of colour (light or dark), mark, speck" SSED 522] scar, mark

Chiwala/ chimlazile iṭooni. 'A mark has emerged in his eye.'

Nayo chiwala/ usooni. 'He has a mark, scar on his face.'

ku-wala

v. [Sw. iwaa SSED 522] (i-wazile) shine, twinkle, sparkle, be bright

Chiwona almasi/ nk^hulu/ inakuwalo nt^ho. 'He saw a large diamond which was shining very much.'

Haliima/ osheze zoombo/ zinakuwala/ kana iwa. 'Haliima washed stuff, they are as bright as the sun.’

Huwala/ hupeendeza/ laakini/ hashkomeki. ‘It shines, it pleases, but it cannot be reached.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is iwa ‘the sun’.)

Ka khisani/ markabuyo/ inakuwaloo nt^ho. ‘Why is your ship shining so much?’

kuwala kamba nt^hupa ‘lit. to shine like a bottle -- said of person who is dressed in all his/her finery and has a satisfied, happy countenance expressing well-being’

kuwala/ kana chilolo ‘to shine like glass’

Nakuwala/ kana chilolo. ‘He is shining like glass.’

kuwala/ kana (or: kamba) iwa ‘to shine like the sun (e.g. of someone just after showering)’ kuwala/ kuzima ‘to flash (lit. to shine, to go out)’

Awow/ awoow/ langala Omari/ shati yaa ye/ veetó/ inakuwala/ inakuzima. ‘Wow! look at the shirt Omari is wearing, it is flashing (lit. it shines, it goes out).’

Haliima/ haanzuye/ inakuwala/ inakuzima. ‘Haliima’s dress is flashing, shiny.’

Hamadi/ numba yaawo/ ipashila buraashi/ nelpe/ inakuwala/ inakuzima. ‘Hamadi, their house has been painted white, it is shining.’

Malungoye/ yawaaliko/ layini/ na chiwala/ ka usuura. ‘Her body was soft and was shining with beauty.’

Naani/ hupisho ruuhuyé/ kuwaza waant^hu. ‘Who is the one who burns himself up in order to light others?’ (A riddle, the answer to which is Itaambi ‘a wick’.)

Omari/ shaatiye/ inakuwala/ nelpe/ kana bafta. ‘Omari’s shirt is shining, it is white, like bafta.’

rel.

ku-walaawala v. freq. glow, flash ku-walisha v. caus. make bright kuwalisha/ kana muunt^hi ‘as clear as daytime’ ku-waliza v. tr. appl. light with ku-waza v. tr. (waziize) make something bright, brighten

Ina isuura/ huwaza nuumba. ‘A good name brightens a house.’ (A proverb.)

ku-wazoowa v. tr. pass.

Zilaatu/ zinakuwazoowa. ‘The shoes are being shined (by someone).’

waladu

in the expressions:

waladu firaashi ‘(lit. sleeping material child) a child born unlawfully, as the mother and father did not marry according to the religion’

waladu kalbu ‘(lit.) a dog’s child – i.e. disparaging description of s.o. (equivalent to the Chimiini expression mwana waa mbwa ‘dog’s child’)’

Omari/ ni waladu kalbu. ‘Omari is a dog’s child!’

walaala

n. a measure (for grains, milk) that corresponds to zi-dhu (see the entry for this measure) (The origin of this word is not known. The local Tunni dialect uses qar for this measure.)

walaali

n. brother, family member, s.o. from the community, neighbor

Ink'aari/ nt^haziná/ walaali. ‘Curses do not have brotherhood.’ (A proverb.)

Muunt^hu/ kumpa walaaliwe/ koði suura/ ni zaaydi/ ya kumpa maali. ‘For one to give one’s brother good words/talk is better than to give him wealth.’ (A proverb.)

Muunt^hu/ walaaliwe/ humtila garabuuni. ‘One must give support to his relative.’

Ngoma/ amá/ inawamo garabuuni/ kaako/ amá/ nashike (or: nabige) walaaliwo. ‘A drum should either be on your shoulder or be held by your brother (next of kin).’ (A proverb which counsels that one’s property, possessions, etc., should be under your control or under the control of your brother, next of kin.)

Ni waajibu/ muunt^hu/ kumrahibisha walaaliwe. ‘It is an obligation for a person to welcome his brother etc.’

Walaaliwo/ chiza khadira kumsayda ka fi’li/ msayde kaa kana. ‘If you cannot help your brother with actions, help him with words (lit. the mouth).’ (A proverb.)

rel.

u-walaali n. brotherhood

Nt^haku/ chiint^hu/ suura/ kana uwalaali. ‘There is nothing as good as brotherhood.’ (A proverb.)

ku-walaanga

v. (walaanzile) count

kuwalanga zaala ‘to count the fingers’ (used with reference to someone who has lost all his money and has gone mad, counting his fingers since he has no money to count)

Alí/ peesa/ zimlasile/ pete ijini/ nakuwalanga zaalaze. ‘Ali lost his money and he went mad, he is counting his fingers.’

Siwalaangé/ wanaank^huku/ nt^hasaa wo/ kuwanguḷoowa. ‘Don’t count the chicks before they are hatched.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

ku-walaangika v. p/s.

ku-walaangila v. appl. (walangiliile)

Omari/ namwalangila Alí/ peesa/ zaa ye/ peto sadakhá/ muskitiiní.

‘Omari is counting for Ali the money that he got as charity from the mosque.’ (Although GM always elides w in a mw syllable onset, in cases where m is followed by a w-initial stem, the w is often not elided, as in this particular example.)

rel. nom.

m-walaanga (wa-) n. 1/2 one who counts’

m-walaango n. 3 act of counting ku-waalata

v. (waleete) go mad, go crazy for, over s.t.

Alí/ mukeewe/ kufa/ waleete. ‘Ali went mad over his wife dying.’

rel.

ku-waalata v. appl.

ku-waalisha v. caus. make mad for s.t.

ku-waalatoowa v. pass.

Muunt^hu/ maali/ shtowa/ ha’iwalaṭoowi/ maali/ humpo muunt^hú/ na humkulo muunt^hú/ ni mojiitu. ‘If a person fails to get money, it is not something to go mad about, it is God who gives a person money and who takes it away.’

waali n. [Sw. liwali or wali SSED 248; Ar. wālin W 1101] title given to the governor of a coastal town, appointed by the Zanzibari sultanate shpisa kulla jawaabu/ kana aqiida na waali [st.] ‘I got my way in every matter (lit. I made pass), like a military commander and a governor’ waali n. [Sw. wali SSED 524] (this word is not used in ordinary Chimiini, as the word ziyo is commonly used instead; however we did record the word in a non-sense song cited below)

nakhsuula waali wa mpuunga [song] ‘I want cooked rice’

waalidi n. parent(s)

Du’a/ muunt^hu/ hutaala/ ka walidiwe. ‘Blessings one takes from his parents.’ Or:

Du’a/ muunt^hu/ hupata/ ka walidiwe.

Kuja/ ipishila na walidiza. ‘The food has been cooked by my parents.’

Walidiwo/ ukopi. ‘Where is your parent?’

Walidiwo (or: walidizo)/ wakopi. ‘Where are your parents?’ waakopi?

-waaliko

loc. cop., past tense auxiliary verb

Alí/ waliko nakuwa mwaana/ msuura. ‘Ali was becoming a good child.’

Hunk^halila/ Nuuru/ waliko mwalimu wa mwaanawá/ mwakaa yaná. ‘I think that Nuuru was my son’s teacher last year.’ (In this implementation of the sentence, pitch was raised on Nuuru, indicating the presence of focus. As a consequence, the copular verb is pseudo-relativized, triggering final accent.)

Mbaliko nch^hendra madrasaani. ‘I was going to school.’

Mbaliko nenzele madrasaani. ‘I had gone to school.’

Mbaliko numbaani. ‘I was at home.’ Or, with focus on the verb:

Mbaalikó/ numbaani.

Munt^hu waliko simemo kharibu yaa ndilá/ ni mwanafunzi wa jaama’a.

‘The man who was standing near the road was a student of the university.’

Naani/ waliko mwalimu wa mwaanawó. ‘Who was your son’s teacher?’

(The pre-verbal question word naani triggers the pseudo-relativization of the overt past tense copular verb. A possible answer to this question: Jeeli/ waliko mwalimu wa mwaanawa. ‘Jeeli was my son’s teacher.’)

Waliko enzelepi/ leelo/ fijiri. ‘Where had you gone today this morning?’

Waliko ni Nuuru/ oyo/ mwalimu wa mwaanawá/ mwakaa yaná. ‘It was Nuuru who was my son’s teacher last year.’

rel.

-chaaliko

Chibuuku/ chalikoo dhibu/ khsomoowa. ‘The book was very difficult to read.’

-yaaliko

Nt^humeeye/ yalikoo dhibu/ khtambu^oowa. ‘His message was difficult to understand.’

waliima

n. food served at the wedding feast khfanya waliima ‘to prepare food for a wedding’ walima wa haruusi ‘food served at the wedding’

-waalimo

loc. cop.

Barzaani/ ziwalmoo ziti/ ziingi. ‘In the room were many chairs.’

Numbaani/ waalimó/ nii muke/ mzeele/ siwo/ kama uje wa kaandra. ‘The one who was in the house was an old woman, not the same [age] as the first [old woman he had met].’

Wawalimo karkaa ndila/ sku niingi. ‘They were on the road for many days.’

waliyi (ma-)

n. [Sw. walii SSED 524; Ar.] a saint; someone who is totally dedicated to God, religion; a pious person

Khalbi ya waliyi/ iyele naharisi. ‘The heart of the saint filled with generosity.’

Khalbi ya waliyi/ iyele rahma. ‘The heart of the saint filled with mercy.’

Sku mooyi/ du^leda/ mōirilile ori/ ka nguwo za waliyi. ‘One day fox appeared to rooster in the clothing of a pious person.’

wake huzuura mawaliyi laakini/ bila khpaka miskhi nakhpata idini [st.] ‘a woman (is permitted) to visit saints but without using perfumes or getting permission (from husband)’

Waliyi/ khalbiye/ iyele rahma. ‘The saint, his heart filled with mercy.’ (Naharisi ‘generosity’ may replace rahma.)

Waliyi uyu/ khalbi/ imyele rahma. ‘This saint’s heart was filled with compassion.’
Waliyi/ yele rahma/ khalbiini. ‘The saint became full of mercy, compassion in the heart (lit. mercy filled the saint’s heart).’

wallahi

fixed expression from Arabic: by Allah, it’s true

Wachihada/ wallahi/ ni/ nna’iwá/ kuwaa si/ nt^hashkuuya/ khfisdishaa dali/ walá/ si/ siwo/ want^hu hubooló. ‘They said: by Allah, you (pl.) know that we did not come to spread corruption in the country nor are we people who rob.’

Wallahi/ Ali/ ile/ ka Mkhodiisho? ‘Is it true that Ali came from Mogadishu?’

Wallaahi/ mwaana/ we/ pitikiililá/ ambo/ ni mzimá/ sh^toloko chimó/ endrá/ endrá/ endrá. ‘By God, boy, are you befallen or are you insane? One little bean! Go, get away, be gone!’

waambari

n. [Som. jijnbaar DSI 344] A piece of furniture with a long narrow shape, used as a bed or divan. It has four wooden legs and its top is covered with leather or hide. These used to be brought from the area of the Juba river.

wamuusi

n. the first month following Ramadhan

idi ya wamuusi ‘the major feast following the end of Ramadhan’

Iidi/ ya wamuusi/ hutuluka sku ya kaandra/ ya mfungulo wamuusi.

‘The idi ya wamuusi falls on the first day of the month following Ramadhan.’

waanda

n. [Sw. wanja [wa manga] “= antimony” SSED 526] kohl, antimony – a very smooth charcoal made from burned incense, used by women to blacken their eyebrows

Khupashilo waandá/ simpaké/ pilpili. ‘One who applies eye-makeup to you, don’t apply pepper to him.’ (A proverb.)

Maama/ watile waanawe/ waanda/ ma^tooni. ‘Mother applied eyeshadow to her daughters.’

waanda ni sunna na mafta khpakoowa/ na nda ni sunna na mafta khpakoowa/ na kulla waqti manyala khtⁱndoowa [st.] ‘it is recommended by the Sunna to apply kohl and oil and to cut the nails at all times’

chi-waandiko (zi-)

n. 7/8 [cf. k-aandika ‘to put s.t. on s.t. else’] patch of cloth, or leather, or plastic, when used to mend a hole or bridge a gap in a bag or leather bucket (wadaamu) variant form: chiwaandriko

chi-waandra (zi-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. kiwanda SSED 213] (i) plot of land, soccer field; (ii) smithy

(ii) Chimaliza/ peleshela chiwandraani/ kubarata khfula dhahabu/ na fe^dá. ‘Then he was sent to a blacksmith shop to learn to forge gold and silver.’

ku-waandra

v. [Sw. wanda SSED 525] (waan^zile) be, get fat, put on weight

Mi/ huja zint^hu ma^tuuri/ zote/ laakini/ mi/ siwaandri. ‘I eat all fatty things, but I do not get fat.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is: chuungu ‘a cooking pot’.)

Mp^huundra/ maduriini/ waanzile/ nt^ho/ ka khisa/ nt^hashfaanya/ yo yote/ shokuwaa k^uja/ kulaala/ kulaala/ naa k^uja. ‘The donkey, in the bush, grew very fat because he did nothing except eat, sleep, sleep, and eat.’

Tuuma/ waanzile. ‘Tuuma has put on weight, gotten fatter.’

Tuuma/ waanzile/ niizé/ mtaambula. ‘Tuuma put on weight, I did not recognize her.’

Tuuma/ waanzile/ (nt^ho)/ hatá/ niizé/ mtaambula. ‘Tuuma put on so much weight I could not recognize her.’

Uko kharibu ya miikó/ haakosi/ kuwaandra. ‘The one who is near the kitchen never fails to get fat.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

ku-waandrisha v. caus. (wandrishiize) fatten kumbaandri^hsha ‘to fatten me’ (Note the hardening of the stem-initial w after the first person singular subject marker. This hardening does not occur in kumwaandri^hsha ‘to fatten him’ or kunwaandri^hsha ‘to fatten you (pl.)’.)

Ma^hto ya mwenewe/ humwandri^hsha ngoombe. ‘The eyes of the owner fattens the cow (i.e., other people never take care of one’s affairs as well as oneself).’ (A proverb.)

l-wango

n. plank where sailor/rower sits in boat review vowel length, sg/pl

ku-waangula

v. (wangiile) break open the shell so that a chick may emerge

Ndi^hiwa/ ba’ada ya kuwaangula/ na nt^hasa kul^hafa chiwatiló/ bakayle/ chimwaambila/... ‘The pigeon. after it hatched the chicken, and before it left the hatching place, the hare told it...’

Nk^huku/ nakuwaangula. ‘The hen is producing, wants to produce eggs.’

rel.

ku-wangu^hloowa v. pass.

Siwalaangé/ wanaank^huku/ nt^hasaa wo/ kuwangu^hloowa. ‘Don’t count the chicks before they are hatched.’

ku-wanguliza v. caus. appl.

ku-wangulizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

ku-waanguza v. caus.

ku-wanguzika v. caus. p/s.

ku-waanisha

v. [Som. waan- F&H 264] (wanishiize) advise, warn kumwaanisha ‘to advise someone’

Mi/ nimwanishiizé/ Haliima/ mwaanawe/ kumtina. ‘I advised Haliima to circumcise her child.’ (In repeating this sentence a few times, GM each time failed to delete the w in the verb but deleted the w in mwaana. It is not the case, however, the GM never deletes a stem initial w after m, as examples listed under -wona and -weeka, for example, show.)

Takunwaanisha. ‘He will advise me.’

waankul^ha

n. (my) grandfather; [pron. waank^hul^há]

Hamadi/ hadiile/ waank^hul^há/ ile ka Nguuja. ‘Hamadi said: my grandfather came from Zanzibar.’

wank^hul^ha wiitu ‘our grandfather’ wank^hul^hazó ‘your grandfathers’

Waankhul^hó/ mub^hlaa mp^hana/ hamdaayati/ mwadamu hayi. ‘Your grandfather, rat-killer, will not hesitate (take long) to kill a living human being.’ (Translation of a Somali proverb.)

waano

n. advice

Diini/ ni waano. ‘Religion is advice.’

Kuumba/ na waanó/ kuumba/ mbele. ‘Creation and advice, creation was first.’ (Translation of a Somali proverb.)

Laakini/ Sa’iidi/ iize/ khtila ishkilooni/ waano/ na wa’aóí. ‘But Sa’iidi refused to heed the warnings and advice.’

Mwaana/ iize/ khkasa waano/ wa maamaye. ‘The boy refused to listen to the advice of his mother.’

sh^hteenzi sh^himiile cha hija ma waano [st.] ‘the poem of pilgrimage and advice is completed’

Skutikiza/ wano waa mi/ mp^heelá. ‘I did not heed the advice that I was given.’

Ye/ haakasi/ waano. ‘He won’t listen to advice.’

wantiini

n. assistant, second-in-command (lit. someone of under)

Á’á/ want^hiinike/ tu/ kódeeló. [HHH!!H] ‘No, just his aide/second-in-command spoke.’

Á’á/ ye/ kódele naa ch^hita/ want^hiinike. ‘No, he just spoke to the president’s second-in-command.’

wapiili

n. the second month after Ramadhan

waqfu

n. [Sw. wakf SSWD 524; Ar. an endowment fund established either for religious and charitable purposes, or as a family endowment in favor of the owner’s descendants; [usu. pron. wakhfu] khfanya wakhfu ‘to give a charitable bequest’ kuḷaṭa wakhfu ‘to leave as a bequest; leave s.t. free for all’

Mzele Hamadi/ ḷasile nuumbaye/ wakhfu. ‘Old Hamadi has left his house (free to everybody).’

kuḷaṭila wakhfu ‘to leave s.t. as a bequest’ ḷatilile miskiti/ nuumba/ wakhfu. ‘He left the house as a bequest to the mosque.’

kuweka wakhfu ‘to bequeath’

Mzele Hamadi/ weshele nuumbaye/ wakhfu. ‘Old Hamadi has left his house (free to everybody).’

Muuntʰu/ suura/ kuweka wakhfu/ misahaafu/ miskitiini. ‘It is good for one to bequeath copies of the Quran to the mosque (lit. put copies of the Quran in the mosque as wakhfu).’

Sheekhi/ uzile misahaafu/ ya khur’aani/ hadiile/ nakuweka wakhfu/ muskitiini/ ka Darmale. ‘Sheekhi bought copies of the Quran and said that he is giving them free at Darmaale mosque.’

Misahafu aya/ ni wakhfu. ‘These copies of the Quran are free of charge.’

waqiya

n. ounce; pronounced either as waqiya or wakhiya

waqti

n. [Sw. wakati SSED 523; Ar.] time; [pron. waqti or wakhti]

Ali/ ile numbaani/ ba’adi ya wakhti ya waantʰu/ wontʰe/ kuuya. ‘Ali came home after the time when all the people came.’

Ba’ada ya wakhti/ sho kuwaa mule/ sungura/ chimsonga siimba/ chimkoḷisha ka ishkilooni. ‘After a short period of time, Rabbit approached Lion and spoke into his ear.’

Ba’adi/ ya wakhti/ mchaache/ chiyaa mpʰisi/ chija kuulu/ iyo/ yaa mbuzi. ‘After a little while, a hyena came and ate that leg of the goat.’

Chinakhkoḷela jawabu iyi/ wakhti miingi/ ni wakhti/ ya khfanyowa chiintʰu. ‘We have been discussing this matter for too long, it is time to take action.’

Chiintʰu/ husulowa wakhti. ‘Everything requires, needs time.’

Du’a/ suura/ kulombowa wakhti/ nʰaanoze/ zaa sala. ‘It is good to make supplication during the five praying times.’

endraani Arafaṭi waqti ukomeelo [st.] ‘go to Arafat in good time (i.e. do not be late)’

Haba mooyi/ ṅnakhsuḷa wakhti/ mi/ khkalanṭʰa naawé/ khkoḷá. ‘I want a little time to sit with you and speak.’

Hamadi/ mwambile Omari/ kanaa we/ shpata wakhti/ ndo/ pita numbaani. ‘Hamadi told Omari: if you get time, come and pass by my house.’

Hamadi/ mwambile Omari/ ṅshikila wakhti/ nakhsuulá/ peesaza. ‘Hamadi told Omari: fix/set a time for me, I want my money back.’

Hamadi/ mwambile Omari/ ṅwakhti/ unakhfakata/ ṅkheeri/ chilawe/ chimaliza jawabu iyi/ kahima. ‘Hamadi told Omari: time is running, we had better go and finish this thing.’

Hamadi/ mwambile Omari/ wakhtiwo/ nakumaliza apá/ bilaa ma’ana. ‘Hamadi told Omari: your time, you are spending it uselessly (wasting it).’

Hamadi/ mi/ nimple deeni/ skumshiikila/ wakhti. ‘Hamadi, I gave him a loan, but I did not set a time for him (to repay it).’

Hamadi/ wakhtiwe/ ingiile/ fiile. ‘Hamadi his time (of dying) came in, he died.’

Hatá/ wakhti/ yaa we/ shkoma apo/ fadhi/ itakumala.

Ile mbele ya wakhti waa mi/ chimfilaṭiló. ‘He came before the time that I expected him.’

Jisaa mi/ namindra Omari/ wakhti/ ugitiṣhile. ‘As I was waiting for Omari, time dragged.’

ka wakhti ‘on time’

Chitawo cha Menye Abuuyi/ huya ka wakhti. ‘The bus of Menye Abuuyi comes on time.’

Chitaawo/ cha Saydi Aamaró/ hachiya/ ka wakhti. ‘The bus of Saydi Aamaro does not come on time.’ (There were two buses that ran daily between Brava and Mogadishu; one was owned by Saydi Aamaro, the other by Menye Abuuyi.)

Numbaani/ ka wakhti/ chiiló/ kulangala matezo. ‘We came to the house on time to watch the game.’

karka wakhti uyu ‘at this time’ khfanya wakhti ‘to take (lit. make, do) time’

Kilaa chiint^{bu}/ hjufanya wakhti. ‘Everything takes time.’

khtala wakhti ‘to take time’

Kilaa chiint^{bu}/ hutala wakhti. ‘Everything takes time.’

Kilaa muunt^{bu}/ wakhti/ uchiingila/ taakufa. ‘Everyone, when his time comes (in), he will die.’

Kilaa chiint^{bu}/ china wakhti/ humaliza/ tu. ‘Everything has time (i.e. lasts for a period of time) and just finishes/ends.’

Kilaa chiint^{bu}/ hubadilika/ ka wakhti. ‘Everything changes in time.’

Kilaa chiint^{bu}/ husulowa wakhti/ tu/ huliwaloowa. ‘Everything just needs time (i.e. lasts for a period of time) and is forgotten.’ Confirm gloss.

Kilaa chiint^{bu}/ inayo wakhtiwe. ‘Everything has its time.’ (A saying.)

Kilaa chiint^{bu}/ wakhtiwe/ humala. ‘Everything, its time finishes.’

Kilaa muunt^{bu}/ wakhtiwe/ chiingila/ hufa (or: taakufa). ‘Everybody, when his time enters (i.e. comes), he dies.’ (A saying.)

kilaa wakhti ‘each/every/all the time’

Kilaa wakhti/ Hamiisi/ hulangala tiivi/ mpiira. ‘Hamiisi watches football on tv all the time.’

khshika wakhti ‘to set, fix a time’

khinda wakhti ‘to set a time, make an appointment’

Tiinda/ wakhti yaa si/ kuwonana. ‘Set a time when we can see one another.’

kubasha wakhti ‘to lose, waste, pass time’ (also: kubashowa wakhti, kubashika wakhti, kubashiliza wakhti, kubashilizowa wakhti)

Hamadi/ kalent^{he} apo/ nakubasha wakhtiwe/ bilaa ma’ana.

‘Hamadi sat there, wasting his time uselessly (lit. without meaning).’

Kubashowa wakhti/ bilaa ma’ana/ ni khasaara. ‘For time to be passed uselessly is a loss.’

Matezo/ ya karaṭa/ ramaḏaani/ masku/ huṭezoowa/kubashilizowa wakhti/ haṭá/ ishkoma taraawehe.

‘Cards are played at night during Ramadhan to pass the time until taraawehe (the last meal before dawn, around three or four in the morning) arrives.’

Mi/ wakhtiwa/ ni ghaali/ skhaadiri/ kubasha wakhtiwa. ‘Me, my time is valuable, I cannot waste my time.’

Muunt^{bu}/ shṭeza geemu/ ya aaypaad/ amá/ komp(i)yuutar/ jisa wakhti/ hubaashikó/ ha’iwi. ‘If one plays a game for the i-Pad or the computer, the way in which time passes, one does not realize.’

Omari/ hadiile/ nakendra dukaani/ ka Ali/ kubasha wakhti/ haṭá/ sala ya lapili/ ichiingila. ‘Omari said: I am going to Ali's shop to pass time until the afternoon prayer time comes (lit. enters).'

Omari/ mwambile Nuuru/ chilawe tawala/ sheteze mpiira/ chibashilize wakhti/ hatá/ ishkomowa wakhti/ yaa khaða. 'Omari told Nuuru: let us go to the beach to play football to pass the time with until it reaches the time for lunch.'

Omari/ nakulangała tiivi/ matezo ya mpiira/ ya duniya/ kubashiliza wakhti. 'Omari is watching on television the football game of the world (=World Cup) to pass time with.'

kubla wakhti 'to kill time'

Mi/ anakendra kulangała mpiira/ kubla wakhti. 'I am going to watch football to kill time.'

kulindra wakhti/ haba mooyi 'to wait for a little while; or kulindra haba mooyi/ wakhti

Mi/ nakhsulaa we/ kulindra haba mooyi/ wakhti/ chimaliza/ takhufanyiliza. 'I want you to wait a little more time and then I will do it for you.'

kuweka wakhti 'to set, fix a time'

Langala wakhti/ stakuraaga. 'Look at the time, we will be late.'

Mi/ Hamadi/ wakhti/ miingi/ nimpeeló/ kumsaayda. 'Me, Hamadi, a lot of time, I gave him, to help him.'

Mi/ shpata wakhti/ takuuya/ khusaayda. 'Me, if I have the time, I will come to help you.'

Mi/ takhpata/ wakhti/ waa mi/ kuuya/ khusaayda. 'Me, I will get for me to come and help you.'

Mi/ takhpatila/ wakhti/ kuuya/ khusaayda. 'Me, I will get time to come and help you.'

Mi/ wakhti/ unakummaliza/ nakhsula keendrá. 'Time is running out for me (lit. is finishing for me), I want to go.'

Muke/ wakhti ukomeeló/ chishika utungu/ chizaala. 'The woman, when the time came, went into labor and gave birth.'

mukhta wakhti ukomeeló 'when the time came'

Muunt'u/ hatelezi/ wakhtiwe. 'A person should not play with (waste) his time.'

Muunt'u/ wakhtiwe/ uchiya/ nt'a'iku/ su'aali. 'When someone's time (for death) comes, there is no question (i.e. he is going to die).' (A saying.) Or: Muunt'u/ wakhtiwe/ uchiingila/ nt'a'iku/ su'aali. 'When someone's time (for death) comes in, there is no question (he is going to die).'

Mwaanawa/ bareete/ wakhti. 'My child has learned (to tell) time.'

Mwaanawe/ siwo/ bashizo wakhti/ ndilaani. 'Her child is not the one wasted time (playing) in the street.'

Naayó/ wakhti waa we/ kuya numbaani/ kuja naami? 'Do you have time to come home and eat with me?'

Ndriinzilé/ wakhti miingi. 'I waited for a long time.'

Nimlinzile Omari/ wakhti miingi. 'I waited for Omari for a long time.'

Nimweené/ Hasani/ kuna khamri/ wakhti mwiingi. 'I have seen Hasani drink alcohol many times.'

Nnakhsula haba mooyi/ wakhtiu/ khkalan'a khkoða naawé. 'I want some time to sit and talk with you.'

Nt'a'ukhpita/ wakhti/ mule/ khaadimu/ chileta chaakuja/ na waziiri/ na Ali/ washkalaant'a/ wachija. 'Not much time passed and the servant brought food and the minister and Ali sat down and ate.'

ruuhu huliindra (ka) sa'aye na waqti [st.] 'the soul awaits its hour and time (i.e. its appointed time for dying)'

Omari/ lisile/ deeni/ laakini/ ba'adi ya wakhti. 'Omari paid back the loan but after the time (that it was due to be paid).'

Omari/ mwambile Hamadi/ mi/ chimp'a wakhti/ jawabu iyo/takhumajila. ‘Omari said to Hamadi: me, if you give me time, that thing, I will finish it for you.’

Osmaani/ hawanaayo/ wakhti/ ya khteza mpiira. ‘Osmaani does not have time to play football.’ (It is apparently grammatical to use the short form: Osmaani/ hawana/ wakhti. ‘Osmaani does not have time.’ However, it seems to be less common than hawanaayo.) qabla ya wakhti ‘ahead of time, before time’

Hamadi/ mlipiliile/ Omari/ deeniye/ khabla ya wakhti. ‘Hamadi repayed to Omari his debt before the (agreed upon) time.’

Sa’aya/ hushika wakhti. ‘My watch keeps correct time.’

Sina/ wakhti. ‘I do not have time.’

Sivo/ suura/ kubashowa wakhti/ bilaa ma’ana. ‘It is not good for time to be wasted without purpose.’

Uyu/ ni wakhti/ waa ye/ huyoo kujá. ‘This is the time that he comes to eat.’

Wa’ize/ kump’ha wakhti/ mi/ khkoða naawo/ jawabu izo. ‘They refused to give me time to talk with them about that matter.’

wakhti gani ‘what time?’

Wakhti gani/ wa mwaaka. ‘What time of year?’ (A possible answer: Wakhti yaa nvula. ‘The rainy season.’)

Wakhti gani/ wa mwakaa yana/ Hamadi/ waliko safiriilo. ‘At what time last year did Hamadi travel?’

Wakhti gani/ wa mweezi. ‘What time of the month?’

Wakhti/ ha’ubashoowi. ‘Time is not (i.e. should not be) wasted.’

Wakhti/ ha’utelezoowi. ‘Time should not be played with (wasted).’

wakhti haba ‘little time’

Hamadi/ mpele Omari/ wakhti haba/ kulipa deeni. ‘Hamadi gave Omari a short time to repay the debt.’

Wakhti/ ha’itelezoowi. ‘Time is not played with (i.e. don’t waste your time).’ (A proverb.)

Wakhti/ ha’ibashoowi. ‘Time is not (i.e. should not be) wasted.’ (A proverb.)

Wakhti/ hufaydishilizoowa. ‘Time is benefitted from.’ (A proverb.)

Wakhti/ hugitika. ‘Time stretches, pulls, drags (i.e. becomes long).’

Wakhti/ humala. ‘Time finishes (i.e. time flies).’

wakhti/ iriiri ‘little, insufficient, restricted time’

Mi/ wakhtiwa/ iriiri/ sina/ kudirka/ kooloka/ kumlangala Hamadi. ‘Me, my time is very restricted, I cannot go and visit Hamadi.’

wakhti/ kamba uyu ‘time like this (i.e. same time as this)’

Hamadi/ mambile Omari/ mi/ nakhulindra/ keesho/ kuya numbaani/ we/ wakhti/ kamba uyu. ‘Hamadi told Omari: I will wait for you tomorrow to come to the house, you, at this time.’

wakhti miingi ‘a lot of time’

Ali/ wana wakhti miingi/ khfanya kazi iyo. ‘Ali had a lot of time to do that job.’

wakhti mmovu ‘a bad time (for something) wakhti msuura ‘a good time (for something)’

Hamadi/ ile numbaani/ wakhti msuura/ mukhta waant’u/ wont’e/ waalikó. ‘Hamadi came home at a good time, when everyone was there.’

wakhti/ nafasi ‘a lot of time’

Hamadi/ nawo wakhti/ nafasi/ yaa ye/ kooloka/ kumlangala daadaye. ‘Hamadi has a lot of time for him to go to visit (lit. look at) his grandmother.’

Wakhti/ ni ghaali/ ha’utelezoowi. ‘Time is valuable (lit. expensive), it shouldn’t be wasted (lit. played with).’

Wakhti/ ni kana/ lpepo/ lchikhupita/ halruudi. ‘Time is like the wind, if it passes you, it does not come back.’

Wakht̥i/ ni mwaalimu. ‘Time is the teacher.’
wakht̥i oyo ‘at that time’
wakht̥i uje ‘at that time’
Wakht̥i/ unakhfakata. ‘Time is running (i.e. time goes by quickly).’ Or:
Wakht̥i/ hufakata. ‘Ibid.’
Wakht̥i/ unakhpita. ‘Time passes.’ Or: Wakht̥i/ hupita. ‘Ibid.’
Wakht̥i/ ↑unakhpita/ naami/ nt̥haasa/ sinakhaadira/ kumaliza jawabu iyo. ‘Time is passing and I am still not able to finish that thing.’

Wakht̥i/ upisiló. ‘A while passed.’ Or: Ipisile wakht̥i. ‘There passed a while.’

Wakht̥i uyu/ waant̥hu/ hupumula. ‘At this time people rest.’

wakht̥i wa awari ‘a time of drought’ wakht̥i waa chiwo ‘school period’ wakht̥i wa izdihaamu ‘a time of crowdedness, much activity, etc.’

Sa’a idaashara/ za lapili/ Columbus/ ni wakht̥i wa izdihaamu.
‘Five o’clock [lit. eleven] is a crowded, busy time in Columbus.’

wakht̥i wa khfuunga ‘time of closing’

wakht̥i wa khfungoowa ‘time of being closed’

Isa/ ni wakht̥i wa maduka/ khfungoowa/ ni wakht̥i waa sala.
‘Now is the time for shops to be closed, it is the time for prayer.’

wakht̥i wa khfunguloowa ‘time for being opened’

Isa/ ni wakht̥i wa maduka/ khfunguloowa masku/ sababu ya iidi/ ni khariibu. ‘Now is the time for shops to be opened this evening since iidi is near.’

wakht̥i wa khsaafira ‘time to travel’

Sa’a za ariplaano/ khsaafira/ ni khariibu. ‘The time for the airplane to depart (travel) is near.’

wakht̥i wa khshafa ‘the time for harvesting’ wakht̥i waa kuja ‘a time for eating’

wakht̥i wa kulawa ‘time to leave, travel’

wakht̥i wa kulima ‘the time for plowing’ wakht̥i wa kuwasila ‘time of arrival’ wakht̥i wa matezo ‘a time for playing’

Wakht̥i wa Obama/ kh̥tersha/ ni miyaka minne (or minne). ‘The time for Obama to rule is four years.’

wakht̥i waa nvula ‘the time of rain’ wakht̥i waa sala ‘a time for prayer’ wakht̥i wa skoola ‘school period’ wakht̥i/ waa ye/ naakujó ‘the time when he was eating’ wakht̥i/ waa ye/ tersheezó ‘the time during which he ruled’

ku-waara

v. [Som. waar- Ab250] (wariile) be long-lasting, eternal chint̥hu cha kuwaara ‘something eternal, long-lasting’

Dhibu/ haywaari/ na ichiwaara/ husulowa imaani. ‘Hardship does not last forever, and if it does, what is needed is faith.’

dhibu stoshe yo huwaara [song] ‘don’t think that difficulties last forever’

Mojiitu/ uko/ dhibu/ ha’iwaari/ dhibu/ ichiwaara/ husulowa imaani.

‘There is a God, hardship does not last forever; if hardship is never-ending, what is needed is faith.’ (A proverb.)

Nt̥aku/ cha kuwaara. ‘There is nothing eternal.’

nt̥aku huwaaro... [s] ‘there is no one who lives forever’ takuwaara mulooni kula kaafiri [st.] ‘he will be in hell forever, every infidel’

Zint̥hu za duniya/ haziwaari. ‘Mundane things do not last.’

rel.

ku-waarisha v. perpetuate, make long-lasting waraadi goodbye, farewell, good night (before going to bed) -- pl. waradiini; the response is also waraadi/waradiini; excuse me khpa waraadi 'to bid farewell'

Eelo/ chimpa sultaani/ waraadi/ chilawa. 'The gazelle said goodbye to the king and left.'

Mp^hele waraadi. 'He bid me farewell.'

Mwaana/ chiwapa waant^hu/ waraadi. 'The boy bid farewell to the people.'

khpanana waraadi 'to bid one another farewell'

Chimaliza/ baaba/ na mwaaná/ washpanana waraadi. 'After that, father and son bid one another farewell.'

ndruuza iwaani #nakinpa waraadi/ kuwonana kiitu ni yomu' l'miyaadi [st.] 'relatives, be aware, I say farewell to you; we shall see one another on the day of final judgment' (Although we have included an optional first person singular subject marker in #nakinpa for the sake of clarity, it probably should be omitted from the practical orthography since at least among present-day speakers we have observed it seems to be missing in front of the present tense na prefix. Note that the infinitive prefix ku used in the present tense shifts to ki in front of the second person plural object marker realized here as n, hence #nakinpa.)

Waraadi/ nakhadira kunsaaaydá/ #nammera Tuumá. 'Excuse me, can you help me? I am looking for Tuuma.'

Waraadi/ #nakiyolokelá. 'Goodbye! I am going.' (Note that the infinitive prefix ku, used in forming the present tense, shifts to ki in front of the reflexive prefix realized as y in #nakiyolokelá.)

waraadi

sorry

Waraadi/ sinakhfahama. 'Sorry, I don't understand.'

Waraadi/ siná/ peesa. 'Sorry, I have no money.'

l-warakha (m-barakha) n. 11/10 [Sw. waraka (nyaraka) "a written communication, a letter (of correspondence), certificate, deed, title-deed, document" SSED 526; Ar.] sheet of paper

Baana/ atile lwarakha/ chibuuku/ nt^hakaatula/ ja^laada. 'Baana tore off a page from the book, he did not tear off the cover.'

Baana/ atile lwarakha la chibuuku. 'Baana tore off a page of the book.'

Or: Baana/ atile lwarakha/ la chibuuku. Or: Baana/ atile/ lwarakha la chibuuku. 'Baana tore off a page of the book.'

Chi^ta/ weshele mbarakha/ za zamaani/ mtanaani. 'The chief kept old papers inside the room.'

Chula mbarakha. 'He bought paper.'

lwarakha ilije/ nlaaka. 'That piece of paper is mine.' (Cf. Mbarakha izije/ nzaaka. 'Those pieces of paper are mine.') lwarakha l^lusi/ la mwiizi 'the black piece of paper of the thief'; mbarakha nyulusi/ za mwiizi 'the black pieces of paper of the thief' lwarakha laa ye/ andishiló 'the paper that he wrote on' lwarakha/ nakhsoomó. 'The paper, he is reading it.' (A pre-verbal lwarakha prefers to have the verb in a pseudo-relative form. An example such as ??lwarakha/ nakhsooma is of doubtful acceptability in our present consultant's opinion.)

Mwaana/ shtala lwarakha ili/ chisooma. 'The child took this piece of paper and read it.'

nangaangu/ kana lwarakha 'as thin, light as paper'

Nakhsooma lwarakha. 'He is reading a piece of paper.' Or: Nakhsooma/

lwarakha. 'He is reading a piece of paper.' (One cannot put the verb into a pseudo-relative form in the absence of a preverbal focus: Nakhsooma lwarakhá. nor: Nakhsoomó/ lwarakha.)

Omari/ nakhsooma lwarakha. 'Omari is reading a piece of paper.' Or, with focus on the verb: Omari/ nakhsooma/ lwarakha.

Omari/ nakhsomo lwaraká. ‘Omari is reading a piece of paper.’ Or:
Omari/ nakhsoomó/ lwarakha. ‘Omari is reading a piece of paper.’ (Syn. We refer to the verb in this type of structure to be an instance of pseudo-relativization. Pseudo-relativization can be distinguished from a true relative clause construction by virtue of the behavior of the final accent triggered by all relative clauses. In pseudo-relativization, the final action does not cross past a focused constituent. In true relativization, final accent always extends to the end of the relative clause.)

Pishize lwarakha. ‘He burned a piece of paper.’
shokuwa lwarakha mooyi ‘except one page’
Sku yaa saba/ shtala mbarakha/ na khalamú/ kandikaa khaṭi. ‘On the seventh day, he took sheets of paper and a pen to write a letter.’
Tete lwarakha/ na qalamú/ kumwandikila waawaye/ khaṭi. ‘He took a piece of paper and a pen to write a letter to his father.’

wardi	n. 9/10 [Sw. waridi SSED 526; Ar.] rose Mpele shpeendoche/ wardi. ‘He gave his lover a rose.’ wardi ya jannaan ‘rose of paradise’
wardiya (ma-)	n. guard, watchman Apo/ mlangooni/ chidirkamana/ na mawaardiya. ‘There at the door he encountered guards.’ khfanya waardiya ‘to keep guard’ kulindra waardiya ‘to keep guard’ Mbwa/ kalent^he mahala hingilowa itundruuni/ mlaango/ wa ituundru/ kana waardiya. ‘The dog stayed at the place where the cave had been entered, the (lit.) door of the cave, like a watchman.’
ku-wareegaṭa	v. [Som.] circumvent, go around, avoid Omari/ nakuwareegaṭa/ kuhada za liḷa. ‘ Omari is avoiding telling the truth.’ Or: Omari/ nakuwaregaṭa kuhada za liḷa.
wareento	n. [Som. wareento "(rheumatic) pains caused by being exposed to cold air" DSI 608] chest infection; [pron. wareento]
wari	in the expression: khfililaa wari ‘to act energetically to accomplish or do s.t. for fame’
ku-waritha	v. (warithiile) inherit kumwaritha ‘to inherit from him’ wariya	interj. Ja/ wariya/ kuja iyi/ ka hima. ‘(Said e.g. to a child) eat, you, this food quickly!’ Or: Wariya/ ja/ kuja iyi/ ka hima. we/ wariya ‘hey you!’
warshada	n. [Som. warshad] workshop, industry Ali/ ha’ikhadiroowi/ warshadaani/ kaake/ khfanyowa kaazi/ tanafusi/ hupati. ‘Ali at his workshop cannot work, he is unable to breathe.’ Hasani/ mweenzawe/ Nuuru/ mwingilo garabuuni/ khfungula warshada/ ya zilaatu. ‘It is Hasani’s friend Nuuru who supported him in opening a shoe factory.’ Omari/ fanyize kaazi/ karka warshada iyo/ haṭá/ tufile maazi. ‘ Omari worked (long and hard) in that industry until he spit blood.’ Warshada/ ya zilaatu/ ya Kakamoole/ waant^hu/ washfanya kaazi/ kana/ makiina. ‘(In) the shoe industry of Kakamoole, people worked like a machine.’
warthi	n. inheritance

ku-wasa	v. (wasiize) make a will, leaving special instructions concerning burial, care of children or other matters; warn Isa/ mi/ nakhuwasá/ zint^hu ziwilí. ‘Now I warn you of two things.’ Mwaana/ jisa sultaani/ wasiizó/ shtawalishoowa/ usultaani. ‘The boy, just as the sultan had directed in his will, was installed to the kingship.’ Sultaani/ chiwasa. ‘The king made a will.’ rel. nom. m-wasa (wa-) n. 1/2 one who makes a will
wasakha	n. dirt; adj. dirty khfanya wasakha ‘to make dirty’ Meeza/ yaa we/ nakandiko iluké/ kaka lila/ ni wasakha The table on which you’re writing is really (lit. truly) dirty.’ Stilé/ kanaani/ kaako/ iyo/ ni wasakha. ‘Don’t put that in your mouth, it is dirty.’ Wasakha/ huletoo mp^haná. ‘Dirt brings rats [to a place].’
ku-wasakhisha	v. make dirty
m-washi (wa-)	n. 1/2 [Sw. mwashi] mason mwashi/ na ndruundró ‘a mason and a hammer’; mwashi/ na ndruundroyé ‘a mason and his hammer’; mwashi/ na ndruundrozé ‘a mason and his hammers’
ku-waasi’a	v. (wasi’iile) expand; give more of s.t. (e.g. food to one’s family) rel. ku-wasi’isha v. caus. ku-wasi’ishiliza v. caus. appl. rel. nom. u-waasi’o n. 14 u-wasi’isho n. 14 u-wasi’ishilizo n. 14
wasi’i (ma-)	n. [Sw. wasii SSED 507; Ar.] trustee, guardian
waasi’i	adj. roomy, spacious, wide, abundant ashuura ni sunna nakhfanyoowa waasi’i/ khuuti lhalaali tayibu jo naafi’i [st.] ‘on Ashuura is is best for food to be prepared in abundance, food that is in accordance with the laws, good, useful’ Ziti zaa numa/ siwo/ waasi’i/ kamba zaa mbele. ‘The seats at the back are not as roomy as those at the front.’
ku-wasila	v. [Sw. wasili SSED 527; Ar.] (wasiliile) arrive Chimaliza/ chiwasila khaadimu. ‘After that a servant arrived.’ Chiint^hu/ chisuura/ khfanyoowa/ ni kulindra gargaari/ kuwasila. ‘The best thing to do would be to wait for help to arrive.’ Chiza kuwasilako/ nt^haykunfurahisha. ‘Your not arriving displeased me.’ Hasani/ naayé/ ba’ada ya sku/ chiwasila/ choloka ka waawaye/ naayé/ naakuló/ muná/ muná. ‘Hasani after (some) days arrived and went to his father’s place, crying: my little brother! my little brother!’ Khati/ iwasiiliile. ‘The letter arrived.’ Cf. Iwasiliilee khati. ‘A letter arrived.’ kumkhubura sultaani/ kuwa eelo/ wasiliile ‘to inform the sultan that the gazelle had arrived’ kuwasila chisimaani ‘to arrive at the island’ kuwasila kaake ‘to arrive at his place’ kuwasila numbaani ‘to arrive at the house’ kuwasila Unguujá ‘to arrive at Zanzibar’ kuwasilake/ bila kudighila ‘his arrival without warning’ kuwasilake/ bila kiiwisha ‘his arrival without making (it) known’

Kuwasilake/ kahima/ nt^haykumpeendeza/ Nuuru. ‘His early arrival did not please Nuuru.’

Kuwasilako/ ishfurahishiize. ‘Your arrival pleased us.’

Mbasilile numba ya Nuuru. ‘I arrived at Nuuru’s house.’

Mbasilile numbaani. ‘I arrived at the house.’

Mi/ nwasilile khablá/ ya maskuu kati. ‘I arrived before midnight.’

Mi/ saamini/ kuwa Omari/ takuwasila ka wakhti. ‘I don’t believe that Omari will arrive in time.’

mubli/ wasililopó ‘when the man arrived’

Mukeewa/ Barka/ takuwasila keesho. ‘My wife Barka will arrive tomorrow.’

Mukhtaa ye/ wasililó/ sulaaani/ chimwaambila/ islaamu/ uyu/ ile apa/ khtala maaliyo. ‘When he arrived, the sultan said to him: this Muslim has come here to take your wealth.’

Muunt^hu/ wasilile. ‘The man arrived.’ Cf. Wasilile muunt^hu. ‘A man arrived.’

Ni Barka/ mukeewa/ ndiyé/ takuwasilo keeshó. ‘It is Barka my wife who will arrive tomorrow.’

Nondroshele nt^hasaa ye/ kuwasila. ‘I went away before he arrived.’

nt^hangú/ si/ chiwasililó ‘since we arrived’

Sa’a za Hamadi/ kuwasila/ ni sa’a nt^haano/ za masku. ‘The time of Hamadi’s arrival is eleven (lit. five) at night.’

Shchiwasila/ muyiini/ mi/ nt^hakhtindoowa/ na namayá/ itakhpikoowa. ‘When I arrive in town, I will be slaughtered and my meat will be cooked.’

taariikhi/ yaa wo/ wawasililó/ Mwiini/ na jisaa wo/ wawasililó ‘the date when they arrived in Brava and how they got there’

Wachisaafira/ kharibu ya fijiri/ wachiwasila kaawo/ muyiini. ‘They traveled and about dawn they arrived in their home town.’

Wachiwasila/ zimila/ wasikhuwone. ‘When they arrive, hide so that they do not see you.’

Wasilile masku. ‘He arrived at night.’

Wawasilile/ wo? ‘Have they arrived?’ (The postposed subject pronoun wo is not downstepped in a simple yes-no question such as this.)

Zisu za Jaama/ nt^hukulizó/ nt^haskuwasila. ‘The knives that Jaama sent did not arrive.’

rel.

ku-wasilila v. appl. (wasililile) arrive by means of; arrive for Gaari/ imwasililile. ‘The car arrived for him (i.e. his car has arrived).’

ku-wasilisha v. caus. (wasilishiize) convey s.t.; cause s.t. to arrive; hand s.t. to s.o.

Jaama/ wasilishize peesa/ ka Nuuru. ‘Jaama handed the money over to Nuuru.’ (A double object construction like ?Jaama/ mwasilishize Bur’i/ peesa. appears to be very awkward. The example below illustrates that it can be used in a causative meaning.)

Jaama/ mwasilishize Bur’i/ peesa/ ka Nuuru. ‘Jaama caused Bur’i to hand over the money to Nuuru.’

Mbasilishize nt^humeyó. ‘I conveyed your message.’

Mbasilishize peesá. ‘I took the money to someone.’

Mzeele/ mwasilishize mwaana/ numbaani. ‘The parent took/accompanied the child to the house.’

ku-wasilishiliza v. caus. appl.

ku-wasilooa v. pass.

Maskuu kati/ khablaye/ iwasililá. ‘Midnight before it there was arriving.’

wasiya

n. 9/10 [Sw. usia SSED 507] will; short story; warning (Notice the fluctuation in the examples between ya and wa as the associative marker.)

Isa/ mi/ mbeené/ kuwa wasiya za waawe/ ni lila. ‘Now I have seen that the warnings of my father were true.’

Iyi/ ni wasiya/ siwo/ laano. ‘This is a story, not a tale.’

Nch^hwona/ kuwa ni lila/ wasiya wa kaandra. ‘I realized [lit. saw] that it was true, the first warning.’

Wasiya/ ya kaandra/ iwaaliko/ silaalé/ karka logaani. ‘The first warning was: don’t sleep in a valley.’

Wasiya ya piili/ iwaaliko/ siriyo/ simpe mukeewó. ‘The second warning was: your secret, don’t give it to your wife.’

Ye/ shkuumbuka/ wasiya/ wa waawaye. ‘He remembered the warning of his father.’

waskhaani

adj. dirty, crooked, immoral

munt^hu washkaani ‘an immoral person’ want^hu wakhsaani ‘immoral people’

wastaani

n. [Sw. wastani SSED 527] middle, average

Ismu/ ya chiint^hu/ suura/ wastaani. ‘Everything is good in moderation/ in the middle.’ (A proverb.)

Kila chiint^hu/ suura/ wastaani. ‘Moderation is best in all things.’ (A proverb.)

waswaasi

n. [Sw. wasiwasi SSED 527] doubt, hesitation, perplexity, neurosis, extreme worry (approaching madness), paranoia apo kulla muunt^hu tiila waswaasi [nt.] ‘at this point everybody was shaken with fear’ kulla mo waswaasi khkooða na qalbiye [nt.] ‘every one is prey to fear and talks to his heart’ kuwanayo waswaasi ‘to doubt, have concerns’

Hamadi/ hadiile/ mi/ koði za Ali/ nayo waswaasi. ‘Hamadi said: me, Ali’s words, I have concerns, doubts (about them).’

lawa chiwonane mi ndrāte waswaasi [st.] ‘come out, let us see each other, so that I can stop worrying’

Muunt^hu/ siwo/ suura/ kuwona waswaasi/ na jawaabu. ‘It is not good for someone to have concerns about things.’

mwenye waswaasi ‘neurotic’

Ye/ chiwona shpete/ icho/ itamwingila waswaasi/ hatá/ khsuula/ koondrola/ maatoye/ ka shpeteeni/ akhilizo/ stampotela/ ka jis’iyo/ we/ tamshiindra. ‘If she sees that ring, perplexity will enter her, until she will not want to move her eyes from the ring, her wits will be lost on her, therefore you will win (the card game).’

yiiko shifaa’aye lata waswaasi [st.] ‘there is his (the Prophet’s) intercession (available), abandon fears’

rel.

waswasoole adj.

munt^hu waswasoole ‘a person who has doubts’

watani

n. nation

bandera ya watani ‘national flag’

Chiswaahili/ hukodowa watani niingi. ‘Swahili is spoken in many countries.’

Ka sababu iyo/ kulla mgaandra/ mubli/ naa muké/ mwaana/ na munt^hu mzimá/ ni laazima/ kubarata khtumila bundukhu/ ili/ kudaafi’a/ wataniye. ‘For that reason, each Ugandan, man and woman, child and adult, must learn to use a rifle in order to defend his country.’

Mi/ wataniya/ ni Somaaliya. ‘Me, my nation is Somalia.’

waant^hu wa’enzele Keenya walaasiile watani [nt.] ‘[some] people have gone to Kenya, have left the country’

rel.

muwaatini n. patriot

Watani/ ihorishiiza/ na waant^hu/ muwaatini/ haba. ‘The country was liberated by a few patriots.’

wataatu	n. the third month after Ramadhan, also called mwezi wa aarafa
ku-watila	v. hatch, brood (of poultry) Sisaabaṭé/ nk^hukuzo/ nt^hasaa zo/ kuwatila. ‘Don’t count your chickens before they are hatched.’ rel. ku-watiza v. caus. prepare things for a hen to brood chi-watilo (zi-)	n. 7/8 brooding place Ndiüwa/ ba’ada ya kuwaangula/ na nt^hasá/ kuḷaṭa chiwatiló/ bakayle/ chimwaambila... ‘The pigeon, after it hatched (the chicks) and before it left the hatching place, the hare told it...’
l-wato	n. 11 (cl.10 form mbato is not used)[Sw. uwato] substance used as incense or as a medicine, fenugreek Lwato/ ka chindriimu/ na uki/ hupunguza kaḏiḏo. ‘Fennugreek with lemon and honey reduces fever.’ lwatoḷa ‘my incense’
l-wavu (m-bavu)	n. 11/10 side of the body; side (e.g. of a boat) Bishiḷaa mbavu. ‘He was hit on the sides.’ ka lwavu ‘sideways’ Lwavu/ la kubli/ hufunguloowa/ kafani/ jisa lwavu/ kudirka/ amá/ kudaara/ nt^hi (or: maṭaanga). ‘The right side of the kafani is opened so that the side [of the body] is let to touch the ground.’ Lwavu/ linamlaaza. ‘His side is aching.’ lwavula ‘my side’; mbavuzá ‘my sides’ lwavuuni ‘at the side, alongside’ lwavuuni/ kaaka ‘at my side’ lwavuuni/ ka Nuuru ‘at Nuuru’s side’ Leele/ ka lwavu. ‘He slept on his side.’ Mbavu/ zinamlaaza. ‘His sides are aching.’
waaw	ideo. of crying Mwaana/ oyo chihaba/ chowonoowa/ naakuḷa/ tu/ waaw waaw/ hamaali/ ba. ‘That little child is always seen crying waaw waaw , he is never quiet.’
waawa	[cl.2] strong demonstrative waawa/ awa ‘these very same ones’
waawaje	[cl.2] strong demonstrative waawaje/ awaje ‘those very same ones’
waawa	n. father (Most commonly used in a possessive form.) waawaye Abdalla/ waawaye/ waliko taajiri/ nt^ho. ‘Abdalla’s father was very rich.’ Choondroka/ cheendra/ ka wawaye mwanaamke. ‘He got up and went to the girl’s father.’ (The word order and phrasing found in wawaye mwanaamke is well-established in Mohammad Imam’s speech, but is not present in Gelani Mohamed’s speech; mwanaamke/ waawaye , on the other hand, is accepted by both speakers.) Iló/ (ni) Nuuru/ waawaye. ‘The one who came is Nuuru’s father.’ (Ni) Nuuru/ waawaye/ iló. ‘It’s Nuuru’s father who came.’ Nuuru/ ile/ waawaye. ‘[Lit.] Nuuru came his father -- i.e. Nuuru’s father came.’ Nuuru/ (ni) waawaye/ iló. ‘It’s the father of Nuuru who came.’ Or: Ni waawaye/ Nuuru/ iló. ‘It’s his father, Nuuru’s, who came.’ Or: Ni waawaye/ iló/ Nuuru. Or: Waawaye/ iló/ Nuuru. Waawaye/ ile/ Nuuru. ‘His father came, Nuuru’s.’

wawaye Yuusufu ‘Joseph’s father – lit. his father Joseph’ (Syn. This construction was employed by MI, but other consultants do not seem to use it.)

rel.

wawa y-poss. pl. x’s father

wawa yaawo ‘their father’

Hasani/ chiwataala/ waana/ sittawe/ kuḷa mooyi/ chimpa/ farasiye/ chendra naawo/ ka wawa yaawo. ‘Hasani took the children, the six of them, and each one he gave him his horse, and he went with them to their father.’

wawa yiinu ‘your (pl.) father’

wawa yiitu ‘our father’

waawe my father

Inaya/ ni Bulukhiya/ na waawé/ waliko sulṭaani. ‘My name is Bulukhiya and my father was king.’

Malizopo khsomaa khatí/ sulṭaani/ chihada/ mi/ ni laazima/ neendre/ nimzure waawe. ‘When he finished reading the letter, the sultan said: I must go and visit my father.’

Mbishile waawe/ munt^hu uyu. [H!H] ‘He beat father, this man.’

Munt^hui uyu/ mbishile waawe. [H!H] ‘This man beat father.’

Maame/ ni chigobe/ kolko waawe. [H’H’H] ‘Mother is shorter than father.’

Waawe/ mbishile munt^hu uyu. [H!H] ‘Father hit this man.’ Cf. Waawe/ mbishile/ munt^hu uyu. [H’H!H] ‘Father hit him this man.’

Waawe/ na maamé/ ni walee nt^ho. [H’H!H] ‘My father and my mother are very tall.’ (There is declination rather than downstep in the initial conjoined NP. The final accented syllable in the VP ni walee nto is downstepped, as is regularly the pattern.)

Waawe/ ni msoomaali. ‘My father is a Somali.’

Waawe/ (nii) mule. [H!H] ‘My father is tall.’ (cf. Waawe/ ni mulee nt^ho. [H!H] ‘My father is very tall.’)

Waawe/ nii mule/ kolko maame. [H’H’H] ‘Father is taller than mother.’

(The interpretation of the intonational pattern is not entirely clear. There is no doubt that the predicate ni mule is only declinated, not downstepped. This seems to reflect some emphasis on this PP. The pitch drop on kolko maame is more substantial, roughly 30+ hz in our recording of this example. This is on the low side for the first radical downstep in a sentence. We have interpreted the drop to be declination. Similar facts obtain for the example maame ni chigobe kolko waawe given earlier in this entry.)

Waawe/ siwo/ msuwaahili. ‘My father is not a person of Swahili origin.’

waawo ‘your father’

Kazi ya waawo/ mwaanawá/ hendra hufanya biyaashara. ‘Your father’s work, my son, was to go and do business.’

Mi/ leelo/ nch^hiza keendra/ zitaani/ waawo/ takshindroowa/ mi/ leelo/ nch^hendra zitaani/ waawo/ takshiiindra/ na ba’ada zita izi/has^htakuwako teena/ zita. ‘If I do not go today to the war, your father will be defeated; if today I do go to the war, your father will be victorious, and after these wars, there will again be war.’

waawayo

n. an extremely toxic poison that is put on an arrow or spear

Sumu yaa noka/ kana ya waawayo. ‘The poison of a snake is like waawayo.’ sumu ya waawayo ‘a poison derived from snake venom that is put on an arrow or spear; if eaten, this poison poses no problem, but does when it enters the blood’

chi-wawo (zi-)

n. 7/8 in the idiom:

kumtila ziwawo ‘to defeat someone (lit. to put defeats in someone)

Maliizopó/ chimwambila mwanaamke/ shchiteza/ teena/ mi/ nt^hakhutula/ ziwawo/ ishiriini/ kaa sa’a/ mooyi. ‘When he finished, he told the girl: if we play again, I will defeat you twenty times in one hour.’

- l-wawo (m-bawo)* n. 11/10 [Sw. ubao (mbao) SSED 28] plank of wood Bur'i/ uzile sandukhu yaa mbawo. 'Bur'i bought a wooden box.' (Phon. The yes/no question version of this exhibits pitch raising, but no accent shift.)
Bur'i/ uzile sanduukhu/ yaa mbawo. 'Bur'i bought a box made of wood.' (Phon. In this example, where the head of the associative phrase is phrased separately from its complement, the yes-no question does not involve accent-shift, just pitch raising.)
Bur'i/ uzile/ sandukhu yaa mbawo. 'Bur'i bought a wooden box.' (Phon. In the case of this example, where the verb is focused, the yes-no question shifts the accent in the complement: Bur'i/ uzile/ sandukhu yaa mbawó? 'Did Bur'i buy a wooden box?') Nuzile sandukhu yaa mbawó. 'I bought a wooden box.' Or: Nuzile sanduukhú/ yaa mbawo. Or: Nuuzilé/ sandukhu yaa mbawo. (Phon. The accentual facts are interesting here. When the associative phrase is prosodically phrased in its entirety with the verb, the final accent triggered by the verb extends to the end of the prosodic phrase. However, when only the head of the associative phrase is joined to the verb prosodically, the final accent does not extend beyond it. If the verb is phrased separately from the associative, then the final accent does not go beyond the verb itself. There is a bit of incongruity between the behavior of sanduukhu/ yaa mbawo in terms of the accent-shift in yes-no questions and its behavior here with respect to the distribution of the person accent triggered by the first person verb.) lwawo la qur'aani 'a board used to write on in koranic school'
rel.
chi-wawo (zi-) n. 7/8 wooden board used in koranic school which student writes on using charcoal Waana/ wa ziwooni/ washukula/ ziwawo/ zi'andishila Qur'aani/ na malimu waawo/ shpitaa mbele. 'The children of the Quranic schools carried wooden boards on which the Koran was their teacher walked [lit. passed] in front.' (Phon. We have translated zi'andishila Qur'aani '(on them) were written Quran' as a relative clause, but if that were the structure, would have to be a final accent: zi'andishila Qur'aaní. In recording of the text from which this example is extracted there is no such accent present.) written and the there
our

waaya n. man, human being, creature waya aragi n. [Som.] expert, skilled in s.t.
Hamadi/ ismu/ ya waya aragi/ nt'anaayo/ khfanya gaari. 'Hamadi does not have any experience fixing a car.'
Hamadi/ naayo/ waya aragi/ ya kinenza gaari. 'Hamadi has experience driving a car.'
Ni waya aragi/ ni munt^hu mzimá/ nayo khibrá/ nayo waya aragi/ naayó. 'You are a man of experience, you are an adult, you have skills, you have the experience of a man, that's what you have.'
Omari/ nt'anaayo/ waya aragi/ ya kuwaka. 'Omari does not have the skills to build something.'

-waazi adj. [Sw. wazi SSED 528] open
Bakayle/ lasile/ kanaye/ waazi/ teena/ nzi/ zinamwingilila/ kanaani. 'The hare had left its mouth open [while feigning to be dead] and then flies were getting in and out of its mouth.'
Chilata mlaango/ mkulu/ mwaazi. 'She left the main door [of the house] open.'
chita chiwaazi 'bare-headed' ka kula nt^huundru waazi soomu khatari [st.] 'for anything [to enter the body through] open holes [e.g. nose, mouth] is dangerous for the fasting [i.e. is forbidden during fasting]' mato mawaazi '(with) open eyes' maatoya mawaazi sa'a na daqiiqa [nt.] 'my eyes stay open for hours and minutes' Mlaango/ uwaliko mwaazi. 'The door was open.'
Munt^hu hafanyi kaazi/ miimbaye/ waazi. 'The man who does not work, his stomach is open [i.e. empty].' (A proverb.)

	Numa/ shtala ibiriikhi/ imo ikulu/ kanaye/ iwaazi/ ikulu. ‘Then she took one big water jug, its mouth open, large.’ numba waazi ‘lit. open house -- refers to the Bravanese custom to leave the house door open all day long, if the occupants are present’ n^haku nuumba waazi Miini sho ku^loowa [nt.] ‘in all Brava’s houses people are weeping -- lit. there is not in inhabited house where there is no weeping’ Shkombe cha sultaani chiwaazi. ‘The cup of the sultan is open.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is chisima ‘well’.) Sho kaazi/ miimbaye/ ni waazi. ‘The one who has no work, his stomach is open.’ (A proverb.) Or: Sho/ khfanya kaazi/ miimbaye/ ni waazi. Wa’oloshela zifa ziwaazi. ‘They went bare-headed.’ Brava an
waziiri (ma-)	n. [Sw. waziri SSED 528; Ar.] minister (in the government) variant form: waziiri Ali/ shfanyowa waziiri/ na waziri fanyizo khada’á/ chingila muyiini/ naaye/ maskiini. ‘Ali was made minister, and the minister who had cheated, he entered town a poor man.’ Apo/ zamaani/ waliko sultaani/ mooyi/ na waziiriwé. ‘Once upon a time there was a sultan and his minister.’ Cheendra/ naank^hó/ chimleta mwana wa piili/ wa waziiri. ‘He went again and brought a second child, [the son] of a minister.’ Hasiibu/ waziiri/ na ma’askari/ wachirashmanyá/ wachendra ka sultani waa noka. ‘Hasiibu, the minister, and the soldiers followed and went with the king of the snakes.’ Ka upees/ waziiri/ cheendra/ kumvila Hasani. ‘Quickly the minister went to call Hasani.’ Mkulu wa mawaziiri/ wanayo mwaamubli/ mooyi. ‘The prime minister has one son.’ Mooyi/ karka mawaziiri/ chisimama/ mbele/ ya sultaani/ apo barzaani/ chihada... ‘One of the ministers stood up in front of the sultan there in the royal hall and said...’ Nxiriilé/ naami/ n^hakhu^tanazulila/ usultaani/ na n^hakhtumika/ kama waziiriwo. ‘I agree and I will relinquish to you the sultanhip and I will serve as your minister.’ Ye/ waliko ni waziiri/ wa sultaani/ wa muuyi. ‘He was a minister of the sultan of the town.’
=w-e	[cl.3] possessive enclitic, third person singular Muuyi/ mzimawe/ uchiyela waanthu/ kana zamaani. ‘The whole town became full of people just as before.’
we	second person singular independent pron. Ikhudariileni/ we. ‘What’s wrong with you [lit. what touched you]?’ Ha^taa we/ shkoma numbaani/ mu^lo/ utakuwa uzuushile. ‘By the time you reach home, the fire will be revived.’ Mi/ siná/ chaakuja/ cha khupaa we. ‘Me, I do not have any food to give you.’ Mi/ siná/ dhibu/ yo yotte/ sho kuwa khutiyilaa we. ‘I have no difficulty whatsoever except to be afraid for you.’ Mwaana/ kamaa we/ siná/ haaja/ naaye. ‘A child like you, I have no need of him.’ Mwanaamke/ naayé/ chiviloowa/ chuzoowa/ mwaanawá/ we/ nakhsula maali/ amó/ raa^di. ‘The daughter also was invited to come and was asked: my child, do you want wealth or [my] blessings?’ Nakhsulaa we/ keendra. ‘I want you to go.’ Naayoni/ manaa we. ‘[Lit.] what do you have -- what’s wrong with you, you child.’ Ndi wé. ‘It’s you.’

- Numa/ cheendra/ teena/ chimwaambila/ kalant^haa we/ ja. ‘Then again he went and told him: sit down, you, and eat.’
- Pilpili/ zaa we/ nt^hukujá/ hazikhaashi/ kana. ‘Peppers that you have not eaten do not burn your mouth.’
- We/ isa/ ndiwé/ sul^htaani/ wa muuyi. ‘You, now, it is you, who is sultan of the town.’ (Phon. Observe the lack of final accent on sul^htaani.)
- We/ mub^hleelé/ na chiguwó/ chaa we/ fanyizo chileembá/ mkuzile mwanaamkewá. ‘You killed her and the cloth that you made into a turban you took it away by force from my daughter.’
- We/ nakhfaanyani. ‘What are you doing?’
- We/ naki’iwoná/ yo. ‘Do you see it?’
- We/ ndiwé/ mbozelo mwanaamkewá. ‘You, it is you who stole my daughter.’
- we you know
- Alhaasili/ we/ washkhiira (or: wakhiriile). ‘Finally, you know, they agreed.’
- ma-we n. 6 (cf. i-jiwe ‘stone’) stones
- Chiwonaa ndila/ chiraasha/ hatá/ shkoma/ maha^hla/ iwaliko numba/ yaa mawe/ mlaangowe/ uwaliko wa ðahabu. ‘He saw a road (and) he followed it until he reached a place where there was a house of stone, its door was of gold.’
- numba yaa mawe ‘stone house’
- wegeli n. [Som. wiyil DSI 616] (probably) a rhinoceros
- Nama iyi/ kamba ya wegeli. ‘This meat is tough like the meat of wegeli.’ (This idiomatic expression is used despite the fact that nobody has ever seen a wegeli in Brava or surrounding areas. It is also strange in that the meat of a rhinoceros should be considered to be impure!)
- ku-weeka v. [Sw. weka SSED 528] (weeshele) put, put aside, put down, lay s.t. down
- Chichiwekaa nt^hi. ‘She put it [cl.7] on the ground.’
- Chichiweeka/ khariibuye. ‘She put it [cl.7] near her.’
- Chisu chaa ye/ tindililoo namá/ chiweshela mezaani. ‘The knife that he used to cut the meat, he put it on the table.’
- Chimaliza/ chichiweka shkooya/ icho/ nt^hini yaa chili. ‘Then she put that necklace under the bed.’
- Chimweeka/ kharibu yaa mu^hlo. ‘He placed him near the fire.’
- Chita/ weshele feji za zamaani/ m^htanaani. ‘The chief kept old files inside the room.’
- Chiweeka/ sufuriya/ kaake/ ka muda wa skuu nt^hatu. ‘He kept the pot at his place for a period of three days.’
- Huweekapi/ peesazo/ we. ‘Where do you keep your money?’ (The word order here is very free. We also recorded: Peesazo/ we/ huweekapi. and Huweekapi/ we/ peesazo. and We/ peesazo/ huweekapi. and Peesazo/ huweekapi/ we.)
- Jaama/ weshele peesa/ ilu ya sanduukhu. ‘Jaama put money on top of the box.’ (It is possible to relativize into the prepositional phrase: ya Jaama/ weshelo peesá/ iluyé ‘the box that Jaama put money on top of it [lit. its top].’)
- Jaama/ weshele peesa/ sandukhuuni. ‘Jaama deposited money in the box.’ (The locative noun sandukhuuni cannot be stripped of its enclitic and used as the head of a relative clause: sandukhu ya Jaama/ weshelo peesá ‘the box that Jaama deposited money in’.)
- Karkaa we/ naku^hloowá/ dawa iyi/ weka nt^hini ya miiluyo. ‘While you are being killed, put this medicine under your legs.’
- Kila/ askari/ amuriila/ khtaala/ bundukhuu mbili/ mooyi/ khshika mkonooni/ na mooyi/ kuweka khariibuye. ‘Each soldier was ordered to take two rifles, one to hold in his hand and one to keep nearby.’

Kiġa/ muunt^hi/ nch^himweka muunt^hu/ kulindra chisima/ bakayġe/ nakula^oowa/ khteke maayi/ keesho/ ndimí/ mwenewe/ nt^hakhkalan^ho zaamú. ‘Every day, when I leave someone to look after the well, the hare is left to fetch water; tomorrow, it is I myself who will stay to guard [the well].’

kuwa mublġiwe/ mtete suriya/ mweshele numbaani/ ka mrehemuġa mukeewe ‘that her husband had taken a mistress and placed her in the house of his late wife’ kuweka gariini ‘to put in the lorry’ kuweka zoombo/ gariini ‘to put things in the lorry’ (Note that the verb does not allow an unmarked indirect object: kuweka zoombo/ gaari nor kuweka gaari/ zoombo.)

Nureeni/ weshele zoombo/ gariini. ‘Nureeni put things in the lorry.’

kuwekaa numa or kuweka chinume ‘to put back, delay, postpone’

Sheekhi/ na Omari/ wahadiile/ isa/ nt^hachiná/ peesa/ za khfanyiliza gaari/ chiwekenii numa/ khfaanyake. ‘Sheekhi and Omari said: now we do not have money with which to repair the car, let us put it at a later time.’

Laakini/ ba’ađi ya want^hu wiingine/ hawaweeki/ ma’ina/ wo/ hulindra hattá/ mukhta mwaana/ takuza^oowá. ‘But some other people do not keep in store names [for a baby], they wait until the time the child will be born.’

Laakini/ wake/ awo/ skuwaweeka/ numba mooyi. ‘But these wives I did not put in one house.’

Marti/ oyo/ feđa/ weshele ilu ya chiġaacha. ‘That guest, the money, he placed on top of my head (i.e. on top of the cow’s head he was buying from me).’

Mbeshele/ chibuuku/ ilu ya meeza. ‘I put the book on the table.’ Or, without focus on the verb: Mbeshele chibuukú/ ilu ya meezá.

Mbeshele chibuukú/ mezaani. ‘I put the book on the table.’

Mbeshele ikoofiyá/ igonjooní. ‘I put the hat on my knee.’ (One cannot strip the locative noun of its enclitic and make it the head of a relative clause: igonjo yaa mi/ mbeshele ikoofiyá ‘the knee that I put the hat on’.)

Mbeshele zibuukú/ nt^hini ya meezá. ‘I put the books under the table.’ O with focus on the first complement: Mbeshele ^fzibuukú/ nt^hini ya meeza. Or with focus on the verb: Mbeshele zibuuku/ nt^hini ya meeza.

Meeza/ iweshela chibuuku/ iluke. ‘The table there was putting a book on it.’

Mkono/ wa shpete/ uweeke/ mbele/ ya mwanaamke/ oyo/ we/ simlangalé/ ye/ hatá/ mara mo. ‘The hand with the ring on it, put it in front of that girl, (you) don’t look at her, not even once.’

Mmereelé/ nfunguloza/ kiġaa mahala/ skutaambula/ mbesheleepí. ‘I looked for my keys everywhere, I could not figure out where I had put them.’

Naani/ weshelo zibuukú/ nt^hini ya meezá. ‘Who put the books under the table?’

Ndrangaliilé/ nfunguloza/ kiġaa mahala/ skutaambúla/ mbesheleepí. ‘I looked for my keys everywhere, I could not figure out where I put them.’

Nt^hini ya meza gani/ weshelo zibuukú. ‘Under which table did you put the books?’

Nt^hini yani/ weshelo zibuukú. ‘Under what did you put the books?’

Nuuru/ weshele masanduukhu/ chinume cha kaabaati. ‘Nuuru put the boxes behind the cupboard.’

Siwo/ ndila/ Hamadi/ kichiwekaa si/ kuliindra. ‘It’s not right for Hamadi to keep us waiting.’

Sku ya taatu/ wekaa kule/ mahala/ numa/ weka wiisha/ na maanyi/ mahala/ kule/ wafunge skaambala/ zihaba. ‘On the third day, put (the goats) somewhere far away, and then put husks and hay at a place far away, them (the goats) with small ropes.’

Taala/ weka skuu nt^hatu/ siwape/ kuja. ‘Take (them) and keep (them) for three days, don’t give them food.’

Wa’ilopó/ waweshele ipakacha. ‘When they came, they put (down) the basket.’

Weshele peesa/ sandukhuuni. ‘He kept money in the box.’

Weshele sanduukhu/ mezaani. ‘They put the box on the table.’

Wesheleni/ gariini. ‘What did you put in the lorry?’ (A possible answer to this and tie

question: Mbeshele ^fzoombó/ gariini. ‘I put things in the lorry.’ This sentence contrasts with Mbeshele zoombó/ gariini. ‘I put things in the lorry.’ When the final accent from the verb extends to the locative noun, there is no focus on ‘things’.)

Wesheleni/ ntʰini ya meeza. ‘What did you put under the table?’

Weshelepí/ zibuuku. ‘Where did you put the books?’ (Cf. Weshelepí/ zibuuku. ‘Where did he put the books?’)

Wo/ wachimtaala/ wachimweka chitiini. ‘They took him and put him on the bed.’
rel.

ku-weekeka v. p/s.

Mahala ya lpepo/ haziweekeki/ mbarakha. ‘Sheets of paper cannot be kept (lit. placed) where there is wind.’

Meza izi/ haziweekeki/ apa. ‘These tables cannot be put here.’ (Note that it does not appear to be possible to say Meza izi/ haziweekeki/ majiwe/ iluke. ‘These tables cannot be put stones on them.’)

Sandukhu izi/ haziweekeki/ zinume za makaabaati. ‘These boxes cannot be put behind the cupboard.’ Or: Makabati aya/ haziweekeki/ sanduukhu/ zinumeze. ‘These cupboards, the boxes cannot be put behind them.’ Or: Sandukhu izi/ haziweekeki/ zinume za makabati aya. ‘These boxes cannot be put behind the cupboards.’

ku-wekeleowa v. appl. pass. (wekeleela)

Naankʰó/ yaaya/ tu/ mpʰisi/ chiharfisaa nama/ iyo/ chiingila/ numbaani/ chija garabu/ yaa ye/ wekeleela. ‘Again, just the same way, the hyena smelled that meat and went into the house ate the shoulder portion that had been laid there.’

Nkʰuku/ wekelela mayaankʰuku/ khkalaantʰila. ‘A hen is put for eggs to sit on.’

Numa/ sku ya taatu/ schiwekelowa wiisha/ na manyi. ‘Then on the third day there was put for them (the goats) husk and hay (lit. grass).’

ku-weekela v. appl. (wekelele)

Haliima/ wekelelee kaja/ muɓliwe. ‘Haliima has put food (on the table) for her husband.’

Naani/ mekelelo Nuuru/ chibuukú/ ntʰini ya meeza. ‘Who put the book under the table for Nuuru?’

Nimekelele Nuuru/ zibuukú/ ntʰini ya meeza. ‘I have put books under the table for Nuuru.’ Or with switch in the order of the complements: Nimekelele zibuukú/ Nuuru/ ntʰini ya meeza. Or with focus on first complement: Nimekelele ^fNuuru/ zibuuku/ ntʰini ya meeza. Or: Nimekelele ^fzibuukú/ Nuuru/ ntʰini ya meeza. Or with verb focus: Nimekelele/ Nuuru/ zibuuku/ ntʰini ya meeza. Or with verb focus but a switch in the order of complements: Nimekelele/ zibuuku/ Nuuru/ ntʰini ya meeza. (These data provide strong evidence for the role of the Accentual Law of Focus, which prevents a final accent trigger from projecting final accent past the focused element. These data also show, however, that changes in the order of complements do not necessarily reflect focus.)

Numa/ nawawekele wiisha/ mahaala kule/ na manyi. ‘Afterwards, let him put husks for them (the goats) in a place far away and hay.’

ku-wekoowa v. pass. (weeshela) be put Boorti/ mbilize/ huwekoowa. ‘Both of the poles were put in (the water).’

Chibuuku/ chiweshela ilu ya meeza. ‘The book was put on the table.’

Chibuuku/ chiweshela mezaani. ‘The book was put or kept on the table.’

Chiintʰu/ chiweshela numbaani. ‘Something was put in the house.’ Or:

Numbaani/ chiweshela chiintʰu. Or: Chiintʰu/ chiweshela karka numba.

chiti chiweshela zibuukú/ iluké ‘the chair that books were put on it’

Chiweshela numbaani. ‘It was put in the house.’ Cf. Chiweshela karka numba. ‘It was put in the house.’ Cf. Numbaani/ chiweshela chiintʰu. [H!H] ‘In the house was put something.’ (The third example is particularly interesting. Note that numbaani, a locative noun, has been preposed to the beginning of the sentence. The subject, chiintu, of the passive verb chiweeshela has been relocated after the verb, but phrased with it. This suggests that the postposed subject is part of the syntactic VP, since otherwise one would expect the verb to be phrase-final since it would be at the end of the VP. Recall that the right edge of a lexical maximal projection is regularly at the end of a Phonological Phrase. It should be noted that our consultant MI actually gave two pronunciations for this sentence, one with the intonational pattern [H!H] noted above, but another with the intonational pattern [H!!H].)

Chizeele/ chiweshelaa nt^{hi}. ‘The old woman was placed on the floor.’
Feli za zamaani/ ziweshela mtanaani. ‘Old files were kept in the room.’
hoosi ya Maana Fatima/ ndrombelaani kuwekoowa [st.] ‘in the shade of Lady Fatima/ implore God (o brothers) that I may find a place’ ka’ba ni nuumba awali iweshela/ ka khisa waant^u kuhija iwashila [st.] ‘the Ka’ba is a house that was set up in olden times/ and was built for people to perform the pilgrimage’ masandukhu yaweshela ziint^u katiiké ‘the boxes in which things were put’ (with masanduukhu governing subject marking on the relative verb) or masandukhu ziweshela ziint^u/ katiiké (where ziint^u governs the subject marking on the relative verb and has been postposed to the position after the verb) (Although masanduukhu can function as the head of the relative clause, and even control subject agreement as an option, with a resumptive pronoun – katiike -- left behind in the relative clause, the same strategy cannot be used in a main clause: Masandukhu aya/ yaweshela ziint^u/ katiike. ‘These boxes were put things in them.’) qariibuye huwekoowa [st.] ‘(they) will all stay by his side’ Wakomelopo Ifuwooni/ waziiri/ chiwekoowa/ Ifunguuni/ mukhta mwanaamke/ ishkiliiló/ ka bateraani/ waziiri/ shindowa chitaache. ‘When they reached the shore, the minister was put on the beach, and when the girl stepped out of the boat, the minister’s head was cut off.’

rel. nom.

m-weeka (wa-) n. 1/2 one who puts aside

mweka uzeele ‘the woman who looks after a mother and child during uzeele (the period of about one month after the birth when mother and child remain inside)

Muke mwenye miimba/ hamtaandi/ mweka uzeele. ‘A pregnant woman does not insult the one who attends her during uzeele.’ (A proverb.)

m-weeko n. the act of putting aside

ku-welwelata

v. be worried

Ali/ waawaye/atila bawaasiri/ rihi/ nt^hamlawa/ skuu nt^hatu/ ha^á/ dakhtari/ chiwelwelata. ‘Ali’s father was operated on for hemorrhoids, gas did not come out of him for three days, even the doctor got worried.’

Haliima/ nakuwelwelata/ kuwa Omari/ nakhfikira kulata skoola. ‘Haliima is worried that Omari is thinking about quitting school.’

Haliima/ ni laazimu/ chiza kuwelwelata. ‘Haliima ought not to worry.’

Jariba chiza kuwelwelata. ‘Try not to worry.’

Maame/ huwelwelata/ tarafu ya amaaniya. My mother worries about my safety.

Mi/ daa’imu/ huwelwelata/ khfanya ghaltá. I always worry about making a mistake.

Mi/ huwelwelata/ kuhada jila/ amá/ chiza kuhada. ‘I worry whether I should tell the truth or not.’

Mi/ nakuwelwelata/ kuwa Hasani/ haayi. ‘I am worried that Hasani will not come.’

Mi/ nakuwelwelata/ tarafu ya Omari. ‘I am worried about Omari.’

Siwelwelaté. ‘Don’t worry.’

Waanawe/ wachiraaga/ ye/ huwelwelata. ‘If her children are late, she worries.’

Wo/ wanakuwelwelata/ kuwa Hasani/ takhshikoowa. ‘They are worried that Huseeni will be arrested.’

Ye/ ha^áhaaji/ kuwelwelata na peesa. ‘He does not need to worry about money.’

Ye/ ha^áhaaji/ kuwelwelata/ tarafu ya peesa. ‘He does not need to worry about money.’

rel.

ku-welwelatila v. appl.

Mi/ nakumwelwelatila/ Omari. ‘I am worried about Omari.’

ku-welwelisha v. caus.

Hunwelwelishó/ mi/ ni Omari/ tahaðaraye. ‘What worries me about Omari is his recklessness.’

Mi/ sinakhtasha/ kuwaa yo/ huwawelwelisha/ wo. ‘I don’t think it worries them.’

Omari/ chiza kujiba telefoono/ inamwelwelisha Haliima. ‘Omari’s not answering the telephone worries Haliima.’ (No deletion of the stem-initial w was noted in this example after m. Although such a reduction does often take place in GM’s speech for a common verb like -wona, it does not seem necessarily generally applicable.)

welweli

n. worry

Haliima/ nayo welweli/ kuwa Omari/ nakhfikira kulata skoolā. ‘Haliima is worried that Omari is thinking about quitting school.’

Mi/ nayo welweli/ kuwa Hasani/ haayi. ‘I am worried that Hasani will not come.’

Wo/ wanayo welweli/ Huseeni/ takhshikoowa. ‘They are worried that Huseeni will be arrested.’

i-wele (ma-)

n. 5/6 breast

Haliima/ maweleye/ ni zihaba. ‘Haliima’s breasts are small.’

Iwele ya kaama/ na ya khshiiká/ siwo/ sawa. ‘The breast for feeding and that for catching hold of are not the same.’ (A proverbial saying. A mother might say this to a son who has become enamoured of a girlfriend and has forgotten his mother.)

Iwele ya khshiika/ na iwele ya kaamá/ siwo/ sawa. ‘The breast for catching hold of (i.e. enjoying) and the breast for feeding are not the same.’ (A variation of the preceding proverbial saying.)

Maama/ nampa mwaanawe/ iwele. ‘The mother is breast-feeding her child.’

Maweleye/ hutumikilowa chiloho. ‘Maweleye [sp. fish] is used as bait.’

Maweleye/ yapoteele. ‘Her breasts are hanging (loose).’

Maweleye/ yasimeeme. ‘Her breasts are standing firm.’

Mwaana/ nakama iwele. ‘The child is breast-feeding.’

Shkosa iwele ya maamo/ amá/ hata yaa mbwa. ‘If you lack your mother’s breast, suckle even a dog’s.’ (A proverb.)

Tuuma/ maweleye/ makulu. ‘Tuuma’s breasts are big.’

rel.

chi-wele (zi-) n. 7/8 dim.

l-wele (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.

i-weele

n. sp. fish (Ballyhoo), like a mini marlin, used as a bait fish chi-welo (zi-)

n. 7/8 [Sw. kiveo SSED 213] thigh, hip

Chimtaala/ chimweeka/ kaake/ ziwelooni. ‘She took him and she put him on her lap.’

Imlazile ipu/ chiwelooni. ‘He has a blister on the thigh.’

Maama/ mpakete maanawe/ ziwelooni. ‘Mother held her son on her thighs.’

Mwaana/ ziweloze/ zihaba. ‘The child’s thighs are little.’

sindanu ya chiwelo ‘an injection in the thigh’

Ziwelo/ zinakundraaza. ‘My thighs are aching me.’

rel.

i-welo n. 5 aug. big thigh

Omari/ iweloye/ ikulu. ‘Omari’s thigh is big.’

weeraro

n. attack; var. weraari

Ni ðaruuri/ si/ kumhafiða Baazi/ na weerari. ‘It is essential that we protect Baazi from being attacked.’

Nt^haku/ muunt^hu/ shegeto mas’uuli/ ya weeraró. ‘No one has claimed responsibility for the attack.’

- wereeri n. 9/10 trouble, disturbance, s.t. annoying review vowel length maybe wereeri
mbwaalimo karka wereeri [song] ‘and I was in trouble’ Sababu/ yaa we/ ililo apá/ inakunt^hila wereeri. ‘The reason that she came here worries me.’
Ye/ hachilati/ si/ kubasha peesa/ kumtomola Omari/ wereriini. ‘He wouldn’t let us waste money getting Omari out of trouble.’
- ku-wereersata v. [Som.] worry, become worried, be perplexed; variant form: ku-wersata mahabaya fahamaani yambaliize mi mberseeete [song] ‘understand my love, it has a tight hold of me, I am perplexed’ shkasapo bunduqu mi huwereersata [nt.] ‘when I hear guns I become troubled and confused’
rel.
ku-wereerisha v. caus. make trouble, annoy, bore
Chibuuku/ cha Maryamu/ mp^heeló/ humbereerisha. ‘The book which Maryamu gave me bores me.’ Or: Chibuuku/ cha Maryamu/ hupeendó/ humbereerisha/ mi. ‘The book which Maryamu likes bore me.’
Chilawe/ ineendra/ mererishe sultaani/ ja nguwoze/ numbaani/ mereerishe. ‘Let us leave, go and make trouble for the sultan, eat his clothes at his house, cause him trouble.’
Iize/ keendra/ kumereerisha/ sultaani/ kuja nguwoze. ‘He [the rat] refused to go make trouble for the sultan and eat his clothes.’
Izi/ zote/ nt^haskumwereerisha/ walá/ kumtiisha/ Haaji. ‘All these [events] did not bother Haaji nor frighten him.’
kumbereerisha ‘to disturb me’
Mi/ skusuula/ khuweerisha/ na dhibuza. I didn’t want to worry you with my problems.
Mwaambile/ sichiwereerishé. ‘Tell him: don’t bother us!’
Simwereerishé/ maamo/ mudaa ye/ nampo mwaaná/ iwelé. ‘Don’t annoy your mother when she is breast feeding the baby.’
Siwereerishé/ ruuhuyo/ walá/ siwanaayó/ faza’a. ‘Do not disturb yourself, neither be afraid [lit. have fear].’
Zibuuku/ za Maryamu/ hupeendó/ humbereerisha/ mi. ‘The books which Mary likes bore me.’
ku-werersatoowa v. pass.
Su’ali iyi/ huwerersatoowa. ‘This question is perplexing.’
- weewe second person independent pronoun
Ni mwaadamú/ kana weewé. ‘I am a human being like you.’
- weey interj.
- wif ideo.
Sheekhi/ nakhfakaṭisha/ gaari/ mpisile Omari/ wif!/ kana lpepo. ‘Sheekhi is speeding, the car passed Omari, wif!’
Yaró/ hufakaṭisha gaari/ mpisile Abdaa Nuurú/ wif! mbirimbiriyé/ iize/ kumwona. ‘Yaro drives his truck fast, he passed Abdaa Nuuru, xuf, and (then) there could not be seen any trace of him in the distance.’
- ku-wiika v. [Sw. wika SSED 530] (wiishile) crow (of a cock) kuwiika/ kana ori ‘to crow like a cock – i.e. to make a lot of noise’
Omari mwambile Ali/ muunt^h/ chisula chiint^h/ hufaanya/ hawiiki/ kana ori/ kilaa muunt^h. ‘Omari told Ali that when one wants to do something, he does it, he does not scream like a cock every day.’
Kuwika kiitu/ ni faayda/ ka want^hu wamó/ na ni khasaara/ ka want^hu wuingine. ‘Our crowing is a profit for some people and a loss for other people.’
Kuwiikako/ ina kheeri/ ka khisa hichiviila/ kulata usiinzizi/ kendra kum'abudila mwajiitu. 'Your crowing is a blessing because it calls to leave off sleeping and go to pray to God.'

Nk^huku/ zanzizopo kuwiiká/ mi/ nondroshelé/ kendra kulatiza/ haba mooyi.
'When the cocks began to crow, I arose and went to lay down for a little while.'

Ori/ nakuwiika. 'The cock is crowing.'

Ori wa mundraani/ hawiiki/ muiini. 'The rooster of the farm does not crow in town.' (A proverb which is making the point that everyone has importance in his own place.)

Si/ huwiika/ ka khisaa si/ hupeenda/ kiimba/ kisterehesha ruhu ziitu.
'We crow because we love to sing to amuse ourselves.'

rel.

ku-wiki^loowa v. appl. pass.

ku-wiikila v. appl.

Ka muda wa miyaaka/ miingi/ sala ya jamaa'a/ nt^haykungafa/ na iyí/ ni ka sababu yaa ni/ ori/ kichiwiikila. 'For a period of many years, I did not miss a community prayer, and this is because you (pl.) cocks crowing for me.'

ku-wikoowa v. pass.

Kutá/ kuwikoowa/ siwo/ suura. 'It is not good to shout, talk too much every day.'

ku-wila

v. [no perfect form known] be owed to [by] someone (Although GM regularly elides a stem initial w after a [cl.1] object marker, he regularly failed to do so in the case of this verb.)

Ali/ mlipilile Nuuru/ deni zaa ye/ chimwiló. 'Ali paid to Nuuru the debts that he (Ali) owed to him (Nuuru).'

Ali/ nakumbila peesa. 'Ali has money coming from me [lit. Ali is owed money (by) me].'

Ali/ nakumwila Nuuru/ peesa. 'Ali is owed money (by) Nuuru.'

Chiwila waant^hu. 'He is owed (by) people.' (An indefinite noun like waant^hu does not trigger an object marker on the verb.)

Hamadi/ nakumbila peesa/ nt^harajá/ chiza kubigana naaye. 'I owe Hamadi money, I hope I do not run into him.'

Huseeni/ chiwa'ambila/ ndo/ ni/ namwilaa kamú. 'Huseeni said to them: come, you (pl.), how much are you owed (by) him?'

Nakumwila Jaama/ peesa. 'Nuuru is owed money by Jaama.'

Nakuwila waant^hu/ deeni. 'He is owed (by) people a debt.'

Nuuru/ chimbila. 'Nuuru is owed money by me.'

Nuuru/ nakumbila peesa. 'Nuuru is owed money by me.'

Wachimjiiba/ wachimwaambila/ kiila/ muunt^hu/ namwila/ riyali/ miya/ na khamsiini. 'They answered him and said to him: each man is owed by him one hundred and fifty riyals.'

rel.

ku-wi^loowa v. pass. owe

Ali/ mlipilile Nuuru/ deni zaa ye chiwi^loowá. 'Ali paid for Nuuru the debts

(he owed to people).'

Chiwi^lowa na waant^hu. 'He owed people.'

Chiwi^lowa peesa/ na waant^hu. 'He owed people money.'

Nsi wa piili/ chihada/ mi/ ni uje munt^hu waa we/ mweno kuwa ni mayti/ nakubigowa kaa nduti/ ka khisa chiwi^lowa deeni/ mi/ isa/ niilé/ khulipa/ ihsaniyo. 'The second fish said: I am that man who you saw that he was being beaten with sticks because I owed a debt; I have come now to pay you back your favor.'

Shfungula sanduukhu/ shtomola/ peesa/ za mayti/ nakuwi^loowá. 'He opened the box and took out the money that the dead man owed.'

wilaaya

n. [Sw. ulaya SSED 495; Ar.] a foreign (European) country mafta ya wilaayi 'paraffin for lamps, kerosine'

Nakendra kula mafta ya wilaayá/ kabaá mbilí. 'I am going to buy two half-liter containers of kerosine.'

wilaya ya faransa 'France'

wilaya ya jarmani 'Germany'

wilaya ya ngereenza 'England'

wilaya ya talyaani 'Italy'

-wili

adj. (see m-bili) two

Basi/ wachisaafira/ mudda/ wa myeezi/ miwili/ pashpo kuwonaá nt^hi.

'So they sailed for a period of two months without seeing land.'

Karka habaasa/ Yuusufu/ chibaraṭana na want^hu wawili. 'In prison Joseph became acquainted with two people.'

Mbene ^fwiingí/ wenye milu miwili/ kht^howa ruhu zaawo/ apa. 'I have seen many two-legged (creatures, i.e. human beings) lose their lives here.' (The focus on wiingí accounts for the fact that the final accent triggered by the main verb does not extend further to the right.)

Muja ka miwili/ nt^haná/ mwisho mweema. 'One who eats with his two (hands) has no good end.' (A proverb.)

Siri/ ichilata wawili/ siwo/ siri. 'If a secret goes beyond two (people) it is not a secret (any longer).' (A proverb.)

skapu zili 'two baskets'

Sultaani/ mpeenzele/ mwaana/ uyu/ kolko waanawe/ wawili. 'The sultan loved this boy more than his two children.'

Wachimwona wizi wawili/ wachimwonó. 'Two thieves saw her, that's what they did.'

Wawili/ karka makhadimuze/ wafiile. 'Two of my servants died.'

rel.

wa-wili adj. insane, crazy (A crazy person is regarded as someone possessed by a demon, thus there are two beings dwelling inside him.)

Hamadi/ wawili. 'Hamadi is crazy.'

wa-wili waawo n. both of them wa-wili=w-e n. both of them, the two of them

Apo/ zamaani/ ishiize/ mwaana/ mooyi/ waliko filiḷa na wazeelé/ wawiliwé. 'Once upon a time there lived a boy who was orphaned by his two parents (lit. was died on).'

Ni'ipakiizé/ majuniya/ mawiliye. 'I loaded both bags on it [cl.9].' Or:

Ni'ipakiizé/ mawiliye/ majuniya. 'I loaded both the bags on it [cl.9].'

Omari/ wawiliile/ waana/ wawiliwe. 'Omari called both children.'

Wachilaana/ hattá/ wawiliwe/ wachublana. 'They fought until the two of them killed one another.'

Waana/ wawiliwe/ wa'ile. 'Both children came.'

wa-wili wiinu n. both of you (pl.)

wa-wili wiitu n. both of us

zi-wili=z-e n. both of them [cl.8]

ziti/ ziwilize 'both of the chairs'

ku-wiinda

v. [Sw. winda SSED 531] (wiinzile) hunt with a tool (spear, arrow, gun) kuwinda bundukhu 'to aim a gun' kuwinda chinyunyi 'to hunt a bird'

Mwiimbili/ ile kuwindaa nyunyi/ iló. 'The boy came to hunt birds, that's what he did.' (Observe that it is only the higher verb that may undergo verb copy, not the lower verb: Mwiimbili/ ile kuwindaa nyunyi/ kuwiindá.)

Mwiimbili wa sultaani/ ile kuwindaa nyunyi. 'A boy of the sultan came to hunt birds.'

Nnakendra kuwiindá. 'I am going hunting.'

Nnakhsuḷa kendra kuwiindá. 'I want to go hunting.'

Omari/ mkali/ kuwiinda. 'Omari is skilled in hunting.'

Sku mooyi/ enzele maduriini/ kuwindaa nyunyi. 'One day he went to the bush to hunt birds.’

Sku mooyi/ nimwambile waawé/ kuwaa mi/ nnakhsuḷa kendra naa ye/ kuwiinda. ‘One day I told my father that I wanted to go with him to hunt.’

Sku mooyi/ siimba/ mp^huundra/ na bakaylé/ waḷazile kuwiinda. ‘One day, lion, donkey, and rabbit went out to go hunting.’

Speendi/ kendra kuwiinda. ‘I do not like to go hunting.’

Wachiwindaa nyunyi/ haṭá/ ilooni. ‘They hunted birds until dusk.’

Waawe/ shpendaa nt^ho/ kuwiinda. ‘My father loved very much to hunt.’

rel.

ku-windawiinda v. freq.

Ye/chiwindawiinda/ haṭá/ mukhta ikomelo shpiindri. ‘He hunted here and there until the time became mid-day.’

ku-wiindana v. rec.

ku-wiindika v. p/s.

ku-wiindila v. appl. (windilile) hunt for, with ku-wiindisha v. caus.

ku-windoowa v.

Yosheḷa kuwindoowa. ‘(Some people) have gone hunting.’

Zinakuwindoowa/ zinyunyi. ‘Birds are being hunted.’

rel. nom.

ma-wiindo n. 6 [Sw. windo (ma-)] booty, prey

Awanyize mawiindo/ mafungu mawili. ‘He divided the booty into two parts.’

Karkaa ndila/ siimba/ chiwa’uza weenziwe/ ndo/ ni/ nna’iwá/ so/ mahala si/ hashtakugafa mawiindó. ‘Do you know of any place where we will be certain to find prey?’

mukhta ukomelopo wakhti/ wa kawanya mawiindó ‘when the time came to divide the loot’

Ni/ nna’iwá/ so/ mahala si/ hashtakugafa mawiindó. ‘Do you know of any place where we will be certain to find prey?’

m-wiinda n. 1/2 one who hunts (In his pronunciation of this form, GM retained the stem-initial w.)

Muunt^hu/ ni mwinda hayawaani. ‘The man is a hunter of wild animals.’

m-windaaji (wa-)

n. 1/2 [Sw. mwindaji] hunter

i-wiingu (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. wingu (ma) SED 531] cloud

Alama yaa nvula/ ni mawiingu. ‘The sign of rain is clouds.’ (A proverb.)

Chiwona mawiingu/ yaa nvula. ‘He saw rain clouds.’

Iwingu ya khpita/ ha’ileeti/ nvula. ‘A passing cloud does not bring rain.’ (A proverb which says that something that comes and goes has no effect, only something stable and consistent has impact.)

possible it will rain.’

Kuzimu/ mawiingu/ mumkini/ nvula/ kunya. ‘The sky is cloudy, it’s

rel.

m-biingu n. 10 [Sw. bingu] heavens

l-m-inguu=ni n. loc.

chookole sharri yaawo/ shfaanye ba’iidi naa wo/ aakhera na lminguuni [st.] ‘save us from their evil deeds, keep us away from them, in the hereafter and in this world’

l-wiingu (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.

l-wiingu (m-)

n. 11/10 spleen; [pron. mbiingu ‘spleens’]

Ali/ shishiḷa maraḷi ya lwiingu. ‘Ali has (lit. is caught by) spleen disease.’

Haliima/ mkali/ khpika lwiingu. ‘Haliima is very good at cooking spleen.’

Hamadi/ hupeenda/ kuja lwiingu. ‘Hamadi likes to eat the spleen.’

lwiingula ‘my spleen’

wiino	n. wine Mara mwaape/ Hamadi/ huna/ wiino. ‘Sometimes Hamadi drinks wine.’
wiino	n. 14 ink (a type that is not easy to erase) nyulusi/ kama wiino ‘as black as ink’ Ranji iyi/ ishiishile/ kana wiino. ‘This paint holds fast like ink.’ review wino mhuundru ‘red ink’ wino mlusi ‘black ink’ wino uwu ‘this ink’; wino owo ‘that ink’; wino uje (or: uwuje) ‘that ink’ Wiino/ waa mi/ nuuziló/ ni herge. ‘The ink that I bought is thick.’ wiinowe his ink’
wiraatha	n. inheritance
Wirile	n. one of the five clans comprising the Tunni
wisaamu	n. medal
wiisha	n. 14 (probably to be analyzed as w-iisha , with the [cl.14] prefix u realized as a glide in front of a vowel-initial stem; however, we have not found clear evidence that the suggested stem ever appears with a different prefix) [Sw. wishwa, wiswa ‘chaff, bran, husk’ SSED 531] husk, cover of grain Hutala wiisha/ huuzal/ hula iziwa. ‘He takes the husks and sells them and buys milk.’ Numa/ sku ya taatu/ schiwekelowa wiisha/ na manyi. ‘Then on the third day there was put for them (the goats) husk and hay (lit. grass).’ Shfakata mbuzi mooyi/ shfakata/ shiinda/ cheendra/ chija wisha oyo/ na maaniyé/ ka himaahima. ‘One goat ran, he ran, he broke (the rope restraining him), he went, and he ate the husk and his grass quickly.’ Wiisha/ hufungowa mahala/ kule/ wo/ hufungowa ka skaambila/ zihabazihaba/ wawiliwe/ huletelelowa wiisha/ na manyi. ‘Husks (in a container) are tied to a place far away, and they (the goats) are tied with small ropes, both of them, and brought to the husks and hay.’
wiishka	[Som. wiish DSI 616 + Som. masculine article ka] (mechanical) crane, elevator; siren (acoustic equipment of ambulance, police car, factory, etc.)
-witi	adj. [Sw. -bichi SSED 34] raw, unripe, uncooked embe mbiti ‘uncooked mango’ mazuu mbiti ‘uncooked banana(s)’ Mwaana/ chihada/ kuwa mtendreeni/ nt^haku/ nt^heendre/ iviviiló/ walaa mbiti. ‘The boy said that in the date tree there were no dates, neither ripe ones nor unripe ones.’ (Although the item walaa typically forms a phrasal isolate, this example provides an instance where it is phrased with the following word.) Mweka chiwiti/ huja chivivu. ‘The one who puts aside something unripe eats something ripe.’ (A proverb.) Nama iyi/ nii mbiti. ‘This meat is raw.’ (Some evidence that the copular ni might best be analyzed as a proclitic is provided by the “talking backwards” language game Chijini, where this sentence is pronounced: Man^a yiⁱ/ tinimbⁱ . The game shifts the final syllable of a word to the beginning of the word. The final syllable of mbiti , however, does not move in front of mbi , but rather in front of the copular, suggesting that the copula forms part of the word, i.e. is a proclitic to mbiti .) namaa mbiti ‘raw meat’ Omari/ lesele embe/ mbiti/ siita/ kana ukwaayu/ nt^hazinamuzikila. ‘Omari brought ripe mangoes sour like tamarind, they are not getting sold.’ shitungulu chiwiti ‘raw onion’ rel. m-bitimbiti adj. raw kufa mbitimbiti [lit.] to die raw raw – i.e. die without having been sick, as in an accident’ u-witi n. [Sw. ubichi] unripeness, freshness

witri	n. [Ar. witr "odd number" W 1046] last prayer said at night before sleeping -- it is always formed by an odd number of raka'a (from one to maximum five) khsala witri ikum na saba Aisha file/ meezi wa soomu na witri salile [st.] 'Aisha died on the 17th day in the month of fasting and (i.e. after) she had performed the witri prayer'
ku-wiya	v. (wiyiile) sew the border of a cloth rel. ku-wiyoowa v. pass.
wo	[cl.2] independent pronoun Askari/ wacholoka ka baduwi/ washfaanya/ jisaa wo/ wa'amurila na sulṭaani. 'The soldiers went to the nomad('s place) and did what they were ordered by the sultan.' (Morph. Notice that the noun askari is formally a [cl.9/10] noun, but triggers the independent pronoun wo which is generally triggered by [cl.2] human nouns.) Chaamura/ wo/ khpoowa/ zawaadi/ niingi. 'He ordered them to be given many gifts.' ka waant^{hu}/ waa ye/ hushirkana naawo 'from the people that he associated with them' Mboni/ unakuraaga/ wo/ khfunguloowa. 'How come it is being delayed (e.g. the door) to be opened.' Mi/ nt^hosheze kuwaa wo/ nt^haasa/ nt^hawaakujá. 'I thought that they had not yet eaten.' mpishi wa Nuuru/ naawó 'the cook that Nuuru has' (but can also say: mpishi wa Nuuru/ naayó) Nakhsulaa wo/ keendra. 'I want them to go.' Ndiwó/ hupendo zinooló. 'It is them who like zinooló.' Or, with verb emphasis in addition: Ndiwó/ hupeendó/ zinooló. Or, with covert rather than overt clefting: Wo/ hupendo zinooló. 'They like zinooló.' Or: Wo/ hupeendó/ zinooló. N^hawaná/ chakuja chaa wo/ khpaanana. 'They do not have food to give one another.' Wa'ambilaa wo. 'It was said, told to them.' Wa'oloshela woo peeke. 'They went alone.' Wo/ mbwaaká. 'They are mine.' Wo/ wachizaama. 'They drowned.' Wo/ wachimera maayi/ ka apa/ na apa. 'They [referring to hayawaani 'animals'] looked for water here and there.' Sulṭaani/ we/ kapata chijuumbá/ chaa nyunyi/ wo/ suḷa kiimba. 'Sultan, if you get a nest of the birds, they would sing.' zibuku zaa wo/ waana/ wa'uziló 'the books that they, the children, bought' (Usage: Although wo and waana may co-occur in a relative clause like this, it does not seem that such a construction is possible with non-human noun classes: munt^hu waa muti/ umtulukililó 'the man whom the tree fell on him', not *munt^hu waa wo/ muti/ umtulukililó; munt^hu waa chisu/ chimṭiinziló 'the man whom the knife cut', not *munt^hu waa cho/ chisu/ chimṭiinziló. In this construction, the pronoun must refer to the immediately following subject, it cannot refer to an object: *zibuku zaa wo/ Nuuru/ wapele waaná 'the books that Nuuru gave to the children'.)
wo	[cl.3] independent pronoun Iyo huunda/ shtila/ ndraani/ ya msaḷa/ chi'utukula/ chooloka/ naawo/ ka sulṭaani. 'That measuring cup he put inside the mat and carried it

(the mat) and went with it to the sultan.’

Muti/ upoŋeele/ wo. ‘The tree fell, it.’

muti wa Nuuru/ naawó ‘the tree that Nuuru has’ (apparently not to say naayó here)

Nnaku’ ubiishá/ mboni/ unakuraaga/ wo/ khfunguloowa. ‘I am knocking, hoe come it is being delayed (for) it [cl.3] to be opened?’

Wo/ muti/ uvundishile. ‘It, the tree, broke.’ Or: Muti/ wo/ uvundishile.

Wo/ uvundishile. ‘It [cl.3] broke.’

wo

[cl.14] independent pronoun

unga wa Nuuru/ naawó ‘the flour that Nuuru has’ (or alternatively: naayó)

Uki/ mładda/ wo. ‘The honey is sweet, it.’

Wo/ mładda. ‘It is sweet.’

Wo/ uki/ mładda. ‘It, the honey, is sweet.’ Or: Uki/ wo/ mładda.

ku-wola

rot, go bad, spoil

v. [cf. Sw. oza SSED 357; cf. Proto-Sabaki wol* = “rot” N&H 614] (wozele) be rotten, Chiwozeló/ nt^h achiná/ lbaani. ‘That which is rotten has no incense.’ (A proverb.)

Chiiza/ magozi/ yaŋakuwola/ nvulaani. ‘Otherwise the hides will rot in the rain.’

kuja/ kuwola ‘for food to decay, rot, become spoiled’

Kuja/ (ya) Ali/ jiló/ iwozele. ‘The food that Ali ate was rotten.’

Mayank^huku aya/ nt^hayakuwola. ‘These eggs have not gone bad.’

Mayank^huku aya/ yawozele. ‘These eggs have gone bad.’

Mayaank^huku/ yawozeló/ ndaaká. ‘The eggs that went bad are mine.’

Mazu/ iwozele. ‘The banana is rotten.’ Cf. Mazu/ ziwozele. ‘The bananas are rotten.’

rot.’

Mi/ naa mi/ nk’alent^he numbaani/ kuwolá. ‘Me and me stayed home to Nama/ iwozele. ‘The meat became spoiled.’

Ndaaká/ mayank^huku yawozeló. ‘Are mine the eggs that went bad.’

does not rot, decay (upon dying)’ shaahidi wa harbiini oyo haawoli [st.] ‘a martyr of a water is the one who Takhkalaant^ha/ jis’iyo/ kuwola. ‘Will you just stay this way rotting?’

Zeema/ haziwoli. ‘Kindness never goes bad.’ (A proverb.)

rel.

ku-wolela v. appl. (-woleele) get rotten on Mayaank^huku/ yamboleele. ‘The eggs got rotten on me.’

ku-woloowa v. pass.

Apo/ itakuwoloowa. ‘(Lit.) at that place there will just be going bad, rotting – i.e. at that place we will just waste our time, getting nothing from any efforts we make, just tiring ourselves etc.’

ku-woleza v. caus. appl.

ku-wolezanya v. caus. appl. rec.

ku-woza v. caus. (wozeeze) make rotten

Ali/ wozeeze nama. ‘Ali caused the meat to rot.’

Muunt^hu/ hendra madrasaani/ huwoza matakoye/ chimaliza chilawa/nt^haku/ kaazi. ‘A person goes to school, rots his buttocks, then when he finishes, there is no job.’

Nsi mooyi/ huwoza ŋawala/ nzimaye. ‘One fish contaminates the whole sea.’ (A proverb.)

ku-wozanya v. caus. rec.

ku-wozeka v. caus. p/s.

- v. [Sw. ona SSED 352] (weene) see (but not in the sense of intentionally looking at s.t.), think
- Apo/ nch^hwona mbadiikhi. ‘There I saw a melon plant.’
- Chiiko/ laakini/ hichiwoni. ‘It is there, but you do not see it.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is: Ikosi ‘nape of the neck’.)
- Chiraasha/ chiraasha/ hatá/ chiwona/ ruuhuye/ uko karka ibenya/ ikulu. ‘She followed (the opening) and followed until she found herself in a large open space.’
- hummoni muunt^hu karka lpeengele [nt.] ‘you don’t see anybody in the streets’
- Iyi/ ni jisaa mi/ naki^hwonó. ‘This is how I see it.’
- Kamaa we/ chiwona chiint^hu/ chiza kuhada chiint^hu/ haykhupati/ chiint^hu. ‘If you see something and do not say anything, nothing will happen to you.’ (A proverb.)
- Khkasa/ siwo/ kama huwona. ‘To hear is not like seeing.’ (A proverb.)
- kuwona ajabu ‘to see something amazing’
- kuwonaa dhibu ‘to experience difficulties’
- kuwona haya ‘to be embarrassed, ashamed’
- kuwona ma^haluuli ‘to experience difficulties’
- kuwona mashakha ‘to be in difficulty, experience difficulties’
- kuwonaa ndala ‘to be hungry’
- kuwona ooni ‘to be thirsty’
- kuwona raaha ‘to experience comfort, pleasure’
- kuwona sahariiri ‘to see difficulties’
- kuwona ulaazo ‘to experience pain’
- kuwona yaabu ‘to see a wondrous thing’
- Laakini/ ye/ chimwonaa mp^haka/ hufakaṭa. ‘But if he sees a cat, he runs away.’
- Liinda/ wpma ka maṭaayo. ‘Wait and see with your own eyes.’
- Mbene kuwa muke uyú/ ni mweema/ na nazo jamaala. ‘I see, realize that this woman is good and has beauty.’
- Mbene maluwa ya Haliimá. ‘I saw Haliima’s flowers.’
- Mbene mi/ na Jaamá. ‘He saw me and Jaama.’ (Observe that the object agreement is first person singular, even though the object is conjoined.)
- Mbene mi/ na Jaamá/ shchowa ṭawala. ‘He saw me and Jaama bathing in the sea.’ (Observe that while the main verb agrees only with the first member of the conjunction mi/ na Jaama, the subject of the embedded verb is first person plural.)
- Mbene ndilá/ mbeleya/ niineenzelé. ‘I saw the road ahead of me and I walked.’
- mbone ‘that I see’ (Note the hardening of the stem-initial w after the first person singular subject marker; this hardening does not occur in nwone ‘that you (pl.) see’ or nimwone ‘that I see him’ or ninwone ‘that I see you (pl.)’.)
- Mwaana/ mwene Huseeni/ yana. [H’H!!H] ‘The child saw Huseeni yesterday.’ (The intonational pattern in this example with a time adverbial departs from canonical intonation. First of all, there is not a strong downstepping between the subject and the following phrase initiated by the verb. Second, the time adverbial is radically downstepped. The corresponding simple yes-no question eliminates the radical downstep: [H’H’H], but does not shift the accent in the time adverbial. The exclamatory question shifts accent in the non-initial phrases: Mwaana/ mwene Huseeni/ yaná!? [H!H!H]. Furthermore, as noted, there is ordinary downstep between the phrases.)
- Mwaana/ mweno Huseeni/ yana. [H!H!H] ‘It’s the boy who saw Huseeni yesterday.’ (The subject in this example is focused, triggering pseudo-relativization of the verb. The downstepping of that pseudo-relativized verb is strong, and it is probably worth exploring whether this downstepping should be distinguished as being more radical than ordinary between a subject and a verb. It does not appear that the time adverbial should be regarded as exhibiting radical downstepping. It is not clear that radical downstepping occurs following a phrase that itself is downstepped.)
- mwana wa Nuurú/ mweenó ‘the boy who Nuuru saw’ (This example illustrates the possibility of the structure mwana wa Nuuru being assigned final accent.)
- Mwene mwaana/ mweenó. ‘He saw a child, that’s what he saw.’

Mwene Nuuru/ tu. ‘He saw only Nuuru.’ (It is not “sweet” to say ?Mweene/ Nuuru/ tu. It seems that a focused NP is dispreferred if following an emphasized verb.)

Mweno Huseení/ yaná/ ni Omari. [H’H!H] ‘The one who saw Huseeni yesterday is Omari.’

Mweenó/ Huseeni/ yana/ ni Omari. ‘The one who saw Huseeni yesterday is Omari.’ (This pronunciation, where the headless relative verb is phrasally separated from its complement, permitted the Accentual Law of Focus to come into play. This is not the usual case with true relative clauses. Further research on this phenomenon is warranted. There is clearly lowering of phrases across this sentence, but we have not attempted to categorize these lowerings.)

Mi/ nakuwoná/ kuwa leeló/ ni sku ya kheerí. ‘I feel that today is a day of blessing.’

Mi/ skumwona/ ngamiilayo. ‘I didn’t see your camel.’

Mukeewo/ mbeenopó... ‘When your wife saw me...’

Muunthu/ mwene mwiizi. ‘The man saw the thief.’ Or, with subject focus: Muunthu/ mweno mwiizi. ‘The man saw the thief.’

munt^hu mweno miizi ‘the man who saw the thief’ or muunthu/ mweno mwiizi or muunthu/ oyo(/) mweno mwiizi (Although the relative verb is not ordinarily focused, we have elicited such forms, and in true relative clauses the final accent extends to the end of the relative clause: muunthu/ mweenó/ mwiizi ‘the man who saw the thief’.)

Mwene Jaama/ na Nuurú. ‘He saw Jaama and Nuuru.’ (Observe that the object of the verb here is a conjoined NP, but the agreement is third person singular m. One does not say: Wawene Jaama/ na Nuurú.)

Mwene mwimbili wa Nuuru/ siwo/ Omari. ‘He saw the son of Nuuru, not (the son of) Omari.’

Mwene mwiimbili/ wa Nuuru/ siwo/ Omari. ‘He saw the son of Nuuru, not (the son of) Omari.’ Review whether this is ambiguous, ditto above.

Mwene mwiimbili/ wa Nuuru/ siwo/ mwanaamke. ‘He saw the son of Nuuru, not the daughter.’

Nakuwoná/ jisaa mi/ nsasiló. ‘Do you see how I have grown thin?’

Nakuwonaayi/ ruhuuyo. ‘How do you see yourself?’ (meaning: are you in good health?) This greeting is esp. used to people who have been sick.

Nakuwonaayi/ takhaadira. ‘Are you up to doing it, are you still able to do it (lit. how do you see it, will you be able)?’

Naani/ mweno mwaaná ‘Who saw the child?’

Naani/ nt^hamwona Omari. ‘Who did not see Omari?’ (Because naani bears focus, the verb may cease to be the focus, allowing it to phrase with the complement. The verb, however, must be put into pseudo-relative form, hence the final accent on the phrase containing the verb. It is possible, however, to keep some focus on the verb, leading to its phrasal separation from the complement: Naani/ nt^hamwoná/ Omari. Notice that in this case, the Accentual Law of Focus comes into play, and the final accent triggered by the relative verb cannot project to the complement. The pseudo-relative is thus strikingly different from a true relative clause, where the Accentual Law of Focus never comes into play to bar the final accent from reaching the end of the relative clause.)

Ndo/ we/ mweené/ ngamiilaya/ amó/ nt^humwona. ‘Come, did you see my camel or did you not?’

Nimwene Huseení/ skumona/ Hasani. ‘I saw Huseeni, I did not see Hasani.’ Or: Nimwene Huseení/ Hasani/ skumona. ‘I saw Huseeni; Hasani, I did not see.’

Nimwene Huseení/ yana. ‘I saw Huseeni yesterday’. (Phon. In the default case, the final accent triggered by the first person past tense verb does not extend to the time adverb yana. If one wishes to emphasize yana, then it is brought into the scope of the final accent: Nimene Huseení/ yaná.)

Nimweené/ munt^hu oyo mpelo Omari/ peesá. ‘I saw the man who gave Omari money.’ Or: Nimweené/ muunthu/ mpelo Omari/ peesá. Or: Nimwene munt^hu oyo mpelo Omari/ peesá. (The following phrasing was rejected by GM: Nimwene muunt^hú/ (oyo) mpelo Omari/ peesá. If this judgment is correct, then it would indicate that a phrasally isolated head in subject relativization does not phrase with its verb. More research is required on this point.)

Nimwene Nuuru/ tú. ‘I saw only Nuuru.’ Or: Nuuru/ tu/ nimweenó.

Nimwene Omari/ nakhkoða na Nuuru. ‘I saw Omari speaking with Nuuru.’

Nuuru/ nt^hamwona/ Omari. ‘Nuuru did not see Omari.’ (In the default phrasing, a negative verb is separated from its following complement in main clauses. This indicates that the verb is the focus and the complement is out of focus. The corresponding yes-no question supports this analysis, since the complement undergoes accent shift to the final syllable, a phenomenon associated with a phrase being out of focus: Nuuru/ nt^hamona/ Omari? The exclamatory question is: Nuuru/ nt^hamwoná/ Omari!? However, an alternative exclamatory question is available where there is no phrasal break between the negative verb and the complement: Nuuru/ nt^hamona Omari!? These both follow the usual generalization about exclamatory sentences: namely, all phrases in the VP obligatorily undergo accent-shift.)

^fNuuru/ nt^hamona Omari. ‘Nuuru did not see Omari.’ (In this sentence, where the subject is focused, the verb is put into the pseudo-relative form. Furthermore, since the verb is no longer the focus, there is no phrasal break between the verb and its complement.)

Nuuru/ wene muunt^hu. ‘Nuuru saw a man.’

Nuuru/ wene waana/ so. ‘Nuuru saw the children, didn’t he? Did Nuuru see the children (I have some reason to think he did)?’

Omari/ mweene/ mubliwá/ Nureeni? ‘Did omari see my husband Nureeni?’

Omari/ wene waana. ‘Omari saw some children.’ (Cf. Omari/ wawene waana. ‘Omari saw (the) children.’ When the primary object is human but fails to trigger an object prefix on the verb, the object is understood as indefinite. The presence of an object prefix, on the other hand, ordinarily indicates definiteness. This is always the case when the primary object is non-human, but in the case of humans agreement may also occur even when the noun is indefinite. To make the noun clearly definite, a pre-nominal demonstrative may be used: Omari/ wawene awaje waana. Omari saw the children.’)

Osmaani/ mweene muke. ‘Osmaani saw a woman.’ Cf. Osmaani/ mweene/ ujee muke. ‘Osmaani saw the woman.’

Osmaani/ wawene waana/ na mama yaawó. ‘Osmaani saw the children and their mother.’ (Observe that the verb agrees with the nearest of the conjoined NPs. This can be seen clearly from the following example, where the NPs are in a different order: Osmaani/ menee muke/ na waanawé. ‘Osmaani saw the woman and her children.’)

Sho khkasa ya waake/ huwona yaake. ‘The one who does not listen to his (i.e. the people close to him, family and friends) will see his (i.e. the unfortunate consequences of ignoring these people).’ Or: Sho mkasa waake/ huwona yaake. ‘The one who does not listen to his relatives sees his own (i.e. regrets it).’ A proverb.)

Sultaani/ kumwonake/ ba/ chaanza/ kumpeenda. ‘The king, upon seeing him, began to like him.’

Wachiwonaa nt^hi/ kaa kule. ‘They saw a land from afar.’

Wana gani/ we/ waweenó. ‘Which children did you see?’ Or: We/ wawene wana gani. (Possible answers include: Wa Omari. ‘Omari’s.’ Niwawene wana (w)a Omari. ‘I saw Omari’s children.’ Wana (w)a Omari/ niwaweenó. ‘(It is) Omari’s children whom I saw.’)

Wana wa naani/ we/ waweenó. ‘Whose children did you see?’ Or: We/ wawene wana (w)a naani. (Possible answers include: Wa Omari. ‘Omari’s.’ Niwawene wana (w)a Omari. ‘I saw Omari’s children.’)

Waana/ wa skoolá/ wawene darsi/ dhibu. ‘The students found the lesson difficult.’

Waziiri/ chimwambila mwaana/ takuwona. ‘The minister told the boy, You will see! (a threat in response to the boy’s refusal to give the minister money).’

We/ mene naani. ‘Who did you see?’ Or: Naani/ we/ meenó. (Possible answers to this question include: Wana (w)a Omari. ‘Omari’s children.’ Niwawene wana (w)a Omari. ‘I saw Omari’s children.’)

We/ takichiwona mukhtaa we/ takhsuuló. ‘You will see us whenever you want.’

Weené/ buukuyá. ‘Did you see my book? (e.g. I have lost it, did you see it?)’

Wene naani. ‘Whom did you see?’ (Cf. Wene naani. ‘Whom did he see?’) rel.

ku-wonana v. rec. [Sw. onana] (-woneene) see one another, meet with one another Apo/ ye/ chiwonana/ na wawaye mwanaamke. ‘There he met the girl’s father.’

Ba’ada/ ya wakhti/ sulṭaani/ lazile ndilaani/ kuwonana na mgeeni/ oyo. ‘After awhile, the sultan came out in the open to meet with that visitor.’

Basi/ khati/ iyi/ ichikhukoma/ ka paapo/ funga safari/ ndo/ chiwonane. ‘So if this letter reaches you, immediately set off on a journey, come so that we may see one another.’

Dhibu/ yaa mi/ nnaayó/ ni kuwaa mi/ sinakuwonana/ naawe. ‘The difficulty that I experience is that I do not see you [lit. I do not see one another with you].’

Khati/ ni nusu ya kuwonana. ‘A letter is half of seeing one another.’ (A proverb.)

kuḷa muunṭhu/ peetó/ kuwonana/ na kubaraṭana na elo uyú ‘everyone who got to know about and to learn about this gazelle’

Mi/ nakendra kuwonana naayé. ‘I am going to meet with him.’

Mkulu/ wa mabawaabu/ cheendra/ kumpa sulṭaani/ khabari/ kuwa chile chizeele/ chimooyi/ chinakhsulo kuwonana naayé. ‘The head of the door-keepers went and gave the sultan the news that an old woman had come who wanted to meet with him.’

Sku[↑] niingi/ skuwonana/ na Hamadi. ‘Many days I have not seen Hamadi (lit. meet with).’

We/ khuḷaazima/ khtinda shawuuri/ na kendra kuwonana naayé. ‘You are obliged to make a decision and go to meet with him.’

Ye/ nakhsula kuwonana naawe/ munṭhi wa arabiya. ‘He wants to meet with you on Wednesday.’

ku-wonanoowa v. rec. pass. (-woneena)

Hamadi/ iwonena naaye/ wakhti/ mwiingi. ‘There was seeing Hamadi for a long time.’

Hamadi/wonena naaye/ wakhti/ mwiingi. ‘Hamadi has been seen for a long time.’

Kuwavila waanṭhu/ kudirkamanoowa/ kuwonanoowa/ kpanana salaamu/ na kubadilana ra’yi. ‘To call people to meet and to see one another and greet one another and exchange ideas.’

Nṭha’ikuwonanoowa/ na Hamadi/ wakhti/ mwiingi. ‘There has not been being seen with Hamadi for a long time.’ Also: Hamadi/ nṭha’ikuwonanoowa/ naaye/ wakhti/ mwiingi. (The second sentence is an impersonal passive like the first sentence, but in addition it topicalizes the object of the preposition na, leaving a resumptive pronoun behind.)

ku-woneka v. [Sw. oneka] be visible

ku-wonekana v. [Sw. onekana] be seen

Ka paapo/ nyunyi/ zigedishile/ ziweele/ wake/ wa wanaadamu/ wenye jamaala/ sho kuwonekana/ karka duniya. ‘Then the birds changed, they became women of human beings, beautiful, not seen in the world.’

Mapeendo/ ya maskiini/ hayawonekanai. ‘The love of a poor man is not seen.’ (A proverb.)

Nṭhainakuwonekana. ‘It isn’t likely, it is unlikely.’

Ziwovu nza maskiini/ huwonekanó/ za taajiri/ haziwonekani. ‘It is the poor man’s wrongs that are seen, those of a rich man are not seen.’ (A proverb.)

ku-wonela v. appl. [Sw. onea] see with, for Mi/ na'iwá/ kuwaa we/ huṭakhaadiri/ kunaamina/ basi ḵawa/ chooloke/ kiinu/ we/ nt^hiinda/ iwonele/ ka maṭoyo/ kuwa siná/ khalbi. 'I know that you will not be able to believe me, so let's leave and go to your place so that you can slaughter me and see with your own eyes that I do not have a heart.'

Ndo/ iwonele ka maṭoye. 'Come and see with your own eyes.'

ku-wonoowa v. pass. [Sw. onwá] (weena)

Chiwa teena/ hawonoowi/ chi'ilawila/ chiyolokela ka mukeewe/ pashpo/ kuwonoowa. 'It became then that he was not visible and he took himself [out of the grave] and went to his wife without being seen.'

Huwona/ hawawonoowi/ hukooḵa/ hakasoowi. 'He sees, he is not seen, he speaks, he is not heard.' (A riddle, the answer to which is mwajiitu/ mojiitu 'God'.)

Mp^huundra/ iweenapi/ khadira khṭukula want^hu wawili. 'For a donkey, where is it seen to be able to carry two people?'

na karaama ziitu ziweena bayaana [nt.] 'and our miraculous delivery became clear'

We/ weená/ na Huseeni. 'You were seen by Huseeni.'

We/ wena na Nuuru. 'You were seen with Nuuru.'

ku-wonela
etc.

v. [Sw. onea SSED 353] (-woneleele) mistreat, abuse s.o. younger, weaker, poorer,

Ni/ nakumbonela/ ka khisa/ mi/ ni ḵa'iifú. 'You are bullying me because I am weak.'

We/ waawé/ nfunzile ka kumbonela t^u. 'You, father, tied me up without justification (lit. just to abuse me).'

rel.

ku-wondeḵoowa v. pass.

Hayawaani/ haziwoneḵoowa/ naharisi/ leelo. 'Animals are not shown pity these days (i.e. they are mistreated).'

-wovu

adj. [Sw. -bovu SSED 39] bad, evil

Chiwawene wana wawovú. 'We saw the bad children.' (Cf. Chiwawene waaná/ wawovu. 'We saw some bad children.')

Inawe suura/ amó/ mbovu/ nuumbayo/ ni nuumbayo/ ya mwinginewo/ siwo/ yaako. 'Whether it is good or bad, your house is your house, that of another is not yours.' (A proverb.)

it^o iwovu 'evil eye'

Ka nasiibuye/ kuwaa mbovu/ mukeewe/ nt^hakhshiika/ miimba/mukhta^a ye/ waliko muḵjaaná. 'His fortune being bad, his wife did not get pregnant while he was a young man.'

khfanya ziwovu 'to make (look) bad'

Nureeni/ kiḵaa jawaabu/ hupenda khfanya ziwovu/ haṭá/ jawaabu/ suura/ hubadila. 'Nureeni likes to make everything look bad, he changes even good things.'

Koḵi njeema/ wahali/ koḵii mbovu/ dahari. 'Good words are a companion, bad words are hardship/ suffering.' (A proverb.)

Laakini/ ka nasiibuya/ kuwaa mbovu/ skukhaadira/ khpata kaazi/ yoyote. 'But my luck being bad, I was not able to get any job.'

Mṭenge Hamza/ ni mwovu/ ni. 'Stay away from Hamza, he is bad, that's what he is.' (Observe that although ni generally lengthens when followed by a CVCV word in PP-final position, this lengthening does not occur here; movu is a phonological reduction of /m-wovu/, which is trisyllabic.)

Muunt^hu mwovu/ hafanyoowi/ mweenza. 'A bad person is not made a friend.' *A proverb.)

Mwaana/ chimjiiba/ ya kuwa ziko khabari suura/ na khabarii mbovú. 'The child answered him that there was good news and bad news.'

Mwenzu mwovu/ khutila iboholiini. 'Bad friends put you in a hole.' (A proverb.)

Ndru mwovu/ khinfa skuu mbovu. ‘A bad relative is of use on a bad day.’
(A proverb.)

Niya njeema/ hutabiiba/ niyaa mbovu/ hukhariba. ‘A good intention cures, a bad intention spoils.’ (A proverb.)

Omari/ ile ka rerii mbovu. ‘Omari came from a bad family.’

Sa’iidi/ nasiibuye/ iwalikoo mbovu/ ye/ shiinziila. ‘Sa’iidi’s luck being bad, he lost/ was defeated.’

Siwo/ mbovu. ‘That’s not a bad idea [lit. it is not bad].’

want^hu wawovu ‘evil people’

Waawe/ pete khabari/ mbovu. ‘My father received sad (lit. bad) news.’

Ziwovu nza maskiini/ huwonekanó/ za taajiri/ haziwonekani. ‘It is the poor man’s wrongs that are seen, those of a rich man are not seen.’
(A proverb.)

rel.

u-wovu n. 14 [Sw. ubovu SSED 39] badness

zi-wovu n. 8 evil (deeds)

kandika ziwovu ‘to accuse someone of evil deeds’

khfanya ziwovu ‘to do evil’

Mwaanawá/ siwafungulilé/ mkułazo/ ndroto zaa we/ weenó/ seendré/ mkułazo/ kawakhufanya ziwovú. ‘My son, do not tell your older brothers the dreams that you have seen, lest your older brothers do evil to you.’

khtendra ma ziwovu ‘to do evil’ kuwanayo ziwovu ‘to hold a grudge against s.o., to have evil intentions (as a result of having been wronged) -- [lit.] to have evil’ kuweka ziwovu ‘to hold a grudge’

Nimfanyize zeemá/ ndrisile ziwovu. ‘I did good to him, he repaid me with evil.’ (A proverb.)

Ziwovuzo/ nii we/ kuwa nii chisu/ huřindo lkaambalá/ lkaambala/ humfungoo mp^haká... ‘Your evil deeds are you are the knife that cuts the rope, the rope that ties the cat...’

chi-wovu (zi-)

n.7/8 pocket, pouch, tobacco pouch

Apo/ ye/ shfungula shpete/ chishtila chiwovuuni. ‘There he took off the ring and put it in his pocket.’

what is in your pocket, a weapon is what is in your hand.’ (A proverb.)

Chiinthu/ ni chimo chiwovuuni/ silaaha/ ni yimo mkonooni. ‘A thing is chiwovu cha kuboola ‘fob pocket (lit. pocket of stealing)’ chiwovu cha mtaawo ‘pillowcase’ of a rich man was snatched by a thief.’

chiwovu chaa sa’a ‘watch pocket’ chiwovu cha peesa ‘money pocket’ chiwovu cha shaati ‘shirt pocket’

chiwovu cha surwaani ‘pocket of trousers’

Chiwovu/ chatushile. ‘The pocket is torn.’

Chiwovu/ chinayo nt^huundru. ‘The pocket has a hole.’

Lesele chibuukú? ‘Did you bring a book?’, a question which has possible answers like: Ee/ chimo chiwovuuni. ‘Yes, it is in (my) pocket.’

Or Ee/ nnacho chiwovuuni. ‘Yes, I have it in (my) pocket.’

Mwiizi/ mdafkile taajiri/ chiwovu/ cha peesa. ‘The thief snatched from the rich man a pouch of money.’

Na ndani ya chiwovu/ chiwalimo chisanduukhu/ chihaba/ chishaba. ‘And inside the bag was a small box of copper.’

Sandukhuuni/ chiwaliko chiwovu/ na chiwovuuni/ chiwalimoo chuwo/ cha sifa/ za mtume. ‘In the box there was a pouch and in the pouch was a book of praises of the prophet.’

Tukiileni/ kaako/ chiwovuuni. ‘What are you carrying in your pocket?’

i-wovu (mi-)

n. 5/4 bag

wowi

n. [Som. wēbi] river; [wowi or wōbi]

Chilaweni wowiini. ‘Let us go to the river.’

Chimlatile wowiini. ‘We have thrown him into the river.’

Hugura kharibu yaa wowi. ‘They move near the river.’

kharibu yaa wowi ‘near the river’

khfulaa nguwo/ wowiini ‘to wash clothes in the river’ kowa wowiini ‘to wash in the river’ lpindro laa wowi ‘river bank’

mayi yaa wowi ‘river water’

Maayi/ yagudhiile/ wowiini. [HH!!H] ‘Water has dried up in the river.’ Or:

Yagudhilo wowiini/ ni maayi. [H'H] ‘What has dried up in the river is water.’

Maayi/ yayelee/ wowiini. ‘Water rose (lit. filled up) in the river.’

Nch^hoowa/ wowiini. ‘I was bathing in the river.’ Cf. Nch^howa wowiini. ‘I was bathing in the river.’ Cf. Noweelé/ wowiini. ‘I bathed in the river.’ Cf. Nowele wowiini. ‘I bathed in the river.’

Ninenzele kharibu yaa wowi. ‘I walked near the river.’

Noloshele wowiini. ‘I went to the river.’ (Cf. wowi yaa mi/ nolosheló ‘the river that I went to’, where it is possible for wowi to be in a bare form when functioning as the head of a relative clause.)

Nowelele karka wowi. ‘I swam in the river.’ Also: Nowelele wowiini. (It should be noted that when relativizing wowi in the first version, MI switched the preposition: wowi yaa mi/ nowelele katiiké... ‘the river that I swam in it’. Relativization into wowiini does not require resumptive possessive enclitic: wowi yaa mi/ nowelele...

nsi zaa wowi ‘river fish’

Polpoloo mbili/ hugudbaṭaa wowi. ‘Two areca nuts cross the river.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is maato ‘eyes’.)

Simeme wowiini. ‘He stood in the river.’ (Note that MI did not accept wowi yaa yé/simeemó.. ‘the river that he stood’; he required a resumptive possessive clitic: wowi yaa yé/ simemo katiiké ‘the river that he stood in it’. The reader may have noted that the unacceptability of wowi yaa yé/simeemó.. contrasts with the acceptability of wowi yaa mi/ nowelele... We suspect that this contrast is not random, but we did not pursue the matter.)

Teta naa wowi. ‘He was taken by the river.’

Wowi/ asliye/ ni matete yaa nvula. ‘A river, its origin is drops of rain.’ (A proverb.)

Wowi/ igudhiile. [H!H] ‘The river has dried up.’ Cf. Igudhiiló/ nii wowi. [H'H] ‘What has dried up is the river.’

Wowi/ iwelee nk^havu. [H!H] ‘The river has dried up.’ Or: Iweleo nk^havú/ nii wowi. [H'H] ‘What has dried up is the river.’

Wowi/ iyele maayi. [H!H] ‘The river has filled up with water.’ Or: Iyelo maayi/ nii wowi. [H'H] ‘What the water has filled is the river.’

wowi yaa mi/ ninenzelo khariibuyé ‘the river that I walked near it’ (Observe that when the object of a preposition is relativized, the third person possessive enclitic is attached to the preposition. The preposition may not be stranded.)

woowo

[cl.2] strong demonstrative

Waletee wo/ wanataale/ ka woowo. ‘Let them choose (lit. take) for themselves.’

wana woowo/ awa ‘these very same children’

wana woowo/ awo ‘those very same children’

wana woowo/ awaje ‘those very same children’ wanaafakhi/ woowo/ ka woowo ‘the same kinds of lies, over and over’ woowo/ ka woowo ‘the same ones, over and over’

Woowo/ omo bātera mooyi. ‘They are in one boat (i.e. they are in the same situation, or share the same beliefs, etc.).’

Woowo/ wahadiiló. ‘Those very ones spoke; they themselves spoke.’ Or: Wahadiiló/ woowo. (Interestingly, in the simple yes-no question of the first example, there is no accent shift, but in the exclamatory question the demonstrative shifts its accent: Woowó/ wahadiiló!? In the case of the second example, again there is no shift in the simple question, but is in the exclamatory question: Wahadiiló/ woowô!? The significant point here is that while exclamatory questions always shift the accent of post-verbal elements, they commonly have no effect on sentence-initial pre-verb phrases.)

- woowo [cl.3] second position strong demonstrative Muunt^hi/ woowo/ khabari/ schikoma/ sultaani. ‘On that very same day the news reached the sultan.’
- woowo [cl.14] strong demonstrative (In the speech of GM, woowo may combine with all the weak demonstratives, as shown below. Woowo seems to be a strengthening of the [cl.14] independent pronoun wo.)
Hamadi/ woowo/ uki/ teetó. ‘Hamadi took it the same honey.’ (Note that the strong demonstrative woowo seems to trigger the pseudo-relativization of the following verb.)
Hamiisi/ nakhsoma chibuuku/ na ka wakht̥i woowó/ nakulangaḷa mpiira. ‘Hamiisi is reading a book, and at the very same time, he is watching football.’
uki oyo/ woowo ‘that very honey near you’ uki woowo/ uyu ‘this very honey’; uki woowo/ oyo ‘that very honey near you’; uki woowo/ uje ‘that very honey far from us’ woowo/ uki ‘the same honey’
- woowo/ awa [cl.2] first position emphatic demonstrative
- woowo/ awo [cl.2] second position emphatic demonstrative
- woowo/ awaje [cl.2] third position emphatic demonstrative
- woowo/ owo [cl.3] second position emphatic demonstrative Jima ipisiló/ Hamiisi/ somele chibuuku/ muunt^hi/ woowo/ owo/ ye langaḷile mpiira. ‘Last Friday, Hamisi read a book. That same day, he watched football.’
Muti owo/ woowo/ uvundishiló. ‘That tree itself broke.’ Or: Woowo/ muti owo/ uvundishiló. Or: Woowo/ owo/ uvundishiló. (In these sentences, woowo is focused and raised in pitch. In the simple yes-no question version of the second sentence, there is no accent shift, but in the exclamatory question we find: Woowo/ muti oyó/ uvundishiló!? We did not record the yes-no question versions of the other sentences cited here.)
- woowo/ oyo [cl.3] second position emphatic demonstrative (=woowo/ owo)
- woowo/ uje [cl.3] third position emphatic demonstrative
- woowo/ uyu [cl.3] first position emphatic demonstrative
- wu- a morphophonemic variant of the [cl.3] subject marker u
- wu- a morphophonemic variant of the [cl.14] subject marker Wuukopi/ ujahaliwa. ‘Where is my ignorance?’
- wuh ideo. of dog barking
Ibá/ inakubiga mikel̥e/ wúh wúh wúh. ‘The (aug.) dog is barking wuh wuh wuh.’
 (Each repetition of the ideophone is pronounced on a high pitch; these high pitches are not downstepped relative to the preceding accented syllable.)
- wujuudi n. existence
mi ni mpiya amo ni qadiimu karka wajuudi [song] ‘am I new or am I old in existence?’
Muunt^hu/ isḷaamu/ laazimu/ kaamina/ uwujuudi/ wa mojiitu. ‘A Muslim must believe in the existence of God.’

- wuquufu n. the action of standing at a certain place in Mecca during the pilgrimage wukhuufu wakhtiwe chigafa khatari [st.] ‘the time of wuquufu is dangerous if missed (since the pilgrimage will not be complete)’
- wurr interj. a word used to challenge s.o.
Aamina/ mambile maanawe/ wurr/ endra numbaani/ ka Haliima. ‘Aamina told her child: just dare to go to Haliima’s house (i.e. don’t you dare go there, just try!).’
Wurr/ oloka. ‘Don’t go (because if you do...)!’
Wurr/ sooloké. ‘Go (lit. don’t not go), because if you don’t go...’
wuru silawe we nambiilo faanya daḍali [song] get out – it was you who told me, make an effort’
- wuuwu/ uwu [cl.3] this same one
- wuyaawuya n. sting ray; it has a tail that may hit people, and it is not eaten mkila wa wuyaawuya ‘the tail of a sting ray’
- i-wuuyu (ma-) n. 5/6 [Sw. buyu SSED 43] fruit of the baobab tree Eelo/ chimpoṭeleza mwaalimu/ iwuuyu. ‘The gazelle dropped a baobab fruit on the teacher.’
muti wa mawuuyu ‘a baobab tree’
Maduriini/ ye/ wenee muti/ wa mawuuyu/ mkulu. ‘In the bush he saw a large baobab tree.’
Mwalimu Gooso/ chisomesha waana/ nt^hini ya muti wa mawuuyu. ‘Teacher Gooso used to teach children under a baobab tree.’
We/ tetemeshezee muti/ na iwuuyú/ impoṭelele mwaalimu/ chiṭaani/ imublelele. ‘You shook the tree and the baobab fell on the teacher’s head and killed him.’
- rel.
m-buuyu (mi-) n. 3/4 [Sw. mbuyu SSED 270] baobab tree
- xaf ideo. [Som. xaf “to cut neatly and sharply”, cited in Dhoorre & Tosco, p. 154] of cutting (The sound x, a voiceless pharyngeal fricative, is a phoneme in Somali, but not usually retained in words borrowed into Chimiini. However, this ideophone retains this sound.)
Chisu/ chimntinzile chaala/ xáf! ‘The knife cut his finger, xaf!’
- xaf ideo. of speeding past Sheekhi/ nakhfakatiṣha/ gaari/ mpisile Omari/ xaf!/ kana lpepo. ‘Sheekhi is speeding, the car passed Omari, xaf!’
- xaax ideo. [Som. xaax, cited in an internet source: “of feeling cold”] of feeling cold Hamadi/ nakuhada xáax/ apa/ bardi/ shiishilá. ‘Hamadi is saying xaax! I feel cold here.’
Xaax/ chiti ichi/ chibardi/ kana/ barafu/ ha’ikhadiroowi/ khkalanthiloowa. ‘Xaax! this chair is cold like ice, it cannot be sat on.’
- xuf ideo. of speeding
Yaró/ hufakatiṣha gaari/ mpisile Abdaa Nuurú/ xuf! mbirimbiriye/ iize/ kumwona. ‘Yaro drives his truck fast, he passed Abdaa Nuuru, xuf, and (then) there could not be seen any trace of him in the distance.’
- xuux ideo. [Som. xuux ‘to give off a sudden cry or shout in order to threaten’ cited in Dhoorre & Tosco, p. 155] used to threaten, e.g. a child, to avoid s.t. harmful Faatima/ mwambile mwaanawe/ apo/ yikoo muḷo/ itakhupiisha/ sisoongé/ ni xúux! ‘Faatima told her child: there there is fire, it will burn you, don’t go near it, it is xuux.’ (It should be noted that in this and the following examples, xuux is pronounced with a high pitch throughout the syllable; we indicate this with the acute mark over the first mora of the ideophone.)

Faatiima/ mwambile mwaanawe/ xúux! sisoongé/ apo/ yikoo muḷo/ itakhupiisha.
‘Faatima told her child: xuux, don’t go near there, it is fire, it will burn you.’

Haliima/ mwambile mwaanawe/ sisoongé/ muḷooni/ ni xúux! ‘Haliima told her child: don’t go near the fire, it is xuux, s.t. harmful, dangerous, etc.’

Mwaana/ wa Haliima/ sulile khshikaa chisu/ maamaye/ mwambile xuux!/ sidaaré/ iyo/ itakhuṭiinda. ‘Haliima’s child wanted to take a knife, his mom told him xuux! do not touch that, it will cut you.’

ya [cl.6] associative particle; see under -a mazalo ya miyuundra ‘agricultural production’

ya [cl.9] associative particle; see under -a Yaaka/ ni moyi iyi. ‘Mine (e.g. [cl.9] ndrimu) is this one.’
Yo/ ni numba ya naani. ‘Whose house is it?’
Yo/ siwo/ yaaka. ‘It (e.g. [cl.9] khalamu) is not mine.’

ya- [cl.4] subject prefix Nnakhsulaa mití/ yanawee milé. ‘I want that the trees be tall.’

ya- [cl.6] subject prefix
Chiiza/ magozi/ yaṭakuwola/ nvulaani. ‘Otherwise the hides will rot in the rain.’

Maduuri/ yanakhtishaa nt^ho. ‘The bush country is very frightening.’

Majiwe/ yalesela na muunt^hu. ‘Stones were brought by the man.’

Mapeenzi/ ni kama shkololo/ haya’ushiki. ‘Love is like coughing, it cannot be hidden.’ (A proverb.)

Maayi/ yamṭawanyikilile. ‘Water spilled on him.’

We/ mabori ayo/ andika muḷooni/ isa/ yaṭakhpikika. ‘You, those pumpkins, (if you) put them in the fire, they will cook immediately.’

ya- [cl.6] adjective agreement

-ya- [cl.4] object prefix
Majiwe ayo/ yaa we/ yaboozeló/ yapeete. ‘Those stones that you stole (them) have been found.’
Siyakuumbuki. ‘I did not remember them [cl.4].’
Skiya’uza. ‘I did not sell them [cl.4].’
Yafunzile milaango. ‘He closed the doors.’
(Ye)/ ka’oloká/ suḷa kiyawonaa miti. ‘If he went, he would see the trees.’

-ya- [cl.6] object prefix
Chimwamura Abunawaasi/ khtala magozi/ yotte/ keendra/ kiya’uza.
‘He ordered Abunawaasi to take all the skins and go and sell them.’
Majiwe/ yaleesele. ‘The stones, he brought them.’
Sku mo/ Abunawaasi/ ile/ kiyalangaḷa/ ayo/ magozi. ‘One day Abunawaasi came to see those hides.’
(Ye)/ ka’oloká/ suḷa kiyawona majabali. ‘If he went, he would see the mountain.’
Ye/ yaleesele/ majiwe. ‘He brought them, the stones.’ (Cf. Ye/ lesele majiwe. ‘He brought stones.’) ya kuwa that

Chimwaambila/ kuwa yaa mi/ nnampeendá/ mwanaamke/ wa sultaani.
'He told him that, I love the daughter of the king.' (Syn. Observe that kuwa ya may introduce direct speech.)

Jeelaani/ shkasa/ ya kuwa Safiya/ zimpete amri izi/ na ya kuwa muḅli/ hadile/ mi/ simlāti/ illa/ khpowa peesa/ izo zaa mi/ nt^homeeló/ ka maraa mbili. 'Jeelani heard the things that befell Safiya and that (her) husband said: I will not divorce her unless given twice the money that I paid (as dowry).'

Laakini/ Abunawaasi/ shpata khabari/ ya kuwa sultaani/ tumile waant^hu/ kuya kumuḅla. 'But Abunawaasi got the news that the sultan had sent people to come to kill him'

kuu-ya

v. (ile) come

Apo/ ichiwa/ ziko mp^haamp^ha/ niingi/ huuya/ naazó/ kuja matuundra/ yaa muti/ oyo. 'At that place there were many sharks, they came (and them) to eat the fruit of that tree.'

Bay/ filatīlila kuuya. 'Bay was expected to come.'

Chiint^hu/ chisuura/ khfanyoowa/ ni kulindra kaalme/ kuuya. 'The best thing to do would be to wait for help to come.'

Chiza kuuyako/ nt^haykunfurahisha. 'Your not coming displeased me.'

Hamadi/ nakuya ka Mkhodiisho. 'Hamadi is coming [here] from Mkhodiisho.'

Hasani/ nt^hakuuya/ yana. [HH!H] 'Hasani did not come yesterday.' (The simple yes-no question version of this sentence: Hasani/ nt^hakuuya/ yaná? Note the Accent Shift in the time adverbial.)

Hasani/ yana/ nt^hakuuya. [HH!H] 'Hasani did not come yesterday.'

Ile/ mwaana. 'A boy came.' (Cf. the simple yes-no question: Ile/ mwaaná? 'Did a boy come?' 'The shift to final accent on the subject mwaana indicates that this NP is out-of-focus, since only out-of-focus elements undergo accent shift in the simple yes-no question.)

Ile/ mwana wa Haliima. 'He came, Haliima's son.' (In the statement, the right-dislocated subject is radically lowered in pitch. In the simple y/n question, the postposed subject undergoes accent shift: Ile/ mwana wa Haliimá? The right-dislocated subject is raised in pitch compared to the statement, but the raising in GM's speech is not nearly as high as the initial accented syllable. The exclamatory question shifts the accent in the verb as well as the postposed subject: Ilé/ mwana wa Haliimâ!? There is ordinary downstep in this question.)

Ile naani/ numbaani. 'Who came home?'

Iló/ (ni) naani. 'The one who came is who?'

Iló/ Nureeni/ mwaanawe. 'The one who has come is Nureeni's child/son.'

Ilopo Muusó/ we/ shfaanyani. 'When Muusa came, what were you doing?'

Ka khisani/ nt^hawanakuuyá. 'Why aren't they coming?'

Karaayle/ ziile/ stile kaniisa/ muḷo. 'The crows came and burned down the church.'

Kuuyake/ nt^haykumpeendeza/ Nuuru. 'His coming did not please Nuuru.'

Kuuyako/ ishfurahishiize. 'Your coming pleased us.'

Mwana wa Haliima/ ile. 'Haliima's child came.' (The simple yes-no question simply undergoes Q-Raising: Mwana wa Haliima/ ile? The exclamatory question shifts the accent of both phrases: Mwana wa Haliimá/ ilé!? The shift of accent in the subject phrase does not appear to be obligatory, given other data.)

Mwana wa Haliima/ nt^hakuuya. 'Haliima's child did not come.' (When a negative verb is phrasally separated from its complement, it is typically raised in pitch and not downstepped. In the case of a clause-final negative, such as here, downstep does seem to obtain. The corresponding y/n question confirms this, since in such a question the negative verb undergoes what we refer to as Q-raising, but there is no other change: Mwana wa Haliima/ nt^hakuuya? The exclamatory question has both downstep and accent shift: Mwana wa Haliimá/ nt^hakuuyá!?)

Martī wiitu/ ile numbaani. 'Our guest came home.' Cf. Martī wiitu/ nt^hakuuya/ numbaani. 'Our guest did not come home.'

Mi/ na Nuurú/ shṭakuuya. 'Me and Nuuru will come.' (The conjunction of a first person singular and a third person singular subject requires the use of chi as subject marker. In this example, chi appears as sh due to its position in front of a voiceless obstruent.)

Mi/ na Nuurú/ shṭakuuyó. 'It's me and Nuuru who will come.' (A possible answer to the question: Naani/ ṭakuuyó. 'Who will come?')

Mi/ nimwambile Suufi/ tu/ kuuya. ‘I told only Suufi to come.’ Or: Mi/ Suufi/ tu/ nimwambilo kuuyá. Or: Suufi/ tu/ mi/ nimwaambiló/ kuuya.

Mukewa/ Barka/ takuya keesho. ‘My wife Barka will come tomorrow.’

Muunthu/ iló/ ni Omari. ‘The man who came is Omari.’ Or: Munt^hu iló/ ni Omari. (We did not detect a meaning difference associated with the difference in phrasing of the head of the relative clause.)

Muunthu/ iló/ waliko ni waawe. ‘The man who came was my father.’ Or: Munt^hu iló/ waliko ni waawe.

Munthuu mule/ iló/ waliko ni waawe. ‘The tall man who came was my father.’ (It is not “sweet” to phrase the adjective with the relative verb: *Munthuu mule iló/ waliko ni waawe. Nor: Muunthu/ mule iló/ waliko ni waawe. There is, however, a way to join the entire head noun phrase with the relative verb via the use of the demonstrative o(y)o: Munt^hu mule oo iló/ waliko ni waawe. ‘The tall man who came was my father.’ The demonstrative may also be located between the noun and the adjective: Munt^hu oo mule iló/ waliko ni waawe.)

Muunthu/ mzeele/ iló/ waliko ni waawe. ‘The old man who came was my father.’ Or: Munt^hu mzeele/ iló/ waliko ni waawe. (But it does not appear to be “sweet” to have a phrasing *Munt^hu mzele iló/ waliko ni waawe. Nor is it possible to phrase the adjective with the relative verb but separate from the noun it modifies: *Muunthu/ mzele iló/ waliko ni waawe.)

Munt^hu oo iló/ waliko ni waawe. ‘The man who came was my father.’ Or: Muunthu/ oo iló/ waliko ni waawe.

Mwaalimu/ ile. ‘The teacher came.’ Cf. Ile mwaalimu. ‘A teacher came.’

Mwana gani/ wa Nureeni/ iló. ‘Which child of Nureeni’s has come?’

Mwana wa naani/ iló. ‘Whose child has come?’ (A possible answer: Mwana wa Nureeni/ iló. ‘(It is) Nureeni’s child (who) has come.’)

Mwana wa Nureeni/ ile. ‘Nureeni’s son has come.’ Or with phrasal separation of the head of the associative phrase: Mwaana/ wa Nureeni/ ile. Or with focus on subject: Mwana wa ^fNureeni/ iló.

Mzeele/ iló/ waliko ni waawe. ‘The old man who came is my father.’ Or: Mzele iló/ waliko ni waawe.

Nakhukhuburá/ kuwaa mi/ sinakuuya/ numbaani. ‘I am informing you that I am not coming home.’

Ni mukewa/ Barka/ takuyo keeshó. ‘It is my wife Barka who will come tomorrow.’ Or: Ni mukewa/ Barká/ ndiyé/ takuyo keeshó.

Ni naani/ iló. ‘Who is it that came?’ Or: Naani/ iló. (The verb must be in the relative form. It is ungrammatical to say: *Naani/ ile.)

Nthakuuyó/ ndimí/ ambó/ Nuuru. ‘It’s me who will come or Nuuru.’

Nureeni/ mwaanawe/ ile. ‘Nureeni’s child has come.’ (In the simple yes-no question, the downstepping of the verb is missing, but there is no Accent Shift since there are no post-verbal out-of-focus phrases. The emphatic yes-no question does exhibit Generalized Accent Shift on the final two phrases: Nureeni/ mwaanawé/ ilê!?)

^fNureeni/ mwaanawe/ iló. ‘(It’s) Nureeni his child (who) has come.’ (The verb is in a pseudo-relative form, which indicates that there is a focused pre-verbal phrase. Since mwaanawe is downstepped relative to Nureeni, we take the latter to be the focused element. But the question is whether it is really Nureeni that is focused or the entire construction..... study)

Oo iló/ waliko ni waawe. ‘The one who came was my father.’

Omari/ haayi. ‘Omari will not come.’ Or, with subject focus: Omari/haayi. ‘Omari will not come; it is Omari who will not come.’

Omari/ hayi teená. ‘Omari will never come again.’

Omari/ ile. ‘Omari came.’ (Prosody. This simple example illustrates a sentence with canonical word order and canonical downstep intonation. The simple yes-no question involves just Q-raising and no accent-shift: Omari/ ile? The exclamatory question repeated several times the form: Omari/ ilê!? This pronunciation shows that the subject in the exclamatory question may undergo accent-shift. But there are many similar examples where the subject retains default accent. We suspect that the variation may have to do with whether or not there is some emphasis on the subject. If emphasized, the subject does not undergo accent-shift. In any case, accent-shift in the VP is obligatory in emphatic questions.)

Omari/ ile/ so. ‘Omari came, didn’t he? Did Omari come (I have received some indication that he did)?’

Omari/ iló. ‘Is it Omari who came?’

Omari/ so/ iló. ‘Omari came, didn’t he?’ Or: Omari/ iló/ so.

Safiya/ nt^hakuuya. ‘Safiya did not come.’

Siyé/ leelo/ ndo keesho. ‘Don’t come today, come tomorrow.’ Or: Leelo/ siyé/ keesho/ ndo. ‘Today, don’t come; tomorrow come.’

Siyé/ Mwiini/ leelo. ‘Don’t come to Brava today.’ Or: Leelo/ siyé/ Mwiini.

Siyé/ Miini/ leelo/ ndo keesho. ‘Don’t come to Brava today, come tomorrow.’ Or:

Siyé/ Mwiini/ leelo/ keesho/ ndo. Or: Leelo/ siye Mwiini/ keesho/ ndo. ‘Today don’t come to Brava, tomorrow, come.’

Mwiini/ siye leeló/ ndo keesho. ‘Brava, don’t come today, come tomorrow!’ Or:

Mwiini/ siyé/ leelo/ ndo keesho. Or: Mwiini/ leelo/ siyé/ ndo keesho. Or: Mwiini/ leelo/ siyé/ keesho/ ndo.

Takuuyó/ (ni) Nuuru/ ambó/ mi. ‘The one who will come is Nuuru or me.’

Tuuma/ mukeewa/ ile. ‘My wife Tuuma came.’ Or: Mukeewa/ Tuuma/ ile. ‘My wife Tuuma came.’

Wa’ile/ wo? ‘Have they arrived?’ (As is regularly the case, the postposed subject wo is not downstepped in a simple yes-no question such as this.) (A possible answer to this question: Ee/ isa/ tu/ wa’iló. ‘Yes, they have just arrived.’ In this answer, the pitch peak is on isa and the pseudo-relative verb wa’iló is downstepped.)

Waliko ni eelo/ uyu/ ilo ka waawé/ kunmeerá. ‘It was this gazelle who came to my father seeking me (in the context of the story, asking for her hand in marriage to Sultan Daraayi).’

Wanakuuya. ‘They are coming.’ (The superscript upward-point arrow is used to indicate an exaggerated raising of the pitch of the accented syllable.)

Wanaaye/ wanakase jawaabuza. ‘Let them come so that they can listen to my words.’

watakuuyo ni malaayka/ wiingi wa khtumishoowa [st.] ‘angels will descend to perform this service’

Yana/ Hasani/ nt^hakuuya. [H!H!H] ‘Yesterday Hasani did not come.’

Ye/ kachiza kuuyá/ skaapate/ peesa. ‘If he had not come, he would not have gotten money.’

Ye/ kachiza kuya dukaani/ skaapate/ peesa. ‘If he had not come to the shop, he would not have gotten money.’ Or, with verb emphasis: Ye/ kachiza kuuyá/ dukaani/ skaapate/ peesa.

Ye/ kachiza kuya dukaani/ yana/ skaapate/ peesa. ‘If he had not come to the shop yesterday, he would not have gotten money.’ Or, with verb emphasis: Ye/ kachiza kuuyá/ dukaani/ yana/ skaapate/ peesa.

Ye/ kaayá/ suḷa khpata/ peesa. ‘If he had come, he would have gotten money.’

Ye/ kaya dukaani/ suḷa khpata/ peesa. ‘If he had come to the shop, he would have gotten money.’ Or, with focus on the verb: Ye/ kaayá/ dukaani/ suḷa khpata/ peesa.

Ye/ kaya dukaani/ yana/ suḷa khpata/ peesa. ‘If he had come to the shop yesterday, he would have gotten money.’ Or, with focus on the verb: Ye/ kaayá/ dukaani/ yana/ suḷa khpata/ peesa.

rel.

k-iiḷila v. appl. (iiḷile) come towards, come to, for Bandera huundru/ iniiḷile. ‘My (lit. red flag) menstrual period has come.’

Hasiibu/ ishiize/ karka raaha/ na amaani/ haṭá/ mowti/ umwiḷiḷopó. ‘Hasiibu lived in comfort and peace until death came for him.’

Isaabuye/ uko bilaa khfanya kaazi/ chaayi/ hachikhiḷiḷi/ khambila na/ sharti/ kuwaa we/ nakhfanya kaazi/ nakhta’abatá. ‘Meaning, without working, tea does not come to you, telling you drink me! you must work, you must earn (what you want).’ (Notice that a word-final vowel is not lengthen in front of a monosyllabic verb form like na ‘drink!’ in the same way that it lengths before a monosyllabic CV noun.)

na ichiwa nakuwa’iiḷila ‘and if it was coming towards them’

	Sku mooyi/ fijiri/ niḷḷe muunt^hu/ mooyi/ nuziize/ kamaa mi/ nnakhsuḷa kaazi. ‘One day in the morning a man approached me and he asked me if I wanted a job.’ k-ḷḷoowa v. appl. pass. Shṭiinda/ ki’ifakaṭila/ ka apo/ nṭ^hasaa ye/ kiḷḷoowa. ‘He decided to run from there before he was come for.’ k-iilana v. rec. Leelo/ apa/ chileené/ ka munaasaba/ ya Omari/ haruusiye. ‘Today we came together here for the occasion of Omari’s marriage.’ Mi’adi yiitu/ kiilana/ ni keesho. ‘Our appointment to meet, come together, is tomorrow.’ ku-yoowa v. pass. (iḷḷa) ishkasoowa yūḷa yo hufakaṭoowa [nṭ.] ‘when people hear “they have come”, they run’ rel. nom. muu-ya (waa-) n. one who comes (Phon. Notice that the root -ya induces lengthening in a preceding noun class prefix, just as it does in the infinitive.) muu-yo n. 3 the act of coming
kuu-ya	v. aux. [semantically bleached] rel. ku-yoowa v. pass. Gaari/ zinakuyowa khpakowa ranji. ‘The trucks [lit. are coming] to be painted -- i.e. are going to be painted.’
muu-ya (waa-)	n. [not found in SSED, but present in Swahili poetry as waja, translated by Knappert as “mortals” and also “[God’s] servants”; cf. muja “newcomer, slave” in N&H 616] creature; mankind, human beings hayi hupeenda waayawe rahiimu [st.] ‘[God is] alive, he loves his creatures, he is merciful’ Mpa waaya/ ni mwajiitu/ simwiskaṭilé/ mwaadamu. ‘The one who gives to mankind is God, do not rely on a human being.’ (A proverb.) yaa rabbi mooja kulla muuya msaamehe [st.] ‘O Lord God, forgive every creature’
yaa	interj. oh! yaa qalbi/ ‘oh my heart, oh my soul’
ya’	interj. watch out! don’t do it! stop! Hamadi/ hawa’ambili/ waanawe/ ya’/ nṭ^hawaná/ aḍabu. ‘Hamadi does not tell his children: hey stop! behave! They don’t have dicipline.’ Ya’/ jawaabu/ kana izo/ skooḍé. ‘Stop, don’t say things like those.’ Ya’/ sfaanyé/ jawabu iyo. ‘Stop, don’t do that.’ Ya’/ sidaaré/ apo/ ni wasaakha. ‘Stop, don’t touch there, it is dirty.’ Ya’/ skusuḷa/ mi/ Hamadi/ koloka apo. ‘Ya’ I did not want Hamadi to go there.’ Ya’/ wa kheeri/ mi/ chiza khfanya jawabu izo. ‘Ya’ it was better for me not to do those things.’
yaa’alla	ka yaa’alla ‘barely (lit. because of God’s wish)’ Aziizi/ muné/ pisile imṭihaani/ ka yaa’alla. ‘Aziizi’s younger brother barely passed the examination.’
ya’ani	[Ar. ya ḥī, from the verb ḥanā W 650] that is to say, I mean, you see Mi/ nhadiilé/ kuwa ngoombeya/ inaye/ Haafi/ yee peeke/ na isá/ ni/ nweené/ ye/ nṭ^hakufa/ yee peeke/ ya’ani/ ngombe za sulṭaani/ zotte/ sfile naaye. ‘I said that my cow’s name was Does Not Die Alone and now, you have seen, it did not die alone, that’s to say, all the cows of he sultan died with it.’ Ya’ani/ yiwoo dhibú/ ni muunt^hu/ umo karkaa dhibú/ na shidá. ‘That’s to say, the one who understands difficulty is the person who is in difficulty and hardship.'

Ya'aquuba	n. Jacob
yaabisi	n. [Ar. yabs , yabis "dry" W 1105] constipation bardi yaabisi 'rheumatism; acute cold' Huja mandra yaabisi. 'He eats dry bread.' khfanya yaabisi 'to be constipated' khpa yaabisi 'to make constipated' Imp^hele yaabisi. 'It made me constipated.' khpata yaabisi 'to be constipated' mun^hu yaabisi 'a stingy person' nt^hi yaabisi 'dry land'
yaabu	n. [Som. yaab DSI 643] surprise Muusa/ khukahataa we/ siwo/ yaabu. yaabu 'Muusa's hating you is not a surprise.' Nt^haasá/ ni yaabu/ jisa ra'iisi/ bashizo iná/ kahimá/ ka sha'abú. 'It remains astonishing how quickly the president lost popularity (lit. lost name with the people).' Yaabu/ Hamadi/ kiza khsaafira. 'It is a surprise that Hamadi refused to travel.' Yaabu/ kuwa Omari/ nt^hakuuya/ harusí ya Hamadi. 'It is a surprise that Omari did not come to Hamadi's wedding.' Yaabu/ nt^haasá/ yiiko. 'The mystery still remains.'
yahu'	interj. of surprise; [pron. yahú'] Yahú'/ naank^hó/ mpele Omari/ peesá/ mara yiinginé. 'Yahú', again you gave Omari money another (i.e. a second) time.'
yahuudi (ma-)	n. Jew Iyi/ yè/ nt^hakhaadira/ khpata/ ka khisa/ nt^hawakuwaaliko/ mayahuudi/ karka nt^hiye. 'This (mhunda ya yahuudi) he could not get because there were no Jews in his country.' Maame/ tafaðali/ nonyeza mahaða/ wako mayahuudí. 'Mother, please show me a place where there are Jews.'
yaka	n. the ace in cards
m-yakazi (wa-)	n. 1/2 [Sw. mjakazi "female slave" SSED 146] prostitute Muke myakazi/ humfanya jiraaniwe (or: jiranniye)/ dokhani. 'A prostitute fools her neighbor (by saying all her clients are her relatives or friends).' (A proverb.) rel. m-a-wa-yakazi n. son of a prostitute, "son of a bitch" We/ ni mawayakazi. 'You are a son of a prostitute.'
yaake	his, hers, its Fiiló/ yaake/ imaliize. 'The one who has died, his (affairs, concerns, worries, etc.) are finished.' (A proverb.)
yaq	ideo. [The preponderance of ideophones in Chimiini are borrowed from Somali, but we did not find this one listed in our best source, Dhoorre & Tosco. However, on a Somali internet forum, someone wrote: "somali songs suck....too friggin romantic for me...yakh.."; this would seem to attest to the existence of yakh in Somali; our consultant GM corroborated the use of yaq/yakh in Chimiini] of something dirty, e.g. faeces, garbage etc.; similar to English yuck Haliima/ mwambile mwaanawe/ sidaaré/ matuzi/ yákh! 'Haliima told her child: don't touch the faeces, yakh! '

Haliima/ mwambile mwaanawe/ yakh!/ tufa/ kuja iyo/ simizé/ iwozele. ‘Haliima told her child, (it is) yakh!, disgusting, spit it out, do not swallow that food, it is rotten.’

ku-yaala

v. [Bajuni -yaa] (yaazile) plant, sow; variant form: kaala (see separate entry)

Siyaalé. ‘Don’t sow!’ (cf. Siyaleeni. ‘You (pl.) don’t sow!’)

Wayazile muundra. ‘They planted a garden.’ (Cf. Nt^hawakuyaala/ muundra. ‘They did not plant a garden.’)

Yaala. ‘Sow!’ (cf. Yalaani. ‘You (pl.) sow!’)

Ye/ wanayo muundra/ mkulu/ na kuwa nasiibuye/ suura/ kila yaa ye/ chiyaaló/ ichimlawila jisa suura. ‘He had a large farm, and his luck being good, everything that he sowed came up well for him.’

rel.

ku-yaalila v. appl.

ku-yaaloowa v. pass. be planted, sown ku-yaalikea v. p/s.

ku-yaalisha v. caus.

ku-yalishana v. caus. rec.

ku-yalishika v. caus. p/s.

ku-yalishiliza v. caus. appl.

ku-yalishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

rel. nom.

m-yaala n. one who cultivates; pl: miyaala.

yalla interj. an expression used to urge s.o. to act – lit. ‘O God’; soon, in a hurry (In the Chimiini sound system, the consonant l does not appear adjacent to another consonant; instead, one finds ḷ. Thus ll is not a phonetically occurring sequence. However, we adopt the symbol ll to represent the Arabic [lʕlʕ] sound found only in the word ‘Allah’. Its use in Chimiini is restricted to a few expressions borrowed from Arabic.)

Ba’adaa ye/ khtinda chita chimooyi/ yalla/ shtalaa chita/ shtila chiwovuuni. ‘After he cut off one head, he took the head and put it in (his) pocket.’

Chizimila/ ye/ na mukeewé/ yalla/ wachilawaa dali. ‘He fled, he and his wife, in a hurry, they left the country.’

Mp^ha peesaza/ yalla/ kahima. ‘Give me my money, hurry up, quickly.’

Yalla/ chilawa/ muke/ nakhtaltala ka kuuluye. ‘Soon the woman came out, jumping about in pain from her leg (that had been cut off).’

Yalla/ mwanaamke/ oyo/ shpokelaa nsi/ shfakata/ waawé/ ndo/ khaambile/ kuwaa mbuzi/ mi/ mbeené/ kuwaa we/ takhfanya jis’iyi/ jis’iyi. ‘Soon that girl accepted the fish and ran (saying): my father, come, let me tell you, that the goats, I have seen that you will do this way and this way (to figure out which of the two goats is the younger one).’

Yalla/ oyo mwiimbili/ shtukulaa nsi/ mooyi/ shfakata/ chendra apo. ‘Soon that young boy took one fish and ran and went there.’

Yalla/ waant^hu/ wotte/ naank^hó/ wachiruuda. ‘Soon all the people again came back/ returned.’

yama

n. 9/10 whale;

kana iyama) ‘like a whale’

keeluka/ kanaa yama ‘to swim like a whale – i.e. to swim well’

Ahmadi/ ni mgarwa/ mkali/ keeluka/ heeluka/ kanaa yama.

‘Ahmadi is a fisherman, he is skilled at swimming, he swims like a whale.’

Hooweja/ kana/ yama. ‘He swims like a whale (i.e. he swims well).’

Yama/ ipeeta. ‘A whale has been found.’

yama iyi ‘this whale’ (cf. yama izi ‘these whales’)

rel.

i-yama (mi-) n. aug. 5 large whale (The augmentative here refers to size and does not have a disparaging connotation; a diminutive form is not used, given the characteristic size of the whale.)

ikulu kana iyama ‘as big as a whale’ iyama iyi ‘this aug. whale’ (cf. miyama aya ‘these aug. whales’ Leelo/ ipeta ipaamp^ha/ ikulu/ kana iyama. ‘Today a big shark has been caught, as big as a whale.’

ku-yaamba

v. [Sw. jamba SSED 148] fart Nakuyaamba. ‘He is farting.’
Siyambeen/ mbele za waant^hu. ‘(Pl.) don’t fart in front of people.’
 rel.
ku-yaambisha v. caus.
ku-yambishiliza v. caus. appl.

yamiini

n. [Sw. yamini SSED 533; Ar. yamin "oath" W 1109] oath Apo/ teena/ mi/ chilapa (alternatively: ndrasile) yamiini/ kuwaa mi/
nch^hija/ nch^hiikuta/ chakuja shtakhsaaló/ mbele/ taakujó/ ni khadimuya/ na ya khaadimu/ takhsaazó/ taakujó/ nii mbwa/ na ba’ada yaa mbwa/ kuja/ kiikuta/ tu/ mwanaamke/ taakujó.
 ‘There and then I swore an oath that if I ate and was full, the food left behind, first, the one who will eat it is my servant, and what my servant leaves behind, the one who will eat it is my dog, and after my dog has eaten and become satiated, only then my daughter will be the one who eats.’
kulapa yamiini ‘to swear an oath’

yana

adv. yesterday (Time adverbials such as yana have phrasing properties different from other adverbs and from arguments, hence we have included considerable exemplification here in order to document this behavioral pattern.) chakuja chaa yana ‘yesterday’s food’ Iwalikoo ^fyana/ nimpelo Barká/ mukeewá/ peesá. ‘It was yesterday that I gave Barka my wife money.’ Also: Iwaliko nii ^fyana/ nimpelo Barká/ mukeewá/ peesá.
Jaama/ mwene Nuuru/ na Hamadí/ ^fyana. ‘Jaama saw Nuuru and Hamadi yesterday.’
mwakaa yana ‘last year’
Mwaana/ tulushiloo yaná/ ni Omari. ‘The child who fell yesterday is Omari.’ (Observe that inside a relative clause, yana must fall within the scope of the final-accent triggered by the relative verb: Mwaana/ tulushiló/ yana/ni Omari. is ungrammatical. Even if the verb is emphasized, final accent must appear on the adverb: Mwaana/ tulushiló/ yaná/ ni Omari.) Nandishilee khatí/ ^fyana. ‘I wrote a letter yesterday.’ (Cf. Nandishilee khatí/ yaná.
 ‘It was yesterday that I wrote a letter.’) (In the neutral case, represented by the first example, the final accent triggered by the first person past tense verb does not extend onto the time adverbial. However, by extending the accent to the time adverbial, focus is put on this word.) Nandishilee yaná/ khatí. ‘I wrote yesterday a letter.’ (This word would be used in response to a question: Andishile liini/ khatí. ‘When did you write a letter?’) Naani/ tulushiloo yaná. ‘Who fell yesterday?’ (In this question, various people fell on different days and the speaker is asking who fell yesterday. It is also possible to have Naani/ tulushiló/ yana. In this example, there is no focus on yana.
 The fact that this latter question is possible illustrates that pseudo-relatives, like those triggered by naani, are different from true relative clauses, where it is obligatory that the scope of the final accent extend to the end of the relative clause.) Ndrazilee yaná. ‘I left yesterday.’ (There are three clear pieces of evidence that this sentence constitutes a single phrase: (1) the verb is unaccented, which means that it cannot be phrase-final; (2) the final vowel of the verb is lengthened, which means also that the verb cannot be phrase-final, since lengthening of final vowels occurs only when they are phrase-medial; (3) the final accent triggered by the first person singular past tense verb is heard on the adverb

- rather than on the verb.)
- Nii ^fyana/ ndiyó/ nimpelo Barká mukeewá/ peesá. ‘It is yesterday that I gave Barka my wife money.’
- Nimpele mukeewá/ Barká/ peesá/ ^fyana. ‘I gave my wife Barka money.’
- Omari/ jilee zijo/ ^fyana. ‘Omari ate zijo yesterday.’ Or with verb emphasis: Omari/ jiile/ zijo/ yana. ‘Omari ate zijo yesterday.’ (Cf. the corresponding sentences with a final-accent trigger: Njilee zijó/ ^fyana. and Njiilé/ zijo/ yana. VP-final yana is not included in the scope of the final-accent: Njilee zijó/ yaná. Locating yana after the verb puts it in focus position: Njilee yaná/ zijo. ‘I ate yesterday zijo.’ The out-of-focus nature of VP-final yana is revealed by the yes-no question forms. For example: Omari/ jilee zijo/ yaná? ‘Did Omari eat zijo yesterday?’ The shift of accent to the end of yana in this example is a reflection of its out-of-focus nature. Incidentally, when yana is in Immediately After Verb position, it is zijo that is out of focus, as is reflected in the yes-no question: Omari/ jilee yana/ zijó? ‘Did Omari yesterday eat zijo?’)
- Omari/ lazilee yána. ‘Omari left yesterday.’ (Although it is quite common for a time adverbial to be phrased separately from an immediately preceding verb, a sentence like this one is well-formed. It has the effect of including the time adverbial into the focus. When the verb is emphasized, then of course the time adverb is out-of-focus: Omari/ lazile/ yana. ‘Omari left yesterday.’)
- Omari/ tulushile/ ^fyana. ‘Omari fell yesterday.’ Cf. Nt^hulushilé/ ^fyana. ‘I fell yesterday.’ (These examples illustrate that a time adverbial typical is out-of-focus and thus does not form a phrase with the verb. When the time adverbial is directly located after the verb, however, it may be focused and phrased with the verb:
- Omari/ tulushilee yana. and Nt^hulushilee yaná.)
- Sku ya piili/ muke/ kama oyo/ naankh^hó/ shfaanya/ chaakuja/ chisuura/ kolko chaa yana. ‘The next [lit. second] day, the woman like that, again, made food better than that of the day before.’
- Yana/ eelo/ uyu/ ile muyiini/ apa. ‘Yesterday this gazelle came to town here.’
- Yana/ ndraziló. ‘Yesterday I left.’ (This sentence illustrates that a preposed time adverbial may be focused. We can see that yana is focused because the verb has been put into pseudo-relative form, as indicated by the final vowel o.)
- Yana/ Omari/ jilee zijo. ‘Yesterday Omari ate zijo.’ Or: Yana/ Omari/ jiile/ zijo. ‘Yesterday Omari ate zijo.’ Or, with postposing of the subject: Yana/ jiile/ Omari/ zijo. (Our consultant freely accepted these cases of Left-Dislocation of the time adverbial. Fronting of yana may also trigger pseudo-relativization: ^fYanajiloo zijó/ Omari. Also: ^fYana/ jiiiló/ zijo/ Omari. Also: ^fYana/ jiiiló/ Omari/ zijo. It should be noted that in a sentence like Yana/ jiile/ Omari/ zijo., where both the subject and object are post-verbal and phrasally separated from the verb, then both are out-of-focus, as the yes-no question shows: Yana/ jiile/ Omari/ zijó? ‘Did yesterday eat Omari zijo?’)
- yana masku ‘last night’
- Waawe/ mi/ mbene ndrootó/ yana masku. ‘My father, I had a dream last night.’
- Yana/ mun^hi mzima/ mi/ nfanyize kaazi. ‘Yesterday I worked the whole day.’
- ^fYana/ ndiyó/ nimpelo mukeewá/ Barká/ peesá. ‘Yesterday it is that I gave my wife Barka money.’
- Yana/ nk^hoðele na Nuuru. ‘Yesterday I spoke with Nuuru.’
- ^fYana/ nk^hoðeeló/ na Nuuru. ‘Yesterday I spoke with Nuuru.’ (It is important to note that the pseudo-relative verb is downstepped in contrast to a sentence like Yana/ nk^hoðeelé/ na Nuuru., where the phrasally separate non-relative verb is not downstepped.)
- Yana/ nk^hoðele na Nuuru. ‘(Yes) yesterday I spoke with Nuuru.’
- Yé/ enzelee ^fyana/ na mapeema/ sukhuuni. ‘He went yesterday early to the market.’ (The focus on IAV yana has the consequence that the following phrases are out-of-focus, as seen in the accent shift on them in the simple yes-no question: Yé/ enzelee ^fyana/ na mapeemá/ sukhuuní? In the emphatic question, accent shift also affects the focus phrase: Ye/ enzelee yaná/ na mapeemá/ sukhuuní!?).

rel.

yana masku adv. last night

Wazeelewa/ wa'ile/ yana masku. 'My parents arrived last night.' (Cf. the simple yes-no question: Wazeelewa/ wa'ile/ yana maskú?)

Wazeelewa/ wa'ile/ yana masku. [[↑]H!H!!H] 'My parents arrived last night.' (In this example, emphasis is placed on the subject by markedly raising the pitch. The verb is downstepped, while the time adverbial is radically downstepped.)

Yana masku/ wazeelewa/ wa'ile. [[↑]H!H!H] 'Last night my parents arrived.' (Emphasis on the time adverbial may be achieved by preposing it to initial position and raising its pitch markedly. In the presence of this raising, the subject is clearly lowered in pitch and the verb is downstepped.)

m-yaana (wa-)

n. 1/2 [etymology unknown] a female slave; female servant, maid

Chambiloowa/ taambula/ ni ump^hi/ myaana/ ni ump^hi/ mluungana. 'He was told: tell the difference (between the two), which one is the female slave and which one is the free-born.'

Mtukize myaana/ kumpelekela eelo. 'She sent a servant to take it to the gazelle.'

Mub^hji/ khkomake/ numbaani/ chiwavi^hla wayaana/ chiwa'ambila/ kondrola godoro. 'The husband, on his arrival home, called the female servants and told them to move the mattress.'

Myaana/ chimmink^hila eelo/ zint^hu zaa ye/ tukiizá. 'The servant handed over to the gazelle the things that she had brought.'

Suyú/ myaana/ waa mi/ khupeto balani/ khuleetelá. 'Here is the servant that I gave a promise to you to bring to you.'

Uje myaana/ takhsimama/ naayé/ kanaa nt^hupu/ takhtaanda/ takhtaanda/ isa/ itakiwoowa/ ni uyu/ ndiyé/ myaaná/ ni uyu/ mlangaaná. 'The lowborn girl will stand up while naked and insult and insult (the boys who were taunting the two girls bathing), and now it will be known that she is the lowborn one and the (other one) is the free-born one.'

Wayaana/ wachimpa mwanaamke/ khabari. 'The maids gave the daughter the news.'

Wayaaná/ wataaná/ wotte/ hulindro muundrá/ wotte/ walasile/ naami/ neenzelé/ njiilé/ mipuunga/ ki^hla chiint^hu. 'Female servants, male servants, all, who guarded the farm, departed, and I went and ate large quantities of rice, everything.' (This example is drawn from a text. We do not know why the first two nouns are pronounced with final accent, as none of our usual predictors for the occurrence of final accent come into play here. Putting focus on njiilé explains the failure of the final accent triggered by the first person verb to affect the complements. This is the effect of the Accentual Law of Focus.)

ma-yangaamba

n. [cf. Sw. nyang'amba "a kind of sweetmeat made of arrowroot" SSED 344] (as usual, in Brava the ingredients were different from the Swahili item) a type of food made of flour mixed with coconut oil and spices, rolled into small balls; Chimiini speakers apparently consider this noun to have a composite origin: mayi ya ngaamba

i-yaankuku (ma-)

n. 5/6 [cf. Sw. yai (ma-) SSED 533] egg; [pron. iyaank^huku] chinyi cha iyaank^huku 'yolk of an egg' (or: shtaandanu/ cha iyaank^huku 'yolk, lit. yellow of egg')

idhereeri/ ya iyaank^huku 'the white (lit. thick liquid) of an egg igugu ya iyaank^huku 'egg shell' iyaank^huku/ fuunto 'spoiled, not fresh egg' iyaank^huku/ ibokheeló 'a spoiled, rotten egg' iyaank^huku/ ipiya 'a fresh (lit. new) egg' kubiga iyaank^huku 'to mix, beat an egg' khpika iyaank^huku/ ka mafta 'to cook an egg with oil' kumiza iyaank^huku iwiti 'to swallow a raw egg' kuvunda iyaank^huku 'to break an egg'

Mayank^huku aya/ ni mapiya. [H!H] ‘These eggs are new.’
Mayank^huku aya/ (ni) masuura. [H!H] ‘These eggs are good.’
Mayank^huku aya/ (ni) masuraa nt^ho. [H!H] ‘These eggs are very good.’
Mayank^huku aya/ nt^hayakuwola. [H!H] ‘These eggs haven’t become rotten.’

Mayank^huku aya/ siwo/ mapiya. [H!H!H] ‘These eggs are not new.’

Mayank^huku aya/ yawozele. [H!H] ‘These eggs have become rotten.’ (A simple statement of the sort illustrated here regularly exhibits downstep intonation, i.e. there is a radical pitch drop on the PredP from the pitch peak on the initial PP. To the extent that there is some emphasis on the PredP, this downstep gives way to simple pitch declination.)

mayaank^huku/ mahuundru ‘reddish eggs’ mayaank^huku/ makulu ‘large eggs’

mayaank^huku/ melpe ‘white eggs’

Mayaank^huku/ nt^hayaako/ apa. ‘The eggs are not here.’ Or: Nt^hayaako/ apa/ mayaank^huku.

mayaank^hu/ ya ibiṭa ‘duck eggs’ mayaank^hu/ ya ndiwa ‘pigeon eggs’ mayaank^hu/ ya nk^haasa ‘turtle eggs’

Mayaank^huku/ yachisuḽowa khpikilowa Muusa. ‘Eggs were supposed to have been cooked for Muusa.’

Mayaank^huku/ yako apa. ‘The eggs are here.’ Or: Yako apa/ mayaank^huku.

Mayaank^huku/ yaakopi. ‘Where are the eggs?’ Or: Yaakopi/ mayaank^huku.

Mayaank^huku/ yawozeló/ ndaaká. [H!H!H] ‘The eggs which are rotten are mine.’

Mayaank^huku/ yawozeló/ ndaakó. [H!H!H] ‘The eggs which are rotten are yours.’

mayaank^huku/ zihaba ‘small eggs’ mkate wa mayaank^huku ‘egg cake’

Ndaaká/ mayank^huku yawozeló. [H!H] ‘(They are) mine, the eggs which have become rotten.’

Ndaakó/ mayank^huku yawozeló. [H!H] ‘(They are) yours, the eggs which have become rotten.’

Nk^huku/ kalanṭ^hilile mayaank^huku. ‘The hen sat on the eggs.’

rel.

chi-yaank^huku (zi-) n. 7/8 dim.

i-yaank^huku (mi-) n. 5/4 aug.

i-yaanzi

n. [Sw. ganzi “deadness, numbness, often used with the verb fa, die” SSED 112] variant form: i-laanzi

kufa iyaanzi ‘to be ‘asleep’, with reference to body parts being numb etc.’

yaqiini

n., adj. [Ar. yaqīn “certainty” W 1108 and yaqīnī “indisputable” W 1109] [usu. pron. yakhiini] certainty; adj. certain, sure

Baana/ nayo yakhiini/ kuwa Tuuma/ ile. ‘Baana is certain that Tuuma has arrived.’

Baana/ nt^haná/ yakhiini/ kuwa Tuuma/ ile. ‘Baana is not certain that Tuuma has arrived.’ Or: Baana/ nt^haná/ yakhiini/ kuwa ^fTuuma/ iló.

Baana/ nt^haná/ yakhiini/ kuwa Tuuma/ tu/ iló. ‘Baana is not certain that only Tuuma has come.’

Baana/ tu/ nayo yakhiini/ kuwa Tuuma/ ile. ‘Only Baana is certain that Tuuma has come.’

Baana/ tu/ nayo yakhiini/ kuwa ^fTuuma/ iló. ‘Only Baana is certain that Tuuma has come.’

khfanya yakhiini ‘make sure’

Fanya yakhiini/ we/ kuleta zilaatu/ saha/ naawe/ khpandriḽowa ibuuri.

‘Make sure you bring suitable shoes with you for climbing up the hill.’

khtinda yakhiini ‘to make sure, be sure, confirm’ kumera yakhiini ‘to seek certainty’

Mi/ nayo yakhiini/ kuwa Hasani/ takichisaayda. ‘I am certain that Hasani will help us.’

Mi/ nayo yakhiini/ kuwa Tuuma/ ile. ‘I am certain that Tuuma has arrived.’ Or:

Mi/ nayo yakhiini/ kuwa Tuuma/ iló.

Mi/ skuwanaayo/ yakhiini/ want^huu kamu/ wo/ wawaliko apó. ‘I was not sure how many people were there.’ Or: Mi/ skuwanaayo/ yakhiini/ want^huu kamu/ wo/ wawaalikó/ apo.

Muunt^hu/ chila/ na chiyuuti/ chiza kuusa/ kiwa yakhiini. ‘The man cried and regretted not taking the time to know the truth.’

Nakhtóshá/ kuwa Nuuru/ oloshole muskitiini/ laakini/ siisi/ yakhiini. ‘I think that Nuuru went to the mosque but I do not know for sure.’ Or: Laakini/ sinaayo/ yakhiini. ‘I am not certain.’

Nii dhibu/ kiwowa yakhiini. ‘It’s difficult to be sure.’

Nt^haku/ muunt^hu/ nayo yakhiini/ khtówa kaaziyé. ‘No one is safe from losing his job.’

Nt^haku/ na’iwo ka yakhiini. ‘There is no one who knows for sure.’

Siná/ yakhiini. ‘I am not sure.’

Sinaayo/ yakhiini. ‘I am not certain.’

takuhijo jima mpeni yakhiini thawabuze kama hija sab’iini [st.] ‘the one who performs the pilgrimage on Friday, give him assurance that his reward is as though he performed the pilgrimage seventy times’

yakhiini ‘something sure, certain, confirmed’

Nayo yakhiini. ‘I am certain.’

yakhiini/ kamba kufa or: kanaa kufa ‘as sure, certain as dying’

Sheekhi/ hadilee mi/ nayo yakhiini/ kana/ kufa/ kuwa Omari/ keesho/ takuuya/ ka Mkhodiisho. ‘Sheekhi said that he has/is certain as death that Omari will tomorrow come back from Mogadisho.’ (It is also possible to have: hadiile/ mi/. This sentence provides an example of direct speech: mi/ nayo yakhiini is a first person form. The gloss thus is properly: ‘Sheekhi said: I am as certain as death that Omari will come back tomorrow from Mogadisho’.)

ku-yaqinisha

v. [Sw. yakinisha SSED 533; Ar. yaqina W 1108] ascertain; be certain Yakhinisha/ we/ kuleta zilaatu/ saha/ naawe/ khpandriLOWA ibuuri. ‘Make sure you bring suitable shoes with you for climbing up the hill.’

Ye/ chiyaqinisha/ kuwa hayaatiye/ ikomele apo/ ye/ basi/ naakufa. ‘He was certain that his life had come to an end there; he was just going to die.’

rel.

ku-yaqinoowa v. pass.

kufa inayaqinoowa [st.] ‘and death is a certainty’

yaaquuti

n. [Sw. yakuti "sapphire, ruby" SSED 533; Ar. yāqūt W 1105] any red gemstone yaardi

n. 9/10 yard

me five yards of cloth).’

Nt^hindilaa nguwo/ yardi nt^haano. ‘Cut for me five yards of cloth (i.e. sell yaasini of the Koran)

n. [from Ar. letters ya’, Wehr p. 1104, and sin, Wehr p. 448, which open this chapter

yasiiri

adj. [Ar. yasīr W 1107] easy, short

yasmiini

[Ar. yasmin W 1108, and yasamin W1105]

yaṭiima

n. [Sw. yaṭima SSED 534; Ar. yatim “orphan” W 1105] a child who has lost one of his parents in death

Isa/ fiile/ naami/ nakuwakorsha waaná/ yaṭiimá. ‘Now he is dead and I am raising the children as orphans.’

ndiye shpeendo yaṭiima na araamila [st.] ‘it is he [Mohammad] who loved orphans and widows’

ku-yaawata

v. [Som. yaab DSI 643] (yaweete) be surprised, amazed

Hamadi/ nakubiga mooyo/ ṭamyaawata. ‘Hamadi is yawning too much (lit. you will be amazed at him).’

Omari/ Huseeni/ kuuya/ yaweete. ‘Omari, Huseeni to come, was surprised.’ (In this example, the complement clause: NP+infinitive, is preposed to position between the subject Omari and the verb yaweete. The simple yes-no question version of this involves no accent-shift. The exclamatory one shifts the accent in the final phrase: Omari/ Huseeni/ kuuya/ yaweete!?)

Omari/ kuya Huseeni/ yaweete. ‘Omari, Huseeni to come, was surprised.’ (Notice that the subject of the complement clause can be postposed after the infinitive verb and be joined in a phrase with it. Phrasal separation is also possible: Omari/ kuuya/ Huseeni/ yaweete. Our elicitation concentrated, however, on the first example. The simple yes-no question corresponding to it shows no accent-shift. The exclamatory question, on the other hand, shifts the accent in the last two phrases: Omari/ kuya Huseeni/ yaweete!?)

Omari/ yaweete Huseeni/ kuuya. ‘Omari was surprised that Huseeni came.’ Or, with verb focus: Omari/ yaweete/ Huseeni/ kuuya. (The simple yes-no question version of the first example is not comparable to the case where the verb is wrapped together with the first of two complements. Rather, one finds accent-shift in the last two phrases: Omari/ yaweete Huseeni/ kuuyá. ‘Was Omari surprised that Huseeni came?’ The exclamatory yes-no question shows both accent shifts as well, but this would be true even in a verb complement/ complement structure: Omari/ yaweete Huseeni/ kuuyá!? ‘Omari was surprised that Omari came!?’ In the example above where there is verb focus, there is accent-shift in both of the post-verbal phrases: Omari/ yaweete/ Huseeni/ kuuyá? Of course, this would also be the case in a verb complement/ complement structure.)

Omari/ yaweete/ mukhta Fardoosa/ uzilo faṭura iyó. [HHH!H] ‘Omari was surprised when Fardoosa bought that car.’ (In an example like this one, the subject of the mukhta-clause may be somewhat declined with respect to the preceding phrase. If there is some emphasis on that subject, then this declination is absent. In any case, the following phrase uzilo faṭura iyo is downstepped.)

Omari/ yaweete/ mukhta Fardoosa/ uziló/ gari iyo. [HHHH!H] ‘Omari was surprised when Fardoosa bought that car.’ (Note that in the mukhta-clause, when the verb is emphasized, the Accentual Law of Focus kicks in and blocks the projection of final accent to the complement gari iyo.)

Uje mwaarabu/ chiyaawata/ nt^ho/ ka khisani/ uyu/ kuhada/ mwanaamkewe/ nabigowa ndruti khamsiini/ zaydi. ‘That Arab wondered very much why this one (would) say his daughter should be beaten fifty blows more.’

Waana/ awa/ wayaweete. ‘These boys were amazed.’

Wanakuyaawata/ awo. ‘They are amazed, those ones.’

rel.

ku-yawatisha v. caus. (yawatishiize) surprise review whether this form is correct

Nuru/ kuraaga/ imyawatishize Omari. ‘For Nuru to delay surprised Omari.’

ku-yaawisha v. caus. surprise; [pron. kuyaawisha or kuyaabisha]

Iwayawishize kuwa Hamadi/ tu/ mbishilo Nuuru. ‘It surprised them that only Hamadi hit Nuuru.’ Or: Iwayawishiize/ kuwa Hamadi/ tu/ mbishilo Nuuru. (Note that focus in the complement cannot trigger pseudo-relativization of the main verb to the left:

Iwayawishiizó) kuwa Hamadi/ tu/ mbishilo Nuuru.

Kuwa Hamadi/ mbishile Nuuru/ in.yawishiize. ‘That Hamadi hit Nuuru surprised me.’

Kuwa Hamadi/ mbishile Nuuru/ tu/ in.yawishiizó. ‘That Hamadi hit only Nuuru surprised me.’

Kuwa Hamadi/ pisile imtihaani/ inyawishiize. ‘That Hamadi passed the examination surprised me.’ (We did not hear the first person singular OM in GM’s pronunciation of this sentence. This point needs further examination.)

Kuwa Hamadi/ tu/ mbishilo Nuurú/ iwayawishiize (or: iwayawishiizó). ‘That only Hamadi hit Nuuru surprised them.’

Kuuyake/ inyawishiize. ‘His coming, arrival surprised me.’

Nuuru/ kumbigake/ mwaana/ imyawishize Omari. ‘Nuuru’s hitting the child surprised Omari.’ Or: Nuuru/ kumbigake/ mwaana/ imyawishiize/ Omari.

Nuuru/ kumbigake/ mwaana/ tu/ imyawishizo Omari (or: imyawishize Omari). ‘Nuuru his hitting only the child surprised Omari.’

Nuuru/ kuraagake/ imyawashize Omari. ‘Nuuru’s delaying surprised Omari.’

Nuuru/ tu/ kuraagake/ imyawishizo Omari. ‘Only Nuuru’s being late surprised Omari.’ (Although generally it is optional for a focused element in the initial sentence complement to pseudo-relativize a following main verb, in this example our consultant liked pseudo-relativization better than its absence. He judged the following sentence to be acceptable, but not very “sweet”: Nuuru/ tu/ kuraagake/ imyawishize Omari.)

yaaya

n. (my) aunt; [pron. yaayá]

Si/ shkorsheza na yaya yitú. ‘We have been raised by our aunt.’

yaayá/ ka baaba ‘my paternal aunt’ yaayá/ ka maama ‘my maternal aunt’

rel.

yaayaza n. pl. my aunts

yaaye n. his/ her aunt; [pron. yaayé]

Oyo yaayé/ hamkhiiriji. ‘That aunt [step-mother, in the story] does not allow her [to go out, talk with friends, etc.]’

Uje yaayé/ chiwa’ambila/ ondrokaani/ ondrokaani. ‘That step-mother [lit. aunt] told them: get away! get away!’

Waawaye/ chileta chiint^hu/ yaayé/ huwapa want^hu wiingine. ‘When her father brings something, her step-mother [lit. aunt] gives it to other people.’

Yaayé/ mkorsheezó/ ilopo numbaani/ chimwona mwanaamke/ kalent^he chilijini. ‘When his aunt who had raised him came home, she saw a girl sitting on the bed.’

yaaya

[no etymological source identified] just the same

Bakyle/ chiya/ chibiga hoodi/ majiibu/ nt^hanakhpata/ chibiga teena/ hoodi/ ni yaaya/ tu/ nt^haku/ majiibu. ‘The hare came and asked permission to enter, [but] he got no answer; he asked permission again, it’s just the same, there is no answer.’

Naank^hó/ sku ya piili/ ni yaaya/ ragiilé. ‘Again, the next day (lit. the second day) it is just the same, you delayed.’

Nt^haku/ chiint^hu/ husalo yaayá. ‘Nothing remains the same.’

Sultaani/ shtuma askari/ wiingine/ naank^hó/ mwaana/ ni yaaya/ tu/ chiwa’egesha/ chiwapa zaakuja/ wachija. ‘The sultan sent other soldiers, but the boy, it’s just the same, welcomed them and gave them food and they ate.’

yaaya/ aya

[cl.4] emphatic demonstrative (This form of the emphatic demonstrative was offered to us by MI. GM accepts this, but also gave yaayo/ aya. Yet other speakers use yooyo/ aya.)

	miti yaaya/aya ‘the trees themselves’
yaaya/ aya	[cl.6] emphatic demonstrative yaaya/ mafundo aya ‘these knots themselves’
yaaya/ ayo	[cl.6] emphatic demonstrative yaaya/ mafundo ayo ‘those knots themselves’
yaayaje	[cl.4] demon. yaayaje/ ayaje ‘those same ones’
yaayaje	[cl.6] demon. yaayaje/ ayaje ‘those same ones’
yaayi	interrog. [Perhaps to be derived from the verb root ya ‘go’ and the enclitic yi ‘how?’] how come? why not? -- an exclamatory interrogative word used to call attention and introduce a question that is disapproving
	Mboni/ yaayi/ lasilé/ we/ kichibarsha/ tarafu ya mwajituwo. ‘So why did you abandon teaching us about your God.’
	Uje muḃjaana/ chimwaambila/ mboni/ yaayi/ mweenza/ mdura mukeewo/ kaa chisu. ‘That young man said to him: I see, how come, friend, you pierce your wife with a knife?’
	Yaayi/ awaje waḃjaana/ humwaambiló ka khisani/ mdura mukeewo/ ka chisu. ‘How come? is what those young men were saying him. Why did you prick your wife with a knife?’
	Yaayi/ we/ chivunda chuluungucho/ cha kaandra/ cha piili/ hashtakhkalaant^ha. ‘How come? if you demolish your first storey (of the house), the second one will not stay standing.’
	Yaayi/ mbona/ we/ kamura eelo/ khpikilowa mataza ya mhuundru. ‘How come you order that gruel be cooked for the gazelle?’
	Yaayi/ mboni/ we/ nakhsasá. ‘How come you are losing weight?’
	Yaayi/ we/ huchaminili/ so/ we/ muna yitú. ‘How come you do not trust us (with him) our younger brother?’
yaayo	demon. [cl.4] yaayo/ ayo ‘the same ones’ miti yaayo/ ayo ‘those very same trees’ yaayo/ ka ayo ‘the very same ones’ mifaano/ yaayo/ ka ayo ‘the very same examples, over and over’
yaayo	[cl.6] strong demonstrative Masku yaayo/ zaakuja/ schipikiloowa. ‘That same night, foods [of different kinds] were cooked.’
yaayo	[cl.9] strong demonstrative Chiwapa kuja yaayo. ‘She gave them their food.’ Mbene Hamadi/ gari yaayo/ uziló. ‘I saw that car that Hamadi bought.’
yaayo/ aya yaaya/ aya.	[cl.4] emphatic demonstrative (This form was offered by GM, whereas MI gave only yooyo/ aya .) Other speakers give yooyo/ aya .)
yaayo/ ayo	[cl.4] emphatic demonstrative miti yaayo/ ayo ‘those very same trees’
yaayo/ ayaje	[cl.6] emphatic demonstrative yaayo/ mafundo ayaje ‘those knots themselves’

yaayo/ ayo

[cl.6] emphatic demonstrative

Muḅleḅe mwaana/ chimaliza/ muḅleḅe muunt^hu/ mzima/ na sulṭaani/ majiibuye/ yachiwa ni yaayo/ ayo. ‘He [i.e. the lion] killed a child and then he killed an adult and the sultan’s answer was always the same one.’ (Phon. Observe that the final accent triggered by the conjunction na extends only as far as sulṭaani and does not extend onto majiibuye.)

ye

[cl.1] independent pronoun

Basi/ ye/ chishkila/ chendra muyiini. ‘So he disembarked and went into town.’

chibuku chaa ye/ mwaana/ uziló ‘the book that he, the boy, bought’ (Note in this relative clause construction that the [cl.1] independent pronoun is followed by the full noun phrase to which it refers. That noun phrase is phrasally separated from the relative verb, apparently because it is functioning as the subject of the relative verb but not the head of the relative clause. This construction also occurs with the [cl.2] pronoun wo but not with other pronouns. It must be pointed out that the following subject must be a full noun phrase. It cannot be itself the independent pronoun: chibuku chaa ye/ ye/ uziló, only chibuku chaa ye/ uziló ‘the book that he bought’. Because of this constraint, pronouns that do not have a full NP to which they can refer, may not appear in this construction: chibuku chaa mi/ mi/ nuziló, only chibuku chaa mi/ nuziló ‘the book that I bought’. One last point: we did record the possibility of the full NP being right-dislocated: Chibuku chaa ye/ uziló/ mwaana/ chibeele. ‘The book that he bought, the boy, is lost.’ Interestingly, the mwaana is outside the scope of the final accent of the relative verb. This example requires further research.)

Mi/ namuuzá/ ye. ‘I am selling it (e.g. mbwa ‘dog’).

Ye/ chi’iisha/ karka kheeri/ ye/ na mukeewé. ‘He lived in blessing, he and his wife.’

Ye/ chihada/ kuwa washkhaadira/ kumuḅla/ dughaaghi. ‘He said that they were able to kill the beast.’

Ye/ humpeenda/ ye/ nt^ho. ‘He likes him a lot.’

Ye/ ni mbwa wa naani. ‘Whose dog is it?’ (Observe the use of the [cl.1] independent pronoun to refer to the animate [cl.9] noun mbwa.)

Ye/ shfunga safari/ ye/ na mukeewé. ‘He set out on a journey, he and his wife.’

ku-yela

v. [Sw. yaa SED 146] (yeele) be full

Ba’adaa ye/ khtomoloowa/ ka ikholaani/ waant^hu/ awo/ wamrashiizó/ wachiwona/ mbele yaawo/ ijuumba/ ikulu/ iyelo waant^hu/ wanaashke/ na wanawabli. ‘After she was taken out of the mat-bag, those people who had accompanied her saw in front of them a big house that was full of people, women and men.’

Ikoopa/ iyeele. ‘The glass is full.’

ikopa yaa mi/ njezezo maayi ‘the glass that I filled with water’

Jahazi/ ichanza kuyela maayi/ ka ilu mayi yaa nvula/ na ka nt^hiini/ (mayi) ya tawala. ‘The boat began to fill up with water: rainwater from above and seawater from below.’

mayi yaa mi/ njezezo ikoopá ‘the water that I filled the glass with’ (the hardening of the stem-initial y may not be obligatory)

Maayi/ yan.yelee kana. ‘My mouth is filled with water [lit. water fills me the mouth].’ (Phon. The example yan.yelee kana represents one of the situations where our orthography is problematic if one does not know the morphemic structure of the word. Specifically, we use the sequence ny generally to stand for the alveopalatal nasal that appears in a word like faanya ‘do!’. In the present example, we have a verb whose morphological makeup is as follows: ya (indicates the noun class of the subject) followed by n (which indicates a first person singular object) followed by the perfect stem -yeele (which undergoes some quantity adjustments due to its position in the phonological phrase). The sequence n+y here is not pronounced as a single nasal consonant, but rather as a sequence of n followed by y. We have placed a dot between the n and the y to make this point clear.)

Maayi/ yayelee/ wowiini. ‘Water filled the river.’
Mooyowe/ uchiyela furaha. ‘Her heart filled with joy.’
Mtaana/ uyele waant^hu. ‘The room was filled with people.’
Muuyi/ uyele waant^hu. ‘The town was filled with people.’
Numba/ iyele waant^hu. ‘The house was filled with people.’ Also:
Waant^hu/ wayele numba. ‘People filled the house.’
Ruuhuya/ iyele huzuni. ‘My soul is filled with grief.’
Shpiipa/ chiyelee. ‘The tin is full.’
Sultaani/ ruuhuye/ ichiyela furaha. ‘Happiness filled the sultan’s soul.’
Tawala/ ichiyela/ hufuma. ‘If the sea is at high tide, it ebbs.’ (A proverb.)
Tawala/ maayi/ yayelee. ‘The seat water is at high tide.’
Uwaliko mooro/ uyelo farasi. ‘There was a yard full of horses.’
Waant^hu/ wayele muuyi. ‘People filled the town.’
Waant^hu/ wayele numba. ‘People filled the house.’ Also possible:
Waant^hu/ wayele numbaani. Or: Wayele waant^hu/ numbaani.
Or: Numbaani/ wayele waant^hu.
Wowi iyi/ iyele maayi/ yana. ‘This river filled up with water yesterday.’
Wowi iyi/ nt^haykuyela/ maayi/ yana. ‘This river did not swell up with water yesterday.’ (Cf. other negative tenses: Wowi iyi/haytakuyela/ maayi/ keesho. ‘Thus river will not swell up with water tomorrow.’ Wowi iyi/ nt^haynakuyela/ maayi/ isa. ‘This river is not swelling up with water now.’) Ye/ ni mwaalimu/ msuura/ ka jis’iyo/ darsize zont^he/ ziyeele. ‘She is a good lecturer, so that all her courses are full.’
Yele mashuungi/ male/ malusi. ‘She has long black hair.’
Yele mashuungi/ male/ nt^ho/ malusi. ‘She has very long black hair.’
Yele muunt^hu/ chigobe/ nt^ho/ nyulusi. ‘He is a very short black man.’
Yele muunt^hu / chigobe/ nyulusi. ‘He is a short black man.’

rel.

ku-ye[lo]owa v. pass. [Sw. jawa] (i-ye[e]a) Muuyi/ uyele na waant^hu. ‘The town was filled with people (lit. by people).’

Numba/ iyela na waant^hu. ‘The house was filled with people.’

ku-yeleza v. caus. appl. (yeleeze) fill for, with ikopa yaa mi/ nimyelezo Nuuru ‘the glass that I filled for Nuuru’ mayi yaa mi/ nimyelezo Nuuru/ ikoopá ‘the water that I filled the glass with for Nuuru’

Mi/ takhuyeleza maazi/ mi/ takhuyelezó/ ya ngoombe. ‘I will fill it up for you with the blood, that’s what I will fill up for you, of a cow.’

Myeleze ikoopá/ maayi. ‘He filled a glass with water for him.’

Nimyeleze Nuuru/ ikoopá/ maayi. ‘I filled the glass with water for Nuuru.’

ku-yelezoowa v. caus. appl. pass. (yeleeza)

Yelega ikoopá/ maayi. ‘He was filled for a glass with water.’

ku-yeza v. caus. [Sw. jaza SED 147] (yezeze) fill Chiyeza uki/ zombo zaa ye/ peelá. ‘He filled honey into the pots, into the vessels that he was given.’

kuyezaa sa’a [cf. Sw. kujaza saa SED 147] ‘to wind a watch’ mayi yaa mi/ njezezo i

Mwaana/ shkalaant^ha/ chija zaakuja/ zaa ye/ leeseló/ chiyeza miimba.

‘The boy sat down and ate the food that he had brought and he filled his stomach.’

njeze ‘that I fill’ (Note that the stem-initial y hardens to j after the first person subject marker. This hardening does not occur in the case of the second person plural SM: nyeze ‘that you (pl.) fill’.)

Njezeze ikoopá. ‘I filled the glass.’

Yezeze ikoopá/ maayi. ‘He filled the glass with water.’

ku-yezany(an)a v. caus. rec. (-yezeenye, -yezanyeene) kuyezany(an)a mtaanga ‘to throw sand at one another’ ku-yezany(an)oowa v. caus. rec. pass. (i-yezeenya, i-yezanyeena) ku-yezeka v. caus. p/s. (-yezeshela) be capable of being filled ku-yezoowa v. caus. pass. (yezeza)

Ikoopa/ iyezeza maayi. ‘The glass was filled with water (by someone).’

Makoopa/ yayezeza naami. ‘The glasses were filled by me.’

Wadaamu/ ziyezeza maayi. [H!H] ‘The buckets were filled.’

Wadaamu/ ziyezeza maayi/ na mwanaamke. ‘The buckets were filled with water by the girl.’

Ziyezeza maayi/ ni wadaamu. [H'H] ‘What was filled with water was the bucket.’

-yelo

adj.

mayi mayelo ‘water at high tide’

i-yeembe (ma-)

n. 5/6 [Sw. jembe SSED 152] hoe can j be used instead of y?

iyembe ya kulimila ‘a hoe for ploughing’ khumba ka iyeembe ‘to dig with a hoe’ kulima ka iyeembe ‘to plough with a hoe’

Mtala iyeembe/ si mlima muundra. ‘The one who chooses a hoe is not a farmer.’ (A proverb.)

Omari/ tunzile iboholi/ ka iyeembe. ‘Omari dug a hole with a hoe.’

Shtala iyeembe/ yaa ye/ holokelo khfanyiliza kaazi/ chimbigila dul’eda/ chimu~~h~~lela. ‘He took the hoe that he uses to go and work with and used it to hit the fox and killed him with it.’

rel.

chi-yeembe (zi-) n. 7/8 dim.

yeeye

[cl.1] strong demonstrative

Ndriimu/ zila~~h~~lapó/ schimbiga yeeye/ khaadimu. ‘The lemons, when they were thrown, struck that very same servant.’

Omari/ yeeye/ iizó. ‘Omari himself refused.’ (Phon. This is an alternative word order to the sentence cited below. Focus is on yeeye, which causes its pitch to be raised and the verb to be shift to pseudo-relative form. The simple yes-no question does not involve any accent shift, whereas the exclamatory version does: Omari/ yeeyé/ iizó!? The shift in the case of the final phrase is of course vacuous, since the accent is already final due to pseudo-relativization. The strong falling quality of the last vowel and the downstep intonation are a tell-tale reflection of the fact that this is an exclamatory yes-no question.) (Syn. Word order is very free in Chimiini, so one may also have lizó/ yeeye/ Omari. and lizó/ Omari/ yeeye. In both cases there is focus on yeeye and its pitch is raised. The yes-no question versions of these sentences are interesting. Consider the example where yeeye precedes Omari. The simple yes-no question reveals that Omari is out-of-focus: lizó/ yeeye/ Omari? We see here that Omari has shifted its accent to the final syllable. This reflects the fact that in the statement yeeye is focused and there is a clear drop in pitch on the following element, which we claim is out-of-focus. In the exclamatory question, accent shift affects phrases in the VP whether focused or out-of-focus: Iizó/ yeeyé/ Omari!? Now consider the case where Omari precedes yeeye. In the simple yes-no question, there is no accent shift anywhere: lizó/ Omari/ yeeye? Apparently a phrase is out-of-focus just when it follows the focused element. The emphatic yes-no question of course affects all VP elements: lizó/ Omari/ yeeyé!?)

Wambishile Omari/ yeeye. ‘They beat Omari himself.’ (Prosody: The pronoun yeeye is raised in pitch. In the simple yes-no question, there is no accent shift. The exclamatory question shifts accent in both phrases: Wambishile Omari/ yeeyé!?)

Wambishile yeeye/ Omari. ‘They beat Omari himself.’ (Prosody: The pronoun yeeye is focused and pronounced with a high pitch, while the out-of-focus Omari shows a clear drop in pitch. In the simple yes-no question, Omari shifts its accent: Wambishile yeeye/ Omari? In the exclamatory question, yeeye also shifts its accent: Wambishile yeeyé/ Omari!?)

Waant^hu/ wachi~~h~~la~~h~~ta teena/ naank^hó/ mara ya isa/ ndriimu/ zimbishile yeeye/ khaadimu. ‘The people then began to throw [the lemons], again this time the lemons struck the servant.’

Yeeye/ hadiiló. ‘This one spoke.’ (Usage: If one says Yeeye/ uyu/ hadiiló., the person referred to is present. If one just uses yeeye, the person may be present, but is not necessarily so.)

Yeeye/ Omari/ iizó. ‘Omari himself refused.’ (Phon. Notice that yeeye is focused in this example, which accounts for the fact that it is raised in pitch and triggers pseudo-relativization of the verb. Our simplified orthography in this book does not usually mark the raising that accompanies focus. In the yes-no question versions of this sentence, there is accent shift on Omari; this would seem to be due to the fact that there in the statement there is a pitch drop on Omari, indicating its out-of-focus nature, in position after the focused yeeye. Both non-initial phrases undergo shift in the exclamatory question, though the shift is vacuous in the final phrase: Yeeye/ Omari/ iizô!?)

yeeye/ oyo

[cl.1], second position, emphatic demonstrative mana yeeye/ oyo ‘that very same boy’

yeeye/ Omari/ oyo ‘that Omari himself’ review this Yeeye/ oyo/ Omari/ hadiiló. ‘That Omari himself spoke.’ (Prosody: In the simple yes/no question we did not clearly observe accent shift, but in the exclamatory question, it was clearly present except for the initial word: Yeeye/ oyó/ Omari/ hadiiló!?)

yeeye/ uje

[cl.1], third position, emphatic demonstrative

Ni mwaalimu/ yeeye/ uje/ takinsoomeshó. ‘It is that same teacher who will teach you (pl).’

Yeeye/ uje/ maana/ hadiiló. ‘That child himself spoke.’

yeeye/ uyu

[cl.1], first position, emphatic demonstrative mwana yeeye/ uyu ‘this very same boy’

Omari/ yeeye/ uyu/ hadiiló. ‘This Omari himself spoke.’

Wambishile Omari/ yeeye/ uyu. ‘They hit Omari himself.’ (Prosody: Focus is on yeeye. In the simple yes-no question, there is no shift in accent. In the exclamatory question, all phrases undergo accent shift: Wambishile Omari/ yeeyé/ uyú!?)

Wambishile yeeye/ uyu. ‘They hit that one himself.’ (Prosody: The pronoun yeeye is focused and thus raised in pitch. The simple yes-no question offered did not involve accent shift: Wambishile yeeye/ uyu? Of course, the exclamatory question shows the usual shifts: Wambishile yeeyé/ uyú!?)

Wambishile yeeye/ uyu/ Omari. ‘They hit Omari himself.’ (Prosody: The pronoun yeeye is focused. In the simple yes-no question, both uyu and Omari undergo accent shift: Wambishile yeeye/ uyú/ Omari? Of course, in the exclamatory question, yeeye also shifts its accent: Wambishile yeeyé/ uyú/ Omari!?)

Yeeye/ uyu/ hadiiló. ‘This one right here spoke.’ Or: Hadiiló/ yeeye/ uyu.

Phon. Interestingly, in the yes-no questions based on the first sentence, we observed accent shift on uyu in both the simple and the exclamatory questions: Yeeye/ uyú/ hadiiló? and Yeeye/ uyú/ hadiiló!? Accent on the focused element yeeye was a bit difficult to determine, but there was no clear accent shift. The shift on uyu in the simple yes-no question likely reflects its out-of-focus status compared to the preceding focused yeeye. In the case of the second sentence, where hadiiló is in initial position, the simple yes-no question shifts the accent on the out-of-focus uyu: Hadiiló/ yeeye/ uyú? Of course, the exclamatory question shifts accent on all the VP phrases: Hadiiló/ yeeyé/ uyú!?)

yeeye/ uyuje

[cl.1], third position, emphatic demonstrative (this form used by MI, but we also recorded yeeye/ uje from MI) mwana yeeye/ uyuje ‘that very same bouy (away from us)’

yeeyo/ uje

[cl.1] third position, emphatic pronoun (alternative to yeeye/ uje)

yi-

[cl. 9] subject prefix; [morphophonemic variants: yi-, i-, yV-] ngoombe/ kaayifá ‘if the cow were to die’

yi-

[cl.9] object marker; [morphophonemic variants: yi-, i-, yV-] Fardoosa/ pishile mkate/ laakini/ ye/ nt^hakijija. ‘Fardoosa baked (lit. cooked) a cake but did not eat it.’ (Note the possibility of using the [cl.9] object marker to refer back to mkate, a [cl.3] nominal. Also note that the [cl.9] object marker has the shape yi in front of a CV root.)

=yi

encl. how? (This enclitic places the verb in phrase-final position. It also lengthens the vowel in front of it.)

Abubakari/ ileeyi/ Miini. ‘How did Abubakari come to Brava?’ A possible answer: Abubakari/ ile ka fatuura/ Miini. ‘Abubakari came by car to Brava.’ This statement differs from the ‘all new statement: Abubakari/ ile Miini/ ka fatuura. ‘Abubakari came to Brava by car.’

Ali/ kila/ waanthu/ wachimuuza/ fanyizeeyi/ maaliye/ chiwajiiba/ ha’isi/ ma’anayé/ ha’ambiloowi. ‘Ali, whenever people asked him how he lost his money, answered them: the one who does not know its meaning/ reason is not told.’

Andishileeyi. ‘How did he write it?’

Baaba/ chimwaambila/ nfanyeeyi. ‘Father asked, how shall I do it?’

Chineema/ chiwalikooyi. ‘How was the movie?’

Fanyizeeyi. ‘How did he do it?’ Cf. Fanyizeeyi. ‘How did you do it?’ (These two examples illustrate that the enclitic =yi does not, on its own, trigger final accent. While =yi focuses on the verb and thus requires the verb to be phrase-final, the accent is final only if the verb is a final-accent trigger. Note that fanyizeeyi can be used to mean ‘what’ as well as ‘why’. For example, Fanyizeeyi/ fatuura. ‘What did you do to the car?’ is similar in meaning to Fanyiizeni/ fatuura. A possible answer to both these questions: Mp^hashile ranji. ‘I painted (it).’

Isa/ mi/ nfanyeeyi/ siná/ uso/ waa mi/ keendra/ kumkomela Jeelaani. ‘Now, what shall I do? I have no ‘face’ with which to go to Jeelaani.’

Ishkizizeeyi. ‘How did he lower it?’

Iwileeyi/ kuwa sandukhuuni/ yimoo nzi. ‘How did he know that in the box there was a fly?’

Leleeyi. ‘How did he sleep?’

Mi/ takhpataayi/ chakujaaka (=chakujaacha). ‘I, how shall I get my food?’ (Observe the absence of first person subject marking on the future tense verb in this example from GM.)

Nakhfanyaayi/ keendra. ‘What is the good of your going (the speaker is against this idea)?’

Nakuhadaayi. ‘What do you say [lit. how do you say]?’

Nayooyi/ we. ‘How do you see it? What do you think about it?’

Nfanyeeyi. ‘How shall I do it?’

Npishileeyi. ‘How did you (pl.) cook?’

Ni mwaana/ isa/ chimfanyeeyi. ‘It is a child, now what shall we do with him?’

Ntakulawaayi. ‘How will you (all) travel?’

Oloshleeyi. ‘How did he go?’ Cf. Oloshleeyi. ‘How did you go?’

Pakileeyi. ‘How did he load it?’

Panzileeyi. ‘How did you climb up?’

Siisi/ Baana/ oloshleeyi/ Mkhodiisho. ‘I do not know how Baana went to Mogadishu.’

Takashaayi. ‘How will he light it?’

Takendraayi. ‘How will you go?’

Takulaayi. ‘How will he buy it?’

Tinzileeyi. ‘How did you cut it?’

Tinzileeyi/ nama. ‘How did you cut the meat?’

Tukileeyi/ ijuuniya. ‘How did you carry the bag?’

Teteeyi. ‘How did he take it?’ Cf. Nteteeyi. ‘How did you (pl.) take it?’

Uzileeyi/ gaari. ‘How did you buy a car?’

Wajileeyi. ‘How did they eat?’

Wanayooyi/ we. ‘What did you think about it?’

Watukileeyi. ‘How did they carry it?’ Cf. Tukileeyi. ‘How did you carry it?’ Ntukileeyi. ‘How did you (pl.) carry it?’

Waawé/ we/ nakhfanyaayi/ kuna khamri. ‘My father, why are you drinking liquor?'

chi-yi

n. 7/8 post to which an animal is tied, usu. found in the yard behind the house

muu-yi (mii-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mji (miji) SSED 282] town (The stem /yi/ has the property of lengthening the preceding vowel in the prefix. This lengthening precludes the [cl.1] prefix from undergoing vowel deletion, unlike in the Swahili cognate)

Chingila muiyini/ chimera ndilaa nk^hulu/ ya muuyi. 'He entered the town and looked for the main road of the town.'

kharibu ya miyi 'near the towns'

Khariibu/ ya muuyi/ uyu/ uwaliko muuyi/ mwiingine. 'Near this town was another town.'

khtila muiyini '[lit. to put in town] to circulate news, information, etc.';

also: khtilila muiyini (applied)

Ali/ mtilile Omari/ muiyini/ poropoganda/ kuwaa ye/ ni mwiizi. 'Ali circulated on Omari the charge (lit. propaganda) that he is a thief.'

Ali/ tile muiyini/ nzimaye/ kooði/ za wanaafakhi. 'Ali circulated widely throughout the town lies.'

Wakulu wa muuyi/ wachimasiirata/ washtila muiyini/ ya kuwa mwanaamke/ wa sul^taani/ pozele ka nasiibu/ tu/ siwo/ ka khisa kuwaa dawa/ za Abdalla/ mpeeló. 'The chiefs of the town became jealous and [lit.] put in the town that the daughter of the sultan had gotten well just by chance, not because of the medicine that Abdalla had given her.'

Maama/ oloshela muiyini/ pamo na mwaanawe. 'Mother went to town with her child.'

Muuyi/ unaku'amirika. 'The town is growing.'

Muyi wa maama/ oloshelo na mwaanawé/ ni Mkhodiisho. 'The town that mother went to with her child is Mogadishu.'

Mwiini/ iweele/ ni muuyi/ wa wazele/ na waaná/ tu. 'Brava has become a town of old people and children only.'

Mwiini/ ni muuyi/ chihaba. 'Brava is a small town.'

N^takuwona/ muuyi/ wo wotte. 'He did not see any town'

Ori wa mundraani/ hawiiki/ muiyini. 'A farm rooster does not crow in town.' (A proverb.)

Si/ shfilatiliilé/ Nuuru/ ku^lawa muiyini. 'We expected Nuuru to leave town.'

Si/ shtakuwona miyi miingine/ miingi. 'We will see many other towns.'

Sku mooyi/ chilawa/ chingila muiyini. 'One day he came out [of his house] and went into town.'

Wakomelopo muiyini/ Hasiibu/ shfaanya/ jisa mweenzawe/ sul^tani waa noka/ mwambiiló. 'When they reached the town, Hasiibu did just as his friend, the king of snakes, told him to do.'

waant^hu wa'enzele Kenya walasiile muuyi waawo [nt.] '[some] people went to Kenya and left their town'

Waant^hu/ wa'oloshela muiyini. 'The people went to town.'

Wo/ wachingila khkala muiy wa karaayle. 'They entered and stayed in the town of the crows.'

Ye/ waliko ni waaziri/ wa sul^taani/ wa muuyi. 'He was a minister of the sultan of the town.'

rel

chi-muu-yi n. the way of the town (cf. chimaduuri 'the way of the country') chimuuyini 'in the way of the town'

yifke

n. [cf. Som. if "light" DSI 322] great heat (e.g. from an oven)

Numbaani/ ka Omari/ imulo/ kana beebe/ inaku^lawa yifke. 'At Omari's house, it is hot like a flaming fire, there is heat going out.'

yifte	n. grey, scaly fish; looks like shtawa , but with bigger lips
yija nkala	n. yellowish sea bass [lit. eater of crabs]; [pron. yija nk^hala] review: should it not be yijaa nk^hala with vowel lengthening; and is it correct yi-ja as opposed t i-ja
i-yiimbi (ma-)	n. 5/6 [Sw. wimbi SSED 531] wave (of water) kiineendra/ kana mayiimbi ‘to go like waves (e.g. of goods selling fast in the market)’ Paapo/ iyiimbi/ ichimtaala/ mwaana. ‘At once a wave took the boy (and drowned him).’ rel. diminutive form? l-yiimbi (mi-) n. 11/4 aug.
yüyi	[cl.5] strong dem.
yüyi	[cl.9] strong dem.
yüyi/ iyi	[cl.5] emphatic demonstrative, first position
yüyi/ iyi	[cl.9] emphatic demonstrative, first position yüyi/ numba iyi ‘this very house, this house itself’
yüyije	[cl.5] strong dem. (a form used by MI)
yüyije	[cl.9] strong dem.
yüyije/ ije	[cl.5] emphatic demonstrative, third position (a form used by MI)
yüyije/ ije	[cl.9] emphatic demonstrative, third position (a form used by MI)
yüyo	[cl.5] strong dem. yüyo/ iyo ‘that very same one near you’
yüyo	[cl.9] strong dem. Basi/ waant^hu/ awo/ watesheleleshel/ kuwona mi’ujiza/ ayo/ hattá/ sulṭaani/ naayé/ walimo karka haali/ yüyo/ kama waant^hu. ‘So these people laughed and laughed to see these miraculous things, even the sultan as well as in the very same condition as the people.’ Na imaaníyá/ ka mwajüitu/ ni yüyo/ mwajüitu/ ni oyo/ waa mi/ ninambiiló/ nt^haku/ mwinginiwe. ‘And my faith in God, it is this same God, who is the one that I said (about him): there is no other one.’
yüyo/ iyi	[cl.5] emphatic demonstrative (form used by present-day speakers) yüyo/ ifundro iyi ‘this knot itself’
yüyo/ iyi	[cl.9] emphatic demonstrative (form used by present-day speakers) yüyo/ numba iyi ‘this very same house, this house itself’
yüyo/ iyo	[cl.5] second position emphatic demonstrative yüyo/ ifundro iyo ‘that knot itself’
yüyo/ iyo	[cl.9] second position emphatic demonstrative Kaaziyo/ ni yüyo/ iyo/ we/ takhpataa nsi/ tu. ‘Your work is the very same one: you will catch fish only.’ mahala yüyo/ iyo ‘at that very same place’ yüyo/ numba iyo ‘that house itself, that very house’

Want^hu wa reri mooyi/ huloolo/ ka reri yiiyo/ iyo. ‘Men from one clan marry someone from that very same clan.’

- yiiyo/ ije* [cl.5] third position emphatic demonstrative variant: yiiyo/ iyije
yiiyo/ ifundro ije ‘that knot itself’
- yiiyo/ ije* [cl.9] third position emphatic demonstrative
variant: yiiyo/ iyije
yiiyo/ numba iyije ‘that house itself, that very house’
- yo* [cl.4] independent pronoun miti ya Nuuru/ naayó ‘the trees that Nuuru has’ Miti/ yavundishile/ yo. ‘The trees broke, they.’
ndiyó ‘it is them [cl.4]’
Yo/ miti/ yavundishile. ‘They, the trees, broke.’ Or: Miti/ yo/ yavundishile.
Yo/ yawaliko ndaaká. ‘They [cl.4] were mine.’
- yo* [cl.5] independent pronoun
Ijiwe/ ipoteele/ yo. ‘The stone fell, it.’
ijiwe ya Nuuru/ naayó ‘the stone that Nuuru has’
Ndiyó. ‘It’s it [cl.5].’
We/ hi’ipeenda/ yo. ‘Do you like it (e.g. shaati)?’
Weenepi/ we/ yo. ‘Where did you see it (e.g. [cl.5] shaati)?’
Yo/ ijiwe/ ipoteele. ‘It, the stone, fell.’ Or: Ijiwe/ yo/ ipoteele.
Yo/ ipoteele. ‘It ([cl.5]) fell.’
Yo/ iwaliko ndaaká. ‘It [cl.5] was mine.’
Yo/ ndaaké. ‘It (e.g. [cl.5] shaati) is hers.’
Yo/ shúkula ikoofiya/ chendra naayo/ ka sultaani. ‘It, he took the hat and went with it to the sultan.’
- yo* [cl.6] independent pronoun
majiwe ya Nuuru/ naayó ‘the stones that Nuuru has’
Majiwe/ yapoteele/ yo. ‘The stones fell, they.’
Yo/ majiwe/ yapoteele. ‘They, the stones, fell.’ Or: Majiwe/ yo. yapoteele.
Yo/ yapoteele. ‘They [cl.6] fell.’
- yo* [cl.9] independent pronoun
Abunawaasi/ shúkula khaṭi iyo/ chiya naayo/ kaawo/ muyiini. ‘Abunawaasi carried that letter and came with it to their town.’
chiwa nayoo ndalá ‘if you are hungry’
Ee/ nnayo ṃtanaani. ‘Yes, it is in the room.’
Hamiisi/ husooma/ niingi/ laakini/ yo/ jis’iyo/ ye/ hafahami/ yaa ye/ husoomó.
‘Hamiisi reads a lot, but it is like that, he does not understand what he reads.’
Mi/ stahaaji/ khfikirilaa yo/ mara yiingine. ‘I don’t need to think it over.’
Mpele Huseeni/ yo. ‘He gave it to Huseeni.’
Muḅjaana/ shúkulaa dawa/ chendra naayo/ numbaani. ‘The young man took the medicine and went with it to his house.’
Mwaana/ shúkula sanduukhu/ chendra naayo/ kaake. ‘The boy carried the box and went with it to his place.’
Nama iwaliko apá/ ndiyó/ ijiilá. ‘The meat that was here, it is that which I ate.’
Ndiyó/ ni kama/ uyu. ‘It is like this one [cl.9].’ (Note the unusual case where kama) Ndiyó/ ya Hamadi/uziló. ‘It is that one [cl.9] that Hamadi bought.’
Nnaayó. ‘I have [it].’
Nnumba/ ivundishile/ yo. ‘The house is broken down, it.’
numba ya Nuuru/ naayó ‘the house that Nuuru has’
Omari/ uzilee yo. ‘Omari bought it.’ Cf. Omari/ uzile/ yo ‘Omari bought it.’
Tete kuulu/ fakeṭe naayo. ‘He took the leg (he had cut off with the sword) and ran away with it.’

	Shtukula ikoofiya/ chendra naayo/ ka sulṭaani. ‘He carried the hat and went with it to the sultan.
	We/ hupeenda/ yo. ‘Do you like it (e.g. nuumba)?’
	Weenepi/ we/ yo. ‘Where did you see it?’
	Ye/ nakiyuza/ yo. ‘He is selling it (e.g. [cl.9] sabuura).’
	Yo/ ndaaké. ‘It (e.g. [cl.9] nuumba) is hers.’
	Yo/ iburbushile. ‘It ([cl.9]) collapsed.’
	Yo/ iwaliko ndaaká. ‘It [cl.9] was mine.’
	Yo /nuumba/ iburbushile. ‘It, the house, collapsed.’ Or: Nuumba/ yo/ iburbushile.
	yo/ na uje umo katiiké/ na zimo katiiké ‘it [cl.9] and that which is in it, and those things in it’
yoo peeke	alone [cl.5] Mi/ hutumila iziwa/ yoo peeke/ karka kahawa. ‘I use milk alone (i.e. just milk) in my coffee.’
yoo peeke	alone [cl.9] Chiwona nuumba/ yoo peeke. ‘He saw a house (standing) alone.’
yoomu	n. [Ar. yaum W 1110] day kuḷa yoomu ‘every day’ chimsalīla mtume ka kuḷa yoomu [st.] ‘if you pray to God for the Prophet every day’ kumera khuuti/ yoomu ‘to search for one’s daily food’ rel. ayaamu [Ar. ayyām W 1110] week; days (this meaning is confined to poetry and proverbs and comes directly from the Arabic meaning) ni ayaamu za iidi, leelo muuntʰi wa iidi [song] ‘it is the days of iidi , today is the day of iidi ’
yomuḷmiyaadi	[Ar.] day of judgment check pronunciation for chimiiini ndruuza iwaani nakinpa waraadi/ kuwonana kiitu ni yomuḷmiyaadi [st.] ‘my relatives, be aware, I say farewell to you, our seeing one another will be on the day of (final) judgment’
yomuḷqiyaama	[Ar. expression yaum al-qiyāma "day of Resurrection" W 800] the day when everyone will be standing awaiting judgment Yomuḷqiyaama/ ni muntʰi wa aakhera. ‘Yomuḷqiyaama is the day of the hereafter.’
ma-yoonzi	n. 6 [?related to Sw. majonzi, mayonsi “sorrow, grief, mourning, sadness” SSED 255] in the expression: kubiga mayoonzi ‘to snore’
yooyo	[cl.1] second position strong dem. (used by MI)
yooyo	[cl.4] second position strong dem. rel. yooyo/ ka yooyo those very same ones, over and over mifaano/ yooyo/ ka yooyo ‘those very same examples, over and over’
yooyo	[cl.6] second position strong dem. Maayi/ yaṭawanyishile ka yooyo. ‘The water spilled by itself (i.e. it wasn’t spilled intentionally).’ rel. yooyo/ ka yooyo those very same ones, over and over Fanyize matata/ yooyo/ ka yooyo. ‘He created the same troubles over and over.’

yooyo	[cl.9] strong second position dem.
yooyo/ aya	[cl.4] emphatic demonstrative used by some speakers
yooyo/ aya	[cl.6] emphatic demonstrative used by some speakers yooyo/ mafundro aya ‘these knots themselves’
yooyo/ ayaje	[cl.4] emphatic demonstrative used by some speakers
yooyo/ ayaje	[cl.6] emphatic demonstrative used by some speakers yooyo/ mafundro ayaje ‘those knots themselves’
yooyo/ ayo	[cl.4] emphatic demonstrative used by some speakers
yooyo/ ayo	[cl.6] emphatic demonstrative used by some speakers yooyo/ mafundro ayo ‘those knots themselves’
yooyo/ oyo	[cl.1] second position emphatic dem. (used by MI) yooyo/ oyo ‘that same one near you’
yooyo/ oyo	[cl.4] second position strong dem. miti yooyo/ oyo ‘those very same trees’
yooyo/ oyo	[cl.6] second position emphatic dem.
yooyo/ oyo	[cl.9] second position emphatic dem.
yukharibulbina	in the “Chimiini-ized” Arabic proverb: Ma’asiya/ ni haraamu/ ma’asiya/ yukharibulbina. ‘Adultery is impure/forbidden, adultery destroys people.’
Yuunusu	n. Jonas
yur	ideo. [Som. yur “to shoo off, chase away a wild animal (or, derogatorily, a person)” cited in Dhoorre & Tosco, p. 155] fuck off! get away! (Since in Brava, there is little need for chasing away wild animals, this ideophone is confined to the derogatory dismissal of people.) Muunt^hu/ chikhambila chiint^hu/ haṭá/ kanaa yo/ hupeendi/ ha’ambiḷoowi/ yur. ‘If a person tells you something, even if you do not like it, he isn’t told yur .’ (We do not write yur with a high pitch, since unlike various other CVC ideophones, the pitch of yur is not raised to the pitch peak.)
Yuusufu	n. Joseph
ku-yuutā	v. [Sw. juta SSED 160; Ar.] (yuṭiile) regret Siyuṭeení. ‘You (pl.) don’t regret doing s.t.!’ Yuṭile keendra. ‘He regretted going.’ Or, with verb focus: Yuṭiile/ keendra. rel. ku-yuutā v. appl. regret s.t., regret for s.t. Haaji/ chiyuutā/ zaa ye/ fanyiizó/ na chiwashukura wazelewe/ na muné/ ka zema zaawo/ wamfanyiizó. ‘Haaji regretted what he had done and he thanked his parents and his younger brother for the good they had done him.’ Hapendi kuyuutā/ nashike mlaango(we)/ mfuunge. ‘The one who does not want to regret anything, let him keep (his) door closed.’ (A proverb.) Ibreeni/ huyuṭilani. ‘What does Ibreeni regret?’ (A possible answer: Ibreeni/ huyuṭila Nuuru/ kuwa tomeḷa kaziini. ‘Ibreeni regrets Nuuru’s having been fired.’) Siyuṭileení. ‘You (pl.) don’t regret it!’ Siyuutīli/ chint^hu chaa mi/ nfanyiizó. ‘I will not regret the things that I have done.’

Ye/ yuṭiṭile kuwaa ye/ fanyize mkaatāba/ kama uyu/ pamo na

Abunawaasi. ‘He regretted that he had made a contract like this with Abunawaasi.’

ku-yuṭiṭisha v. caus.

Njutishiize. ‘He caused me to regret s.t.’ (Note the hardening of the stem-initial y after the first person singular object marker. This hardening does not occur in Myuṭishiize. ‘He caused him to regret s.t.’ and Nyuṭishiize. ‘He caused you (pl.) to regret s.t.’)

Siyuṭisheení. ‘You (pl.) don’t make regret!’

ku-yuṭishiliza v. caus. appl. (yuṭishiliize)

rel. nom.

ma-yuuto n. 6

Mayuuto/ ni mwanaharaamu. ‘Regret is a bastard.’ (A proverb that says that the sources of regret are not legitimate, they are not well thought out.)

ma-yuuuṭilo n. 6

yuuyu [cl.1], first position, strong demon. (used by MI)

yuuyu/uyu [cl.1], first position, emphatic demon. (used by MI) yuuyu/ uyu ‘this same one’ yuuzi n. [Sw. yuzi SSED 161] day before yesterday; very recent past mwaana/ bashizo chibuukú/ yuuzi ‘the child who lost the book the day before yesterday’ (Note that while a time adverb in a main clause is ordinarily outside the scope of the final accent triggered by certain verb forms, the same is not true in a relative clause, where the final accent triggered by a relative verb extends to the end of the clause.)

mwana iyo/ bashiizó/ chibuukú/ yuuzi ‘the child who lost the book the day before yesterday’ (It is not typically the case that the relative verb undergoes phrasal separation from its complement, but when such separation occurs in our data, the final accent triggered by the relative verb still extends to the end of the relative clause: it generally does not show the effect of what we refer to as the Accentual Law of Focus.)

Nimpele mwaaná/ chibuukú/ yuuzi. ‘I gave the child a book day before yesterday.’ (Note that it is the norm in a statement for a time adverbial to not be included in the scope of a final-accent triggered by the verb.)

Omari/ nt^hakeendra/ Mkhodiisho/ yuuzi. ‘Omari did not go to Mogadisho the day before yesterday.’ (In the simple y/n question, the time adverbial undergoes accent shift: Omari/ nt^hakeendra/ Mkhodiisho/ yuuzi? In the exclamatory question, all but the initial phrase undergoes accent shift (although the whole body of data suggests that there is variability with respect to the initial phrase’s susceptibility to shift: Omari/ nt^hakeendrá/ Mkhodiishó/ yuuz?)

Omari/ oloshole Mkhodiisho/ yuuzi. ‘Omari went to Mogadishu the day before yesterday.’ (In the simple yes-no question version of this sentence, we did not note accent shift in the time adverbial, although shift seems the norm: Omari/ oloshole Mkhodiisho/ yuuzi? The exclamatory question shows accent in the last two phrases: Omari/ oloshole Mkhodiishó/ yuuzi!?)

Yuuzi/ Mkhodiisho/ nt^hakeendra/ ^hOmari. ‘The day before yesterday, Mogadishu, he did not go, Omari.’ (There is a declination in pitch across the first three phrases, but the only clear downstepping is associated with the right-dislocated subje^c*t, indicated by the raised exclamation mark. In the simple y/n question, the dislocated subject undergoes accent shift: Yuuzi/ Mkhodiisho/ nt^hakeendra/ Omari? In the exclamatory question, the negative verb and the dislocated object shift their accent, but no shift was observed in the initial two phrases: Yuuzi/ Mkhodiisho/ nt^hakeendrá/ Omari!?)

Yuuzi/ nt^hakeendra/ Mkhodiisho/ ^hOmari. ‘The day before yesterday he did not go to Mogadishu, Omari.’ (In the simple y/n question, both the complement of the negative verb and the right-dislocated subject undergo accent shift: Yuuzi/ nt^hakeendra/ Mkhodiishó/ Omari? In the exclamatory question, the verb also undergoes accent shift: Yuuzi/ nt^hakeendrá/ Mkhodiishó/ Omari!?)

Yuuzi/ Omari/ nt^hakeendra/ Mkhodiisho. ‘The day before yesterday, Omari did not go to Mogadishu.’ (There is some declination in pitch across the first three phrases, but the negative verb is not downstepped; there is a clear downstep on the complement of the negative verb. In the simple y/n question, the complement undergoes accent shift: Yuuzi/ Omari/ nt^hakeendra/ Mkhodiishó? In the exclamatory question, the verb also undergoes accent shift: Yuuzi/ Omari/ nt^hakeendrá/ Mkhodiishó!?)

^hYuuzi/ oloshelo Mkhodiishó/ ^hOmari. ‘The day before yesterday he went to Mogadishu, Omari.’ (Focus on the initial time adverbial triggers pseudo-relative clause formation. Note that the right-dislocated subject falls outside the scope of the final accent triggered by the verb. There is no doubt that the right-dislocated subject is downstepped relative to the preceding phrase. We often have the impression that its lowering is beyond what might be involved in ordinary downstep, thus the use of the raised exclamation point. Detailed quantificational data is required, however, to confirm this impression. In the simple y/n question, accent shift affects the postposed subject: ‘Yuuzi/ oloshelo Mkhodiishó/ Omari?’ In the exclamatory question, accent shift is vacuous with respect to the penultimate phrase, but is visible in the case of the right-dislocated subject: Yuuzi/ oloshelo Mkhodiishó/ Omari?’

‘Yuuzi/ Omari/ oloshelo Mkhodiishó. ‘The day before yesterday Omari went to Mogadisho.’

rel.

yuziyuuzi adv. recently

Ni waana/ wazaziḷa yuziyuuzí. ‘These are children who were recently born.’

Ni ziiint^hu/ zisanifiḷa yuziyuuzí. ‘These are things that were recently invented.’

Z

- z- [cl.8] agreement prefix on possessive roots, presumably derived from zi-zoomboza ‘my goods’
- z- [cl.10] agreement prefix on possessive roots, presumably derived from zi-Chili chaa we/ nt^hukichilaalilá/ hiiwi/ nk^hungunyize. ‘A bed that you do not sleep in, you cannot know its bedbugs.’ (A proverb.)
ndrootoza ‘my dreams’ nfunguloza ‘my keys’; nfungulozo ‘your keys’; nfunguloze ‘his/her/its keys’; nfungulo ziiitu ‘our keys’; nfungulo ziiinu ‘your (pl.) keys’; nfungulo zaawo ‘their keys’
- za-a- [cl.8] associative and relative clause particle
- za-a- [cl.10] associative and relative clause particle
Nguwo za Haliima/ nthakhfulá/ nzaaká. ‘The clothes that Haliima did not wash are mine.’
- za’iidi
 than mbanaayo uḷaazo zaa’idi ya utuungu [nt.] ‘we felt a pain more severe labor-pains’
- za’iimu n. [Ar. za’im W 378] leader
khfanya za’iimu ‘to make someone the leader’ khfanyowa za’iimu ‘to be made the leader’ kuwa za’iimu ‘to become a leader’
- za’faraani n. [Ar. za’farān W 377] saffron jannaani mṭangawe ni za’faraani [st.] ‘in Paradise the sand is saffron’
- za’ṭari n. [cf. Sw. zartari "a kind of herb put in tea to give it a pleasant flavour and smell" SSED 539; Ar. za’ṭar W377, a variant of sa’ṭar "wild thyme" W 410] an aromatic plant, used as a remedy against cough and kidney troubles (stones); it is prepared and drunk as tea
- zabarjuudi n. [Sw. zabarjudi "chrysolite" Sac. 1034; Ar. zabarjad "chrysolite" W 373] chrysolite Hunawirisha qalbi/ kana zabarjuudi/ akhḏari. ‘It illuminates the heart like a green chrysolite.’

kana ya farasi mkila zabarjuudi [st.] ‘(with reference to al-buraaq) the mouth of a horse, a chrysolite tail” (al-buraaq is a composite mythological creature, with partly eagle, partly horse, etc.; it possibly could have a tail made of chrysolite, but the sources we have found say that it has the tail of a peacock; perhaps the reference to chrysolite is an embellishment by the Bravanese poet)

- zabiibu n. 9/10 [Sw. zabibu SSED 537; Ar. zabīb W 372] raisin zabibu iyi ‘this raisin’; zabibu izi ‘these raisins’
 rel.
chi-zabiibu (zi-) n. dim. 7/8 little raisin
i-zabiibu (mi-) n. aug. 5/6 big raisin
- zabu n. food that is provided at a celebration (e.g. of a marriage or a graduation or a gathering to pray for good fortune for someone) Leelo/ chijilee ‘zabú/ ka Omari/ numbaani. ‘Today we ate zabu at Omari’s house.’
Leelo/ ka Omari/ numbaani/ yikoo zabu. ‘Today at Omari’s house that is a celebration with food.’ (Of course, celebrations such as those where zamu is found, are likely to attract more people.)
Nthaku/ zabu. ‘There is no food (at this celebration).’
Yikoo zabu. ‘There is food (at this celebration); there is food (at this celebration.)’
- ku-zabuna v. [Sw. zabuni SSED 537; cf. Ar. zabūn "customer" W 373] (zabuniile) bid for something, make a higher bid at an auction
 rel.
ku-zabunika v. p/s. (-zabunishile)
ku-zabunila v. appl. (zabuniiliile) ku-zabunisha v. caus. (zabunishiize) ku-zabunishana v. caus. rec.
ku-zabunishika v. caus. p/s.
ku-zabunishiliza v. caus. appl.
ku-zabunishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.
ku-zabunoowa v. pass. (zabuniila)
 rel. nom.
m-zabuna (wa-) n. 1/2 a bidder
m-zabunisho n.
ma-zabuno n. 6 bidding
m-zabunoowa (wa-) n. 1/2
- zabuuri n. [Sw. zaburi SSED 537; Ar. zabūr W 372] the book of David ("Psalms"); variant form: zabuuru zaburuuni ‘in Psalms’
- m-zaaha (mi-) n. 3/4 [Sw. mzaha SSED 324; Ar. v. mazaḥa "to joke" and n. muzāḥa "joke" W 906] joke, teasing, kidding Isa/ teena/ Abunawaasi/ kilasku/ kama aadaye/ hufanya mzaaha/ na khtezeza waant^hú. ‘Now then Abunawaasi, every day, as was his custom, made jokes and kidded people.’
kh-fanya mzaaha ‘to make jokes’
Nuuru/ hufekesha waant^hu/ hufanya mzaha/ ka wiingi. ‘Nuuru makes people laugh, he makes jokes often.’
Mzaha mwiingi/ hangamiza uweenza. ‘Too much joking spoils a friendship.’ (A proverb.)
Sfaanyé/ mzaaha. ‘Don’t make a joke!’
- Zahara n. daughter of the prophet Mohammad
- ku-zaahida v. (cf. zaahidi) (zahidiile) be pious zaahidi (ma-)	adj. [Ar. zāhid "abstemious, self-denying, ascetic" W 383] pious, devout kuwa zaahidi 'to become pious'

ku-zajira	v. [Ar. zajara W 373] (zajiriile) scold, rebuke rel. ku-zajirana v. rec. (-zajireene) ku-zajirika v. p/s. (zajirishile) ku-zajirila v. appl. (zajiriliile) ku-zajirisha v. caus. (zajirishiize)
zaka	n. [Sw. zaka SSED 538; Ar. zakāh "alms tax" W 379] a yearly fixed sum of money taken from one's income and given to the poor khtomolaa zaka 'to pay, give out zaka ' Kilaa mwaaka/ maramooyi/ islaamu/ laazimu/ khtomolaa zaka. 'Once a year a Muslim must pay charity.' Pesa izi/ zoont^he/ khtomolaa zaka. 'Give all this money as charity to the poor.' yaa ne khtomola zaka kula taajiri [st.] 'the fourth (pillar of Islam) is the giving of alms by everyone who is rich (i.e. can afford to do so)' Zaka/ humwaajiba/ islaamu/ khtomola mwaaka/ mara mooyi/ chiwaa ye/ naayo/ maali. 'It is obligatory for a Muslim to give out zaka once a year if he has the money.' khtomolelaa zaka 'pay, give out zaka for' zaka mtomolele mayi ni laazimu/ shari'a ya mtume hiizo ni daalimu [st.] 'paying alms for the dead is obligatory, the law of the Prophet, the one who denies it is a wrongdoer' Zaka/ ni mooyi/ karka nguzo nt^haanu/ za Islaamu. ' Zaka is one of the five pillars of Islam.' Zaka/ ni waajibu/ ka muunt^hu/ naachó. ' Zaka is a must for one who has (the means).' zaka za mwaaka 'annual charity'
zakhma	n. [Sw. zahama SSED 537; Ar. zahma W 374] state of confusion, overcrowdedness; variant form: zahma Suukhu/ leelo/ zahma. 'The market is overcrowded today.'
zalba	n. [etymology unknown] lie, untruth kubiga zalba 'to lie, be untruthful' Omari/ mbigiliile Ali/ zalba/ kuwaa ye/ nakhsaafira/ nakendra Keenya. 'Omari told Ali a lie that he is traveling to Kenya.' Nuuru/ mzimawe/ zalba/ lila/ hakooði. 'Nuuru is all lies, he never tells the truth.'
zalboole	adj. unfounded
ku-zaala	v. [Sw. zaa SSED 536] (zaazile) give birth, bear, produce; name someone after someone Baaba/ maraði/ yachimziida/ chifa/ nt^haasá/ mukeewe/ kuzaala. 'Father grew sicker and died before his wife gave birth.' Bali/ izazilee gele. 'The maize plant produced maize.' review Chint^hu chimooyi/ huzaloo miyá. 'One thing that gives birth to a hundred.' (A riddle.) Chizaala/ mwaana/ mwanaashke. 'She gave birth to a baby girl.' Chizaala/ wanashkee saba/ chizaaló. 'She gave birth to seven daughters, that's what she did.' Kuzaala/ siwo/ dhibu/ khkorsha/ ndiyó/ dhibu. 'To give birth to a child is not hard, to raise a child is hard.' (A proverb.)

Muĵo/ hawazaali/ muĵo. ‘Fire does not beget fire.’ (A proverb.) Muĵo/ huzala ivu. ‘Fire begets ashes.’
Nk^huku/ zaazile. ‘The hen laid an egg.’
Nyunyi/ uyu/ ni msuura/ laakini/ ye/ haṭaxaadira/ ku’iisha/ yee/ peeke/ walá/ haṭakuzaala. ‘This bird is pretty, but it will not be able to live alone/ nor lay eggs (lit. give birth).’
Sabri/ huzala suukari. ‘Patience produces sugar.’ (A proverb.)
Sinviié/ maamé/ mi/ skhuzaala/ khuzaaziló/ fiile. ‘Don’t call me mother, I did not bear you, the one who bore you is dead.’
Waako/ waako/ wazazile waana/ ba’adi ya apo/ muḅĵi/ chimpenda muke miingine/ suĵile kumnoola. ‘They lived like this for some time and had children; after that, the husband loved another woman and wanted to marry her.’
Wamḷasile kanaa nt^hupu/ jisa maamaye/ mzaaziló. ‘They left him naked, just like his mother gave birth to him.’
We/ ṭakuzala mwaana/ mwiimbili. ‘You will bear a male child.’
rel.
ku-zaalĵa v. appl. (zazĵile) bear someone a child; give birth to Muke/ ba’ada ya kumzaalĵa/ mwanaamke... ‘After the woman gave birth to a daughter...’
Mukeewe/ mzalĵile mwaamubĵi. ‘His wife bore him a son.’
ku-zalĵiloowa v. appl. pass. have a child born to one Sulṭaani/ weele/ mapsuuti/ nt^ho/ kuzalĵiloowa/ waana/ wote/ wiimbili. ‘The king was very happy to have all male children born to him.’
wakhḷali ni suna chizalĵiloowa [st.] ‘[the slaughtering at the] wakhḷali celebration is not obligatory [but sanctioned by tradition and therefore better to do it] when a child is born to one’
ku-zalṷoowa v. pass. (zaazĵa) be born
Isa/ mwaana/ chizalṷoowa/ wazeele/ wanayo khṭala ina mooyi/ karka ma’ina/ hupowa waaná/ sku iyó. ‘Now when a child is born, the parents have to choose a name from among the names that are given children on that day (i.e. certain names are given to children born on a particular day of the week).’
Kilaa muunt^hu/ zaazĵa. ‘Each person is born.’ (A proverb which conveys the idea that one should be careful and not abuse people, for they also have been born (and are human beings just like you).’
kuzalṷowaka ‘my birth’ kuzalṷowa kaawo ‘their birth’ (but more commonly: kuzalṷowa yaawo)
Muunt^hu/ suura/ kufa mahaḷaa ye/ zaazĵá. ‘It is good for one to die at the place where one was born.’ (A proverb.)
Nambiilá/ kuwaa ye/ nt^haasá/ nt^hakuzalṷoowa. ‘I was told that he is not yet born.’
Nzazĵa Miini. ‘I was born in Brava.’
Ye/ zazĵa kuwa mwana wa taatu/ na wa miis(h)o/ karka nuumba. ‘He was born the third and the last in the family [lit. house].’
ku-zaalana v. rec. (-zaleene) be related in lineage
Hujo naawé/ haafi/ naawe/ ĵla zaleno naawé. ‘The one who eats with you does not die with you, only the one who is related to you (will die with you).’ (A proverb.) review carefully Ifungu ya taatu/ ṭakulatiḷowaa nsi/ zinapate ku’iisha/ na kuzaalaná. ‘The third portion [of the sea] will be left for the fish so that they get to live and reproduce.’
ku-zalanoowa v. pass.
ummaĵi wa Mohamadi/ ka diini huzalanoowa [st.] ‘(we) Mohammad’s community/ all are related (brothers) in the faith’ ku-zaalisha v. caus. (zalishiize) help give birth, act as a midwife ku-zalishana v. caus. rec.
ku-zalishiliza v. caus. appl. act as a midwife for ku-zalishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

rel. nom.

m-zaalisha(wa-) n. 1/2 midwife variant form: mzaalishi

ma-zaalo n.6 production, act of producing

mazalo ya miyuundra ‘agricultural production’

u-zaalo n. birth, the act of giving birth (Usage: Rather than saying uzaalowe ‘his birth’ one says kuzaloowake ‘his birth [lit. his being born]’.)

i-zaalo

n. uterus, womb

Aamina/ ambila izaaloye/ ipotofu. ‘Aamina was told her uterus was not in the normal position (lit. is crooked).’

Aamina/ izaaloye/ ni chihabba. ‘Aamina has a small uterus.’

Haliima/ shishiila maradaa izaalo. ‘Halima has a disease of the uterus.’

Haliima/ tomele izaalo. ‘Haliima had an hysterectomy.’

Mwaana/ hukora ka izaalo. ‘A child forms (lit. grows up) in the uterus.’

zam

ideo. (cf. also dam) of light being extinguished

Nali/ yana/ masku/ ziyaraani/ ka Dada Maasiti/ zoloshele/ mara mooyi/ tu/ zam!/ chimaliza/ zashiza bitirmaakis. ‘Lights (electric) last night at the Dada Maasiti ceremony went off at once zam! then petromaxes were lit.’

zama

zamaa zama ‘in groups’

Ka muyiini/ waanthu/ hulawa zamaa zama/ wote/ naawo/ wanakuleto stenzi za diini. ‘People depart from the town in groups reciting religious songs.’

ku-zaama

v. [Sw. zama SSED 538] (zamiile) sink, drown

Ali/ zamiile. ‘Ali sank.’

Bateera/ izamiile. ‘The boat sank.’

Chijiwe/ shchizaama/ chigaaya/ shcheeluka/ lmalize ka apo. ‘The little stone sank, the pot fragment floated, it (the tale) ended here.’ (The traditional conclusion to a tale.)

Chint^hu changaangu/ heeluka/ chint^hu chizito/ huzaama. ‘Something light, floats; something heavy, sinks.’ (A saying.)

Ijuuniya/ ichizaama/ na oyo muunt^hu/ chifa. ‘The sack sank and that man died.’

Ilooni/ jahazi/ ichizaama/ na waant^hu/ akthari yaawo/ wachifa. ‘At dusk the dhow sank and the majority of the people died.’

Jahazi/ imalizopo kuzaama/ wachanza koowela. ‘When the dhow finished sinking, they began to swim.’

karka ibada mwenewe huzaama [st.] ‘“(the one whose pilgrimage is accepted) concentrates [lit. sinks] in worship’ kuzama tawala ‘to sink in the sea’

Mabahariya/ wiingi/ wazamiile. ‘Many sailors drowned.’

markabu nk^huluunk^hulu/ schizaama/ ka darba ‘if large ships sink from a storm’

Mwaana/ zamile tawala. ‘The child drowned in the sea.’

Naakhuo/ wachiwa wiingi/ jahazi/ huzaama. ‘If the captains become many, the dhow sinks.’ (A proverb, like the English “too many cooks spoil the broth”.)

Ni wiingi/ mabahariya wazamiilo. ‘The sailors who drowned are many.’

waant^hu karka khasara wazamiile/ ila wafarama sabri jamiili [st.] ‘human beings are drowned in loss unless they counsel patience’

Zaama. ‘Sink!’ Zamaani. ‘(Pl.) sink!’ Sizaame. ‘Don’t sink!’ Sizameeni. ‘(Pl.) don’t sink!’

rel.

ku-zaamila v. appl. (zamiiliile)

Jahazi/ inzamiliile. ‘My boat sank on me.’
ku-zaamisha v. caus. (zamishiize) cause to sink, drown Mzamishize Hasani. ‘He caused Hasani to sink.’
Mzamishize waawaye. ‘He brought to financial ruin to his father.’
Naakhuḁa/ zamishize jahazi. ‘The captain caused the boat to sink.’
ku-zamishan(y)a v. caus. rec.
ku-zamishiliza v. caus. appl.
Naakhuḁa/ nzamishilize jahazi. ‘The captain sank the ship on me.’
ku-zamishoowa v. caus. pass. (zamishiiza) be caused to sink, drown ku-zamoowa v. pass. (zamiila)

zamaani

n. 8, adv. [Sw. zamani SSED 538; Ar. zamān W 382] olden times, long ago, old days; time, era, period (Note that although the initial z in this loan word is etymologically derived from the Arabic stem, this z seems to lead to the morphological analysis of this noun as being a [cl.8] noun. However, there is no evidence for a productive stem –amaani.)
Apo/ zamaani/ waliko mwaalimu/ mooyi/ chivilowa Gooso. ‘Once upon a time there was a teacher named Gooso.’
Apo/ zamaani/ waliko sultaani/ mooyi/ na mwaanawé. ‘Once upon a time there was a sultan and his son.’
chint^hu cha zamaani ‘something old’ Chita/ weshele mbarakha za zamaani/ mṭanaani. ‘The chief kept old papers in the room.’
ndiye mufti wa aakhiri zamaani [st.] ‘he is the mufti of the last days’ Hamadi/ sulile kula fatura mp^hiya/ laakini/ badiliye/ fanyize fatuuraye/ ya zamaani/ tu. ‘Hamadi wanted to buy a new car, but instead he just repaired his old car.’
Want^hu wa zamaani/ hawahadi/ wanaafakhi. ‘The people from ancient times do not speak lies.’ (A proverb.)
Zamaani/ nch^himpeenda/ nt^ho/ na kuḁa yaa ye/ chisuuló/ mi/ nch^himfanyiliza. ‘Long ago I used to love her very much and everything that she wanted, I used to fulfill for her.’
zamani za fashista ‘the era of the fascists’ zamani za Mtume ‘(in) the times of the Prophet’ Zamaani/ ziint^hu/ zivaliko rakhiisi. ‘In olden times things were cheap.’
zamani ziitu ‘(in) our times’ Zamani ziitu/ waana/ wawaliko jis’iyi. ‘During our times children were (i.e. behaved) this way.’

rel.

chi-zamaani n. 7 in the way, manner of the olden days

zamaazama

adv. [cf. z-ama, pl. of ch-ama] in groups (Lex. Although our consultant MI provided the form zamaazama, another consultant rejected the form as not being used in Chimiini.)

zamu

n. [Sw. zamu SSED 538] guard
khpandra zamu ‘to start one’s turn in guarding’ Masku aya/ ka rasdente/ hafisaani/ takhpandro zaamú/ ni Omari. ‘Tonight at the DC’s office it is Ali who will be guard.’
khshika zamu ‘to guard’
Sku iyo/ mukhta ikomeeló/ chizeele/ chooloka/ ka mabawaabu/ waliko wachishiko zaamú/ milangooní. ‘When that day arrived, the old woman went to the door-keepers who were guarding the doors.’
kishkila zamu ‘to end one’s turn in guarding’ Alí/ ishkiilile zaamu/ steeshini/ fijiri iyi. ‘Ali ended his guard duty this morning at the station.’
kubiga zamu ‘to krrp guard guard’ Abú/ masku mazima/ halaali/ hubiga zamu/ huja khaati. ‘Abu keeps guard all night, he does not sleep, he eats khat (to stay awake).'

kulindra zaamu 'to guard'
Chimfuunga/ karka mtaana/ na chiweeka/ askari/ kumlindra zaamu.
 'He imprisoned her in a room and placed soldiers to guard her.'

chi-zamu

n. misfortune

aduwi ye takunaha kana chimpeeto chizamu [song] 'the enemy will get scared just like one who is affected by misfortune' gelani is unsure about this word

zamuuda

n. [probably from dialectal Arabic; if this word really refers to fennel, then the standard Arabic word is shamār W486, Sw. shamari SSED 416] fennel? -- used against indigestion, stomach ache, flatulence and belching. It is either ingested or spread on body.

zamzamu

n. [Sw. zamuzamu M&aN 2743; Ar. zamzamu W 381] sacred well located in Mecca near the ka'aba ambiila Jibriili mwooshe ka zamzamu [st.] 'Gabriel was told to wash him (i.e. the Prophet) in the well' mayi ya zamzamu 'the water of the zamzamu well' zanambuure

n. a kind of bird

m-zandiiqi (wa-)

n. 1/2 [Sw. mzandiki SSED 538; Ar. zindiq "unbeliever, atheist" W 383] liar, hypocrite kuwa mzandiiqi 'to behave hypocritically' nt^haku humbughuo ilo mzandiiqi [st.] 'there is no one who hates him except a liar'
 rel.
u-zandiiqi n. 14 hypocrisy khfanya uzandiiqi 'to behave hypocritically' review the meaning of this item given difference from Arabic source zaani (ma-)

n. [Sw. zani SSED 543; Ar. zanin W 383] adulterer, fornicator

Zanzibaari

n. Zanzibar
Si/ asli yitu/ chile ka Zanzibaari. 'We originally came from Zanzibar.'

zaquumu

n. [Sw. zaqumu M&N 2745; Ar. zaqqum "an infernal tree with very bitter fruit" W 379] the fruit of a tree in hell Aadamu/ jilopo zaquumu/ chimbiza ka janaani/ ye/ na mukeewé/ Haawá.
 'Adam, when he ate the the fruit, was driven from paradise, he and his wife, Eve.'
Matuundraye/ muti wa zaquumu/ ni chaakuja/ cha mal'iimu. 'The fruits of the tree zaquumu are food for the evil.'

zaari

n. golden thread

zaatari

n. [Sw. zartari SSED 539; Ar. za' tar W 377, variant of sa' tar "wild thyme" W 410] a kind of herb used as a medicine for stomach aches; variant form: zartari

zawaadi

n. 9/10 [Sw. zawadi SSED 537; Ar. zawād "provisions" W 385] gift Chaamura/ wo/ khpoowa/ zawaadi/ niingi. 'He ordered them to be given many gifts.'
Marti/ pela zawaadi. 'The guest has been given a gift.' (In the corresponding simple yes-no question, there is only Q-raising, no accentual shift.) With focus on the verb: Marti/ peela/ zawaadi. 'The guest was given a gift.' (In the case where the verb is focused, the following complement is radically lowered in pitch, indicating its out-of-focus status. In the corresponding yes-no question, this lowered phrase undergoes accent-shift: Martí/ peela/ zawaadí?)

Mpele martí/ zawaadi. ‘He gave the guest a gift.’ (The corresponding yes-no question, Mpele martí/ zawaadi?, involves only Q-raising and no Accent Shift. One can also interchange the position of the two NPs: Mpele zawaadi/ martí. The simple yes-no question of this sentence also involves only Q-raising and no Accent Shift. It is also possible to put focus on the NP that is immediately after the verb: Mpele ^fmartí/ zawaadi. Also: Mpele ^fzawaadi/ martí. When there is focus on the first object, there is a much more radical downstep on the second object in comparison to the case where there is no focus. The simple yes-no questions also differ, since there is Accent Shift in the second object: Mpele ^fmartí/ zawaadi? and Mpele ^fzawaadi/ martí?)

Ni wanaashke/ wa Maryamu/ watumililo zawaadí. ‘It’s the girls that Maryamu sent the presents to.’

Nimpele martí/ zawaadi. ‘I gave the guest a gift.’ (In this example, there is focus on martí, which accounts for why the final accent does not extend beyond martí. In the corresponding yes-no question, Nimpele martí/ zawaadi? ‘Did I give the guest a present?’, there is accent shift to the final syllable in the dislocated phrase zawaadi. If there is not focus on martí, then in the statement, the final accent extends throughout the verb phrase: Nimpele martí/ zawaadi. ‘I gave the guest a gift.’ If zawaadi is put in the Immediately After Verb position, then it is focused and the final accent does not pass it: Nimpele zawaadí/ martí. ‘I gave a gift to the guest.’)

Nimpele muunt^hú/ zawaadí. [H!H] ‘I gave the man a gift.’ Cf. Muunt^hu/ nimpele zawaadí. [H!H] ‘The man, I gave him a gift.’ Cf. Zawaadi/ nimpele/ muunt^hu. [HH!!H] ‘A gift I gave him the man.’

Nt^huunzi/ riiwu/ na zawaadí/ hupowa wazaazí/ waa muké/ maanzine/ nt^homeelé. ‘Wedding presents, dowry, and gifts that are given to the parents of the bride I gave out already.’

Omari/ lesele zawaadi. ‘Omari brought a gift.’

Waan^hu/ wa muuyi/ wakulu/ na zihabá/ walungaana/ na wataaná/ wabli/ naa waké/ wamletelele mwaana/ zawaadi/ ziingi. ‘The people of the town, big and small, gentlemen and servants, men and women, brought many gifts for the boy.’

Zawaadi/ hazirudoowi. ‘Gifts are not given back.’ (A proverb.)

Zawaadi/ ni furaha/ za khalbi. ‘A gift is the happiness of the heart.’ (A proverb.)

Zawaadi/ pela martí. ‘A gift was given the guest.’ (The subject of the passive sentence is located here in the Immediately After Verb position, which is a position of focus in Chimini as in other Bantu languages. This postposed subject is grouped together into the same phrase as the verb. In the corresponding simple yes-no question, there is no accent shift since there is no out-of-focus post-verbal element: Zawaadi/ pela martí? ‘Has a gift been given to the guest?’ In the exclamatory yes-no question, however, all phonological phrases inside the verb phrase typically undergo accent shift: Zawaadi/ pela martí?!)

Zawaadi/ peela/ martí. ‘A gift was given to the guest.’ (The subject of the passive in this example has been shifted after the verb, but in a separate phrase from the verb and thus does not occupy the Immediately After Verb position; in addition, the verbal complement has been left-dislocated. In this structure, the verb is focused and martí is out-of-focus, as its radical lowering indicates. In the corresponding simple yes-no question, martí is subject to accent shift: Zawaadi/ peela/ zawaadí. ‘Has the gift been given to the guest?’)

Zawaadi/ pela martí. ‘A gift was given the guest.’ (The verbal complement is shifted to initial position while the subject of the passive verb has been located in Immediately After Verb position. The verb phrase is put into a pseudo-relative form, which in the case of a passive verb is obvious only from the triggering of a final accent. It is the fronted zawaadi which is being focused in this construction; the IAV position is not in this example a focus position. Indeed, it is possible to phrasally separate the verb and the postposed subject: Zawaadi/ peela/ martí. ‘A gift was given the guest.’ Here, the radical lowering of martí indicates its out-of-focus nature.)

Zawaadi/ pela muunt^hu/ naami. [H!H!H] ‘A gift, the man was given by me.’ Cf.

Muunt^hu/ pela zawaadi/ naami. [H!H!H] ‘The man was given a gift by me.’

Zawaadi/ peelá/ Omari. ‘[It’s] a gift [that] was given to Omari.’ Or: Zawaadi/ pela Omari. ‘[It’s] a gift [that] was given to Omari.’

Zawaadi/ pela Omari/ zileesela/ kaa Jidda. ‘The gifts that were given to Omari were brought from Jeddah.’ zawaadi/ za Mkhodiisho ‘a gift from Mogadishu’ zawadi zaa Maka ‘a gift from Mecca’ zawaali

wa chinume baaqi pashpo zawaali [st.] ‘the Everlasting who will never disappear’ (a description of God)

zaaydi

adv. [Sw. zaidi SSED 537; Ar. zā’ id W 389] more, surpassing

Abú/ nayoo ndila/ kuwaa si/ ni laazimu/ kulindra habamooyi/ dakhiikha/ zaaydi. ‘Abu is right that we should wait for a few more minutes.’

Ito/ ya maadamu/ ni khatari/ zaaydi/ ya maraöi. ‘A human’s eyes is more dangerous than disease.’ (A proverb.)

ka maayi ow ka majiwe hutosha/ laakini maayi ndiyo zaaydi koosha [st.] ‘to clean oneself after defecating with water or with stones suffices’

Kazi iyi/ inakhtahaja zaaydi/ ya muntu mooyi/ khfaanya. ‘This job needs more than one person to do it.’

Laakini/ leelo/ akthari ya waanthu/ hawakalaanthi/ zaaydi/ ya sku mooyi/ ambo skuu mbili. ‘However, today most men do not stay inside (after the wedding ceremony) for more than one or two days.’

Mi/ hutukula kuulu/ ya gaari/ mazaaydi/ kana maadamu/ kana kuulu/ ichintumbukila. ‘I carry a spare wheel in case I have a puncture (the tire gets punctured for me).’

Mi/ mbaliko nakulindra kaalmé/ sa’a mooyi/ zaaydi. ‘I have been waiting for over an hour for help.’

Nama yaa mbuzi/ ni suura/ zaydi ya ngoombe. ‘The meat of a goat is better than the meat of a cow.’

Naankó/ shpowa peesa/ zaydaa izo. ‘Again, he was given money more than that.’

(Note the contraction of zaydi ya to zaydaa. This common sort of contraction often results in long vowels on the surface that do not accord with the usual distribution of long vowels.)

Omari/ humpenda mukeewe/ zaaydi. ‘Omari loves his wife very much.’ (The simple yes-no question shows only Q-raising, while the exclamatory question exhibits accent-shift in the two phrases that constitute the verb phrase: Omari/ humpenda mukeewé/zaaydí!?)

Si/ shtamhafiöa/ na shtamdhooa/ jisa muuntu/ humdhoru ruuhuyé/ na zaaydi. ‘We will protect him and guard him just as a person does to protect himself, and more than that.’

Uje mwaarabu/ chiyaawata/ nt^ho/ ka khisani/ uyu/ kuhada/ mwanaamkewe/ nabigowa ndruti khamsiini/ zaaydi. ‘That Arab wondered very much why this one (would) say his daughter should be beaten fifty blows more.’

Waanthu/ akhyaari/ washfanyowa zeema/ hulipa zeema/ na zaaydizé. ‘People, gentlemen, if good is done to them, they repay with good things and more.’

watiila ulaazo zaaydi ya utuungu [nt.] ‘they feel a pain worse than labor-pains’ zaaydi/ ya wantu khamsiini/ wanviliö ‘more than fifty people who have called’

ma-zaaydi

n. 6 surplus, a little more

Jis’iyo/ jis’iyo/ hatá/ leelo/ chintu mwaape/ cha mazaaydi/ chaa ye/ hupató/ chisuura/ hi’iwekela kaake. ‘Like that, like that, each day a nice profit that he gets, he sets aside for himself at his place.’

Ndovu/ chimera mazaaydi. ‘The elephant asked for more.’

Nnakuwoná/ mi/ ninpeelé/ zaa ni/ ntulubiö/ na mazaaydi. ‘Do you (pl.) see that I gave you what you asked for and a little more?’

Si/ chinakulindra khkasa mazaaydi/ tarafu ya jawabu izi. ‘We are waiting to hear more about these matters.’

chi-zaazi

n. [etymology unknown] a local wild cotton godoro ya paamba/ siwo/ ya chizaazi ‘a mattress of (real) cotton, not of wild cotton’ (a line from a popular rhyme)

chi-zaazi

n. [Sw. kizazi "generations, offsprings" SSED 536] people who are related to one another by blood, of the same clan; ancestry

Endrá/ shikamanisha/ chizaazi. ‘Go and unite the clan!’

- kh̄inda chizaazi ‘to sever a relationship with one’s relatives’ nt^hana shifaa’a t̄inzilo chizaazi [st.] ‘the one who severs a relationship with close relatives cannot expect [lit. does not have] the intercession [of the Prophet on his behalf]’
- kulunga chizaazi ‘to connect, join people of the same clan – usu. with reference to marrying one’s cousin as a means of bringing the clan closer together’
- Mi/ nnakhsula kulunga chizaazi. ‘I want to bind the clan closer (usu. by marrying one’s cousin).’
- Omari/ ile kulunga chizaazi. ‘Omari came to bind family closer (usu. by marrying a cousin).’
- Omari/ ile Miini/ kuloola/ kulunga chizaazi. ‘Omari came to Brava to get married to join, put together the lineage (e.g. by marrying his cousin).’
- rel.
- i-zaazi* n. people who are related on one another by blood, of the same clan kulunga izaazi =kulunga chizaazi (see above)
- m-zaazi* (wa-) n. 1/2 parent
Ba’adi yaa sala/ kuḷa mooyi/ humḷazima kendra kuzura wazaaziwe/ ahliye/ na weenzawé. ‘After the prayer (on the idi ya wamuusi) everyone is obliged to go to visit his parents, his relatives, and his friends.’
- Mzaazi/ nayo milu miwili/ laakini/ waa ye/ zaaziló/ nt^haná/ miilu. ‘The one who gives birth has two legs, but the one that she gave birth to has none.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is nk^huku/ na iyaank^hukú ‘a hen and an egg’.)
- Ulazo wa mwaana/ hiiwó/ ni mzaazi. ‘The pain of the child, the one who knows it is the parent.’ (A proverb.)
- wazaazi hukumbukoowa, maskiini husaydoowa [song] ‘parents are remembered, and poor people are helped’
- chi-zaazi* n. locally grown cotton godoro ya paamba/ siwo/ ya chizaazi ‘a mattress of cotton, not the locally grown kind’
- u-zaazo* n. 14 kinship
variant form: uzaazi
Uzaazo/ ha’uṭ̄indiki. ‘Kinship cannot be cut (i.e. cannot be severed, cancelled),’
- =z-e [cl.8] possessive enclitic, third person singular ziwo za qur’aani/ ziingineze ‘most of the koranic schools’ zoomboze ‘his/her things’
- =z-e [cl.10] possessive enclitic, third person singular
Mwaana/ chirasha jawaabuze/ chilaala. ‘The child followed his advice and slept.’
Ye/ shtiyaa nyunyi/ kuja nt^heendrece. ‘He was afraid of birds eating his dates.’
- m-zeele* (wa-) n. 1/2 [Sw. -zee SSED 324] parent; old person; elder, chief, mister; the king in cards; adj. old (but with fixed [cl.1/2] agreement)
Apo/ zamaani/ ishiize/ mwaana/ mooyi/ waliko fil̄ila na wazeelé/ wawiliwé. ‘Once upon a time there lives a boy who had been orphaned by both of his parents.’
Chimaliza/ cheendra/ ka mzele Simsini. ‘Then he went to old Simsini.’
Choondroka/ chiwaviila/ mawaziiriwe/ wazeele/ wa muuyi/ na ma’akhyariwé/ chiwa’ambila/ mi/ mp^hetee khaṭi/ il̄azilo ka waawé/ ye/ nt^hulubile kendra/ kumzuura. ‘He got up and summoned his ministers, the chiefs of the town, and his nobles, and told them: I have received a letter from my father and he has requested me to go to visit him.'

Choondroka/ karaayle/ mzeele/ wa wote/ chihada... 'The oldest crow of all arose and said...'

kana mzeele 'like an old man'

Haliima/ hinendra ka tartiibu/ kana/ mzeele. 'Haliima walks slowly like an old man.'

Karaayle/ sfanyiize/ jisa mzeele/ wa'ambiló. 'The crows did what the elder had told them to do.'

Kila muuntu/ nayo mzelewe. 'Everyone has his parents.' (A proverbial saying conveying the idea that we are all humans, we each have our parents, and we each are deserving of respect, etc.)

Mbwa wa mwaana/ tezezo naayé/ waliko mzeele. 'The dog that the child played with it was old.' (An animate [cl.9/10] noun like mbwa, when used in the singular, ordinarily governs [cl.1] agreement. The [cl.10] form, on the other hand, ordinarily governs [cl.10] agreement: Mbwa za mwaana/ tezezo naazó/ ziwaliko wazeele. 'The dogs that the child played with them were old.' This [cl.10] agreement pattern is seen in za, naazo, and zi-. While this is true, it can also be seen that the adjective -zeele doesn't take zi- as its prefix. The prefix is wa-. This indicates that -zeele requires agrees in number with the noun that it modifies but is always either m- or wa-.)

Mi/ mbaliko mwaana/ peeke/ na wazeelewa/ wachimp'eenda/ nt'ho. 'I was a child alone (i.e. an only child) and my parents loved me very much.'

Mukhta ye/ welo mzeelé/ mukeewe/ shishile miimba/ laakini/ ye/ apo/ waliko maskiini/ nt'ho/ nt'akuwanaayo/ sho kuwaa zuwo zaa dawa. 'When he became old, his wife became pregnant, but he then was very poor and did not have anything except books of medicine.'

munthu mzeele 'an old person'; wanthu wazeele 'old people'

Muuntu/ wazeelewe/ hawa'ambili/ wanaafakhi. 'One does not tell his parents lies.'

Mzele mp'aka/ leele. 'Mr. Cat slept.'

Mzele mp'aamp'a/ mukhta ye/ laziló/ muke/ chimraasha. 'When Mr. Shark left, his wife followed him.'

mzele mpotofu 'a corrupt, evil old man'

Mzele uje/ filee ndala. 'That old man died of hunger.'

Mzeele/ uyu/ mukeewe/ mzaliile/ mwiimbili/ msuura/ nt'ho. 'This old man, his wife bore him a very handsome boy.'

Mzele wa nuumba/ chifa/ nuumba/ havuundika. 'If the elder of the house dies, the house breaks.' (A proverb.)

Mzele wa Nuuru/ ile. 'Nuuru's parent came.' Or, with focus on the subject:

Mzele wa Nuuru/ iló. Or, with right-dislocation of the subject: Ile/ mzele wa Nuuru. 'Came the parent of Nuuru.' Or: Iló/ mzele wa Nuuru. 'The one who came is Nuuru's parent.'

ngombe mzeele 'an old cow'

Ndiyé/ mzeele. 'It is he who is the older one (from a story where the speaker is referring to the older of two goats who look alike).'

Numbaani/ walimo mzeele/ mooyi. 'In the house there was an old man.'

Si/ shchitaraja/ kuwa mzeele/ wa muuyi/ kuuya/ shiriini/ laakini/ wa nt'hiinike/ tu/ iló. 'We hoped that the chief of the town would come to the meeting, but just his second-in-command came.'

Suufi/ penzela nt'ho/ na wazeelewe. 'Suufi was loved very much by his parents.'

Wake /wazeele/ wakalent'e numbaani/ wake/ chihabba/ wa'ile. 'The old women stayed home, the young women came.'

Wamfanyize Saalimu/ mzeele. [H!H] 'They made Saalimu chief.' (cf. Saalimu/ fanyiza mzeele/ (naawo). 'Saalimu was made chief (by us).')

Waawaye/ na maamayé/ wawaliko wazele wasuura. 'His father and his

- mother were good parents.’
Wazele awaje/ wanakufa kaa ndala. ‘Those old people are dying of hunger.’
Wazele/ wawene waana. ‘The elders saw the children.’ Or: Wazele/ waweene/ waana.
Wazelewe/ wamkhana’ishize Muusa/ kingila skoola. ‘His parents persuaded Muusa to go to school.’
- rel.
chi-zeele n. [Sw. kizee SSED 324] manner of an old person kinendra chizeele ‘to walk like an old person’ chi-zeele n. [Sw. kizee SSED 324] an old woman Basi/ mwaana/ uyu/ choloka cha chizeele/ chimooyi/ chimweleza khabarize. ‘So this child went to an old woman and explained to her his situation.’
Basi/ oyo/ muḅli/ chendra ka uje chizeele. ‘So that man went to that old woman.’
Chizeele/ chimpaa dawa. ‘The old woman gave him medicine.’
kiineendra/ kana chizeele ‘to walk like an old woman’
i-zeele (mi-) n. aug. 5/4
Uje hakhadiri kḥtindá/ oyo/ ndiyé/ izeele. ‘The one that is not able to break (his restraining ropes), that one it is he who is the older (goat).’
u-zeele n. 14 [Sw. uzee SSED 324] old age; laying-in period after giving birth chilawa karka hiidi na uzele/ muke sho koowa nḥana ndila beele [st.] ‘when menstruation and the laying-in after childbirth are over, a woman who does not wash, she has lost the way’ Karka sku ya uzele/ naawé/ fanyikiḷoowa. ‘In your old age, everything will go well for you.’
Muke/ umo uzeleeni. ‘The woman is still in her recovery period (after giving birth).’
mwenye uzele ‘a woman who is still bleeding after giving birth’ mwenye uzele na hiidi haraamu [st.] ‘a woman who is still bleeding is forbidden from fasting’
- zeeti* n.
variant form: zeydi
mafta (y)a zeeti (or: zeydi) ‘olive oil’ Mafta/ ya zeeti/ ni afiya/ na ni ghaali/ kolko/ ya mafta ya maasara. ‘Olive oil is healthy and is more expensive than sesame oil.’
- zeetuuni* n. [Sw. zeituni SW 539; Ar. zaitūn W 388] guava fruit (not ‘olive’ as originally given in CLE) mafta ya zeetuuni ‘olive oil’
- rel.
m-zeetuuni (mi-) n. tree bearing fruit mzeetuniini ‘in the tree’
- zi-* [cl. 8] subject prefix; [morphophonemic variants: zi-, z-, s-]
Zeema/ haziwoli. ‘Kindness never goes bad.’ (A proverb.)
Zijo/ spozele. ‘The zijo has cooled down.’
Zo/ zivaliko nzaaká. ‘They were mine.’
- zi-* [cl.10] subject prefix; [morphophonemic variants: zi-, z-, s-] kuliindra/ nḥeendre/ hatá/ mukḥtaa zo/ ṣṭakuvivó ‘to guard the dates until they become ripe’ ngoombe/ kaazifá ‘if cows/ the cows were to die’
Nk^huta/ zimpoṭelele. ‘The walls fell on him.’
Peesa/ izo/ schiḷa kaa nk^hele/ hattá/ sultaani/ shkasa. ‘Those coins made a lot of noise until the sultan heard.’

- Ye/ hakhaadiri/ kumwambila waawaye/ kuwa nt^heendre/ zibooze_{la}/ ambo zijilá. ‘He could not tell his father that the dates either were stolen or eaten.’
- Ziikopi/ ndrootoza/ zivaliko schindraashó/ maha_{la} mi/ nch^hoolokó. ‘Where are my dreams which used to follow me everywhere I went?’
- Zita/ nt^haziná/ maato. ‘War has no eyes.’ (A proverb.)
- Ziwovu/ nza maskiini/ huwonekanó/ za taajiri/ haziwonekani. ‘It is the evils of the poor that are seen, those of the rich are not seen.’ (A proverb.)
- zi- [cl.8] object prefix
Laakini/ mwanaamke/ wa sultaani/ zotte/ za Hasani/ fanyiizó/ chiziwona. ‘But the daughter of the sultan, all the things that Hasani had done, she saw them.’
 (The object prefix here refers to the omitted [cl.8] noun ziint^hu ‘things’.)
Wanakizija. ‘They are eating [cl.8].’ (Strikingly, it is possible for this sentence to be pseudo-relativized: Wanakizijó.)
(Ye/) ka’oloká/ su_{la} kizulaa ziti. ‘If he went, he would buy the chairs.’
- zi- [cl.10] object prefix; [morphophonemic variants: zi-, z-, s-] kizibiga ‘to beat [cl.10]’
Shtala peesa/ izo/ zimo hundaani/ chistawanya/ ilu ya msa_{la}. ‘He took those coins from the measuring tin and spread them out on the mat.’
Waant^hu/ humkahato Abunawaasi/ washtukula/ koo^oi/ izo/ wachispeleka/ ka sultaani. ‘The people who hate Abunawaasi took those words and sent them to the sultan.’
(Ye/) ka’oloká/ su_{la} kispataa ndruti. ‘If he went, he would get the sticks.’
(Ye/) ka’oloká/ su_{la} kizula nuumba. ‘If he went, he would buy the houses.’
- zi- [cl.8] noun class prefix
skapu ziwili ‘two baskets’
- zi- [cl.8] adjective agreement
Munt^hu uyu/ nazoo zisu/ skali. ‘This man has sharp knives.’
Munt^hu uyu/ nazoo zisu/ skali/ nt^ho. ‘This man has very sharp knives.’
Munt^hu uyu/ zisuze/ zile. ‘This man, his knives are long.’
Munt^hu uyu/ zisuze/ zilee nt^ho. ‘This man, his knives are very long.’
skapu statu ‘three baskets’
- n-zi n. 9/10 [Sw. inzi SSED 143; nzi M&N 1840] fly Abdalla/ chimbiga/ oyoo nzi/ chimwub_{la}/ na chibiga/ lkele/ nzi. ‘Abdalla hit that fly and killed it and shouted: a fly!’
Apo/ mukhta sanduukhu/ iweeshelá/ ka nasiibu/ nzi mooyi/ chimkalan^hila Abdalla/ usooni. ‘Then when the box was placed [there], by chance a fly landed on Abdalla’s face.’
Bakayle/ lasile/ kanaye/ waazi/ teena/ nzi/ zinamwingilila/ kanaani. ‘The hare had left its mouth open (while feigning to be dead), then flies were getting in its mouth.’
Nzi/ karkaa nt^haka/ yimo daniye. ‘A fly in the garbage is in his interest.’ (A saying that conveys the idea that you go into wherever there is your interest/ need/ benefit.)
Nzi/ kufa karka maayi/ ya naazi/ siwo/ khasaara. ‘For a fly to die in the water of a coconut is not a (great) loss.’
Nzi/ potele kujaani. ‘A fly fell into the food.’
Teena/ nzi/ zinamwingilila/ kanaani. ‘Then flies were getting in and out of its mouth.’
Ye/ shtalaa nzi/ chimtila ndraani/ yaa nt^hupa/ na nt^hupa iyó/ chi’itila karka chiguwo/ chimaliza/ chishtila ndrani ya sanduukhu. ‘He took a fly and he put it inside a bottle, and that bottle, he put it in a piece of cloth, and then he put it [the piece of cloth] inside a box.’

rel.

mi-zi aug.

Wasakha/ huleta mizi. ‘Dirt brings flies.’

ku-ziida

v. [Sw. zidi SSED 537; Ar. zāda W 388] (zidiile) surpass, be greater than, overcome, add to, strengthen afiya karka jismu izidiile [st.] ‘(his) bodily health flourished’

Ali/ udokhani/ umzidiile. ‘Ali’s stupidity increased.’ Or: Udokhani wa Ali/ uzidiile. ‘Ali’s stupidity increased.’ (Subject marking on the verb in both these constructions agrees with udokhani, not Ali. It is ungrammatical to have agreement with Ali: Ali/ udokhani/ zidiile.) amali njeema huziida imaani [st.] ‘good deeds increase faith’

Baaba/ maraōi/ yachimziida. ‘Father became sicker.’

Chizida kishkila. ‘She descended more.’

Miti ayo/ ni zigobe/ kuzida miti aya. ‘Those trees are shorter than (lit. to surpass) these trees.’

Mnaadisha/ chizida khetema/ ka shtiisho/ chiĵa/ chiloomba. ‘The auctioneer trembled (even more) from fear and cried and begged (in the story: that his head not be cut off).’

Mwanaamke/ chizida khpendoowa/ na muĵiwe. ‘The girl was loved even more by her husband.’

Mzele Simsini/ chizida kiġta’ajaba. ‘Old Simsini was even more amazed at (these things).’

Nazo fahamu/ na basarā/ kuzida wanaadamu/ wiingi. ‘He has understanding and talents surpassing many people.’

Nk^hele ziinu/ zizidiile/ nt^ho. ‘Your (pl.) noise is much too loud.’

ta’abu/ imzidiilopó ‘when hardship overcame him’

Takuzida ki’ikasa. ‘He will hear more of it [cl.9].’

Wana awa/ nii wale/ kuzida wana awo. ‘These children are taller than those children.’

We/ takulala kaaka/ na fijiri/ nt^h akhupoleka/ kaa muke/ mooyi/ mzele/ nt^h o/ hunzidoo mi/ ye/ takhusaayda. ‘You will sleep at my place and in the morning I will take you to a woman much older than me and she will help you.’

Ye/ nakhsuĵa/ kuloĵoowa/ na muunt^hu/ humzidoo ye/ ka akhilí. ‘She wants to be married by a man who surpasses her in intelligence.’

Zisu izo/ suwo/ skali/ kuzida zisu izi. ‘Those knives are not sharper than these knives.’

rel.

ku-ziidana v. rec. know more than one another in different areas of knowledge

Waant^hu/ huzidana ka ĵmu/ ka maali/ na ka darajā. ‘People are better than one another in knowledge, wealth, and status.’

ku-zidiĵoowa v. appl. pass.

Askari/ shfanya kaazi/ jisa suura/ huzidiĵoowa daraja/ na mshaharā. ‘If a soldier performs his job well, he is given a higher rank and greater salary.’

lombaani Sheekhi kuraaga/ umriwe kuzidiĵoowa [st.] ‘pray that the Sheikh may live on and that his life be extended’ nazidiĵoowa daraja/ nk^hulu ku’adimoowa [st.] ‘may his position be enhanced/ increased and exalted’ ku-ziidila v. appl.

Haliima/ mwaanawe/ haakasi/ kooōi/ tuushile/ maamaye/ mwambiile/ khuziīdila. ‘Haliima’s child does not listen to warnings (lit. talk), he falls down, his mother tells him: you deserve more.’

Kuĵa mwenye waana/ humĵazima kuwaziidila/ waanawe/ chaakuĵa/ cha masku ayo. ‘Everyone who has children is obliged to increase for his children the food for that evening (Ashuura).’

Kuloĵoowa/ mi/ nakuwonā/ kuwa itakunondoleĵa ta’abu/ na itakunzidila raaha. ‘To get married, I see that it will eliminate difficulties and it will increase my comfort.’

Mzeele/ chija/ chihada/ mi siná/ waana/ waanawa/ ni maraði/ na [ka]wa'infi/ sho/ kuwa kumzidila muunt'u/ maraði. 'The old man cried and said: I have no children, my children are a sickness and they are of no use except to add to a person's sickness.'

Omari/ hadiile/ Ali/ haṭá/ chiyá/ hakhuziidili/ chiint'u. 'Omari said that even if Ali comes, he will not add anything for you.'

ku-zidilana v. appl. rec. (-zidileene) add for one another ku-ziidisha v. caus. (zidishiize)

Muunt'u/ kuulu/ ichimlaaza/ mwiineendro/ huzidisha/ ulaazo. 'If someone's leg aches him, walking makes it more painful.'

ku-zidoowa v. pass.

Haliima/ huzidoowa/ ka suura/ humziidó/ ni Aaminá. 'Haliima is surpassed in beauty, the one who surpasses her is Aamina.'

nalombeloowa Rahimu/ darajaye kuzidoowa [st.] 'let us beg the Merciful One to elevate his position'

m-zigo (mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mzigo SSED 324] load, piece of luggage, burden, goods

Gaari/ inakishkizoowa/ mzigo. 'The truck is being unloaded (the load).'

Gaari/ itukile mzigo. 'The truck carried a load.'

Inakhpakizowa mzigo. 'A load is bring loaded.'

Mahaḷaa ye/ heendró/ hendra na mzigowe. 'Wherever she goes, she goes with her load.' (A riddle, the answer to which is muke nayo miimbá 'a pregnant woman'.)

mzigo waa gele 'a load of maize' mzigo wa suukari 'a load of sugar'

nzito kana mzigo 'as heavy as a load'

Shtomola ikoopa/ ka mzigooni/ wa muné. 'He took the cup from the bag of his younger brother.'

rel.

i-zigo n. burden, bag

Khkalaant'a/ khuwelela izigo/ ilu yo/ skhaadiri. 'To stay and be a burden on you, I cannot [do it].'

Yuusufu/ chimpa/ mtumishi/ mooyi/ amri/ ka nt'hiini/ khtila ikoopaye/ karka izigo/ ya Bin.yaameeni. 'Joseph gave a servant an order secretly to put his cup in the bag of Benjamin.'

zijo

n. 8 [morphological composition: zi-jo; cf. ku-ja 'to eat'] any meal of cooked cereals (maize, rice, sorghum); this word is never used in the sense of 'food' when this consists of meat or fish khpikaa zijo 'to cook zijo'

kujaa zijo 'to eat zijo'

Laakini/ zijo/ mpele mwanaamke/ na ikookó/ mpele mwana wa mubliwe. 'But she gave zijo to her daughter and the hard crust of rice to her husband's child.'

Liindra/ kujaa zijó. 'Wait, I am eating zijo.' (Phon. The present tense form (n)nakujaa zijó is reduced in this example to kujaa zijó.)

Naani/ jiloo zijó. 'Who ate the zijo?' Or: Naani/ jiiló/ zijo. 'Who ate the zijo?'

Naani/ nt'akujaa zijó. 'Who did not eat the zijo?' Or: Naani/ nt'aakujá/ zijo. 'Who did not eat the zijo?'

Omari/ nt'aakujá/ zijo. 'Omari did not eat the zijo.' Or: Omari/ nt'akujaa zijó. 'It's Omari who did not eat the zijo.'

Sku ya kaandra/ ba'adi yaawo/ kingila haruusi/ wajile/ zijo/ za mpuunga/ ka mtuzi/ wa nama ya ngoombe. 'On the first day after they entered home married, they ate zijo of rice with soup of the meat of a cow.'

Sku ya piili/ wajilee zijo/ zaa gele/ ka mtuzi/ wa nama/ ya mbuzi ya matako. 'On the second day that ate zijo of maize with soup of the meat of mutton.'

Takhaadira/ zijo izi/ kujá? 'Can you eat these zijo?'

Tete iziwa/ na zijo za mpuungá/ mtukize myaana/ kumpelekela eelo.
'She took milk and rice zijo and had a female servant carry it and take it to the gazelle.'

Zijo/ pishilo Haliimá/ nt^haskujoowa. 'The zijo that Haliima cooked was not eaten.'

Zijo/ pishilo Haliimá/ haaziwi/ ziladda. 'The zijo cooked by Haliima will not be sweet.'

Zijo/ pishilo Haliimá/ siji. 'The zijo Haliima cooked I do not eat.'

zijo zaa gele 'maize zijo' zijo za mhuundru 'sorghum zijo' zijo za mpuunga 'cooked rice'

ku-zũika

v. [Sw. zika SSED 540] (ziishile) bury; cover a fire with ashes to keep the embers alive

Chimaliza/ kuzika chaakuja/ Hasani/ hamura shpeteche/ kumleetela/ chaakuja/ chisuura/ kolko chaakuja/ cha mwanaamke/ humleeteló. 'When he finishes burying the food, Hasani orders his [magical] ring to bring food for him better than the food that the girl brings to him.'

Chizika silaahaze/ chamura shpeteche/ kumfaanya/ jisaa ye/ na'iwowa ka sultaani. 'He buried his weapons and ordered his [magical] ring to make him as he was known to the sultan.'

Fiilopó/ mwaana/ chimziika/ kama sultaani. 'When he died, the son buried him in a manner befitting a sultan.'

Hasani/ hutumba iboholi/ hichiziika/ icho chaakuja/ pashpo/ ye/ kiiwa/ kuwa mwanaamke/ nakuwona zaa ye/ nakhfaanyó. 'Hasani digs a hole and buries that food without knowing that the girl sees what he is doing.'

Mayti/ hamziiki/ mayti. 'A corpse cannot bury a corpse.' (A proverb.)

Mi/ nt^hunzile iboholi/ nzishile nguwozé. 'I dug a hole and buried her clothes.'

Mwaana/ humzika mzele/ mzele/ humzika mwaana. '(It should be that) the child buries the parent, (not) the parent buries the child.' (A proverb.)

Sultaani/ tukile waanawe/ enzele muyiini/ kuwaziika. 'The sultan carried his [dead] children and went to the town to bury them.'

Taajiri/ malizopo kuzika maaliyé/ chiyolokela kaake. 'When the rich man finished burying his money, he took off to his house.'

Wanafuunzi/ wachimtala mwaalimu/ wachendra kumziika. 'The students took the teacher[^s body] and went to bury him.'

rel.

ku-zũikana v. rec. (zikeene) bury one another

Awo/ hawaziikani. 'Those ones do not attend the funerals of one another (i.e. they are enemies).'

ku-zũikila v. appl. (zikiliile) bury for, with ku-zikilana v. appl. rec. (zikileene) bury for one another ku-zikoowa v. pass. (ziishiila) be buried awo waziishiila na mtume Qumari [st.] 'they were buried by the prophet Qumari' kalan^taani pumulaani/ hatta Sheekhi chizikoowa [st.] 'sit down and rest until the Sheikh's burial is completed' karka jiraani ya mtume zikoowa [st.] 'near the Prophet he [Jesus] will be buried'

Muunt^u/ chifa/ husula kuzikoowa/ sa'a arba'a wa ishiriini/ katiike. 'If someone dies, it is wanted (for him) to be buried within twenty-four hours.'

Mzishile eelo/ jisa sultaani/ mo/ huzikoowa. 'He buried the gazelle just as a sultan is buried.'

Shekh Nureeni/ zishiila muskitiini/ kaake/ was Shekh Nureeni. 'Shekh Nureeni himself is buried in the mosque of Shekh Nureeni.'

Sultaani/ komelopo kaaké/ muyiini/ mzishile eelo/ jisa sultani mo/ huzikoowá/ chimaliza/ weshele matanga makulu. 'When the sultan reached his town, he buried the gazelle in the way that a sultan is buried and then he held a large wake.’

	waziishiġa Maka karka ijabali [st.] ‘they were buried in Mecca under a hill’
	rel. nom.
	m-ziiiko n. funeral
	Mi/ nhisize muġa’asifú/ kugafa mziiko. ‘I felt sad about missing the funeral.’
zilzaali	n. [Ar. zilzāl W 380] earthquake
	Zilzaali/ ihalishile/ mui wa Miini. ‘An earthquake destroyed the town of Brava.’
-zima	adj. [Sw. -zima SSED 540] whole, entire, all, complete; adult Abdalla/ chiġawa/ ka apo/ naayé/ mzimawe/ shġana/ cheendra/ ka mukeewe.
went to	‘Abdalla left from there and while he was all nothing but anger, he his wife.’
	Chiza kuziwa lufa/ itakhushika kiġwaka lkuta lzimaġe. ‘Unless you fill in a crack it will be necessary for you to build the whole wall.’ (A proverb.)
	masku mazima ‘all night’
	munt^hi mzima ‘all day’
	munt^hi oyo/ mzimawe ‘that whole day’ munt^hu mzima ‘an adult’
	Muuyi/ mzimawe/ washizaa ġala. [H’H!H] ‘The entirety of the town was lit up.’ Cf.
	ġala/ zashiiza/ muuyi/ mzimawe. [HH!H’H] ‘Lamps lit the whole town.’
	Cf. Zashiza muuyi/ mzimawé/ ni ġala. [H’H’H] ‘What lit up the whole town is lamps.’
	Ndrinzile sa’aa nzimá. ‘I waited for a whole hour.’
	Nsi mooyi/ huwoza ġawala/ nzimaye. ‘One fish contaminates the whole sea.’ (A proverb.)
	Nthaná/ adabu/ hujiba want^hu wazima. ‘He does not have good manners, he talks back to his elders.’
	Numba iyi/ na mui uyu/ mzimawe/ mbwaa noka/ mooyi/ mkulu/ ka ziġaa saba.
	‘This house and the whole of this town belong to a large snake with seven heads.’
	Nuumba/ nii nzima. ‘The house is in good condition (whole, sound).’
	Numbaa nzima. ‘The whole house (i.e. all the people in the house, the family).’
	sa’aa mbili/ nzima ‘two whole hours’
	Sa’iidi/ nt^hamwona/ sulġaani/ mizimawe/ ye/ wene chitaache/ tu. ‘Sa’iidi did not see all of the sultan, he saw only his head.’
	Siwo/ waajibu/ ilu yiinu/ kudhora want^hu wazima. ‘Is it not obligatory on you (plural) to respect adults?’ (The final accent in the last phrase is to be attributed to the yes-no question intonation in this sentence.)
	ġalaya/ huwaza duniya nzima. ‘My lamp lights the whole world.’ (A riddle, the answer to which is mwezi wa weelu ‘moon’.) Wa’oloshelo muiiini/ ni want^hu wazima. ‘The ones who went into town are the adults.’
	waana/ na wazimá ‘children and adults (i.e. everyone)’
	Want^hu wazima/ waleele. ‘Adults are sleeping.’
	We/ ni munt^hu mziimá. ‘You are an adult.’
	rel.
	u-zima n. 14 adulthood
ku-zima	v. [Sw. zima SSED 540] (zimiile) be out (of a light, fire); be calm, patient, not carried away
	Muġo/ uzimiile. ‘The fire is out.’
	Munt^hu mzima/ huzima. ‘An adult is supposed to be calm and patient.’

Tala/ izimiile. ‘The light is out.’

rel.

ku-zimiliza v. tr. appl.(zimiliize)

Nzimilize mulo we ndo nfulahisha. [song] ‘Put out the fire [of love] for me, you come and make me happy.’

ku-zimiza v. tr. (zimiize) turn off (a light), put out (a fire)

Chizimize korantá. ‘We turned off the electricity.’

Mi/ nk^hawa mwenyee nguvú/ hukhadiro khfanya yaa ye/ nakhsuuló/ mazá/ mi/ suḷa kiyajata/ maayi/ kunzimizá. ‘If I [in the story, fire is speaking] have the power to do whatever I want, how come I let water extinguish me?’

Zita zaawo/ hazizimi. ‘Their quarreling never stops.’

ku-zimizoowa v. tr. pass. (zimiiza) be turned off

Koranta/ izimiza naasi. ‘The electricity was turned off by us.’

zimaamu

Karka nt^hi za chi’aafrika/ ufasaadi/ uzidiile/ na rashwá/ iwele ni aada/ na iyi inakuleetó/ ni kuwa kuḷa nakhtawaḷo zimaamú/ za nt^hi mooyi/nt^hanakhfikirila/ shokuwa waant^hu/ wa khabilaye. ‘In the countries of Africa, corruption has increased and bribery has become a custom, and what brings this about is that whoever administers the affairs on a country thinks about no one except the people of his tribe.’

ku-zimila

v. (zimiile) hide (from), escape

Abunawaasi/ chizimile/ ka nt^hi iyi. ‘Abunawaasi escaped from this land.’

Ichiwa teena/ mp^hana/ nt^hawaná/ mahaḷaa wo/ kuzimila. ‘It became then that the rats had no place [for them] to hide.’

Laakini/ Hasani/ chimzimila/ waziiri. ‘But Hasani hid from the minister.’

Mp^hana/ haalawi/ ndilaani/ muunt^hi/ huzimila matundruuni. ‘A rat does not go outside during the daytime, he hides in holes.’

Muunt^hi/ huzimila matundruuni. ‘During the day it (e.g. a rat) hides in holes.’

Mukhta sulṭaani/ mweno Abunawaasi/ chimuza/ naambila/ waliko zimiilepí. ‘When the sultan saw Abunawaasi, he asked him, tell me, where were you hidden?’

Nzimile nt^hini yaa chili/ ye/ simbone. ‘I hid under the bed so that he would not see me.’ Or: Nzimile nt^hini yaa chili/ spate kumbona. ‘I hid under the bed so that he would not (get to) see me.’ (Note that one cannot use a negative infinitive complement: *Nzimile nt^hini yaa chili/ chiza kumbona. ‘I hid under the bed in order (for him) not to see me.’)

Siimba/ apa/ wakali/ wazimile mashakaani. ‘Lions here are fierce, hiding in the bush.’

Sku mooyi/ masku yahaani/ chizimila/ chendra ka karaayle/ weenizwe/ chiwapa khabari. ‘One day during the night he [Crow] ran away and went to his fellow crows and gave them the news.’

Sulṭaani/ chizida khshikowa shṭana/ mukhta ya ye/ kasizo kuwa Abunawaasi/ zimiile. ‘The sultan became more angry when he heard that Abunawaasi had escaped.’

Wachiwasiḷa/ zimila/ wasikhuwone. ‘When they arrive, hide so they do not see you.’

Ye/ chilawa/ ka mahaḷaa ye/ waliko zimiiló/ chendra ka sulṭaani. ‘He went out from the place where he was hidden and went to the sultan.’

Ye/ chingila mayiini/ chizimila. ‘He went into the water and hid.’

Ye/ shfakaṭa/ cheendra/ chizimila. ‘He ran away, and went and hid.’

Zimile askari. ‘He hid from the police.’

Zimile maduriini. ‘He hid in the forest.’

rel.

ku-zimilila v. appl. (zimiliile)

Nt^haná/ hila za kuzimilila. ‘He has no wits to hide with.’

ku-zimilana v. rec. (zimileene) hide from one another, avoid seeing one another ku-zimilanisha v. rec. caus. make hide from one another

Ali/ chizimilanishiize. 'Ali made us hide from one another.'

ku-zimilazimila v. freq.

...napate ku'isha/ na mpenziwe/ pashpo khtiya/ na kuzimilazimila '...so that she get to live with her lover without fear and having to hide (e.g. from her father)'

ku-zimisha v. caus. help escape, make disappear ku-zimiza v. caus. (zimiize) hide s.t. from view; cause to hide (Syn. This verb cannot be used to convey the notion 'cause s.o. to hide s.t.', hence the ungrammaticality of Zubeeri/ mzimize mwaana/ chibuuku. 'Zubeeri caused the child to hide the book.')

Lkuta/ limzimiize. 'The wall hid him from view.'

Zubeeri/ mzimize mwaana. 'Zubeeri caused the child to run away, run away.'

ku-zimizanya v. tr. rec. (-zimizeenye) cause one another to hide

Si/ chizimizeenye. 'We caused one another to hide.' (When asked how one would convey the idea that someone caused plural people to hide one another, MI rejected outright Ali/ chizimizeenye. 'Ali caused us to hide one another.' He was skeptical about suffixing the causative to this reciprocal stem: ???Ali/ chizimizanyishiize. 'Ali caused us to hide each other.')

i-zimu

n. spirit, djinn, madman

Ali/ kana/ izimu/ hakooði/ ba. 'Ali is like a madman, he does not talk at all.'

ku-zimu

n. 9 [Sw. kuzimu "state (place, condition) of departed spirits of the dead, the grave, the lower world" SSED 325] sky, heaven

Amaana/ kuzimu/ naa nṭhi/ yiizó/ maadamu/ teetó. 'Trust has been refused by the sky and the earth, but has been accepted (lit. taken) by human beings.' (A proverb that points out that people have accepted the necessity of trusting and thus must be trustful.)

chimooble Mooja unzilo kuzimu saba [st.] 'pray for us to God who created the seven heavens' chiiza sabri lawa nṭhiini ya kuzimu [st.] 'if you do not (want to be) patient, get out from under the sky (i.e. this world)'

Endra kuzimu/ ruuda/ hupati/ chinṭhu icho. 'Go to the sky and come back, you won't get anything.'

Fikiriini/ chihada/ chimwambila mwanaamke/ mp^hanzile chaa mi/ nsulijiló/nneelé/ chaa mi/ nsulijiló/ niko karkaa nṭhi/ na mwajiitú/ uko kuzimu. 'Fikirini said, telling the girl: I rode that which I wanted, I drank that which I wanted, I am on earth and God is in the sky.'

huwoni kuzimu huwoni bahari [st.] 'you do not see the sky, you do not see the ocean'

Jibriili/ uko kuzimu. 'The archangel Gabriel is in heaven.' (Notice that this noun is not used in the locative: ku-zimuu=ni.) kana kuzimu/ naa nṭhi 'like heaven and earth -- said of two persons who are as different as possible' khpandra kuzimu 'to ascend to heaven'

Kula hendro ilú/ kuzimu/ hashkoma/ hishkila. 'Everything that goes up does not reach the sky, (rather) it comes down.' (A proverb.)

wa-zimu

n. [Sw. wazimu SSED 528] craziness, madness

Muke/ we/ nayo wazimú. 'Woman, you are mad.'

Muyiini/ waant^hu/ wamkaheete/ na kila chimwonó/ chimtuusha/ na kumtelezá/

kama muunt^hu/ mwa nda wazimu. 'In the town, people hated him and everyone who saw him derided him and teased him as being a crazy person.' review "mwa nda wazimu"

Nayo wazimú/ we/ endrá/ endrá/ siwo/ mzima/ we. ‘You are crazy, you; go away, go away! you are not all there, you.’

Ndro/ we/ pete wazimú/ so. ‘Come, have you gone crazy?’

zina

n. [cf. Sw. zina, zinaa SSED 543; Ar. zinā’ “adultery, fornication” W 383] adultery ya nafsi laṭa kibri laṭa fakhari/ laṭa zina laṭa riba laṭa khamri [st.] ‘oh mortal, leave arrogance, leave showing off, leave adultery, leave usury, leave alcohol’

Zina/ hubadilaa bina. ‘Adultery alters physical appearance (in a negative way).’ (A proverb.)

Zina/ hukharibishaa bina. ‘Adultery destroys physical appearance (makes one look bad).’ (A proverb.)

Zina/ ni haraamu/ ka dini ya Islaamu. ‘Adultery is forbidden in the religion of Islam.’

ziina

n. [Ar. zīna W 390] poetic beauty

karka Makka peleshela teena/ Betu al-Muqaddasi iyo muuyi wa ziina [st.] ‘from Mecca and was then transported to Jerusalem, the beautiful city’

Mooja nashpeleka muuyi wa ziina [st.] ‘may God take us to the beautiful city’

ku-zina

v. [cf. Sw. zini SSED 543; Ar. zinā’ “adultery, fornication” W 383] (ziniile) commit adultery

Omari/ ni ma’siyoole/ haalaṭi/ kuzina. ‘Omari is a philanderer, he does not quit committing adultery.’

rel.

ku-zinisha v. caus. (zinishiize) induce to commit adultery’

ku-ziinga

v. [Sw. zinga SSED 542] (zingiile) turn; wander aimlessly (Not known to GM.)
rel.

ku-zingaziinga v. freq.

m-ziinga (mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mzinga SSED 542] beehive

Ilu yaa muti/ uwaliko mziinga/ waa nyoki. ‘Up in the tree there was a hive of bees.’

m-ziinga(mi-)

n. 3/4 [Sw. mzinga SSED 542] cannon; explosion; boom

kubiga mziinga ‘to explode’

mizingu ya salaamu ‘a salute with guns’

Miziinga/ yanakula/ bon/ bon/ bon/ bon. ‘Explosions are crying bon bon bon bon!’

Mukhtaawo/ wawelo tayaari/ wachibiga miziinga/ kama wanakhpo waant^hu/ waraadi. ‘When they were ready [to depart], they fired cannons like they were saying farewell to the people.’ (Observe that kama here triggers relativization of its verbal complement.)

Mukhtaaye/ ingilo chibateraani/ yachibigooa/ miziinga/ ishiriini/ na mooyi. ‘When she entered the boat, twenty-one cannon shots were fired.’

ku-zingamana

v. [Sw. zingamana SSED 542] (zingameene) wrestle

Waana/ wa Ali/ jisaa wo/ wanakuzingamano/ waha^hlasheene/ wavundishile mikono. ‘Ali’s children hurt themselves as they were fighting, they broke arms/ hands.’

rel.

ku-zingamanila v. appl. (zingamaniile)

ku-zingamanoowa v. pass.

Sukhuuni/ rabsha/ ziiko/ ma’askari/ na waant^hu/ inakuzingamanoowa/ yiko mazingamano. ‘At the market there are disturbances, soldiers and people are wrestling, there are wrestling events.’

- nom. rel.
ma-zingamano n. events of wrestling
Omari/ ha'ipatoowi/ kaake/ chiint^hu/ sharti/ ka mazingamano. 'Things cannot be easily gotten from Omari, one must (get what one wants) by use of lit. wrestlings, i.e by strenuous efforts.'
- chi-zilingiti* (zi-)
n. 7/8 [Sw. kizingiti SSED 214] threshold (into the house)
Chimwona eelowe/ simeme chizingitiini. 'He saw his gazelle standing at the steps.'
Hukalaant^ha/ chizingitiini/ kaake/ huuza. 'He sits on the threshold of his home and sells things.'
Kalaant^ha/ chizingitiini/ ilu ya mlaango/ mub^hliwa/ chiya/ khpita/ kingila numbaani/ mpo^hteelele/ mlume shkosi .'Sit at the entrance, above the door and when my husband comes to pass to enter the house, drop down on him and sting him on the neck. (A woman's instructions to a snake on how to kill her husband!)
kubadila chizingiti/ cha mnaango 'lit. to change the threshold of the door -- i.e. to marry a new wife (while keeping the first one, or the previous ones)'
- chi-zilingo* (zi-)
n. 7/8 [Sw. kizingo SSED 542] rim; s.t. curved or round (This word is not known to GM.)
- Zinjibaari*
n. Zanzibar
Laakini/ ba'adaa yo/ kudangamana/ na jaziira/ ya Zinjibaari/ wakulu/ waa nt^hi/ wa Tanganyika/ na wajaziira/ wa Zinjibaari/ wadanganyiliize/ ina ya Tanganyika/ na ya Zinjibaari. 'But after it (Tanganyika) merged with the island of Zanzibar, the leaders of Tanganyika and of the island of Zanzibar merged the name of Tanganyika and Zanzibar.'
- m-ziishi*
n. [Sw. mzishi SSED 540] (deverbal nouns ending in -i, such as this one, were occasionally used by our initial consultant, MI, but do not appear to be in general use) undertaker
- zita*
n. 10 [Sw. vita SSED 515; zita SSED 543] war, fighting, quarreling (We have not found any evidence that this noun should be considered a [cl.8] noun with the structure zi-ta, although this is not beyond the realm of possibility.) Hamadi/ ndiyé/ hanzoo zita/ naank^hó/ ndiyó/ humero kudirka chiinó. 'Hamadi is the one who starts fights, still he is the one who seeks to claim being in the right.'
khfanyaa zita 'to sever a relationship; to make war'
Sheekhuna/ ile numbaani/ ka Abú/ fanyizee zita/ chiza kulalizowa haruusi. 'Sheekhuna came to Abu's house and made war over not being invited for the wedding.'
Kodi niingi/ huletaa zita. 'Too much talking brings conflict.' (A proverb.)
kubigaa zita 'to fight, make war'; also: kubigowaa zita (passive) Hubigoo zita/ ni muunt^hu/ nayo tawariye. 'The one who fights is the one who has energy for it.'
Muunt^hu/ kaleent^hó/ mkali/ kubigaa zita. 'One who is sitting is very good at fighting.' (A saying.)
Zamaani/ zita/ schibigoowa/ ka lpaanga/ na gaashaani. 'In olden times wars were fought with swords and shields.'
Maneno miingi/ huletaa zita. 'Too much talking brings conflict.' (A proverb.)
Ndiwa/ chimwaambila/ sintoongelé/ zita zaa mi/ siskhaadiri. 'The pigeon told him: don't provoke for me wars that I cannot afford.'
Schondrokaa zita/ kati kaawo. 'Fighting broke out between them.'
Sultaani/ shtomola ma'askariwe/ keendra/ kubigaa zita. 'The sultan sent his soldiers to go to fight the war.'
Zita/ nt^haziná/ maato. 'War does not have eyes.' (A proverb.)

zita spisilo karka masahaaba/ maamala chiza takhkosha ijaaba [st.] ‘the fighting among the Prophet’s followers, be quiet about, otherwise you will fail to achieve success’

Zita zaawo/ hazizimi. ‘Their quarreling never ends [lit. goes out].’

Zita /zimuḷo/ zinakiineendra. ‘Fierce fighting is continuing.’

-zito

adj. [Sw. -zito SSED 543] heavy, slow, sluggish, lazy, thick, difficult

Chint^hu changaangu/ heeluka/ chint^hu chizito/ huzama. ‘Something light, floats; something heavy, sinks.’ (A saying.)

Ijarsi/ iwaliko izito. ‘The bell was heavy.’

Ka Mhamadi/ chint^hu chizito. ‘For Mhamadi there is nothing difficult.’

Ka mwajiitu/ nt^haku/ chint^hu chizito. ‘For God there is nothing difficult (lit. heavy).’

kh^htukula uzito wa muunt^hu ‘(lit.) carry s.o.’s weight, load – i.e. taking on the responsibility, load of another’

Nini/ insumbiiló/ kh^htukula uzito wa muunt^hu/ yaaka/ ba/ inshiishile. ‘What is it that makes me suffer carrying someone else’s weight? Mine is even catching me (i.e. I have my own to carry)?’

Limila/ lwele lzito. ‘My tongue became heavy -- i.e. I could not speak.’

Maazi/ ni mazito/ kolko maayi. ‘Blood is thicker than water.’ (A proverb.)

munt^hu mzito ‘a heavy, slow, lazy man (e.g. s.o. who requires a long time to complete a task);’ want^hu wazito ‘heavy, lazy men’

Omari/ ha’ikhadiroowi/ kurashmanowa naaye/ ni mzito. ‘Omari cannot be gone with him (i.e. cannot go with him), he is a burden (slowing him down).’

Omari/ hadiile/ jawabu za Alí/ nii nzito/ zinakhsuḷa wakht^hi niingi/ khkoḷoḷoowa/ kheeri/ chiwekeni chinume. ‘Omari said: the discussion about Ali is hard, tough etc., they need a lot of time to be discussed, it is better that we postpone it to a later time.’

Omari/ mkali/ khfanya koranta/ laakini/ ni mzito. ‘Omari is good at making electricity, but is slow.’

shtoka chizito ‘heavy axe’

Waliko mzito/ kujiba su’aali. ‘He was slow to answer the question.’

Ye/ ni mzito. ‘He is heavy, slow (idiomatically, a burden, slows one down).’

zilatu zizito ‘heavy shoes’

zisu zizito ‘heavy knives’

rel.

ma-zito n.6

kandika mazito ‘to put a heavy load [fig.] on someone’

u-zito n. 14 heaviness; a burden

Kanaa we/ nakhsuḷa kishkiza uzitó/ we/ laazimu/ kuja haba. If you want to lose weight you must eat less.

uzito mp^hakūza nyezeeze mimbaani [song] ‘I was loaded with a burden, I have filled my stomach (with it)’

i-ziwa

n. 5/6 [Sw. maziwa SSED 543] milk

iziwa igoroori ‘cow’s milk that has been shaken and cream etc. extracted – the cheapest kind of milk’ iziwa imanya ‘the second stage of fermentation of camel’s milk, the milk is becoming tasty’ iziwa ishu ‘fresh milk’

iziwa isiita ‘the last stage of camel’s milk, where the milk is very sour; this is the cheapest camel’s milk’

iziwa isuusu ‘the third stage of camel’s milk, where it has become more tasty, a little sourish – the most expensive form’ iziwa yaa mbuzi ‘goat milk’ iziwa yaa muti ‘sap of a tree’

iziwa ya ngamiila ‘camel’s milk’

iziwa ya ngoombe ‘cow’s milk’

Nnele iziwa/na khamri. ‘I drank the milk and the liquor.’

Sultaani/ chamura eelo/ khpowa chaakuja/ na iziwa. ‘The sultan ordered the gazelle to be given food and milk.’

ku-ziwa

v. [Sw. ziba SSED 540] (ziwiile) fill a hole or a crack (in a wall, e.g., not the ground), block

Chiza kuziwa lufa/ itakhushika kilwaka lkuta/ izimale. ‘Unless you fill in a crack it will be necessary for you to build the whole wall.’ (A proverb.)

Huseeni/ ziwile nt^huundru. ‘Huseeni filled in the hole.’

rel.

ku-ziwika v. p/s. (-ziwishile)

Nt^huundru/ iziwishile. ‘The hole was able to be filled in.’

ku-ziwikila v. p/s. appl. (-ziwikiliile)

Nt^huundru/ imziwikiliile. ‘The hole was able to get filled in for him.’

ku-ziwila v. appl. (ziwiliile) fill with

Ali/ moro wa nuumbaye/ ziwiliile/ ka lkuta/ ha’iwonoowi/ ndraani.

‘Ali’s backyard, he has surrounded it with a wall, it cannot be seen inside it.’

kuziwila nt^huundru/ ka chimento ‘to fill a hole with cement’ kuziwila nt^huundru/ ka mtaanga ‘to fill a hole with sand’

Omari/ ziwiliile chooloko/ cha nuumbaye/ ka bulukeeti. ‘Omari covered the window of his house with bricks.’

ku-ziwilika v. appl. p/s.

khalbi ya mapeendo ha’iziwiliki [song] ‘a heart that loves cannot be repaired’ ku-ziwisha v. caus. (ziwishiize)

Shego/ mziwishize mwaana/ nt^huundru. ‘Shego made the child fill in the hole.’

ku-ziwishana v. caus. rec.

ku-ziwishika v. caus. p/s.

ku-ziwishiliza v. caus. appl.

Shego/ mziwishilize Sarmadi/ mwaana/ nt^huundru. ‘Shego made Sarmadi’s child fill in the hole.’

ku-ziwishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

Shego/ na Sarmadi/ waziwishilizenye waana/ nt^huundru. ‘Shego and Sarmadi made one another’s children fill in the holes.’

ziya

n. [Sw. kia (via) "joint of the leg or arm" SSED 184] joint(s) of the human body; stamina khtowaa ziya ‘to lack stamina’ uða’iifu/ waa ziya ‘lacking stamina’

ziya kulungana zize [st.] ‘(my) joints have refused to be joined to each other -- meaning, in my old age (so speaks Dada Masiti, who lived to be a hundred) my joints are now weak, they do not stick together’

ziyaara

n. 8 [Sw. ziara SSED 539; Ar. ziyāra W 386] the tomb of a saint; the commemoration, celebration of a saint’s death; a visit (The initial zi of the Arabic source for this word seems to have led to it being categorized as a [cl.8] noun, but there is no evidence that speakers analyze it as consisting of a prefix and a stem, e.g. zi-yaara* or z-yaara*, as such a stem is not attested independently of the word ziyaara.)

ikum na naane mfungulo wa muusi / fanya ziyaaraze kana harusi =[st.]

‘[On] the 18th day of] the first month, celebrate her anniversary day like a wedding.’

Inakurudoowa/ ka ziyaraani. ‘People are coming back from the festival.’

Leelo/ ziyaara/ za Shekh Khaasimu/ ni taano/ mtoondro/ nii saba/itakikhtimoowa. ‘Today the religious ceremony of Sheekh Khaasimu is the fifth day, the day after tomorrow is the seventh, it will be concluded.’

Nali/ yana/ masku/ ziyaraani/ ka Dada Maasiti/ zoloshela/ mara mooyi/ tu/

zam!/ chimaliza/ zashiza tiriiki. ‘Lights (electric) last night at the Dada

Maasiti ceremony went off at once zam! then petromaxes were lit.’
rabi chiruzuqe keendra ziyaara [st.] ‘O God, make it possible for us to visit’
Si/ chinayo weenzá/ wanakuyo ziyaará/ aakhiri/ ya ayaamu/ ka jis’iyo/ si/ hashkhaadiri/ kuya feestá/ ya Umi. ‘We have friends visiting over the weekend so that we won’t be able to attend Umi’s party.’
Waant^{hu}/ wa’iló/ ziyaraani/ ka Shekh Nureeni/ kanaa nyoki. ‘The people who went on ziyaara to Sheikh Nureeni were as many as bees.’
washkoma ziyaraani/ teena inakalan^{thoowa} [st.] ‘and when they reach the burial place, they will sit down’ ziyaara za mtume suna mu’akadi [st.] ‘visiting the Prophet’s grave is recommended’ Ziyaara/ za Shekh Aweeso/ hufanyowa Biyoole. ‘The visiting of Sheikh Aweeso’s grave is done in Biyoole.’

ku-ziyaarata

v. (ziyareete) visit, esp. the grave; visit old people who are too infirm to leave their homes; variant form: kuziirata Ali/ ile Mwiini/ kumziyaarata/ daadaye/ Aamina. ‘Ali came to Brava to visit his grandmother Aamina.’
Biyoole/ holokowa kuziyarata Shekh Aweeso. ‘One goes to Biyoole to visit the grave of Sheikh Aweeso.’
Dhibu/ ni khinda go’aani/ mahala gani/ kuziyarata. ‘The difficulty is deciding which places to visit.’
Hamadi/ hadiile/ mojiitu/ hanubli/ shoo mi/ kuziyarata ka’aba. ‘Omari said God will not kill me without me visiting ka’aba.’
Mubliwa/ Nureeni/ maamaye/ nakichiziyarata. ‘My husband Nureeni’s mother is visiting us.’
Mukhta waanawe/ hendro skołani/ ye/ huwaziyarata weenzawe. ‘When her children go to school, she visits her friends.’
mziyareeto khitamal mursaliina [st.] ‘and the one who visits the Last of the Prophets’ Nimziyarete mubliwa/ Nureeni/ maamayé. ‘I visited my husband Nureeni’s mother.’
Nimziyarete Nureni mubliwa/ maamá=y-e. ‘I visited Nureeni my husband’s mother.’
Noshele kumzirata Nuuru/ oyo/ mwalimu wa mwaanawá. ‘I went to visit Nuuru, who is my son’s teacher.’
Nureni mubliwa/ maamaye/ nakichiziyarata. ‘Nureeni my husband’s mother is visiting us.’ (Observe in this example that Nureeni is incorporated into the same phrase as mubliwa. This phrasing is required to establish the meaning ‘Nuuru’s mother’. If one said Nureeni/ mubliwa/ maamaye/ nakichiziyarata, the interpretation would be ‘Nureeni, my husband’s mother, visited us’, which would be odd since Nureeni is a name reserved for males.)

rel.

ku-ziyaratana v. rec.

Waant^{hu}/ wazaleenó/ ni waajibu/ kuziyaratana. ‘People who are relatives must visit one another.’

ku-ziyaratooowa v. pass.

Masheekhi/ na ma’aalimú/ ni waajiba/ kuziyaratooowa/ kila mwaaka.

‘Religious scholars and knowledgeable people must be visited each year (e.g. at the mosque where they teach etc.).’

wake hupeendo radiiya/ awo mba kuziyaratooowa [st.] ‘the women who choose a proper behavior are those worthy to be visited’

ziizi

[cl.8] strong dem.

[Hamadi/ tukile ^fziizi/ izi] ‘Hamadi carried these ones themselves.’ Or: [Hamadi/ tukiile/ ^fziizi/ izi]. Or: [Hamadi/ tukile ^fziizi]. (An emphatic yes-no question: Hamadi/ tukile ziizi/ izi!? ‘Did Hamadi really carry these ones themselves!?’)

[Hamadi/ tukile ^fziizi/ ziti] ‘Hamadi carried these chairs themselves.’ Or: [Hamadi/

	tukiile/ ^fziizi/ ziti. (Although prosodically separating the verb from its complement has the consequence that the verb is not downstepped, example like this the following focused demonstrative is the only element with a markedly raised pitch.) [mi/ nt^hukiilé/ ^fziizi/ izi] ‘I carried these ones themselves.’ Or: [mi/ nt^hukiilé/ ^fziizi]. Or: [mi/ nt^hukile ^fziizi/ izi]. Or: [mi/ nt^hukile ziizi]. [mi/ nt^hukiilé/ ^fziizi/ ziti] ‘I carried these chairs themselves.’ Or: [nt^hukile ^fziizi/ ziti]. (Notice that the verb may be joined into the same phonological phrase as ziizi, in which case the final accent assigned by the verb is realized at the end of ziizi.) ziizi/ izi ‘these very same ones [cl.8]’ [^fziizi/ izi/ Hamadi/ tukiiló] ‘These ones themselves Hamadi carried.’ Or: [^fziizi/ Hamadi/ tukiiló]. Or: [^fziizi/ tukiiló/ Hamadi], where the postposed subject is set off with a small pause. (With ziizi preposed to initial position, it is obligatory for the verb to be in the pseudo-relative form: *[^fziizi/ (izi)/ Hamadi/ tukiile] and *[^fziizi/ (izi)/ tukiile/ Hamadi] are ill-formed.) [^fziizi/ stukiila na Hamadi] ‘These ones themselves were carried by Hamadi.’ Or: [^fziizi/ stukiilá/ na Hamadi]. (Syn. Observe that the focused passive subject ziizi triggers pseudo-relativization of the verb. Without focus, there is no pseudo-relativization: Ziizi/ stukiila na Hamadi. or Ziizi/ stukiila/ na Hamadi.) [^fziizi/ ziti] ‘It’s these chairs themselves.’ [^fziizi/ zoombo] ‘It’s these things (this stuff) themselves.’
ziizi	[cl.10] strong dem.
ziizi/ izi	[cl.8] first position emphatic demonstrative ziizi/ skapu izi ‘these baskets themselves’
ziizi/ izi	[cl.10] first position emphatic demonstrative ziizi/ numba izi ‘these very houses, these houses themselves’
chi-zizi	n. [Sw. zizi SSED 543] stable where animals are kept
ziizije	[cl.8] strong dem. ziizije/ izije ‘those same ones’
ziizije	[cl.10] strong dem. ziizije/ izije ‘those same ones’
ziizo	[cl.8] strong dem. ziizo/ izo ‘those same ones near you’ Kharibu ya muuyi/ chaanza/ kiimba/ ndriimbo/ ziizo/ izo/ na maamayé/ chimjiiba/ ka ndriimbo/ ziizo . ‘Near town, he began to sing those very same songs [that he had sung before when he was announcing he had killed the lion], and his mother replied to him with the very same songs [that she had used before to tell him that it was not a lion he had killed].’ ziizo/ izije ‘those very ones’ ziizo/ ka ziizo ‘these very same ones, over and over’
ziizo	[cl.10] strong dem. Jawaabu/ ni ziizo/ tu/ kiila muunt^hi . ‘The affairs are just the same every day.’ ziizo/ izo ‘those same ones near you’ Jawaabu/ ziizo/ izo/ mi/ mubli uyu/ simpeendi . ‘Things are exactly the same. I do not love this man.’ Mukeewe/ killa/ mara/ chimrudila jawaabu/ ziizo/ izo . ‘His wife each time used to repeat these very same words.’ ziizo/ izije ‘those very ones’ ziizo/ ka ziizo ‘these very same ones, over and over’

ziizo/ izi	[cl.8] first position emphatic demonstrative ziizo/ skapu izi ‘these baskets themselves’
ziizo/ izi	[cl.10] first position emphatic demonstrative ziizo/ numba izi ‘these very houses, these houses themselves’
ziizo/ izije	[cl.8] third position emphatic demonstrative ziizo/ skapu izije ‘those baskets themselves’
ziizo/ izije	[cl.10] third position emphatic demonstrative ziizo/ numba izije ‘those very houses, those houses themselves’
ziizo/ izo	[cl.8] second position emphatic demonstrative skapu izo/ ziizo ‘those baskets themselves’ ziizo/ skapu izo ‘those baskets themselves’
ziizo/ izo	[cl.10] second position emphatic demonstrative ziizo/ numba izo ‘those very houses, those houses themselves’
zo	[cl.8] independent pronoun Hamadi/ tukiile/ zo. ‘Hamadi carried them.’ Or: Hamadi/ tukilee zo. Or with an object prefix as well as the pronoun: Hamadi/ stukiile/ zo. and Hamadi/ stukilee zo. Hamadi/ tukiile/ zo/ zoombo. ‘Hamadi carried them, things.’ Or with focus on zo : [Hamadi/ tukiile/ ^lzo/ zoombo]. Mi/ nistukilee zo. ‘I carried them.’ (Note that given the input /ni-zi-tukilee zo/, the object prefix zi elides its vowel in front of a voiceless obstruent and the z devoices to s . The consonant cluster that is thus created prevents the vowel of the subject prefix ni from eliding.) Mi/ nt^hukilee zo. ‘I carried them.’ Or: Mi/ nt^hukiil^e/ zo. ‘I carried them.’ (It should be noted that in the second pronunciation cited, where the verb is separated from the pronoun, the pronoun is not radically lowered in pitch.) Mi/ nt^hukilee zo/ zoombó. ‘I carried these, things.’ (Notice that the final accent from the verb extends to zoombo in this example. There is another pronunciation where the final accent stops at zo . We take this to be evidence that zo is focused in this case: [mi/ nt^hukilee ^lzo/ zoombo]. Wanakizijaa zo. ‘They are eating [cl.8] them.’ Wanakujaa zo. ‘They are eating them [cl.8].’ (Cf. The simple yes-no question corresponding to this sentence differs not in the location of the accent, which is on zo in both the statement and the question, but differs rather in the Q-raising intonation. The question retains the contrast in pitch height between the syllables in wanakujaa and zo , but differs from the statement in that all the syllables are somewhat raised: Wanakujaa zo?) Ye/ nakizuuzo/ zo. ‘He is selling them (e.g. ziint^hu or zoombo).’ Zibuuku/ zatushile/ zo. ‘The books are torn, they.’ Zo/ nzaa Juma. ‘They (e.g. ziint^hu or zoombo) are Juma’s.’ Zo/ zatushile. ‘They [cl.8] are torn.’ Zo/ zibuuku/ zatushile. ‘They, the books, are torn.’ Or: Zibuuku/ zo/ zatushile.
zo	[cl.10] independent pronoun Apo/ numbaani/ zo/ huja ku^la/ yaa wo/ hupató. ‘There in the house they [the rats] eat all that they find.’ Choloka naazo/ kaake. ‘He went with them to his house.’ Mi/ hispeenda/ zo/ nt^ho. ‘I like them at lot.’ Also: Mi/ hupeenda/ zo/ nt^ho. Mp^hana/ hazilawi/ muunt^hi/ zo/ huzimila mitundruuni/ laakini/ masku/ yachiingila/ na ichiwa waant^hu/ waleele/ zo/ hulawa ka maboholiini.

'Rats do not come out in the daytime, they hide in holes, but if night enters and if it be that people are sleeping, they come out of [their] holes.'

Mukhta ikomelo maskú/ shtukula/ rupiya alfu/ zaa ye/ wanaazó/ numbaani/ shistila ndrani ya huunda. 'When night came, he carried a thousand rupees that he had with him at home and put them inside the measuring tin.'

Mukhta nt^heendre/ zilaziló/ baaba/ chiwaviḷa waanawe/ sitta/ chiwa'ambila/ kuwaa ye/ namsuḷa mooyi/ kati kaawo/ kuliindra/ nt^heendre/ hattá/ mukhta zo/ stakuvivó. 'When the dates came out, Father called his six children and told them that he wanted one among them to protect the dates until they became ripe.'

Numba/ zivundishile/ zo. 'The houses are broken down, they.'

Wanakizija. 'They are eating [cl.8].' (Strikingly, it is possible for this sentence to be pseudo-relativized: Wanakizijó.)

Wanakizijaa zo. 'They are eating [cl.10] them.'

Wanakujaa zo. 'They are eating them [cl.10].'

Watumishi awo/ watukilee nsi/ izo/ wa'oloshela naazo/ ka sulṭaani. 'Those servants carried those fish and went with them to the sultan.'

Wo/ wanakizuuzo/ zo. 'They are selling them.'

Zo/ nzaaká. 'They (e.g. [cl.10] surwaani) are mine.'

Zo/ numba/ ziburushile. 'They, the houses, collapsed.' Or: Numba/ zo/ ziburushile.

Zo/ ziburushile. 'They collapsed.'

zooḥali n. [Ar. zawāl "noon" W 387] a little after mid-day; variant form: zuhaali zooḥali hoosi ichiguura [st.] 'a little after mid-day, when the shade moves west' zooḥara n.

Sku mooyi/ wakhti/ ya harri/ sa'a za zohaari/ Juha/ na maanawé/ walazile/ wanakendra mahala. 'One day, when it was hot, at mid-day, Juha and his son left to go someplace.'

zookola n. high-heel rubber-soled shoes, usu. worn by women but may be worn by men as well Haliima/ vete zilaatu/ za zookolo/ ka sababu/ kuweleḷaa mule/ haba mooyi. 'Haliima wore high-heeled shoes so as to be a little taller with.'
zilatu za zookola 'high-heeled shoes'

ku-zoola v. [Sw. zoa SSED 544] (zoozele) gather up Laakini/ kuḷa muunt^hi/ chimalizá/ kishkiza nsiize/ ka chibateraani/ huya askari/ wa sulṭaani/ oyo/ huzolaa nsi/ zotte/ walá/ hawampi/ peesa. 'But every day after unloading his fish from the boat, come the soldiers of the sultan to sweep up all the fish and not give him any money.'

kuzolaa nt^haka 'to remove garbage'

Umi/ nakuzolaa gele/ itaanyishiloo n^hi. 'Umi is collecting maize that spilled on the floor.'

rel.

ku-zooḷeḷa v. appl.

Waana/ watukile skapu/ kuzoleḷaa gele. 'Children are carrying baskets to collect maize with.'

ku-zoleḷoowa v. appl. pass.

Omari/ nakhsuḷa kuzoleḷowa zoombo/ numbaani/ kaake/ khpelekowa dukaani. 'Omari wants stuff to be collected from his house and taken to the shop.'

ku-zoleḷoowa v. pass. (zoozeḷa)

Haliima/ hadiile/ mi/ kaaka/ nt^haku/ kuja ya buure/ kuzoleḷoowa. 'Haliima said: me at my place there is no free food to be carried out.'

ku-zolazoola v. redup.

Haliima/ nakuzolazolaa gele/ itaanyishiló. [H!H!H] 'Haliima is picking up the maize which had spilled.'

Haliima/ nakuzolazolaa gele/ itaanyishiloo nt^{hi}. [H!H!H] ‘Haliima is picking up the maize which had spilled onto the floor.’

Laakini/ ye/ oyo mwanaamke/ ka kumwingila haraka/ naayé/ nakuzolozolo ruuhuyé/ ki’ilaawilá/ chiliwala garbisaariye. ‘But she, that girl, because of her haste [lit. haste entering her], while she was collecting herself to get out, she forgot her veil.’

ku-zooleka v. p/s. (zoleshele) be capable of being gathered up

Maayi/ yash^{ta}anyika/ hayazooleki. ‘Water if poured cannot be collected back/taken back.’

Mayi ya^{ta}wanyishiló/ hayazooleki. ‘Water that has been spilt cannot be gathered up.’ (A proverb.)

Suukari/ ush^{ta}anyika nt^{hi}/ kuzolekake/ ni ta’abu. ‘Sugar, if spilled on the floor, is difficult to gather up.’

ku-zoolesha v. caus.

ku-zoleshana v. caus. rec.

ku-zolesheka v. caus. p/s.

ku-zolesheleza v. caus. appl.

ku-zoleshelezanya v. caus. appl. rec.

zoozo

[cl.10] strong demonstrative

zoozo/ ka zoozo ‘those same ones, over and over’ (though this phrase does not seem to be freely used, as the following examples were rejected: Kooóí/ zoozo/ ka zoozo. ‘Those same words over and over.’ and Nt^hokoso/ zoozo/ ka zoozo. ‘These same scoldings over and over.’) ndraano/ zoozo/ ka zoozo ‘those same stories, over and over’ ndrooto/ zoozo/ ka zoozo ‘those same dreams, over and over’

ku-zuuba

v. [Som. duub DSI 202] (zubiile) roll (thread, rope), wrap something around something; beat, hit; record

Ali/ mzubile mwaana/ ltepe/ chitaani. ‘Ali wrapped a bandage around the child’s head.’

Ali/ nakuzuba suukari/ ka zinaara. ‘Ali is wrapping sugar with folded papers.’

Ali/ zubile chita/ ltepe. ‘Ali wrapped a bandage around his (own) head.’

Ali/ zubile luzi. ‘Ali rolled the thread.’

Ali/ zubile ruuhuye/ ltepe/ chitaani. ‘Ali wrapped a bandage around himself on the head.’

Chimzuba mwaana/ chiguwo/ shiingo. ‘He wrapped a piece of cloth around the child’s neck.’ Or: Chimzuuba/ mwaana/ chiguwo/ shiingo. ‘He weapped a piece of cloth around the child’s neck.’ (Note that in this sentence we see that the nouns mwaana and shiingo are used without any overt marking of the possessive nature of their relationship.)

Chimzuba mwaana/ chiguwo/ shingooni. ‘He wrapped a piece of cloth around the child’s neck [lit. on, at the neck].’ (Word order in Chimiini is quite free. The three verbal complements in this example may be reordered without the need for the presence of strong focus on the IAV position. E.g.

Chimzuba chiguwo/ mwaana/ shingooni. Or: Chimzuba shingooni/ mwaana/ chiguwo. Or: Chimzuba/ shingooni/ mwaana.)

Eelo/ walikoo ye/ zubile almaasi/ karka ikharba yaa muti. ‘The gazelle had wrapped the diamond in the leaf of the tree.’

Haliima/ nakuzuba ndriimbo/ ka naastro. ‘Haliima is recording songs with a tape recorder.’

kuzuba kaa luti ‘to hit with a stick’

Mwaana/ lufkuti/ limzubile shiingo. ‘The child, the umbilical cord surrounded his neck.’

Omari/ nayo naastro/ nkulu/ huzuba ndriimbo. ‘Omari has a large tape recorder, he records songs.’

Zubile chiguwo/ mwaana/ shiingo. ‘He wrapped a piece of cloth around the child’s neck.’ (Notice the absence of overt possessive marking in this example. Word order is quite free in Chimiini, thus it is grammatical to reorder the three verbal complements in any order. E.g., Zubile shiingo/ mwaana/ shiingo/ the simple	chiguwo. Zubile mwaana/ chiguwo/ shiingo. Zubile mwaana/ chiguwo. This reordering does not require putting strong focus on complement in IAV position. In the absence of strong focus, the yes-no question version of this sentence does not involve any shift of accent, regardless of the word order. Recall that in simple yes-no questions, a phonological phrase in the VP that is out-of-focus shifts its accent to the end.) Zubiileni/ mwaana/ shiingo. ‘What did he wrap around the child’s neck?’ Or: Zubiileni/ shiingo/ mwaana. (A possible answer: Zubile ‘chiguwo/ mwaana/ shiingo/ chiguwo. ‘He wrapped a piece of cloth around the child’s neck.’) rel. ku-zubamana v. (zubameene) be entangled ku-zuubana v. rec. hit one another; embrace; wrap one another with something kuzubana shiingo ‘to embrace’ ku-zubazuuba v. freq. hug Maskiini/ chondroka ka chiliini/ chimzubazuba eelo/ chili. ‘The poor man got up from bed and hugged the gazelle and cried.’ Uyu/ mwenopo eeló/ chuuluka/ chimzubazuba ka furaha. ‘When this one saw the gazelle, he jumped up and embraced him with joy.’ ku-zuubika v. p/s. Ziint^{hu}/ schiwa sfunziḷa ka niḷaamu/ huzubikake/ ni sahali. ‘If things are tied up in a good manner, their folding is easy.’ ku-zubiḷoowa v. appl. pass. be wrapped with Na chala ichó/ chizubiḷa shṽepe/ na shṽepeeni/ yandishiḷa/ ina ya sulṽaani. ‘And that finger was wrapped with a rag, and on the rag was written the name of the sultan.’ Omari/ leselee nguwo/ kuzubiḷowa zoomboze. ‘Omari brought cloth to wrap his stuff with.’ ku-zuubila v. appl. (zubiḷiḷe) wrap with Alí/ nakhsuḷa iḷkaambala/ kuzubila zilaatu. ‘Ali wants a rope to wrap around shoes.’ ku-zuubisha v. caus. ku-zubishana v. caus. rec. ku-zubishika v. caus. p/s. ku-zubishiliza v. caus. appl. ku-zubishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec. ku-zuboowa v. pass. (-zubiḷa) be rolled, wrapped up Hasani/ chiwonowa kuwa chaalache/ shṽiṽinziḷa/ na chizubiḷa shṽepe/ cha sulṽaani/ mpelo waaziri. ‘Hasani was seen that his finger had been cut and had been wrapped with the rag that the sultan had given the minister.’ Lṽepe lṽubiḷa mutiini. ‘A strip of cloth was wrapped around the tree.’

zubadi	n. [Ar. zabad "choicest part, cream" pl. of zabda "cream or fresh butter" W 372] lit. curdled milk zubadi ka chimbalazi ni ṽoomu [st.] ‘zubadi in Chimbalazi is ṽoomu’
i-zugula	n. type of trevally; very big, with perfectly smooth skin like a king fish
zuhali	n. [Ar. zuḷal W 374] the planet Saturn
zuhaali	n. mid-day Leelo/ iwa/ ikali/ kana/ zuhaali/ ibanyaani/ ha’iḷawiki/ hari. ‘Today the sun is hot like midday, one cannot go outside, it is very hot.’ mtimiino ni sunna ka kullṽa haali/ iḷḷa ka soomu waqṽi wa zuhaali [st.] ‘the Sunna recommends brushing the teeth at all times, except in the middle of the day when you are fasting’
zuhura	n. [Sw. zuhura SSED 546; Ar. az-zuhara W 384] the planet Venus

- ku-zuuka* v. [Sw. zuka SSED 545] (zuushile) appear ("from nowhere") appear after a period of absence; rise from the grave; be revived (of fire)
Muḷo/ uzuushile. 'The fire has revived.'
Zushile ka qabriini. 'He rose from the grave.'
rel.
ku-zuukila v. appl. (zukupiile) revive for Ali/ muḷo/ umzukupiile. 'The fire was able to be revived for Ali (due to his own efforts or due to someone else's efforts).'
ku-zuusha v. caus. (zushiize) revive (a fire, memories, etc.)
Ali/ zushizee muḷo. 'Ali revived the fire.'
Sizizuushé/ ziwovu. 'Don't revive memories of past evils.'
ku-zuushika v. p/s.
ku-zushikila v. p/s. appl.
Ali/ muḷo/ umzushikipiile. 'The fire was able to be revived for him (by someone).'
ku-zushiliza v. caus. appl. (zushiliize) ku-zushoowa v. pass. (zushiiza)
Muḷo/ uzushiiza. 'The fire has been revived.'
- m-zuuka (wa-)* n. 1/2 [Sw. mzuka SSED 545] a ghost; an unconventional, nonconformist person (pejorative, used to refer to someone whose behavior is unacceptable to the community)
Omari/ hadiile/ mḷate/ mzuka oyo/ huwererisha waant^hu. 'Omari said: leave that crazy one, he disturbs people.'
- ku-zuula* v. [Sw. zulu SSED 546; Ar. zūl, zāla "to go away, abandon, come to an end" W 386]; finish, come to an end; lose one's senses, be confused, lose one's mind; lose everything Kilaa chiint^hu/ cha duniya/ huzuula/ dawaamu/ ni mojiitu. 'Every worldly thing finishes, what lasts forever is God.'
rel.
ku-zuulata v. (zuleete) lose one's senses, be confused, lose one's mind; lose everything Aqili/ zimzuleete/ Hiindra. 'Hiindra lost his senses.'
Hiindra/ zuleete aqili. 'Hiindra lost his senses.'
kana/ muunt^hu/ zuleetó 'like someone who has gone mad, lost his mind' Hamadi/ nt^hanakhtaambula/ yaa ye/ nakhfaanyó/ walá/ nakhkoóó/ kana/ zuleetó. 'Hamadi is not understanding what he is doing or saying, he is like someone crazy, someone who has lost his mind.'
ku-zulatoowa v. pass.
ku-zuulisha v. caus. confuse someone; destroy someone Abdalla/ mzulushize waawaye. 'Abdalla caused his father to go bankrupt.'
Aduwi/ khufuundrisha/ mweenza/ khuzuulisha. 'An enemy teaches you, a friend destroys you.' (A proverb.)
Aalimu/ mzulushize Hiindrá/ aqili. 'Aalimu confused Hiindra.' (Phon. The final accent on Hindrá is a lexical property of this name and not triggered by the morphosyntax.)
- i-zuliya (ma-)* n. 5/6 [Sw. zulia SSED 546; Ar. zūliya "knotted rug" W 387] rug, carpet (imported rather than locally made) izuliya isaafi 'a clean carpet'; mazuliya masaafi 'clean carpets' izuliya shiiri 'dirty carpet' (cf. mazuliya shiiri 'dirty carpets')
rel.
chi-zuliya (zi-) n. 7/8 dim.
l-zuliya (mi-) n. 11/4
- ku-zulusha* v. fan a fire

Umi/ nakuzulushaa muḷo/ nakhsuḷa kuwapikila waana/ ṅama. ‘Umi is fanning the fire, she wants to cook meat for her children.’

ku-zuma

v. [Sw. zuma SSED 546] (zumiile) accuse falsely or wrongly zumaari

n. [cf. Sw. zomari, zumari SSED 517; Ar. zummāra "a wood instrument with 2 pipes" and mizmār "idem., but with a single pipe" W 381] flute, fife (In SSED, the definition of this noun is as follows: "A musical wind instrument, a kind of pipe, flageolet, clarinet--of wood with a harsh piercine tone" (p.544).)

Ḳpepo/ yana/ masku/ ichivuma/ kana/ zumaari. ‘The wind was blowing last night like flutes (whispering).’

Leelo/ masku/ yiko feṣṭa/ zinakubigowa zumaari/ nt^ha’inakulaalika. ‘Tonight there is a holiday, pipes are being sounded, there is no sleeping’ na kkhiiṅga ishkiḷo kkhasa zumaari [st.] ‘and to lean forward to listen to zumaari’ ku-zuumbika

v. [Sw. vumbika SSED 517, though apparently forms with z rather than v can be found as well, cf. zumbua SSED 546] be, get filled in (of a hole, e.g.)

Iboholi/ inakuzuumbika. ‘The hole is filling up.’

Iboholi/ izumbushile. ‘The hole was, got filled in.’

rel.

ku-zumbiliza v. tr. appl. (zumbiliize)

Mṭaanga/ Abú/ zumbilize iboholi. ‘Sand, Abu filled up the hole with it.’

ku-zuumbiza v. tr. (zumbiize) fill a hole in the ground, cover a fire with ashes to keep the coals alive; (of something) covering a hole (This verb is not a true causative, and one cannot form a causative stem from it. To express a true causative meaning, a periphrastic construction is used: Ali/ mṭile mwaana/ kuzumbiza iboholi. ‘Ali made the child fill the hole.’)

Chimzumbiza mṭaanga. ‘He covered him with sand.’

Haanzó/ kuzumbiza mṭaanga/ ni aḥḷi/ ya khariibu/ kiḷaa mooyi/ maraa nt^hatu/ ka mkono/ hutilo mṭaangá. ‘The ones who begin to fill in [the grave] with sand are the closest relatives; each one [of whom] three times with the hand, puts in sand.’ (One aspect of this sentence is currently not well understood: A relative verb like haanzó ‘ones who begin’ regularly projects its final accent throughout its verb phrase; it would seem that kuzumiza mṭaanga is an infinitival complement to haanzó, but the final accent has not been projected onto it. The observed pronunciation could be explained in terms of the Accentual Law of Focus, since haanzó stands at the end of a phonological phrase, but this law generally is not observed to hold in true relative clauses.)

Khaadimu/ nakuzumbiza iboholi. ‘The servant is filling up the hole.’

Mṭaanga/ uzumbize iboholi. ‘The sand covered up the hole, ditch.’

Mukḥṭa khaadimu/ wa’anzizo kuzumbiza mṭaangá/ mgarwa/ shṭomola shpete/ ka chiwovuuni/ chichivaala. ‘When the servants began to cover [the grave] with sand, the fisherman took out the ring from his pocket and put it on.’

zumbizaani inendraani/ nt^haku inakhfanyoowa [st.] ‘fill it up and go, there is nothing else to do’

Zumbize chibuuku/ mṭaanga. ‘He covered the book with sand.’

Zumbize iboholi/ ka mṭaanga. ‘He filled in the hole with sand.’

ku-zumbizika v. tr. p/s. able to be filled in ku-zumbizoowa v. tr. pass.

Chimaliza/ huzumbizowa mṭaanga. ‘Then [the corpse] is covered with sand.’

Sheekhi umo harusini/ qabri inazumbizoowa [st.] ‘the Sheikh is at his wedding, let us fill up his grave’ ku-zuumbuza v. (perfect form uncertain; the expected for zumbiize is the perfect stem of the verb kuzuumbiza) remove ashes from a fire to get the burning coals so that new charcoal can be added to get the fire going again

- ku-zuumbuka* v. go up and down, back and forth, without purpose
rel.
ku-zumbukoowa v. pass.
Masku/ mazima/ huzumbukoowa/ Ameerika. ‘People are wandering about the whole night in America.’
- m-zuungu (wa-)* n. 1/2 [Sw. mzungu SSED 326] white man, European or American; an unbeliever aḍabu ya mzuungu nt^hamu shaka [st.] ‘the punishment of non-believers, there is no doubt’ Chisu ichi/ hachimṭiindi/ haṭá/ mzuungu. ‘This knife (is so blunt) it won’t cut a white man.’ (A saying.)
rel.
chi-zuungu n. in the European or American style; a European language
- ku-zuunguka* v. wander about Sheekhi/ mukeewe/ chiwonoowa/ nakuzuunguka/ hawonoowi/ numbaani/ kaake. ‘Whenever Sheekhi’s wife is seen, she is wandering about, she is not seen at her house.’
- ku-zungumuza* v. Swahilism chat (Our current sources judge this word to be Swahili and not Chimiini.)
Nnazo kooḍi/ nakhsuḷa kuzungumuza nawé/ mbele za waant^hú. ‘I have words [to say to you], I want to chat with you in front of people.’
- ku-zuura* v. [cf. Sw. zuru SSED 539; Ar. zaur, zāra, ziyāra W 386] (zuriile) visit Alí/ ile Mwiini/ kumzuura/ daadaye/ Aamina. ‘Ali came to Brava to visit his grandmother Aamina.’
Ba’adi yaa sala/ kuḷa mooyi/ humḷazima kendra kuzura wazaaziwe/ ahḷiye/ na weenzawé. ‘After the prayer (on the idi ya wamuusi) everyone is obliged to go to visit his parents, his relatives, and his friends.’
Basi/ waana/ awa/ kuḷa mukḥṭaa wo/ hendro kumzura suḷṭaani/ humwona/ kuwaa ye/ umo mp^hinguuni. ‘So, every time these children go to visit the king, they see him in chains.’
Chondroka kuzura nuumba. ‘He went to visit the house.’
Kama aada/ ṭaajiri/ oloshale mutiini/ kuzura peesaze/ laakini/ mara iyi/ mukḥṭaa ye/ ufkilo iboholi/ chiwovu cha peesa/ nt^hashkuwaalimo/ iboholiini. ‘As usual, the rich man went to the tree to visit his money, but thus time when he dug up the hole, the bag of money was not in the hole.’
khuzuriile kama ziyaara [song] ‘I paid a visit to you like the visiting of a great man who died’ kuzuura/ ba’aḍi ya ahḷiye ‘to visit members of his (extended) family’ Mi/ nzurile khabri/ ya mtume/ Madiina. ‘I have visited the tomb of the Prophet in Medina.’
Ndrata/ mi/ neendre/ nimzuure. ‘Allow me to go and visit him.’
Nt^humzuura/ mwaalimu. ‘You did not visit the teacher.’
numa wanamzuure mtume imaamu [st.] ‘then let them visit the Prophet Imaamu’ Nuuru/ ile Mwiini/ kuzura khabri/ ya waawaye. ‘Nuuru came to Brava to visit the tomb of his dad.’
Safiriile/ ka ariplaanoye/ khaasá/ kooloka/ ka kuzuura/ nt^hi za sharkhi/ yaa kati. ‘He travelled by his special airplane to go to visit the countries of the Middle East.’
Sizureení. ‘You (pl.) don’t visit!’
Sizureení/ ahḷi. ‘You (pl.) don’t visit relatives!’
Suufi/ mzurile mwaanawa. ‘Suufi visited my child.’ (Observe that the benefactive applied may be used to express the same notion: Suufi/ nzurilile mwaana.)

‘Suufi visited my child.’ Of course, the context might make it clear that the visiting was for my benefit or to my detriment, but lacking such a context, the benefactive applied here is simply establishing a possessive relationship between me and the child.’)

Suufi/ zurīle madrasa. ‘Suufi visited school.’

Wamzurīle mwaalimu. ‘They visited the teacher.’

Wana khabari/ wanakuhada/ ya kuwa ra’iisi/ nakhfilatīloowa/ khfaanya/ mukaataba/ pamó/ na ba’ađi/ yaa nt^{hi}/ zaa ye/ takuzuuró. ‘The newsmen say that the president is expected to make an agreement with some of the countries that he will visit.’

Zuura. ‘Visit!’

Zuraani. ‘You (pl.) visit!’ (cf. Zurani ahli. ‘You (pl.) visit relatives!’)

rel.

ku-zuurana v. rec. visit one another

Waant^{hu}/ wazaleenó/ ni waajibu/ kuzuurana. ‘People who are relatives must visit one another.’

ku-zuurika v. p/s.

ku-zuurīla v. appl.

ku-zuurisha v. make someone pay a visit ku-zurishan(y)a v. caus. rec.

ku-zurishiliza v. caus. appl.

ku-zurishilizanya v. caus. appl. rec.

ku-zuroowa v. pass.

Masheekhi/ na ma’aalimú/ ni waajiba/ kuzuroowa/ kilā mwaaka.

‘Religious scholars and knowledgeable people must be visited each year (e.g. at the mosque where they teach etc).’

zuraafa

n. [Ar. zurāfa W 376] giraffe

Mara ya isa/ wo/ wadirkamene na zuraafa. ‘This time they encountered a giraffe.’

Mwaana/ chanza kiimba/ na maamá/ wenopo kuwa ni zuraafa/ yaa ye/ ubleeló/ chimjiiba/ kuwa yaa ye/ ubleeló/ ni zuraafa/ siwo/ siimba. ‘The boy began to sing [announcing his success at killing the lion] and mother, when she saw that it was a giraffe that he had killed, replied to him that what he had killed was a giraffe, not a lion.’

zuuri

n. [Sw. zuri SSED 547; in Sw. a verb zuri SSED 547 is in use, but we did not record such a verb in Chimiini; Ar. zūr "lie, untruth" W 386] perjury, false testimony kuḷawa shahada zuuri ‘to commit perjury, give false testimony’

Ndrazole shahada zuurí. ‘I committed perjury.’

shahada zuuri ‘false testimony’

i-zuuzu (mi-)

adj. [Sw. -zuzu SSED 548; interestingly, Sw. has a related verb zuzua SSED 548, but we have not encountered such a verb in Chimiini] confused, absent-minded munt^hu izuuzu ‘a confused person’ want^hu mizuuzu or want^hu wazuuzu ‘confused people’

rel.

zuuzu (mi-) n. someone who goes round and round doing nothing

○

ideo. of kissing (This ideophone is a bilabial lingual ingressive click.)

Haliima/ mbusize mwaanawe/ ○ ○. ‘Haliima kissed her child ○ ○.’

Personal Names

Male names.

Abdi

Abú
Abubakari
Ahmaduná
Alí
Aweeso
Habiibi
Hamadi
Hasani
Huseeni
Jeeli
JeeJaani
Khaasimu
Muydiini
Mwenye
Nuureeni
Nuuru
Omari
Osmaani
Rufáa'i
Sheekhuná
-

female names:

Aa'ísha
Abayi
Aamina
Baayi

Biibi
Fardoosa
Faatiima
Haliima
Khadija
Maa'isha
Maafaatiima
Maakhaadija
Maaluulu
Mwana'aamina
Mwana'isha check this one Mwanafaatiima
Mwanazahara
Mwanakhaadija
Maryamu
Maasiti
Maazahara
Mwaana
Zahara
Umi
Uumi

Maa- equals “senior”, while Mwana- is junior.
Is “Maa” really “mwaa” in MI’s speech.

Appendix

This book would not exist were it not for the indefatigable efforts of Mohammad Imam Abasheikh, as explained in the introductory materials. In the course of our work together, Mohammad provided a few lexical items that we have been unable to confirm with other speakers. Some of these are pronunciation variations of words that clearly do exist in Chimiini. Others are words that simply are not recognized at all by other speakers and may be Arabicisms or Swahilisms derived from Mohammad's excellent command of those languages (or even words that once were in use in Chimiini but have now passed out of use).

Mohammad passed away in 2009, and we are unable to obtain his judgement about whether these items are to be identified as Chimiini words. We are loathe to omit entirely from this dictionary any words that Mohammad employed in speaking and writing Chimiini. As a consequence, the words that are pronunciation variants of known Chimiini words are listed in the main body of this work. The others are listed below.

k-aalika	v. [Sw. alike SSED 9] (alishile) invite s.o. to a party, wedding, or other ceremony rel. k-alikana v. rec. (-alikeene) k-alikila v. appl. (alikiile) k-alikoowa v. pass. (alishila)
ku-'arida	v. [apparently related to Som. arday "student" DSI 23, but there is no related verb in Standard Somali] (aridiile) recite – unknown to GM
ku-'asira	v. [Ar. ' asira "to force, oppress, treat harshly" W 612] (asiriile) take captive in war (This word is not known to GM.)
kh-choma	v. (chomeele) burn a part of s.o.'s body for medical purposes (a practice that is now on the decline in Brava and as a consequence, the word is no longer in common use)
kh-chora	v. (choreele) engrave, carve, design, decorate rel. kh-choraachora v. freq. kh-choroowa v. pass. (-choreela) be engraved on rel. nom. m-chora (wa-) n. 1/2 one who carves etc. ma-choro n. 6 engraving, design u-choro n. 14 drawing
i-chuungwa (ma-)	n. 5/6 orange rel. m-chuungwa (mi-) n. 3/4 orange tree
da'a	n. [Ar. da'a W 1058] meekness, gentleness, equanimity – this item not known to GM
dasiisi (ma-)	adj. [Ar. dasīsa "intrigue, machination" W 281] mean, evil (This word is not known to GM.)
fartaki	??not known to gm, given by MI but not translated rel. sh-fartaki (s-) n.
faṭuura	n. [Ital. fattura] obsolete? bill (MI used this word, but it does not seem to be presently in use.) faṭura ya maayi 'water bill' Iṣṭalimile faṭura ya koranṭa. 'He received the electric bill.'
jazaari	n. [Ar. jazzār W 123] butcher
m-loofari (wa-)	n. 1/2 one who wastes money and spends so much that he becomes bankrupt (This word not known to GM.)
loongo	in the expression: kubiga loongo 'to make a fishing line' (This word not known to GM.)

luuma (n-druuma)	n. 11/10 [Sw. uma (nyuma, mauma) SSED 497] metal rod; the metal stick with which kohl is applied to the eyes. (This word not known to GM.)
madali	n. [Som. madal DSI 402] place of meeting (This word not known to GM.)
madfani	n. [Ar. madfan W 287] burying place (This word not known to GM.)
muhmili	adj. [Ar. muhmil W 1035] negligent, careless (This word is unknown to GM.)
ku-rafi'ila	v. [Ar. rafa'ū W 349] lift, remove, relieve
rafrafu	n. [Ar. rafrāf W 349] cushion
rafu	n. 9/10 [Sw. rafu SSED 394; Ar. raff W 348] shelf
kh-sawiṭa	v. [cf. Ar. noun ṣaut , pl. aṣwāt and ṣuwāt "crying, loud sound" W 529] (sawitile) cry, shout, clamor (This verb was not known to GM.)
skurubu	n. 9/10 [Sw. skrubu "screw" 434; Eng.] screw-driver (GM does not use)
sodaawi	adj. [Sw. sodawi "proud, supercilious, arrogant" SSED 508; Ar. saudawi "melancholic, depressed" W 440] Swahilism? hot-tempered rel. u-sodaawi n. [Sw. usodawi] hot-temperedness
l-tete (n-)	n. 11/10 [Sw. cheche la moto "a spark" SSED 52] spark; [pron. nt^hete (pl.)] nt^hete zaa muḷo 'sparks of fire'
kh-tewa	v. [?Som. taabo "to touch" DSI 567] (teweele) fondle, caress (with sexual connotations) this item not known to GM rel. kh-tewana v. rec. (teweene)
k-uundra	v. [Sw. unda SSED 500] construct, build (This word is not known to GM.) rel. k-uundrila v. appl. k-undroowa v. appl.
urri	n. [Som. curre DSI 109] male cat (This word is not known to GM as being in use in Chimiini.)
-vivo or -vivu	adj. [Sw. -bivu SSED 37] ripe (Not in use in present-day Chimiini. Perhaps a Swahilism.) Ipapayu ivivo 'a ripe papaya' Mweka chiwiti/ huja chivivu. 'The person who puts aside s.t. unripe (now), eats s.t. ripe (later).'
-vuundifu	adj. destructive (character); broke (This word was not familiar to GM. Probably a Swahilism.) Mlate mvundifu oyo. 'Let that destructive one alone.'
zumra	n. [Ar. zumra W 381] group of people [GM does not know this word.]

